That's how they all operate: Idealize, Devalue, and Discard – the three phases of their repetitive cycle which I learned from the book Psychopath Free by Jackson Mackenzie that I had to read many times to find healing. The fourth stage is Hoover: it's when they return in indirect ways to test the waters and see if you're still pining for them and would take them back if you left them or let them in again if they left you. The book is in bad shape for I had to read and re-read its sections as the book spoke to me to such an extent, and told my experience to such an accuracy. It did say that all the victims of Psychopaths (the general term the guy used for people with Cluster B Personality Disorders) went through the same cycles and phases, and as I read the book, I saw that it spoke my story exactly! The book said that Psychopaths never change, but they only get better at hiding their inner selves so they can hunt and trap the new unsuspecting victim in their cycle of emotional abuse with even greater acting skills. Tejaswi was a mid-level psychopath. But this Death Conqueror is a high-level one looking at his behavior and the ways he has caused me and my family harm, and the kind of things he says.

When I first read Psychopath Free, I was left dazzled by the accuracy of the book and the writer did say that all readers felt that way when they first came across the information. Tejaswi was my window into the world of wickedness after which even more wicked people targeted and came after me! The book described my exact experience.

Anyway. So, Tejaswi was deep into the mystic side of Hindu spirituality. The new-age side of Hindu texts classifies spirituality into two sections: mystic and occultic. The mystic operated into the realm of spiritual intuitions and sensations, experiencing the spiritual world through his inner self, while the occultic operated into the practical part by indulging in various outward spiritual practices including witchcraft. He had said that he felt that I would be most probably a mystic if I was to delve deep into spirituality. He understood to some extent how I thought and perceived things. But now I know after having a great deal of experience with the Holy Spirit that there's no such thing as mysticism and occult in the Kingdom of God. But the Holy Spirit is our lone channel of communication with God through which He can give us inner deep experiences or perform outward miraculous acts. It's the same Spirit of God that works in His children and the Spirit is received after one receives Jesus as one's Lord and savior (from the Earth system).

After I wrote this part about the different books, I heard in my Spirit:
The Guy says: 'Kartika, ye kya bta diya..! Ye kya bta diya..!'

And it kept repeating intermittently for about two hours though I didn't understand why should he say so.

After writing, I went out to buy sweet lassi and milk, and then I kept hearing "Maar dala… Maar dala.." repeated in my Spirit, this time with more emphasis on the chorus.

The Lady sings:
Humpe kisne hara rang dala..
Humpe kisne hara rang dala..
Khushi ne humari humein..
Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Dream (Morning):

I am moving on the market road on my hometown Pundri towards the crossroads to the right of which lie PHC and to the left of which lie the road to Dilkash Beauty Parlour and other shops to its right, and a row of homes to its left, while the front of the road leads one towards residential areas through the market road. I see Glory walk by in front of me to the right on the road towards PHC, being dressed in a polo t-shirt with two blue horizontal strips (one thicker than the other) over shorts. I take a left at the crossroad towards the road he walked out from - the one with the Parlour and other shops. As I walk further on that road, I enter into a space that resembles a washroom but has several thick flat noodle-like multi-colored strands of solid soap stuck along the protruding side edges of the door and other such places. I feel like removing them to make the space clean. I pull out one, the strands are too smooth and easily glide by through my fingers and are not easily removed. I wonder how will I clean the entire space as there are a lot of such solid strands of soap around. Without cleaning one part of the space fully, I move on to the next present near the door, and try to rid the space of the rubbish. It is then that my youngest brother, represented as having a round face with tiny spiky hair and dressed in a long white cotton tunic, asks me why wasn't I using the Loofah, pointing to the circular loofah lying on the top shelf (as it would dissolve away the thick solid strands of soap easily and I wouldn't have to work hard to pull soap strands individually out of the clustered strands everywhere in the place - though he doesn't say out this explanation, it is implied). I reason with him explaining to him how the Loofah would dissolve away all strands of soap altogether. It's something that I am trying to avoid doing in the dream as I only pulled out one or two of the strands out of the cluster.

I see the following vision as a third person.
Vision (Morning): The side-view of Dushman's upper half as he stabs my forehead viciously cracking it open and stretching it sideways with both hands, and peeks inside with a vicious expression.

Vision (Evening, 18:30-19:00): RS, carrying a beard and neck-length hair and dressed in a yellow and parrot green printed shirt with a V-neck, claps. The vision is followed by the view of the side of thick books with a parrot green and yellow cover vertically placed in place of the strings of a harp as the vision moves to the left.

While strolling on the roof, I had the following vision recur in my Spirit.
Vision (late evening): Someone (not shown clearly in the vision) peels off the facial skin of KA revealing the inner red tissue and the flesh inside. The vision repeats several times.

The vision reminded me of this previous revelation from 303 of A-10 which I hadn't yet recorded.
Vision (303, A-10/Apurva PG): Three people sit on a surface, one behind the other, with KA in the middle. The guy behind him resembles a bearded Arjun Kapoor and he removes KA's facial skin from behind him like a mask by getting a hold of the layer from below his chin.

Visions Before Sleeping at Night:

I had gone to the Kingsway Camp area to buy an outdoor mat from Dhamaka sale, and on my way back as I was walking towards Apollo Pharmacy, I happened to look up to my left and casually glance at a hoarding put up on a lamp post present on the other lane, and looked away from it immediately. But then I realized what I had just seen, so I looked at it again, and this time for a good while as I was checking out what the ad was about. It showed the upper half of KA with a heart made with his hands in front of his chest as he looked at the viewer with a huge love-filled smile. It advertised McDonald's burger. Later when I lay down on bed to sleep, I had a series of visions.

- The hoarding being flashed to me in the Spirit, with the face of a beige bear with black circles around eyes inside the heart shape made by KA with his hands as he looked at the viewer with a love-filled smile. The brown bear kept beating out of the picture along with his hands. And when I wrote this vision, the movie name Bhola Bhalu Aur Hero Hiran was highlighted to me in the Spirit.
  And as I wrote the above, I heard the lady sing: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- KA, dressed in a beige jacket, parks his bike in a light golden background, puts his foot on its left handle as he looks smiling at the viewer.
- The front view of a huge face of KA in a background lit with yellow light with hands clasped slightly below his chin as he looks down at the ground with metallic fittings present on his skin in the spaces between his fingers.
- The face then changes to a bearded Aditya Roy Kapoor who looks below at the ground with an expression that shows his superiority and how he's in control and can choose to do anything.
- I dance holding both outstretched hands with KA as we move around in an arc, with a metallic tooth fitted on the right side of his upper jaw visible through his wide smile.
  The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- The right side-view of the face of Arbaaz Khan in a dark blue night background with the starry night pattern of the sky impressed on the upper-lid of his eyes and light orange butterfly wings patterned in black flying away from his eyelids as he blinks his eyes slowly.
- The pose of Amir Khan as Ghazini with a bald head and things tattooed all over on his body.

Ref: Bing Images

I hear unexpectedly in the Spirit:
"Ranveer, Mein mar jaungi." "Mein mar jaungi."

It repeats itself a few times. And it takes me by a bit of surprise. Because though I know that I might/would die, I wasn't thinking anything like that at that moment.

I had the following revelation when I was half-asleep.
Dream-Vision (Night): Books placed on a shelf fall down abruptly all at once, followed by a group of people (consisting of mostly men) stopping near the Dinesh Store at night to inquire about something. It seems quieter than usual and apparently, they act as if I know them well.

Additionally, the movie revelation of Bhola Bhalu Aur Hero Hiran reminded me of the previous dream revelation in which KA held the hand of a lady dressed in a beige Tunic with her hair tied low at the back and jumped ahead to the right like a deer, which I described as him being able to fly or float above to some distance. His movements in that dream were also a prophetic depiction of their correlation with the animated movie, like Neo represents Glory. He was the first person who entered the prophetic group of people (including both men and women) as I received the vision of the promise. But before that vision, I had the praying in tongues revelation of the anointing of Rebecca over me. I didn't make up the movie correlations. They're all a result of the revelations that I received.

And as I wrote the above, I heard the lady sing: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Past Revelations

- Vision (Past week, 9/31, Double Storey): A muscular SRK comes walking towards the viewer in a well-lit background, dressed in a white dhoti with an open white shrug on top revealing his clean hairless upper half. There seem to be some people present behind him. He then lifts up a brown instrument resembling a shofar and plays it with his head turned to the left.
- Vision (303, A-10/Apurva PG): The top-view of Arjun Kapoor lying on bed with closed eyes in a yellow-lit environment, as he smiles lightly. He seems internally pleased.

Page 531.

12 September 2023
09:18

'Rafta Rafta wo meri.. Kashti ka saman ho gye..': I happened to sing this altered version of the song yesterday.

Dream (Morning):

I am in a battleship as we are busy with its controls, taking care of related stuff, and keeping a check for potential threats. The vision then shows the back view of an alien ship in the air above the place to attack our ship which is resting on the ground.

While I am busy with the above, I then find myself living in a room in a normal space. I lock my room and leave for the region at the distant back side of it.

After I woke up, the chorus of the following song played in my spirit. Though I was wishing death on me because I didn't know how I was going to fare in the days ahead in this condition when I was finding it hard to even breathe while lying still in bed, and then I wasn't keeping up writing the revelations as a whole lot had accumulated from the past few days, this ugly worldly song played in my Spirit! I have been telling Jesus that it was getting harder and harder for me to continue writing revelations themselves as I feel too mentally drained and often wish to die and ask Jesus to bring it to an end soon. How will I then run in this condition?

The Guy sings:
Goriya chura na mera jiya..

Goriya ne pagal mujhe kiya..

Now, I don't know who this song refers to but it's not a godly song, and I am not a goriya either. A person is about to die, and the fools can only think of cheap songs such as this. The only thing I liked was that the song had Karishma Kapoor, my favorite heroine from childhood. And the thing I like about her is her facial features. So, whichever song or movie she happens to be a part of, I always tend to find it interesting. It was the same way with SRK back in childhood. As I grew up, my obsession with them faded, but God rekindled by childhood self.

Husn Hai Suhana | Coolie No. 1 | Govinda & Karisma Kapoor | Abhijeet & Chandana Dixit | 90's Hits

But the above was not the only thing I heard in my Spirit.

The Guy says: 'Maine ise maar diya.. Maine ise maar diya..' ('I killed her.. I killed her..')

14:13
A while back, I felt a nudge to listen to 'Rafta Rafta Vo Meri Hasti Ka Saman Ho Gaye', as I happened to sing it and it was coming to me on its own.

Vision (a minute back): Benedict Cumberbatch/Sherlock Holmes stands holding me close behind the chair that I am sitting on as we slowly move sideways in a duet looking into each other's eyes, and smiling deeply and heartedly, though lightly. He has his hands around the back of my waist and is dressed in his vision-standard attire of a black suit over a white shirt while I am dressed in my current clothes of my tunic vertically stripped in black and white over white pants.

After a while, he changes to KA dressed in a black shrug printed with white hearts over an orange inner t-shirt, and then back to himself.

Rafta Rafta Wo Meri | Muhammad Ali | Melodious Ghazal | Tribute to Mehdi Hasan

Dream-Visions (Morning):

- I go to Chaaru to meet her, and she says, "Konn ho aap?" with the 'Kon' having a Hariyanvi accent.
- The view of my mom present to the left of my mid-section resting on bed as she is pouring tea in a conical cocktail transparent silicon glass asking me in Hind for tea.

Few nights back, I was listening to this song worship song and came across these lyrics:

Hum par bhi Yeshu Kripa karna	On us too, Yeshu, shower your mercy and grace
Hum hai Paapi nadaan	(for) we are silly/senseless/ignorant/immature sinners
Hum hai Paapi nadaan	(for) we are silly/senseless/ignorant/immature sinners

And the last lyric sentence immediately highlighted to me the previous of the fat infant avatar of Death Conqueror who was chewing his foot lifted vertically up to his mouth. The highlight told me that he was that silly/immature/senseless/ignorant sinner, as the Hindi word Nadaan is usually used for ignorant and immature children. His fat infant avatar represented his ignorance and immaturity, while his act of chewing his foot represented his state of sin as he was pleasing himself by chewing his foot.

A while back today, I had this song play again which reminded me of this analogy and also highlighted to me the recent vision of Akhila as the infant Renesemee where she was also chewing his foot in quick motions. Both are Paapi Nadaan who are just senseless enough to not know the way to go or the way to act but they do know how to please themselves and what hurts them, though they may not be having enough Godly sense, maturity, or wisdom to know how not to behave in a sinful way towards others in order to not cause them harm for their own entertainment! They're senseless sinners!

Mukthi Dilaye Yeshu Naam - Lyrics

15:25
Vision (past minute): Benedict pulls me away abruptly at the back and swings me around happily lifting me in the air with one arm around my waist, as he looks at me with smiling joyful eyes.

Vision (past few days): The close-up view of eyes of Benedict with thick blood clotted around their inner corners as he looks at the viewer and the vision zooms and focuses around the inner corners of his eyes.

The Striped Black & White Tunic and The Possession/Kabza of The Spirit

Every day I wear what's highlighted to me. This tunic thickly stripped in Black and White was highlighted to me yesterday, so I looked it up in the cartons I had packed to send back home. I had bought the tunic to honor the vision in which I saw Death Conqueror sitting dressed in a prisoner's suit beside me, but also because I like black and white and the stripes represent the keys of a keyboard. I stopped liking the tunic later on as the good feelings for Death Conqueror that were invoked by God's revelations were dissolved away by his consistent sinning attitude. But yesterday, as the tunic was being highlighted to me, it took a new meaning as I saw that it represented the fact that I had become a prisoner of Jesus in this place as I am busy writing His revelations or worshipping Him or praying to Him in this place. I mean I think about others as well whom He gives me revelations about, but He has to be at the top. The tunic reminded me of this song the Pastor sang the day next to the one I had the vision of Jesus abruptly getting a hold of me in a very slow duet when I was about to get tea from downstairs back in A-10, for the previous day I had prayed to Him to stop me in the beginning itself whenever I was about to go and do something I wasn't supposed to do, and I was to limit my tea intake during those days. So, He got hold of me that evening. The next day Pastor sang this song that had the lyrics say: Kabza kar kabza. The person was praying to Jesus for His Spirit to get a strong hold of him, his thoughts, his temple/body and his lips so he won't say ungodly stuff. His song went along with the Kabza somatic revelation that I had the evening of the previous day. My striped tunic represents that state of Holy Spirit's Kabza (possession/control) on me.

करले कब्जा ऐ पाक रूह (Karle Kabza Ae Paak Rooh) | Lyrics Video | True Worshipers Of Living God

That evening, I was taken hold of by Jesus in an intimate hug and then I was kissing Him as well which again goes with the lyrics the Pastor sang the next day. He sang a slight variation that had the phrase Hothon pe Kabza instead of the song's original lyrics. This astounded me as I thought how come his lyrics describe my experience from the past evening?

17:31
Today, my yellow tunic was highlighted to me. So, I looked it up. I didn't find it at first in any of the cloth storage spaces, but found it on a second search through the two cartons. It was supposed to be my attire of the day as highlighted by the Spirit. I then went and took a bath, and got dressed in the tunic inside the room. I now prefer to keep long clothes in the room itself instead of taking them to the washroom because they get wet while bathing because of the position of the rod meant to hang clothes. After I was ready, I had the following vision.

Vision: The upper half of Benedict dressed in an Indian ethnic shining skyblue tunic, lightly embroidered in silver and golden, as he looks smiling at the viewer through his blue eyes, in a well-lit light sky blue hazy background.

The vision repeated itself several times!

I then had some salted tea. I decided yesterday that I was going to fast for 7 days wherein I would only consume tea + Biscuits + Apples/Fruits. On the third evening of my fast, I will cook the pumpkin I bought a few days back, as was decided last night while strolling on the roof. I saw that having regular meals didn't make me any better. I woke up so fatigued today and found it hard to breathe and think. I may get into a better spiritual condition through fasting.

After I was done washing my tea utensils, I called up my mom as I had missed her call while standing at the sink. She told me that Divyanshu had now gone to Derabassi to live with Dad. As I talked to her, my eyes became heavy and I told her that I needed to rest. These days I rest and only get up from bed when I can feel some energy flowing through me. As I rested with closed eyes on my bed and worship songs playing in my laptop, I saw the following visions:

- The Translucent Unphysical Me and Jesus
  A translucent self gets up from inside of my body lying on the bed, and it looks the same as me and is wearing the same clothes, and dances with Jesus in a duet in the center of the room. The self is too light and airy as it happens to horizontally float in the air and gets stretched towards the door. It seems as if it's being pulled out, but Jesus holds it with one hand and stops it from leaving the room.

  The Lady sings:
  Maar dala.. Maar dala..

- A lean and thin bearded RS with neck-length straight hair dressed in a white vest over checkered boxers drives a scooty to the left (making the prophetic symbol) with the heroine of Maine Pyaar Kiya, dressed in a green saree over a red blouse with the saree's drape covering her head, sitting behind him with both her legs resting on the side of the viewer. The lady looks fluffed and bigger than RS who looks very lean and thin and slightly shorter than his usual self.
- While lying on the bed, I felt an inner push on the surface of my heart followed by a weird feeling. It reminded me of the vision in which a short-heighted KA laid on the bed on his side with red love hearts in front of his eyes and a red hazy bouquet held in his hands in front of his chest with a silver cross at the top, as the redness seemed to move around a bit like a fluid. It seemed to slowly expand. And then I recalled the vision I had back at home in which a short-heighted guy stood in the middle of a plateau between two shiny white surfaces resembling those of eyes as they burst down from top to bottom. KA kept repeating 'Jai Masih Ki' in that red-eyed and red heart vision. I too felt like repeating the same as I lay on the bed with that uncomfortable sensation inside my chest. I wanted to praise Jesus in that physical state.
- The naked upper-half of a dark RS with neck-length hair putting a red tika on the head of the viewer with a firm expression, as he says, "Tu Meri Hai!" The vision repeats a few times.
- The top-view of an obese lady abruptly opening a door with a white background inside. The lady has her hair tied in a bun at the back and is dressed in a tight red blouse over a white half saree revealing her bulging belly that looks like a tyre. She carries the features of Death Conqueror and is smiling showing her tiny teeth through her thin lips!
- I see KA stand in the center of my room with me a meter away from him as we abruptly move towards each other and start kissing.
- Towards the end, the translucent self walks back to my body lying on the bed and lays on top in the same position as it after which I get up from the bed.

  A voice says:
  Chodunga nahi usko Kartika! Chodunga nahi!

Heard in the Spirit a few times in the past few days:
'Mein barbad ho chuka hu, Kartika. Shayad tujhe pata nhi hai.
Mein barbad ho chuka hu.'

A voice says:
'Isko kisne randi bana diya! Isko kisne randi bana diya!' said in a tone that communicates that I am not at all a good candidate for playing out a prostitute.
I have been intermittently hearing the following for many weeks now.

A voice says:
'Is pagal ko dekho! Isne sach me pyaar kar liya!
Is pagal ko dekho. Isne sach me pyaar kar liya!' - referring to my response to the revelations I received.

Well, that's how I am built! And that's also why I refrained from purposeless fleshly interactions for it would've left me in emotional pain and I would've ended up wanting to be with those people because of my heart-state towards them. For me, fleshly interactions are not separate from an expression of committed love, but they are a reflection of the same. So, why would I indulge in fornication that is done solely for the purpose of loveless eating - as is the ungodly mindset of Death Conqueror.

The Lady sings:
Maine Pyaar kiya..

I've also been hearing the following phrase in my Spirit for many weeks now.

The grouped voice sings:
Oye randi randi oye. Oye randi randi oye.
Oye randi randi oye.

At times the original version of the song plays as well in which the word Randi is replaced with Lucky. But hearing the Randi version was unexpected and came as a shock.

I also noticed how I had become comfortable with these terms while previously I wouldn't even say them as I found them too offensive and obscene. I didn't use the commonly used slang abusive terms and never used the term 'Randi' in my life because I found it to be vulgar. Why would I even want to say out the terms that I find too vulgar or offensive? Perhaps I used the term for Meera in my diary when I was too angry with her for starting an affair with Walter. I am not sure though. But I did call her whore several times in my diary! Whore still sounds less offensive than Randi which carries an extremely negative aura around it! I can't believe I became comfortable with such negativity and ways of thinking around me. But I guess it was necessary for me to be able to minister to the people of the place as most of them possess thought patterns.

When I was staying in RGHG, there was this girl who stayed downstairs to my room's right and often practiced singing along with her instrument. But I never heard anyone making weird sounds at her practice. We all had become used to it. But the people of this place must make it known that they're indeed paying attention to what I am playing. When someone practices, you just let them do so and focus on your own work, and not make weird sounds making them uneasy. Times have indeed changed a lot! Those were my normal days. People behaved normally and abusers weren't so open with their abuse tactics, so – could be avoided, but now it seems that they have turned it into a full-time job to continuously focus on the targeted person. It's so abnormal. In a normal way of interaction, people approach the other person in a very apparent way and not passively. If I do not recognize someone, but they know that I am indeed me, shouldn't they come to me then instead of expecting a confused me to approach someone who is behaving as if they don't know me as they stand looking away but at the same time they're there because they want to meet me! Now, how foolish and illogical such a tactic is, and it achieves nothing!

A voice says laughingly:
'Kartika, baat to teri sahi hai!' - I've heard this sentence several times at different occasions - 'Baat to teri sahi hai!'

Why would I go and stand near someone acting as if I don't know them when I clearly know who they are and have gone to the place exclusively to meet them? If I go to meet someone, and that person doesn't recognize me, I will make myself known to them. I have done it several times in the past, where I happened to run into someone I knew from the past and then approached them to have a brief chat, and at times I had to make them recall the place I got to know them from if it happened to be a public setting where I met them. And in the case of friends, whoever recognized one first came running happily to the other person. But here.. Things are so out of place and seem too illogical! The ways of the people of this place seem too stupid to me.

Now, I saw people who resembled RS to a great extent a few times, but I wasn't sure, so I didn't go to them to greet them for there was no direct interaction. But if the other person knows that it's me, and I know them and have a bond with them, why should they act distant and confuse me with their behavior making me think that it's not them?

Late at night, I started feeling weird because I had had a lot of tea with biscuits during the day and now needed to eat something spicy. So I fried a tomato, and while the maggi boiled, I thought of using the time to wash my soaked clothes. I then had the following vision.

Vision (late night): Benedict Cumberbatch (BC) looks at me with smiling and amazed eyes as he says, "She's perfect! She's perfect!"

"She's more than perfect.": I've heard this previously as well in the Spirit.

And it repeats as I continue working in my rhythm.

I also see the face of Glory as he says smiling in a quiet tone, "Randi nhi hai. Randi nhi hai." which makes me question if he previously thought otherwise about me!

While I was editing Page 508 and added the part 'Kartika Randi', I later had the vision revelations that showed the zoomed visions of the face of the character of Dushman as he said in a repentful though impulsive tone: "Tu kahan se randi ho gyi! Randua to mein hu! Vo tu mein hu! Tu kaise randi ho gyi! Tu to bahut achi hai!"

The Lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
It was already the next day (13th) around the midnight hours and I was making tea in the room lit in yellow and blue when I started having the following revelation.

Heard in the Spirit: 'Randi nahi hai.. Randi nahi hai..' ('Not a whore.. Not a whore..') accompanied with a lightly smiling face of Glory saying the same.

The revelation repeats itself when I am having the tea afterwards, as well.

Page 532.

13 September 2023
12:37

Vision (Past 10 hours): I see the vision as a third person. In a background of sky and clouds, I see Jesus standing in Heaven with other beings who are dressed in full-length white standing behind him to the left of the viewer. He is dressed in full-length white robes with a belt around his waist, two white wings at the back, a stubble with short neck-length hair, and a golden ring floating above His head. I enter the view of the vision from the right and He welcomes and hugs me lovingly.

Dream (Morning):

I am together with my mom in a room with grey flooring. My dad has to leave for Jalandhar for some reason, and my mom and I stay gat to stay together at home. The dream ends with the tall, well-built, and muscular DP Sir of my school in my hometown, dressed in a skin-tight light pink t-shirt and a white cap on top, standing behind the podium in a room filled with students sitting on the floor as he holds a couple of stapled pages in his hands and is beginning to talks about the at times necessary act of filing police complaint about one's own family members when it's needed. He is creating awareness through his lecture about not hesitating to report abusive behavior from one's own family members.

This used to be his usual attire: skin-tight t-shirts over jeans/denims and a cap on his head. He and Shamsher Sir didn't get along well for some reason. As for me, though I didn't interact much with DP Sir as there was no need, I didn't have any negative outlook towards him despite him not being in good terms with Shamsher Sir. I never understood their rivalry. While Shreya and I were kind of friends to Shamsher Sir, this other girl Gayatri who was a kind of rival of Shreya was friends with DP Sir. Weird that the friends of the rival teachers didn't go along as well. Now that I look at it, it was because both Shreya and Gayatri liked to be in charge and had bold bossy personalities that clashed together. Both were the popular girls or bosses of their respective sections, and both were narcissistic to some extent. I could never go along with Gayatri. She was a sports person, took part in sports events, and therefore spent time with DP Sir and was close to him, while Shreya was into academics alone and therefore was close to Shamsher Sir who taught us science and maths. Gayatri was also called Toshin in her home.

The dream made me ponder on how well-advanced the small place I grew up in was. It was both moral and culturally advanced in a moral sense.

Since morning I have been hearing this word 'Hasle' being sung from the stanza Hasle Gaale Ye Din Na Milenge Kal from the song Mela Dilo Ka, in a mocking tone.

And then when I was cleaning my table in the morning, I again saw the face of Benedict as he said with smiling amazed eyes: She's perfect..

I can tell that he's referring to my internal characteristics.

14:41
I removed a clip from the towel hung at the door in front of the balcony and put it on the black dusting cloth that I hung on top of the window to prevent it from falling down, and again, I immediately heard: Perfect.

17:21
I had a lot of tea yesterday following which I wasn't feeling well by the time it was night and felt like having something spicy for I had been having tea and biscuits throughout the day and felt the uneasy feeling one gets after having too much of something sweet. So, I decided to have the only quick spicy thing I could've that was with me: Maggi. It broke my fast in a way but I thought I would continue nevertheless, but today as well, I felt a strong urge to have lunch and therefore got a half tiffin from Chaaru. I don't know when I will resume hard-core fasting like I was doing previously. Since I started eating at home, I have not been able to fast and my stuck at the same level. I shared with Chaaru how I ruined my fast, and that I will begin a new fast starting this evening.

Revelations During Resting:

- I put my hand on my forehead as my head is heavy followed by the vision of the face of Charu with her hand on her forehead with closed eyes. She too is called by my name.
- KA licks the centre of my groin, followed by more licks, him eating it as a burger, followed by kissing and make-out visions, and then the previous 'Wife!' visions are highlighted to me!

The Guy sings:
Rafta rafta wo meri hasti ka saman ho gaye..

And then while resting during the day, I felt this taste of blood on my tongue as blood touched the furthest part of my tongue. It seemed to have been a result of internal bleeding. I am not sure. It could be a somatic revelation as well. But the blood seemed to touch the back of my tongue like a wave does a beach. And it makes me think about the sensations of pain as if being a result of inner fleshly cuts inside my neck. God have mercy on these people.

Additionally, I came across this song last night:

मैं तेरे आगे आप चलूँगा (मसीही गीत) प्रस्तुति : "हिन्दी बाइबिल स्टडी ग्रुप"

And it made me think of how God brought me to this place to give me rest as per the green light vision in which he carefully placed my head on a single bed with an iron rod at its end (matching the foldable bed I got), and then there was a small green bulb already present in this new room that I shifted to.

At the same time, it also reminded me of the dream revelation from 2020 that ended with Death Conqueror walking into a space in front of me and stopping, dressed in a grey jacket over trousers, along with the dream revelation in which I was walking with some people around me to a home, followed by the scene of me sleeping on a mattress spread on the floor when a knock woke me up checking upon which I saw Daya from CID peeking inside through the window and asking to meet his wife's daughter Divya. Such confusing revelations. Well, not all revelations pertain to me. It's Jesus who has been acting as my protector by far as He orchestrated different situations and brought different people in my life who themselves are chosen by God. The dream revelations later made me wonder if they pertained to someone else with my label shown, because these abusers are only about hurting me psychologically. I don't see any godly behavior coming from them.

The lady sings:
Maar dala.. Maar dala..

The Guy sings:
Bewafa, Bewafa, bewafa nikli hai vo..
Jhoota pyaar, jhoota pyaar, jhoot pyaar kita hai vo.

While Walking On the Roof:

- The smiling face of Benedict with blue eyes as he looks at me saying, "Perfect." The vision repeats itself intermittently several times.
- I get a nudge to have a Mirinda though I had Aloo Puri and Halwa previously in the evening and had enough carbs/sugars, but still I go downstairs and get a small one.
- I listen to Sis Adele's recently released Prophetic Word 'Ready Yourselves', in which God talks about how necessary it was to be in His rest. How He was inviting people to come to His rest so they could commune with Him and receive refreshment for their souls.

Prophetic word - Ready Yourselves

I saw how I had been in His rest, especially this morning as I looked back at His previous revelations given to me that pertained to Him. Some of them I've not yet written.

- I also see Sis Adele worshipping happily with raised forearms as I play the song 'Aradhana Teri Aradhana' on my phone while walking on the roof.
- I am then rotating her around by her hand above her head, and she looks so happy and joyful in the Lord.

Page 533.

14 September 2023
02:27

Revelations while resting a while back:

- KA sits on top of a heap of almost round black rocks under the open sky, dressed in a loose V-neck full-sleeved white shirt over black trousers, with legs outstretched with feet crossed one on top of another, and then he changes his sitting position to a cross-legged one with horizontally folded knees, as he bends his upper half down and looks below the rocks at the viewer.
- The vision of a long and pointed sharp metallic nail fully pierced through my heart as its head rests on the top. It makes me think if it's withholding the blood burst. I keep feeling these raw nudges on the surface of my heart as if something is poking at it, and the only explanation I can come up with is their drone(s) doing it to my heart, as they keep hitting the back surface of my eye balls and my brain as well.
- Rose Tea
  A vertically extended, rectangular deep red tea box named 'Rose', slightly puffed in at one of its sides is shown to the viewer with the print of dark red colored tea placed on a small disk at the centre of the box.

And then these lyrics play in my Spirit currently:
The Guy sings:
You're killing me, killing me!

From the song 'The Kill'

Thirty Seconds To Mars - The Kill (Bury Me)

They played yesterday as well. They are killing me internally through the damage caused by their drones and the short-heighted guy plays these sick outer games while he's hurting me at the same time. It only proves that the things he has to say are but games alone, and nothing more, for the fact that he has been hurting me all this time speaks the truth.

16:39
Dream-Vision: A clean-shaven LDC with side-slicken hair, dressed in a black suit over a white shirt stands facing KW in her look from Titanic wearing an embroidered maroon fitting dress as he moves her from left to right in slow but discrete dance moves.

The Dentist Visit, The Injured Head, and My Impulsive Dad
Dream (Morning): I am in an empty room with just a wide mattress on the floor with my youngest brother Divyanshu. The room has an entrance that exits right on an open street. We're there for a purpose, it seems. I leave him there and go to see Dr Shikha to get my teeth cleaned as they've accumulated stains. I leave around the evening, and have a long procedure done at her clinic which is shown to be consisting of a huge room with grey walls and grey floor, resembling that of a govt office with old-fashioned furniture lying around. After the treatment, I interact with her as I sit in front of her with a small table between us lying against a wall to my right. She's explaining some important things to me and it takes a lot of time - so much so that the entire day passes away. When I have to leave, I move outside and she accompanies me by her own will and without me asking her, she by herself rushes to get her 4-seater E-Rickshaw and turns it around to drop me at my place, but now she doesn't look like her self that was there inside the room, but is represented by a short-heighted guy dressed in shabby clothes. I sit in her E-Rickshaw and she drops me to a place I can board a common transport vehicle back to my home, which I do. After I've spent a night at my home, I recall that I left Divyanshu alone in that space, and that he didn't even perhaps have the key to the room. I am now worried about his condition and how he spent the night outside. I immediately go back to the place and find him lying inside the room on the mattress, but he has his head wrapped with a cloth. I get to know that he went to buy vegetables last evening/night when his head got injured by some people as he wasn't supposed to be out due to lockdown. My mom and middle brother Himanshu are there as well. She reminds me that it's because of Himanshu's job that she was there as well. I find them lying on the mattresses on the floor as well. They all had been resting. She cooks for him and takes care of other chores. I move to the washroom space and find that it lies inside the dentist's clinic at its far end and has a grey aura about it. I find that my mom has different clothes soaked in three buckets to be washed later. They had to be soaked separately to avoid mixing of colours. There's a brown bedsheet soaked in one of the buckets close to the wall. I think of washing them as my mom already has a lot of work to do and she's bust mostly, so I could ease her load a bit by washing those clothes though she didn't ask me to. My dad is around as well, but he seems to be angry on me because of the time I was away from home. I can sense I am not safe around him. I happen to meet Dr. Shikha again and explain to her the past situation where I went home forgetting my brother at the place, in answer to a question she asked. I then move away from her and find my dad around who is still angry at me and spent at Dr. Shikha's. I try to explain to him how I forgot Divyanshu at the place and spent a lot of time at Dr Shikha's. He's still angry and may hit me, and I continue to maintain my distance from him as I am trying to evade his anger.

All this while, I am also aware of the presence of the spy drones inside my body, and wonder how many of them am I carrying in total. I find myself with Dr Shikha again, but this time she's a Rickshaw driver of a 2-seater Rickshaw instead of the driver of that 4-seater E-Rickshaw, as she is carrying me at the back to a place. Without me asking her, she reveals to me that there are 18 drones inside me in total which leaves me astounded for they are too many in number. (But it's not impossible either because they are there from my skull to groin. I can feel them hitting the flesh inside my skull from my brain to the inside of my eyes, and I can also feel those tiny nudges at the surface of my heart.) When she reveals the same to me, we are on my hometown's road that has a PHC at the left end of it. As I think about the situation and am on my way in her rickshaw with the thoughts of my angry dad still lingering in my mind, I wake up.

After I wake up, I keep lying on my bed as I find it like all mornings to open my eyes and feel fatigued with an aching and heavy head. I only get out of bed these days when I am able to do so. Otherwise I give myself rest. I've observed that by the time it's night, I am in a better position to sit and work than the day time, and I tend to get more work done during nights due to the calm, silence and stillness of the time and my sustained concentration. So I try to make up as much of my night time as possible because during the day it's enough that I wake up and take care of the daily chores. As I lie on my bed unable to move, I see a pigeon fly inside through the open balcony window, and stand on the kitchen slab facing to the left. I observe it for a while, and then whistle at it trying to get it to fly to me and sit on the small cushion lying beside me as I pat on it a few times. The view of the innocent pigeon somehow fills me with positive energy and I get up to get a closer view of it, and perhaps hold it, if I am able to. I start walking towards it but as I get closer, it turns away and flies out. But by this time, I am already out of the bed and have gained enough positive mental momentum to get me going.

Now that I think of it, it seems to me that God sent it inside. If only He would send such pigeons or other birds inside near me everyday, I would keep getting rejuvenated each day and would be filled with good, positive mental energy. This Death Conqueror is so sick in his mind and is like an energy sapper who only causes harm, and what he has to offer, or the ways that he is blessed, is not even what I want either! If I live in a shabby place but I maintain it well, it’s good enough for me, and if God keeps sending such cute and innocent birds to me, I am more than happy, which makes me recall how Elijah spent a lot of time alone in a cave when he was in hiding, with God sending food to him through a raven who brought food to him held in its beak. God can care for its people in many ways. He knows what enriches the souls of different individuals. He knows that I feel happy in a natural environment, surrounded by animals and birds that are not dangerous. Why would I want to go near a demon-possessed man like Death Conqueror, or a demonically influenced woman like Akhila and the likes? If I was to be around someone like Death Conqueror, I would consistently feel drained of positive energy as if an evil sick force is sapping it out of me! He is a free loader, a thief, a rapist, and a murderer.

The minute long distant interaction with the pigeon was enough to recharge me into action, because it was an innocent being.

After I get up, I go out to buy milk and Colgate but forget to buy the toothpaste. I also realize that the previous vision of the Tea box named 'Rose' went along with my recent acts of buying KrackJack biscuit. Well, I thought of buying it because I didn't want to buy the other similar option of 50-50, but wanted to have the sweet and salty biscuits. I didn't think or realize its relation with the characters of Rose or Jack. However, I did think that if Jack represented Death Conqueror like I had previously assumed because he died at the end of the movie, then the biscuits would represent the cracking of his head. So, I didn't really have any positive love-filled emotions pertaining to the biscuits but they only carried the taste I liked and that's why I bought them. But now, they've an added meaning after I received the 'Rose' tea revelation last night, in which case Jack is no longer a representation of Death Conqueror because - look at the character of Jack, and look at Death Conqueror. Jack was so good, loving and characterful that Rose chose to leave her rich and abusive husband for him. While her husband offered her diamonds and a comfortable lifestyle with a name, she told Jack that she would get down with him and go where he would go, and not ruin her life with her abusive, rich husband. She chose to dress in sober and plain clothes later instead of the previous shiny ones that carried a vain outlook. She is our prototype of how one is to compare parameters of value, which reminds me of my music teacher back when I was in high school. He was a lean and thin man, who was very characterful. He suggested me to pursue a musical graduation and wanted me to be regular in visiting him into the musical room where we spent time practicing together. One could look in his eyes and tell how characterful he was, and he sang with such a serious expression. Whenever he sang, his eyebrows frowned in the middle for he sung it out of his soul. He was a great singer. He was not just a singer, but he played harmonium as well, along with tabla, flute and drums. These were the instruments that I saw him play as I and Shreya often visited him together during our time together in 9th and 10th. He told me specifically to visit the music room regularly whenever I was free. Shreya wasn't too good of a musician.

During my first few visits, he would play melodies on harmonium as I would sing along with the music. Later we resorted to him playing the drums and me singing along with which sounded much better to me than the harmonium's sound for it sounded too ethnic/old-fashioned.

My singing used to be so in rhythm with his drums and it sounded too good. Whenever I faltered, he would restart his drumming according to me. And he always talked to people looking in their eyes, and not here and there, and so did most of the people - they talked with others with a real mind to mind moral connection.

Anyway. I got reminded of him, because I once saw him on a cycle coming out of the narrow street to our previous rented home in my hometown. I wasn't expecting him to be living that humble of a lifestyle looking at how he looked in the school and how talented he was. He was very humble, gentle and a motivator, and not dual faced. While other teachers came to school in their two or 4 wheelers or used the school's transport including him, he was okay with roaming around the town's streets on his bicycle not caring about how he looked. That was the beauty of the place - for it sustained all cultural and economic mindsets together at the same level. I then stopped going to the music room because Shreya didn't feel like going there. I spent most of my time with her, and chose to be with her in my free time instead of going to the music room for musical practice during the free periods, and he later rebuked me about it when he once found us standing together one day. He said that I shouldn't stop practicing because of her. Though he didn't say that it was because she wasn't talented in the art but I was and therefore her decision to not go to the room shouldn't change mine, but it was implied.

Anyway. I wrote the above to make the point of how that music teacher had the real parameters of value that would be respected in that place and not in a demonic place like Delhi that respects parameters of no value.

I go out to buy some things from Dinesh Store, have tea with some biscuits, clean my room, take a bath and later decide to rest for my head pinches on the inside. This day I felt a nudge to get dressed in my Saber attire of Blue & White. So I wore my white shirt over the light stuffed blue cotton pants. It reminded of the vision I had before sleeping the previous night in which I saw KA dressed in white V-necked shirt over black pants which makes me think if I should change my pants to the black one that's hanging upstairs on the roof for I had I washed it yesterday. I rest for a while and have this vision.

Vision (day): KA dressed in dark multilayered clothes stands near the wall opposite to my bed's, facing my bed as tears flow out like two streams of jet projectiles from the corners of his eyes, and an elephant trunk erected at an angle of 45 degrees as it moves wavily around ejecting a stream of semen. He is crying as the streams of tears flow out from his eyes.

The vision repeats a few times.

And then I hear in my Spirit:
"Itna pyaar mat karo, Kartika. Itna pyaar mat karo!"

I talk to my mom as well in between, and get my dried clothes downstairs after a while and change into the black one. I like the black better. I put on play the Instrumental worship song by the name 'Eternal Song', and lie down again to rest, and then I have these visions.

- A dusky and naked KA appears on my bed whom I wrap myself around like Bella does Edward as we kiss each other profusely. Though he's naked, I am fully dressed in my full-sleeved shirt over black pants.
- I then see us as third person standing in the middle of the room as we continue to kiss and make out followed by more variations of the acts.

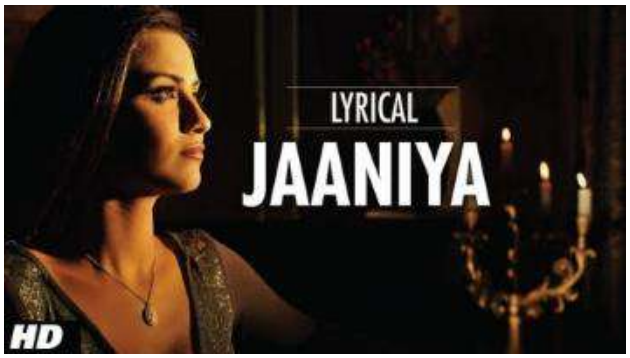
I also had this vision repeat itself during day: A lean, thin and waxed version of me sits with a slightly stooped back on my bed in just a printed pink lingerie set and talks to another person sitting on my bed in front of me, who is not shown in the vision.

Recall: The vision in which two red curtains got sidelined and behind them lay a huge white love heart beating hard. I had this vision when I was in room D4 of A-16, back during late 2021, or early 2022. Now that I've shifted to this room, I happened to put up two red curtains on the balcony's door so I could keep it open while separating the washbasin from the kitchen area at the same time. The vision has been being highlighted to me during the past week after I put up the red curtains (made two out of one wide curtain). One doesn’t need to draw them aside at the top, but just enter in straight through siding them from below as I had seen in the vision, and behind that curtain lies a huge white love heart that beats hard.

The Guy sings:
Tujhe paa liya.. Ya kho diya..

These lyrics kept playing in my Spirit a while back. So I'm posting the song here.

Jaaniya Lyrical | Haunted - 3D | Mahakshay Chakraborty, Tia Bajpai | Siddharth Basrur



I was praying to God some days back while resting on bed about my consistent headaches and the moving and twisting sensations inside that I felt on the surface of my brain. I was praying hard for Him to do something about it, as I could work better without this disturbing painful distraction. I highlighted to him how Death Conqueror had only been sinning against me and causing me pain! To sin and cause others pain seemed easier to him than to act in godly and upright ways. I kept pointing God's attention to my head, when the phrase 'Ye ek dard bhari dastan hai.. Ye ek dard bhari dastan hai..' kept being highlighted to me. So, it told me that the head problem needed to endured and it wasn't yet too worse that it left me entirely dysfunctional. Additionally, I came across this video released by Sis Adele today with the heading 'You don't want to miss this prophetic flow.' And it pointed my attention to my own prophetic flow that I was experiencing in my life on a daily basis which was now getting to huge for me to manage as I was lagging behind in writing the prophetic revelations. A prophetic flow of the Holy Spirit is a heavenly blessing. And while I wrote the previous sentence, I heard a guy sing in a mocking tone: Hasle Gale, Ye din na milenge kal..

I've two questions that God hasn't answered yet.
1. Where exactly are these people?
2. Why don't they come directly to me like a normal person who rings the doorbell and interacts?

I recall the time I had to move around a lot the backside of A-16 in Single Storey because I didn't know the exact entrance of the apartment which I thought was the part of the prophetic dream with the white camel. From the perspective of an outward, it was a very foolish thing to do - to move to and for seeking to enter a space you never entered previously to interact with people you never interacted previously. I didn't even have the extreme end revelations with Glory back then like I had later with RS and KA. I was still moving around because I knew that that was what God wanted me to do according to the revelations He made known to me. How foolish of an act! A normal situation has a person knowing beforehand where and when (s)he is supposed to meet another individual (s)he is supposed to meet. But in my case, I didn't have either of the information. I only had the vision of the promise from A-17/B, and the wedding dream revelation. I didn't have a bond for I hadn't spent any time or interacted with this individual. But I was following God because I knew that I will eventually have a bond for I was called as Rebekah and Rebekah never met her husband Isaac before she did on the day she first met him after which he took her to his camp and made her his wife. And they were a very committed couple that stayed committed until the end. There's no mention of Isaac having a concubine in the Bible. But his elder step brother Ishmael took many wives and was an ungodly man who didn't follow the Lord God. Two brothers from the same father - Abraham, but how different of personas they carried. Ishmael was born to Abraham from his wife Sarah's servant Hagar whom she gave to him as wife to bear children out of impatience while she waited for God's promise to come to fulfilment in Isaac's birth. Isaac was the son of the promise not Ishmael. However, Ishmael too got blessed by God as an entire nation came out of him though it didn't follow the Lord as Isaac's generation did. I always thought of Glory as Isaac because I was called as Rebekah and the vision of the promise showed the side-view of his upper-half, dressed in a black suit, standing facing a woman dressed in white in an open area under the night sky. It was before I had any of the revelations related to people from Bollywood.

Anyway. Additionally, behind the curtain I happen to hang my white towel as I spread it evenly on three hooks, which again reminds me of the vision. When I look back, I see how illogical and foolish of me it was to roam around not knowing when and where I was supposed to meet God's promised person. I being a normal individual never could've thought of such an act, for I would've fixed a time and place beforehand with the person I looked forward to meet. The ways of all these people seem so fishy and foolish to me because they don't accomplish anything! Isn't it clear by now!?

Late evening:

I feel a strong desire to eat Aloo Puri Halwa again and feel like having it heavy like yesterday. I have a heavy meal these days once in a day with small portions of eating spread throughout the day. The heavy meal keeps me going through the night as I have to stay awake and work. I happened to think during the day that if it was because of my high cholesterol levels that my heart was in danger and how eating Aloo Puri Halwa was only going to make things worse! I once had strong pain arise in my heart as well back during 2018 when my life was comparatively normal according to worldly standards! But then on overeating somewhere during the past few weeks, I felt a sharp pain in my heart again. And I wondered if God wanted me to run for the same reason in addition to weight loss.

After having the meal, I go upstairs on the roof to take a walk and lighten up and have these revelations.

- SH in black & white strips me happily and throws my clothing away as we dance together, after which he hugs me tightly and kisses me passionately! The vision repeats itself a few times.
- "Kartika tum bas door se hi achi lagti ho!"

20:58

I returned from spending alone time on the roof a few minutes back, and the phrase "Kartika tum bas door se hi achi lagti ho!" kept being repeated to me in my Spirit.

Well, I don't want to be liked solely for having distant or close-up attractive looks. I always form mental bonds with good quality moral minds. Again, that can only be known upon having a close-up mental look of a person's mind, for from a distance all can seem the same. Jesus has mostly shown Himself to me in a stubbled look with beige complexion, and in the recent church vision in which He was calling me 'Randi', He had an extremely dark complexion. But He is still Jesus with the same nature of God! I am not trade Him for a fair-skinned demon or child of devil!

After spending time on the roof, as I am getting down the stairs from the roof's door, this scene from this Aishwarya Rai movie keeps highlighting itself in my Spirit. Though I have not watched the movie fully, but have watched some scenes a I came across them on YouTube. In those scenes, Aishwarya was shown as being abused by her husband, after which she killed him and was then sent to jail where she made good friendships with women who were there because of varied reasons, not all of which were committed unjustly. I later looked up the movie and found out its name that I had forgotten: Provoked. And the scene had Aishwarya Rai rebuking her husband for spending money on Gori Randis while he abused her for spending money on their home's daily needs. I couldn't find the scene but I can recall her using the phrase somewhere in the movie. She was confronting her husband for sleeping out with Gori Randis (Fair Whores). I don't know why, but this scene kept being highlighted to me unexpectedly, and highlighted itself a few times.

I return to my room and after a while get a nudge to have a diet Pepsi for I felt like having a cold drink because of the hot and humid weather, so I get one, return to my room, and rest on my bed while having it when I have the visions below.

- A dusky naked KA reaches down from above my ceiling and kisses me.
- I hug tightly a dusky KA on my bed.
- The vision is followed with Dushman appearing on top of me as he is pulling away at my bifurcated chest with the tissues and blood visible. I push him away, and pull KA back! Dushman appears again now above my groin, bifurcating the top in two with the inner red tissue . I again have to push him away and pull KA back!
- While I am kissing and hugging him, I feel such a sense of relief from my mental and emotional pain/stress that I've been going through as I feel his good heart, and then I tell him quietly: You're such a relief.. You're such a relief..
- I hug him tightly but there are black demon hands around pulling him away, so I pray for him to be untouched and unaffected by them.
  I move upwards to him, jumping on him and covering the naked KA to protect him from black demon hands around. Like a snake my body stretches as I wrap myself around him to cover him up. Apparently, the demons can't do anything to me, but they are after him. I have to keep holding him in order to stop him from being dragged away. With a blow of air blown in an air around him, I push the demons away.

Apparently, the people who are not saved are dragged away by demons in various ways as the kingdom of darkness doesn't want them to enter the light. It's always me praying and fighting them demons in the Spirit so path can be open for them to walk freely towards me/Jesus, for I am His representative in this place.

Past Revelation

Vision (Past week at night while strolling on the roof): A dark Jesus looks at me and says, "Tu Randi nhi hai! Tu Randi nhi hai! Tu bahut achi hai! Tu bahut achi hai!"

Now I don't see myself as a Randi despite what anyone else says about me because I am living my normal life and doing the work of God. It's Death Conqueror who put me in this situation and it's all on his head! If the camera situation was not there, what would they find to highlight about my way of living or body - nothing! By keeping me in focus, they found a continuous topic to consume their attention - their object that distracts them from the reality of their rotten inner selves! Without the camera situation, my life would be almost sinless as I am not greedy, covetous, a lover of money, worldly, a drunkard, a drug addict, a fornicator, an adulterer, and a homosexual! Death Conqueror is the only cause of sin in my life as he sent these cameras that put me in compromising situations and make me sin passively, and others actively. He is so worldly and vain and he tries to make right what he did wrong by flashing futile earthly possessions that make me feel repelled from him even more. Hasn't he understood by now that I like sobriety and a plain way of dressing that's also a reflection of my inner interests? He will only take what's perfect by its nature and make it degraded in his degraded company like a godly man is negatively influenced in the company of an ungodly sinner and is tempted to stary from his path. Like devil, he tries to lure people through possessions!

I can see that Jesus is reaching out to those who got stuck in the profession of prostitution because they were sold into it against their will, and they had no choice but to continue in the circumstance. Don't Death Conqueror and his friends exhibit the same character traits of those people who push innocent women into prostitution. He and his group are just like those wicked people! Me being in this situation actually opened a way for those who were pushed into this ungodly profession against their will to look up to Jesus for their honor and wealth and not on how they are treated by wicked men! Death Conqueror should be ashamed of himself. Such a deplorable character! And he thinks that this capacity of exhibiting extreme unrighteous behavior makes him versatile and someone great! How foolish!

As Sis Adele said for those who happened to do things against their nature: Your Do cannot become your Who.

This is a word for someone - Your "do" cannot become your "who"...

And then I also heard in my Spirit previously during the day: Ju-hee. Ju-hee, said discretely in a firm manner.

Vision (Past 24 hours): KA dressed in a lavender tunic stands making heart shapes with his hands in front of his chest in a dark magenta shiny background as he moves the heart shape all around his upper body moving the heart shape in horizontal rows up and down. The vision repeats itself a few times.

Vision (past 48 hours): the distant vision of Jesus crucified on the cross in a light dusky and dusty background as an elephant trunk hits his forehead.

Who can be greater than Jesus? No one. He was pleased to die for the sins of His children so He could secure them to Him despite their initial sin condition. However, He hasn't called us to continue in our sin but expects and wants us to come out of the world and belong to Him wholly. He is so loving, patient, longsuffering in love, and great - unmatched in character.

Page 534.

15 September 2023
04:00

The Guy says: "Isne mujhe meri aukat dikha di!"
The sentence keeps repeating itself!

Vision (Day before yesterday): I see myself standing facing KA as a third person being dressed in my attire from that day (lavender loose t-shirt over grey trousers) as we kiss profusely following which I lift up one leg and place it on his shoulder. The spectator me thought: How flexible! He then changes to Glory.

Vision (while resting about half an hour back): In a golden background, I see the naked upper half of SRK until shoulders lying on his front on an invisible surface as he looks forward at the viewer with blue eyes looking too tired, spent and exhausted and says something depressing. The naked arm and shoulders of a woman are visible on top of him as she moves around on him.

While looking up for the scene from the movie Provoked earlier during the night, I came across a video in which Aishwarya Rai dressed in a blue tunic set embroidered in white looked to the left and made the prophetic symbol. Looking at her dressing sense filled me with appreciation for her holy attire as she was dressed from top to bottom in A shaped holy clothing and seemed to be overweight in that attire, though she may not actually be. But it filled me with awe for her for her choice of A over 8 as I thought, "How beautiful and what a holy mindset."

After a while when I have made a note of the Gori Randis revelation from her movie, I have the following vision.
Vision (5-6 hours back): Aishwarya Rai dressed in that blue and white attire does the signature arm act of the heroine of Marjaavaan while looking at the viewer.

While resting on the bed few hours back in the dimly-lit room with blue light, I went into a half-asleep state. I then had an itching sensation at the right side of my neck. Also, I was a bit uncomfortable due to multiple layers cloth in this humid weather when my fan doesn't run too fast. So I moved around a bit uncomfortably and ended up resting my feet on the bed with lifted knees as the change in position gave me some comfort. It is then that a series of visions involving KA and Glory began followed by the phrase 'You're inviting me! You're inviting me!' 'I can tell you're inviting me.' "She's inviting me.' The phrase kept being repeated and repeated itself several times. Well, I changed my position to feel comfortable and not because I was inviting people.

The phrase is followed by KA in a black t-shirt over trousers standing outside my room with an erected elephant trunk.

"Kartika, cute to tu bahut hai."
"Isse jyada cute hoga koi!?"

Also, I keep hearing these lyrics intermittently in my Spirit.
The group sings together:
Shubh swagatam Shubh Swagatam Shubh Swagatam Aaaaa….
Karte hai apka Shubh Swagatam..

It was a part of group song my school performed at a few events.

Also, this previous revelation from 303 of A-10 in which the naked avatar of Dushman dressed in just a diaper was showing me his back with diaper while looking sideways with wicked expressions kept being highlighted to me. It made me recall the events in real life in which Death Conqueror sent people holding babies to show to me as a representation of him. But, am I a fool? And can God be deceived? He already showed me that it's Dushman trying to look like an infant and justify his evil wickedness! The only baby avatar of him that I believe in the one that God showed me, and that him chewing his foot lifted up to his mouth, representing him as Paapi Nadaan.

5:41
Vision (Earlier during the night after having tea as I lay on bed to rest, 9/31, Double Storey): LDC in his short-heighted Avatar of Jack (off-white full-sleeved shirt tucked inside brown pants with shoulder straps) has his back towards the viewer as he does a hen dance flapping his horizontally folded arms as he moves to and fro, moving in the narrow kitchen space to being back in the room, and as he does so, pink translucent love hearts eject out of his fully dressed bum.

Vision (Late Night): The side-view of the upper half of Charu dressed in a printed yellow tunic facing to the left making the prophetic symbol, and slightly bent forwards in a golden environment as she looks at the viewer and says: We all love you.. She repeats it a few times in the vision, or the vision repeats itself a few times.

8:18
Revelations Before Sleeping at night:

- As I am about to turn off the lights, I hear the lyrics play abruptly in my Spirit: Saiyonara.. Saiyonara.. kal phir aungi saiyonara.. Saiyonara.. Saiyonara.. Wada nibhaungi Saiyonara:
- KA is sucking my clean groin followed by the word 'Juice' being highlighted to me. He continues to do so for a long while and changes to Glory intermittently for brief flashes of time. After a while I see a thin penis in a dark blue background and apparently I am biting at it. It reminds me of the 69 answer to the ratio problem that I had encountered in a previous dream. Though I am not sure about the first number, I remember it being an even number and that the part after the ratio was 6x , the ratio perhaps (most probably) being 4:6x.
- Juice repeats in my Spirit several times as he continues to suck out the juice.

Dream (Morning):

I'm with Meera in a room and have some good time together, and before leaving, she leaves a typed message on a wide screen that says: Mam, ily! Mister …. and Madam…. . Though I don't recall the exact message, this was the format: beginning with her telling me that she loved me, followed by addressing Glory and Me as Mister and Madam in a sentence. It reminds me of our past time together and how she used to be: full of fun and made me laugh. Apparently, Glory is hiding around in the hall bifurcated into two long rectangular areas and knows about the message as well and seems to be happy about it. There are some steel washbasins with multiple taps around them along the hall's bifurcating wall. I happen to use one of them. I forget my phone in the space for a day. The next day that I return I see that workers of the space have it seized. They tell me that they tried calling a person whose number was stored inside my phone to ask whose phone it was but that person denied knowing the owner. They inform it to me with a mocking smile. They know that the phone is mine but they're mocking me about the person they called denying to know me. They repeat to me that the person denied. I wonder why would that person whose number is stored in my phone deny knowing me. And apparently, they're hinting that person to be Meera. Why would she deny knowing me? It makes me question if she has my number stored in her phone in the first place. But if not the number, she has her WhatsApp chat functional with me! Yeah, but she couldn't have looked up her WhatsApp chats immediately to see if there was a number that wasn't saved. Perhaps that's why she denied knowing me! I am now starting to feel betrayed but I compensate for it by making up explanations for what the officials told me. I ask them to return my phone. But they've to follow the official procedure to release seized items. They're waiting for someone to come, while I am trying to convince them that I can prove before the guy arrives that it indeed is my phone. I then move to a floor above which lives Glory, supposedly, and I seem to know about it. I notice that some people, young men and women, are group dancing in a grid arrangement in the wide balcony of the floor which resembles that of Rugha Saini's home back in my hometown: our second rented home in the place. While I am lying on the lower floor lying on an elevated surface, some girls tell me that I should find myself lucky because I am able to use my feet intactly and didn't have to walk on my toes with raised heels as the backside of my ankle could be internally severed from its place at any time. They inform me so by demonstrating lifting up their heels in front of me with their toes pressed against the surface I am sitting on. I walk into the open area of the Arts Faculty ground that lies behind its gate facing the Gate No. 4 of Science Faculty (of Delhi University) and see more people group dancing in a grid. They're practicing special dance moves that they're sure as they're discussing among themselves will call Glory. There's a bulky guy in the crowd with tiny spiky hair dressed in printed white t-shirt and shorts resembling RS and he stands out from among the rest. I marvel at their combined effort. It seems to me that they are expecting me to be a part of the dance group but the idea seems too weird to me as I haven't group danced for a long time and then I spot some cars to the right most of which are white, and see my dad and brothers standing near them waiting for me, following which I walk to the space and we all get inside with me at the back seat. My dad drives too fast and it almost seems that the car is going to hit the corners as he takes turns but it misses every time. We end up in a space with a long room with thick doors at its two ends. My dad enters the space with my two brothers and I don't know if they've locked the room. I stand in front of the long stretch of the thick metallic room and walk along the same. The room is a subsection of a bigger hall. I move to and fro when I sense some unusual activity inside as my dad seems to have started arguing with my youngest brother though he seems to be calmly responding to him. I fear that things may get violent. I move to the left end of the room as it seems nearer and try to open the thick door but it's locked on the inside. I now push against the door and it moves at my pushes but it's too thick and strong. The room is like a metallic safe. As I continue pushing, I keep hearing the cries of a young 7-8 yr old child coming from the far end of the room as he innocently says: 'Didi Kholoo.. Didi Kholoo..' . I now think of going to the door present at the other end of the room as I keep hearing 'Didi Kholo.. Didi Kholo..' while I am still pushing at the door, followed by 'Papa ne meri dhid faad di.' - from what I could fathom standing outside the door, after which I wake up.

And while writing the above, I heard:

The Guy sings:
Hasle Gaale Ye din na milenge kal
Thodi khushiyo hai thodi se ye pal.

These lyrics of a worship song were reminded to me a while back. They played in my spirit yesterday as well during the late evening after I listened to it.

The Person sings:
Azaad ho.. Azaad ho..
Yeshu ke lahoo se.. Azaad ho..
Chahe kaisa bhi gunaah ho, azaad ho..
Chahe kuch bhi kiya ho azaad ho..

Azaad ho.. Azaad ho..
Yeshu ke lahoo se.. Azaad ho..

Azaad ho Lyrics(Christian song)Anil kant

The lyrics talk about the freedom we have in Christ which frees us from the penalty of sin. However, as Paul also speaks in Hebrews 10, we are not to consider his sacrifice as a license to sin:

26 If we deliberately keep on sinning after we have received the knowledge of the truth, no sacrifice for sins is left, 27 but only a fearful expectation of judgment and of raging fire that will consume the enemies of God. 28 Anyone who rejected the law of Moses died without mercy on the testimony of two or three witnesses. 29 How much more severely do you think someone deserves to be punished who has trampled the Son of God underfoot, who has treated as an unholy thing the blood of the covenant that sanctified them, and who has insulted the Spirit of grace? 30 For we know him who said, "It is mine to avenge; I will repay,"[d] and again, "The Lord will judge his people."[e] 31 It is a dreadful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Hebrews+10&version=NIV>

I fell asleep again after typing out the morning dream in brief broad points to help me remember the details to be written later.

It is then that I had three more dream revelations:

Dream 1: I am in my parental home at Omaxe with my dad and brothers. I don't see my mom around though I know she's there and her thought pops up in my head every now and then. I move to the small storeroom area facing the apartment's entrance and am putting things at their proper places as I find them lying around. I get hold of a thin belt stripped in green and white, and am thinking of putting it in its proper place. There's a lot to be organized around, and then my dad comes walking dressed in a vest over trousers and asks me to cook breakfast. It's about 8am. I tell him that I had seen this previously in the dream that morning that he would come in such a manner when he gets his long and wide black belt out and whips it at me with its metallic end towards me in what seems like an angry instruction, but it doesn't hurt me and neither do I feel its touch. The belt actually seems translucent and unphysical or metaphysical. It somehow disappears after he whipped it out in the air. He then leaves and I walk out of the room and see him entering the master bedroom where my brothers are present. As I walk through the hall, I see how messed up things are. I come across one of the dining chairs placed in an opposite orientation than how it is supposed to be with more stuff lying around randomly, and it is giving me a hard time. I then look at them standing inside the room and think how now I have to cook for 5 people and how long it was going to take (though I have never such a thing in real life). I am thinking about the things pending to be done when I wake up.

My dad hasn't behaved in such a manner with me by far. He may have behaved rudely with my mom, but not with me, and I never saw him asking her rudely in that manner in front of us, though he may have done it behind our backs. Now when I look at it, I wonder if that's how he has been: dual faced - good with me and emotionally abusive with my mom.

I recall my mom telling me several times that no matter how many times one fed milk to a snake, it was still going to sting you in the end. And I often wondered why does she has to say such negative things to me when I do help her out. But now when I look back, I see that she never mentioned my name, or never directly referred to me while saying out that particular statement, but she said it out as a general truth that came out of one under frustration. And who else she could be referring to than my dad! I've now begun to look at my mom's past behavior in a new light since I came to God.

Dream 2: I am sitting on my bed in my 9/31 room with vertically folded knees and am perhaps lost in thought when I see a wide and slightly taller version of Death Conqueror, dressed in a shiny parrot green tunic over a cream lower, slowly and silently walk into my room and switch on/off the right-most button on the switchboard, and walk out. It seems that he is emulating ringing the doorbell in a weird sense. I am so immersed in thoughts that the incident doesn't take me by surprise and his appearance passes me by like it never happened. After a while, when I realize what he just did, I walk out of my room, and find two short-heighted and very lean and slim girls standing to my door's right, being dressed in the pink and white attire - resembling Akhila's, and they both look almost identical and have short straight hair as they say to me: Moti, in a taunting tone. I ignore them, lock my room and walk to the right where I find a man sitting on the grey floor in front of the white door to the left that's laid wide open with the lights turned on. The man is dressed in a checkered red shirt untucked over blue trousers and is sitting on the floor with outstretched legs. I wonder what the gesture means, and why is he emulating me as I pass him by.

(I prefer people be their real selves in front of me and not try to emulate a look they think the other person desires. So, looking at the guy makes me feel weird. Apparently, it seems that he is inviting me in but he is not saying it nor is he even looking at me to say it. Then why would I enter his room if he has something to talk to me about?) I pass him by, and now find myself at the gym which is almost empty with just two men standing facing each other with a few meters between them as the man on the left is swinging a baby dressed in black to the man on the right. The man on the left is muscular, bearded and is dressed in a fitting black t-shirt over trousers while the man on the right is dressed in a grey polo shirt over trousers and is leaner than the other man with a slightly triangular face-shape. I see that the baby is cuddling the grey man better and wants to stay in his arms and not be passed quickly to the muscular man in black. I pass through the space between the two men and tell them that though they may be representing a bad man by a baby, God had already shown me that he was still Dushman despite him trying to represent himself as an innocent individual in diaper by showing just his back and not the wicked front. The muscular guy says that even if the guy whom the child represented was Dushman, he wasn't going to stay in that character state forever - talking on the side of Dushman ("Humesha thodi na aisa rahega!"), which irritates me because it's me who is suffering because of someone else's ignorance of their own character and continued sin for such a long duration. I feel as if the guy is justifying the sin committed by Dushman so I walk out quickly with an annoyed countenance and tell him that however Dushman may or may not change, I was going to stay the way I was and that I will die - I say in a taunting way! ("Par mein to aisi hi rahungi aur mein mar jaungi baad mein!") The guy in black then replies back in an apathetic tone that it was ok if I died! I don't choose to reply back, and leave for I can see that they're going to support Dushman. The gym happened to be on one of the floors above the ground and I exited into a balcony through its door. When I look forward to my left, I see vast expanse of sky filled with an orangish hue and apparently I've to go to that side. I jump from the balcony hoping to fly to that place, but I go down instead, in a slowed and controlled manner though. I continue floating a few feet above the surface and gradually gain momentum and height and then I reach the huge ground of the DAV school in my hometown, and when I am reaching its end and nearing the school's building, I take a left and move into DAV college through the open connecting pathway from the school's ground to the college on the left side. The college is built right next to the school in the town. I don't know why I want to be there.

Dream 3: I have to take my mom for an eye checkup and I have a list of things with me. Apparently, it's a list of the wrongs done to me, mostly by Death Conqueror, and I keep a written record of it, and I don't know why. It's a hand written record on a page. I place the page on a shelf high up on against the wall. There's another list lying on the shelf - perhaps a smaller one but it seems to be incomplete to me, and my list seems to be fully complete. Later on, I am talking to my mom standing in a balcony with a sofa placed in front of the balcony facing its open end. My mom and I stand in the space between the sofa and the balcony. While I am talking to my mom, I keep sitting on a person in intercourse who is sitting on the sofa. That person happens to be a doppelganger of RS with a shaved head with spiky hair. Both of us are fully dressed with just our genitals exposed. I know that I have to go to meet Glory, but it seems that I am too occupied and pleased with the doppelganger as I keep looking to the right at the path outside and think of Glory. Apparently, that doppelganger seems to look better than Glory to the dream me.

While Resting During Day: I was still in rest and the motions inside my forehead continued as they do all time. And then I felt a sudden outward flow with the sensation of a beep and a divergent outward flow followed by the feeling of a fluid moving around not being able to contained inside my head causing throbbing inward sensations which reminded me of the previous vision of the Pastor's head being physically hit inwardly represented as his head bulging out in small spikes at places as he stands with closed eyes and a disturbed expression.

20:44

I felt like having Aloo Puri again today so I ordered it, but this time with the combination of Kheer instead of Halwa, and it seemed to me better in the way that the Kheer could be used with Poori. Afterwards, I went to stroll on the roof - my usual post meal routine, and had the following revelations:

- I walk along with KA with him present to my right as we hold each other up closely and I rest my head on him. He was shown to be dressed in multilayered clothes: a shrug over a t-shirt and denims perhaps. We keep strolling on the left end of the roof quietly and peacefully.
- The men in black appear standing in a line leaning against the wall at the right/other end of the roof. They are standing there quietly and watching us as we hold each other by our waists and stroll along the other end of the roof. But Sherlock Holmes out of them in particular stands out from among the rest as his face gets highlighted as he looks at me with shining eyes with red love hearts in front of them.
- Today was the third day of having Aloo Puri with a sweet dish in the evening, and this time they sent 5 large-sized Puris instead of 4 and I was able to have all of them in one go along with the Kheer which reminded me the dream earlier this day in which I was to cook breakfast for 5 people in my parental family as Dad asked me. I look at how I was able to have that huge a meal while few months back I was on liquid diet and even a drink at a time seemed enough to get me going for a few hours. I wonder if it's because of the stress and the slightly increased physical workload, or perhaps a parameter changed in my body when I started eating at home making it difficult for me to resume food fasting again.

- When I observed the eating me on the roof, I was also reminded of the previous vision I had in 303 of A-10 in which I saw RK eat a huge meal as kept stuffing in food gulping it with water followed by him puking it out.
- I see that it's a real problem as I found it hard to stop. But I can also see that I am indeed capable of food fasting for long durations as well, as I did before.
- The fact that I ate 5 huge Puris also reminded me of this previous revelation I haven't yet written about. A Guy says: Paanch roti with … (something), and it seemed like a familiar voice. I had heard it the day I got a tiffin for the first time from Chaaru in this place. But I didn't have 5 rotis that night but 2 along with one parantha. But it seems to me now that I am capable of eating 5 rotis if it's the only meal I am having during a day.
- It also reminded me of how I was telling my mom that people who did hard physical labor needed to eat huge meals and not normal individuals like us who could survive on much less of an amount. I always resisted her attempt to make me have regular meals as she would ask me, but now I myself was having these huge carb-filled meals.
- Which then reminds me of the previous revelation of Shramic (labourer).
- I also keep hearing "No one's worthy of you. No one's worthy of you." which makes me think if it's because I chose to not indulge in fornication at all if it wasn't out of love or committed love. Because I don't like having pure fleshly indulgences with random people I am meeting for the first time as people like Death Conqueror do! And then I try to stay away from the major sins and have a drive to listen to the Spirit of God and be close to Jesus before anyone else. There are very basic traits, fundamentally basic ways one's life should be lived. My character traits are not too extraordinary and nowhere close to those of actual angels who follow every command of God. From a distance, I satisfy the basic model of a righteous person. I wouldn't have thought of dying for a grievously wicked man who hadn't yet changed his ways, but Jesus did. I would rather have him judged instead of being patient and working to bring him to repentance like Jesus did. So, we fail in being Christ-like in many ways. But we are still precious enough for God to be saved out of the system.

  I went out to get a Pepsi and came across some messengers working for Death Conqueror who showed me as a fat, short and ugly individual, while glorifying the lady walking to her left as someone superior with her taller and fairer stature as she wore a blue & white top with Rebel at heart written in the centre, as if it was something to boast about. If one has to rebel, one should rebel against the kingdom of devil/darkness and not the kingdom of God as Paapi Nadaans like Death Conqueror and Akhila do, which is an abhorrent act and not something to feel proud about. It astounded to see their still present attitude despite their sin condition, and how inferior they were when it came to being a part of the kingdom of God. Because they weren't working to expand it, but they weren't working to keeping things neutral from their ends either. They were expanding the kingdom of darkness as their hearts and minds were committed to following the statutes of devil instead of the ways of God.

  That counts as another one of the reasons I don't like Death Conqueror because he misrepresents the facts, and calls evil good and good evil. A rebel at heart is whom Jesus would call a Randi, and recall the vision revelation in which a very dark (almost black) Jesus fully clothed in multilayered white was pointing at me and calling me a Randi when I wasn't. He was calling people like Akhila and Death Conqueror or other members of the Church who go and fornicate with the world as Randis.

His given revelations talk to more than one person at once in different contexts as they're formulated so wisely. He is so smart and the wisest person of all. He is the Greatest!

As I continued on my way, I came across another messenger - a lady dressed in A-shaped light yellowish/beige tunic set, walking with her right wrist hanging loose as if it had been severed. I asked her about her hand after which she immediately corrected her hand's posture and said that it was her habit to keep her hand as such, but I could tell that she was acting. This is how they send insults and threats to me, and foolish people who belong to the kingdom of darkness, the foolish rebels who are digging their own spiritual graves, choose to work for Randis like them.

Samajh gaye hum, Kartika.. Samajh gaye hum..

There was a time Jesus wouldn't have said such a word in front of me because He knew my inner self, how I refrained from using vulgar and obscene language or ungodly patterns of thoughts. I always tried to keep my mind pure. I gauged it on a regular basis and saw if there was anything undesirable, an undesirable way of thinking or the likes. I stayed away from people I saw were okay with indulging in useless worldly interactions of no use. Anything less than the pure standard of inner morality and quality easily caught my attention, even my own behavior which I would then correct.

But now, look! Jesus has gradually been molding me into someone who would be able to interact with ungodly people without blocking them at the first instance they show immoral behavior. There are some things that I am able to tolerate now as I've formed an armour against them and they pass through me without affecting me. For instance, I am able to use the term Randi, though I am not calling an undeserved person a Randi unjustifiably. I got used to the abusive slang of the place, not that I would use it. Never! But I don't feel as pukish or nauseous as I would've felt before though I would still try to evade such an environment for my own inner mental health. You see, a robot can only function well with other robotic machines and not in a forest. Likewise, a natural person can't function well or is not equipped to handle a robotic environment of apathy towards sin - which is what the place is!

"Kartika, tum bahut sunder lag rhi ho aaj.": Heard in the Spirit about an hour or more back as I was locking my door to go buy a Pepsi which I felt a nudge to buy. The phrase repeats itself a few times which now makes me think if that's why I was being insulted by being portrayed as a short, fat, and dark woman with casual features wearing dark clothes, and the one who is actually inferior when looked at from Godly standards was lifted high, because the wicked party got jealous of the truth and couldn't handle it. So, they always have to invert the truth.

While walking on the roof, as I listened to the worship song Izzat (Honor) by Anil Kant, I realized again how everything one possesses is but given by God, even one's body. So, it actually mentally prepared me to some extent to be okay with harm being caused to it as the body is but a host, a carrier, and not the me that resided inside. I knew this previously, but we progress ahead with time in realizing the same truth at different levels as we look at it under different circumstances and mental postures. So, I became okay with letting go of my body while previously I avoided harm, or wanted to keep it safe from physical harm, and would want to report against the person who caused it harm and would want to teach him a lesson or get justice in a way - which is indeed a godly quality for God hasn't called us to condone sin. But now, I saw myself moving ahead on a higher level of the stairs towards transforming into having a mind like Christ's. However, it doesn't mean that I look down at the importance of justice or punishment being justly inflicted on the wicked who persecute the innocent mercilessly, but what reaching a higher level with Jesus did was to open my mind to a greater extent where I saw that my previous life was an illusion, a prison, a mental prison I had formulated for myself to live in just like the mental prison about in the movie The Matrix. I saw that my perfect life where I had privacy, wasn't committing any grievous sin, or wasn't hurting others in any way but was striving to be better while feeling/sensing the spiritual existence around me, it was an illusion though it seemed perfect, because I was living devoid of the knowledge of God/Jesus. With that kind of mind, I would still be subject to judgment at the end and sent to Hell if I had not let God into my life and rejected Him and His ways. I was living in my own perfect blob like these sinners are living in their own sinful blob devoid of the knowledge of the certain existence of God in Heaven whose gaze permeates through the depths of the seas to the highest mountain peaks.

God broke the blob of my perfect life that I thought I was living sinlessly and innocently, trying to always do the right thing while living with integrity within my own understanding of what counted as sin and what didn't, and He brought someone like Death Conqueror who contained all the immoral qualities I didn't like, a person who tuned my earthly, worldly life upside down and created an inverted reality wherein he was justifying good as evil, and evil as good - including his own sinful ways and acts. God trained me to be comfortable in tolerating the sin of such a person so I would increase in His character and gain the godly qualities of being patient and forgiving quickly which I wouldn't have done previously., If I knew that someone did such a thing to an innocent individual, I would feel a strong urge to judge that person for (s)he deserved it very much rightfully! But now, after coming to god, I would understand that God orchestrated the situation for His purpose and would bring judgment and justice as per His timing and Will. He prefers forgiveness, but it doesn't always work, and that's why many are going to be judged to Hell. We have to endure and prove ourselves worthy of living for an eternity with God as we follow along His Will and endure hard times on Earth.

23:10
I felt a nudge to and buy the roasted Kaju packets they keep hanging in front at the Dinesh Store. So I went out and bought a few. This time the environment looked very much different and safer with no insults and wicked threats being passed but people came in front of reaffirming in front of me the right ways to act. So, I feel better now.

After I returned, I poured the contents of one of the packets into a black container and while I was having the same moving to and fro from the door to the balcony of my room, I kept hearing in my Spirit: Kartika tu jhutti nahi hai! Kartika tu jhutti nahi hai ("Kartika you're not a liar! Kartika you're not a liar!"), being said by a guy's voice.

And while I did so, the following lines from this Worship song also kept being highlighted to me:
'Masih Nidhal soedaar chalte dekha hai

Bhadakti aag mein ek phool jalte dekha hai..
Masih Nidhal soedaar chalte dekha hai..'

With the line in bold being highlighted to me.

Ref: The Worship song Masih Nidhaal Soe Daar

Previously, while I was typing out the changes that took place in me through the situation, I heard in my Spirit a guy's voice say in a meek affirmative tone: Kartika tu randi nai hai. Kartika tu randi nai hai.

The Situational Whore

Also heard in the Spirit, intermittently, for the past few days:
"Kartika tu randi nai hai. Usne tujhe randi bana diya. Usne tujhe randi bana diya!"
"Kartika you're not a whore. He made you a whore (situationally). He made you a whore (situationally)."

Past Revelation
Heard in the Spirit:
'Maine socha nhi tha ki tu itna ache se manage karlegi.'
'I didn't anticipate that you would manage things so well (in this new place).'

I've heard the phrase several times in my Spirit as I take care of most of chores except cooking regularly, which I would've if I didn't have a load of writing revelations. I can't have someone else to clean for me, but I can buy Tiffin from Chaaru or order intermittently from outside, though not regularly. I am sure that when the situation calls me to cook, God will decrease my other loads so I am able to manage.

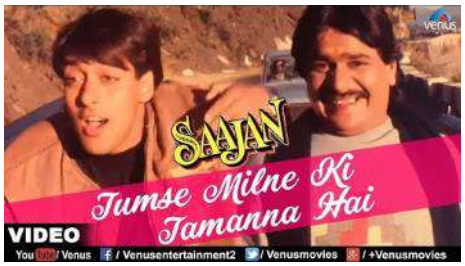
Past Revelation
Vision (past few days): Dushman hits a small nail in the center of my forehead, the nail resembling that which I put in the walls to hang curtains, as I lay motionless on the bed. He hits it hard with a hammer again, but its stuck. It perhaps went inside by just an mm or two.

Page 535.

16 September 2023
00:19

The Guy sings:
Tumse milne ki tamanna hai
Pyaar ka irada hai
Aur ek wada hai, Janam..

Ref: Tumse Milne Ki Tamanna Hai - Saajan (1991) HD



3:24
After writing almost all the new revelations, I thought of having tea before washing clothes to gain some restful moments before physical labour.

While I was having tea, I heard: She's in control.. She's in control..
But how am I in control? It's God who's in control, and I suffer to the extent He allows and write what He gives me. So, it's not me but God who's in control. I am His child and servant.

While washing clothes, I kept intermittently seeing the upper half of Aamir Khan until slightly above his shoulders in a white t-shirt with red love hearts in front of his eyes. The vision repeated itself until later when I had hung my clothes to dry and was back to my room and lay down on my bed to rest.

After I was done washing clothes, and placed my bucket with washed clothes on the mat outside the washroom, I heard:
'Bas yehi chahiye tha Kartika.' ('This is all I wanted Kartika.')

I've heard this phrase as well. Well, I like doing my chores by myself as it gives me the freedom to do them as well as I want to. However, if my load increases and I've other things at hand as well, things would need improvisation.

As I took my bucket along with me out of the room, the following chorus lines of the song played in my Spirit.

The Guy sings:
Dulhe ka sehra suhana lagta hai..

Dulhan ka to dil deewana lagta hai..
Pal bhar mein kaise badalte hai rishte
Ab to har apna begana lagta hai..

Ref: The Bollywood song 'Dulhe ka sehra suhana lagta hai..'

But it was followed by
The lady sings:
Banake kyu bigada re..

And then the previous phrase that I had heard in my Spirit got highlighted to me in which a guy's voice said:
'You're not worthy.. You're not worthy..'

Followed by the previous vision of a guy dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt holding a white rectangular banner of REJECTED written in red. It represented me I suppose.

Because why would I reject someone who has let a brown bear with black eyes into his heart? I like the story of Bhola Bhalu and Hero Hiran better than any glamorous Bollywood/Hollywood story. I want to be holy and share a living, godly and fun/joy-filled bond with my promised partner. Isn't it God who built all the stories? I also happened to think if the guy holding the banner represented Death Conqueror for he is a user and thrower - someone who plays with the lives of innocent individuals!

Anyway. From whichever side I may face rejection, I know that Jesus is with me, and those people need Him as well.

This stanza from the Ghazal Rafta Rafta that played at end of the KA dream-revelation in which he jumped as a deer also kept playing in my Spirit the next day.

The Guy sings:
Pyaar jab had se badha, Saare takalluff mit gaye..

After I returned from the roof and lay down to rest, leaving it on time ahead to decide if I should write/edit more or sleep, I had these revelations:

- The translucent face of KA comes from the right and severs my lower lip away in just one bite alone, followed by the vision of him taking both lips with him.
- The upper half of a neck-length wavy-haired Ayushman K dressed in a jacket over a shirt looks at the viewer and says pointing at her, "Tu mujhse pyaar karti hai."

I then place my forearm on my forehead as it's always paining and have the following vision:

- AK in his ethnic multi-colored attire from the song Tu Meri Hai Prem Ki Bhasha from the movie Dum Laga Ke Haisha looks at the viewer with one forearm lifted up horizontally to the level of his forehead as he moves it vertically above and below his eyes while smiling. There are more people from the dance group present behind him as he does this forearm move.

- AK extends a punch to my face and says, "I want to/will punch you. I want to/will punch you." as the sentence repeats itself a few times.
- Dushman stands at the entrance of an open door to a room, with his body facing the room, but his face turned to his right, looks at the viewer with his usual villainous countenance, and says: Tu Randi Hai. This part of the vision repeats a few times.

I now place my left palm on my forehead to feel somewhat better when I see:

- The upper half of Glory with wavy hair resembling RS' look, and dressed in a black tunic lightly embroidered in gold shouts out in pain with his neck bent backwards. He seems to be shouting at the scene that he is witnessing. The Lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- Followed by him saying angrily: Chodunga nhi usko! Chodunga nhi usko! ('I won't leave him/let him get away with it! I won't leave him/let him get away with it!)

As my forehead continues to hurt, I now see

- Dushman looking at the viewer with a scared countenance, followed by
- A distant vision of him running to the left with a mob of people behind him.
- 'She's in control.'
- Dushman puts a black Tika on his forehead as he says Jai Maa Kali followed by
- him stifling the neck of a fat lady lying down dressed in a saree as he stabs her forehead viciously and repeatedly. It made me look at my situation where I found it hard to breathe and then my forehead was aching severely!
- The Guy sings: Isme Tera Ghata.. I don't know what he's talking about. My love stands still at its place. I've learned this from Jesus.

When I was roaming on the roof after having Aloo Puri Kheer the past evening, I was reminded of how I suffocated Meera as I recalled her telling me that it was good that I came into her life and that I was a good person and she loved me a lot and was happy to have me, but it didn't mean that other good people couldn't be a part of her life as well because of it. And she wasn't implying an ungodly way of bonding. But I was projecting on her my inner state wherein she held the most importance to me above all friends. But I was not her covenant partner. I only needed one person in my life who was good enough, and she was that person for me as she seemed to possess many good and godly traits. She was a different individual than me and didn't have the same attachment style as mine. Now I know better. I won't put into pain a monogamous person for I too am monogamous. However, because of God's work, I learned to keep people in godly friendships in my life while previously I only looked forward to having one good bond - a covenant bond or a friendly bond, whichever I happened to form. But I've learned now that God is to be given that highest place or else we become idolaters. After God, we love others like He has loved us.

After I wrote the last few revelations above and was now preparing to fall asleep, I saw:

- A dusky, naked, and muscular KA gets on top of me, sits on me, and starts slapping my face hard, but apparently, I don't get hurt and can't feel the hit.
- As he does so, we are also having intercourse.
- He is acting as if he's so much in love which looks like a relief, because love always brings relief to one's soul via different ways of its expression.
- His face then changes to a dusky Glory who too seems too energetic now all of a sudden.

- He changes back to KA and we continue in our passionate expression of love. (I didn't have such revelations with all people. God only showed it to me specific people.)
- The upper half until the centre of the chest of a human figure with round rotating colourful circles present along the line of his straight spine, beginning from the space of his/her heart to his/her head. Only the outline of the person is visible with the solid inside represented as a beige space filled with those colourful rotating circles. There seem to be three circles present: one on the spot of the person's heart, one on the throat, and the last one on the forehead.

Recall: the past dream revelation in which I was shown a list of addresses by a guy who was telling with the names written in front of those addresses. In that dream, I was moving between PGs and was standing in the huge and open ground hall of a building where that guy showed me that list of addresses and pointed to me a specific address that I was supposed to go to every evening between a certain duration of hours. That address had the name Rani written in front of it and I was supposed to go there every evening. also asked the guy the whereabouts of the address which seemed confusing to me as he told me. I never happened to go to there as each evening I found myself doing one or the other thing, and I was getting tensed and stressed with the passing days as I couldn't go there and was still busy moving around when the dream ended. I didn't even know who I was supposed to meet there as the guy didn't tell me. He only told me to go that specific address. Well, what he did would be considered the half-right way of communicating to someone directly that that person is to visit you when (s)he doesn't know your address. The fully right way would've been that guy telling me who I was supposed to meet there, elaborate a bit more, and have me talk to that person on the phone so I know that, indeed, I am supposed to go there. In real life, no one showed me a list of addresses with names written in front. I just guessed that the address that guy pointed me to was that of the white camel lying thirsty alone in front of that stationary Metro. Without the revelations, I wouldn’t even know what was going around or what the situation was, as everything is communicated so indirectly. I don’t know.. Why people here are so indirect? Back in my hometown, everything was communicated so openly and clearly and that was also the way my interactions went ahead with Meera and other friends. I didn't spend years in a deceptive place like Delhi or the likes because of which I would have a mind that would understand the deceptive vices used by people. I spent about 17 years in a pure environment that was untouched by Metro cities, after which when I came to Delhi, I made friends whom I identified as pure or who opened themselves up without any deception in front of me. It has only been since this Death Conqueror put me in this situation, that I was exposed to the hidden deceptive ways people in the world operated. It's such a blessing to be brought up in a pure, open, and direct environment! I had this Address-Dream revelation back in room D4 of A-10 during late 2021/early 2022, and I even forgot the address that was shown after I woke up. From what I recall, it was B -.. Something, some number and that's what I had in my mind when I was looking for the entrance to that apartment I happened to watch every day from the roof of A-16, but that apartment didn't have a B in its address which confused me but I went there nevertheless. I didn't even know their method of fornicating indirectly which was also revealed to me in the RK dream in which he sat with outstretched legs on the floor of the bedroom of our rented apartment at Rugha Saini's, with the dream beginning with focusing on his extremely clean hands and crossed feet. Towards the end of that dream, as he pointed my attention to an open space through which guys came, I found myself holding my green pen but with 'Fornication University' written on it instead of 'Win Guide' - the look alike of the orange pen that I usually carried. That's how I knew that they use lookalikes to fornicate - such a sick idea. I could've never come up with such a method, let alone think of actually implementing it. Everything about the place and the way it functioned was revealed to me in revelatory dreams.

Past Revelation

- One of the Hollywood trio is doing his vision standard dance in the room when Karan Johar appears in the picture dressed in thick and long, black multilayered clothes with the elephant trunk hitting his head.
- He then some dance moves.
- Followed by him riding a stationary bicycle around the left corner of the room near my supposed low-sectioned wardrobe that I had seen in the previous dream revelation in which I was cleaning the floor of an almost empty room with a balcony at the other end, lit in dark blue moonlight.

Dream-Vision (Morning): I see the side-view of me standing facing KA in an orange background with us represented as dark black figures without internal details. He is on the right making the prophetic symbol while I am on the left. KA, then, gets a sudden backwards jolt as he is thrown backwards because of an apparent blast inside his head.

The revelation reminded me of the previous revelation in which I stood facing RS who too got thrown backwards in a jolt as a sharp metallic wire among the many present in the huge dome above us got unstuck from its place and hit his head.

The Revelations After Waking Up

- Ni mein oscar tere luk nu.. Ni mein oscar denda tere luk nu.. (repeats in my Spirit several times)
  Ref: OSCAR - Video Song | Kaptaan | Gippy Grewal feat. Badshah | Jaani, B Praak

- Aamir Khan with a shaved head wearing a black cap worn backwards, and a plain white t-shirt over black trousers runs to the left in a dark background as the shape of his protruding lower belly is visible through the t-shirt while the rest of his body seems leaner. He seems to be on a get-into-shape mission as he runs over a treadmill in that attire with his side-view facing to the left visible to the viewer.

- Tujhe paa liya.. Ya kho diya..
  Is baat par, dil ro diya..
  Ke chah kar, tu na aa sake
  Tu waqt hai guzra hua.. (Highlighted very strongly)
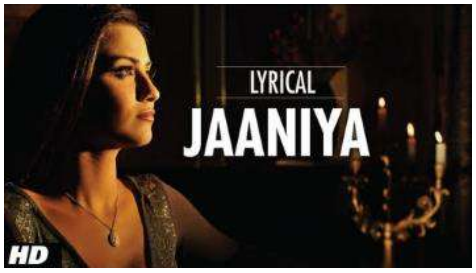
  Tujhe rakh liya, in yaadon mein

Ek phool sa, kitaabon mein
Is dil mein tu, rahega sada..
Aur mehekega, in saanson mein..

Ref: Jaaniya Lyrical | Haunted - 3D | Mahakshay Chakraborty, Tia Bajpai | Siddharth Basrur



The previous part of this page where I shared the series of song revelations in which there is this wedding celebration song first - Dulhe ka sehra suhana lagta hai - followed by the lady singing Banake kyu bigada re with the highlighting of the vision revelation in which the exhausted lady who looked almost dead was stuck to a glass surface with a man moving behind her and the revelation of a man in white holding the banner with the banner REJECTED written on it - this part described my mom's story. She got married to my dad when I was about 2-3 years old, and she looks quite happy in the photos from her wedding day, but then I recall her singing this chorus line Banake kyu bigada re casually while she would be doing household chores being busy and immersed in herself. She was very much expectant from her marriage but she only got used and rejected by her husband - my dad (represented by KA in this case). When I look back at the revelation in which the upper half of the naked lady was stuck to the glass surface with the guy moving behind her in intercourse moves, she doesn't resemble me except for her complexion, but she to a great extent resembles my mom.

These are her thoughts and feelings that play in my Spirit. She went through that betrayal and it has taken a root in her heart which she hasn't yet gotten over as she still repeats to me how she had many expectations from her marriage when she got wedded, but none of them were met, and she only got used as a servant with no respect given to her by my dad. I respected her because she was my mom to me, and now that I think of it, my dad perhaps only pretended to respect her in front of us. She was a good woman. And then one day when we had an altercation, she was shouting abuses at me, mainly calling me a Rand, which didn't make any sense to me because what did I do to deserve such a title. But now that I think about it, that's how my dad treated her, as I can recall him calling her by the same abusive term where he even once said to us during one of their fights that she was the kind of woman who was ready to open her trousers for money. But she's nowhere like that. She lived with the bare minimum in our home and never prioritized buying things for her own self first if we lacked something. I don't know why my dad treated her as such. He never respected her background, though she was a very smart lady of her time who believed in living life independently and earning for one's own self instead of relying on others. She left her job because of the condition placed by my dad, or on his insistence. And she often says that had she not left her job and hadn't gotten married, her life would've been much better, and financially and emotionally sound where she had some control over her finances instead of having to give an account of each penny she received from her husband like she had to give to her husband. She may have gotten wedded to someone from the same background but at least she wouldn't have been abused like she was by my dad, and would still be working. He made her depressed to an extent wherein she would keep lying on the bed with closed eyes and frowned brows and I would often ask her to think positively for I didn't understand the cause of her misery as things seemed normal between them in front of our eyes but he didn't have the right heart state he should've had towards her! He was an abusive husband who turned a previously sane and working woman into a depressed and incompetent one as he even stopped her from pursuing courses she wanted to. He always had a problem with her moving ahead in her career for some reason. But he was very good towards me. These sequential revelations depict the life story of my mom and many other such women. Beware of such wicked avatars of KA, and only look further to the one that had the face of a beige bear with black eyes inside the heart shape made by his hands on his chest.

I choose not to go to church today as I have a lot to be recorded. Also, it seems too huge of a task to go the church, and then I already feet a strong presence of the Holy Spirit/God/Jesus around. I go out to buy milk and when I am making tea, I see the following.
Vision: A dark complexioned Jesus in multilayered long white robes looking at me with wide-open eyes as He says: You love me! He saw that my act of going to church wasn't really a cultural or religious act that I felt I must do, but it was because I wanted to be closer to Him and be in the presence of other people who had His Spirit and who loved Him. He understood that. He saw my heart for spending quality time with Him in my room instead of the other expression of being in the company of other fellow believers. And that's why He was looking at me with wide-open eyes as He repeated a few times: You love me!

I decided to worship in my room itself this day before beginning to record revelations in my Laptop.

I realized that by putting me in these difficult situations, He wanted to set my mind free. Deciding to stay at home (9/31) and worshipping him there in true freedom brought such a release and relief to me and it made me recall how free I used to feel before this demon-possessed Blackheart and Paapi Nadaan targeted me. And while I was feeling this way, I saw the following.

Vision: A huge and dark-complexioned Jesus standing to my left near the corner of the functional wardrobe in the room with a vertical elephant trunk resting against his chest as He looked down at me with wide-open love-filled eyes.

After having tea, I decide to worship Jesus in the Spirit before starting to type revelations, as I want to spend quality time with Him first for I didn't go to church either. I sit on bed with closed eyes and a straight back. Somehow I happen to sit in this straight posture that I haven't sat in for years. The posture reminds me of the times when I used to meditate back during late 2016. I enter into a similar mindset this morning as I sit to spend time with the Lord which I have no idea that how it is going to turn out, and the beginning itself is unusual than other days. I sit with closed eyes for a while with worship song playing in my phone which I am also using as a small TV by putting the video on full screen and putting the phone in my direct view on the table.

I then change my posture involuntarily to sitting on my bed with vertically folded knees held together with my hands as I sit with closed eyes. I have slipped into a serious mental posture now, resembling the one I used to be in most of the times when I used to meditate. During those days, I not only meditated during my set times in the morning and the evening, but also during other times that I could find during the day. For instance, I meditated while in Metro twice a day every day as I regularly commuted from home to the Physics Dept. But during those days, I wasn't meditating to talk to God or had a certain God in my thoughts. I just went into a deep meditative state with no thought of praying or expecting to hear from God. I did that just to move ahead in my spiritual walk as was told to me by Tejaswi. He told me to read the pocket version of Gita that he had given me and meditate, not on what I read but meditating by emptying one's mind and mentally standing as an observer. So I did it every day. Now I know that it was a pagan practice, a new-age method to gain ungodly and unjustified access to the spiritual realm. People who go into such practices often end up encountering demons in various forms. At times, they may present themselves as one's spirit guides, or may come disguised as some pagan God. But the kind of transcendental meditation that I did wasn't godly and I didn't know about it either. However, I had begun to go into deep meditative states as I continued every day though I had nothing or no one in focus. This morning when I wanted to spend time with the Lord, I wanted all distractions to be out, all the perspectives and false judgments of others that were residing somewhere in my mind to be out, and I wanted to rid myself of everything that was of the world, and create a pure and healthy mental environment that would have me and Jesus exclusively so we can have a good time. Because with a pure mind that's untainted from the world, one can experience and understand the aspects of the nature of God's love that one otherwise wouldn't have. For instance, I rid my mind of the things that I often heard in the Spirit that came from other people, like 'Oye randi randi oye' and the likes, every Randi revelation that I didn't have had to hear as I was not obliged to be in this situation for I am not a Randi by nature. Likewise, I rid my mind of the fleshly revelations that came as a result of me being Professor X, and of all negativity from the ongoing emotional and mental abuse that had taken shallow or deep roots in my mind. I was trying to get into a mental state that would reflect my true inner nature untouched by the perceptions of others, or the things I heard from others or other revelations that I had with people. This morning, I felt such a freedom to come to Him and worship Him with an amount of authenticity that I had not experienced before. It was something I had not experienced for long since I got into this spycam situation where this ungodly demon-infested fellow threw his bogus mental ungodly crap at me! As I started ridding my mind of these statements and views of worldly and ungodly people and felt extreme freedom of expression, the ballet dance performed by this artist on the song 'Take me to Church' was flashed in my Spirit twice. I had first come across this dance performance around the same time that I had got to know Tejaswi, and I had liked the dance very much as it was performed with such acuity and freedom of expression. I had watched it several times and would at times watch in multiple times in a row or repeat the parts in which the artist performed multiple ballet rotations in a row. The performance was so pleasing and breathtaking. (I like contemporary expressive ballet dance in general). Though his attire was not so godly, it was what he communicated/expressed through his performance that held importance.

As I continue to sit with the song Fresh Oil playing in my phone, I have this revelation.
Vision: I, dressed in a loose white t-shirt over black cotton pants like the blue one that I am wearing currently and with hair tied low at the back, am dancing in the centre of the room in contemporary ballet dance moves, performing breathtaking moves that I am liking very much as I express myself freely to Jesus. I continue to dance in such a manner for a while, after which I decide to look up the song Take Me To Church and go through its lyrics as I have forgotten them, and understand them in my context. I then watch the dance performance and it seems as breathtaking as it had seemed 7 years back. The original song video has a homosexual couple being hunted by some masked men to be killed and it actually confronts the worldly hypocrisy of religion. But it can also be interpreted in a godly way, if one was to not look at the song's video, but just the lyrics and the artist's performance of it. Anyway, the dance form was what got highlighted to me more than the actual lyrics when the I watched the video.

Sergei Polunin, "Take Me to Church" by Hozier, Directed by David LaChapelle

Though we are called to not tempt others and also to guard our hearts, but at the same time, we perceive things and pay attention in direct correlation with who we are on the inside, as well. So, though I watched this dance video, I didn't perceive any vulgarity in it because of the clothing sense of the artist because my brain didn't detect it, as simple as that. However, a person with a sexually immoral or promiscuous mind would make even holy things look vulgar. He would find ungodliness and unholiness in things that are holy. He would make sick, demeaning, and sexual jokes about the bodies of people even when they are fully covered. By doing so, he is putting on display the ugliness of his own inner self. The dance form itself of the singer and his expression of himself consumed all of my attention and kept me hooked to the performance regardless of how he was dressed. We can recall this event from the Bible in which David stripped out of joy and excitement as he danced in front of the Lord while singing worship songs in 2 Samuel 6. So, does that mean he is an ungodly person? No. Likewise, an immoral ungodly man even when fully dressed is detestable in the sight of the Lord. However, that doesn't mean that we should dress unholy, for both our inner and outer countenance are called to be a reflection of Christ. Additionally, perhaps the artist dressed in such a manner so his acute body movements throughout the dance could enhance his dance form so he could send out a better artistically expressive message. However, it doesn't mean one has to look at his acute and detailed body movements with sexual eyes, but one is to discern the expressive message he is trying to express through his subtle movements, just like one discerns the corresponding heart-state of a person through the movement of his/her eyes (if the person is not an actor but emanates originality) instead of observing the eyes as a plain object. Looking at the minds of people like Death Conqueror makes me think how undeveloped and lower-grade mental level of perception he has! He has an ugly mind and a black heart, and he is a Paapi Nadaan and so are his friends. Perhaps they're even worse! Who knows? At times their minds seem only robotically developed to me with high-functioning areas that are related to sensual experiences like animals, who mostly experience a physical sense of self and can't think, feel or sense beyond it. It's a human who can understand and experience God in the Spirit. But they are just too animalistic, so much so that they hurt and kill others to gain power and satisfy their physical/sexual needs just like animals do because of a lack of a developed mind. Animals kill to gain power over a piece of land. Animals use force to show their superiority, while humans with a godly sense use their good sense to know better that when living among other humans, they don't have to be the rulers of the place and there doesn't need to be a power hierarchy, but an assignment of roles. The minds of the people from Bollywood are much more developed than these fellows with degrees from high-end universities. Such a basic way of thinking the abusers exhibit!

2 Samuel 6:20-22
(The Message Version)
20-22 David returned home to bless his family. Michal, Saul's daughter, came out to greet him: "How wonderfully the king has distinguished himself today—exposing himself to the eyes of the servants' maids like some burlesque street dancer!" David replied to Michal, "In God's presence I'll dance all I want! He chose me over your father and the rest of our family and made me prince over God's people, over Israel. Oh yes, I'll dance to God's glory—more recklessly even than this. And as far as I'm concerned . . . I'll gladly look like a fool . . . but among these maids you're so worried about, I'll be honored no end."

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=2%20Samuel%206%3A14-22&version=MSG>

(Contemporary English Version)
Michal Talks to David

20 David went home so he could ask the Lord to bless his family. But Saul's daughter Michal went out and started yelling at him. "You were really great today!" she said. "You acted like a dirty old man, dancing around half-naked in front of your servants' slave-girls."

21 David told her, "The Lord didn't choose your father or anyone else in your family to be the leader of his people. The Lord chose me, and I was celebrating in honor of him. 22 I'll show you just how great I can be! I'll even be disgusting to myself. But those slave-girls you talked about will still honor me!"

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=2%20Samuel%206%3A14-22&version=CEV>

(New International Version)
20 When David returned home to bless his household, Michal daughter of Saul came out to meet him and said, "How the king of Israel has distinguished himself today, going around half-naked in full view of the slave girls of his servants as any vulgar fellow would!"

21 David said to Michal, "It was before the Lord, who chose me rather than your father or anyone from his house when he appointed me ruler over the Lord's people Israel—I will celebrate before the Lord. 22 I will become even more undignified than this, and I will be humiliated in my own eyes. But by these slave girls you spoke of, I will be held in honor."

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=2%20Samuel%206%3A14-22&version=NIV>

Anyway. The song also reminded me of the previous visions of Sherlock Holmes doing ballet moves at my home on the song Izzat by Anil Kant.

While I only stifled, suppressed, and suffocated as I sensed the aura of Death Conqueror and his abusive gang, Jesus reminds me of what makes me feel alive so I can worship Him truly.

Past Revelation

Vision (past two weeks): A light green conical shining diamond resting upon the palm of a hand extending from the right of the vision above a parallel row of bushes, with more plants present in the background.

As I was moving out of the room to go out to buy Sweet Lassi before having lunch, my gaze happened to fix at the label written on the eyedrop placed on the sky blue rack. It said Everfresh Tears.

My Mindset That Stops Me from Sinning and Getting Into Undesirable Situations

If I am already married or committed to a person, why would I start an extramarital affair or commit adultery, because I know that it's wrong and will hurt my spouse and me as well in case I am forced to commit adultery. Also, if I love my spouse, I will run away from cheating or sinning against him. That's why Joseph ran away from Potifar's wife when she pulled him to her naked self abruptly to commit adultery with him. Joseph feared God and knew that she was the wife of the person he worked under. He evaded all her previous attempts as well. Though he had to suffer in the end because of his righteousness and fear of sin/God for Potiphar's wife framed him falsely in trying to take advantage of her when she didn't succeed in her attempts to lure him to have sexual relations with her, he continued in his faithfulness and trust in the Lord even after he was put into jail for years for a crime he didn't commit.

If I am not committed/married, why would I fornicate? I would rather form a mental bond and get to know the person initially well, and when we are sure that we want to be in a covenant and actually get into a covenant, the I would open myself physically. This is the ideal way to live, and it wasn't my ideal way to live before I came to Jesus because I saw the existence of committed love as a requirement to indulge physically, and I never opened up to anyone besides Tejaswi.

Now I am put in such a situation that challenges my ideal way of being and then I receive revelations that are far from my ideal mindset. What can I do about it? This is how the minds of the people are in the place.

And I am a monogamous person at heart. Why would I want to have more and more people bonded to me in an unhealthy way. I just wouldn't and would avoid doing so! And if I was a polygamous person, even then I should be committed within the covenant bond, but I am not polygamous. However, God challenged my way of thinking to break me out of the worldly system for there is no such thing as a combo of two, three, or a finite number in heaven. In Heaven, the angelic beings are considered as each other's brethren and they love each other being full of faithfulness, godly love and integrity, .

The following has always been my approach to interacting with people, from before the time that I came to God.
When I interact with them, I am interacting with a person, and not a man, a woman, a boy, or a girl, or a transgender. I am interacting with a person! So, it by default focus my attention on their persona and inner self instead of their outwardly appearance or physical truth of existence. And I interact with them with a boundaried form of godly love because of which I don't feel led to sin. In case I am with a person whom I know is my covenant partner, in that case I will by default behave in physically intimate ways. But I never feel led to fornicate. That's my inner persona, and not how the revelations have portrayed me out to be. I actually let myself flow along with the revelations, as they were given by the Spirit, and I didn't know where I would be led. But I can quell all physical bonds or nullify the effect the physical revelations have had on me in a flash and get into my real inner self, the original way I have always preferred to be! However, I could still choose to love those people in their person, as being gender neutral spirits that reside in a gender-specific physical body. So, though God brought many people into my boat, the right way to love them is in the Spirit, and not as men or women - that's their own sense of perception that God revealed to me initially through the first revelations but I am in control my own self. I see, that's why I heard yesterday: She's in control. Though I don't exercise control in sharing godly heartfelt love with people. And that's how I think God wants all to end up with. One has to learn to exercise self-control and only let it loose with one's covenant partner because that's how it is in the Earth system. But even if one fails to do so, but realizes one's folly, God forgives when one repents with a true heart.

Vision (Past 24 hours): The upper half of an amalgamation of Death Conqueror and KA looks at me and says with a pitiful and affirmative expression and tone: "Kartika tu randi nahi hai.. Tu randi nahi hai.." which makes me think how come Death Conqueror say such a thing!

Page 536.

17 September 2023
19:32

Revelations while having the meditative experience yesterday:

- A distant view of two vertically outstretched forearms in a dark background, criss-crossed around their elbows, holding a ball of radium pink color.

I slip into a deep meditative experience like I used to have back during late 2016, but this time my mind is focused on Jesus. I am holding Jesus in my focus as I cut off the world and rid myself of the influence of its systems, and the people around as well, because in this time with Him, I don't want to have anyone else occupying my mental space.

- The vision is seen from outside the mesh door which is half open as Jesus, with a light beard and neck-length hair, dressed in His multilayered white robes, stands behind the door with two white wings spread along the plane of His body on His back and a golden ring floating above His head, as He signs on a white paper placed above a group of papers on a board, or perhaps it was an open A4 sized blank notebook folded outwardly, but He is signing something. He looked so Holy, beautiful, breathtaking.. I have not seen anyone more beautiful than that Avatar of His. His pure white wings and His Holy righteous aura around Him with His look of a wide vertical rectangle, His robe extending from His neck to His ankles - His usual attire that He shows Himself up in. I couldn't believe He was present inside my room in that Avatar.

The Language of the Universe

During my meditative experience, I slipped into a kind of wordless communion with God and the state reminded me of how I had felt while reading the Book The Alchemist. It talked about a universal language that all creation understood, from humans to birds to animals to trees. That universal language that's felt when you look at the vast expanse of the sky, or gaze far ahead from a height, or even when you observe the things present around at a smaller scale. That universal language can be felt interwoven into the fabric of space around us, but not everyone perceives it as they're consumed by various other things of little importance. Though the book is pagan, it sends one into a highly spiritually active mode, and then it doesn't talk about demons etc. But it stresses at how the language is directly connected to love, and that it's a very spiritual thing that permeates everything. The book revolves around how all creation talks this universal language which when one begins to tap into or understand, one can feel a powerful omnipresent aura that changes the nature of things - that's God. If we look at it from a Biblical point of view, we find that the author has highlighted an underlying truth, for God permeates everything: from the deepest depths to the greatest heights and He is Love as is said in the Bible. People come to God in various different ways. Some can already feel an omnipresent aura that they're unable to put a finger on or explain, as they find it at any place they happen to be regardless of the situation. The Alchemist is a book about a shepherd boy who receives the dream of a treasure and goes out in search for it after selling all his sheep, and on his very long journey, he then needs to pass through a desert during which he learns to speak the silent language of the universe. After years, I've felt this kind of spiritual peace that I felt while reading the book. It brings you into a state of still peace.

And while I was writing the above para, I saw the face of Paulo Coelho looking at me with red love hearts in front of his eyes.

The below was a good video by Sis Bia which I could relate with very well. I hope it spiritually feeds you as well!
Ponder who He is day after day, like the Psalmist

22:56
And after I wrote the above revelation, I heard in my Spirit: Aur kuch? Kartika, aur kuch btana hai? Aur kuch btana hai Kartika?

I felt nudged to buy a packet of wheat flour to make Halwa instead of ordering it from outside as I often feel like having Halwa these days, for some reason I don't know. I didn't have this craving previously. But it began after that day that I felt like having the combo of Aloo Puri Halwa which too was prophetic as I had seen it previously in a revelatory dream which had come to me a surprise because I haven't felt that strong a desire to eat Aloo Puri Halwa any time before that I can recall. I mean I never looked up for the same when I was residing in those other PGs. But here, I've had Aloo Pure thrice in a row, with Halwa twice and Kheer once. And then I get these cravings to eat Halwa for some reason, that too Atta Halwa and not any other kind of Halwa.

After I had cooked the Halwa and was now going to get some ice from Chaaru, as I was exiting my room, I had the term 'Bhukkhad' highlighted in my Spirit, and it later reminded me of Mukesh because he called me Bhukkhad a few times because perhaps whenever he called me up, I happened to be eating something. I used to eat randomly a lot during my MSc days.

And while cooking the Halwa, after I added water to it and it started looking like Halwa, I saw: the stubbled face of KA looking at the Halwa with expressions of being tempted as says 'Yum Yum' with eyes wide-open. The vision repeats a few times. It makes me think if it's my own state that he's representing.

Now let me get back to the revelations I had yesterday. And I got to know that it was not Sunday yesterday, but today. I missed out on the flow of days as I am too caught up with recording these revelations.

And currently the chorus of this song plays again:
Masih nidhaal soedaar chalte dekha hai
Bhadakti aag meoen ek phool jalte dekha hai..
Ref: The Worship Song Masih Nidhaal Soedaar

Revelations while meditating yesterday, continued…

- The Ancient One makes different poses as she's being herself, alone.
- Side-view of old dark hands clasped together pointing to the left as the person sits on the stairs near the ground floor of my maternal granny's home with the view of the ground floor visible further behind the person's hands. I figured that the clasped hands were that of my Nani. It made me think of my own clasped hands as I sat with them clasped against my vertically folded knees.
- Highlighted in the Spirit: Will you go against your own perceived good wisdom to follow God's?
  And as I wrote the above, I heard: Sun liya paani ne Yeshu ki vaani. Nahi ki apni, khud ki manmaani.

After a while, I decide to lay down on the bed and eventually fall asleep when I have the following revelations.

- I am in one of the rooms present to the right side of the long narrow corridor extending to the left of my room. The room has white walls and the floor is also perhaps white. It's day and I keep going outside the room and look in the direction of my room whose mesh doors are closed but the wooden door is open. As I stand at the door of the room along the corridor, I look down and see a doormat about a feet in front of which are lying black crocs similar to my washroom slippers. I step out of the room and keep going near my room at the end of the corridor, and walk back to the white-walled room. The next time that I stand at the door of the white-walled room, I see that only the left of croc is present while the right one is no longer there. To the left of the doormat then appears my green board, lying on the floor, on which is written Worship. Though the three things are lying nearby, they are placed in proper orientation with the back of the croc perfectly parallel to the end of the doormat lying behind it, and the Worship green board lying perfectly vertically parallel to the doormat and the croc present to its right. As I am observing these things, the dream ends.
- I remove my fingers from my nose and see a small surface of mucus on my finger that has gotten removed, after which I immediately wake up followed by a weird relieving sound made by a man heard near the balcony area. I go back to sleep.
- I have yet another dream-vision when I fall back into a brief sleep: I am walking to my room from that white room and am itching the inner surface of my nose (which I don't usually do besides in the morning with a spatula), and I can feel tiny dried mucus. Upon reaching my room, I look inside my nose in the mirror with a lifted face and see flat and dried surfaces of mucus attached partially to its topmost surface. I then know that I have to remove that up using the spatula and am about to grab a hold of it when the dream ends. I don't even understand the hidden meaning of it, but I know that it's a revelation and not from my own subconscious.

Later during the day yesterday, as I was walking out of the washroom and exclaimed 'I feel sleepy', Sleeping Buddha was highlighted to me in the Spirit.

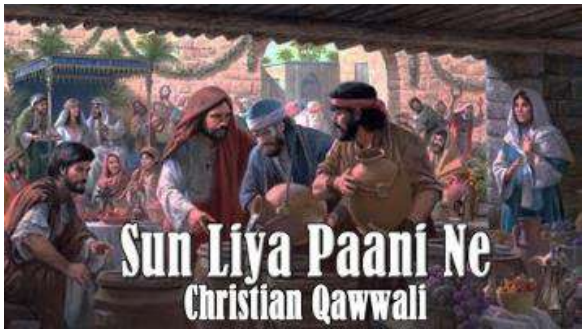
When I was at home and was doing something, I heard in my Spirit: Perfect to yhi thi. It has repeated a few times in my Spirit by far.

The Guy sings:
Sun liya paani ne Yeshu ki vaani
Nhi ki apni khud ki manmaani.

Sun liya paani ne Yeshu ki vaani
Nhi ki apni khud ki manmaani

The lyrics played in my Spirit after some time. I am still writing the revelations from yesterday.

Ref: Sun Liya Paani Ne | Christian Qawwali 2020 | Full Lyrical | Hindi | Sunny Charan | (Official Video)



After I wake up and lightly stroke my forehead while still lying on my side with my upper half lifted on the support of my right elbow, I have the following revelation.
Vision: The face of the guy named Surjeet who works in the Dinesh Store, dressed in a fitting t-shirt thickly striped in sky blue and thinly striped in white, present in place of my face with my hair falling down as they did at that moment, with him emulating my act of stroking my forehead in stress. He too is called by my name.

Vision (day before yesterday): The middle-aged version of Bollywood actor Jeetendra, dressed in an off-white shirt checkered in brown and untucked over brown pants, stands with his left knee bent on a surface as he rotates in a semicircle at his position in a dark background, and shoots with a gun held in his outstretched arm.

As I put the anti-itch moisturizer on my arms after bathing, I heard in my Spirit during the last two times I bathed excluding today's: Randi cha gayi!

Well, these remarks don't hurt me anymore because I am now mentally strong enough. Look at God. He gets to hear a lot of things about Him that are not true, but He doesn't change. He stays the same forever. He is unchangeable and His character traits are Holy, regardless of how He was treated on Earth and the kind of things the people say about Him.

The previous vision of KA on top of Juhi Chawla keeps getting highlighted to me at different times during the past few days in which she lay with a stressed expression with her head bent to one side as KA lay on top of her with the groin bursting outwardly by 2-3 inches. It has been highlighted to me previously as well when I lay down with my head bent to one side being stressed because of the ever-present pain inside my head. I lay in that pose because of the condition of my head as it really is a mess inside, but when I lay in such a position, the vision gets highlighted to me followed by the vision of actual bombs blasting inside at the place of my groin as it moves outwardly by a few inches. The vision distracts my attention from my headache.

When I lay down to sleep, I get a lot of revelations with a naked, muscular and dusky KA.

- I see a sudden vision of a very lightly stubbled face of KA in a dark background below which is shown a translucent horizontal penis pointing at the viewer as a thick jet flows out of it like a quiet fountain. The vision is accompanied by a sense of relief caused by release.
- He tears apart my belly in one move revealing a concave shape made by the red internal flesh.
- I lay on my side and appears Glory in a red suit over a white shirt as he caresses to and fro with both hands the side of my waist facing upwards.
- Revelations with KA continue.
- After a good while, I see his face as he says: Mukti aur shanti mil gyi.. accompanied by the song lyrics Mukti Dilaye Yeshu Naam.. Shanti Dilaye Yeshu Naam..
- I also kept seeing KA in checkered black and red shirt in a dark background looking at the viewer and calling her wife, as he said in Hindi: Tu meri biwi hai! Tu meri biwi hai! ('You're my wife! You're my wife!') He repeats it several times as we continue making out!

Past Revelation

I had this revelation while lying in the bed with vertically folded knees.

Vision (Past few days): My legs split open fully horizontally with the skin of my naked lower half shown as being translucent golden and a dusky and muscular KA with the same skin tone between my legs as he eats my groin, the zoomed inner skin of which is then shown to be covered with honey which he is eating out of it.

Morning Dreams:

Dream 1: I am in a locality resembling my parental home's, with my mom present with me. I see a square deep red cardboard house with dimensions of about 1.5 feet. It has a small rectangular opening at the bottom without a door. Apparently, as I organize stuff around, I have to handle the house carefully and place it somewhere. I place it on the ground but then shift its position. I look down at the deep red square house carefully and notice a white pathway extending out of the door to up to a distance of about slightly more than half a foot. My attention then focuses on the long white pathway extending out of it. The house looks quite unique to me.

As I wrote the above revelation while saying out some parts which has become a habit now for it helps me to be focused. I am becoming dumber day by day, as I found my thought patterns level down as I expression my reaction to things that wouldn't my affected me previously. There are many ways I have noticed that I have levelled down on an intellectual level. But it's not my treasure. Jesus is my treasure.

Anyway. As I spoke out the word 'Home's' above, I had an immediate vision of the face of Sherlock Holmes looking at me with red love hearts in front of his eyes. But it was after a few seconds that I realized the phonetic similarity of the word with his last name.

And after I was done writing the revelation, I heard in my Spirit,
The lady sings:
Maar dala.. Maar dala..
Humpe ye kisne hara rang dala..
Khushi ne sazaa di humein maar dala..

The dream later made me recall the vision in which Jesus placed a love-heart shaped 2-D surface on above my trousers at the place of my groin and then licked it once, which then made me look at the white surface I pasted inside the House of the Lord on which is written His name in Hebrew.

Dream 2: In this dream, I am represented as having two white wings at the back and am wearing a long and very loose cotton white top until the length of my thighs and have my hair open. The top is too loose at the bottom, and is spread outwards almost like a plain uneven skirt. Though my attire is clean, my look is a bit messy as I move around. I am trying to evade some people who are after me. I walk through a corridor and come across a mesh door to my left. I enter it and find Nidhi and one more girl there. They let me in followed by us sitting on the floor a few feet away from the door as we have a meal together. They're discussing some problems from their coursework. I keep looking back at the mesh door as those people who're after me might stop by and happen to look inside and take me away. After they are done, I walk further inside the house with them, but then I find myself out in the open space again. I am now on the roof of Rugha Saini's home - our rented apartment in my hometown - and notice a thick-walled square building being built to my right, with just the four long red brick walls around the space. I see a close-up view of a wall being built by putting four bricks one beside the other in order to make a very thick wall. After a while, I leave from there as well. I am now in an open Verandah in front of a room in which when I enter I find two goons who are preparing to attack a place as they plan to leave the room from another door present on the inside. One of them says out an act consisting of two sub-acts, with the latter act being 'Khayenge' (we'll eat), and as he says so, the view freezes at his face that's facing to the left, and the person is revealed to be a middle-aged and clean-shaven Sunny Deol with his head covered with a white cloth in a way that people cover their heads inside a Gurudwara. I realize that they are talking about me. I also notice that he is making the prophetic symbol, so I rewind the act to click a better screenshot of his face making the prophetic symbol. When the scene resumes, I have already entered the room, and they've seen me. I am trying to reason with them to not be so wicked following which black clothes appear on their heads covering their faces and throats as they look in my direction. I see that they are hard to convince and will attack the place. So in order to soothe them down or make them change their minds, the dream me reveals her breasts to them which they lick for a little while after which they seem to be changed in their expressions. I then leave the room in a hurry.

Somewhere in the dream, I find myself walking by the inner entrance of a building resembling the senior wing of my school. The entrance is to my right and follows into a corridor as I walk forward in the direction of the main gate. I see many cars parked in front of me with people sitting inside who are looking at me. Some of them are celebrities. Though they were stationary at first, when I came into their view, they started driving past behind me as I try to avoid looking at them though I can sense that they are standing there for a reason unknown. I see Amir Khan dressed in a red polo shirt in the driver seat of a black car that comes into view as cars leave. I move to the right side, let them leave and evade them by flying above and floating away from them towards the top of that building, and move in that direction, and end up being on a high roof with a few people with me, but then I fly above at some height and look down. I look at the systems of the world and how I couldn't be a part of them. That it was too bogus, objective, and meaningless. I look at the usual flow of human life while looking down below from that height, and think how my life would turn out to be if I were to be a part of the same - if I was to get enrolled in a school and be educated and follow the usual set trend of the world, and how it just wasn't worth it. It just seems too uselessly engaging.

I then find myself moving on the road to Kingsway Camp, the road present at the backside of the Single Storey, and see people passing by on bikes, and Rickshaws some of whom seem to be there without a real reason of their own. I am now sitting on the ground at the side of a road with a girl to my right and am talking to her. In front of me lie a two-way road sectioned by a cemented partition in the middle. To the left of the road, I see a distant me dressed in my red dress with short white sleeves, after which I see Glory enter the view from the left side of the vision as he comes driving on a bike with a man behind him on the distal lane, and as he turns his bike around to me through the open space between the cemented partition, I see that he is driving with a smile, with his belly sucked inwards making his chest protrude out, as the straight horizontal front of the black spaghetti that he is wearing is visible through his translucent white top with short red half sleeves with a slanted conical stich to the right at the top and a front vertically stripped in red, with a black trouser below the top, while the thinly moustached man behind him is wearing a yellow shirt stripped in black. His choice of clothing tells me that he chose them with much thought. It was an amusing sight. He drives by me turning to the left in front of me and standing behind a building. But before he went there, he made sure that I had looked at him and his attire, as he passed by in front of me by just a distance of about less than a meter. I stand up from my place and move to him, after I've applied some lipstick/lip balm, turning to the left behind the building where he's hiding. As I look at him, I move to him for a handshake. He too moves forward and after a light shake, I continue to move towards as I want to give him a light hug, in response to which he walks forward and we end up hugging tightly. While I am doing so, I happen to look at the man standing to his right briefly and the thought that I should've done a distant handshake with him first crosses my mind for I feel that he is too left out in the situation. He is smiling at me as we pull each other towards one another and we do so, I am dropping soft kisses on his face as we hug. As we continue to do so, I see that he has turned his face completely away to the left and looks like a dusky old man with his lips taken inside completely, which makes me wonder why was he biting his own lips. I then look at the view of light red lip balm marks left on the surface of a white object held in my hands, though I am hugging him at the same time. He then takes me to a huge hall where he is walking far ahead of me, and inside the hall are lying some beds, laid perpendicularly along the wall to the right. He moves to the one present at the farthest end with his back towards the viewer and then changes to Jack from Titanic in his attire of an off-white shirt tucked inside brown pants with shoulder straps. On the other side of the bed lies a wide, grey rectangular slab protruding out of the wall on which he is moving some stuff around while I am still walking towards him. The bed at the farthest end resembles my foldable bed with a hollow bottom but with a white sheet covering the mattress on top with its surface being above the ground by about 2 meters. I look at the scene still being far behind the bed and am walking towards him when the dream ends. Though the other beds are covered with dark sheets, the farthest one is covered with a white one.

Revelations after waking up:

- I gently put a finger on my lips multiple times in a row as if to make the gesture of asking KA to kiss me.
- The KA visions similar to the last night start repeating again.
- 'Kartika bas karo, bas karo. Mein pagal ho jaunga. Mein pagal ho jaunga.': repeats KA repeats it in a requestful tone as I see him above me in the vision seen in my mental view.
- He then abruptly floats upwards and sticks to the ceiling as the view of the front of his naked body stuck above is seen from the bed. He wants to stay away from me. But then he falls down again and we continue again.
- But I don't seem to be forcing him. I am just lying at my place. He himself stops, rests, and starts again, and prior to that he himself was saying 'Bas Karo.' All I am doing is going along with his state and observing it.
- Towards the end, he looks too exhausted after which the vision of the exhausted Jack from the cab scene in the movie Titanic is highlighted, shifting back to the current visions in the room.
- He then falls upside down slowly on me exhausted with his head to one side of my head as I stroke the back of his head slowly to give him some relief.
- There is a sense of relieving relaxation as he rests on the naked woman below.
- There are also visions of one of us dropping brief and soft kisses on the lips of the other person.
- This morning I feel too full of him like I never felt before. Like I really had a lot of him in his presence.
- The song Mukti Dilaye Yeshu Naam Shanti Dilaye Yeshu Naam also played in my Spirit as I was lingering in the relaxing and fulfilled state...
- I also saw his smiling stubbled face lying on the grass as I fell on him to kiss him. It seemed like we were having a kind of picnic in the woods.

As I continued lying on bed, after a while, I saw:

An amalgamation of Ka and Death Conqueror stands inside as open door of a room well-lit with daylight. But in this vision, this person is wearing multilayered white clothes like Jesus and has two white wings at the back horizontally spread along the plane of his body. He is looking at me and saying something positive about me. The follow-up vision then shows him closing the door while facing away from the viewer towards the room with his head turned backwards at the viewer, and as he stood in this manner, his winged back was visible to the viewer. He was perhaps saying that I am not a Randi. I am not sure though. But he said it in a quiet and serious tone and repeated it a few times before entering the room and closing the mesh door.

While bathing, I heard: Don't pay attention to them. Kartika, don't pay attention to them. And the phrase repeated several times. So, yeah, it eased my bathing time by a great amount. Earlier, I would feel conscious about people watching me or I would be filled with hatred for the disgusting Dushman, but now I learned to pray before bathing for God to cover me with His blood, and continue with the act without paying attention to the foolish onlookers. If I was at their place, I would've reported the case the first time I got to know about it, and I wouldn't watch that person who was being stripped in his/her time when (s)he was supposed to have privacy. Perhaps that's why Jesus chose me for this role because I couldn't have reported for my own self without evidence, and then I am also being watched and heard so they would know my plans. Me fighting for me in such a situation sounds weird. I would've done the right thing in the first instance of coming across such a situation that someone else was going through. And then Jesus knows that I am not bathing to make others sin but to wash myself. But now I don't feel too bad about the being exposed to the world because I now know that my body is but a prison and is given by God and therefore belongs to Him and if it was in His Will for me to go through a painful process, then I should offer what was given to me back to Him. Because I didn't create my own body. No person created the body of another individual for it is written that it's God puts us together in the womb and not our own selves. So, the bodies of the people who are bought by God by Hid blood belong to Him and not to their own selves. That's also the reason we ought to honor our bodies as the temple of God because it does indeed become a temple when we receive the Holy Spirit of God through Christ's sacrifice.

"She's a very clean lady." Repeated several times during the past two weeks.

"Kartika tu randi nhi hai. Tu maha murakh hai. Tujhe jo karna hai, vo karna hai." - referring to my acts of cleaning around and then cleaning my own self. I has repeated in my Spirit a few times by now, mainly while bathing. Well, if I clean around, then I have to clean myself as well. If I was to keep sitting at one place when I didn't sweat or got dirty, I could go without bathing for a few days. But when you work, you need to bathe.

This stanza kept playing in my Spirit during the afternoon while cleaning room:
Aap To Nazdik Se Nazdik-tar Aate Gaye..
Aap To Nazdik Se Nazdik-tar Aate Gaye..
Pehle Dil Phir Dilruba Phir Dil Ke Mehman Ho Gaye
Rafta Rafta Wo Meri Hasti Ka Saman Ho Gaye

Source: https://sweetslyrics.com/mehdi-hasan/rafta-rafta-woh-meri-lyrics

The line in bold being repeated in my Spirit throughout the day.

Vision (Past 24 hours): The view of the erected and ejaculating genitalia of KA protruding through his clothes and then it bursts outwards along its length fully in open air. The vision repeats itself a few times.
Vision (Past 24 hours): The upper half of RS in a blue suit over a white shirt says, "Kartika, tu randi nahi hai.. Tu randi nahi hai.." in a quiet, pitiful and affirmative tone which makes me think why are all these people suddenly saying this same sentence which I already know to be true about myself. The upper half of KA in a white tunic set repeats the same after some hours. The visions repeated intermittently throughout the day as I was doing different daily chores. But then them repeating it tells me that it must be because of a reason, most probably because of the camera situation. But it has been there for years now, and I didn't hear such a thing previously from anyone, nor any mention of anything related to the term Randi in my Spirit prior to the past few months. So, why, all of a sudden, were all these people making this statement in that pitiful tone? No one ever called me Randi besides my mom on that particular day of the fight in which she called me a Raand, followed by the immoral fat middle man calling me Randi next which took me by a lot of surprise. Everyone I became friends with liked me.

Past Revelation

Vision (Past week): The view of adding milk to the black tea water brewing on my Induction heater as it turns to beige color.

Heard in the Spirit (Past few days):
"Isko kisne randi bana diya!?" ("Who made her a prostitute!?")
"Ye kahan ki randi hai..!" ("What kind of prostitute she is!?, or she's not at all like a prostitute") - said in a sarcastic manner for they can see that I am not a prostitute.

A guy says (heard in the Spirit, a few days back):
Sara time lipta rahunga mein, sara time lipta rahunga mein..

Which is accompanied by the Worship song lyric:
Yeshu tujhse lipta rahu mein
Yeshu tujhse lipta rahu mein

Heard in the Spirit while cleaning/mopping the floor (for the past few week):
'She's so meticulous.'

The Guy sings:
Tumhare siva kuch na chahat karenge..
Ke jab tak jiyenge.. Mohabbat karenge..

Vision (Past 24 hours): I stand in the balcony against the door facing KA as we're kissing and he holds my breast visible on my naked upper half. The vision is followed by the naked upper half of Sonakshi Sinha with her hair tied at the back as she stands in front of the washroom and looks at the viewer with neutral expressions with my small kitchen fiber skyblue dusting cloth around her neck. It was an unusual revelation. Why would I do such a thing or even want to do such a thing. Or perhaps these are the thoughts of someone else! Sonakshi Sinha reminded me of the scene from the movie Rajkumar in which the hero happened to see her naked upper half while she was changing clothes, unbeknownst to her, in response to which she later tells him that 'Vo trailer bus tere liye tha!'.

Page 537.

18 September 2023
01:55

Within the past hour, as I was lying in bed and thinking about the previous dream revelation in which I hired a cab to go to church at night and entered a rectangular room, dimly lit in yellow light giving it a club-like aura, and saw the Pastor and his wife serving Chaat Pakoras and other street items from behind a Thela, set up in the middle of the right side of the room - it made me look the structure of my own room - which resembles that rectangular room I had entered in the dream, and also, the kitchen of the room happens to be present in the middle of the right side of the room. And then I looked at my recent acts of worshipping at nights in this room lit with the low-wattage bulbs, and compared it with the scene from the dream. I had that dream back in 303 of A-10 when I hadn't yet perhaps even started looking for a new room. So, it serves as a confirmation that I am indeed at the place I am supposed to be. It's good that God gives me info encapsulated in these mixed revelations and it serves a purpose by keeping the meaning or the future hidden until the time of its manifestation. Perhaps He does it to hide the Word from the devil. That's the only explanation I can come up with, but then it also serves to keep me mentally engaged, or else things would be too boring if He was to give all the info in a straightforward manner. But Him doing so makes sense and serves a purpose as He knows when He gives me those revelations the time of their manifestation and also the time I would understand them in the enhanced context of their manifestation. But, humans trying to communicate info in a covered manner and then expecting me to interpret or assume things is very much unreasonable because when they do so, they are expecting a reaction or me to act in that very moment while I may not understand or may overpass their hidden message. But when God does so, He knows exactly when I would come to the right understanding and how it would all fit together. So, it's always better to be straightforward or not too deceptive when interacting with other children of God, or if one is being discreet for one must be, then one shouldn't expect an immediate response because God's revelations given in terms of parables can't be understood in the first go for they contain hidden info that only gets revealed with time.

As I was thinking about the prophetic dream, the Pastor's way of teaching, and the church, I saw the following.
Vision (past hour): The pastor stands near the wall in front of me with the Bible verse wall hanging, with a thin brown stick held in his hand with which he is pointing to a writing in red written on the wall that says: U r dead! He keeps pointing at the writing on the wall with the stick looking at me which makes me think if I am really a walking dead when I look at the other dream-revelation with the sleeping humanoid that suddenly got possessed with a conscience after which it got up and started walking around like a robot. Also, the writing on the wall is vertical and seems to be written with blood but it may not be so as well, but it was written in red and carried a font somewhat resembling to those we see used in Zombie movies. Additionally, in that night church dream, there was a lot of crowd around the street food Thela and though I wanted to eat, I saw the duo being too busy and knew that I wouldn't be served my order too soon. In that dream, there was a crowd of youngsters sitting near the door of the room and it seemed like a very ungodly and worldly crowd and I had flet like telling them to get lost from the church for they were ruining the Holy aura of it. Their ungodliness and worldliness was very much apparent.

Wow. So, my room is kind of a night Holy Club: a term I came across in the Worship song Pavitra Pavitra Pavitra Tu Hi To Yahowa. The Pastor kept pointing at the writing with the wall as he moved about a bit for a good amount of time until I was ascertained that it was something really important to know.

Also, the vision reminded me of a previous dream I had in A-16 in which I was moving out of the place with Glory when we came across a blockage with something written on it in a zombie font as the accompanying voice said that the zombies wanted to eat brains. And then recall: the previous revelation 'The Zombies are Coming… Ha Ha Ha' from the game Plants vs Zombies.

Additionally, earlier during the day I came up with these slightly changed lyrics of the song Take Me To Church. They're not too different from the original version, but they change the context entirely and give the song a godly meaning. I have highlighted the lyrics I changed using a yellow background.

The Guy sings:
My lover's got humor
She's a giggle at the funeral

It seems to me that it talks about me giggling at my own imminent funeral, reminding me of a heavily bearded Glory sitting with a serious expression with another guy in front of a covered rectangle on the ground as the phrase Satnam Waheguru kept being repeated in this dream that I had back in 304 of A-10.

Knows everybody's disapproval
I should've worshipped her sooner.

If the heavens ever did speak
She's the last true mouthpiece
Every Sunday's getting more bright
Fresh pouring each week

We were born sick
But we love it. (which is an undesirable state to be in)

My church offers no absolutes
She (the lady) tells me: Worship in the bedroom
The only heaven I will be sent to
Is when I am alone with You (referring to God/Jesus)

I was born sick
Christ nullified it
Command me to be well..

A.. Amen. Amen. Amen.

Take me to church
I will worship like a dog at the shrine of Your light
I'll tell you my sins so you can shower Your light (on me)
Offer me that deathless death O good God
Let me give you my life..

I happened to watch the dance video of the song again after I was writing the above and after watching it a few times, these lyrics stood out to me as they go along with the Night church revelation in which the Pastor and his wife were serving food (for the soul) to the crowd the Thela was surrounded by - a mixed crowd of both men and women.

The Guy sings:
What you got in the staple..
There's a lot of starving faithful!
That looks tasty! That looks plenty!
This is hungry world!

Vision (during day): I dance in a contemporary ballet style with a naked, tall, muscular, dusky but a bit blurry KA (so he doesn't look obscene in the vision) as he performs awesome ballet swings and rotations, while jumping with stretched legs in contemporary moves, while I am dressed in a loose white t-shirt over black pants with my hair tied low at the back. We do this on a worship song. It was perhaps when I was singing the modified chorus of Take Me To Church, and we danced in the room in front of the wall with the short sky-blue rack. He is on the right as seen from the front while I am on the left and though I move into the kitchen area while dancing and get out of the view, he stays in the visible frame of the vision.

"Kartika tune to dil khush kar ditta!"

17:01

While having vision revelations with KA in the morning, I kept falling asleep. Somewhere in the middle I had the following two revelations:

- My green knife stuck in a cemented surface with only half an inch left above the surface as a hammer hit it on the side making it straight.
- A brown cylindrical Earthen tumbler breaks as it hits the ground.
- The sound of a tiny blast inside my head but without any pain.

After I was done writing last night, and was in the washroom before going to bed, I had the following vision.
Vision: Sergei Polunin does his ballet flips twice in the surrounding environment of the song itself shown in my mental view as he approaches close to me in two jumps/rotations, carrying the same look from the song.

As I lay on bed, and close my eyes, I see:

- Sergei Polunin in the environment of the song does more of his dance steps in a quiet environment.

After I have a number of such revelations pertaining to his dance steps and am now beginning to try to sleep with a restless head as it's mostly unsettled, I see the following.

- The top view of the naked upper half of Sergei Polunin lying on a bed, being covered by a sheet to the same extent as me, in the same posture as mine as he emulates my prior-to-sleep stressful expressions.
- As I continue lying on the bed, such visions repeat with him emulating my expressions, which tells me that he too is called by my name as he is representing me in those poses.
- I also felt the increase in wickedness in the follow-up visions as I saw as a third person the vision of a man push his hand into a vagina and pull out the intestines entirely, which reminds me of the previous vision of a hand rushing between my legs, that I had back in room D1 of A-16. How much more savage a person can be.

And then this morning when I went to the Dinesh Store to buy milk and other stuff for breakfast, another man came to the shop. But he was there to insult me and make the point that currently they were consuming my brain, as he said 'Abhi magaz chal raha hai', and he said it smiling. How could he do that!? Say such a savage thing that a person is wrongfully doing to an innocent person, and then smile! He said in response to what I had written the previous day about the imminent coming of zombies. It's the serpent race - the ones that are body-snatched by the devil! And when I asked the store Bhaiya to give me two of those small Cashew packets to use in Halwa, that guy again had to insult me by asking if those packets were worth 1 or 2 rupees. These people disgust me with their satanic minds! Whenever I encounter such behavior, it reminds me why I kept myself away from this cheap and disgusting fellow by far! So filled with demonic thought patterns and aura. Who wants to live a rich demon. Look at devil. He possesses the kingdom of the Earth, but He is cheap and rejected by God and subject to judgment in Hell. Just one such kind of behavior exhibited by this fellow is enough to push me mentally kilometres away from him. One feels like puking out at such thought patterns.

After I wrote the above, and was busy in the kitchen area, I heard: Naach na jaane, aangan tedha..!

When I woke up, I had these revelations:

- A number of pictures of a stubbled KA with a thicker face in different checkered shirts untucked over trousers as he stands in open spaces, some of which are with greenery around him.
- KA in a white vest over a white short boxer stands in my room, looks at the viewer (me), and then turns his back towards me with an erected genitalia in front of him hiding from the viewer. He looks lean in this vision, and not bulky, and the vision makes me think if he's showcasing his white ultra-clean attire.

Later during the day:

I hear in my Spirit: Kartika ye tum kya kar rhi ho.

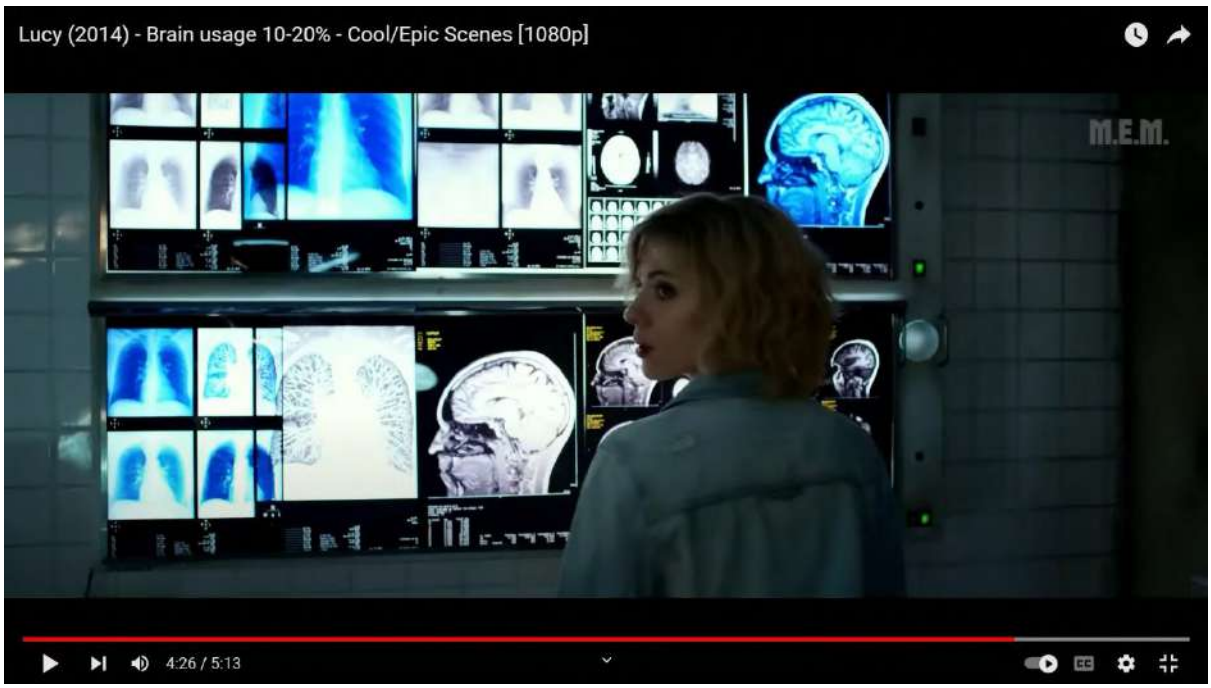
Vision: The side-view of a standing KA with erected genitalia as a translucent tissue tube gets pulled down on it in the air. The vision repeats a few times accompanied with a somatic experience followed by me actually appearing on top of it in front of him, dressed in my lavender long loose t-shirt over grey trousers as I hug and kiss him.

These days, I feel like eating frequently and though I am doing so, my weight is on a decreasing scale though it's not yet visually apparent, but it's there on the scales. Additionally, whenever I feel like eating, I feel my belly suddenly turn inwards to an unusual extent, which makes me question how come am I getting these impulses to eat too quickly when I have had something just a few hours back, and it's not just the impulse or nudge that's there but is accompanied by the turning-inwards of my belly, which makes me compare this present state to the time I could go an entire day easily without eating, or if I ate something, I wouldn't feel like eating for long durations. I shouldn't be getting these quick nudges to eat or consume something and then I am on the decreasing scale. Interesting.

Additionally, this part from the movie Lucy in which after the chemical has made way into her bloodstream, she suddenly experiences a very strong appetite and starts eating voraciously, has also been being highlighted to me for the past two days. Previously, this other scene from the movie in which her body starts disintegrating following which she has to consume a whole lot of that chemical was also highlighted to me.

Lucy makes the prophetic symbol



While looking for the scene which she disintegrates and eats a lot, I happened to coincidentally stop at the view of this tree which she is looking at with her increased mental acuity. It reminded me of my own vision that I had when I was doing a project with Supriya Kar of my dept. I was sitting in the Buddha lawns and working out the String Theory/GTR equations he had given me to reproduce the results of. Though I didn't like calculations a lot, I still did that project because my marks were less and I needed projects to aid my CV. I used to like sitting alone there in soothing sunlight as it was winters and then I like green natural places in general. That was also the time I was experiencing the interrelatedness of all things which had fuelled my interest in the field of Complex Systems as I saw how it held the key to integrating all fields of study. This day I happened to look at the huge and wide tree, and it was too old, and saw tiny silvery lines flowing through the trunk of the tree upwards from its roots to its branches and then I looked at the birds sitting on the tree and how everything was connected. It was a peaceful feeling that came along with experiencing the unity of everything - unity in terms of how things were understood, and how the understanding things at different levels merged together at a certain level of understanding. You see, this sort of view or way of looking at things doesn't fetch you marks. I was looking forward to having more of such revelatory visions that I thought would aid in my research. That's all I wanted from my job: to be able to explain things in the way that I saw and understood them. But disgusting Death Conqueror killed that aspect of me that I wanted to be by putting me in such a disgusting situation for his own selfish reasons! It's Jesus who cared for my persona as he put to use who I am on the inside! This Death Conqueror only wanted to turn me into a mindless dumb fool who is sinning in different ways all the time. I don't think he ever sat in quiet and looked at the underlying feeling of unexplained godly peace that comes from within and is not a result of some worldly experience! Oh yeah. He is used to worldly useless worldly acts of clubbing, visiting prostitutes and living life with an outwardly form of fun that's bought with money with no presence of godly peace and stillness that comes from deep inside of a person by just looking around at the creation of God.

Ref: Lucy (2014) - Brain usage 30-50% - Cool/Epic Scenes [1080p]

The lady says:
Mare hue ko kya maroge

This certain phrase from a Bollywood movie have been highlighted once or twice to me within the past many weeks. I didn't know what it was referring to! And then, when I look at the song revelation 'Usne din jode hai zindagi mein, uska maksad hai..', it seems to add together with the sentence. I was feeling earlier during the day that it was good in a way because if a person is already dead and is living because of God's grace, then that person doesn't have to fear death because he knows that it's God's purpose that will prevail and that he can live the extra days that God grants in the sweet assurance of getting to meet God at the end, because that person is a living proof that God is real as He Himself communicated the truth of that person's extended days to Him. Writing the above made me giggle a bit and then I heard the guy sing: She's a giggle at the funeral! And I also had this accompanying vision: KA in a full-sleeved cotton white tunic set sits on the ground on his knees in the center of my room and bangs his forehead repeatedly on the floor with a mournful countenance.

And it also reminded me of the times when I used to be regular at my workplace - the Physics dept of Delhi University - and when often I would stop breathing without me even noticing me and would keep working on my laptop without breathing for long durations and it didn't affect me a bit. I only got hinted towards it through a YT video reco that talked about breathing problems but even that didn't directly put my attention to the times that I was not breathing. This certain day when I was returning from work and was walking through the Arts Faculty to get a common E-Rickshaw from across the open area, a guy from a group of guys walking towards me said casually: Samadhi lgake baith jaunga, and it was this sentence that put my attention to the long periods that went by without breathing. This Death Conqueror and his friends are an epitome of hypocrisy and plain wickedness.

Anyway. While making Coffee, I was in a way feeling actually excited thinking about if it was really true, and how miraculous God was, and how trustworthy as His prophetic revelations came to pass.

The Guy sings: Saiyarra mein saiyarra. Saiyarra tu saiyarra. Sitaaro ke jahan mein, milenge ab yara.

'Vo saza dega tumhe. Vo sazaa dega.'

Vision (Evening): Tony Stark stands dressed in his red iron man suit but without a helmet.

23:23

While resting about half an hour back:

- The old face of Bollywood actor Dharmendra eating a banana held straight in his hand.
- Rang de tu mohe gerua.. Raanjhe ki dil se hai dua..
- Bollywood actress Kajol in an orange saree stands facing to the right.
- Appears then a stubbled RS behind her dressed in a multicolored printed shirt as they stand with stretched arms at the edge of what looks like the edge of a ship resting on the ground, though the ground isn't visible and the environment is breezy.

Vision (past few days): The distant view of a fat woman dressed in white hung upside down with a rope as a guy peeled off her face using a knife around her throat.

It was something I had happened to watch some years back on YT, but it was highlighted to me during the past few days. In the original scene, the gang peeled off faces of the people they targeted, and in that scene they were doing it to a family they had hung upside down in a huge and open ground hall.

I was lying on the bed with folded legs, being busy doing something when I had this vision.
Somatic Revelation (303, A-10): I feel two fingers moving inside my vagina which after they come out look like two translucent fingers. But the related person is not shown in the vision.

Such revelations no longer hurt me or make me uneasy because I've become mentally strong now.

Vision (During day): KA in his attire of vest and boxers earlier from the day climbs up on a rope hanging on the brick wall present to the left of my balcony.

This time when I lay on my bed with my hurting head turned to the side, I saw:
A beige translucent Glory around my mid-section doing oscillations

Vision (Past two weeks): The face of a beige camel carrying Glory's expressions facing to the left as it grasps the end of a lady's bare breast.

Vision (Past two weeks): The naked upper half of Edward sitting on the edge of a bed with the naked upper half of a lady standing close in front of him, as is visible from the left side of the back of the lady. He seems to be fondling the breasts of the lady with his mouth but is then pushed backwards to the wall behind with a jolt.

Vision (Late evening): A naked KA is lying on me but is then being pulled away upwards in the same posture he is lying with several black demonic hands holding him. He goes further away and away and I pray but it doesn't do much. It seems that he will be out of sight now taken away by those demons. So, without further ado, I extend and stretch my hands upwards and free him of the demons holding him, and bring him back to me, but the black demonic arms are still around him pulling away at him. I then happen to open my mouth as all the demons rush inside me, following which I release them in a form which looks like a dark and black gaseous paste to the right of my bed, them now being reduced to being unable to do anything after which the gaseous paste disappears.

It reminded me of the scene from Matrix movie in which Agent Smith enters Neo and ends up getting destroyed.

Vision (Past week): The upper half of my dad dressed in a black attire as he keeps moving his finger near the end of the tunnel of his nose while looking at the viewer!

After I wrote the section The Language of the Universe last night on Page 536, I had the following revelation.
Vision (Late night, 9/31, Vijay Nagar, Double Storey): Dushman stands in a room to the right side of the viewer lying on the floor, and he's holding an axe with its cheek half covered with blood as he seems to hit the person below but not fully, or brutally hitting her, as he is withholding his full expression. He then turns away from the view and moves around as he says: Ye kya language of the Universe bta diya! Mujhe to ye sab kuch bhi nhi bta! Kya karu ab tera!? He then returns and pretends to come at the viewer lightly with the back of the axe with a stuffed expression as he says, "Huh? Huh?", but then he turns away again moving around in confusion as the language of the universe is something he never tuned into.

Heard in the Spirit several times during the past few weeks:
"Kartika, tujhe pta hai tu yaha par kya kar rhi hai!? Tujhe pta hai tu yaha par kya kr rhi hai!?"
Which confuses me! I spend most of my day writing revelations and doing daily chores.

Vision (night): AK in what looks like an astronaut suit without a helmet followed by him running to the left.

Page 538.

19 September 2023
09:00

Dream (Morning): I'm enrolled in something abroad as a part of my PhD and would have to leave soon. But I am wondering as I work through the documents that how is it even possible that I will complete my Ph.D. in such a short period of time of a few months?

Meanwhile, I keep coming across my work colleagues Pooja and others. I have tea with them. I seem to be in a better state of mind.

I order something, some important thing, one was to be sent out to Death Conqueror and another to Shrey Ansh, whom I don't really know in real life. And as I order them, I see a satellite map which shows the route of those things. I see that both things end up moving on the road to Death Conqueror's address and it makes me wonder if he caused it by hacking into my phone. So I try again, to send that thing on the route to Shrey Ansh's address. Apparently, it's for his own good. This time it starts on the route to him as is shown in the map, but then the screen says that it has been blocked from reaching to him. And then the map moves to a place showing its top view, and it's the place he's currently working at as a voice says that he is augmenting an electronic setup at a place and that this is the second one that he is doing.

There is a group dance being practiced in the Junior wing of my school in my hometown. And I see a lady dressed in the cute attire of a vegetable who's also a part of the dance. But the next thing I see is a black lady walking forward with others behind her in a squat position as a part of their dance move. Apparently, it's an improvised version of the dance. The lady at the front is dressed in what looks like a fitting jumpsuit striped in black and white. All of them move to the left together in synchrony making the prophetic symbol as they dance. The view then shows the fat lady dressed in a thigh-length vegetable attire with a green bushy wig on her head - the wig resembles the top of a pineapple as the lady looks at the viewer with her tyre-like belly visible through her attire. She stands alone quietly and looks innocently at the viewer.

I move around quickly in an empty room lit in blue light with just my green suitcase visible lying against the wall. I am calling the Holy Spirit as I feel a wicked presence around.

The next thing shows just the area of the penis of a guy which needs to be severed at its junction point. He is not doing it himself. And then I have to go fly to my thing that I got enrolled in, and the time nears, but before I do so, that penis has to be completely severed from its place which doesn't make sense to me, and then the guy just stands and is not doing it himself. I then see the view changing from one penis to another of different men as they get severed by different people. I don't understand what's going on. This another guy stands and is waiting for someone to severe it, so something could progress forward. It's a job that needs to be done and no one is doing it. So I chop off the penis at its junction as it falls down, following which that other penis too needs to be severed. Apparently, they come in a combo of two with no reference to or the vision of who the person is. Around this part. the dream ends.

*****

You see, it is written in the Bible that it's better to chop a part that makes you sin and live without it than to be sent to Hell with that part intact. So, those men whose faces weren't shown must all be gravely sinning men who had to get their penises severed.

You see, though I saw those penises, I had a neutral inner countenance and it didn't make me sin mentally.

However, I was affected during the past few days by the revelations I received with KA because they were love-filled!

Death Conqueror has a very cheap mind. He thinks that he would do me a favour by having me sit in an airplane which actually means nothing! He thinks it's a privilege. Fool! Just because I have not sat in one yet because the situation didn't call for it doesn't mean I am dying to do so, and when I do so, it would be a normal thing and there are many situations that can call for me flying to a place. And he thinks it gives people a class, but it means nothing. Like I didn't yet indulge sexually with a person because the situation didn't call for it or they weren't favourable to the conditions of having the act, doesn't mean that I am dying to do so; in the same manner, why should I sell out to a worker of devil to sit in an airplane. He thinks too highly of himself, or perhaps he thinks too lowly of me because his brain just doesn't has the quality needed to perceive who I am. He always cared about his own agenda to succeed. He didn't see that the camera situation was hindering my work and made me highly stressed to the extent where currently I am not even able to do my work when about to near the near the end of the 6th year of my PhD. I haven't worked significantly since April and even previously, in the dept, my state got worse and worse with time as I would then lay with my head down on the floor as it kept aching with me stopping breathing without me realizing it. He wasted/ruined a large part of my PhD as well, and then he sends people to ask me how long it's going to take me to complete it which just makes me angry because he is the one who put my PhD on hold by putting me in this condition where I can't even sit in the dept without feeling nauseous! I don't know how my parents are able to function in such a situation. But then they don't receive revelations and don't have to record them and they continue thinking about the usual things they have always been thinking about. He's a selfish guy who will ruin the aspects of the lives of others, the aspects that matter to them, to fulfil his own lustful desires!

You see. The Ancient One stays at the same place and practices her art and is in a good communion with the spiritual reality of the world around her. She doesn't need to go to many different places or fly or choose any specific way of transport. It's just a part of the system of the world.

I know Akhila. I can't be with her which is to say I can't be in her presence. She will only say mean things to me indirectly while smiling to my face like she had been doing all the time! And she was the one who was trying to get my attention in the first place before she got into Death Conqueror. Look at all the recent revelations disregarding the few good ones. They reveal her true treatment of me where she behaves with a sense of superiority when she's not. She is just a girl belonging from a rich family like many other girls. And I am a person who was trying to move ahead in my career to support myself and my family. There's no comparison and she shouldn't be behaving in such a manner! She may be going well with the abuser, but she can't go well with me in any way with her present persona. I feel such a bigoted sense of self and superiority in her persona, and the reasons they feel so are all vain. I will go well with someone having the persona of The Ancient One, Neo, Lucy, John Wick (who got too provoked when his dog was murdered), Amy (a pure-hearted scientist in general), Alan Watts. Now these are the personal traits but the persona of KA and RS are good enough too because they're moral to a better extent than DC and Akh.

Heard in the Spirit (Morning):
The Guy sings:
Aaja mein hawaon mein bitha ke le chalu
Tu hi to meri dost hai..

Tu Hi Meri Dost Hai | Salman K | Katrina K | A R Rahman | Benny B | Shreya G | Yuvvraaj Movie Song

It has played in my Spirit several times previously as well!

Vision (past few weeks): The smiling face of Glory as he moves his hand with the side of his forefinger brushing against his forehead while looking at the viewer. The vision repeats a few times every day.

The person sings:
Jo bheji thi dua.. Vo jake aasman..
Se yu takra gayi.. Ke aa gyi.. Hai laut ke sada..

14:37
While I was resting, I hear in my Spirit,
A two-sentence phrase with the term Aam Aadmi being repeated in my Spirit with the words Aam Aadmi being highlighted to me.

Vision: My tea pan held below the dispenser as a small amount of water pours down into the water already present inside the pan.

"Mukti dilaye Yeshu naam.. Shaanti dilaye Yeshu naam.."

The following lines keep repeating:
"Yeshu daya ka behta sagar
Yeshu daya ka behta sagar..

Yeshu hai data mahan..
Yeshu hai data mahan.."

17:28
I found this great video on narcissism, and how God deals with narcissists.

[3 Things GOD Does to a Narcissist]

The 3 things talked about in the video are:
1. He or she is provided with many chances.
2. He takes away all their sources of supply.
3. He lets them live in a pure state of dissatisfaction and dysphoria.

I realized how all three hold true in the case of Death Conqueror. God has been very patient with him, giving him many chances. And no truly righteous or moral person would want to be in close proximity with him. So yeah, God takes away his sources of supply - those sources that are moral and godly and are not like him, complacent to his wicked ways! Also, he lives in a constant state of dissatisfaction.

Well, when I look at myself, God has been very patient with me when it comes be able to fast, or start run or following the diet He showed me to lose weight. And I did try to follow along until I started having recurrent headaches and fatigue. I wasn't able to follow along the directions for a long period of time. But those things don't affect others in a negative way. They are just food choices. I tried as much my mind would allow me to in the given circumstance. I can't think of causing others such a great mental and emotional harm like Death Conqueror did out of his superior perception of himself. Now, I do classify thoughts in different levels, ranging from low-level thoughts to high-level thoughts. But even the classification won't make me abuse or mistreat the people with low-level thoughts. I would rather choose to be away from them so they don't infect me.

He is so dissatisfied and why else would he wander here and there, or go to those ungodly places or have some ungodly kind of fun that involves a lot of outward movements, ruckus or excitement. These are all the traits of a dissatisfied mind, though at times an outward ruckus can also be out of real inner joy or excitement!

Anyway. God has given me many chances. But my situation doesn't involve sinning against others and causing them harm. And I don't even need sources of supply. I need real people to be friends or interact with. Also, I don't feel dissatisfied with my life or want more and more. I don't want to elevate myself to a higher level of living. I am content with the current situation and as I wrote this sentence, I heard the song lyric: Mein dhanyawaad karta rahunga.. Yeshu dhanyawaad karta rahunga..!

I want to live a life of inner peace and if possible, outer as well. I don't like constant banging sounds around. But he likes an environment of noise, and it's fun for him while it seems pain to my ears and death to my soul! I see that God indeed did those things talked about in the video to him. It's a good video and should be watched if one can. The guy also said that God lets them live a long life and they end up in hell. The Guy sings: Mein dhanyawaad karta rahunga..!

This day I realized one more thing! That, if this camera situation wasn't there and God hadn't given me the vision of the promise of marriage, I wouldn't be so concerned or thinking about Glory, because it was because God showed me that promise that He had as a plan for my life that I took it seriously. Or else I was happy working my job, though the Awadhesh Prasad problem was there, but I could've found a different job! And it was because he gave me that camel revelatory dream that I thought that apartment that I visited last year was where the camel laid. Without the dream, I wouldn't even visit the apartment. I wouldn't care what the people to the right of A-16 had to say indirectly to me. It was because God showed me the promise and I took it seriously and was looking forward to it and was happy about it that I was so consumed with checking the status of the street outside as I frequented the balcony. Because of God's given revelations alone, I understood my surroundings.

Well, without God, I don't think I would've thought of marriage that early because I had a job to do and I wasn't yet stable in my career either. I would be content and happy living in a way that expressed who I truly was on the side!

God pushed me in this direction of thought. He knows that I don't like the systems of the world anyway and prefer to live in solitude and only need one or two people to have close bonds with, though I am good with all in general. But look at the changes He brought with time! He made me social as he brought me into a church environment where I learned to worship Him in a group.

Anyway. More about narcissism. It's not just Death Conqueror who is a narcissist, but his sister as well whom I happened to interact with that day, because she found it weird and unacceptable for one to accept a 'No' from another person. She found it shocking that how could someone go along with a No told to a person. If someone tells me a No, I take it seriously.

People here are so indirect as if they're some sort of celebrity who don't need to say things but that the other person should be able to read their minds and do something without them even asking it!

After long, I had the thought of visiting The Royal We channel and happened to watch a video by Kevin and it reminded me of the importance of open and honest dialogue. I imagined what his response would be to people who linger around saying things in an indirect manner while looking at others. His response to a narcissist asking someone directly to listen to him was, "Listen to you!? Why sir? Why ma'am? Who're you? The Queen of England!? The Pharaoh of Egypt!?" Now, this was his response, being of a normal mind, to a narcissistic person who would approach him asking him to do something he didn't want to do. Now imagine his response if the narcissist never said anything directly to him but played indirect games all the time…

The video talked about how compromise worked for the narcissist's agenda and how they want you to compromise. I picked that video up because the immoral Death Conqueror has often communicated through others that the decision was made without compromise referring to a situation in which I compromise with his sinful behavior and lifestyle and then don't even call it a compromise.

Anyway. I will now resume my God-suggested diet of milk, eggs, apples and other things as He leads me. And I will perhaps get a gym membership again.

Earlier this day, I was feeling slight pain in my belly area. It wasn't internal but seemed to be emanating in the inner flesh which made me think if the drones were attacking the inner tissue of my belly.

Without the cameras and all the bullying, I would be happy living independently while supporting my family, and doing research if the system didn't cause a problem because of a grudge Awadhesh Prasad was holding, and would continue in different artistically expressive ways to show my adoration for God. That was my own personal plan for life, but I've given up on it now as God leads me.

19:01
Devil follows no rules of God. That's why he's roaming outside heaven and is reserved for hell! He wants others to partner with him as well, as he tells them to forget the rules.

This part from the movie Kill Bill which shows the assassination of O-Ren Ishii's family where she hid under the bed and witnessed the brutality has been being highlighted to me a few times during the past two weeks.

O-Ren Ishii story Kill Bill

Also, this previous dream in which I was inside A-16 and was sharing with Akhila how her behavior was not at all good with me, after which she started shouting and hurling abusive words at me also kept being highlighted to me. These people, they can't be confronted about their wicked behavior like you share your grievances with a normal person. These wicked men and women display even more wickedness when being confronted!

Additionally, this part of a previous dream in which I was inside a kitchen space when a woman resembling Akhila came in front of me looking to the left, and started saying mean things to me indirectly, while talking to another individual not shown in the dream, also kept being highlighted to me! In that dream, I grabbed her by her head and hit her forehead on an empty plate several times and then fled from the place!

These abusive people only want silent servants who put an end to their own moral selves and comply with their immoral selves! Because if the abusers were moral, why would other moral people need to die to themselves and be someone that they're not, putting an end to everything they previously valued and giving the abusers all the space!

Abhi tak jinda kaise hai ye!? (How is she even alive until now!)
I've heard this several times in my spirit by now.

23:49

Vision (yesterday): As I am sitting on my bed, Brother Jonathan Kleck abruptly floats quickly to me while sitting in a squat position on the floor down beside me as he looks at me with smiling and filled eyes with his hands clasped in front of him - the posture that I usually make while praying. He is dressed in a fitting blue shirt with his head covered with a sky blue blue cloth - an attire I've watched him dressed in often.

When I was bathing and was pouring body wash with one hand using the loofah with another, I heard in my spirit a threatening voice that said: Kartika haath kaat dunga! After which I put the bodywash back in its place. But I didn't understand at first why would that person say such a thing. My mind was too engrossed in cleaning up.

"Tu Randi nahi hai, Kartika. Tune dikha diya. Ki tu randi nahi hai!": says a voice repeatedly.

Left and Right

Note that in the prophetic symbol, the head of the person faces to the left, implying that he is standing on the right side facing someone in front of him on the left side with that person facing to the right. We know by now our inner spiritually divided condition with the angelic self - who possesses the right mindset of morality - and the demonic self that is devoid of all rules and wants to do its own Will disregarding God and its statutes. This evening when I went out to get my shirt replacement order, I saw the delivery guy standing facing to the left in front of his bike with a girl standing in front of him to the left facing him. I saw that the guy was dressed holy in a loose shirt untucked over pants, though he looked a bit untidy, and had his head covered with a white hankerchief, while the girl who stood on the left facing to the right was dressed in fitting clothes that revealed most of her body and her maroon t-shirt had Forget the Rules written at the centre in white. I knew that she was communicating that to me and it made me too angry though I didn't express it! I didn't look at her with contempt because of her clothing but because of the message she was communicating shamelessly. I wouldn't look at a naked person who happened to come in front of me with contempt if I could see that his/her heart motives were pure and I would understand that there must be a reason (s)he happened to be naked in that moment. But this girl, though dressed unholy, didn't have the right heart, which made me too angry. After she was gone and was no longer anywhere to be seen, I turned to the side of the street she had walked to and shouted in anger at the non-existent person there as I couldn't hold it in!

When I was back to my room, I later realized how the untidy but holy man made the prophetic symbol as he stood on the right facing the left, while the girl who was tidy but held satanic mindset didn't make the prophetic symbol as she stood on the left facing the right. This then highlighted to me how the prophetic symbol was about calling out those who stood on the right facing the left and then the color of the prophetic symbol was skyblue matching the color of the eye of the angelic spiritual side as revealed previously in several revelations. It made me compare the spiritual condition with the political left and right wings where the right wing is conservative and wants to do the right thing and preserve morality and normalcy while the left wing is all about forgetting the rules and following its own free will as per what gives it pleasure! The right wing always stands in confrontation with the left and there's no reconciliation possible because of the different nature of the things they stand for. Likewise, the prophetic symbol represents those who stand on the right facing to the left, confronting the left, immoral and ungodly side.

Of out divided inner spiritual condition, the right side facing the left is what carries God's nature and that's what's called by God back to Him. As long as one is a human and lives without Christ, one stays divided inside. Christ reconciles the two sides and makes it one.

The Numbering Scheme

The page number pertaining to the Notebook is written with a capital P, while an individual page in the Word or pdf files is written with a small p, but when writing an individual page number which contains all info about that Page - the Page No., the total number of page in that Page and the page of the Page in question - the page is written with a capital P, with a space separating the number of pages from the individual page number. For instance: page 4 of Page 4 which has 10 pages in total would be written as Page 4:10 4, or page 7 of Page 6 with 9 pages in total would be written as Page 6:9 7.

Page 539.

20 September 2023
03:38

I wanted to lay without doing anything for a while as my head was heavy. I wasn't falling asleep either because of my head but had these revelations while resting:

- KA visions: A naked KA comes at me as we start making out voraciously while standing with me pinned against the wall being fully dressed in my clothes from the time of vision, after which he changes to Ayushman K and says: Itna pyaar kyu kiya! Itna pyaar kyu kiya! The vision is followed by the side-view of me dressed in my black shirt with a white alphabetical print, abruptly getting on top of KA as I slap his face hard in a row while having intercourse below! The follow-up vision has us kissing hard as I pull his shoulders to me.
- The scene changes to me kissing Glory hard in his look from the Dusty man and the fairy, in which the muscular him wore a sleeveless grey top with an inverted cap on top.
- A short-heighted Ayushman Khuranna dressed in a checkered red and white shirt over pants rides a bicycle in a dark background holding an orange Volleyball with black basketball stripes which he abruptly throws at the viewer.
- A man dressed in a loose t-shirt and shorts attire, intricately printed in yellow and black, stands leaning against the balcony wall in the common corridor as I observe him. The vision then shifts to the right and in front of him revealed to be present Chaaru bent low holding a blue bucket carrying phenyl which she immediately she throws towards the viewer!
- The side-view of Jesus with white wings and dressed in full white robes holding a lady close in front of Him with her dressed in a long and fitted white bridal gown, where the lady too has white wings, as seen from ground level as He is trying to move upwards with her in the night dark blue Sky to a narrow path lit in bright white visible above in the sky above them, but a black KA with a translucent boundary lying on the ground is holding His foot from below.
- A lady in white dances with Jesus in the center of the room in a close duet.
- The vision then changes to a dusky muscular, naked, and bald demonic being with two beige bat-like wings at the back present in place of Jesus with the lady in white now sitting on the floor - this time with her head bent low. You see, the visions show how Jesus loves His bride and treats her with love and respect, but the demonic unholy being wants the woman to be in a state of inferior subjugation to him.
- A hand holding an upside-down metallic sword with its tip on the ground with the sword carrying an artistic wavy design. As the vision zooms out, the person stands up and is revealed to be a half-naked, clean-shaven, and short-haired SRK in his spiritual dualistic form with two wings spread horizontally behind him. The vision zooms out far enough from him and his right side is seen to be his angelic self with a white wing at the back, while the left side is his demonic counterpart with a black wing at the back. He is wearing a metallic ornamental armor on his chest which doesn't cover him much but serves to give him an artistic look. As he stood up, the sword was no longer touching the ground but was now held by him firmly as it he looked at the viewer with a readiness to fight.
- As I complete writing these visions in the evening of this day, I see: My dad comes walking in through the door as he grabs me by my hair and take me out saying: Kya kar rhi hai yha pe!? Kya kar rhi hai yha pe!?

- A short-heighted RK in a checkered red and white shirt rides a bicycle towards the viewer wearing a specs as he is counting cash in his hands with a content and happy expression which he then throws to the right apathetically without even looking at it, followed by him now writing things seriously in a diary while still riding the bicycle. (Well, to know that God blessed me with my expenses does make me grateful and happy but it's not really cash or money that I really care about. What makes me happy is that I have enough for the month which God has provided after which I put it aside! It's very much like giving thanks to God before a meal or any other thing one feels grateful for.)
- The upper half of HRX dressed in a printed open orange shirt which has moved completely to the sides revealing his beige, muscular, and clean upper half as he hands out a long-stemmed red rose to a person to the right who is not shown in the vision.
- The face of Ajay Devgan in a dark background wearing a black face mask covering his lower face looks at the viewer. The face then changes to that of a beige Death Conqueror.
- A clean-shaven Siddharth Malhotra (from Marjaawaan) dressed in a white tunic-set moves in a circle with his bride in heavy ethnic red in the set-up of a Hindu wedding. He then looks at the viewer and anoints her forehead with a vertical red tika.
- A desperate clean-shaven KA in a white tunic set stands in the centre of my room as he says: Pyaar kisko chahiye!? Mujhe to TU chahiye! After which he attacks me!
- Phir Teri Kahani Yaad Ayi actor Rahul Roy in a white tunic set with a red tika on his forehead moves in a circle with no one else visible in the vision but the setting can be discerned to be that of a celebratory event.
- Dushman completely wrapped in multiple layers of a white cloth giving him the look of a cylinder lies on the ground on his left side as he says with a serious countenance: Seekh gayi.. Seekh gayi..
- A tiny animated Ganesh with a naked upper half and a Dhoti on the lower half stands on the ground in an open space as he cutely throws a stone at a person lying down.
- The upper half of Bollywood celebrity Akshay Kumar dressed in a light brown suit over a white shirt, carrying overgrown ruffled hair with his right eye covered with a white bandage, points a gun to the right as he stands facing to the right.
- In the real physical realm, when I am lying on my left side with my right arm covering my face, I see Keanu Reaves come walking from the open side of the room, lift my arm from my cheek up and drop a kiss.
- Jesus walks down mud stairs present in a forest with the view of a short fountain behind Him with both sides of the path covered with bushes as a lady stands with her back stuck to a thorny thick wall of plants extending further along the left side of the path. Jesus walks upto that lady, who is moving back and forth trying to free herself from the bush, and untucks the back of her dress from the thorny green wall.

Past Revelation

I was lying resting on bed on my back when I saw:

Jesus above me dressed in full multilayered white robes with just His vertically erected genitalia protruding out as He vertically oscillated above me. It was a very unusual revelation to have at first, but it shows the level of intimacy I have with Him now. Derek Prince said in one of his videos that the act of deep worhsip and communion with God/Holy Spirit was in a way equivalent of having intercourse with Him because we the church are His bride and He is the head of the body of Christ.

Going deep into prayer is very much like going deeper into intimacy with one's spouse. That's why it's compared to the act of intercourse between a husband and a wife.

The Guy sings:
Tumse shuru.. Tumpe fana..
Hai sufiyana.. ye dastaan..
Mein karwaan… Manzil ho tum..
Jaata jahan par har raasta..

Gerua - Shah Rukh Khan | Kajol | Dilwale | Pritam | SRK Kajol Official New Song Video 2015

"Kartika tu pit jayegi mujhse!"

The Guy says:
Jaldi karo Kartika. Jaldi karo.
Vo tumhari kitaab mita dega!

The above has been repeating in my Spirit for the past few days!

5:43
Visions while being half-asleep:

- An animated beige lioness sitting in a straight posture on a stool in front of a counter in a room lit in a dim-yellow light with the sight of another animal walking away on its foot away from the lioness and somethings placed on the counter.
- Aamir Khan eats a chicken's leg piece with an animalistic expression, followed by
- Him now having completed eating the leg piece as he is chewing on the bone now.

I was wondering earlier during the night about the previous vision of a metallic skeleton with a car's red light placed in the middle of its forehead, and I hadn't really understood its meaning. But now I am questioning if the skeleton even represented me or someone else or if it represented an emergency at the middle of the forehead of a person!?

G-20, The Digital Currency, The One World Order, The Mark of The Beast and Revelation 13

This Confirms It!! It's All Getting SET UP Folks!!!

Revelation 13 (NIV)

15 The second beast was given power to give breath to the image of the first beast, so that the image could speak and cause all who refused to worship the image to be killed. 16 It also forced all people, great and small, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark on their right hands or on their foreheads, 17 so that they could not buy or sell unless they had the mark, which is the name of the beast or the number of its name.

18 This calls for wisdom. Let the person who has insight calculate the number of the beast, for it is the number of a man.[e] That number is 666.

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=revelation%2013&version=NIV>

Revelation 14 (NIV)

9 A third angel followed them and said in a loud voice: "If anyone worships the beast and its image and receives its mark on their forehead or on their hand, 10 they, too, will drink the wine of God's fury, which has been poured full strength into the cup of his wrath. They will be tormented with burning sulfur in the presence of the holy angels and of the Lamb. 11 And the smoke of their torment will rise for ever and ever. There will be no rest day or night for those who worship the beast and its image, or for anyone who receives the mark of its name." 12 This calls for patient endurance on the part of the people of God who keep his commands and remain faithful to Jesus.

13 Then I heard a voice from heaven say, "Write this: Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from now on."

"Yes," says the Spirit, "they will rest from their labor, for their deeds will follow them."

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Revelation%2014&version=NIV>

Neo Kisses Persephone

This scene from the movie The Matrix Reloaded had been highlighted to me since the past few hours, in which Neo kisses Persephone but thinks of his intimate time spent with Trinity in Zion in his mind.

I keep hearing sounds of a guy from above my ceiling whom I can see is making them intentionally and it annoyed me so much so once that I shouted loudly. I went to the room of the girl to talk to her about something once, and to tell her about her clothes wetting in the rain and I thought this mystery fellow would also be revealed, but the girl didn't open the door. And it's not just from above my room, I keep hearing voices from all directions which makes me think what an ungodly place it is! And those voices aren't heard in my Spirit but in real physical space. Things were so pure back in my hometown. My generation there was fully culturally modern but carried the moral principles at the same time. I never perceived things in the way that I am currently doing because I had a pure mindset of one-to-one interaction instead of acting out action at a distance while being in hiding.

I realized yesterday how the place needed more honing.

18:31

Dream (Morning):

I stand at the T-point of Dinesh Store perpendicularly facing the street that goes parallel to its other side entrance as RS and DP pass me by to the left on a scooter, with a smiling DP sitting behind him and having her hair tied at the back. It looks like it's evening. They stop at the end of the road to the left of the Dinesh Store, with Dinesh store to their left and a row of houses to their right. After they stop, DP gets down from the scooty, gives a huge teethfull smile to RS and goes into the narrow street to the right of the scooty. She looks shorter than RS in this dream, and has a round face with a prominent upper jaw that shows itself up as smiles. Though she's left, RS keeps standing at that spot. I didn't assume straightaway that he was RS. As he stood there facing in my direction, I kept looking at him for a good while. I observed his face cut, then his beard and neck-length hair. He looked dusky. And then I noticed his protruding upper jaw which looked like mine and looked a bit darker than the rest of his face. After observing him for a while as he stood facing right in my direction, I decided to walk to him and talk. By that time, another girl had come and stood beside him. I walked to him and we talked for a while, after which he offered that we have tea together. We then walked to the left of the street to a shop and ordered tea. He now looked different as his facial features were now different and he carried a vertically narrow moustache instead of the light stubble. Tea was served to us in white cups with golden outlines and we started having it. We decided to walk while having tea. So the three of us left together to the left of the shop and walked into a space that extended into a wide open ground with open stairs coming down from the left of the last building adjoining it. As we pass by the stairs to my left, I see the dark figure of a person (for it's night now) at the top slowly getting down as (s)he looks below at us. It seems that that person is trying to tell me something though (s)he doesn't say anything. I still have the cup of tea in my hand and have only had a few sips by far. The ground is lit in yellow light with a few meters further ahead of the last visible building to its left, and then extends into a dark zone where nothing can be seen. As we move, the guy who has been walking in the centre of the two of us women, holds my upper arm with an unusually tight grip which makes me wary of him, first - because it's the first time that I'm interacting him, and second - the zone ahead is completely dark where he is leading us to. I tell him that I don't want to accompany him in that dark zone of the huge ground as we neared the end of the lit area. He quickly releases my arm and gestures with a hand to me to go. As I turn back, I look at the other girl who is walking with him on the other side without any apprehensions about the place she is walking into. She continues walking unaffectedly and doesn't seem to notice that I am leaving. I then turn back fully and walk away from the mystery creepy zone.

'Us raat ne likhi ye kahani..': repeats several times in the spirit during the day.
Ref: Sun liya paani ne yeshu ki vaani.

While cleaning the room, I repeatedly hear in my Spirit: Pagal ho gya! Pagal ho gya! in the voice of the immoral middle man accompanied with a view of him dressed in a skyblue tshirt.

- A zoomed-in view of my red and white painted nails below one of which was present a lifted face of a bearded Keanu with neck-length straight hair and closed eyes as red and white flowers slid down from my nail on his face.
- A half-empty packet of Amul toned milk with its neck tied with a rubber band placed on the kitchen slab with 'Aakhiri Jutti' written on it in sky blue Hindi in the same print as its packet.

19:10
Vision (past 10 minutes): Dushman looks at the viewer with a pathetic expression carrying the usual vicious base of his character as he says: Tujhe kaise btau! Tujhe kaise btau! Followed by the view of his erected elephant trunk at which he points and says with the same expression: Ye dekh! Ye dekh!

20:47
Vision (past two hours): Dahi Golgappas get highlighted to me. I wasn't thinking of having anything after I've had milk a few hours back as I didn't want to get used to eating regularly again and wanted to slip back into my previous state of fasting/low-calorie intake. So, I ignored the nudge for I thought it may be my own thought. But as I was completing typing out revelations above lying on my bed, I saw the faces of Jesus to my right hurling one Dahi Golgappa into my mouth after another. So, I went out to buy the same and when I didn't find the nearest Chaat Vendor, I had to go to the Shyaam Chaat Bhandar.

"Kartika, TU randi nahi hai!" "Khud ko randi mat samajhna." It repeats in my Spirit on my way to buy the Dahi Golgappas.

Heard in the Spirit (yesterday): Kartika tum de rhi ho, mein le raha hu.

But I am only doing my daily chores and am behaving in normal ways. This way they can think anything about anything with a perverted mind, while a holy mind won't or would avoid to think in a perverted manner about a thing which actually is perverted.

Heard in the Spirit (today): "Karika tum de rhi ho. Hum le rhe hai."
It repeats 3-5 times during the day at different occasions. I heard it even when I was on the roof strolling to relax after washing clothes. The minds of the people are inherently wicked and of a low-quality which they cover up with an affected layer of good behavior like one puts make up to hide facial imperfections!

After a while of having Dahi Golgappas, I felt a nudge to listen to Kite Flyer's Hill by Eddie Reader as its chorus 'Where are you now' played in my spirit. After I listened to it, I noticed a worship song in the list of videos to the right and I liked that particular song a bit more than others so thought of playing it. As it played and I lay on bed singing along with it, I saw:

- KA in a black fitted t-shirt standing in the centre of the room pulls me in a duet with extended arms as I stand in front of him. After I have this vision, I get a nudge to worship with raised arms on the floor. I follow the nudge, place my laptop on the table in front with the worship songs playing and then have the following revelations.
- Jesus stands to the left in front of me looking at me with a loving expression.
- He reaches down His huge palm from above and covers the top of my head with it, following which His hand lifts up my face like a lid from the level of my neck, being attached to it at just one side, revealing my bloody insides of the neck after which His huge tongue came down and licked the inside once. It reminded me of the pain I had felt on one side of my neck this morning after which I felt a downward flow. Later, it seemed to me that he was revealing my condition to me, my worsening or potential condition if the drones kept tearing my tissue apart internally. I don’t know if they can be short-circuited resulting in a blast, if it's possible with those tiny drones. But then how are they able to cause internal damage - is it just by hitting the surface - I don't know. I only feel the result of the damage, that too for a while after which it subsides and I become normal.

I also felt hits behind my eye around the top of the corners. They hit as they wish. They're waiting for me to subjugate to them and be a slave to their master devil for I know that's how they wish to exercise control for the entire duration of life if I happen to give in to them. They will always have this control of hitting me with those drones and it would them a sense of complete control and power over me. The evil wicked one was also making the point that I should make basic or less complex decisions and not think much for my brain was in their hands and they could do whatever they wanted with it. How sick of a mentality - comes directly from the devil! They are working every moment to worsen my condition. Why would I give in to such a person who is trying to be the God of someone else's life by trying to control it fully when he exhibits the character traits of the devil? He indeed possesses a demented sense of self. His false self is too elevated in his eyes making it seem to him that people should bow down to his cheap evil tactics or fulfil his desires. This way he will always have the upper hand in possessing control over another person through wicked ways. Why give in at the first instance itself!?

Additionally, this morning while still being asleep, I felt something burst in the tissue space around my right shoulder leading to an internal outward pressure that I felt in the surrounding area. It felt like a flow, but not streamlined and contained within an area instead.
I was worshipping with the palms of both of my hands facing upwards with raised forearms when I saw:

- Two outstretched green raptor hands above my palms about to place themselves on top of them, following which I immediately remove my hands from those positions while moving them around as if to rid them of the influence of the raptor hands that hadn't even touched my palms but were about to as they floated above. I brought my hands down to the sides for a while.

  After listening to a few worship songs and praying with raised arms, I noticed an instrumental worship video in the list and it had the subtitle of Daily Soaking. This is something we are supposed to do every day as we sit or lie down deep in worship and soak ourselves in His Spirit which gets poured on us during the worship time. Worshipping and spending time with God level you spiritually up and you witness more of the gifts of the spirit. I got to know about this technique from Sis Adele first as she shared how during her initial days of progressing in the Lord, she would put an instrumental worship song on play and lie down on the floor to maintain a lowly level while waiting to hear from Him. She also shared in that video that one wasn't to give up if one didn't hear anything within the first 5-10 minutes. She spent hours of such time in her initial walk. And this is also how I've seen things progress with me. Earlier back in 2020, I only had a few visions and a few dream revelations after I came to the Lord which then gradually increased, and now the revelations consume all of my time. So, it's a process of getting closer to the Lord and it takes time to build that relationship with Him through reading His word and spending time with Him in prayer and worship. Though His nature stays the same and He has loved us before we loved Him, we need to work on our relationship with Him so that our love for Him can be reflected in a similar way He reflects His love for us, and it is written in the Word that God rewards those who seek Him with all their hearts. In my earlier phase of my walk with Him, I was more into reading His word and I didn't get to spend silent or idle time with Him. I had to rush through the Bible. Even with all my efforts, I have only been able to read New Testament fully and the first three books of the Old Testament though I know some things scattered in the parts I haven't read exclusively as a part of reading that book. Later on, I didn't find time to read the word as I had to write what was highlighted to me. And now I receive a lot of it. So, with me, this is how it turned out. With someone else, the process may be quicker or slower depending on mainly their heart-state towards the Lord. I haven't even read the Bible fully yet, but He still fills me with His Holy Spirit which one receives by one's belief in Jesus and not by a reading of the Word done in unbelief. I also watched a lot of teaching videos in the initial phases from different sources on YouTube, especially Derek Prince who had a doctorate in Philosophy before He became a full-time evangelist as was His calling. So, the understanding and messages that He shares of the Word are deep, and both theoretically and practically meticulous.

  I thought of playing that instrumental worship song that had been highlighted to me. It went by the title of Daily Soaking. We have to spend time being soaked in the Spirit every day though we may already be wet with it. Wetting and soaking are two different things. We need to spend time being soaked in the Spirit of God, and it's often done best when one isn't distracted by words but worships Him through plain soothing music. After I played the instrumental, I lay on bed to rest and experience the soaking. I then had these revelations.
- RS with a stubble and straight neck-length hair dressed in what looks like a royal purple attire embroidered in gold color with a wide V-shaped neck sits on the floor along the edges of a wall with some other people, as he holds a small conical glass (perhaps carrying wine) in his hand, with artistic embossings on the thick metallic surface, and is calling others to join him. It seems like a celebratory communion.

- Jesus stands in the centre of a room lit in golden light, being dressed in his usual attire of a full-length white tunic with a red drape on top - but He has the stubbled face of RS with neck-length wavy hair, as He looks at the viewer and says: Ayushman Bhava.
- 'Mein barbaad ho gaya. Mein barbaad ho gaya.'
- A naked Glory swims relaxedly underwater.
  The worship video had the thumbnail of a rectangular shape with the image of a water body, imposed on top of another image of the same water body - which would represent the act of us, being filled with the Spirit, soaking into a greater source of the Holy Spirit.
- Another vision of RS as Jesus in red and white, this time closer to my bed as He stands to my left and says looking down at me: Ayushman Bhava.
- KA opens with both hands my vagina and looks inside.
- He then starts sucking it with his lower lip inside and outer lip outside the tube followed by his lips turning into an elongated but narrower than usual jaw of a crocodile which extends further inwards and outwards.
- KA in a fitting black shirt hugs me intimately as I lay on bed and we kiss passionately rolling sideways.
- I tightly hug a stubbled KA who is dressed in a winter attire of a brown fluffed jacket over a blue denim, as we lie down on a green open ground and roll sideways while hugging each other intimately. There's nothing else in sight in the grass vision and we continue to relish our time together in what gives the feeling of the Garden of Eden.
- Sis Bia with her curly open hair stands facing to the right in a dark background as she looks at the viewer and says in Hindi: Tune mujhse pyaar kiya! ('You loved me truly.')
- Dushman dressed in a white tunic puts a tika on his forehead, looks at the viewer and says: Jai Bhawani in a serious tone!
- KA puts a lot of tiny diamonds held within a metallic scoop used to transfer grains to a measuring vessel into my vagina at once which is stretched with one hand, while being dressed in a brown suit over a white shirt. He keeps repeating the act to an extent that tiny diamonds start coming out of my open mouth accompanied with the vision of me sitting straight with a lifted head. It reminds me of the previous vision of an elongated hand with a huge light green diamond resting on it and this thought that was put in my head a few days back by the Holy Spirit: his semen is diamond. It's not that I like diamonds as an object, but rather the vision represents the value of his semen because it is a doorway to trap angels from heaven into the earth system.
  Do you know how painful it is to have these revelations knowing that I would not have those people as an active part of my life on Earth but that they are promised for heaven!? Well, it shouldn't be painful because we are called to live with a heavenly mindset and not an earthly one. It is written: whoever is married, let them live as if he is not married, whoever has a wife or husband, live as if that person doesn't has that partner, whoever has a family, live as if they have no family. It doesn't mean to not love those people for we are called to love them like Christ has loved us which he displayed on the Cross. But what it means is that we are not to attach ourselves to our earthly lives to a great extent and that we should live as heavenly citizens temporarily residing on Earth with the Holy Spirit to guide us here in this place.

They have to work to find a balance as they live their worldly lives but also know in their hearts that this place is not their home and that their citizenship is in heaven.

Revelations during another slot of brief resting:

- The vision is contained in a rectangular frame. In the background of a room with the wall at the back entirely consisting of glass panes through which is visible the open view of the blue sky, with a grey rectangular sofa resting against the glass wall in the centre of the wall along with a few other things lying beside it, KA stands dressed in a white t-shirt over blue jeans and throws white balls of crumpled paper at the viewer as he moves sideways slowly. The vision continues for a while after which KA changes to Glory dressed in the same attire performing the same act, followed by Glory changing to Death Conqueror dressed and doing the same.

As I lay on bed being tired and exhausted, motionless, and at time during such times I feel as if death may befall me, I see:

- KA in his attire of a black fitting t-shirt over a black trouser lies beside me on his side facing me, with his right hand softly placed on my other (left) cheek as he says: Marna nahi hai… Marna nahi hai.. It repeats a few times.
- Salman Khan in a Police uniform talks to a group of other men sitting behind a lit door in a dark background with half of his body peeking out of it as he mentions Punjab followed by him now sitting on the ground with vertically folded knees in the dark with a stone in his hand with which he is lightly hitting the ground followed by him now making a heart shape on it with his palms by moving them on the ground.
- A tiny beige Vodafone puppy (pug) comes running towards the viewer inside a home followed by the view of him being held in air in the hands of KA in a black t-shirt as the tiny puppy licks his cheeks.
- The right, dusky and thick wrist of a person wearing a beaded wooden bracelet which turns out to be that of Dushman as the vision expands and his muscular upper arm is revealed for he stands sideways dressed in half-naked saffron Hindu priestly clothes.

Vision (Before falling asleep): The upper half of Swami Paramhansa Yogananda fully wrapped in saffron clothes with long wavy hair open at the back as he looks at the viewer.

Well, I do not indulge in occultic practices which Yogis do and often gain supernatural abilities through their encounter with demonic beings invisible in the physical realm. The channel faulk600 has some videos that show how invisible demons allow wizard, witches, and others in the occult to perform miraculous acts. It shows demons carrying a person in the air making it look like he is levitating by his own gained spiritual power when he is not. It's not in a man's capacity to be like God in his power. But a man only receives the power that's given to Him by the Spirit of God if it resides inside Him for unbelievers don't get to taste this gift of God on Earth - the gift of the Holy Spirit of Christ.

Vision (past 24 hours): The vision of an open bloodied centre of my forehead followed by a nail being hit at that spot resulting in that look. The top view of my naked upper body with an open bloody centre of the forehead, bloody place of the heart that too has been nailed, and bloody belly that has been severely hurt.

Page 540.

21 September 2023
11:35

Before I start writing the revelations of the day beginning from the morning dream that I woke up from, let me share this amusing fun-filled experience I had while watching the Take Me To Church dance video by Sergei Polunin.

I was watching him dance his elegant and graceful dance moves, the flips, rotations and graceful jumps, and I was doing it intermittently on repeat, when I heard in my Spirit: My Love.. My Love.. , said quietly by a guy, and it repeated a few times as I continued watching and enjoying the dance. As I was still immersed in the performance, after a while I heard: Kartika tu bahut pitegei! Kartika tu bahut pitegi!

Dream (Morning):
In this dream, I am around my parental family's members. When I am at home, my neighbor Kanta who stays upstairs on the 9th floor comes to ask something. I help out my mom with household chores in the dream. My youngest brother Divyanshu is there as well and as usual, he's causing problems with his unnecessary talk which creates an environment of tension. I seem to be worried about my middle brother Himanshu in this dream as I know that my dad and youngest brother exhibit psychopathic behavior. We receive a square packet of about dimension 1m, it opens up on the group and inside it are found smaller transparent square packets with golden pieces of flesh which makes me think that Divyanshu must be happy now for he likes to eat non-veg quite often. But the packet didn't seem to be carrying normal chicken pieces of flesh but thick pieces of some other being it seemed. I remember seeing a packet with a golden meat piece resembling the shape of a hand as multiple thick sticks protruded out of a flat base. My mom looks surprised, but my youngest brother doesn't seem to be affected much as he stands beside it dressed in a long cotton tunic set with a bald head with tiny spiky hair.

As I was writing the last few lines, I heard: I'm sorry.. Kartika, I am sorry.. I am sorry.. It repeated for a while.

Dream Continued: I find myself sitting with my middle brother Himanshu, youngest brother Divyanshu, and my dad at the back of a vehicle with two rows of seats facing each other with the car lit with yellow light. Divyanshu and my dad are sitting together at the back seat while Himanshu and I sitting on the seat facing them. Divyanshu lightly flicks the end of a cigarette he was having in the space between the seat's end and the door after which he gets down from the vehicle. I too get from the vehicle and want Himanshu to get down quickly for I don't know how my dad was going to behave with him as his behavior seems to be hostile towards him. So I waited near the door in case my dad behaved rashly. And my intuition turned out to be correct. My dad tightly held the forearms of my middle brother Himanshu and brought them together as if he was going to twist them and hurt him as he said mean things to him with an angry expression. I tried to get his hands off him and was successful in only getting rid of a small part of his grip. Luckily, Himanshu didn't face much harm in that part. The next thing I saw was me having him sit in front of me on a stool as I asked him questions about how Dad behaved with him when he was living with him in Chandigarh. He was dressed formally in a maroon full-sleeved shirt tucked inside black pants. He told me that he kept sitting but dad didn't let him turn on the fan. He told me this with a miserable countenance. I asked him again, "Pankha nhi chalane dete?" And he said, "Nahi." Why was my dad exercising this meanness with Himanshu? I then asked what he used to do back at the place. He said he had to fetch things to the teachers teaching in classrooms and nothing much, which again makes me angry to some extent because why should he, who has a degree from IIT and who can find much better jobs, waste his time in this foolish work of fetching things which would also lead to him not putting to use what he learned, and would degrade him mentally. He should do a job that suits him well and not this stupid job of fetching things!

Writing this reminded me of what I had seen once in the CCTV camera when my dad was still sharing the link with us. I had seen him mopping the kitchen's floor with his foot and as he did so, he was also wiping his eyes a bit!? Now it's not that he shouldn't do physical work, but his reaction told me that his brain was just not ready to do what someone else would do without hesitation, or perhaps he had other things going in mind where he was thinking how he ended up in this position, because while he was living alone in Delhi during his high school, he was able to manage things well while he attended school and coaching at the same time and had to wash his clothes by himself when mom wasn't there! He fell from his high place because of the immoral or ungodly company of friends. He was a hardworking and smart person. Anyway. He has recovered a lot now.

Dream Continued: He also tells me that he does some basic things in the laptop related to school which seems fine to me. But then I also know that he could do much better jobs as there was a time when his smartness, seriousness, and righteousness reflected on his face and the way he carried himself. We had this little interaction at a place that was supposedly not our home or where the rest of the people were. After this brief chat, we begin to move towards home together, and as I find ourselves approaching it, I warn him to be wary of dad because of the dream in which I saw a person's belly ripped open and rotting on a bed as my dad entered in and out of what looked like his clinic. I can see that he has heard me well. Immediately afterwards we reach the entrance to our home which supposedly lies above a set of stairs - a door above a few stairs. I ring the bell or perhaps knock when my dad opens the door and behaves with hostility and doesn't let us in but shuts the door. I can't seem to reason why is he exhibiting such behavior with us. He was already crossed with Himanshu, but now he is being rude to me as well. We move to the right to perhaps another entrance of the home where someone else could let us in.

He was always more righteous than Divyanshu who didn't think much before doing what was blatantly wrong! He was the kind of person who would withdraw from an ungodly situation if the other person seemed to go there. But Divyanshu was the opposite. He could hide his degraded sense of morality well while committing highly immoral acts behind our backs. For instance, I once caught him uploading obscene videos of women on YouTube that he had downloaded from other sources, and then he received a good beating from me. We went into a serious fight and I was too angry on him! He said his intention was not to upload obscene videos of women but to make money through his YT channel. But none of the three of us besides him felt like we needed to work a job during our school time to earn extra money for all our needs were met by our parents. Why did he choose to do that immoral thing!? And then once he was making gaming DVDs to sell. He always got these ideas which seemed too stupid to us, ideas that I and Himanshu wouldn't even think of as we didn't need to resort to those methods and we were content with what he had and focused on academics, while Divyanshu had the mind of a businessman, and then he scored very low marks during his school time and even his company wasn't too good either. Though Death Conqueror may be intellectually much better than Divyanshu, but His moral score can be seen to be too low. Now it makes some sense why God compared Death Conqueror to my youngest brother Divyanshu because they're quite similar in their thought patterns! Divyanshu has improved now and he is no longer who he used to be during his school time. Himanshu was a straightforward person. He only began to lie when he got into drugs and that too because he became addicted to them and loaned money from here and there to feed his addiction.

I think the main highlights of this dream are the packets of golden flesh pieces of perhaps a person, and how my youngest brother makes the corners dirty and has his own set of bad habits, and how my middle brother Himanshu is a more righteous person than Divyanshu, and he prefers to be quiet even when someone is hurting him, like when my dad was twisting his arms but he didn't seem to be resisting or he perhaps couldn't. He is calm and composed.

As I kept lying on the bed feeling fatigued unable to open eyes and get up from the bed, as I have been feeling for many months as my situation worsened, I heard a guy ask in my Spirit: Ho Gaya!? This made me think about the kind of thoughts people harbor about me lying on the bed, when I feel fatigued for real!

Morning Visions post waking up:

- The face of Dushman with a light parrot green turban on his head as he looks at the viewer.
- A bald short-heighted guy with tiny spiky hair and a round face, and with entirely black eyes, as he was demon possessed, with sharp vampire-like canines with the raw flesh from the forearm of a naked beige lady lying on the floor as he looks above at the viewer. A blurred view of only half of the left-side of the body of the lady is shown in the vision as the demon-possessed guy looks up at the viewer showing his protruding vampiric canines and shiny black demon-possessed guttery eyes.
- The back-view of a chubby man with a heavy ass standing at the left side of the dept's corridor leaning against the half wall, being dressed in a short, fitting white t-shirt over a black fitting jeans which looks too tight on him, as he changes his position a bit to feel comfortable followed by turning his head to the left making the prophetic symbol.
- The face of KA talking in a public event answering some questions. He has dry, frizzy, and undone hair in this vision as he cleans the corner of his eye while looking tired and exhausted.

When I sit with closed eyes to commune with God in His presence, I hear: Kartika mujhe pta hai tum kya kar rahi ho! Mujhe pta hai tum kya kar rhi ho! And it kept repeating for a while.

God created the world for His own Glory (pleasure). The video below is so good and it explains a man's relationship with God and the reason of his creation by God. The scene from the video that had Adam and Eve dressed in their Glory clothes and not physical ones as they danced in the garden together expressing their love for each other reminded me of the vision with KA in an open grassy park that I had last night, and later it reminded me of my past dream of sitting in a park with Glory.

I was looking for a video in the channel's list of videos, a video that explained how demons make it look like the human was performing a miracle out of his own power, and how the children of God were filled with the Spirit of God that resided inside them, and this video caught my attention because of its name and the thumbnail which made me want to look further for what it had to say about Glory and Adam and Eve in the garden.

GLORY

A Guy says: Kartikey tu bahut pitegi!

'Kartika tu jhutti nahi hai!' 'Tu jhutti nahi hai!'

Who is Dushman - the Enemy?

Your Enemy!

Visions when I lay down to rest in the afternoon:

- A thumb inserts itself one-third into a red cloth ring to the right stretched out from a bigger cloth, the ring being shown to be present in air beside my bed in the room.
- After a while, I see the corner view of my table of its end away from the wall but nearer to my bed as it has begun to shake at its place like something does during an earthquake.
- The naked muscular upper half of KA as he is pulling apart his chest in the middle trying to open it leading to a few thin layers of his skin peeling off sideways. I don't know why he is doing this? But this vision repeated several times during this resting slot.
- A distant vision of the upper half of person hooded in black in a dark blue background, holding a sickle in his hand. Nothing of the person's features is visible but just a blackness inside his hood. This particular vision of this person with a sickle held in his hand with a vertically raised forearm kept being highlighted to me several times until later. Among all the visions, this one repeated itself several times.
- SRK with a thin red cloth tied slightly above the middle of his forehead as he looks at the viewer.
- The upper half of Ranbir Kapoor in a light blue shirt checkered in medium-sized boxes with thin red & white stripes, to my right as he bends a bit nearer to me in an investigating manner and exclaims: Mar gayi kya!?
- The face of Udita Goswami lying on the bed with closed eyes and open hair as she moves it with a slightly tense expression emulating mine.
- John Abraham gets flashed in the vision space.
- Followed by the vision of a naked him diving right side up inside a clear water body as seen from a parallel distance below the water body with a very slim woman in front of him inside the water as she too has just dropped herself in, dressed in a printed bikini set. The vision then moves about a bit and then to a position that reveals the very wide pelvis at the back of the woman following which they move towards each other and hug and kiss.
- And as I wrote the above vision(s), I heard the lady sing: Maar dala.. Maar dala.. and this part of a previous dream in which my earthly dad told me angrily that he had special kind of ashes and other material bought to kill me by burning me up has also been highlighted to me several times.
- Death Conqueror dressed in a white tunic set stands behind looking at me as he moves to the left, The vision repeats a few times.
- The upper half of a metallic guy behind me lying on the bed as it moves vertically down towards me and up away from me in an oscillating manner.

- I hear someone calling me Randi, perhaps I saw Dushman calling me so, but the vision is followed by the naked upper half of Glory until his throat as he looks smiling at me and says: Randi nhi hai.. bahut sunder hai..
- Jesus with an erected genitalia trunk resting against His body.
- Turns out to be Glory with wavy hair in multi-layered white clothes.
- The parallel view of the naked upper half of Glory lying on his front on a bed as seen at a distance from his face as he holds a long nail in one of his hands and a hammer in another which he is about to insert into a woman's vagina in front of his face. The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Visions while sitting with closed eyes:

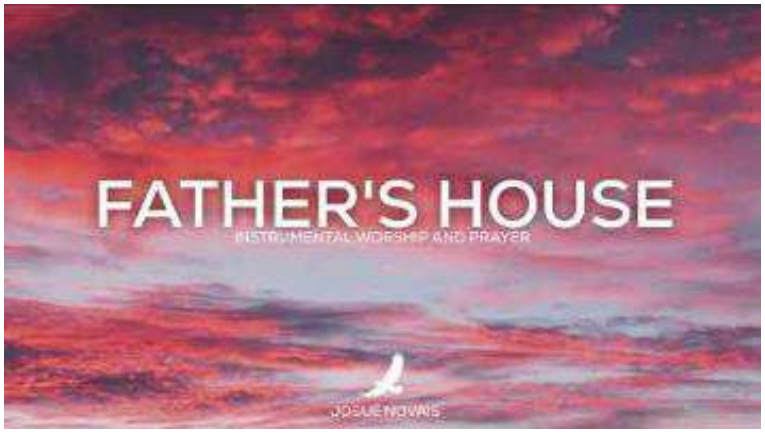
- RK dressed in a light blue shirt tucked inside pants on a white horse trying to evade a dragon crocodile in the ocean who almost has them in his huge mouth from behind them, but then RK gains momentum and comes out of the water successfully with him changing to the owner Akshay of the firm Weaving Thoughts I worked as a part-time content writer for during my last MSc months.
- A blast happens inside my head near one of my ears and a bit of blood fills the hole. Another blast happens behind one of my eyes making it pop out by a great extent. I think writing the plans of the enemy beforehand as they devise them helps in making the point that their thoughts are not hidden from God who is a just God and not a friend or supporter of the wicked! Telling someone's thoughts to them beforehand makes the point that it's God who is in control.
- Aditya (from Jajantaram Mamantram) standing against the roof's wall facing to the left with his hands resting on the top of the wall as he silently looks ahead in the far distance.

Earlier during the day, I felt a similar feeling of inner pinches inside the flesh of my left forearm which reminded me of the vision I had received earlier in the morning. The demonic being was stretching the strands of raw tissue held in his mouth out of the lady's forearm as he chewed on it looking upwards. That's a perfect description of the act.

The Guy sings:
Kitaabein bahut si padhi hongi tumne
Magar koi chehra kya tumne padha hai..

Father's House

PROPHETIC WORSHIP // FATHER'S HOUSE // 4 HOURS INSTRUMENTAL // JOHN 14:1-3



Recall: The Humanoid dream with the room with a door with two white curtains with some space left at the top as mild red light could be seen through the space between, above and the sides of the curtains. And I knew in that dream that my dad stayed inside that space and I found it quiet whenever I looked at it from a distance. This room is that room where my heavenly dad lives.

'Kartika apni shakal dikhana! Kartika apni shakal dikhana!': said in a mocking tone! I've been hearing this intermittently for the past many days.

'Tu randi hai!?'

'Kartika bhool ke bhi khud ko randi mat kehna. Sab hasenge!'

'Tu randi hai to vo kon hai?'

'Kartika tu randi nahi hai. Kabhi khud ko randi mat kehna!'

I just wanted to take some time to thank the people whom God gave me revelations about for their loving attention and for understanding me as I wrote things about multiple people. I wrote them because God showed me. But then there are some now that have found a permanent place in my heart as an adorable person.

23:27

- AK comes riding a horse from the right in a woody forest background with trees visible all around as the vision is seen from a level parallel to the ground. He is dressed in a neck-high royal gold braided sky blue attire/uniform like that of the kind the prince usually wore in the movie Cinderella and also when he met her in the woods.
- The vision is followed by a tiny white rabbit superimposed on Ayushman, and running towards me holding a bunch of grass. It reminded me of the small bouquet covered in pink lying on a chair near the dispenser of my floor in my previous PG, A-10. I kept coming across it whenever I passed the space, and I thought some girl must have put it there. I don't feel like picking up things or don't get interested in checking out things randomly placed by others for their own straight or ulterior motives. So I didn't at all feel any nudge to pick that bouquet or take a look at it. It was just an object placed there by someone, but after half a day or so had passed, I saw a part of it lying in the dustbin and it was then that I got to know that it contained only grass, and then I saw a bunch of that grass lying on top of the huge rectangular UPS resting on the floor. I saw that it was out of place so I picked it up and put it in the dustbin.
- Ayushmann Khurrana, dressed in a gold braided red military uniform with a long fur dark brown hat on his head (long thick red suit tied vertically in the middle with golden horizontal lace-like strands), walks in an upright manner towards the viewer on the right side of the vision, in an open ground sparsely populated with the general public, as he vertically holds a long spear-like thing along one of his arms.
- SRK, dressed in a gold braided black military uniform, comes riding a black horse from the right and says: Tu randi nahi hai.

- The view of an eye covered with blood around it, and when the view zooms out a bit, the face of Jesus is revealed as He is struggling to breathe with blood filling His mouth from inside His body as He lays down on the ground nailed to His cross. His forehead carries a crown of thorns and, though briefly, appears in the center of His forehead an injury, a hole that makes his face look too bloody. It reminds me of the vision I had yesterday that showed the three bloodied spots, forehead, heart, and belly present on my naked upper half.
- SRK covers his forehead with his forearm covered with a metallic armour. He repeats the acts a few times.
- A tiny green snake stands in front of the viewer in a well-lit environment of white light with a lighter shade seen at its belly as it looks at the viewer and says in a thin child-like voice: Hi! I'm your friend!' followed by the vision changing to it wearing a jewelled golden crown on its head. Many more of such tiny green snakes appear beside the one at the centre with all of them wearing a jewelled golden crown. It made me think of the various forms the devil comes at you disguising itself as something desirable. Also, the devil always glorifies itself which is shown by him being represented as wearing a crown, as is also seen in the church built in the shape of a building of a snake wearing a crown present in the Vatican church.

Somewhere during the day:

- The front top-view of Dushman as he stands fully wet and says in his quiet villainous tone: Bheeg gaya..

Past Revelations

- Vision: The side view of Keanu Reaves standing with a horizontally bent upper-half right next to my bed facing in its direction, and then he moves around a bit.

  Well, I only bend because of a reason and not uselessly when I work. Why would I uselessly bend cause myself a backache? In the absence of cameras, it would seem like a normal act, but the cameras highlight and place themselves in inappropriate positions and highlight things that would otherwise have stayed hidden from notice.

- KA, dressed in dark clothes: t-shirt over trousers with a jacket on top, stands a few feet ahead of the green light wall with a lifted head and slightly open mouth as he is crying with jets of tears ejecting out from the corner of his eyes with an erected genitalia trunk at an angle of 45 degrees which is also continuously ejaculating a jet, after which he jumps and turns away from the viewer, bending his ass towards the viewer a bit and ejecting a very thick cylinder of poop that moves horizontally and hits the viewer.
- KA dressed in his vision-standard black attire stands on the above floor visible through a translucent ceiling as he looks down at me smiling and then turns his back towards me.
- The vision is later followed by the addition of him ejecting a cylinder of poop out through his black trousers.
- (Past two weeks): A naked KA on top of me on my bed in intercourse with his upper half lifted up as he punches my face.

Page 541.

22 September 2023
11:40

One who gives quickly gives twice: from a Derek Prince video, I watched a few days back.
This phrase has been being highlighted to me, intermittently throughout the past two days.

This scene from the movie Freddy has also been being highlighted to me for the past many months, the one in which KA pulls out teeth from a man's open mouth as he says: Sorry to make you wait, Sir!

Revelations During Morning Worship:

- While listening to Ho Teri Stuti Aur Aradhana: I am in a duet in the centre of my room with KA with him dressed in his vision-standard black attire of a fitting black t-shirt over a black trousers, and me dressed in a white floral dress with wide and open flared short sleeves.

So I will hold my breath and write the further revelations.

- The previous vision is followed by a horizontally erected genitalia of KA moving to and fro in my mouth as I was singing along the song, with him being dresses in his vision-standard black attire, and the vision is a semi-somatic vision: it's visible in the mental view but the somatic experience is felt to a partial extent and not fully, much like how an opaque cloth is different from a translucent one.
- The upper half of KA, in his vision-standard black attire, comes abruptly at me pressing his closed but extended lips against mine in a kiss.
- PM Modi dressed in an attire of long beige tunic set with an orange half-jacket on top rotates with raised forearms in the centre of the room 2-3 meters behind me.
- I jump on a standing KA dressed in a full-sleeved blue top over white pants, wrapping my legs around him and kiss him.

Well, these revelations remind me of how Adam and Eve were made to rejoice in the presence of God, with Eve being his wife. I came to this added perspective after watching the YT channel faulk600's video named Glory yesterday.

- The genitalia of KA continues moving inside my mouth.
- KA in his vision-standard black attire dances alone in the centre of the room with horizontally raised forearms along the plane of his body.
- KJ in multilayered black takes a few steps towards me with an erected elephant trunk but then walks backwards rotating in worship.
- KA in his black vision-standard attire comes at me with closed extended lips and sticks them to mine!

While listening to 'Is He Worthy' by Shane & Shane, the part where the singers sing 'Is He worthy?.. Is He worthy?..' repeatedly followed by a quiet He is.., I feel like saying He is too, and when I do after a second of it being said in the video song, I see,

- The bruised bloody upper half of Jesus from the scene of his crucifixion shown in the song comes at me with extended lips and presses them against mine in a kiss. (This proves how and the extent to which He has loved us!)

- Dushman in is beige postman clothes rotates with high-speed in the centre of my room with horizontally raised forearms in the plane of his body and with his eyes looking upwards.
- It is later followed by him rotating like Shaktiman back through the kitchen's narrow space.
- He does a few Michael Jackson's dance steps with an extended leg.
- He does contemporary ballet in the centre of the room, being dressed in his beige postman clothes all this while.
- The song Fresh Oil is playing now, and as the line I long to see your power flow completes playing, I see: KA's genitalia inside me with its surface making wavy motions as fluid flows out of it.
- PM Modi moves in the centre space in worship with raised forearms with the 2-D face of Glory imposed on his.
- Followed by him rotating in high-speed and moving to the back of the area through the kitchen space.
- Now I am listening to Yahweh Rafah Elohim Shaddai when I hear the lady sing: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- KA stands in the centre of the room in his vision-standard black attire as his genitalia shoots forward and he moves backwards (preserving momentum). A few more of such shoots are shown making him move around the room.
- KA comes walking in to my room through the open door in his vision-standard black attire with his horizontal erection visible through the slight protrusion of his black trousers.
- Dushman in beige looks at me and says: Randi hai tu randi!
- A guy sings: Bewafa bewafa bewafa nikli hai vo.. Jhoota pyaar jhoota pyaar, jhoota pyaar kita hai vo.. But Jesus knows my heart. What He thinks of me is what matters above everyone else's opinions.
- I am not listening to the Worship song Taste & See by Shane & Shane and then the previous green light visions of me communing with Jesus in which I ate his chocolate vanilla cake fingers, burger shoulder and Bourbon biscuit lips are highlighted to me. The visions go along with the chorus line of the Worship song.
- Somewhere amidst the above revelations, I see a man's purplish genitalia (penis+a huge ball) facing to the left to my bottom left a feet or two above the surface accompanied, the vision being semi-somatic.

By this time, I've played several lyrical Worship song videos and I notice that all have the common theme of the natural creation of God being highlighted above anything else. The videos display the grandiosity of God and how magnificent He is for He created everything seen and unseen and how the visible reality gives witness to His existence. I notice that the videos focus on showcasing the beauty of His natural creation and not man-made structures, vehicles, or any kind of worldly way of living. All the worship songs I played showed scenes of people relishing amidst natural environment as made by God and untouched by humans, which shows that we as His creation do not need man-made structures or a lot of things or technological progress to truly do the one most important thing we are called to do: worship our creator - the very reason for which He created us! Indeed, those things add to our comfort and adds to the evolution of culture and civilization which eventually is leading the place towards receiving the technological Mark of the Beast, but to just stand in a huge natural space and look at the beautiful Glory of God present around being in communion with Him can't be achieved by any technological device. No advancement in technology or change in culture or a certain lifestyle can aid one to be closer to God or commune with Him. It's through His Spirit alone that one is able to commune with Him. God is for nature because He is real, devil is for technology because he is artificial.

It's very much like looking far into the distance ahead while being at a high level, looking at everything present around and realizing that the end to all the 'Why's' for the things you see around is God, knowing that you're seen by Him in that moment as you gaze with a harmonious heart and a quiet mind into the distance. Recall how David relished alone in God's presence in green pastures and fountains and wrote poems/songs to Him as his sheep were busy grazing. He subjectively understood the reason for the things he saw around him. God wasn't an objective reality for him, but a very much real reality as He dwelt in His presence and worshipped Him.

- Now the worship song Far Too Wonderful plays and after a while I see KA, dressed in his vision-standard attire, with red love hearts in front of his eyes, rotates around a translationally moving axis around the center of the room.

While beginning to wash clothes:

Jesus points me to the Laptop to sit and complete recording the revelations. He does it repeatedly, highlighting the urgency of completing His revelatory book. But I choose to wash clothes because the bedsheet would've taken time to dry and I wanted to have it washed during day itself so it gets sunlight and then it's the only I've left so I had to put it back on my bed quickly. Well, we are to follow His nudges and do things as He leads. But I just wanted to get done with that chore or else it would've kept lying until hours later.

Kartika, ye kya btaya. Sab has has ke pagal ho gye!

But I don't see anything funny here. It's just the truth.

Also I had been sitting in front of Laptop for long and needed to stand up and use my physical body. Though He was pointing very strictly to the Laptop while being dressed in His multilayered full white robes, my heart wasn't in a condition to sit for long and write. But, this is a case when I found it hard to sit longer and work on the laptop, so it He can accord me grace for the same. However, if it was something too easy for me to do which I could've managed to do in that moment, I would've gone ahead with His nudge. You see, we may disagree with God for a while but He understands our hearts. He knew that it wasn't that I didn’t want to do His work, but just that I couldn't sit for longer and needed a break to do something different so my mind would get some rest for washing clothes is a mundane job that doesn’t need much thought. I alternate between putting to use my mind and body: when one gets tired, I resort to using the other so the other one would get some rest.

And while I was writing the above para, I saw:

- The smiling face of a beige Glory as a stubbled Jesus in multilayered white robes.
- Followed by him licking my right cheek.

After being done with washing clothes:
As I move out of the washroom, I saw the upper half of a smiling KA making a heart shape with his hands on his chest being dressed in a neck-high t-shirt with a shrug on top.

After drying my clothes, I mopped the floor, washed feet and was relaxedly strolling inside my room. When I was having water from my bottle I put to use today for the first time here, I was a bit uncomfortable drinking from it by pouring water down from above and my hands shook a bit as I was anxious. I then heard:
Nauker chahe kitna bhi sudhar le khud ko, rahega to vo nauker hi!

Which made me think who is it who said such a thing! Because those who love me truly won't say such a foolish thing! I guess the person who said it must be used to using others to do chores for him and has no sense of doing one's chores by oneself! How come doing daily routing chores count as being the inferior tasks that are supposed to be done by people considered as inferior servants! Only Death Conqueror can have such a cheap mentality because he is the who keeps making the point that his background and wealth makes up for the wrong he does and how wrong he is!

It's easy for him to kill a person or torture an entire family than to do things the right way! It's just an excuse that he makes that it's hard for him to reveal himself out in the open!

PROPHETIC SOAKING INSTRUMENTAL WORSHIP // ETERNAL COVENANT // MUSIC AMBIENT FOR PRAYER

Promise of an Eternal Covenant:
Signed by Jesus by paying our sin debt in full with His sacrificial blood which reminds me of the previous vision in which a white-winged Jesus with a golden ring floating above His head stood behind my room's mesh door as He signed on a group of papers. Wow… How creative He is expressing the same thing that I've been trying to communicate since the time I came to know Him! Who won't want to get that covenant paper signed by a beautiful winged man in white - His huge white wings resting horizontally along the plane of His body. Come and get your paper of eternal covenant signed!

The Guy sings:
Mujhe rula diya.. Oh

Mujhe rula diya..

Mein jatt yamla pagla deewana
Oh rabba itti si baat na jaana
Ke ke ke
O mainu pyaar kardi hai..
Saade utte vo mardi hai..

Also, while washing clothes, I saw that my parrot green bedsheet took the form of the back of the head of a snake twice as I brushed it both the ways which reminded me of the vision from the last night: green serpent who says: Hi. I'm your friend. Followed by many such serpents appearing beside him. It had also reminded me of this snake structure consisting of multiple snake heads at the base of which one of the Hindu Gods rests on. Remember, a snake can't be anyone's true friend. He can mimic good behavior while having ulterior motives rooted in some kind of profit: what constitutes the serpent's robotic way of thinking which only evaluates things objectively while not being able to sense things through a God-given moral lens. Because serpents are such, and therefore can't be trusted, they can be called to be of a deceptive nature. And who else is called deceptive!? Jesus certainly is not deceptive. It is written in the Word that He is Holy, truthful, that it is impossible for Him to lie because He is perfect! The snake lied to Eve in the garden to deceive her into eating what God had forbidden her to which made both her and husband lose their glory clothes after which they had to find other ways to clothe themselves. The snake is a liar, deceiver, murderer, rapist, thief and all the things that God can never possibly be. The snake is in a constant rebellion with God and he glorifies himself to show his superiority while his thoughts/acts are nowhere superior or godly. The Earth System is a result of the rebellion started by snake against the Most-High Holy God.

Past Revelation

- A naked KA stands with an erected genitalia after an intense make out session as he says: Gila Ho gya.. Gila Ho Gaya..

17:51

While being half-asleep in rest:

- I had just begun to fall asleep when I saw the back of a woman wearing just a multi-colored printed panty as two hands grabbed her ass and pulled them sideways while pressing on them. The vision woke me up. It was just a visual vision and not a somatic one and now when I wrote it I recalled that Akhila's panties were mostly multi-colored and printed. I happened to remember it while writing this here as I happened to look at them several times lying in front of me. It could pertain to some other person as well, but God reveals to me what the two dumbasses do together, so the vision seems to correspond to them alone. It don't really want to see what someone else does inside their rooms, especially such kind of things! I went back to sleep after this vision, but as I was half asleep, the vision began again.
- After receiving enough rest when I was in the beginning phase of coming out of it, I saw: a pink panty above my belly with water moving in a circle at its base reminding me of how I have to clean myself when I bathe. Why would I receive such a vision? Is it to highlight how the sinning dumbass knows neither to not fornicate when he is not in a covenant, and nor to not go into the private spaces of other people when they have not invited him to!

As I wrote the above, I heard a voice saying while laughing: Kartika Tu randi nahi hai!

After waking up:

- The gym instructor dressed in a pure white fitting t-shirt over white shorts collects dust from beside my bed with a broom and a dustpan.

An artistic depiction of how David danced before the Lord shamelessly wearing just a linen ephod:

Dance like David

'Kartika tu bahut pitegi!'

'Kartikey tu bahut pitegi!'

Page 542.

23 September 2023
00:10

Visions while resting a while back:

- A muscular white man dressed in what looks like a Biblical ephod holds up a white globe up high with his left hand stretched upwards as a black bird stationarily flies to the globe's left. And the phrase that got highlighted to me when I had the vision was the name of this Ayn Rand novel called Atlas Shrugged given to me by Tripti in exchange for one of my novels she had lost. She herself gave it to me. I met her in BSc during 2010-2012 in Saroj Sadan where she too was staying at the time.
- Dushman sits on a sofa looking at the viewer with a mean countenance and starts putting in matchsticks between his teeth as they are held horizontally and as he continues adding one after the other in his mouth.
- The short-haired Kajol from the movie who is about to be killed by Dushman stands filled with fear against a wall as she tells him to stop being dressed in her black and white attire from the scene, as he comes at her. He wants to burn her up by putting fuel and using those matchsticks to burn her as she tells him to stop in his tracks and stay away!
- She is now on floor and he has a slab in his hand as he too is injured and bleeds, but he doesn't hit her with the slab and throws it away. He now has a knife held high in his hands as the viewer looks at him from below. His forehead and the middle of the chest are covered with blood as he lifts up a knife but he is not able to stab her either!
- Masih Nidhaal soedaar chalte dekha hai.. Bhadakti aag mein ek phool jalte dekha hai.. The lyrics repeats themselves for a while.

Around 20 minutes later as I write the 4th revelation above:

- He then sits moves and sits on a seat to her left with his head held in one of his hands leaving Kajol alone as she runs away out of the home in the right direction.

And then yesterday or day before yesterday, I was thinking how with my past self or who I really am on the inside, I would've gone into a serious depression with the kind of revelations that I received. But now at first I was letting them go as I didn't relate with them for I didn't see them coming and they seemed strange to me, but after having many of such revelations that revealed the hearts of people, and my own heart, I experienced a change of heart. I was beginning to fall into that depression yesterday and I was asking Him how will I handle such a state! That what was it that He did He do my brain - that I wanted only one person, but now it seemed I was going to have none but had all these fleshly revelations on my head that served as a burden on my conscience. Things just didn't make any sense to me. I seemed to go into pain because of my changed heart towards some people and how I would've been too hurt without God in such a situation, even with God it was difficult to go through. To be able to make through the revelations with multiple people, though they were not all somatic but visions, and though they may be labels, I had to look at the spiritual reality of things and not fleshly for in the flesh the situation would be too hurtful as I didn't want more than one flesh partners. God forced me to look with that lens so the physical revelations wouldn't affect me much or I wouldn't associate with them too strongly like I did previously.

I don't know why doesn't the criminal stop hurting my head here and there at different places!

Visions while resting later:

- A worship song with a soothing melody sung by a guy plays in my Spirit. It's melody is so soothing and it emanates an aura of a natural environment as its music echoes. It's nothing that I am hearing in the physical realm but in the spirit. The worship song ends with the words stream of blood.

And while writing this revelation, it occurred to me if it was a response to Death Conqueror and his gang wanting to make me deaf as I have been having painful sensations inside my skull near my ears since after I took a bath. Why are they targeting my ears now!? I think they have a problem with everything I enjoy in the presence of God as they are not able to enjoy it the way I do. And they can't have the same pleasure that I derive by listening to worship songs because they don't have the love of God in their hearts and neither do they love God! And as I wrote the previous sentence, I saw the blurry upper half of a person that seemed to be resembling both Death Conqueror and KA being dressed in a white cotton tunic as he said laughing: 'Kartika I love you! Kartika I love you!' which reminds me of the response Anjali's first and last boyfriend gave her after she told her that she loved him and wanted him to marry her. He said: Aise to mujhe Katrina Kaif se pyaar hai! To kya meri usse shaadi ho jayegi? That guy was a cheater and user guy who only used Anjali and later got married to a woman who was working a job. He told Anjali: Anjali I became rich! My wife earns this monthly amount! And he did so without even breaking up with her. He abruptly dropped the unexpected bomb of shock on her head. She told me that at that time he wasn't working a job but the woman his family chose for him did.

So they want to make me deaf and blind so I am not able to worship God which they're not able to do anyway with everything they have for their thoughts are too fleshly and they are not spiritually developed/mature.

- KA in an embroidered light pink sherwani lies on his side on a bed in a space lit in white light, with Aishwarya Rai sitting down to the left dressed in the female two-piece version of a blouse and a skirt, but she doesn't look obscene for it fully covers her. She is sitting beside an indoor water body looking at it while fiddling with it gently with her hand as a white dove (white dove represents the Holy Spirit) is present to her left. She then gets off the floor and lies on her side in front of KA as he hugs her gently from behind and they lie together in godly rest. His attire reminds me of a previous vision in which he played tabla in that attire.

I then got up to make tea as I didn't want to waste time sleeping for I was getting a weird feeling in my heart, again, as if something was pushing against it making me uneasy and then I always have a heavy head. But the milk had turned sour as I found after adding it to the already brewed water. So I threw both the solutions and decided to rest again. I then had the following revelations:

- A stubbled Keanu Reaves with the hairstyle of Bollywood movie Tere Naam sits beside a square window present at the viewer's left of him in a room lit with night light. He has a table in front of him as he takes out two white tablets and gulps them in with water. He looks sad and stressed as he looks intermittently outside the window to his right (and viewer's left).

Note: After a while of lying on bed, I decided to get up and make tea using Milk Powder so I could work for a while. And when I had poured the tea into my mug and took out two tablets of Sugarfree Gold - it reminded me of the Keanu Reaves vision that I had a while back as I did it with the square balcony window to my left.

'Kartika, ye kya tha!?'

- The follow-up vision has him now having alcohol sitting on the chair's right. He then abruptly throws it at the viewer with a sad and angry countenance and is about to burn him up, but then he doesn't and continues having his alcohol.

This is such an increased flow of the Holy Spirit that I am experiencing these days as I don't get practically any free time when I am not doing something or am not mentally free as I receive revelations. That could also be a reason of my increased exhaustion. Without the spy cameras situation, I would be so happy with this flow of the Spirit, because how awesome it is to commune with God through His Spirit as He reveals things to you about the immediate or distant future. This would constitute the ideal life a human could have on Earth - being in communion with His creator through His Spirit and living in synchrony with His given Word while enjoying His creation and the things He blesses the person with. In the absence of devil, life with God is GREAT! Life lived under the shadow of God constitutes an ideal life regardless of one's living conditions or economic status because one would always be comforted in knowing that God is in control and is watching him and has a plan which He reveals in parts to that person according to His good wisdom. The person would know every day that he wakes up that this is his new day with God, a day which He created and which he is supposed to enjoy in His presence. My present work with God would be my ideal life as I take care of my daily chores on my own in God's presence, and am concerned only about the day, as is written in the Bible, that the worries of today are enough for the day, tomorrow will take care of itself. And whenever I go to the roof during the day to dry clothes, I feel so blessed by looking at the sky as I know that God watches from Heaven. Without the spy cameras, it's a great life! And if other believers were present around, then I would've had home prayer meetings with them, or sort of home church with changing locations each time as is the norm these days. I would pray together with the true followers of Christ who live a set-apart life, though church provides that space. Without the spy cams, I would be happier with the Spirit working inside of me. Death Conqueror lacks the fruits of the Spirit of God and one feels a worldly aura around him. I don't know if God had, say, chosen him and wanted him to live the way He wanted Him to live, while residing at places that He wanted him to reside in regardless of what he himself thought of them - what would be his reaction to such a situation? Would he choose his usual lifestyle or the one that's required to follow God!? I was wondering about this question a few days back. It just occurred to me on its own because he is a typical example of a worldly person who has worldly thought patterns and he doesn't seem to fear God either. I was pondering on, based on my own observation of his behavior by far, if he would be ok with living with the uncertainty and faith that comes along with choosing the path of God, or would he look at his power and resources to feel secure and in control? It seemed to me that it would be hard for someone like him to follow God if he was to give up his lifestyle and worldly ungodly habits. I often think such scenarios about different people from what I know about them. If he had the fruit of the spirit, he wouldn't be living the way he did, or acting out in the ways that he was doing! He would behave his words and actions.

For e.g., I can see that Chaaru is a genuine person based on which I can see that if God was to reveal Himself to her, she would have a radical transformation but her mother-in-law wouldn't have the same reaction to the same act of God in her life. Now there are many more people who need God, poor people, which reminds me of a previous revelation from the past two days that I haven't written by far:

- Amir Khan Feeds the Poor

  Vision: Amir Khan dressed in an ethnic dark green and beige rural attire is hurling gourds into his wooden cart. He doesn't take just one, but keeps rolling many long Gheeyas into his cart as he rolls them in with his hands. It seems that he is making sure that it would be enough. Following this he takes them to his room beside a street. He places them all together one beside the other and some on top, and chops them all at once giving circular disks of Gheeya which he further chops into smaller pieces. Afterwards, he cooks that chopped Gheeya/Gourd in the traditional Indian manner of frying onions and tomatoes first. After the Gheeya is cooked, and there's a lot of it, enough for a huge crowd - he is now making chapattis by slapping them between his hands one after the other while sitting on the ground on vertically folded knees. After the chapattis are cooked, he takes the cooked meal with him outside and distributes it to the poor.

Anyway. The following is the continued list of visions I had while resting earlier during the night:

- KR, dressed in his vision-standard attire of a black suit now moves to and fro on top of me in intercourse as he says: I love you.
- Himanshu dressed in a maroon red shirt tucked inside black pants lies still with closed eyes on a metallic surface that's moving to the left inside a chopping machine resembling the metallic version of the usual security-check machine into which goes the bags of people. Apparently, the metallic machine is going to chop him into small cubical pieces.

'You Little Thing'

I was once chatting with Himanshi Dua - the girl from my school who was consistently a topper - when I was in BSc third year. I felt like she was showing me a kind of egoistic attitude wherein she was indirectly saying something hurtful to which I replied with a sentence followed by the adjective You little thing, to which she replied that if great people were like me, then she didn't want to be great either! ('Agar bade log apke jaise hote hai, to mujhe bada ban na bhi nahi hai!') I was really touched by her reply though I had called her 'You little thing' for a reason, for she seemed to make an incoherent remark which just didn't fit in the conversation but seemed to aim at putting me down. But I learnt from her humility that evening.

'Kartika tu jhutti nahi hai!'

This scene from a TV series keeps getting highlighted to me since the past week. The scene had a talkative man catching a person in the morning while jogging followed by him starting small talk with him, but as it progressed, he kept getting reminded of a related event because of a word involved in the previous thing he shared. This led to him talking for a very long period of time and the listening man got really annoyed with him. This happened again the next time they met. So, that other man devised a plan. He made a list of words and related events from newspaper and his own life. The next time that he met that talkative person and as he began his sequential sharing of info, the prepared man took out his notes and started interrupting the guy by picking up a word he said and sharing a related event with him. Both of them went into a race of 'Isse mujhe yaad aya..' 'Isse mujhe yaad aya..' as one tried to interrupt the another, but the talkative man overran the other man despite his preparation.

11:04

- KA in an astronaut suit with his helmet held in his hand as he quickly floats around in a lit background.
- The top-view of my washroom's commode with its jet shower running and slightly tilted to the right where the commode is entirely filled with water to the brim and is about the overflow down as the shower continues to run.

13:49

Visions after writing the previous two revelations as I felt like resting again:

- Dushman stands against a wall and says desperately as he moves his arms frantically towards the viewer and says hastily: Gale lag ja.. Gale lag ja..
- Zindagi.. Gali Laga le.. (the song lyric plays in my Spirit a few times)

I get up and move around a bit and lie down on bed again when I have these visions:

- Rajnikanth in his look from the movie Jailer dressed in a fluffed white racing suit, with his huge head standing out as compared to the rest of his body which is short and thin in the vision as he drives speedily to the left entering an underway on a white bike resembling a toy.
- Dushman standing inside a room with his Dushman-standard wicked expression stands facing the viewer, and jumps and turns his back towards the viewer abruptly ejecting out a blob of poop through his fully dressed ass in Postman clothes from the movie, as he then starts peeing from his protruding penis at the front.
- Keanu Reaves dressed in his vision-standard attire of a black suit walks towards me who is resting on the bed but then his head gets strongly hit by the vertical erection of a semi-metallic elephant trunk which pushes him backwards making him loose his senses as he walks a few steps backward and lies down on the floor in the space between the end of the bed and the wall facing the head of the bed.
- A small-framed distant vision of the bald and white Puddles with a long conical cap striped horizontally in red and white and of about 3 feet high resting on his head as he is wearing a red lipstick on dressed in clown clothes and comes at me from the top.

Check out:
Puddles Pity Party - Come Sail Away / Let It Go Smoosh Up (STYX / Frozen Cover)

In this song sung by Puddles, he talks about a gathering of angels above and how he's in a starship sailing away, a ship of which he is the captain of, and he is calling others to sail away with him.

'Kartika Aur kuch!?'

- Keanu Reaves gains some sense after a while, but as he is getting up, he experiences the metallic hit on his forehead again leaving him unconscious again as he keeps lying at the same spot motionlessly. It seems that his head is under a lot of stress because of these constant metallic hits.
- I see the inner view of a penis hitting itself against a tissue tube as seen from the inside. In a few hits, it's fully inside and then rests there as such without moving from its place, with its side-view of resting inside the tissue tube shown facing to the left, the structure having a tinge of a light deep red colour. It reminds me of the soaking in the Holy Spirit part that I had written previously. And while I wrote this revelation, it reminded me of the previous revelation I had in D4 of A-10, in which Glory lay motionless on top of me with short frizzy hair being wrapped in a green printed cloth as he stayed lifted up above me with a brown blanket below his waist covering both of us.
- Keanu Reaves gains consciousness but gets another metallic hit on his forehead. He stays lying motionless in that space. He doesn't seem to be in a good place mentally.
- 'Kartika vo tumhe dekh raha hai..'

While cleaning:
Kartika vo tumhe dekh raha hai.. Kartika vo tumhe dekh raha hai.. in response to which I think: To mein kya karu!?

It keeps repeating intermittently throughout the entire duration.

A few evenings back, this guy came along with the landlord Uncle Subhash to change the steel mesh fixed above the door. After he left, there was a lot of dirt around and on the ground that fell from the previous mesh that was fixed there which he removed. While I was cleaning the mess, I kept hearing:
Kartika tu itni achi nhi ho sakti!
Tu itni achi nhi ho sakti!*

with a special emphasis on Tu. Why does the guy think that I can't be that good!? When I am not really that good. What does he know of my moral thought processes or why I make the decisions that I do or choose to do what I do? Why is he making this very highlighted usage of the pronoun 'Tu'? Maine uska kya bigaad diya that I can't be that good!? If I don't play games and don't partake in them either, that doesn't make me a bad person!

It also makes me think what extraordinary thing is it that I am doing. I am only cleaning the mess or else it would keep lying for long and I had the strength and energy to clean it in that moment while I may not felt like doing it later.
The sentences were then followed by 'Perfectionist.. Perfectionist..' as I am mopping the floor, which reminds me of how even when at times we hired help to clean when I was a child, I would stand with her and tell her if she left even a particle of dust that was visible to me. And it didn't make any sense to me as in why would she leave it when it's clearly visible and it's her job. My first roommate Swati Priya also said that I mop the floor without leaving any visible particles that she often saw left when she mopped the floor for we had to clean it by ourselves. I didn't face as much of problem with any roommate as I did with people in A-16. And then while working in the kitchen, I was reminded of how when I was once telling Akhila to listen to me when I share with her my grievances, she replied with a superior smiling countenance that why should she listen to me!? Then who else would if I was living with her in that room!? It seemed as if she was only good to those who were of the same degraded mental level as that of her and Death Conqueror!

I've now come to learn that it's hard to maintain a constant correct outer projection of one's inner self in an environment filled with people with degraded minds because their thought patterns and behavior will always counteract the perfectionist's way of thinking and doing things. A righteous person will have a very hard time in a family of goons who only say mean things and deploy indirect tactics to get their way!

Anyway. This day after I was done with cleaning, and sat working, I prayed to God that it would be better that he takes me out of the system than to let me go into one where people don't know or follow Him and will only take me away from Him because of their ungodliness of living and thought patterns. Godliness starts with the mind which then gets reflected in one's outer appearance. I told Him that better to take my spirit away before a worldly fool tried to take me away from Him, a fool who doesn't even know the godly and sensible way of talking and acting out in a godly manner on the knowledge of what hurts others!

Also, this part from the movie Andaaz Apna Apna in which Salman Khan comes disguised a doctor to treat Amir Khan with a bag and says Isme teri maut ka samaan hai has been being highlighted to me, as well! The bag has things like nail, hammer, plier etc.

The Night Street Food Holy Church Club
Later on, I realize that the nudge to eat Dahi Golgappas goes hand in hand with the revelation of Pastor Emmanuel Morgun serving street chaat food with his wife Sheba Morgun to youngsters from behind a street food counter in a room resembling in shape to mine and lit with dim yellow light like my room does after I bought the yellow light as I felt a nudge to buy it after the blue light.

The order of revelations that led the room to look like the night church in the dream from A-10:

Vision of a blue vertical comes floating to me and sticks to my forehead →Vision of a blue bulb of the kind I had recently checked out on Amazon rotates inside its socket while emitting out small golden stars in all directions →I feel a nudge to buy a yellow light similar in looks to the blue light and replace the blue one with it in the kitchen space, and so, I buy it →I put up the blue light in the living space removing the green one →I receive a dream revelation in which I am moving around in a space lit with blue light and it seems to have a demonic presence as I call upon the Holy Spirit to counteract it →Following this dream revelation, I remove the blue light and put the green light back up which gives the room the look of the night street food church from the dream that I had received when I hadn't even begun looking for a new accommodation.

Additionally, as this Dhol plays outside, I am reminded of what Shamsher Sir about having the kind of concentration that even when a Dhol played right next to one's ear, one should keep working unaffected - that's the ideal form of a mind working with full concentration.

Also, let me recall this additional scientific fact: people blink when they lose concentration and their mind rests from the continued focus for a moment. The frequency with which a person blinks is a direct marker of the how much focused their minds are or how often they experience a snap in concentration!

Machis: Heard in the Spirit (Afternoon), which reminded me of the movie Machis.

Past Revelation

Vision: KA on top of a fully dressed me as he is squishing my breasts with bonds hands continuously, while intermittently kissing me.

21:33

Ye maine kya kar diya.. Ye maine kya kar diya..: earlier during the day while washing dishes.

I felt a nudge to listen to this recently released Worship song by Yeshu Ke Geet, called HalleluYah Stuti Gaye Hum, for when the last time I happened to listen to their YT shorts video of the chorus of the song, I had liked it very much - the melody and the way they had sung it, it was wonderful. So, I looked up their recently released song and played it on my Laptop. And they did a great job in the visuals as it begins with the Book of the Holy Bible opening with the golden light of the Holy Spirit inside. I was in a restful position lying on the bed while listening to it when I kept seeing this recurring vision of me standing in front of the table worshipping with the song playing on the laptop placed on the table. Though I was comfortable in my state and was feeling fatigued as well, because I kept getting the nudge, I did what I saw. God like it when we worship with raised hands as we are pointing to heaven where He resides and His kingdom lies - that's the logic behind raising one's hands in Worship, and it brings Him joy when His creation dances in order to show its adoration for Him. All children of God dance and sing before God. It's a Holy act of dancing and singing unlike what you see out there in the world in clubs and pubs or even in the cultural or family events people organize where they dance to obscene worldly songs, consume a lot of alcohol, and showcase their nudity to expose their bodies and feel glorified because of it, while when one strips before God, it's out of humility and to bring oneself to a lowly position. David danced dressed in just a linen Ephod before the Lord to bring His own self to a level and he did out of the overflowing joy that He experienced in the presence of the Lord. So, God didn't judge his act of stripping but saw his heart behind it. In a worldly celebration, there's the ungodly songs normalize ungodliness, and there's an environment of ungodly lust and sexuality at the worldly hubs of singing and dancing, while the church of God contains a Holy environment where people dance and sing filled with godly joy and glorify God instead of their own selves.

As I wrote the above, I kept hearing the lady sing: Maar dala.. Maar dala.. accompanied by a guy saying: Mein kya karunga ab iska! Mein kya karunga ab iska!

In a Holy Club, people get filled with joy and the Spirit of God as they praise and worship together. So, if you have to sing and dance, don't do so on the worldly songs because they will only increase your inclination towards the world though many songs that are not worship songs contain a display of holy feelings and intent and they can also be sung to God.

Coming back to the evening worship session, I followed the vision and began worshipping while being on my feet instead of lying in bed.

Revelations during the Worship session:

- Randi.. Randi.. I keep hearing this is my Spirit said by a guy in a quiet but hateful and mocking tone, as if I put myself in the camera situation. Without the camera situation, worship would be the act of the highest quality that I would be doing and perhaps then the foolish guy won't be calling me Randi. If he had any good and godly sense, he would aid in reporting the breach of my privacy instead of calling me Randi when all I am doing is spreading the Word of God through Worship! And God used the ungodly situation created by a wicked mind to turn it into something good! And I am sure that whosoever was calling me so wasn't used to worshipping the God of the Heaven, for if he did, his focus would be on different things, he would be feeling the joy that comes with worshipping God. He definitely didn't have the Holy Spirit and therefore wasn't a true believer or else his lens would be clean instead of judging me with dirt in his eyes. Anyway. By getting to listen to these variety of things, I built s stronger immunity towards them in a way! There's an extent to which I can control my actions to not look weird to others, but they have their own minds that judge and make assumptions. In this place alone, I saw how impure the minds of people were, because they look with perversion at almost everything and find perverted similarities which my mind would previously have bypassed or even if I had noticed it, it wouldn't be a big deal and it would be just a perverse thing not to pay much attention to, as the world is full of perversion and if one was to sit and think why is this or that thing made in such a such manner and think how it shouldn't be so, it would be a dire waste of time and energy. Also, to find perverseness in routine activities is also a very foolish thing to do which I encountered a lot in this place!

  As I wrote the above paragraph, I heard in my Spirit: Meri maa ke ander bahut dimaag hai! Meri maa ke ander bhatera dimaag hai. It repeated a few times.

- And when I was experiencing a peak in worship, I saw a group of extremely tall angels of about 10 meters high dressed in white robes fastened with a belt in the centre as they blew golden trumpets that faced upwards. As I had shared one more vision previously that I had in A-10 when I followed the nudge to worship, in which I saw a group of angels gather in the blue sky above, though it was night, as some of them played instruments and others threw white flowers down at me. White is a colour of purity but a perverted mind would look at everything with a perverted lens, and would even look at the act of the angels throwing flowers down at me with a perverted lens! This previous vision was seen from a great distance as I was lying on the floor and the angels gathered up in the high heavens where there's no such thing as night, but this time, today, I saw the angels right to my sides as if I was surrounded by them, as they had surrounded me during my worship time and joined me in giving praises and glory to God. Such a great sight. That's also how it is in heaven. It was a glimpse of heaven that I received.

This angelic revelation was so good to have. I want to more of such revelations where I witness more of the heavenly realm. But then I suppose God gave me those fleshly revelations to either prepare me to Glory's level or to give me something, even if it's just a visual revelation, with people who developed love in their hearts for me for my days are numbered and the revelations are like a gift to them while they at the same time, at times they serve the purpose of pointing to different people who are represented by those labels. For e.g.: KA with a metallic tooth on his right upper jaw calls the person with this condition to God. And also, it makes the revelatory book of comprehensive for even if a prostitute who didn't want to be in the profession happens to read my book and reaches this part, she will relate to my condition and see how I was sold into the profession of being a high-profile Whore just like Joseph was sold into slavery by his elder brothers who were jealous of the way he was loved by their father Jacob (later named as Israel). But then she would also see that despite my condition, God revealed to me those aspects of my personality that were meaningful and showed my skills

- Kartika, tu mar jayegi: this repeated several times during the worship session.

After I had spent enough time in worship, I felt this nudge to have Dahi Golgappas again, and it kept recurring. As I was wiping my face after washing it to feel refreshed a bit, I had the following vision.

- The face of Shawn from Yeshu Ke Geet with my hair falling on the sides as he looks at the viewer with a calm expression, eyes that reflect the Glory of God and a slight smile showing a part of his teeth. He too is called by my name.

So, I went out and brought them to my room along with 3 boiled eggs. While being on the stall that sells boiled eggs present in front of the exit of the building, I happened to talk to the lady who was preparing my plate. I sensed godliness in her and that's why I could talk to her in that manner as well for that long as she was a genuine person and a godly one. I saw goodness in her. So I asked her name so I could hold her in prayer for I felt like praying for her as she emanated such a good aura, and she wasn't an actor as in she wasn't pretending to be someone else and I didn't feel alienated or the way I felt around Glory's people who only acted in indirect ways and said things they didn't mean, and things that I didn't understand. Everything seemed so deceptive and just a foolish test! But in the company of this lady, I saw that she wasn't saying hidden things, or things with double meaning, or saying one thing and meaning something else, she said what she meant and she said it directly and there was no scope for misunderstanding. She was in a very humble profession for she aided her brother in selling boiled eggs but yet she talked with such grace and respect which showed her humility as well. So I felt awesome while talking to her! When I was back to my room, I happened to think of my interaction with her, and then I saw:

Vision: The face of the lady until slightly below her neck wearing a jeweled golden crown. You see, God honors such people! As I wrote the previous sentence, I saw:

Vision: A naked Glory does a quick namaste while moving his joined hands from top to mid-section after which he starts doing sit-ups in a criss-crossed manner!

It is so sickening and suffocating to live in an environment of deception where people are always communicating things to you indirectly in abnormal ways which they consider as smartness.

'Kartika bas kar! Hasa hasa ke rulayegi sabko!'

Anyway. During the worship, I felt a nudge to change my nail paint to silver I had recently received a revelation. The revelation went together with Lucy having her fingers painted in silver. So, I changed it to the same and it no longer has the previous connotation it carried but now reflected a part of my own persona as given or honed by God captured as a part of Lucy's persona (referring to her qualities).

It also shows how God cares for His children in various different ways. I don't feel now about putting this silver on while I felt weird previously. I now see it as an embodiment of my own persona captured in the visual representation of Lucy in the movie.

The revelations are a mix of being highly individualistic and community-based that pertain to a person's behavioural aspects in public. For e.g., all the revelations that showed parts of my persona as an individual displayed the individualistic nature of God - how He sees you as an individual and knows everything about you. It is not to glorify oneself but to know that God knows the bone and marrow of your persona. The revelations help people approach God as an individual, with the parts of their persona that are very specific to them just like the parts of their body are very specific to them. As we physically differentiate between individuals by their looks for they are so acutely different in most cases making them look different from each other, in the same manner, the inner constitution of the persona of a person is very much specific to them and looking at two different minds would differentiate them with great differences. However, we all have the same body structure embedded in our gene code where we have two hands, two legs, one belly, two eyes, two ears, one nose etc. In that same way, we share the same mind as a community but the commonness of our community behavior doesn't nullify the individual mental differences that are the main key differentiating characteristics and would serve a next level of differentiation in case two individuals looked exactly the same.

So, God made sure to give me revelations that would reflect that He highly cares about people at an individual level as well, and knows the desires of their hearts, apart from caring for them as a group of His children!

If I didn't have this particular calling and had a book from someone else who wrote things given to her/him by God, I would find it a great read because it is so rare to receive a load of revelations that include other people, and then seeing someone else in one's own difficult situation always makes it look as if it's easier for them. Now there are many books that are guided by the Spirit written by my fellow brother and sisters, teachings given by the Holy Spirit, but if they only carry blunt teachings in a way where people can't connect with it at a personal level, it doesn't achieve as much as a personal experience carrying the same teaching would have.

The Lady sings:

Masih nidhaal soedaar chalte dekha hai..

Bhadakti aag mein ek phool jalte dekha hai..

Revelations last night:

- The visible upper half of Katrina Kaif in a black attire resembling that of her song Kamli from Dhoom 3 as she's sitting down, looks at the viewer and says: Please mujhe chhod kar mat jao! Please mujhe chhod kar mat jao! (Please don't leave leaving me. Please don't leave leaving me.) As I was writing this revelation, the following song was being highlighted to me.
  Kamli Song | Dhoom:3 | Katrina Kaif, Aamir Khan | Sunidhi Chauhan | Pritam | Amitabh Bhattacharya

- The neck of a furred sheep facing to the left and lying on a wooden surface with a horizontal blade on top as it is about to be slaughtered.
- The sheep then changes to a patchy black & white cow with its head lying in the same manner.

Vision (while eating Dahi Golgappas): The upper half of Jesus in my room in the air until slightly above his shoulders eating with His mouth stuffed as He is enjoying the Golgappas as He looks at the viewer.

Page 543.

24 September 2023
01:12

Past Revelation

Judas from the matrix, with a bald head and a moustache on his face, and a golden ring above his head rises up in the clouds in white robes with a golden ring above his head. He was smiling in that vision and didn't look wicked.

Now, perhaps this revelation represents me, but I am not sure, but when I ate or didn't follow the nudges, it was only a small part of the decisions I took to survive so I could continue with Jesus alone unlike Judas who fully betrayed Him with a kiss, and took sides with those who persecuted him! Or maybe it could represent someone who would betray me as Jesus represented me as Him in some visions. He stands behind my mesh door to sign eternal covenants with people who are willing to be a part of His kingdom. And I don't want to leave Him or betray Him. If this constant burden of writing revelations wasn't there, I would be spending time reading His Word, listening to teaching videos to transform my mind, and pray to receive revelation from God to make me more like Him. I ate because not because I wanted to cheat on Jesus, but because I wanted to continue with Him for I was so stressed and depressed that I felt like I would have died under that much of constant mental and emotional stress. If I couldn't sit at a place with mental peace, how was I gonna continue working? If I didn't have that stability of mind, how was I to continue? God knows my heart.

When I was in A-10, and started eating to be able to work, I had this thought recur to me a few times that if I kept stepping out of the intended zone that God decided for me when it came to eating once in a while as I ate intermittently, I could continue in my work for a longer duration of time under the given conditions, than be fully dysfunctional and not be able to work at all, because with the condition of my head and the constant hits inside my body, I don't think a normal person would've been able to do what I did - it was all because of God's grace that I received when I ate, after which I gained some mental clarity and strength shifting me out from being in a stressful fog!

As I wrote the above, I heard the guy sing:
Rahegi sada yaha..
Pyaar ki ye dastaan..
Sunenge sada jise.. Ye zameen asmaan..

There is a time to be patient and then there comes the time of God's righteous roar. And my behavior in front of those Policemen was led by God - I am sure.

Reprobates go to hell, those who are narcissists and psychopaths. They come under the category of reprobates. Now if Death Conqueror is a reprobate or not, he alone knows. We can only pray for people like him.

I have self-control when it comes to my sexuality, but to be able to stare at the screen for long periods and sit in the same place, one needs intermittent food refreshments, especially tea or caffeine - something that keeps one awake and focused and helps bring a return of clarity. Without the headaches and internal problems caused by the drones, perhaps I could've done better. It's always easy to judge a person you're in the place of while sitting in your position of safety with nothing threatening or running after your life.

I watched this video by Sis Bia and Brother Philip a while back and it brought such a soul-filled refreshment to me because of the nature of the content that I realized how much I was lacking such a company when it came to humans because I have God first and foremost with me but He is keeping me occupied in writing His revelations and I only get a limited time to sit alone with Him where I could ponder on His nature without receiving any revelations of the kind that I sometimes do. When I go into rest with Him, I want to experience an expanded vision of who He is, gain more understanding of His nature so I can transform into His image (which Bia & Philip discussed about in the recent video on her channel). But I don't get that revelation-free time! I receive things related to this person, or that person, or some other person, which proves that God is working in a way which takes everyone ahead together wherein I am not exclusively focused on my own inner transformation but all are able to move ahead together though it may slow down things for me. Because if I didn't have these constant revelations to write, I would be doing more of Bible Study and sitting on it and reflecting on it, studying it deeply and making Holy Spirit led notes, and write what I receive from the Spirit related to what I read. But I used that time with the people God gave me revelations about and previously I was doing even more intense work as I edited videos and added subtitles to it. That would've been my ideal way of doing things wherein I do something in the best way that I can, be it any task, but now that I am short on time as my load of revelations has increased by a lot, I stopped doing the video editing but only write things down. And now I try to correctly write everything in one go, instead of having to edit it later, but even editing Pages brought with it increased revelatory understanding. I give myself enough rest before I get up from the bed so I can go through the next day for I know that it's going to be very busy seeing how the days are passing by so quickly. I noticed that I was even losing out on my ability to write better as I mixed up words which made me wonder if again, it was by God's grace that I was able to continue. Apathetic people like Death Conqueror who only seek their own selfish interests don't get affected by the wickedness they exhibit. For me, to know that I made someone go through what he made me go through, while ruining their degree and causing them mental and emotional injuries, I wouldn't be able to live with myself - that's how a normal person is! But this fellow, he not only does what is wrong, but he will do even more wrong if he doesn't get his way. I wouldn't have known the extent of their psychopathy had God not revealed it to me. God let it be known to me that they will attack my brain long back, and then later - eyes. They're so wicked. If he can send threats, insults and cause physical harm without any hesitation or shyness, he could have talked to me like a normal person as well. But he has proven again and again that his intent is to break a person into ungodly submission and that's why he is the character of Dushman! He displayed nothing of the kind of behavior that would show that he carries the image of God. He wants the person to make assumptions about him but he wants the other person to actually prove themselves while he himself didn't prove anything about his character! A fool makes others intentionally suffer while himself living without any problems. While I wrote the above para, I saw:

- The faces of Bia and Philip with sky blue stars in front of their eyes.

For me, if those people, that I received fleshly revelations with, were to interact with me, I would do so in a godly way and not sin. Those fleshly revelations reveal things about those people, about my preferences - for e.g. my love for swinging, contemporary ballet, green forest areas, about what is the godly way of rejoicing in the Lord and what is not, and at times the revelations are labeled.

Bible Talk: In the Image of God, with @TorchofChristMinistries

The above video is a good one as one sees how Bia and Philip both bring about different but important aspects of behaving in a way that shows that we are made in the image of God. While Bia is talking on the idealistic side of things and judging analytically the reasons behind one's undesirable behavior, Philip talks with an empathetic and practical view of why one behaves the way one does at times when one goes through prolonged suffering and traumas.

While listening to their video, I had these following revelations:

- The bald animated character of Avatar gets awakened with an open blue vertical eye in the centre (that would represent the singling of eyes as mentioned in the Bible and explained by Brother Jonathan Kleck several times in his videos.) The singling of eyes refer to the problem of the two different types of eyes representing two different types of nature - God's and devil's getting singled as the demonic eye turns itself right side up. You see, rebellion against God, be it of any kind, is always because of our dual nature one of which is prominent in people as explained in The Dual RS section where his angelic self held the hand of his demonic self from acting out in ungodly ways. Christ solves this problem of duality as explained before and our eyes become single, metaphorically speaking.
- The vision of an awakened fully dressed Avatar in saffron with the singling out of eyes in the middle of his forehead kept getting highlighted to me in the Spirit as I listened to them and their words drew me away from the kind of environment I witnessed around.

Whenever I am in such company which takes me away or gives me a break from looking at the demonic selves of people, and how I've been encountering ungodly and unbelieving people by far and their effect on my mind, such videos put me in good company, even if it's passive and online and I find some godly relief.

Philip said that we are broken, we live broken, but I would like to add that we don't have to when it comes to some bonds. We can rejoice in the wholeness accorded to us by Christ. When I was friends with Meera, I was so satisfied with her righteous company (until she did somethings) and I wouldn't have called our relationship as broken. We didn't try to hurt each other intentionally, though at times she did, I never did so. And I always thought why would she try to make me feel low or insulted if she's my friend. But that was during the first year, or the beginning phase of our friendship. We didn't say mean things about each other, we didn't insult other to bring the other person down but built each other up, that's how it ended up being as we both evolved together in each other's company. And we communicated openly and honestly. We both were individuals and not hive minded. When I was depressed and couldn't function well, she came to stay with me in my hostel for a few days so I would feel better in her company. Our company was like a healing balm for us which brought us out of deep depressions and moments of sadness.

How many people discuss among themselves things of the kind Bia and Philip discussed in the video? These days people are only consumed with finding their next sleep partner and pursuing things that seem fun to them in the worldly sense but are death to the soul. I'm so glad I came across this couple, for they both exhibit God's godliness in different ways and genuine appreciation for them flows out from my heart.

You see, narcissists and Psychopaths, the harm that they inflict is intentional and they enjoy the game, and seeing their target in pain and suffering and confusion brings them a weird sense of relief. It's hard to keep pouring out grace for such individuals. If I think that I've caused someone to be in an undesirable state, for e.g. when I was playing worship songs and kept receiving this vision of Chaaru getting disturbed a bit, in such a case, I would go and ask them directly if what I did caused them a problem, and they should be honest about it instead of giving a diplomatic reply which is not true, like I went to them and asked Chaaru's mother-in-law if they were getting disturbed by the level of my volume. Now this was the case when I thought that they may have been disturbed because of the revelation, but say, if I know for sure that I have caused someone pain or hurt them, it's my responsibility to go to them and apologize with a real heart of repentance, because that's how a normal person feels - their conscience feels guilty. But the consciences of these people, I don't know if they are functional anymore. And to know that I unjustly hurt someone intentionally in my full senses is an entirely another level of thinking which I never want to be at, even if it's to get something I may want, because if I have to hurt someone to get what I want, I will choose to not hurt that person! Because it's not me who decides what I should have, but God! I don't match his level of moral thinking. I don't want to commune with such a mind! It would be poison for my conscience. Better to die physically than to die at the level of godly thinking! And even, say, by God's will, I was supposed to be with him, it won't be called a compromise, but a sacrifice. He shouldn't expect others to sacrifice for him but he is to look at Jesus' sacrifice because the other person can't play the role of God. God too sacrificed Himself to eventually make us like Him and not for us to be wicked or be further lost in the world. He wanted to add us to His righteous kingdom and not a wicked one in which Death Conqueror is trying to lead me into. So what would my sacrifice in his case achieve? Nothing! It will only bring harm. A sacrifice should bring about a good change in the scenario like Jesus's sacrifice brought to us the gift of His Holy Spirit that acts as our guide and counsellor and imparts wisdom to us so we can be more like Him. But me giving in sacrificially to the whims of the wicked achieves nothing apart from fuelling their sin further. Though I've had the fleshly revelations, and a few of them were somatic, I don't feel like going further ahead in that direction unless God reveals something else. But I know that me giving in to these people won't have a good outcome. It only leads to sin - what God hates.

As I was writing the above lines, I heard the guy sing:
Tumhare siva kuch na chahat karenge..
Ke jab tak jiyange mohabbat karenge..

It will take me away from God as I will have to face his ungodly mind that even if it reads the Bible will pull out verses to justify his sins instead of correcting them and then he likes to throw insults at the face of those who try to act righteously most of the times as it is what they desire. So he will only use the Bible in an illegitimate manner, like he will mention Paul's comment about how he didn't take the names regarding the transgression of some people! But, Paul, though he didn't take the names, was correcting them and wanted them to reform their ways. But Death Conqueror - he would use the statement said by Paul to make the point that the person he is inflicting abuse on should stay silent while he continues in his sin. So what's the point of even reading the Bible if you use it in such way? Because remember, even devil knows the Bible verse by verse, but he's still devil. I am not calling Death Conqueror devil, but Paapi nadaan, who refuses to grow in the ways of God.

A Guy says:
Kartika tu jhutti nahi hai! Tu jhutti nahi hai! Aur na hi tu randi hai!

The Guy sings:
Badtameez dil badtameez dil badtamez dil maane na maane na..

Which only shows that his heart consists not of a godly intent but a wicked one, because a conscience-led heart is easily able to control one's will. He has proved that he is not led by his conscience, but by his wicked desiring self.

The Guy sings:
Masih nidhaal soe daar chalte dekha hai
Bhadakti aag mein ek phool jalte dekha hai..

Earlier during the day, I felt these thoughts being highlighted to me in the Spirit where the trio, the people behind this whole spy cam situation, were talking among themselves how it turned out to be such a good game, that they feel so thrilled because of the same. Now, if not psychopaths, in what else category should these people be classified? These people who call it a game to cause someone pain and ruin important aspects of their lives, and that too a satisfying game that they think made their lives more happening by just watching someone else suffer.

If God had not covered me up with his armour, my body would've long given up. I am living solely because of His grace for He stops it from bursting out. There is something wrong but I am not even getting the time to go get some tests done and they seem worth it to me as well for the Spirit of God lives in me and it is because of His power alone that I have been able to continue by far.

5:56
A minute back, I saw Jesus standing behind me dressed in His red and white attire of a white tunic with a red drape on top and pointing to the kitchen area to make tea. And he did it a few times, but I didn't feel like having tea at all. I couldn't understand at that moment why He asked me to make tea until about half a minute later my eyes began to close as I started feeling drowsy. Well, the situation sounds too funny and cute at the same looking at how strictly He was pointing to the kitchen and He did it several times. Could anyone have thought God would be so adorable in His behavior? Because He pointed in an authoritative way to the kitchen and look at how patient He is for I didn't listen to Him in the first go though He is God, because it didn't make any sense to me to make tea when I wasn't yet feeling mentally tired or sleepy or needed a break. But He knew that I was going to be so in a while.

I made the tea and as I was writing the previous para and hinted at that particular aspect of nature of God, the following lyric played in my Spirit.

The Guy sings:
Kitna hai tu pyaara Prabhu..
Teri prashansa mein sabko sunau..

Ref: The Worship song Yeshu Aa

I was thinking about my stupid act of ignoring the nudge of God and how it is an insult though I didn't intend to do so for I was doing His work only by writing revelations. But I wasn't feeling too bad as I had become too comfortable with Jesus understanding my postponing of His nudges at times, not always, and following this heart-state with which I sat on my chair thinking about my complacency, I saw the following.
Vision: A very dark-complexioned Jesus comes at my neck angrily with an axe behind my back but withholds, which reminds me of the truth of His Most High place where we are supposed to revere and obey His commandments at all times, though at times He understands us in our situations.

I can say that I am a fool because of how I at times don't immediately go ahead with things God shows me, but it's not because I don't want to but because either it seems weird to me or I am tired of the previous thing I was doing or I want to do it later. I understand I need to know my place before God. But today I saw another instance of how great He is. Even an instance which shows my own foolishness is an opportunity for His greatness to be revealed and revered, like how He behaved today. God is not to be treated like a doormat. He showed me that I was doing so as He gave me a vision of me wiping my feet on the doormat accompanied with the feeling of me treating Him like a doormat, but I didn't even know I was doing so. But I understand that He is so great that even small acts of disobedience against him should be considered serious. For instance, as the thought of killing someone seems too evil of an act to an innocent toddler and therefore would affect his conscience in a worse way that it would a habitual killer, for the toddler is much more holy than the habitual killer. According to the killer, he didn't do that sinful of a deed but to the toddler he has committed an act of utmost wickedness and therefore should deserve great judgment for how could the killer kill a person just like that for his own selfish reasons!

Vision: Pastor points me to the floor to pray for I have not treated God well by disobeying His commands and therefore need to repent, with the figure of Jesus superimposed on the Pastor accompanied by the vision of me lying down on the floor.

So I immediately lie down on the floor in the manner I saw in the vision, and the following revelations follow:

- My dad dressed in a white tunic set pulls out my translucent toddler self out of my body lying on the floor and starts pampering it by swinging it vertically. After a few swings, the view of the translucent toddler in my dad's hands becomes clear and he is revealed to be dressed in a light blue and white top over nickers with hair combed sideways, with features resembling Death Conqueror to some extent, but then he looks like Gory to as well, and a bit like me a well. He seems to be amalgamation.
- Jesus pampering the child in the same manner.
- A man's face with his head entirely covered with a printed cloth as he is doing something below on the ground with his hands as he seems to be in a sitting posture. The face of the man changes to my mom's with her head wrapped in the printed cloth and she is revealed to be hitting the ground with a stone.
- Bald Policewoman with a cap on her head walks out of a room to the viewer's right along with other policewomen with the righteous expression of Police personnel as they start walking looking right in front of them in a direction slightly parallel to the viewer. Their Police uniforms consist of a lighter version of black with their Police labels and badges on them. The women walk in the open ground surrounded by other people.
- A ring of fire in a dark background behind which is visible the side-view of a person with wavy hair and dressed in white robes is visible as he claps at that spot.
- The right facial side-view of a very dark Jesus above my face as he holds my jaw with one hand and says, "Tu meri naukar hai!" to remind me of how I am to obey Him and not neglect or postpone what He tells me to do at the moment. The vision repeats a few times, to which I reply humbly to him that I am also His friend and bride (just like other believers are the bride of Christ- them constituting the entire body of the bride together performing different functions as do different body parts of a body). I say it to Him a few times and I also say repeatedly, "I'm sorry. I'm sorry. I'm sorry."
- Jesus in white above my naked belly makes a vertical cut in the middle with a long dagger.
- A long cuboidal locked metallic safe enters a tissue tunnel lit in a reddish hue and starts rotating at its place.
- Followed by the vision of a drill being run in the air as it now approaches inside an empty tissue tunnel/vagina followed by the vision of the rod of the drill burnt until about an inch ahead of its base as the end of the leftover length is burning with a small flame which after extinguishing reveals a black slanted surface left at that place.
- The upper half of Sis Bia with her open curly hair lying freely in front of a beach with several round/oval black rocks as she faces to the right. She then looks at the viewer and says, "Kartika, I am sorry." and goes back to looking to the right again. Her statement to me repeats a few times.

- Jesus dressed in His full-length white robes lies on top of me and kisses me. He seems to have become normal now and is no longer angry at me.
- The upper half of a bald Akshay Khanna (the Bollywood Actor) dressed in a light blue shirt with a tie in his hand comes floating at the viewer/me in a dark background, as he puts the tie behind her neck and says, "Ae, kya bolti tu!?'
- The side-view of Bia's husband Brother Philip leaning in a slant with extended arms resting on what looks like a slab with his physical self facing to the right as he looks at me and says, "You're right!" followed by him going back to looking ahead in front of him and now beginning to do slanted push-ups against the slab but then he is only moving his ass back and forth and not his upper body which reminds me of how I too sometimes end up doing push-ups in a similar way as I find it hard to them the proper way because of a lack of muscle mass.
- A translucent figure of the 3/4th of the naked upper half of a person resembling Death Conqueror floating in the air high above near the wall to my right as he moves his ass to and fro at its place.
- Shawn from Yeshu Ke Geet turns On and Off an isolated switch repeatedly.
- The side of my nose itches so I itch it and what I see is Brother Philip emulating my nose scratching with an inset to his right carrying the view of a very tall rectangular brown building surrounded by much smaller buildings of variable length, which now makes me look at its similarity to that of the experimental plot of an observable that's supposed to show the behavior of a delta function around that peak.
- A clean-shaven Sanjay Dutt in the attire of a Postman with a cloth wrapped around the sides of his head riding a bicycle in the left direction near a cream wall. It reminds me of Dushman who wore beige Postman clothes and had a cycle as his transport vehicle in the movie, but now the hero of the movie is being shown in that setting but he doesn't carry a vicious expression unlike Dushman.
- A very distant view of a slim woman standing in a hall lit with golden light with the typical shape of a fit woman. She has long hair falling to the viewer's right side and is dressed in a white satin shoulder less blouse in the shape of a lingerie above a white skirt, and at first glance, she has the face of Akhila but then it changes to someone else. The woman is also wearing a long white satin shrug as she looks at the front. She then removes the shrug letting it fall backwards after which she starts to rise up in the air and as she does so, she gets stuck midway in the vision. Something seems to be pulling her down. She then loses her top and her upper half is now naked. She is still in the process of rising up as that's how it's supposed to be and is her nature, but an invisible rope or force seems to hold her static midway at her place as now even her dignity has been taken away from her as she's stuck mid-way in the air at the same spot. Though at once her huge breasts were shown to the viewers, they are now covered with a beige multilayered cloth and they keep changing their form. It seems as if the force is pulling her down with an invisible rope extending from the cloth on her breasts because of which she's stuck at the same place and doesn't move further upwards. Now that I look at it, it actually represents a very sad situation caused by that wicked force that has kept the woman stuck at the same spot. Yeah. It's because I don't want to bathe twice or often which used to be my normal routine if I happen to go to the gym or to the workplace, that I am stuck at the same place in my life, and am not moving further upwards which I would naturally have in the absence of that evil force which is Death Conqueror and his wicked friends. I was rising up in my career and life, they made me topless publicly and bogged me down with an invisible force that has kept me stuck in the same spot for a long time. It was only natural for me to keep rising up if this camera situation wouldn't have been there! They inhibited my life's natural flight. That's why He is a Dushman because he only performed the duties of an enemy.

Additionally, I felt Him highlight in the Spirit that today I was to spend the day here in my room with Him instead of going to church which I had thought I would do as I had woken up early today. Also, I felt a nudge to only wash my genitals as I had begun to itch there and also it would be less stressful, and it reminded me of the previous pink panty vision from yesterday. After I was done with my partial bath, I had this chorus song lyric play strongly in my Spirit:

Karle kabza ae paak rooh.. Karle kabza ae paak rooh..

And then I got this nudge to close the wooden door after this first session of lying down in rest with Jesus and when I had closed the door, it reminded me of the dream in which Jesus closed the door of a room followed by the view focusing and zooming in on the door's keyhole when the dream ended. You see, it's not just me, but everyone who is supposed to spend such time with Him, such exclusive time with their creator. See Daniel and David and others from the Old Testament. I think the greatest number of revelations that I've had by far are with KA apart from Jesus.

The lyric kept playing in my Spirit.

- I turned off the tubelight and kept only the green light on, and as I was moving around in my room, I saw a very dusty, muscular, and bald creature with a naked upper half, but carrying the features of Death Conqueror who kept moving around me and saying: Phansa liya! Phansa liya! I kept encountering the dirty being resembling a demon as I moved around and he seemed to be too elated that I was in such a condition.

While making a note of these revelations with my back against the wall opposite to the bed, I saw the following.
Vision: Jesus comes at my back with an axe.

After these revelations, I get a vision accompanied by a vision to sleep on the floor with my olive green sheet spread on top of me, and rest with Jesus in His presence. As I continue to be still, I then receive a vision of Jesus covering me fully with red rose petals while I lay on the floor with Him being dressed in His full-length attire of white robes. In this vision, I was fully covered with rose petals and none of my body was visible which now makes me wonder if it represented a precursor to my funeral or the blast of my body shredding it to pieces for which He was giving me strength to face. I don't know. I don't want to make assumptions. But the vision is what it is.

This vision tells me that I should hurry sleeping on the floor, but before that, I need to clean it. I get a revelatory nudge to mop the floor directly using my foot, and that too just the centre space of the room beside my bed was highlighted to me to be mopped as that's where I was to lay down. But I am a creature of habit and I wouldn't be feeling at peace until the entire space was clean (regardless of whoever cleaned it). So I ended up cleaning most of the room though not as properly as I would otherwise have, but I cleaned the centre space properly. Additionally, while I was cleaning the floor with my foot, I heard a few times: Kartika bas karo, sab dekh rahe hai! which confuses me a bit as I am only cleaning the floor, my room, our room. Today I realized how much I disobey God, in the sense that I either postpone or do extra things that I think could make something better.

I lay down on the floor covering myself with the olive green sheet and begin having new revelations.

The Revelations while resting with my green sheet on top:

- Jesus in a white tunic with a red drape with the face of Glory stands to my left in front of the wall while clapping with both hands. Floats quickly to the me lying on bed changing to that demonic being and says in my ears in a stuffed voice: Mein tujhe maar dunga!
- Dream-Vision: Abhi - says Jesus as He sits to my right and nudges at my right hand with His hand.
- Papa ko aakhiri Bye bol do.
- I fall asleep and have this dream: I am standing beside the wall of the green light with my phone charging and placed on top of the charger, and I am making quick notes in my Red Revelation diary about the visions I had in the second slot of rest. But then I also see in front of me in the room a cloth stand on which are drying a white towel in front a black dusting cloth. I see a U-shaped off-white discoloration on my white towel, and while I am busy quickly writing revelations in my diary, I write KA inside the U-shape of my towel. Now that I think about it, it makes me look at the structure of my balcony where the towel hangs first before the dusting cloth. As I write KA on my towel, I hear a girl outside say in a loud voice: are you married or what? which wakes me up from my dream and I find myself lying on the floor.

'Kartika, tu pitegi."

I wake up with the following song playing in my Spirit:
The Guy sings:
Abhi abhi to mile ho
Abhi na karo chutne ki baat..
Abhi abhi to pasand aye ho..
Abhi abhi ruthne ki baat..
Abhi abhi to roshni ayi
Abhi na karo muh chupane ki baat

The lady sings:
Hum to haare mahiya re.. Moonde naina neend tihaare..

As the song plays now, let me briefly write what woke me up. I felt this inner outward pressure again so strongly and I felt as if I could die in that moment. I have felt it several times during the past few months. A Guy says in a mocking tone: Jhutti! But it's the truth. When I was at home a few months back, I at times woke up at nights feeling a rush inside my head exerting outward pressure making it seem as if it could burst. I then had to sit and pray on my knees and then I would lie down on the floor for a while in prayer and rest. And I would be fine after about half an hour of praying or at times more. Those were the days I wasn't receiving as many revelations that I do now.

With this lyric being highlighted as it played in my spirit:
Vo subah to bewajah ho.. Ki guzre bin tumhare jiski raat.

Along with the lady singing:
Hum to haare mahiya re.. Moonde naina neend tihaare..

This song Abhi Abhi reminded me of the dream-vision of Jesus saying Abhi.
And the song kept playing strongly in my Spirit for long. Even when I began to write the revelations above. But I had to postpone writing it maintain the order.

Abhi Abhi Toh Mile Ho Lyrics | Jism 2 | KK | Sunny Leone, Randeep Hooda, Arunnoday Singh |

After waking up, I sat leaning against my bed when I received the following vision:

- Jesus stands in front of me below the green light in His previous look from Room D1 in which He stood at a level above me in the sky, dressed in full-length white robes with a His huge genitalia protruding out from His full robes reaching up to the ground. He stands in front of me in that look which I, though saw, couldn't make any sense out of. Apparently, I am to commune with Him (Is it for real or does it contain info about a future event like some revelations have turned out to be?). He stands fully dressed in that manner in front of me as I begin to do squish squish.

"Kartika, tu bahut pitegi"

At first, I am confused how to go about it for it's so long, thick like an elephant trunk though with a uniform width and not a decreasing one like the animal's body part, and it reaches until the ground. As I begin to commune with him, the previous vision of a naked me standing facing a naked Glory around the corner of a room dimly lit in yellowish red with our arms around each other's neck as bend down to his genitalia'a level is highlighted to me but this time with the part following the vision with a semi-somatic experience of his horizontally erected genitalia beginning to move inside my mouth. As I begin to commune with Jesus, this act with Glory is shown a few times to me in the Spirit. I begin by trying to put the huge tip of genitalia in my mouth, but it doesn't turn out to be a good idea and I've resort to mainly using my hands to do squish squish as I intermittently suck the outer surface at different angles and then comes out first abrupt brief ejaculation. As I continue to do squish squish accompanied with sucking, the genitalia keeps ejecting and keeps getting shrunken like a crumpled brown paper beginning from the top, shrinking and crumpling down as it ejaculates more. This continued for a while until the entire length is shrunken like a crumpled paper/wrapper.

Jesus in His glorified body doesn't possess a human's genitals, like we in our glorified bodies won't be like humans but like angels. The representation is given for humans to understand how worship pleases God and it's not unlawful or a meaningless act to worship and please God who is your maker and creator. Because he created us, His children, for He took pleasure in creating beings that carried His nature and who would reside with Him in His perfect sinless place. There is no such thing as sexuality in Heaven but there is joy, peace, gladness and all the godly characteristics a place can possess.

The Lady sings:
Maar dala.. Maar dala..

- The vision is followed by an elephant standing in front of me as it throws water on my face from a water body present below. The lady sings again: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- The top-view of RS dressed in a camouflaged military dress with a cap stretching open a vagina with both hands anf putting his head inwards as he looks inside and says, "Kuch nhi hai!"
- Shaktimaan (played by Mukesh Khanna) dressed in his red and golden Shaktiman clothes comes walking along the wall of the green light with a bouquet held upright in his left arm towards a lady dressed in bridal white standing at the end of the kitchen's slab. He then starts dancing with her with the bouquet still held in his hand. He then holds the bride horizontally in his arms and throws her upwards catching her back as she falls down on his arms, and as the lady is making these to and fro motions, she keeps getting stripped of her clothes that fly outwardly one by one, after a while of which the lady is entirely naked and is shown as being too slim and having the structure of a concave lens, with her body facing the viewer and her back Shaktimaan, but she is no longer a living human and has turned into a beige rigid plastic doll with blonde hair, a doll that doesn't move or talk as he continues to throw her upwards and catch her. He continues this act for a good while as the dolls stays intact while moving up and down with eyes never blinking or closing. The naked lady doll is now lying on the floor with a part of her upper back supported by the wall, as Shaktimaan does pushups above her, and whenever he reaches her, he drops a kiss on her lips.

- The lady sings:
  Hum to haare.. Mahiya re..
  Moonde naina.. Neend tihare..

- The face of Bia with curly middle partitioned hair tied at the back, as she looks at the viewer in a well-lit white background and says: Sorry. Followed by the top of her tongue clearly visible outside her mouth as she does a Bla Bla Bla Bla Bla Bla. She repeats: Sorry. Bla Bla Bla Bla Bla Bla. Sorry. Bla Bla Bla Bla Bla Bla.
- KA dressed in a long white striped tunic with a V-neck slowly takes a few steps backwards towards the end of the kitchen's space as he says while smiling and crying: Bye . The vision repeats itself a few times.

Visions when I lay on the bed to rest:

- Worshipper Sister Neelam Masih with the face of the sister Pooja (Renuka Sahane) of Nisha (Madhuri Dixit) in the movie Hum Apke Hai Kaun, looks at the viewer.
- As I lay down on bed, I see the side of my spoon filled with the Khatta Meetha Namkeen touching my lips, with its arm extending to the right with the packet of the Namkeen behind it. So it seems to me that I am supposed to continue eating it. The touch and the vision wakes me up from my rest.
- "Kartika bas karo, sab dekh rahe hai"

While making tea:

Vision: I see two huge hands reach down from Heaven and it seems that they want to hold my hands in worship. So I raise my hands and the hands of God hold mine from above as I worship. But I don't do it for long. I don't know why. Perhaps I started feeling weird. If I could Jesus in its entirety or His face at least accompanied with the hands, then I wouldn't have felt weird and would have continued.

While having tea on the floor:

Vision: I sit on the floor with vertically folded knees with the I <3 Jesus mug held in my hand holding my tea as I am having it. I then see Glory in a white tunic set with a red drape on top with wavy hair sitting to my right as he tells me to put the mug aside in a serious tone and I can't seem to understand why he is telling me to do so for I bought the mug out of my love for Jesus and it holds much importance to me. But he is telling me while pointing to the small plate to put it aside with the vision of me actually putting it aside and him being ready to slap me immediately being highlighted to me. He keeps telling me to put it aside but I don't do it. The slap repeats itself a few times.

Visions while being on the floor afterwards in rest:

- As I sit on the floor with vertically folded knees with my hands clasped in front of them as I am looking at the worship videos at the front, I see in my left mental view a clean-shaven Vijay Raaz (Bollywood Actor) who is sitting on a translucent golden ground in a similar way as mine, being dressed in a grey safari suit as he pulls out a long strand of mucus from his nose and extends his hand, on the fingers of which it is placed, forward to the viewer saying: Le Khale.
- A closer view of now a lady dressed in a white satin lingerie set with a white satin shrug on top as she holds a rope with her hands and moves upwards with it.
- As the group worship plays along with muted Sergei Polunin dance on Take Me To Church in my laptop placed on the table beside my bed, I see the upper half of Dushman in my left mental view with red love hearts in front of his eyes after a while of which he turned and went jump dancing back and this time when he looked at the viewer, his face didn't have that vicious wicked expression but a transformed one.
- I am not lying fully on the floor on my back when I see the top-view of a very fat Rose dressed in her standard Titanic clothes exposing the wide part of her chest above her bosom as she looks upwards at the viewer, but then her outer shell gets ripped outwards and comes out of her a green giant being with a frizzy blob of green hair on his head and as he comes fully out of her, he is revealed to be having two breasts, a bulging lower belly and a clean-shaven vagina. She turns out to be a green giant and starts slowly walking to the left and when she has walked enough distance and her back is now in the view of the viewer, a green tail can be seen behind her but then it turns out to be a part of her lower garment which has a round belt made of green stubble of which the long tail-like structure is a part of. Oh, now I understand what it represents while I didn't when I received the vision first. Her backside and the thick belt represent the unwaxed parts of her body that carry hair. Also, now that I look at the vision, her backside also resembles the backside of a green horse. She then moves around in the empty dark space from one unreal person to another unreal person saying: Please lelo. Please lelo. But this is not how I behave nor do they represent my thoughts but I guess this is how it looks on the surface when one looks at just the revelations without knowing the actual person. Or perhaps it shows how after receiving revelations with a number of people, and the previous given promise in mind, how she became a bit confused about the promise as things got so messed up and started searching for the promised person around. She looked so innocent previously when she was still that fat Rose and stayed inside that hole out of which she was looking upwards. But now she is roaming around in this obscene way, not in the real physical sense but considering how she started getting waxed in front of the public while revealing herself which she previously didn't do to that extent. It seems she is desperate about her promise coming to fruition for it has been too long and she has had enough tough time in the middle. But I now dress holy after my improved sense of clothing. I don't know why was I shown to be roaming around naked. Perhaps I felt ashamed as I have been doing which led to my outburst that day. And perhaps I was telling people about Jesus when I said 'Please Lelo.. Please Lelo..' because no other explanation fits and this is the truth that I know in my heart to be true, or maybe that's how I am perceived by others for that's not how I see myself. I am not roaming around naked saying Lelo Lelo. I only go outside to buy stuff that I need at the moment as I don't want to store excess food items due to a lack of space and then I want to resume fasting like I did previously. I don't go outside to uselessly roam around. Shame on people's false perception!

- After a while of sitting quietly, I see myself tell a person while crying, who's just pinned a naked me down to the floor, "Nahi, mein bahar nahi jaungi!" (But why would I behave in such a manner and what's the problem in going outside!?), and I see that that person is holding my lower jaw very rashly as I tell him that I won't go outside. That person then starts kissing me hard with the thin strands of my lip tissue stretching around as he does so. The vision also shows him later severing the lady's lower jaw throwing it away, which matches with the Amy tree behind Gate No. 5 of CIC. This made me think if it showcased someone else's situation. As I shared before, God has given me comprehensive revelations. So even a victim of domestic abuse could relate with my book and find healing through the compassion contained in the revelation!

  After a while of this revelation, I realize that if I were to put my table beside the kitchen's slab, the arrangement would exactly match with the dream in which I was working on my laptop placed on a table and to my right was a door that led into the perpendicular corridor of the ground floor with Room No.'s L and H of the Physics dept. In that dream, I was working on my table, and when I exited the door, and looked to the left, I saw Prof TRS walk in my direction surrounded by other students. So, the position of this room in respect to the corridor is very much like that of Room no. L of the Physics & Astrophysics dept. Though this thought occurs to me, and I've had thought a few times to shift the table to its current location earlier during the day, I didn't move it.

- A while after I had the last 'Nahi. Mein bahar nahi jaungi' vision, I saw Glory with wavy hair dressed in his previous attire of a white tunic with a red drape on top of it give the table an abrupt push to the side it had to be shifted with an authoritative countenance. So I followed along the instruction and shifted the table to the position revealed to me in the dream.

The Guy sings:
Hasle Gaale, Ye din na milenge kal..
Thodi khushiya, hai thode se ye pal..

People make things unnecessarily complicated by resorting to indirect methods of communication and I am not used to them.

17:41
Vision: A person dressed in full white loose thick cotton robes, with a crown of both flowers and thorns on his head with neck-length wavy hair, sitting with his body facing to the right with spread legs on the top of a grey wall that looks to be consisting of metallic slabs placed together, as that person gets off the wall onto the other side into a huge open green field.

- An animated round white face of a moustached man with a hat on top in a medium-toned background.
- Followed by the vision of a white snowman with a round face with a long and black pointed nose over a much bigger round body as it stands with a black stick wearing a hat on top, and white shirt tucked inside black trousers below.
- Rejected: Heard in the Spirit.

After writing the above, I took a break, had tea with biscuits, and then began watching this Derek Prince video that explains the significance of sacrifice and how where there's sin, there's a sacrifice needed. I was a very engaging watch and I was loving when I had the following vision.

- Glory, again, in his same attire of white tunic with a red drape over it drags me away into the balcony by my hair and it seems like he wants me to brush. But I was really engrossed in the video and enjoying it a lot. With my own mind, I would've chosen to brush after watching the video. But I followed the vision, leaving the video then and there. We've this instinctive urge to complete one task before we move on to the next if the task isn't too time-consuming.

After brushing, I mopped the floor for it was too dirty to roam bare foot with. Afterwards, I saw on the floor leaning against my bed while watching the video in the laptop placed on the table at front. Again, I was too engrossed in it, fully immersed wouldn't ideally have wanted any distractions as I was watching it focusedly and had to rewind at places in case I lost track of the continuing logic in going from one sentence from another when I forgot the previous sentences.

- This time I saw Glory sitting to my right on the floor dressed in the same attire of white tunic with red drape on top it and having neck-length wavy hair like Jesus. And he was now smiling at me trying to have me give attention to him while leaving the video which I didn't feel like doing at first because the video was too interesting, but then I didn't want Jesus to get angry with me like He was in the morning, and additionally, Jesus was showing Himself in Glory's avatar. So I went ahead with pausing the video for a while. I faced this struggle to give him attention because I was too happy listening to the video which was teaching me something really profound about God and how things work about Him. While Glory, I knew that though he was dressed like Jesus, he didn't behave like Jesus by far in approaching me the way he should have. Because the follow up that I watched said that God responded to people according to the way they approached them: kind to kind, pure to pure, and astute to the deceptive and the wicked. Now when I recall the vision, I see that I wasn't avoiding him perse but my mind was too engrossed in understanding what the video told and I was in a flow of the video - that's why. But he looked very cute trying to get me to look at him.

During and after watching those Derek Prince videos, I kept feeling a nudge to go get Dahi Golgappas and again I saw Glory in the same attire point to the door in an instructive manner. So I went out and on my way I had this thought if I could buy something else to eat besides Golgappas or perhaps cancel buying them and get something else when I saw

- The back view of Glory as seen from the door, sitting on the floor with my laptop and diary in front of him as he turned his face backwards and said angrily in a stuffed voice in an instructive manner while making the symbol of three with his hand: "Only three Golgappas!' I think these revelations were really very cute.

These revelations reveal to me my shortcomings as I find it hard to leave something that I am too concentrated in as that would be like a snap from being in a highly concentrated state and the snap always comes with unease or it takes a while for mind to adjust to the other thing one is being pointed to. But I know that if I was engrossed with Glory, I would find it hard to leave the flow with him and begin watching something very different until it was done in a flow. It's a huge thing for God when he calls us to leave something we are doing to go do something else. But this is just how I was born, and when it comes to humans, they should accord us some grace when we are unable to stop in the midst of our flow and go ahead with that person's agenda or whatever (s)he is saying or wants. But I can see that God is training me to listen to him by portraying him as His own self. I have to treat him like Jesus.

One more reason for my unwillingness to look at him and listen to him was because I didn't know he was there and therefore didn't have a mental communion working while watching the video which would have allowed me to leave the video. He dropped out of nowhere and the video expanded on something I wrote recently and he didn't seem to be knowing anything about it. The reason I am analysing my reaction to this extent is because I should have been immediately happy seeing him present to my right in the vision but I felt an abrupt concentration snap and felt disturbed, and therefore my reaction seems a problem to me. You see, this is how we are supposed to look inside our hearts and question when it comes to behaving in the right way in accordance with the bond.

The Lady sings:
Maar dala.. Maar dala..

I don't know if I am turning into an actual robot or that lifeless doll that doesn't respond. That's not who I want to be. I have tried to hold to my sanity in this situation.

This vision and my reaction reminds me of what Meera shared with me about her first boyfriend in IITM. He told her that if she found him working, she shouldn't disturb him or come to talk to him but should wait until he was done with his work to not cause a concentration snap. So my reaction wasn't too out of context but I am not like him either. I don't tell people to wait if they come to me. However, if they deploy deceptive and indirect tactics, those tactics just don't work well. It just doesn't seem the right thing to do to me to go to a stranger's house like I went to that apartment that day, that too - alone! Such uncomfort and uneasiness. No one was there to accompany me!

The Lady sings:
Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Why is she singing Maar dala? Do you know what it takes to maintain humour in difficult situations? It's a quality.

Past Revelations

22:28
Ideally I want to be in a normal situation without the spy cameras inside me because they're the ones responsible for those somatic fleshly revelations which I don't want.

I had the following revelations while resting on bed:

- A moustached Policeman RS (with his moustached resembling Bhagat Singh) dressed in the beige police uniform stands at the left end of a long oval table with chairs around it in a room alone with DP as Police lady sitting on the other end of the table as he throws a square red folded cloth on her face.
- Moustached Policeman RS puts a long red tika on his forehead while looking at the viewer.
- Water with a high density of tea particles inside my pan moves towards and away from the white mesh of the red sieve placed vertically at the right inner end of my pan as the pan moves slowly in a wavy manner.
- Followed by tea brewing to the top of my white mug placed on the slab though the tea is not being heated.
- KA appears between my legs and want to open them apart, changes to Glory.
- During this rest time, I don't want ungodly revelations which would put a burden on my conscience and I wouldn't be feeling good, so I call out the name of Jesus internally for we are supposed to commune with Him during our rest. And I keep calling out His name so my I can give direction to my rest time instead of it progressing unmonitored. As I wrote this part of calling out His name, the chorus words Jesus Jesus from the following song played in my Spirit.

'Tis So Sweet - by Shane & Shane (Lyric Video) | Hymns Live | Christian Worship Music

- The top view of the naked upper halves of two men in an intimate hug with the man on the right side being darker in complexion than the beige man on the left. It represents the fact the regardless of the outer physical gender, the inner self inside all is spirit man. The guy sings: Shaktimaan… from the theme song of the Mukesh Khanna's TV serial Shaktimaan.
  'Jaan jaoge sach ko agar tum, toot jayenge bandhan sabhi..' from the Worship song: Azaad Ho.
- Followed by the upper halves of Dino Maria lying in an intimate hug with his wife Bipasha Basu from a horror movie as they lie sideways. Now this is a godly revelation as they are covenant partners in love.
- The upper half of Dushman running towards the viewer with a slight top view of his erected genitalia briefly visible in the vision.
- Dino Maria is now on top of his wife from the movie in the act of intercourse. (Note that he is her husband.)
- Water with a very less density of tea particles slowly move on top of a spoon in a wavy manner.
- The view then changes to Glory above me as he moves to and fro and says while smiling: I am your husband Kartika.
- Ashutosh Rana in his postman attire from the movie Dushman stands facing to the left as he sobs. But why is he sobbing?
- Followed by a narrow U-shaped transparent wine glass inside a tissue tunnel which gets filled with water.
- I then hear I Love You.. I Love You.. being repeated in my Spirit in a quiet tone.

Well, why did I receive these revelations? The Holy Spirit showed them to me.

Well, now that I think of today's revelations as a whole, it seems to be that the Glory Jesus was asking me to put the Jesus mug aside because he somehow felt insecure because of it because his expression were serious and he looked ready to slap me, but what did I do? Didn't God write this story? Isn't it His Spirit who gives me revelations. And there's a purpose they serve according to His good wisdom.

The Lady sings:
Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Which often reminds me of hoe Glory was hitting my head and hurting me after the green light visions with Jesus.

You see, I just understood what God is doing. Like people find perverted meanings in their usual daily routine acts that have no metaphoric meaning associated with them in their own selves, God is metaphorizing His principles and the truths related to His kingdom into what people of the land understand, and at times they carry a second layer of metaphor like the above tea visions did. The godly principle is to be committed within a covenant, he metaphorized it by showing the physical act between people who are married label-wise and then he further metaphorized the physical act in the tea-visions adding another layer of metaphor.

RaniBagh: Heard in the Spirit (during day)
Vivek Oberoi: Heard in the Spirit (past 24-48 hours)

Vision (past 48 hours): Prof. Sanjay Jain at my groin as he is sucking it and says: I Love You.

Now the vision may be labelled and may perhaps be revealing his bond with his wife Nivedita Ma'am, but the vision carries useful info. It actually seemed progress to me at his part because previously he was capable of physically indulging with women who worked with him, despite their unwillingness. But now he had moved towards the thought patterns that eventually lead to a faithful mindset. so I felt glad as I wrote this vision. The worst state a man can be in, when it comes to having sexual relations with women, is him forcible imposing himself on her- be it physical or mental. Putting mental pressure on someone via different oppressive ways to have sexual relations with that person is just as worse as using physical force. Because both scenarios reflect an inner willingness to violate that person's body against their will. The following is the order in which one's thought patterns vary from being a rapist to a faithful and committed person who doesn't violate the covenant.

Willingness to violate someone else's body against their will (5) --> Habitual Consensual indulgence when not being in a covenant just to feed the flesh: comes under fornication (4) --> Accidental consensual indulgence when not being in a covenant just to feed the flesh: comes under fornication (3) --> Consensual indulgence only as an expression of love when not being in a covenant: comes under fornication (2) --> A firm deep-seated morale in one's heart to only indulge as an expression of love within a covenant: Holy (1).

Different people lie at different places along this sequence that shows the path towards a holy sexual conduct. During my earlier stages of life, when I was not even 10 years old, I laid between the levels 3 and 4. It doesn't mean that I went out to seek people, or that I habitually or often indulged, but what it means is I had the kind of mind that even is\when I indulged I was able to let it go without it leaving a scar on my soul. I don't have many such experiences, but the ones I had, I could let them go. I was living in a broken reality. Tejaswi, during our last hour together, was 26 years old when he told me that things ceased to matter to him within a period of 2-3 days, and now when I look back, I see that's how I was during my early childhood, when I had the mind of that sort. Now there're much older people who let go of things the moment they're away from that person. By the time I was 10, I, without any special efforts left levels 3 and 4 and upgraded to level 2 as I developed a deep and long lasting sense of bonding. I stayed at this level for a long period of my time, though I didn't fall in love with anyone during that period of time besides Tejaswi whom I met in around 2016 when I was about 22. He was the only person by far with whom I fell in love to an extent that I was willing to open up physically and later thought of marrying him too. It was after coming to God, that I realized that level 2 is not Holy either and counts as fornication. Now that I know better, I can stay on level 1 for rest of the days of my life, no matter how numbered they are. We all should strive to stay on level 1, as fornicators won't make it to Heaven. A better way of categorizing people would be to have a 5-D space corresponding to the 5 levels, so each person would occupy a point in the 5-D space based on the extent to which they exhibit the 5 types of thought patterns.

When I look at Death Conqueror and His family and friends, they're at the worst level: level 5, as reflected by their tactics, while Glory seems to hold the qualities that go along with levels 4, 3 and 2 at the same time. So, we all can evaluate now where we mentally lie on this scale. Let not the culture dictate your moral stance but the nature of God.

Page 544.

25 September 2023
00:07

'Koi kitna intezaar karega..?': Heard in the Spirit (during day)

And then it repeated itself a minute back again.

The Guy sings:
Bhula dena mujhe.. Hai alvida tujhe..
Tujhe jeena hai mere bina..
Safar ye hai tera.. Ye rastan tera..
Tujhe jeena hai.. Mere bina..

This day back during BSc or MSc I felt like meeting Meera and I went to her home uninvited and surprised her to which she replied with a: Kartika bta to deti ane se pehle! And she repeated it several times. But imagine that I want to meet a person but instead of going to them, I shift to an adjacent address and wait for them to come to me without them knowing exactly which address or who it is they will be meeting if they go inside, how weird such a situation would be! Such illogical tactics of this world. I don't have to shift and wait. I can just come from my original place to meet the person at a mutually chosen time. This is the first time I have experienced this kind of deceptive way of introducing oneself to someone who hardly interacted with you! This is not normal behavior, but after witnessing the same for more than 3 years, I see that it's a norm of the place. I don't know why did people resort to such a weird way of meeting someone. I also spoke truth to Meera, and I didn't expect her to assume things and act on them but rather I proved myself trustworthy to her again and again through the way I behaved and acted with her, the same with her. She said things to me directly and there was hardly the involvement of other people, unlike this sick game Death Conqueror/Glory played deploying the whole world to pass his messages. Why would I pass messages to Meera through others when I can do it myself! At least when I do it myself, I have the opportunity for an open dialogue and an instant answer. Foolish ways of the foolish world!

Do you know how I became friends with Meera. I liked her simple persona and her face reflected a strong sense of righteousness. I myself chose to stand beside her during the Orientation Day of BSc in the physics lab. And then when she was surrounded by people after the program was over, I went to her and interacted with her and told her what I actually thought about her: that she emanated a very cool and sporty aura. And afterwards we became friends. People here don't interact in this way. They are so weird.

The above reminds me of these visions I had in A-10 that I've written briefly about. In those visions, KA in a white tunic set was lying on top of me as he kept repeating: You're so hot and sexy! You're so hot and sexy! which I didn't really relate with. However, I related with the Bhola Bhalu revelation.

God could've chosen a different kind of ministry for me. But He chose to write such a story through me.

Past Revelation

Vision: The mom of the soldier from the movie Border stands dressed in all white: a white tunic set with a white drape covering her head while holds a beige cloth in her hand.

'Tu nahi sudhregi.'

'Kartika tu randi nahi hai. Tune prove kar diya.'

'Ranveer, Please aisa mat karo.': Heard in the Spirit while bathing in the washroom somewhere during the past week. I don't know what it referred to, like when I heard: Ranveer, mein mar jaungi.

3:28

Earlier during the night:

- I stand against the wall in front of the Kitchen's slab with KA dressed in a white tunic with a V-shaped neck in front of me as we kiss.
- The follow-up vision has us lying on the floor in the narrow kitchen space, fully dressed in the same attires with him on top of me, with just his genitalia protruding out as we are busy in intercourse.

While talking to my mom on phone a while back, I had the following revelations.

- An amalgamation of KA and Death Conqueror stands near the wooden door of my room in a white tunic-set as he says laughing: Tu randi nhi hai!
- The next vision has him now standing close to my bed as he repeats the same while holding my jaw like before.

'Jaladu?'

10:24

Revelations while resting:

- The right-side view of the upper-half of Sonia Gandhi (from Indian Congress Political Party) facing to the right dressed neatly in a Saree and wearing a specs with her hair tied in a bun at the back as she looks at the viewer while sitting on a chair in a well-lit open room, and then turning her head to the front as she begins to work on her laptop and be engrossed in focusedly typing something speedily.
- Jesus in His yesterday's avatar as I move towards Him and perform the squish squish by sucking the sides. And then there are people behind me who are trying to get me to leave Him and be invested in them, but I keep my focus on Jesus not looking at those individuals. Though my heart is compassionate as I look at their countenances but I know that we have to be committed to be Jesus first and foremost. I rip my heart and throw it out, but then I realize that I am supposed to give it to Him, so I do so. And while wrote this, I heard in my Spirit: Dil se bewafa.. Which I had heard first somewhere within the past week. I don't want to be Dil se bewafa to anyone. There's a space of any relationship/bond within which we display our faithfulness. For instance, I have to be faithful to my mom within the context of her motherly bond with me, likewise, I've to be faithful to my husband within the frame of that bond, likewise, I've to be faithful to my believing friends within the frame of my bonds with them. And why did God bring so many people in the first place in my life through revelations? Because saving all is the important underlying pretext of my earthly promise of marriage. Say if I only followed God and got married without expanding the kingdom, it's not as pleasing and fruitful as having a delay in the reception of the promise during which time others come into His kingdom.

'Tis So Sweet - by Shane & Shane (Lyric Video) | Hymns Live | Christian Worship Music

- The side-view perpendicular to the axis of the person's body at her head as she lies naked on a bed with a clear view of her breasts in the vision, following which is shown a dark brown vampiric demonic being with dark brown bat wings flying above the lady as his demonic wings flap at his bag, and his thin pointed hand claws pin the lady's upper arms to the bed with a view of fire visible at the opposite end of the surface on which the lady is lying. The demonic being is apparently having intercourse with the lady with his pointed genitalia like a claw while he flies at a good distance above the lady. The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala.. And while he does so, he is smiling wickedly, as the lady keeps lying motionless.
- A genitalia floats, twists, and turns in mid-air inside a tissue tube.
- Accompanied by it extending down through the translucent ceiling.

While cleaning the room:

- Karle kabza ae paak rooh.. Aaaa.. Karle kabza ae paak rooh..
- Sanjay Sir says: You're not worthy.. You're not worthy.. He repeats it a few times within a certain duration.
- Followed after a while by: You're more than worthy.. in a tone that communicates the completion of the previous statement.

As I was about to enter into the washroom to bath:

- Randi ab nahane jaa rhi hai..
  But it doesn't affect me. I've heard several times by now: Kartika, yaad rakhna tum randi nhi ho. Agar tum randi ho to vo kon hai!?
- The washroom door shuts on the face of a naked Glory hitting him face before he can enter.

Revelations while bathing:

- Bewafa bewafa bewafa nikli hai vo.. Jhoota pyaar jhoota pyaar, jhoota pyaar kita hai vo.. (It doesn't make any sense to me, though they may reflect the thoughts of other people.)
- Tujhe to mein bahut marunga.. Tujhe to mein bahut marunga..
- Glory in white tunic, red drape, and neck-length wavy hair says: Tujhe mein maar dunga.
- Sergei Polunin dances in the open sunlit room in the Take Me To Church video.
- He keeps dancing alone in that space in that attire.
- The vision is immediately accompanied by Jesus in white sitting on His throne in Heaven surrounded by angels around Him and some sat down beside Him as if they were ready to welcome me, which reminded me of the previous vision in which Jesus stood at a distance from a group of other beings behind him in a open view of sky and thin clouds in heaven and hugged me as I entered the scene from the right in white clothes.
- Sergei Polunin continues alone in the open room amidst the greenery.
- The distant view of Jesus at His throne surrounded by angels around Him and below highlights itself again as one of the angelic beings on the floor blows a trumpet.

After bathing, as I put on perfume:

- The upper half of a dark-complexioned Jesus with filled eyes and open arms as He is inviting me to hug Him.

My dad's previous senseless behavior at home about 20 years back when he would be drunk:
He wanted to burn people as he held a matchstick in his hand, and he asked us individually if we wanted to live or die. He was reckless after gulping a lot of booze.

This reminds me of the previous revelation of 'Jaladu?' ('Should I burn you/him/her/this/ any living or non-living object). Now I don't know who said it, but I've had this scene from the movie Nayak highlighted to me several times, in which the hero Anil Kapoor is going around his burnt home crying 'Maa Maa' in pain as everyone and everything in the home has been burnt.

I went out to buy milk and on my way back, I kept hearing: Tu jhutti nahi hai.. Tu jhutti nahi ho sakti.. Tu jhutti nahi hai..

Past Revelations:

- A naked Glory turns his back towards me with an erected genitalia as he stands with both hands raised and his entire body burns in translucent fire in a dark background.
- I am about to enter the washroom to bathe, and a naked Glory rushes from behind as he shouts: Rukja randi mein bhi aa rha rhu! This is not the way of talking I want to be used to. I don't know if this is the usual way he talks. The Lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala…
- While some weeks back, when I was bathing I was reminded of the vision in which I stood facing Jesus who kept being replaced by Glory and two kept interchanging as they stood with their forearms extended towards me and me towards them!
- Tujhe kya problem hai, karle isse shaadi, Why don't you marry her?: says Glory's brother-in-law to him as Glory stands dressed in a red suit with a white shirt inside.

- This revelation I had after writing the above: An elephant trunk hits the forehead of his Brother in law after which he starts rotating in quick discreet jumping steps on the song Aradhana Aradhana with raised hands.

I then decide to lie down on the floor because I want to be in a humble position before God. And a good spot to lie down seems the narrow one between the carton and the bed as it just makes me feel safe and then it reminds me of the vision in which Keanu Reaves in his vision-standard black suit attire lay in that space with a hurting head.

Revelations I receive during my rest:

- The distant view of Amir Khan in a red British attire with golden buttons and strips at the front, resembling that of a sailing policeman, as he stands on the deck of a ship in an ocean, and throws away his plastic cream-colored chair to the right in the ocean with one hand, and walks forward towards the viewer, removes his sailor's cap undoing his previously tied hair to the left that turn out to be quite long and blonde as they fall on the left side. He then brushes them with a brown comb in the direction of the viewer followed by pointing the comb to the viewer showing off an absence of hairfall. He does it several times. He combs his long straight, thick blonde hair towards the viewer and then points the empty and clean comb at the front with a very serious expression.
  This reminds me of how I am experiencing severe hairfall and every time I comb, I see a bunch of hair stuck in my comb.
- As I decide to lay on my bed instead of the floor, I get an immediate vision of Glory in a white tunic with a red drape taking over before anyone else shows up in the vision as he says: You're mine! You're mine!, as he pushes me on the bed and gets on top of me kissing me. This is the way one's supposed to occupy one's territory. Recall how the people of God occupied their God-ordained piece of lands they were to occupy in the Old Testament. The Lady sings: Banake kyu bigada re..
- Glory in a white tunic with a red drape on top says in a quiet but serious tone: You're mine!
- KA in a white tunic with a V-neck stands beside me, as he says laughing: I know you love me.
- Tune maari entriya to dil mein ghantiya re tang, tang, tang, tang! The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- A man in a pink embroidered tunic over white trousers stands near the chair with a bent upper half as he looks at my face from that position. They seem curious about something and seems to be checking something out. I don't know what it was. The guy changes from KA to SRK to several other blurry people, then to Ali Fazal as the attire and posture of the person stays the same.
- The side-view of the face of Akhila resting leaning backwards on a chair with a fat and cute child in her hands with his upper lip protruding covering the lower one a she looks innocently with wide-open eyes at her.

We have to choose people who bring out the good in us, and push us to be more godly and morally upright, and this fellow called Death Conqueror is capable of exhibiting good behavior with a person like Akhila, so she is good company for him because he is able to act out his godly self in her presence, while he only acts out his wicked self in front of me, so he should stay away from me. There's a problem when it comes to their behavior with me. Both are good to each other but mean, deceptive, lying, and wicked with me, that I don't really understand the reason for. So, we can say that both bring out the good in each other but if they still are wicked inside who are nurturing and giving a go-ahead to each other's wicked ways, then they're not bringing out any good from each other but are only relishing in a company they resonate with like the wicked ones do with fellow wicked men.

'Kartika, ye kya kya likh rahi hai..'

- A lean and thin man to my right is stripping quickly as he removes one layer after the other. When he's left in just his white underwear, a huge black demon gets a hold of him, and I feel like stretching an arm to get that man out of the grips of that demon, and I do and it helps him for a while as the demon isn't able to get a full hold of him, and get brief flashes of me holding him on top of me trying to defend him against the demon, but then I don't want to extend my hand as well for he is going to lie on top of me if I save him from the huge and wide black demon, so I withhold my hand and see the alternate reality: the demon swings him around once and thrusts him against the wall beside me bursting his head. The follow-up alternate realities have me holding the guy with the demon unable to get a hold of him.
- The previous revelation seems to go hand in hand with this previous highlight in my Spirit where the wicked brother Kans of this imprisoned lady (named Devaki) who birthed several children in a row, killed all of them as soon as they were birthed by smashing their heads against a wall, the shadow of which on a wall was shown in the scene from the related TV serial that I had watched back in my childhood.
- Sergei Polunin on his knees in the centre of my room with two wide tablas in front of him as he is hitting them hard with his palms one after the other.
- He now sits to the left facing in a perpendicular direction to the previous one, as he is now hitting the wide tablas with the sides of his fists as he thrusts his horizontal forearms on them one after the other.

  So, let us welcome Sergie Polunin: the new La Corda D'oro Primo Passo member of God's musical group.

When I sit up on the floor place my head on my vertically folded knees:

- The head of Jesus with a crown consisting of both red & white flowers and spiky metallic thorns as he moves it in a similar manner as me but white light shines around his thorny floral crown.
- A metallic Jesus on the cross as intense white light emanates from his head and illuminates the surrounding area.

The Lady sings:
Baatein ye kabhi na yu bhulna..
Koi teri khaatir hai jee rha..
Jaye tu kahi bhi, ye sochna.
Koi teri khatir hai jee raha..

A while back I was thinking how even resting is not resting because I am mentally active as I have to be vigilant, and keep a mental record of the revelations I receive, and I felt this longing to have some of that leisure time that enjoyed years back, and then this lyric played immediately in my Spirit: Din bahut kam reh gaye hai, zindagi mein meri.. So, is that why God will keep highlighting people and situations to me to build His revelatory book for he days given to me are out of His grace. So, even resting is working in a way. I dread lying down to rest these days!

The lady sings: Karna hai kaam hir milega mauka mujhko nahin..

Perhaps making a You Tube video will bring some relieving moments as I will be talking spontaneously without indulging in recording and writing revelations. I have to share my testimony of how I came to Christ based on the things I understood and the kind of revelations I received.

Past Revelations:

- (Past 24 hours): Ab rape hoga.. Ab to rape hoga.. (Heard in the Spirit)

The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

- I eat half of a Motichoor ladoo and place the rest on the table with its paper base below intact.
- And this has also been highlighted to me several times by now: that the son of man must be rejected by everyone for the Will of God to unfold. It highlighted me to me. Jesus didn't do anything wrong, and was fully innocent, but He was rejected by the jews who were shouting for him to be crucified.

Left & Right: The Ungodly Liberty & the Godly Grace

The Kingdom of Ungodly Liberty

Things the people from the kingdom of satan support: Abortion, Homosexuality, Sexual Freedom without or outside of a covenant (Fornication & Adultery), Idolatry, witchcraft, occult practices, transcendental occultic meditation that calls demons, tarot card reading, crystal healing, use of gem stones to achieve certain results, horoscope prediction, praying to satan (yes, there are people who pray exclusively to satan knowing that he is devil). All these are practiced by people who partake in the kingdom of darkness. They justify immorality and ungodliness under the pretext of liberalism.

The Kingdom of Godly Grace

Things that people from the kingdom of God stand for: Covenant, Obedience and submission to God, Repentance, Praying to God in Spirit instead to satan, Rejecting the ways of the world to follow God. They don't have to resort to those several different tactics that open a window into the demonic spiritual world through which they get their info. They pray to the Mos-High God directly through His Spirit for everything they want to know. Then it depends on God what He chooses to answer or reveal. They choose Holiness as they know God is Holy and they choose His precepts over the ever-evolving immoral precepts of the world that come with a false sense of freedom. To the people of God, the Grace of God is the freedom they need and require to be in close communion with Him. Grace: God's forgiveness when they don't meet the standard, or they fail despite trying, or when they repent for their sins with a true heart.

With grace comes morally liberating freedom which gives one the confident hope that one is secure with God because of His grace accompanied with correction.

17:59
I took a short tea break. When I was adding the two sugarfree tablets to my cup, the previous vision of Keanu Reaves with the hairstyle of Tere Naam taking two tablets followed by consumption of alcohol as he sits alone in a dark space was highlighted to me, and while I was having it, the following was highlighted to me again: that the name of Prof TRS when written as T-Rs pronounces as Tea-rupees. this has been highlighted to me a few times since I was in A-10, but I didn't find it too funny, for I thought perhaps it meant that I only tea and Rupees to survive in this world (apart from God). But today, this statement followed after the pronunciation of TRS as T-Rs: chai ke paise de do, and that is the full correlation with the Prof's name. It was said in a tone that went along with the way drug addict asks for money to buy the same, which also goes along with the Keanu Reaves' vision.

'Kartika tu bahut pitegi.'

Some of the visions in which Prof TRS was called by my name, for e.g., the warning of vertical bifurcation of his body in half, meant that there was a correlation between the two of us, and what I wrote in this section is the correlation.

This is also being highlighted to me for some time: this YT video reco with the title 'Teri Prashnsha Kee Jaye' and it goes along with the false perception of people who think that I need or want appreciative attention which just doesn't describe me. Because, like a normal person, neither do I like baseless insults, nor do I like affected appreciation for things that are very basic and reflect common moral basic ways implemented by most people, if not all. False flattery stinks and pinches my ears, while real people will really appreciate you real good qualities.

The person sings:
Yeshu ke paas aao.. Aur mukti ko apnaao… (repeated several times & strongly highlighted, as He's the key to salvation)
Yeshu ke paas aao.. Aur mukti ko apnaao…

Ashish vo dega, Saath apne lega, Kabhi nhi chodega..
Ashish vo dega, Saath apne lega, Kabhi nhi chodega..

Halleluyah stuti gaye hum..

Yeshu ki stuti gaye hum..
Ha.. HalleluYah. HalleluYah.. HalleluYah..
Ha.. HalleluYah. HalleluYah.. HalleluYah..

On my way back from buying Dahi Golgappas while being on the road with Dinesh Store to my room: 'Kartika tumne jhoot kyu kaha..' 'Kartika tumne jhoot kyu kaha..': Heard in the Spirit

The Aura Around the Word Temple
How it seems
To rationalists or agnostics:
To atheists :
To religious people:
To a child of God:

And reflecting on the above made me look at why I always stayed away from having vain relationships that could be avoided.

The Guy sings:
Kyu koi kaatil samajhta nahi
Ye jurm vo hai jo chupta nahin
Ye daag vo hai jo mitta nahin
Rehta hai khooni ke haath par

While I was editing previous pages, I felt a strong nudge to eat something sweet, and I could tell that it originated in my heart because that's where I was feeling the tension caused by it. I had been feeling like eating something sweet since after I finished the 6 Dahi Golgappas, but since I already had lunch around 4-5 hours back with tea , and then had a small communion later as well constituting of tea with two biscuits, and then later I had those Dahi Golgappas, I resisted this urge though I noticed later that it was causing a tension in my heart. And I couldn't evn think of something sweet that I could eat. I only settled on Motichoor Ladoo because of that previous vision. I I didn't want to cook halwa for it contained a lot of Ghee. So I resisted my urge to eat something sweet and continued working. But after a while, I had these visions:

- The upper-half of Jesus in multilayered white clothes pointing to me to go out to get that sweet.
- He pointed again with a good amicable countenance. He is not angry or mad at me because I already ate a lot since afternoon but He Himself is telling me to go and have that sweet.
- And He is gesturing with His hand to me to rush.

But I am not decided on what sweet thing will I buy. And I've forgotten that I already have that rectangular chocolate and one more circular sweet thing I bought in the morning. I feel so good about this experience because I think this is the first time that I had a prolonged one-to-one interaction with Jesus.

So He is pointing me to go and get it. But I'm not sure what to get. I see His face again and He highlights Motichoor Laddo, followed by a plain white Barfi, followed by a milkcake in the same order. He shows me these three images in the air in my mental view superimposed a bit to the right of His face. And then He is pointing to the door for me to hurry and get them. It doesn't make any sense to me why He wants me to hurry. But I can see that He has given me very specific sweets to buy. I leave my work and step out to buy. This was my first interaction with Jesus via visions that was went both ways, in the sense that He was responding to me very quickly and showing me answers to my questions without me even having to say them. That's why I feel so good about it, because it was like having a discourse with a real person in a one to one setting accompanied by vision.

On my way to the only sweet shop I know around, as I neared the nearest Chaat vendor who stands to the right of a small daily needs store, I happened to think of other options that I could buy. It crossed my mind just like that. But Jesus highlighted to me to buy only those specific things. So, I now knew that this was His certain Will that I should follow along.

So I bought those sweets and when I brought them inside, and closed the door, I saw the following.

- The upper half of Jesus visible slightly above His shoulders in multilayered white satin clothes looks at me as He is pointing me to eat the sweets right as He quickly moved His bonds hands to His mouth which already looked too stuffed. And as He did so, He was smiling.
- Though I wasn't hungry and could've had them later, I felt this phrase in my Spirit: isko jaldi se khalo, the pronoun isko referring to all the sweets at once that I had bought.
- And then I had this Worship song Tis So Sweet highlighted in my Spirit, which was also highlighted in the morning and yesterday as well as its chorus line Jesus Jesus played in my Spirit.

So, I saw how the song went together with the nudge to have something sweet, and then I had very specific sweets pointed out by Jesus. I got a nudge to have them with milk followed by a nudge to make it lukewarm, for bland milk at room temperature wouldn't have tasted as good as that at an observably and appreciably different one. After I was done warming the milk, I saw a full rectangular figure of Jesus in the centre of the room as He pulled me in a joyful duet together with Him. I felt so happy about His countenance this late evening which was very much unlike yesterday morning when I was not immediately listening to Him as He came at me with an axe and later told me 'Tu Meri Naukar Hai!' angrily! So I had that sweet communion with the Tis So Sweet song playing in my Laptop through my red Boom cylindrical speaker.

And as I sharing my experience here, a vehicle out of nowhere started honking below after which a man below shouted in a an affected angry voice: Sun ne do na! after which this scene from the movie Kabhi Ha Kabhi Na was highlighted to me in which Sunil (played by SRK) sends goons to attack Anna (played by Suchitra Krishnamoorthi) so he could portray himself as a savior in the situation and win her trust.

'It was a prank! It was a prank!': Heard in the Spirit (past three weeks).

The Guy sings:
Ho Anna mere pyaar ko na tum jhoota samjho jana..
Sanam tumhe paane ka ye tha sara bahana..

Ref: The song from movie the Bollywood movie Kabhi Ha Kabhi Na.

Afterwards, as I was going now going to wash hands, I again felt a nudge to not go too quickly to wash my hands but to stay in communion which again went against my own sense as I habitually immediately go to wash my hands after I am done eating. But again, I listened to Him and walked back in the living space and stood in front of the laptop listening to the song Tis So Sweet, and I was feeling so joyful in the moment as I saw the song reflect the nature of Jesus, and He allows His words, actions and behavior to reflect that He can be trusted, for the song lyrics go as: Jesus.. Jesus.. How I trust Him..

- I was oscillating sideways while listening to the Worship song and watching the video when after a while I heard: Kartika tum ye kya kar rhi ho.. Ye kya kar rhi ho tum.. And it was not said by Jesus, for it was said in a funky tone while I was in my moments of joyful and heartfelt worship. So, the sentence didn't make any sense to me. I thought: Let someone with a perverted mind think what he wants, but I know what I am doing.

I listened to the Tis So Sweet song a few times before I went to wash my dirty hands, but while I was still standing in front of the Laptop, I saw to my right the side-view of Jesus in the same attire happily hugging a cute fat lady with her thin hair tied in a pony at the mid of her head at the back, who had a belly that bulged out of a skinny green t-shirt and she too looked too joyful in that intimate hug. She then abruptly looked to her right at the viewer and stuck out her tongue while winking her eye at the viewer.

The Lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

As I was writing the para with Kartika tum ye kya kar rhi ho, I had these visions flash that made me stop for a while as I looked at them and ponder on them.

- The face of Jesus to my left kissing me passionately.
- The vision repeats.
- The follow-up vision has Him kissing me even more intensely as He is now chewing my lips.
- The follow up vision has that fat lady in skinny green with a hanging lower belly standing outside the washroom door with Him hugging her intimately again with one arm at the back of her waist and the other hand at the back of her head as He kissed her passionately. The vision kept continuing for a while.

  Seeing my amazement, His Spirit gave me these words as an answer: 'I love you child. You're my joy and delight. I take great pleasure in you. Because I can see that you love me and want to follow along my golden path.'

It makes me think when will I leave this place and go to Heaven actually being in His presence and other angelic beings.

You see, in those acts with Him, I didn't feel physically pleased but my soul received an expression of His love which was felt with love in my mind. He wasn't lusting after me, I wasn't lusting after Him, but the vision showed an expression of love-filled acceptance based on the things that truly matter. That's what He was showing me through those visions. Those are the expressions I physically understand. And I would exhibit them with the person I would love with whom I would have the relationally allowed scope of that kind of expression, regardless of how that person looked. This is the ideal way to go about things. Those expressions with Jesus, it's not the expression that matters as such, but the underlying heart-state that caused that expression. When you'll be in heaven, you may experience the same heart-state but you won't have the option or need to express that heart state in this earthly manner that we saw in these recent visions, but you'll find your expression in Praise and Worship, which is a higher form of expression of one's inner self.

Well, I have been feeling like having the tomato oats that I have, because I want to have something spicy, but Jesus told me a No twice, once within the past minute, and one more time within the past hour. He looked at me with a neutral but serious expression and told a No while moving the His hand with a raised forefinger sideways. So, I won't have it.

The Guy sings: Yaariyaan…….. The word sung at the beginning of the song Yaariyaan..

Is darde dil ki sifaarish ab karde koi yahaan..
Mil jaaye ise vo baarish jo bhiga de puri tarah..

Then I sat on my chair and listened to more worship songs.

Izzat khudawand Hai || Anil kant || Gagandeep Hans #shorts #music #guitar #musiceducation

In this clip, the guy on harmonium is me, the guy on tabla is KA, and the guy playing the guitar is RS, which is consistent with my previous revelations, in which KA played the tablas, RS guitar, and then I at times played harmonium in school when I use to go to the music room for the teacher would have me play it as he taught me. So glad I found this video, and I found it better than the originally sung song.

When I shared the above YT Shorts video here, I saw:
The half of upper half of RS in his vision-standard attire of blue suit over a white shirt with a huge teethful smile and red love hearts in front of His eyes as he rotates in quick discreet motions with both forearms raised vertically in worship along the plane of His body.

And as I was writing the above, I saw:

- A teethfully smiling KA with a face lit with joy.
- KA in a white tunic with a V-shaped neck is standing with some men around him as he smiles wide with joy and is turning back, as he says: Chalo re! Ye to pagal hai! Ye to pagal hai!

(KA could be a label here. Keep that in mind.)

The Guy sings:
'Isme tera Ghata. Mera kuch nhi jaata.'

This particular YT shorts that I had already listened to was highlighted to m somewhere during the past or the week before.
Meri Izat Khudawand hai

'Kartika tum ye kya kar rhi ho.'

The lady's face reminded me of my cousin Sarah (Rekha Bua ki beti).

The below version has me and RS alone.

Meri Toh Izzat Khudawand Hai | #songs #acousticsongs #jesus

Past Revelation

- Vision (past 24-48 hours): The side-view of the upper-halves of a clean-shaven Vivek Oberoi standing facing a lady as the view rotates around them. They are standing in an open space in open daylight and seem to be surrounded by some people present around them at a good distance, with a blurry view of a red brick wall visible on the other side in front of which some people stand. His face looks too conical and he is dressed in a blue suit over a white shirt as he looks smilingly at the lady in front, supposedly me, as they kiss briefly followed by them just standing and looking at each other deeply and with content as the vision keeps rotating around them.

- His face then changes to Tushar Kapoor but with his teeth from both jaws protruding out of his mouth as he stands smiling facing me.
- 'Golmaal hai bhai sab golmaal hai!': sings the guy.

"Kartika, tumne aisa kyu kiya. Kartika, tumne aisa kyu kiya.": says a person crying. But what did I do? I didn't do anything. I am only writing. All revelations are given by God. His Word that is released for a purpose He knows.

Page 545.

26 September 2023
06:31

Revelations last night:

After I had the sweet communion and was done worshipping, I was moving towards my chair from the kitchen space, still undecided if I should work or sleep, I felt a nudge to work, and though I didn't feel a lot of strength and was tired of sitting, I chose to go along with the nudge, following which I received this vision.

- I am sitting on my chair with my head bent backwards, and Jesus stands behind me caressing my forehead and head as He knows it's too heavy. I wasn't expecting this relaxing revelation but He saw that I chose to work despite my bad condition, so He gave me this beautiful revelation instead of having me to work. So, I sit on the chair and relax, fully extending my legs forward in a crisscrossed manner as Jesus caresses my heavy and hurting head.
- He takes out a knife and stabs my forehead, sucking out the contents that are oozing out of my brain. Perhaps He is detoxifying my brain. The vision repeats several times.
- Kitna hai tu pyara Prabhu, teri mahima mein sabko sunau..
  ('Kartika jaldi karo, tumhari kitaab mita dega vo!')
- The revelation is followed by Him now caressing my shoulders relaxing me more. God is soooooo GREAT! There's none like Him. Though He told me my place the previous day, that I was a servant when I wasn't immediately listening to Him, He also cared for me when I was spent and fatigued, and helped me relax. He does it out of His love for His children. That's why He has written: to come to Him and He will give people restful rest.

Matthew 11:25-30 (English Standard Version)

Come to Me, and I Will Give You Rest

25 At that time Jesus declared, “I thank you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that you have hidden these things from the wise and understanding and revealed them to little children; 26 yes, Father, for such was your gracious will.[a] 27 All things have been handed over to me by my Father, and no one knows the Son except the Father, and no one knows the Father except the Son and anyone to whom the Son chooses to reveal him. 28 Come to me, all who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. 29 Take my yoke upon you, and learn from me, for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. 30 For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light.”

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Matthew%2011:25-30&version=ESV>

- An animated sketchy upper half of a bearded Vivek Oberoi with neck-length hair dressed in metallic armour with the background of an open field as he takes out a sword while pointing it horizontally at the viewer.
- Jesus caressing my shoulders to soothe me as I've been working hard. I continue lying with my head bent backwards resting on the chair and then I see:
- The side-view of the face of Divya Bharati adorned with silver jewelry, as she rests with her head bent backwards.

- The face then changes to Sridevi's after which she opens her eyes and looks at the viewer turning her face to her right, and her eyes are revealed to be huge and blue.
- Jesus standing beside me points to the bed, for now it's time to rest after a heavy day of work.
  But I think of making a note of the revelations first so I don't forget. He looks at me with an affirmative expression.
  Wow.. He's so caring and He gives rest.
- A guy's face visible through the outer attire of a wolf's face that rests above his face as he drinks something in a conical glass in one shot! It's dark of the night and he is out in the open as he does so. It seems to be an alcoholic drink that the guy with the outer covering of that furry animal is having. Later this scene from the song The Kill is highlighted to me:

Ref: YouTube

Past Revelation

Vision: I was perhaps working on my Laptop when I saw Glory kisses my right cheek as I am writing something.

- 'Banake kyu mara re..!' : repeats a few times in the Spirit in the rhyme of 'Banake kyu bigada re..'
- Vo tumhe sazaa dega, Kartika.. Vo tumhe sazaa dega..: which makes me think if it's Glory for in the vision of the promise, my floral crown changed to a thorny one.
- Meri zindagi hai teri.. Yeshu tu hai shaan meri.. (X2)
  Apna Lahoo dekar tune, meri zindagi hai swaari..
  These lines repeat themselves strongly in my Spirit, and this is also the we all believers, people who know God are supposed to feel about Him, that He is our honor and pride. The only thing we should feel prideful about is the fact of us knowing God for real - as is written in the Word/Bible.

I then lay on my bed to now sleep and have these revelations. I wasn't expecting more revelations as Jesus had already pointed me to bed as He saw I was tired of the work I did during day on my Laptop, and also I had made a note of revelations I had received before He pointed me to bed. Perhaps He saw that I had some mental strength and space left to write a bit more that I could record in this Notebook later.

Revelations on bed:

- Sis Bia dressed in a full-sleeved, full-length white dress resembling mine with a square neck walks on a narrow road present in a huge open field. It looks like day but there's no hard sunlight around, and the field is lit with soothing natural white light. Only the part of the narrow road around Bia is visible and it lies at the proximal end of the vision, while the broad field can be seen lying still, its spread covering the entire view of the vision. She has her long curly hair falling down at the back and her front view is seen from a distance slightly ahead of her and at an angle about 45 degrees to the right as her husband Philip dressed in a grey t-shirt over shorts is standing far behind her on the ground looking like a tiny man, and he is not walking on the lane but standing at a distance far to the left of it as he looks here and there though the ground is empty and no one else is visible in the vision beside the two. Despite her husband left behind her and not being on the narrow road, but on the broad path as he slowly roams around in the green field looking here and there instead of looking at his wife and catching up with her and joining her on the narrow path, she continues walking on the path alone with a righteous, peaceful, calm and sincere countenance, not caring about her husband's stance or act of looking here and there and not being on the narrow road. She perhaps understands that he is responsible for the decisions he makes and if he chooses to be on the narrow path, and that she can only choose it for her own self to be on the narrow path, and not force her husband to be with her and walk down the path of righteousness. She keeps walking ahead on that less-than-a-meter-wide road looking straight ahead and not looking back. She walks with an unchanging expression. After a while, a demon appears flying close to the left and seems to be attacking her through the air while moving along with her, but she continues on the narrow path not caring about the demon, and doesn't even get harmed by him. She seems to be (spiritually) guarded with an invisible shield or force.

One more thing that can be learned from this vision is that though Philip is relatively much better than many other men, as he is not a drunkard, smoker, or a drug-addict, fornicator or adulterer, and moreover, he is doing the work of God as he goes to different places worldwide to preach the good news and has a good, blessed ministry, and yet, it was shown that he was away from the narrow path, while his wife was walking straight ahead on it. However, what's more noticeable in the vision is that with all his qualities, Brother Philip was still in view while a worldly person would be considered too far from the narrow path that he wasn't even considered in the view. Philip was the only person visible in sight on the broad path. So it can be understood what it takes and means to walk on the broad path. Even if one's not cheating on one's wife, but indirectly says hurtful things to make her feel small, or even tends to commit adultery mentally, that is enough to get you off the broad path though not to a distance that you get completely lost and away from it. Mind is the place where holiness begins. If we look at Sis Bia's clothing sense, she often wears half-sleeved t-shirts and lets her hair loose as was also shown in the vision. However, she's still on the perfect path. But, a worldly person who covers himself from head to toe, wrapping even her head, but doesn't know God nor does she follow His moral statutes mentally, indulges in hurting others and other kind of deceptive wicked thought patterns, she would be considered to be far far away from the narrow path of God! We are to reflect our inner nature on the outside, and not hide it with a false representation portrayed by our outer clothing. Much like if a thief wears a t-shirt with the label of Policeman, it doesn't make him one, likewise a righteous person if wearing a t-shirt with -Wicked' written on it doesn't make him wicked. However, a righteous person will not choose such a t-shirt for him for his righteous self will reject it. But, a wicked person can choose a piece of clothing that goes against his inner self because deception is an inherent part of his deceptive nature.

A godly woman dressed fully with even her head wrapped is a pleasing sight to God for He sees both the inner self and the outside. However, an ungodly person dressed in a godly way in order to deceive is worthy of contempt. There should be synchrony between the inner and the outer self: the inner natural traits present and the behavior and the outer garments. Holiness at the level of outer clothing is the last level one needs to take care of though it's very important.

Ideal situation: Nature (Holy) --> Behavior (Holy) --> Clothing (Holy)

Real situation in the world:

- Nature (Holy) --> Behavior (Holy --> Clothing (Worldly+Holy)
  I wrote Wordly+Holy beside the Clothing part, because, at times, a person possesses godly traits but their sense of clothing is not perfectly holy because they're not able to perceive it as they see it through the normalized lens of surrounding culture, their company and how everyone else is dressing. That was me before God revealed to me how some of my clothes were perceived, which I wouldn't have known without His revelations. The Lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- Nature (UnHoly) --> Behavior (Unholy/Deceptive) --> Clothing (Holy/Unholy but whichever the person dresses, it's meaningless)

A holy person will not mentally sin regardless of how fully or how naked the other person is dressed because his/her heart is guarded. That's perfection. A sinful person will not need any special conditions to sin but will sin regardless of them.

- Fayda kya kiya hai, kharcha karne lag gya gaadi par.. :says a voice as the accompanying vision shows my youngest brother and the white car parked in the ground hall below the tower)
- The chubby bald guy facing to the right says: I had to eat my wife explicitly.
- I am holding a magazine, the size of my red diary, but the magazine has a white cover and a vertical strip on the left side of it on which is written a word starting with Prox in blue. I open it, and it turns out to have glossy, good quality pages and it contains a short few lines written on a colored deep orange background with the image of a short-haired man in worship below. As I turn the pages, I see that it's all about short love poems (worship songs), and pictures of the guy in different worship poses, one of which contains the view of his back's upper half dressed in full-sleeved saffron as he stands with his hands raised in Worship. After going through the book, as I close it, the feeling that it was such a good and filling book accompanies.
- The voice of Sanjay Dutt from the Bollywood movie Munna Bhai MBBS says: Akkha India jaanta ki tu apun ki favourite hai!

Past Revelations

- Vision (Past two weeks) I had this vision when I was sitting on my bed. A naked, dusky and muscular KA comes at a naked me with force on my bed as we start making out after which he gets on top of me with authority as is apparent in his posture and stays there as he looks at me below him. This particular pose was repeated in my Spirit as a highlight of the vision.
- Vision (Past two weeks) Glory thrusts a naked me lying on the bed towards the wall adjoining the bed, followed by him coming at me with intensity as we continue in the session. In these visions, I am portrayed as a fitter and slimmer lady than I really am. So I don't know if it's me or I'm just serving as a label.

- Dream-Vision (Past week): The side-view of a lady standing in an open space facing to the left as she hands out a small (a foot high) cylinder to a person in front of her. It was a long dream, but this particular part has been being highlighted to me and stressed upon a few times since I had this dream.

"Ye pitegi mujhse!": says Glory in a quiet stuffed tone looking angrily at me.

It's almost as if God has suddenly increased my revelation load by a significant amount. Within 10 seconds, He can show me 4-5 revelations visions that I have to keep a mental record of and should record immediately, because more revelations are going to follow and then I am likely to forget.

Dream (Morning):
I am in a room resembling mine to a great extent, which was previously decorated with some satanic items, idols etc., but now has a significantly lesser number of them. I notice it as I take a walk around the room observing it. There is this golden 2-D plain object of the head of a bull with horns hanging on the wall above the sink in the narrow kitchen space which seems to be a problem to me as it looks like a satanic idol. The bull has white gem-stones embedded around its nose. There's a girl in this dream who helps me take care of things and though I can see that she hasn't done it as perfectly as I would've, what she did seems good enough to her.

In the follow-up part of the dream, I am in my parental home at Omaxe Heights, Sonipat. Both my brothers are present there and they are shown as being 9-10 years old. My middle brother walks around the room innocently and he seems to be facing some emotional problems while my youngest brother is in the roof to the right. My dad gets a complaint about my middle brother. He is now in the room and starts swinging him vertically as he is holding him in his hands by the sides. I can see that he may drop him or may cause him harm as he is swinging him in an unstable manner that seems to be a result of uncontrolled emotions. I stand right behind the little Himanshu dressed in an off-white shirt checkered in brown tucked inside brown pants to catch him in case he is dropped as I follow along my dad's movements. My youngest brother is also present there to his right. I don't know what he is doing. My dad continues in his act as he says angrily to him: Taat phandunga teri! ('I will burst your head!'). He eventually leaves him and I take him out of the room.

Part of a Dream (past 48 hours): Anil Kapoor heavily dressed in multilayered dirty clothes carries a lot of burden on his head as he is transferring his stuff from a home to a boat with the background of a beach full of black oval rocks, and then he says: Sab phat gaye! Following this he loses his balance and ends up dropping the load.

Cruz par bali dwara apna lahu bahaya..
Cruz par bali dwara apna lahu bahaya..
Paap ko hata kar, saaf hai kiya, humko bacha liya..
Paap ko hata kar, saaf hai kiya, humko bacha liya..

HalleluYah stuti gaye hum..
Yeshu ki stuti gaye hum..

Ha.. HalleluYah.. HalleluYah.. HalleluYah..
Ha.. HalleluYah.. HalleluYah.. HalleluYah..

Ref: Hallelujah Stuti Gaye Hum (Official Video) Shawn & Shanon | Worship Songs 2023 | Yeshu Ke Geet

- Bia says: Thank you for this, Kartika. I seems to me that she was thanking me for the revelation that showed the truth of her being on the narrow road while her husband was wandering on the broad path. Only the narrow path leads to Heaven. Many are on the broad path that leads to (spiritual) death. Also, at times she gets emotioanlly hurt by her husband's words and actions, but she lets it go easily though her hurt is visible on her face. She's a strong lady who is walking on the right path. She's a typical e.g. of a godly woman who stays under the shadow of the Almighty as she follows His precepts at a mental level as well.
  'Kartika, tu pitegi.'
- A purple single-seater sofa with an extremely tall back of about 2 meters, carrying a multi-colored floral print, stands inside my room at the left hand side of the closed door. As I wrote the above: Ise sab pta hai.. Ise sab pta hai.. , says a guy. Yeah.. Jesus knows all. He is the Lord. Just look at how great He is that He watches, knows and remembers everything about everything that ever existed since the beginning of creation. So, isn't he worthy of praise and worship? He is. And he's not just all that intellectual stuff, He's perfect in Holiness as well, or He is Holy, for Holy by definition is perfect and vice-versa. While devil is the epitome of robotic intelligence, Jesus embodies holistic intelligence that surpasses all. He is not just analytically or computationally perfect, but He is perfectly moral, and is the greatest philosopher, scientist, and artist of all time. We being His creation, embody different aspects of His nature.
- A long green cloth with multi-colored floral print is hung on the corner of a slightly-open dark brown wooden door as seen from the inside of the room.
- My dad standing in a white tunic to the left side of my bed, looking at me, as he says: Aloo katne ke liye chaku hai!?
- The top-view of my pan filled with water under golden light as rice below a whole potato rest immersed in it, and then my green knife stabs vertically inside into the base of the pan with rice, to the right of the potato.
- The lady says something in a quiet and gentle tone that ends with: Jaise aap me rehem nahi hai.

--> The conical artistic metallic glass that RS holds on Page 539 is the cap of my bottle as they share the same shape. He is calling others to join him for a holy church communion as he offers that glass of water to them that they can assume to be the communion drink. I began using it because I found it hard to drink from the bottle in any other way.

Tom Drops To See a Dead Myrtle

Highlighted in the Spirit: this scene from the movie the Great Gatsby in which Tom drops to see a dead Myrtle: the lady with whom he was having an extramarital affair, as her body is surrounded by police and other people, and when he is asked by a person in the crowd that if he knew her, he denies, but he leaves the scene teary-eyed. Tom was a high-class man and Myrtle was a middle-class lady. I don't know why she would choose to have an affair with him. But despite everything they had together, he denied knowing her when he saw her dead body.

The Guy sings:
Bin tere sanam, mar mitenge hum, aa meri zindagi..

The Lady sings:
Ho.. Ana hi pada sajna.. Zalim hai dil ki lagi..

22:01

After brushing & washing the dishes:

- I'm sitting on chair & Jesus caresses my shoulders from behind giving me rest as I 'm too spent. As I stand beside my bed, I feel a push towards it bcz I need more rest. The lyrics play: Karle kabza ae paak ruh.. Aaa.. Karle kabza ae paak ruh..
- I also see Jesus (dressed in His multilayered white robes) pointing to the door as I have to go buy milk for tea but I choose to rest, following which a smile appears at His face and two love hearts in front of His eyes as He walks towards me.

When I lay on the bed, I have a number of revelations:

- A Laung horizontally floating in air pointing away from the viewer.
- A song plays accompanied with the view of Earth's ground which seems to be dark, black and barren and in a dark blue night aura as a voice says repeatedly: There's a divide on the Earth! There's a divide on the Earth! The voice is making the point of the division of God's people from the world, the great harvest, that's already begun but will accelerate with time.
- I am walking towards Dinesh Store on the street perpendicular to the one along which lies my place. I see a huge black car approaching from the front and the driver is being reckless about it and I can see that I can't really predict which way will it choose to pass me by. The road to my left side has a lot of rainwater accumulated so I can't possibly move to that side, so I choose to move to the other side, but even there, the car can choose to pass by in close proximity to me thereby splashing the muddy street water on me, and the car does do so in this vision. The last part repeats again, but this time the car chooses to drive by the other side that carries that huge water puddle. This reminded me of a past incident where after the dept, I was walking to my PG on the right-most side of the Nala road, and a foolish car driver intentionally drove by in a wavy manner thereby splashing the overflowing water from gutters on me!

'Mrittunjay, hum bahut bure hai! Hum bahut bure hai!'

- Jesus on his cross in a dark background but He's lit with shiny golden light that illuminates Him as He stays on the cross with His neck bent to a side. Now a parallel view of His left side is shown as a snake comes floating and pulls out the nail on that hand, and as the nail comes out, out flows a cylindrical jet of water from the hole in the wooden arm. This part of the vision repeats several times as it is being highlighted. Another snake pulls out the nail on the other hand and, again, water comes out from that hole like a strong jet. Later His feet are undone, as several short snakes (5-6) revolve around Him. The snakes take Him down through the air. After a while, the entire place is flooded because of the water, and it washes and moves away the snakes to the right while Jesus separates from them and goes down into the water, and comes up again after a while as His body floats at the surface.
- Ranveer Behind Ranveer: Ranveer Singh moves to the right on a black scooty dressed in black shorts and a fluffed Nylon Polyester blue zipper sweatshirt. He has neck-length straight hair and a beard. The vision is followed by an exact copy of him sitting behind him in the same clothes as he hugs him from behind with his upper half lifted high on the scooty as he makes different poses that shows how free he feels. The Lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- Kartik Calling Kartik: The movie has been highlighted to me several times. I've not watched it fully though but only skimmed through it quickly long back.
- Eyes of Chaaru with huge red love hearts in front of them as more of red liquid pours out from them and falls down. It keeps oozing out and falling down as she looks at the viewer smiling.

- Razaa hai kya teri, Dilo jahan tabah kiya..
  Sazaa bhi kya meri, mazaak pe mazaak kiya..
  Dobara zindagi se yu mujhe zuda kiya..
  Kahan kahan phiru mein dhundhta..

  Razaa hai kya teri, Dilo jahan tabah kiya..
  Sazaa bhi kya meri, mazaak pe mazaak kiya..
  Dobara zindagi se yu mujhe zuda kiya..
  Kahan kahan phiru mein dhundhta..

  These song lyrics repeat very strongly.

- While lying on bed, I am dressed in my clothes from the previous day: the red Karishma Ka Karishma dress with white polka dots over blue cotton trousers. I see the side-view of my upper half lying on the bed, as Jesus present on the other side in front of the wall is lifting my upper half up but it keeps falling down like a wave as He repeats this gesture a few times. Also, in this vision, my eyes are black though I don't carry a wicked expression. My eyes are black and Jesus is lifting my upper body in a jolt as I lay motionless and expressionless on the bed.
- I then saw a white sheet spread out in air above me coming down at me as angels held it by its end, with the view of the blue sky in the space in front as a person in white rushes on a white horse down in my direction with angelic beings present at some distance from Him on both His sides in a line.
- Three black demons with bat-shaped wings take my translucent body to the left through air as they've lifted it horizontally and as I am lying in the same position that I am lying on my foldable bed.

It makes me question if the demons are really going to take me away. My attire in that vision was the same red dress polka dotted in white that I was wearing at the moment of the vision. So, was Jesus saying that the three demons were taking my life force away?

- A view shows a dense green forest growth on a hill with the view of the sky above, and then the view moves around to the left in a circle, and the green growth on the horizontal part of the hill continues.
  Hum guzre kal mein rehte hai..
  Yaadon ke sab jugnu jungle men rehte hai..

- Emraan Hashmi in a neat look with his hair combed side-ways and a square moustache present at the middle of his upper lip, being dressed in a waist coat over a full-sleeved shirt stabs the centre of my heart with a knife and then drinks the blood that oozes out. But why is he doing it?

  Razaa hai kya teri, Dilo jahan tabah kiya..
  Sazaa bhi kya meri, mazaak pe mazaak kiya..
  Dobara zindagi se yu mujhe zuda kiya..
  Kahan kahan phiru mein dhundhta..

While brushing:

- Glory in striped pink, grey and white shirt stands behind me and hugs me in slow hand motions.

Visions when I entered the washroom to bath:

- As I enter, I see an abrupt long projectile ejaculation to my left inside the washroom from the place of the water storage tank above commode, but no person is visible.
- A small unexpected white drop comes out of my mouth in a projectile and falls on the ground.

I chose to dress in the white dress that I saw Bia wearing in the vision last night as I felt a nudge to wear that particualr dress this time.

After bathing and getting dressed:

- 'Pari hu mein! Pari hu mein!': sings a voice in the Spirit.
  After I wrote above, Dushman points at me with his fingers held intact together and says in a hateful tone: Randi tu pari nahi hai!
- 'Pari mere paas aaja.. Pari mere paas aaja..': says another voice.

During another resting slot in the afternoon:

- SRK in a long deep red shirt checkered in black with its front open, with a high-neck white shirt inside, and a deep red stall hanging around his neck with both its ends in the front, as he dribbles a basketball around and makes a goal and says: You're great, Anjali!
- The upper half of Shawn from Yeshu Ke Geet stands facing the viewer with his right arm (to the viewer's left) stretched horizontally forward and pointing his finger at the viewer. He is dressed in his attire of a black shirt with a white print of faces of anime characters from their recently released song HalleluYah Stuti Gaye Hum.
- Jesus as John Foss (the role that the actor played in the movie The Life of Jesus Christ) sits on the floor at a door in front of me that I see in my mental view while laying on bed, as he eats from a disposable plate with hand looking quite content, and then He throws at me something that's a flower at first, but then it turns into a stone. He continues eating from that circular silver disposable plate and with each bite He takes, He throws a stone in my direction. He eats, and then He throws a stone, He eats again, and again He throws a stone at me, and when He has eaten for a long while, He throws many stones together in my direction.

- A lady's voice says: 90-95% people in this world are demon possessed, but only 0.1 % show the visible signs. The voice is accompanied with the vision of a crowded hallway with modern people passing b. The walls of the hallway are radium sky blue and seem to be digital and to the right side near its end with a glassy wall, stands a wide and well-built man with neck-length frizzy hair, black demon-possessed eyes, and hands raised above. He is from a much older age, and is dressed in a full-length full-sleeved white tunic with a belt around his waist and seems to be electrocuted because of the demon possession. The entire crowd dressed in modern clothes is walking in a normal manner but only that man is showing visible signs of demon possession.
- This vision just stole my heart because it made me look at how Jesus knows us so perfectly. The Vision: A naked dusky (very dark but not black) upper half of Jesus with neck-length frizzy hair and a light stubble with green algae on the left side of his forehead lies on me with his upper half lifted above me on my bed in the background of a very dense forest. Apparently, my bed is now in that dense surrounding, as Jesus lies above me with a lifted upper half and gives two very hard slaps with His right hand on my face. The vision now cuts to a fatigued Him falling on me with closed eyes.

While resting after talking to mom:

- A naked Glory says 'Bye!' and then he turns backwards and ejects a huge solid piece of poop at me as he bends his ass a bit backwards, followed by a metallic elephant trunk hitting his head. He falls on the ground, and starts twisting and turning like a snake around his position!
- Which is followed by even more metallic hits on his forehead making him pass out on the ground!
- The vision of an open space in a forest with a wall of solid wall of soil covered with greenery in the front, and other plants everywhere else with some free space present on the solid mud ground in front of the wall. In the centre space appears Princess Shayla dressed in my white dress as she slowly moves around at her position amidst the green of the forest as she sings worship to God with her head facing upwards.
- On that background, now appears a huge face of Jesus superimposed on the right side of it covering almost the entire view of the background. He is wearing a multi-colored floral crown on his head with tiny flowers beaded together in a ring, and has shiny angelic black eyes, a light moustache right above His upper-lip and a light beard around the sides of His face as He presses forth towards the viewer and quietly says: I love you…

  This reminds me that when I had this vision, I was lying on my bed with my cushion pressing against my face with the floral, leafy side of its resting on me!

  'Kartika, tu maregi!'

23:13

While having dinner:

I happened to play this instrumental Worship song by the name Sweet Jesus which I came across in the side YT recommendations. I played it because His behavior is really sweet and He is a sweet person and then He nudged me to eat sweet things to Honor His sweet natural aspect. After a while, it made me think of the movie Sweet November simple because of the resemblance of the names, followed by Sweet Kartika - how Meera saved my name in her cellphone, and she had a ringtone that said out the name of the person who was calling her. This day she was sharing with me how whenever I called her, her phone rang with the Lady's sweet but robotic voice saying: Sweet Kartika calling. Sweet Kartika calling.. Recalling this made me think if even that was prophetic and it made me tear up a bit for how touching it is that Jesus presents Himself as me in this particular revelation, for the usage of the same adjective for both of us! While having dinner, I only thought about the prophetic significance and it made me emotional but not nostalgic about my time with Meera. But while I wrote this here, I was reminded of her and my time with her, and how GREAT it was! Though she insulted me at times in front of others, she told me how she always kept talking about me at her home, always praising me, so much so that her dad was asking her to invite me to their home. I went to her home for the first time during my 3rd year in BSc though I was friends with her since the first day we met at the orientation in the Physics Lab. She had to make her dad talk to me on call to have me visit her home, because I knew that my dad would not be okay with me going to her home. He was very strict about the kind of friends I had, or the kind of places I went. Her dad told me that their home was as pure like a temple and that I didn't need to think twice before coming to them. He was a friendly man, and when he went out for a morning walk once when I had stayed overnight, he brought a huge flower I hadn't seen before for us that he found on the way, though I don't know its name. I don't find it any useful to remember labels! If she saw I had any reservation, she acted in an appropriate way to counteract it instead of trying to break or force me to follow along her will. I could see that she really, really wanted to have me at her home and she was insisting a lot, and had her dad talk to me to convince me of the same. Now you come across such people who haven't behaved in any trustworthy manner and have only proved that they like the agenda of ruling by oppression and deception, and don't care about what you think or how you feel. And then they expect you to obey them and go to them without first developing the required level of comfort needed!? Why would a person go to someone who only hurts them or doesn't act in direct straight forward ways!? I never expected Meera to obey me! I gave her freedom like she gave me. She saw so many good qualities in me, and she said she was so happy with me that she wished I was a guy and she would have married me! You see, I wasn't a game player, I never intentionally hurt her. I was considerate of my actions, words and behavior, and wished that she too would be careful of her words for she at times said things carelessly and they would hurt me. Whenever I thought she was sad, I would ask her about it. I never left any space for confusion for I was open and honest with her for that's the requirement to build any good and trustworthy bond. Her dad was telling me that she only talks a lot about me at home. These are things she herself told me she was telling one of parents about me: Kartika is this, Kartika is that, she reads literature, she sings, she likes to play keyboard as well etc. etc. .. If I had not approached her that day first of our BSc, perhaps we wouldn't have become friends, perhaps she wouldn't have come to me by herself for perhaps she may not have felt like befriending me. But I found her persona desirable, so I went to her, and when she got to know me, she too liked me and we became very good friends with time. I never thought I was sweet. She was the first person who called me so, after which many others also called me sweet, but it never struck a chord with me, for the notion of sweetness seemed to come with a sense of affectedness. But now that I think of it, Meera was great in her character and we shared a great bond the time we were together. She would at times be annoyed with me for I would repeatedly ask her about the reason behind her seemingly upset mood or If I sensed a change in her.

I asked her questions to keep things clear between us. I didn't put her through pain and try to break her down or act unrighteous so she would fall from what seems to me a high place of moral character to be at! I didn't wait for her while foolishly dropping signals here and there that she may respond in a way I am expecting. I was very straightforward with her, and that's why we had that great bond! If I hurt her intentionally, I would expect her to leave me. I would even ask her to leave me, or more specifically, I would make the point that if she was able to forgive me, then I would be grateful for it, but if she wasn't and thought she must leave I wouldn't stop her from doing so for this would be the just thing to do. Because I didn't take forgiveness for granted. I didn't feel entitled to it. If I ended up hurting her, and if she chose to leave me, it would've been her own decision and I would've to accept it. That was the time around 10 years back, and I wonder the kind of personas people that are after my life had around that time. Were they better or were they worse!? Or did they quench the inner voice of conscience much earlier in their childhood letting demons in! I was 17 and she around 20 or 21 when we met in BSc. And we were so so wiser in many things as compared to those around us. I am not saying it as self-flattery or out of self-aggrandizement, but, it's just the truth. We didn't talk about the things others talked, we didn't behaved the others behaved, our interests weren't worldly but soulful. I didn't see a person in her who was filled with things of the world, but someone who had many things that the world didn't reflect them as a part of it. She was an individual. I didn't like to play games with her, because playing games comes out of a deceptive nature, and I hate deception. It makes me wanna puke out! And if I've to build something meaningful, why will I use deception and the ways of the devi!? It just wouldn't make any sense! Holy traits are needed to build and nurture a holy bond. Then why would have I behaved in ways that involved deception of some kind!? Though she would at times exclaim 'Oh! Sexy!' as girls dressed in a certain way passed us by during our initial college days, I felt annoyed by her this behavior which she later shared with me that she could see that I didn't like the usage of such adjectives, that she could see that I was irked whenever she used it! But it was because I didn't think in those ways, and they seemed to me as inferior and cheap ways of perception! But apart from these occasional slips of her tongue, she talked sense most of the time and her thoughts were of a great quality!

Anyway. While I was having dinner, I also saw:

- Prof TRS, dressed in a full-sleeved shirt tucked inside pants, salutes at me like an police personnel as he says, "YES SIR!" following which he starts walking in that typical rhythmic manner of an army man. The vision repeats a few times.
- It is then followed by him now sitting on the ground on his feet to my right with vertically folded knees as he looks up with shiny wide-open eyes at me and says: Thank you.. Thank you.. in a tone that shows that he's really feeling grateful and joyful at the same time. This vision repeated itself several times as well!
- Sis Adele dressed in her thick Bold Existence black sweatshirt looks at me and says: She's great!

"Kartika Sorry, I ruined your life!.. Kartika Sorry, I ruined your life!": I kept hearing this after I had dinner and perhaps was in the later phase of washing dishes, but I remember this sentence repeating in my Spirit when I was washing hands.

Well, Jesus saved me! And He showed me the place I am going after I leave this system of Good and Evil, and additionally, He gave me the Honor of working for Him, writing His revelations, and reaching out to different people, people from various different stratas of life. This is the best thing one can receive in his/her human life: the Spirit of the living God Himself who reveals to him/her His thoughts, ideas and His plan and vision for things that are to come. To live in a reality filled overflowing with objects or worldly wealth is a very inferior way to live: it's bogus, mundane, the same every day - filled with worldly joy which doesn't lead anyone anywhere, and it warps the minds of people stuck in such a reality to some extent and then they just stay stuck in that worldly hole! But to come to God and know Him, His peace, mind, nature, and how He perceives things and why He does certain things: that is a very valuable thing one can have in life - something very precious. The best thing one can have in life is God - that's what I 've learnt by far by my experiences. People with low-level of thinking yearn for a worldly prosperous life, or maintain their present condition - their worldly life is the sole thing that matters to them. But a high-quality life consists of getting rid of that need to be prosperous in ways that the world makes you think are important! It consists of holding on to things of high quality , and that constitutes everything that is Godly or carries the nature of God. Everything shallow, ungodly or containing an element of satanism, may look like it has a high worldly value, but its absolute value when judged with the right lens is zero. Things of the world, that satan makes look so happening are boring and annoying to a person of God who understands His statutes and nature. Just looking far ahead into the depth of space in silence made me be in touch with something and brought me peace.

I and Meera lived very high-quality lives in my view during the time that we were together!

God made heaven a high-quality place: a place that honors His Holy statutes in all ways! I think one will only find me in a green forest area, if there's any, in Heaven where Jesus will come to visit me. And Hell is for low-quality people, with low-quality traits regardless of their worldly position.

The Guy sings:
Isme tera Ghata
Mera kuch nhi jata!

Past Revelation
Vision: The upper half of Jonathan Roumie (the actor who plays Jesus in The Chosen) stands dressed in a black suit over a white shirt in a space which seems to be a part of a room as he looks at the viewer.

Tujhe to mein todunga! Tujhe to mein todunga!: Heard in the Spirit within the past week when I was bathing in the washroom.

Past Revelation
Vision (Past 24 hours): The black & white view of an empty park with a long bench extending away from the viewer as a tall and bald man dressed in an off-white shirt tucked inside pants stands in front of it with a shorter lady in a black dress wrapping herself around him as she moved from his front to his back on the surface of his body.

After lying on bed to sleep, I had these revelations:

- The view of a horizontally erected genitalia between my legs with the segregated upper half of Glory until shoulders in the front, as the genitalia moves to and fro! He then grabs my breasts as he gets on top of me.
- The genitalia stands the same but now the belly changes to a round one and looking at the view it seems that it has got algae around the place of attachment of groin.
- Sis Adele (from Bold Existence) comes out of a kitchen door looking down, with the environment lit in golden light, and she is dressed in a white apron over black clothes with her blonde hair tied low at the back in a bun. As she is walking out of the door into another closed space, she is wiping her hand with a white napkin which she immediately throws to the left side.
- A genitalia abruptly enters my mouth from above my face.
- Geet naya dil mein laa… Geet naya dil mein laa..
  Utar aa.. Utar aa.. Utar aa.. Ae ruh-e-paak utar aa…

  Ref: The Worship song Utar Aa..

- A genitalia now fully inside my mouth.
- Randi ke roop hazaar: says a voice.
- The view is seen from behind a tree from some distance to its left: A man dressed in a white shirt tucked inside grey pants with a hat on top stands with his back against the tree's trunk as a slim lady in a black suit over a pencil skirt with a white tucked shirt inside, and a black hat on top, stands facing him in a hug, as she continues to hug him even tighter and then kiss him.
- The lady is now only wearing a long and loose white shirt, has her long blonde and thick hair open, with an undone tie around her neck the loose ends of which she is holding with both hands and is moving them sideways as her neck is bent a bit backwards as she is looking upwards at the canopy of trees above and moves her neck around a bit. This lady seems fatter than the previous one in black who seemed too slim. The tree is present in a lawn in front of a house that's visible at the far end of the vision.
- My hands stretch straight upwards as the song lyrics: Utar aa.. Utar aa.. play in my Spirit.
- A voice says: God dekhi hui cheez ko andekha kar dete hai.. accompanied by the vision of a wardrobe crowded with clothes getting shut with the view of the containing room resembling the bedroom beside the kitchen in Dr. Bharati's apartment in Rose Valley Chandigarh, followed by the vision now moving to the left to the adjacent wardrobe that also gets shut but it has far lesser number of clothes, almost none, and as it closes, a metallic cross can be seen near the place of its handle. And while I wrote
- Paak ruh aa mere dil ke ander..
  Ban jau mein tera mandir..
  Apni raah dikha.. Apni rah dikha..
  Utar aa.. Utar aa.. Utar aa..
  Ae ruh-e-paak utar aa..
- A tall Suresh Kumar, dressed in an orange shirt tucked inside black pants, gives a salute to the viewer, followed by a genitalia trunk hitting his forehead.
- Utar aa.. Utar aa.. Utar aa.. Ae rooh-e-paak utar aa..
  Ref: Worship song Utar aa..

- A slow beginning of the quiet sound of tabla with quicker hits followed by a strong sound of a slap.
- 'I Love You..': a voice says in the Spirit.

Part of a dream (Past 48 hours):

The girl who lives upstairs walks by my room saying that I want 'Open Season' all the time. She is perhaps making this point because I have been sleeping a lot but it's because of my degrading health that I need more and more rest each passing day and then I need tangible presence of another being as well that serves as a comfort, so Jesus gives me comforting revelations. Anyway. About the dream, Open Season is the English name of the movie Bhola Bhalu Hero Hiran. So, I don't really understand the point she is trying to make about my resting more than a normal person. I do like the movie Bhola Bhalu Hero Hiran, but perhaps she's saying that I want the open hunting season all the time. I ignore her. In the dream, when I go outside, I see her inside the room adjacent to mine. There is a huge round pot containing cooked yellow lentils lying away from the room at the other end of the narrow corridor in front of that room. I see that she's pouring daal in her bowl, and so am I. I seem to be the one who's pouring out greater number of scoops in my bowl than her, as I like yellow daal. Also, she was saying mean things to me, so I went to the room adjacent to mine and found its door open, and hit her a few times as she lay on the bed. But this specific act of putting daal in our steel bowls from that huge round pot was being highlighted to me.

Page 546.

27 September 2023
18:06

The Guy sings:
Pehle kabhi na humne kaha..
Lo aaj sanam hum kehte hai..
Hum apke dil mein rehte hai..
Hum apke dil mein rehte hai..

This has been repeated a few times in my Spirit within the past week. And it was this repeating this evening as well. So I created this page and wrote this first.

Dream (Morning):
This was a weird dream, in which my youngest brother tells my middle brother Himanshu that he wants to marry me!? He stands on the left side facing my middle brother who stands on the right. I don't show any response but flee from the situation.

Post Waking Up:

- I'm still not fully awake when I see Jesus sitting on the floor with vertically folded knees as He forcefully stabs my green knife vertically down into the floor near my upper half, which makes me think that He is specifying a point for me to get down at.
  This tells me that I'm supposed to get up now as He has made a very strong point about it. After a while, I gather some strength and sit up with my legs hanging down the bed on the other half of the bed, and then have the next vision.
- The back-view of Jesus dressed in multilayered white holding my hand and walking in front of me and leading me to freshen up. This motivates me to get up from the bed, and go use the washroom and freshen up. I recall the knife vision, and slide side-ways on the bed to my left side so I would place my feet on the point at which He struck the KNIFE we've to obey Him as much as we are capable of and this is the least that I can do! He really cares for His children.
  The lady sings: Chalu uthu ishaare pe..

I am still dressed in the white dress from the previous night.
While brushing teeth:

- I see a vision of my back view in the mirror with my hair tied in a long and thin braid resting on the white dress, though I am standing facing the mirror. The vision stays for a few seconds.

After brushing teeth:
I lie on the bed again as I am still feeling unwell and fatigued, and also I feel this nudge to rest for I need it, and then have the following revelations.

- A man (supposedly Jesus, but may also be some actor whom I don't know) with long, frizzy and thick hair and a long, heavy, and frizzy beard resembling His hair removes His upper attire in my manner below the background of open, blue and clear sky above him. His face changes to Shahid Kapoor and then, to Akshay Kumar, with the same beard and hairstyle.

As I was writing the above, I heard in my Spirit: Write No More. Write No More. Write No More accompanied with 'Vo Mar jayega'. And it kept repeating strongly. So I stopped writing.

First of all, why did the face assume three faces in a row!? Why? It reminds me of the guilty trio behind the spy cam situation: the three people shown in the dream Smooth Talk & Witchcraft who ruined various aspects of my life and the only thing left for them to do is to rape and kill me if I don't die by own self as my health degrades more and more with time, and the foolish and immoral young generation works as messengers of such degraded people. The man then bends over me with his hands on the iron bar of the bed behind my head and starts moving to and for in intercourse, though I don't feel any of it, but the vision continues. Though now I wrote it in this context of the trio, but when I had the vision, I thought it to be a metaphorical representation of my communion with Jesus.

- The following part has me represented as a girl child with black eyes, dressed in loose and long white attire, and wearing a conical beaded white crown, as I rise up in the air in the centre of the room. The blackness shown in front of my eyes makes me wonder if I have gone blind and if my abstract eyes revealed in a previous vision in A-10 are already in place!?
- The face of Amir Khan, with a long frizzy beard and long hair of the same kind, bent on a person lying on snow, as he looks at that person smiling.
- Face of Jesus in a forest background.
  The person sings:
  Hum guzre kal mein rehte hai..
  Yaadon ke sab jugnu jungle mein rehte hai..
  Yaadon ke sab jugnu jungle mein rehte hai..
- I hear a deep 'I Love You..' said in a husky voice.
- SRK in his black Don attire from the song Mein Hu Don from the movie Don 2 pulls out a rose from behind and extends it towards the viewer.
- The vision is seen from ground level as a huge Mr. Bajaj dressed in a long tunic with a grey drape around his shoulders comes slowly walking to the viewer lying on the ground in an open space with visible greenery around. He seems to be performing some kind of ritual as he holds something ritualistic used in worship in his hand. He then bends down with that thing in his hand that he stretches towards the ground.
- I see this vision as a first person. My foldable bed is now amidst what looks like a dense rainforest, and I'm lying on it in my white dress with the upper half of Jesus on top of me. He is lifting my body up which seems lifeless but I fall back on the bed. The me that's viewing the vision is still mentally alive though I'm lying motionless on my bed in the real setting as well, with no strength or stamina to move. He lifts my upper body up a few more times, but I keep falling down like a wave. It seems as if I'm dead. He's now moving to and fro in intercourse on top of me - a metaphor for Him trying to revive me by communing with me.

He is God. He can revive someone just by speaking a Word or breathing on that person, because recall: He brought Adam, whom He made from the dust, to life by breathing the breath of life into his nostrils. He could've spoken the Word for Adam to come to life, or could've formed Eve from dust as well, and spoken a Word for her to come to life as well. But, He chose these intimate creative ways in forming Adam and Eve. He breathed into the nostrils of Adam, showing His intimacy with him, and He took a rib out of Adam's body to form Eve from it - again, to reflect the intimacy Eve was supposed to have with Adam. In this way, even the creative ways God chosen to from Adam and Eve were a reflection of their respective places. Eve when created in this unique way chosen by God, came to be called the bone of Adam's bones, and the flesh of his flesh, reflecting her intimacy in regard to him. I've written about it previously in my Bible notes as well. Anyway.

So, in my case, God chose that particular way in that vision to revive me to life. And I'm certain that He chose that way to make a very specific and important point, that I understood while writing the previous line. Before that, the revelation was hidden from me. This also reveals how God reveals His mind at times when we sit with His Spirit and reflect on His Word to commune/talk and reflect on His ways and nature and what He chooses to do things in a way that He does when He can clearly do them in straight forward objective ways that don't carry an underlying symbolic meaning. Spending such time with God's Spirit helps expand our minds in regards to understanding His Word better and therefore developing a closer bond with Him by receiving a better and clearer understanding of who He is apart from being omniscient, omnipresent, and omnipotent. So, after lifting me up a few times from my bed, when I kept falling lifelessly down on my bed, He now choses to move to and fro on top of me in intercourse. And as He does it, He is looking at me and has His hands stretched along the sides of my bed. He continues for a while in this manner in the setting of the rainforest with the upper view covered with a canopy of trees, which are the kinds of natural scenes that I like, but there doesn't seem to be any change in me despite the surrounding and the act, following which I now see the top view change to different beautiful natural scenic places one after the other as He continues to move on top of me. The view changes to a very cold snowy place, followed by a wide floral scene of a clear day, followed by other natural scenes. But, there's no change in me. I don't seem to be moving though I am observing Him and feel glad about Him giving me this vision carrying an intimate form of expression of love. Also, though I am physically motionless, I can hear His voice in my Spirit and He says: I love you.. I love you… I am pleased with you.. I am pleased with you.. My bride (We who are believers are His bride whom He bought with His blood). Listening to these words seems so pleasing to me because it means He is happy with how I am conducting myself in the world, the way I am living my life, or following His statutes, staying away from sin as much as possible, and this pleases Him to a great extent which He is representing through that vision. He is pleased by His children who love Him and follow or want or try to follow His Spirit and want to be better and better at it as they grow closer in their bond with Him. His words are like precious gems to me as I see how He is pleased with something which I too am serious about, which is to say, that I like to live in a righteous manner for it brings pleasure and a sense of inner peace to my conscience, and therefore is an important aspect of my life, and God recognized it and affirmed that it went along with the things that pleased Him. He is pleased or displeased with the way we *live our lives, and how He is responding to my way of life with those words in my Spirit bring me such contentment to know that that's how God feels about me. Because though I am getting worse day by day, I don't want to leave His side and neither do I want Him to leave mine though I may fail at times which I do, for none carries the perfect Holiness of God. I see that the things that are important to me are important to Him as well, and when I learn about other things that hold importance to Him, I incorporate them in my life by changing my habits or previous incorrect ways of thinking, or looking at things, and the change pleases Him. He is pleased with our Holy parts, and then we become holier as we learn more from Him - the process being called sanctification. In the next part of the vision, He now carries the extremely tattered and bruised look from His crucifixion - covered with bruises with His flesh torn apart everywhere by the scourging He faced, and He is wearing the thorny crown on His head and He is now looking down at me.

I see the next part of the vision as a third person now. He gets me up from the bed as He is holding me and we are now rolling down with the supposedly motionless me covered in His arms on a thorny slant of the rainforest, and He is already bruised all over but He is making Himself go through even more of it as He rolls down that slant trying to protect me from the ground, while I'm dressed in my long white attire. When we reach the end of the slant, we end up inside a water body in front of a medium-height fountain present down below the slant, and when we come up to the surface with Him holding me in front of Him, I suddenly take a deep gasp of breath. As I wrote the previous sentence, I heard: Maar dala.. Maar dala.. There now appears a demonic being underwater that tries to drags me away from Him, but with just a Word He chops his arms, without Him having to do anything. Now, this tells us How God used an entirely objective way to inflict judgment on a wicked being, but it came to creating Adam or Even, or reviving a person to life, in this example - me, He chose ways that reflected a sense of deep intimacy and it not only goes along with how those people matter to Him but also show what does or doesn't work with different individuals. For e.g.: intercourse while moving through different parts of the world would be meaningless to me, and I would be as good as a dead body, if it's an entirely objective act in which the other person hasn't displayed any deep or whatsoever sense of love. But, when He changed to His self that proved how He has loved us on the cross and suffered for us, and took me to a place that carried a sense of localized intimacy in terms of being static, as that fountain was surrounded by the rest of the rainforest giving it a sense of stagnant localized intimacy, I came to life. Well, when I had received this vision, I didn't look at it in the context and lens that I am able to now while I write about it. It didn't make any sense to me when I recorded the events of this vision in my red diary first. But now that I am analyzing the vision here, the hidden interpretations are being revealed to me.

After the hands of the demonic being were chopped, He pulled me back to Himself and was now holding me in his arms. He is standing in the middle of the water body holding me who is represented as a child dressed in full-length and loose white robes, with neck-length straight hair. The side-view of this scene is shown in which He stands on the left and is holding the child me against His bruised self as I vertically rest against Him, and He is pampering me like a mother does a baby resting against her body by oscillating her arms in slow vertical motions. He stands naked in that place, his posture straight as He looks down with His face against the side of the child's head that's visible to the viewer, His body covered with just a white cloth wrapped around His waist - the way He looked towards the end of the movie The Passion of The Christ, and His pain and suffering are quite apparent, but amidst that He holds that child me and pampers her against His body like a mother. How great a God! If He hadn't been born into flesh, we wouldn’t have seen this part of His nature for He didn't need to go through that brutality in Heaven where the beings present already were in obedience to Him. It was on the rebellious place called Earth that He got to display that great aspect of His nature because the place carried rebellious people who enjoyed their sin regardless of whether it took them away from their Creator Father. You see, God is a Father for He created us, but He is also a mother by nature. Though truly and technically He is a Father because He is the provider for He provides us with everything we need as a human, but then He also cares for His children more than a human mother does for her child on Earth.

Isaiah 49:15-16 (KJV)
15 "Can a woman forget her nursing child,
[a]And not have compassion on the son of her womb?
Surely they may forget,
Yet I will not forget you.
16 See, I have inscribed you on the palms *of My hands;
Your walls are continually before Me.

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Isaiah+49%3A13-19&version=NKJV>

This following lyric has played in my Spirit several times.

The Guy sings:
Hatheli par tumhara naam likhte hai.. Mitate hai..

Ref: The Bollywood song Chuppana Bhi Nahi Ata

When I wrote the Bible verses that showed the love of God that's greater than that of an earthly mother for her child, the song lyric was instantly highlighted to me in direct correlation with Isaiah 49:16.

The concept of mother originated because of the two physical genders present on Earth, pertaining to the two types of bodies that embody the inner spiritual being. The notion of mother is not needed in Heaven because it's a kingdom of eternal angelic beings.

In that vision, I saw the caring nature of God, and how He would go through all that to get His child back to Himself. He revealed this aspect of His nature to me. And He indeed is praiseworthy and the greatest and fairest of all. He is called the fairest, because He is just and fair in His judgments and evaluations, though His earthly complexion was most probably dark as He was born among the dark Hebrew people. Ref: TruthUnedited (I couldn't find the video that I had watched, but you can go take a look at the channel.)

So, back to the vision now. As that child was held in His arms and rested with her on his shoulder now, being fully covered in plain white as she looked like an A because of the width of the white cloth. She then looked forward and made an abrupt gesture of a Katta as in from Katta Abba making the point that she had broken up with the person she gestured that Katta to. It can be seen how content the child feels in His loving arms as she perceives and receives His true and deep love.

Jesus then throws the girl up high with a swing given by twist of his arms. When the girl reaches the top of her flight, the vision slows down and she suddenly sparkles with inner joy as sparkling stars and flowers appear in her vicinity above at that height as seen from a few feet above the girl. She falls back down to His arms, and He throws her up again in the same manner, which now reminded me of the way Mui throws the flour that she's kneading upwards: she gives it a swing with her arms along with a vertical momentum. Jesus is swinging me upwards in the same manner, and I whenever I reach the top, I get overjoyed as the vision slows down and flowers and stars appear around me. He repeats it a few times, after which He holds me in a hug and pampers me like a child in His arms as He is covered everywhere with bruises and wears a thorny crown. Such a great God we have! Such a great God we have!

We aren't even equipped enough to praise Him well, because of our own limited brains that can't fully perceive His Holiness. Whatever we give Him would always be limited or would miss out on one or the other aspects of His persona because no one can truly understand the mind of God, but we can only praise Him for what we do understand about Him.

After this long and relieving vision, which is also my treasure, I had some more visions.

- I see the inner view of a reddish tissue tunnel open at the other end, which would mean that I am present at the closed end of it. I am looking at the open end in front of me and it exits into an open daylit zone. I see a green semi-animated snail peek inside a bit but then turn back and leave.
- After the snail, a semi-animated short black snake with the head of Amir Khan in place of its snake head, with his face carrying a narrow moustache and a golden crown on his head, enters the tunnel as I see its head entering in, and crawls up to the end. It stops there with a slight smile and seems to have come to drop a message. It stays for a while and after delivering the message, it turns backwards and crawls out. As I wrote the previous sentence, I heard in my Spirit: Dil laygi! - from the song Dil laygi kudi gujarat di!

I see that the door to the tunnel is open, so any weird entity of this kind could enter in, and that that's why they are coming in and leaving out.

- The face of Jesus behind a thick horizontal rectangular metallic frame through which He is looking at me. The face then changes to Neo with a neutral expression, and later to John Abraham who is grinding his teeth behind the metallic frame.
- Somewhere during the day: The side-view of Jesus standing in the centre of the room as He slaps me hard and I fall to the floor away at some distance. I see this vision as a third person in front of me while sitting on the bed. Now it could be labelled or metaphorical, or it could be the way it was shown.
- The Bollywood actress from the previous Black & white vision of her coming towards the viewer riding on a lion with a Trishul held in hand, this time has her head bent on a surface and she's wearing the Wonder Woman's crown on her head as her face is bent on a surface while she looks at the viewer with a surprised expression.
- Itni mohabbat karo na.. Mein doob na jau kahin..
  Ref: The Bollywood song Bol Do Na Zara

- Shubh Swagatam, Shubh Swagatam, Shubh Swagatam, Aaaa.., Karte hai apka Shubh Swagatam..
- 'Kartika tu maregi mere hathon se!'
- Emraan Hashmi walks happily with a smiling face, in open daylight, facing slightly to the left from the direction of the viewer, carrying some medium-sized shopping bags vertically striped in skyblue and one more shade. He is dressed in a waistcoat over a shirt tucked inside pants, and is walking towards his car. As he enters the driver's seat, he looks up at the viewer through the open car's door and says happily: I'm going to heaven!

- Aankh uthi mohabbat ne angdaai li.. Dil ka sauda chandni raat mein..
  Ho teri nazro ne kuch aisa jadoo kiya.. Lut gaye hum to pehli mulakat mein..
  Ref: The Bollywood song Aankh Uthi Mohabbat ne Angdai Li

- Dushman puts a red tika on his forehead and says: Jai Bhawani.
- Sanjay Dutt dressed in an orange shirt tucked inside pants, carrying his hairstyle from the movie Saajan, looks at the viewer smling as he stands beside a car parked still to the viewer's right side of him. He says in his tone from his movie Munna Bhai MBBS: Apun bhi heaven ch jayega, following which a lady exits the car's front from its left door facing Sanjay Dutt. She is dressed soberly in a Saree that covers her fully, and has her hair tied low at the back. After she gets out, Sanjay Dutt enters inside the car through the open door of the conductor seat through which the lady exited.
- The distant framed vision of my dad looking to the left as he says in a disrespectful tone: Chal ek cup chai bana!
- A giant lady lies on the brown soiled ground dressed partially in a metallic armour as tiny metallic men approach her groin area to attack her. A giant Akshay Kumar stands near the lady in a partial metallic armour and drags the lady along the direction of her head away from the tiny men that are approaching her to enter inside her body. The lady seems unconscious as she is laid motionless. He lifts her up from the ground and stands hugging her with his eyes closed as those tiny men climb together on them.
- The Bollywood actor KK Menon facing to the left.
- KA dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt tucked inside black pants drops by to meet along with a few others. We share a dance in the manner of the visions, in which we have our forearms raised vertically with hands clutched together, we share a side-hug, have a chat with him, after which I see them off joyfully.
- Mast baharo ka mein aashiq, chahe jo dildaar karu..
  Chahe kali ke saaye se khelu.. Chahe kal se pyaar karu..
  Sara jahaan hain mere liye.. Mere liye..
- I lift my foot straight and place it on Glory's shoulder, and then with my hand push him away to the right into a space resembling a hall to the right of the door, and then I start ballet dancing alone.
- Glory stands beside the table behind me (as I envisioning me lies on bed with her back towards the table) hugging Kirtee Sanon from behind, being dressed in his thickly striped pink, grey and white shirt as he moves his hands on her breasts and around, followed by him changing to Vivek Oberoi in a relatively thinly striped shirt.

Past Revelation

I had this revelation when I was lying in my bed dressed in my navy blue cotton trousers.
Vision: I saw a few black snakes crawl inside my trousers through the space between my legs and the trousers, which I think refers to the spy drones.

After I had the above visions, I went to use the washroom, and found myself menstruating but fortunately my white dress didn't get stained. I didn't pay much attention to my real physical condition or sensations that I was having while I was receiving these revelations in bed. I had clothes from a few days accumulated in the washroom, and I felt like I had so little strength this day. So, I decided to only wash inner wears as I was running out of clean lingerie.

While washing clothes:

- Rekha Bua looks at me and says with filled eyes: Dekho Bandru ne kitne acche se kapde dhoye. She calls me Bandru - a variation of my nickname Bander.
- Glory is tearing up as well (but why?).

The above two visions repeat intermittently throughout the duration of my washing those clothes.

As I am making tea:

- I see the naked upper-half of Glory in the window space of my balcony as he cries bitterly shouting in a stuffed voice: Randi….! He is looking at me and crying bitterly! But I don't understand why would he do so. If he was in my place and was called by God, what would he do. Wouldn't he want to perform his duty as assigned by God? How many people does God call? Well, if he was in my place, I wouldn't be calling him randi. However, I would call him so if he was doing immoral things wilfully without a godly purpose! Because even if I received fleshly revelations, I know that they serve a greater purpose and not meant for the sole purpose of gratifying one's senses! They're labelled at times as well. And walking in the Will of God often requires crucifying one's own self. And not just Glory, if any of the people that I received revelations with were, say, called by God, and they received such revelations about others, I would understand that God is actually using an instrument of war meant to successfully nullify the potential plans and instruments of devil, for He knows the best and is the wisest. I would expect my partner to stay committed in heart and deeds to me, even if God was giving him such revelations. I won't be hurt by them because at the end we decide if we choose to sin or not. And if God told him to dress a certain way, I'm not going to be offended by that either, or by any way the other person chooses to dress as long as their heart state is in the right place, because what others think is not in our hands regardless of our sense of dressing. It's foolish to care about how others perceive a situation when they're supposed to look into their own hearts and keep it guarded, though we are not called to intentionally tempt others either to sin. But, at times, we don't tempt people, but still they get tempted to sin because their heart is not guarded.

When I go out to buy something from the Dinesh Store:

Sheetal Pride

I come across this blanket cover lying under the arched pathway with the label of Sheetal Pride printed on it, and I knew then it was put there for a purpose just like all other signs these people put to communicate their false perception and bullying messages and insults. On my way back, I felt like spitting on it because I felt so aversed from it. I ended up kicking it twice. It enraged me because it made me think how the rapists-in-spirit didn't see their boundary breaching actions as prideful, arrogant and tyrannous, but perceive others' boundaried, sensible and civilized behavior as a part of Sheetal Pride! A godly society is based on goldy boundaries which the abusers know none!

Vision (During day): KA throws a shiny yellow bomb in my kitchen space which bursts far ahead into the space of my room accompanied by a golden flash of light. It then leads to a 2-feet wide pillar of translucent fire in front of my table in which a short black snake floated mid-air as it kept burning in the fire. The vision continues for a good while and around the pillar of fire then appear tiny sparkling pink stars in the air a few feet away from the pillar.

The Guy sings:
Hai dil ye mera.. Mujhe har dum ye puchta..
Kyu hai mujhe tujhse itni wafa..
Kyu teri hasrat hai har khwahish se badh kar mujhe..
Kyu naam tera hi leti zuba..

Saathi tera ban jau.. Kyu hai ye junoon…
Har aanso tera pee jaun.. Aur de du sukoon…
Har din tujhko chahu teri rah taku…
Apni bahon mein tujhko mein salamat rakhun..

The lines in bold have been repeating in my spirit since the time I was washing clothes in the washroom in the morning.

Oye randi randi oye! O randi randi oye!
Surely these people who sing think this way about me have no godly sense of thinking and behaving!

The Guy sings:
Tere hi baare mein hai ab har zikar mera..
Hua hai kaisa asar ye tera..
Koi naseehat.. Na chahu mein koi salaah..
Jo ruh ne meri tujhe chun liya..

Saathi tera ban jau.. Kyu hai ye junoon…
Har aanso tera pee jaun.. Aur de du sukoon…
Har din tujhko chahu teri rah taku…
Apni bahon mein tujhko mein salamat rakhun..

Ref: The Bollywood song Saathi Tera Ban Jau

Other Revelations During the Day:

- The upper half of Sanjay Dutt in a white vest with shoulder strips tucked inside pants, and carrying his facial look from the Bollywood movie Saajan, looks slightly to the left of the viewer and something like: Apun bola ch.. Lekin ye mani nahin..
- Jesus in His multilayered white robes sitting on my bed behind me with His legs resting down on the floor, as I'm working on my Laptop. He looks idle (but He's not really idle in principle, because He is God, how can He ever be idle?) as He moves His face around while I am busy working. He looks relaxed and it seems like He is waiting for me to rest.
- A night scene resembling that from the movie Mohabbatein in which in a huge open area amidst buildings/homes, stand a crowd of people with Amitabh Bachchan in a long black attire, and SRK in long multilayered satin tunic (resembling Jesus's look to some extent), as someone is approaching them through a narrow street towards the open area, following which SRK takes a few steps forward. He is wearing specs with a frame resembling mine.

Zinda rehti hai unki Mohabbatein.. Zinda rehti hai unki Mohabbatein..

- A short-heighted SRK, dressed in an off-white full-sleeved shirt tucked inside pants, with a tie obliquely striped in red, runs to the left holding a scooter's handles.
- The upper half of a lady contained in a frame within the background of a blue day's sky, with the lady having straight hair partitioned at the centre, and adorned with golden jewellery resembling the ancient Egyptians' looks that's usually portrayed in The Mummy movies, is shown. The vision then moves downwards and below her is revealed to be present the upper half of a bald The Rock (Dwayne Johnson). When I wrote this, it made me recall the Bible verse that says that we are supposed to make Jesus as our Rock and foundation, and the lady in the vision had The Rock as her foundation, because as long as we are in Jesus, we are not in the world and are heading towards His Kingdom.

Previous vision related to The Rock during the day:
I had this vision while lying in bed. I saw Jesus standing beside me after a while of which He flew away backwards in a projectile in the vision, and in place of Him came a huge, black, almost square and stony The Rock with the face of The Rock (Dwayne Johnson).

- The side-view of the face of a heavily bearded (but not as heavy as the previous revelations) Amir Khan facing to the left, as he drinks milk from a transparent glass and spits it back in the shape of a sheet with uneven edges.
- A heavily armoured Akshay Kumar rides a horse.
- Abhijeet Sawant, in his white suit look from the song Labzon Mein Keh Na Sakoon, gets off a vehicle, as seen from a level few feet below his face. He then puts first two of his fingers on his lips softly and wave them to the audience in a way he did in the song.
- The top-view of the Bollywood actor Anupam Kher, dressed in a tunic set, sitting on an dark indoor metallic swing in a dark space with only a localized blue light lit on the ground near his feet with the light facing upwards as it spreads up in a cone and lights up the vertical centre of his body.
- Manoj Bajpayee dressed in a Policeman's attire from his Netflix series Family Man stands in a dark background. Perhaps he was facing to the left.
- Manisha Koirala dances with Anil Kapoor standing up close behind her inside a filled room with their right arms outstretched towards the wall consisting of transparent window panes, and their bodies facing the viewer with Manisha Koirala at the front. But they don't look like humans, but like translucent black shadows.
- A distant view of HRX in his Kites look (an open shirt over trousers with a muscular built) fiercely riding a horse towards the viewer in a dark night background with the view of a lone building lit with lights behind him as he moving away from it whirling a whip in his right hand and as he whips it, it reaches out far ahead of him.

Dil kyu ye mera shor karein..
Dil kyu ye mera shor karein..

Idhar nahin.. Udhar nahin.
Teri aur chale..

In the evening, after I write complete writing the sequence of transforming one's thought patterns to being holy when it comes to sexual morality, while I rest on my bed, I have this vision:

- I see KA dressed in a white tunic with a V-shaped neck come walking in with a huge smile and shiny eyes as he sits on his feet on vertically folded knees and vertically clasped hands like one does while praying beside my bed. My right hand lies close to his face in a loose fist. He starts kissing it and then starts chewing on my loose fist holding it with both hands.

Late evening:

- My mom dressed in a neck-high green tunic embroidered in white over white trousers stands smiling and looking at the viewer in my room with her right knee lifted and placed on the chair as she holds a plate of cooked rice in a hand while moving the contents with a spoon with the other hand. It later makes me think that the vision depicts the state of Raj-ma chawal.
- Jesus dressed in full-length multilayered satin robes sits with a straight back against the wall adjacent to the door beside my bed and types on my Laptop quickly and very focusedly.

Page 547.

28 September 2023
00:37

The Guy sings:
Tumse milne ki tamanna hai, pyaar ka irada hai..
Aur ik wadaa hai, jaanam..

Tumse milne ki tamanna hai, pyaar ka irada hai..
Aur ik wadaa hai, jaanam..

This song started playing strongly in my Spirit a while back and I kept getting a nudge to play it in my Laptop, so I did.

1:42
Somewhere during my middle school days, when I was perhaps in 5th class, the teacher played this word game where we were supposed to go to the front of the class and write a word on the blackboard beginning with the letter that the teacher gave. She gave us an 'E' which now reminds me of 'Eee ee ee ee ee' said by the fat infant avatar of Death Conqueror in the thick diaper as he moved his arms and legs on my bed, but before I started writing this part, I had the word that I wrote in mind. I think I was the first to go to the front, as my memory of a clear board tells me, and I wrote the word: Eagle. It now seems prophetic to me because it makes me think of Sis Adele's ministry that has an eagle's wings as its symbol.

When I was writing the above para, I heard the guy sing:
Rahegi sada yaha.. Pyaar ki ye dastaan..
Sunenge sada jise.. Ye zameen aasman..

Eagle is a symbol used for God's watchmen as well. So, looking at this incident from my middle school makes me happy that I was meant to be called in this position.

Also, I felt this internal nudge to buy a Bold Existence t-shirt as I have been feeling for the past few weeks. I really like her ministry and the way they operate, their black merchandise, and the eagle's logo as well. So, I went to their website and started looking into their merchandise. After choosing a few things to choose from as it's an international forum and therefore the prices are a bit high, I came across this option to buy an Apron!? And it reminded me of the vision I had during the past 30 hours, in which Sis Adele came out of a kitchen wearing a white or an off-white apron. So, it made me think if I was to buy an apron from her merchandise.

As I was writing the above, I heard the following song lyric:
Saiyaraa mein saiyarra.. Saiyarra tu saiyaraa.
Sitaaro ke jahan mein milenge ab yara..

And it was followed by the following phrase: 'Maar khaya!'

The Guy sings:
Bhula dena mujhe.. Hai alvida tujhe..
Tujhe jeena hai mere bina..

I'm still not decided if I should buy a white or an off-white apron. Perhaps I will go with an off-white one. Well, I'm still not sure why God wants me to buy a Bold Existence Apron.

Revelations (past midnight):

- The side-view of the upper half of a person sleeping with a grey-colored Jerry inside a red quilt with a small red and white floral print. While the other person is static, the tiny grey Jerry keeps moving around its position near that person's face, and after a while runs away out of the bed in a direction slightly to the left of the viewer while that person is still asleep in bed.
- Benedict Cumberbatch dressed in Superman's clothes with a red inverted cap on top flies towards the viewer as he says: I'm coming! I'm coming! (Now I don't know who the label represents. But the cap style reminds me of Glory.)
- The slightly bearded face of Dr. Strange facing to the left as he says: I love you.. I do love you..

As I walk to the kitchen to have milk with biscuits, I see:

- A smiling Glory in Jesus' attire of multi-layered white standing in the centre of the room. He carries an amused expression as he is looking at me.

As I am having milk with biscuits while sitting on my bed, I see:

- Jesus walk into the narrow kitchen space.

He is in this room. He lives in this room with me. Now I've to come to live this reality for now He has increased His visions over anyone else's. He lives here with me. My creator lives here with me.

- 'Waah Taaj!': I have been hearing this for many days now. It repeats several times at times in a day.

Vision (last morning): The mouth of a black animal licking my toes as it leaves them damp.
The vision repeats a few times.

Revelations earlier during the day:

- A localized region of light sky blue clay around the edges of a door with a depression of fingers on it as the someone must have opened or closed the door.
- Peels of potato lie on the empty top shelf of the green plastic kitchen rack with three shelves that I have here.
- Mere chehre pe teri roshni chamke..
  Meri baton pe teri khusboo mehke..
  Mera Jeevan bane teri stuti ka sthaan..
  Yeshu mere tu hai mahan..
  Ref: Yeshu aa..

The lines in bold are highlighted as they repeat themselves, which reminds me of the vision that showed the face of Kartik Aryan being peeled off (representing my face). Are they really going to peel off my face?

I briefly talk about my testimony and other things in this 1 hr 23 minutes long video which you may not choose to watch if you already know the stuff because of my Notebook.

Intro to The Secret Place Revelations

18:18
Vision (afternoon): The upper half of Jesus on the cross until His throat, with His face all bruised and drenched in blood, with one eye purple, swollen, and closed, looks at the viewer with a broken lower lip which is literally vertically divided in two at the left side, with His face turned slightly to the left as He says: Child, I love you!

Afternoon, while cleaning:
'Yaad rakhna, maine tujhse nahi tere sharir se pyaar kiya hai.. Yaad rakhna, maine tujhse nahi tere sharir se pyaar kiya hai..': heard in the Spirit. The sentence keeps repeating several times and I can tell that it reflects the heart of an earthly man, that's the only case that would or could say such a thing. God or an angel don't think in such degraded ways.

The vision repeated itself several times, or Jesus said several times: Child, I love you! while looking at the viewer. How evil and wicked thoughts they harbor! Even when I was live on YouTube yesterday, they started hitting my left eye with an intensity they never did before! Now, a broken lip is a threat that I have been receiving for some time indirectly from the evil wicked. But it's Jesus they would be hurting. And if they had any good sense, they wouldn't hurt someone's body which is their temple of God, but they exhibit such a dire lack of godly sense! For those people, godliness is meant just for an outer show, not for real living, and they target those who live it up for real! Godly values are meant to be lived for real and not for a show!

Sach keh rahi hai yeh!

Bilkul shi baat.

The vision also shows how God sees the hearts and thoughts of all men and women and would rather have them refrain from sin and repent by showcasing His love, instead of judging them directly. God very clearly revealed that these people didn't have any mercy in them. Recall: jaise aap mein rehem nhi hai. It didn't come from my mind, but from the Spirit of God. God sees how these people are.

Kyu Mara!? Kyu Mara!? : Heard in the Spirit (During day)

Revelations while resting a while back:

The following revelation began abruptly in my vision as I lay in bed. I saw:

- Parts from the following revelation that I had while resting on my bed yesterday repeat. In that revelation, I saw Jesus holding a steel bowl with oil inside it, as He sits on the bed near my middle section, in a surrounding that resembles the look of being dimly lit in yellow with a lamp that lights only its surrounding area and not the entire room. He takes some oil and puts it on my groin which has tiny spiky hair growth. Apparently, in this vision, I was shown as being naked. He started putting oil on me beginning from the place of the top of my uterus. Afterwards, He covered my belly with oil moving his hands from down to up, as he took more from that steel bowl. He looks very calm and gentle as He does so. I can see that the act holds some prophetic significance. He then puts oil on my upper half. The follow-up vision has me lying on my left side with Him sitting behind me with that bowl of oil as He looks down with lowered eyelids and a sad expression and starts applying oil on the top hip. I see that He is putting more oil on that space as the vision of Him taking in oil from that bowl and applying it there repeats. The follow-up vision has Him slowly walking backwards towards the door as He faces me and says in a quiet serious tone: Now we'll meet in heaven. He anointed me because of the things I would be facing! Well, the vision reminds me of what I heard this day in washroom: Todunga tujhe to! Tujhe to mein todunga! This makes me wonder if someone is going to beat me up that brutally because of which Jesus gave me this anti-dote revelation beforehand. I'm not sure though. But it also made me think of the previous revelation in which my dad beat me up brutally with a stick after which I laid on my side tied with a cloth with my backside visible to the viewer as black beating marks could be seen on my ass a part of which was visible through the white cloth tied around it.
- Jack dressed in an off-white shirt tucked inside jeans, with a horizontally striped tie in red, and a brown coat on top, stands in the middle of a market space with mounting buildings around at night, with his right hand inside his Jeans pocket as he turns his face away at the back of the right side.
- A very small-framed vision of a clean-shaven Benedict Cumberbatch standing in a social space surrounded by a partial vision of few other people, in which he has neatly combed hair sideways, dressed in a top over jeans with a very thick and long brown jacket on top, putting on his transparent specs resembling mine as he turns his face to the right.

These were so relaxing revelations. Look at the characterful behavior of these people.

- Parts of the lyrics from the Worship song Yeshu Aa play in my Spirit:
  Meri zindagi hai teri.. Yeshu tu hai shaan meri..
  Apna lahu dekar tune, meri zindagi hai swaari..

Mera jeevan bane teri stuti ka sthaan..
Yeshu mere tu hai bada mahan..

I'm so glad I did not have fleshly revelations since yesterday. I only had the revelation of Jesus anointing me with oil as was a practice in the Old Testament. If I don't receive any fleshly revelations, my brain will have to face less of those revelations that come in an unholy outlook but carry a hidden message.

~21:30
The lines started playing abruptly in my Spirit this late evening:
Dil ka dariya beh hi gaya.. Ishq ibaadat ban hi gaya..
Khud ko mujhe tu saup de..
Meri jarurat tu ban gaya..
Ref: The Bollywood song

The Guy sings:
Baby I'm preying on you tonight
Hunt you down eat you alive..
Just like animals, animals, like animals..

Well, I was feeling low in spirit as I lay in bed listening to Psalms. I don't know why I was that downcast. Perhaps it was because of the worse situation that I saw on the road than what God had shown me in which the spying criminal Death Conqueror passed me by on a cycle shouting Sorry, but what I saw on the road were many huge vehicles that emanated a sense of worldly vanity and superiority, and then other girls, youngsters were also involved in mocking me which made me think: such a godless and degraded generation. The accident today in the washroom made me see how that part of the dream actually showed the opposite of the truth. In the washroom, I reached my room, I felt so drained of energy because of all the messenger people I came across who behaved in foolish ways, and it made me think how godless they were. I also saw they had no fear of the Lord, and were so animalistic in their thought patterns and instincts, and truly had no sense of remorse as was revealed by God. Though I knew that God had told me after anointing my body with oil that I would be meeting Him in heaven, I felt too nauseous because of the affected crowd on the road. Throughout the time that I walked on the road, I felt pukish and repelled by the acting generation with no real godliness. They stank of hypocrisy and fakeness and I felt terrible around them! I anyway only go out when I have to buy something, and today was that day I had to buy Toilet cleaners from Apollo and also withdraw money as I was about to run out of cash.

On reaching my room, I played Psalms on my laptop as I looked at the previous revelations Jesus had given me that I hadn't yet written. It made me depressed, and I saw how the Psalms spoke the truth about the wickedness of men and the suffering of the people of God by their hands. But then an abrupt reminder of this vision I had yesterday lit me up as I saw that it reflected my own situation as well.

Late Evening:

- I see a lady sitting alone in a car at night in its driver's seat, wearing huge, white-rimmed square glasses as she looks down at something on a screen that she's working on, and that screen dimly lits her face with white light.
- The view is seen from a level below her: Sis Adele (Grobler) dressed in long multilayered saffron clothes with a very long thickly beaded Chandan garland around her neck that reaches up to her belly.
- Sis Bia's head covered with an embroidered sky blue ethnic dupatta with a hazy sparkling aura around it.

Past Revelations

- Last night: The side-view of the Bollywood Actor Dev Anand on all fours on the floor with a huge naked protruding ass visible at the back. The ass is much more prominent than his entire body.
- It was when Chaaru came to give me my dinner tiffin the day before yesterday that I had this vision after she left: Chaaru's face behind a steel triangular steel hanger. She then changes to Madhuri Dixit with her hair tied at the back in a bun as she looks at the viewer being adorned with golden jewellery.
- The vision of a clean-shaven Hanuman's face facing to the left slightly towards the viewer in dim golden light wearing a about 1.5 inches high golden crown.
- The Bollywood actor Ayushmann Khurrana with a muscular build dressed in a black t-shirt and shorts rides a bicycle as he carries a bag and talks to some people riding along with him to his left.
- This scene from the movie Troy has been intermittently being highlighted to me since the beginning of the month. The scene has the lady called Briseis on top of Achilles with a dagger at his neck but then they end up making out.

Achilles Begs Briseis To Kill Him

Page 548.

29 September 2023
06:18

Revelations while being half-asleep:

- On a natural scenic day background with the side-view of a tree present to the right of the vision, and a soothing still shimmering water body in front of a green lawn, is written Jesus in cursive in the center on top of the water body.
- A beautiful, animated lady, with side-combed wavy dark brown hair and huge eyes, is looking focusedly without blinking at the viewer, when a dark hand comes at her from the left, covers her mouth, and abruptly pulls her to that side, followed by the vision of that dark guy pushing and throwing the lady on the floor to the left and him about to get on top of her when the vision ends.
- Dushman with a U Hindu symbol made on his forehead lifts up Jesus on a cross very high, to a height easily of about 3rd or 4th floor of a building, openly in daylight for everyone to see, and as he does so, he is smiling wickedly and looks pleased as if it was his goodwill and he does it shamelessly! Jesus can be seen as a small figure up high on the cross above as one lifts one's head.
- A clean-shaven Akshay Kumar in a suit smilingly hands a beautiful, long, and reasonably filled white lavender branch to a person present to the left who's not shown in the vision, followed by him handing over a bunch of such branches.
- A clean-shaven LDC in a blue suit over a lighter-shaded shirt with hair neatly combed side-ways stands in the background of a shining water body that covers the entire frame of the vision as he extends a bunch of flowers to the viewer in the environment of a shiny moonlit light.
- The front-view of the naked upper half of Uma Thurman with blue eyes, hair tied low at the back, head slightly bent backwards, and hands stretching sideways slightly to the back as she sits on a surface with an exhausted/spent look with sparsely populated brown bite marks on her upper body as parts of her bruised separated tissue stand out.
- The parallel view of a hand moving against the left shoulder of a woman dressed in the red dress polka dotted in white that I was wearing a few days back as she lays on her bed in the setting of my room under the green light. The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- The vision is followed by a hand now moving her dress to the side from over the shoulder revealing a black strap over her bare left shoulder. This vision made me recall of the night that I slept in that dress within the past week, and then I recalled that the strap was that of the Bold Existence lingerie that I was wearing beneath that dress, the following day of which I had the vision in which Jesus was lifting my upper body up repeatedly but I kept falling down again and again, and in real life as well, I couldn't get up from the bed for a long time and even the blinking of my eyes became synchronous with my breathing as they lifted and closed slowly with my slow breath patters, and it was perhaps or indeed the first time this happened that I felt almost dead. The lady sings: Maar dala,.. Maar dala.. Well, what didn't make sense to me was why I received a vision about this supposed event from the past week now. This night that I slept, I turned off the green light for I already had communion with Jesus as I cooked Maggi for I felt a nudge to do so, and the green light is a signifier of my Holy communion with Jesus during which He gives rest to my head.
- A close-up side view of a man’s penis hitting against a woman’s ass as it moves through her vagina in intercourse and I can hear the sound of it hitting against her ass. I don’t know who is it who is performing such an act. The vision continues for about a minute perhaps, in my mental view unexpectedly as I see how that man continues to have intercourse with that person. I had this similar but not exact revelation of a meter or two away top left side view of Jesus on top of me as He moved on me hitting against my groin's surface though I was not in the posture of the vision. He was dressed in His full-length multilayered white robes and had neck-length wavy hair. Well, I didn't see the face of Jesus in that vision, but He has represented only one other person in that attire by far, and that's Glory. I assumed it to be Jesus. I don't recall if I had this vision in conjunction with the one that just showed the side-view of the act against the ass, but writing the localized vision reminded me of my corresponding vision with Jesus. The lady sings: Maar dala… Maar dala..

- I see a YouTube page that has only one video as a thumbnail present on the top row, and the thumbnail has the picture of Ankur Narula in a white tunic set on a stage ministering to people with the view of long green palm branches surrounding him, and the title of the video saying that a person was to be handed over, so he is being prepared: 'Saupa jayega unke haathon mein, usko/khud ko taiyaar karo!'

The Ankur Narula dream-vision woke me up properly and I got up from the bed after a while.

'Kartika tu to badi cute nikli!'

Currently these lines play in my Spirit:
Lal samunder tere liye rasta kholega (repeats several times and highlights strongly)
Shaitan ki saari sena nash ho jayegi.
Yardan nadi bhi hat kar bahegi..
Jeevan ka phatak tumhe swagat karega..

Ref: The Worship song Mein tere aage aap chalunga..

12:22

Dream (Morning):

In this dream, I am in a home with Glory and some other people. I can see that Glory and those other people are too good at acting. There's this girl in the house who goes out with Glory for some reason and I can tell that they're such great actors that even if they fornicated outside, I won't be able to prove it or see a hint of it on their faces, and they could just return and act normal and I wouldn't be able to tell a thing. Well, it makes me upset in the dream because I feel helpless in the situation. What could I possibly do about it? I am not an actor and I can see that those people could act and fool me together. While this ensues, I see Death Conqueror roaming outside on the road. While I'm thinking about Glory and that girl in a sky blue tunic, I see a girl, dressed in a white top tucked inside blue denim with her hair tied in a pony at the back, come walking in a straight posture and talk to others. Looking at her, I can tell that she dressed like that intentionally, and she looks quite obscene to me, but I don't know what point she was making. I only learned this way of thinking after coming to God as previously I was numb or not sensitive enough to catch what counted as holy and unholy ways of dressing. That girl was such a vulgar sight and I never dress in tops that are tucked inside denims or trousers. I always prefer to keep them out loose.

I don't make such sick points that the girl in the dream was making. I don't even think in such terms.

Visions (post waking up):

- A muscular Sanjay Dut in a white tank top vest tucked inside pants, and having the hairstyle of the movie Saajan, comes walking towards the viewer with a bouquet held straight in his right hand.
- Amir Khan as the sailor policeman (this time real and not animated) stands dressed in the previous thick full-sleeved red attire with golden horizontal tie-ups, facing to the right, but this time having short boycut hair as he looks at the viewer with intrigued expression and a slight smile. He then looks at the viewer grinding his teeth with his sword in his hand, after which he walks to a person not visible in the vision, stands in front of him with the sword held horizontally in his outstretched arm as he continues looking at that person with a seemingly serious expression as he grinds his teeth, and says: Chodunga nahi usko!
- The naked half of a very muscular Amir Khan, even more muscular than the slam Dunk players, lifts dumbbells with an angry countenance in a white background while sitting on a surface with his posture facing slightly to the left. The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- The slight right-side view of Jacob in a navy blue shirt as he slowly sits on a knee with a bouquet in his hands facing in front of a person not visible in the vision.

13:22

Revelations while having my tea communion with worship listening to the Worship song Who Am I.

Casting Crowns - Who Am I (1 hour) (Lyrics)

- A huge Jesus in a white cloth wrapped around his waist and with a thorny crown on his head swings and rotates around pleased with the Worship.
- The vision is followed by the view of His huge upper half fully dressed in multilayered white robes now bent on the surface of an ocean as His face is turned to the viewer and He joyfully splashes water on the face of the viewer with one of His hands. He was so huge that it very clearly made the point of Him being the almighty God. There are a varied number of expressions God can choose to show His joy when He is pleased with the worship of His creation.
- As I continue to worship with closed eyes, He splashes water on my face a few more times which makes me burst out in joyful laughter and I end up opening my eyes.

Such beautiful revelations..

The Guy sings:

Saiyarra mein saiyarra, saiyarra tu saiyarra..

Sitaaro ke jahan mein, milenge ab yara..

The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

I happened to take my Boom speaker with me into washroom while pooping with the worship song Who Am I playing on it. The sentence I am yours reminded me of the whisper I'm yours that I had heard when pooping back at my home that I've written previously about as well.

Vision (Night): Shawn from Yeshu Ke Geet with a wide white beaded crown on his head sitting surrounded by a glowing, sparkling white aura around him, smiles while looking at me/the viewer.

Page 549.

30 September 2023
20:51

Dream (Morning):

I am in a room and when I exit it I find that it has no stairs directly attached to it but the stairs lie a few feet away from the room's door.. So I have to take a leap through the air to get on the stairs and walk down. I walk to a space with other students and take an exam. As I walk back upstairs, I see the room to my left and see that to get inside I'll have to take another leap through the air to cover the gap. I now find myself entering a room resembling that of those present adjoining the school's ground on the ground floor of the senior wing of my school in my hometown. As I enter, I see students quickly occupy the first seats with one student each on the long bench meant for three. So I walk to the last bench and put my bag there, but immediately comes a chubby Puneet (my classmate from school), dressed in the school uniform with his side-slicken hair as he tells me that he has his bag placed there. I see it lying and ask him if he wants to sit there. He takes his bag away and now I'm alone on the bench. Puneet was quite good at maths and was, therefore, Shamsher Sir's favourite while I used to be the favourite of English teachers. I see my English teacher Mamta Ma'am, with a protruding upper jaw, standing behind the tall addressing table in the front of the class. She is posing some questions or perhaps is making something clear about a question in the paper as I see some things written on the blackboard. She sees me and comes closer to my seat and sits on the desk of a bench a few benches in front of me. She sits facing to the left and I see her making the prophetic symbol as she talks. I can see that she shifted there because of me. When she taught us during high school, I didn't perceive her behavior as such but the dream reveals to me that she at times chose her sitting positions to be closer to me or for me to be in direct view of her. She really liked me as a student. I used to quickly be the favourite of all English teachers somehow for some reason though I wasn't too great at it, but Mamta Ma'am.. to her, I was good enough. Perhaps it was because I was good at grammar, though I didn't have a good vocabulary as I would easily forget complex labels but retain only the basic ones needed to explain things. It seemed too difficult to me to remember words and I didn't find remembering words worth it either though I wanted to be better at it, because I knew that I had to be better at knowing more words if I had to write. I recall her only seeing the best in me. She used to be happy around me and so did I. Well, coming back to the dream: I observe her talk and her protruding upper jaw. She is perhaps the exam invigilator in that room.

We are all now out of the room, and I find myself standing near a building. I see something brownish and flexible protrude out and rest on the cemented top of a building to my right. When I look at it carefully, I identify it to be a very thick and long finger because of the presence of a nail at the bottom end. It was protruding out of the part of the building near its roof above the ground floor. I see that there's someone present there who needs help. There are two more people in front of me near a downward slant and they too mention about that person needing help but they don't seem affected by the state of that person and stand apathetically being busy among themselves and not really caring about that person above. Seeing this, I take a jump and reach about a foot below the roof, balancing myself against the supports that I am holding. I see that there is a beige guy present there with tiny spiky hair and he seems to be in distress. I get an abrupt hold of him and let go of the support I was holding. On my way down through the air, I see the head of the guy severe by itself and when I've reached the ground, I lay his body down with his severed head lying above his neck. It doesn't make any sense to me, because when I had gotten hold of him, he looked fully intact, and how come his neck now severe from its place by itself in a clean cut?

In the next scene, I am with my mom as she sitting in front of me against a wall and she tells me that a slaughterer severed the neck of a person, and she's referring to that guy that I was holding on my way down as the one who got slaughtered. I find it hard to believe because how come a human, who slaughters animals for their flesh to be sold, slaughter a man with such ease? I mean I find it a very conscienceless act, and then I happen to know that slaughterer in the dream, so I get a bit of shock. She takes the name of the slaughterer twice and tells me that the bald guy was first kidnapped and taken to that slaughterhouse near the Sabzi Mandi, and how in that closed space/room, he was first beaten down for a long period of time, followed by the head of the goons asking for him to be given a head massage outside the room, after which he ordered to sever his neck. As my mom tells me this, I realize that when I got hold of the guy, he was already having a severed neck and that I didn't do anything to cause it. I feel bad for that guy and see that there's no law and order present in the place.

I move and sit on the bed, and my mom follows and stands in front of me with the shape of her obese figure somewhat visible through her embroidered, printed blue tunic with a vertical white strip in the middle, as she says to me: Motapa maintain karna kitna mushkil hota hai! (Oh how difficult it is to maintain being overweight/obese.)

Somewhere in the middle of the dream, I see my dad dressed in his doctor's white coat holding a small drill machine above the naked convex surface of the belly of a person who's lying in front of him. Only the belly and my dad behind the belly in front of a yellowish wall are shown in the view and not the person lying on the bed. I see that I have to make an urgent call to him, or else he is going to drill a hole in that belly as he is ready with a smile with the small vertical drill held right above the belly. As I watch him with the drill, I am about to panic as I have not yet made a call for I am looking at him and I don't have my phone with me.

It reminds me of the previous night when my mom was asking me repeatedly to call my dad and ask what was he doing, or call to just have some casual talk. But I didn't because he doesn’t talk in a normal way, is often unpredictable, and seems to get provoked to anger unexpectedly by even casual talk.

After waking up:

- Glory dressed in multilayered white robes like that of Jesus grabs hold of me and starts kissing me on the floor of the room.
- A lady with waist-length thick dark brownish colored hair is dragging herself above on the stairs at the gate in front of the stairs on the ground floor under the arch. She is lying on the ground on her back and drags herself up along the stairs. Her behavior doesn't make sense to me at all.

The green dress flashes in my mental view in my Spirit a few times. I then get a nudge to visit the home salon on the first floor before cleaning the room. The lady who does the salon's work at home there is Chaaru's husband's sister-in-law.

After cleaning the room and washing a few clothes, I lay on the floor and see Jesus standing ahead pointing me to return Chaaru's tiffin and clear payment for it, followed by the vision of Him standing with my green dress held in His hands as He looked at me with two red love hearts in front of His eyes. I follow along, though previously I wasn't planning on bathing.

I bathe, get dressed in the green dress, and make tea as I am nudged, and again I follow the nudges of the Spirit in choosing the things to have as communion from the lot present in the small rack. If I happen to pick up something else, I can feel a nudge to put it back, and I'm pointed to what He wants me to have. For e.g: I felt a nudge to keep only one biscuit on the plate, followed by a nudge to put some nut crackers along it. I thought of not having the Nutcrackers but picked up the Matthi that I had bought in the morning, but the Nutcrackers got highlighted again so I put the Matthi back in its place. See? God wants to be so in control or be in such intimacy with His children that He even plans the things they should eat. And it was that I realized the shape of the biscuit and the nutcrackers placed on one side were a representation of something, just like the Motichoor Ladoo (the ball), the white square barfi (the ejaculation), and the milk cake (the genitalia) together represented something. I only realized it later as I looked at my plate, and then His selection of sweets made sense to me.

The Guy sings:
Aaja lagja gale se mere tha karke,
tha tha karke, tha tha karke..

Past Revelation
Vision: The upper half of Jesus, represented by John Foss, standing supporting himself on the wooden danda held by both his hands on the left side as he looks at the viewer - a scene from the movie The Life of Jesus Christ of Nazareth that gets flashed in my Spirit.

During Evening Worship Session:

- Spirit & The Bride say, 'Come': I hear this lyric in my spirit from the Worship song by Maranatha singers, so I play it out on my speakers.
- Glory in a black t-shirt over black trousers dances with me in a duet with one of our arms outstretched to a side, in a manner similar to the dance with Keanu Reaves.

I play the Instrumental Worship song by the name Yeshua, turn off the yellow light and lay down on the bed with just the green light on when I see Jesus standing on the floor and pointing to it. He is asking me to lie on the floor - that's a humble position before God as we spend time in His presence. So, I mop the floor quickly and lay down.

I have these beautiful revelations while I lay down. At times I get in a worship flow where it's hard to record as I don't want to interrupt my restful time and be busy writing, but then I have to or else I would forget.

The Guy sings:
Aaja lagja gale se mere tha karke,
tha tha karke, tha tha karke..

These are the revelations I had while lying on the floor:

- The innocent face of an animated white horse with big beautiful eyes facing to the left as it stands in a green field with some bushes present in front of it, as a hand gently caresses/pampers its lower jaw as it looks at that person with its wide love-filled eyes. Far behind the scene can be seen the concentrated orangish hue of the sunset in the sky which fills the green field with its dim aura.
- 'Ye maregi mere haathon se!'
- A close-up view of a golden cross-guard beaded with tiny multi-colored gems with the sword in an upside-down direction. As the vision zooms out and more of the sword is revealed in a dark/black background, it lifts itself up and starts moving all over the dark background with no hand visibly holding or moving it. Though it looks like it's being used by a person who's doing swordplay while moving side-ways, none is visible.
  The Guy sings: Sochti hai jyada.. Kam vo samajhti hai..
- The short-haired doppelganger of Tanu from the movie Tanu Weds Manu looks at the viewer as she's sitting at the back of a scooter moving to the right through a green field with some bushes hiding the lower part of the scooter, and as the vision moves to the right, in front of her is revealed Shahid Kapoor wearing a red cap driving the scooter as he hurls grams in his mouth with his left hand.
- 'I Love you..'
- The top view of my upper-half in green light as I'm lying on the floor as the view then moves to one side in the way it does in the scene of an unconscious dead Bella lying in the same manner as mine in a blue dress with hands clutched on her belly, as her transformation begins which makes me think if I'm really going to transform like Bella, not miraculously though, but with effort as I no longer feel like eating meals and feel pushed towards fasting. I want to further increase the intensity of fasting so I become more spiritually active and am filled tangibly with the Holy Spirit to an extent that I don't get affected by outer circumstances and am filled with the unexplained peace and joy of the Lord.
- The view from below of a man walking to the left dressed in a loose half-sleeved white shirt printed with red flowers, tucked inside light blue denim jeans.
- A genitalia smoothly enters inside a tissue tunnel.
- The back-view of Aamir Khan in a shirt with a white hat on his head
- Baby light blue Ganesha with an adorned upper half floats away from the viewer in a dark background.
- Baby light blue Ganesha in a red satin dhoti lies comfortably with his upper half adorned with gold and lifted above the surface in a dark background as he eats something.

- A golden featureless figure of a man rises up out of what looks like golden fluid on a pedestal at the viewer's left side, holding a transparent crystal ball in both his hands which he lifts up high in the air as his body stretches upwards.
- He now holds the crystal ball with one hand.
- The top small-framed view of me in my green dress lying on the ground with my arms extending to the sides as my hands are tied by ropes that stretch away from my arms. My entire body looks lean except my belly which is protruding out unusually. A huge short-haired man armoured in a golden robotic suit comes and sits beside me to my right with his back visible to the viewer as the scene is seen from my top right side. That armoured man places his hand on my cheek on the other side and caresses it for a while. I don't know why is he not undoing my hands if he's for my goodwill. He looks much taller than me and the back of his head seems conical. The man in the golden armour then lies on top of me and starts moving to and fro, apparently in intercourse with just his genitalia protruding out, through his heavy golden armour.
- 'I Love you..'
- The genitalia that was resting inside now comes out a bit and starts hitting at the tissue tunnel forcefully.
- 'Kartika tu ab khadi hoja!.. Ab khadi hoja!' Someone's voice keeps telling me to get up from the floor now but I don't feel a nudge from the Holy Spirit yet to get up. I am spending time with the Lord. The revelations that I receive are separate from the reality of me resting in His presence.
- Sunil Shetty with a specs moves to the left in an open dark background.
- Siddharth Malhotra in a white tunic comes at me from above with his hands by the side of my head and while he's is still on the way, he says: I love you and immediately gets held and pulled away by a huge black figure present beside me. The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- 'I Love you..'
- Aamir Khan in a deep red tunic with a black half-jacket on top and a deep red head wrap around his forehead stands holding the trunk of a tree to the left as he looks at the viewer smiling, followed by him swinging himself around the trunk in rotations by holding it with one hand. He seems to enjoy the free swing in the open field.
  The Guy sings: Haa… Ha.. aa.. aa.. aa. aa. aa. aa… aa… aa.. aa…aa
  Aye ho meri zindagi mein tum bahar banke..
  Mere dil mein tu hi rehna tum pyaar pyaar banke..
  Aye ho meri zindagi mein tum bahar banke..
- The upper half of Aamir Khan in a skyblue t-shirt holding the trunk of a tree as he looks at the viewer smiling. The vision zooms out and he is shown to be standing near the cliff of a snow plateau present at a great height from the ground as he now starts rotating around the tree with his upper body stretched away from it as he swings holding the trunk with one hand with the other hand stretched outwards.
- The face of Glory until his throat with clasped hands below his chin as he is shivering out of sheer cold and freezing with visible frozen crystals of water on his face and hands.
- 'Waah Taaj!'
- Baby Ganesha (not light blue this time) sitting crossed legs in a dark background with his hands extending to his sides as he releases small pink lotuses up in the air alternatively with both hands.
- 'I Love you..'
- 'Kartika, I Love you..'

- Rahul Dravid in the skyblue Indian cricket uniform swings his bat in the air in a blurred hazy surrounding as he stands with the blurry presence of other people on the left side of the vision with the view superimposed on an open cricket field present on the right.
- The follow-up vision has him dressed in the same attire but this time on top of me as he opens with his hands my tissue tunnel, inserts his genitalia, and rests on me.
- KA standing inside my room in front of my room's door dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt tucked inside black pants gets a strong forehead hit by an erected genitalia trunk and falls on the ground a few feet away from my feet. He gets repeated forehead head hits as he keeps lying there.
- Glory in his wedding attire of red suit over white shirt moves on top of me, accompanied by the vision of a bouquet of long, red gift wrap frills inside my tissue tunnel, followed by a bouquet of red roses inside my tissue tunnel.
- A metallic face resembling Ghost Rider's but with red eyes, moves in a direction parallel to the viewer's line of sight to the left. As the vision zooms out, it is seen that the face is actually the head of the metallic bike at the place of its headlight, and the bike's riding on its own without a rider present on it.
- The vision is followed by Dushman in a dimly-lit environment burning on the inside as the cavities formed on his facial skin by the burning of his inner self show his lit inside, as he says: Ye nahi mar sakti! Ye nahi mar sakti! (She can't die! She can't die!)
- Smriti Irani sits soberly dressed in a saree with my white cup as she drinks from it.
- The heroine of the Kora Kaagaz song (Sharmila Tagore) stands dressed in a saree in her young retro look with her back on which her long braid rests facing the viewer as she turns her head backwards and looks at the viewer.
- Banake kyu bigada re.. Bigada re naseeba..
  Upar wale.. Upar wale..
- A stubbled RS in a black suit over a white shirt comes walking with a huge smile with stars in front of his eyes as he throws something in the front.
- Ajay Devgan holding a lady horizontally lifted on his shoulder stands facing slightly to the left with lips pressed in as he walks into a room, throws the lady on bed and starts moving on top of her.
- The vision is followed by him now standing with a girl child sitting on one of his arms as he looks at the viewer and says: That was my wife! He then points to the girl and says: She's my child!
- The front view of a tall and wide Jesus, dressed in a neck-high full-length white tunic with a red drape on top, standing facing the stairs beside the door of the apartment adjoining the stairs that go down to the first floor, as He is squeezing a regular dirty mop (and not mine) into a bucket in front of Him, being bent towards the bucket while looking down at the viewer standing below, as He says: Chodunga nahi usko! Chodunga nahi usko! The apartment, the entrance of which He is standing at, has a room right above the stairs in which is present a wallpaper of a meditating Buddha visible from its window every time one walks down the stairs, though now they've covered the window. As I wrote this revelation, I understood why He spoke this Word to me. It's because the thief, criminal Death Conqueror possessing the mind of a rapist, flies His spy drones above me when I am mopping the floor while sitting down being bent towards it, thereby revealing to the world the insides of my top, which otherwise would have stayed hidden as I wouldn't be working in that position if I had someone present in front of me, but the criminal proved that He didn't have any pure intentions with this cheap act of His. So Jesus gave a revelation in which He stood at a level above the viewer being fully dressed, and was bent and squeezing the mop into the bucket as He looked down at the viewer and said: Chodunga nahi usko! Chodunga nahi usko! That's how His revelations make sense to me. Many times I don't understand them when I receive them. I only understood it while writing it here. Shame on that wicked guy!

As I wrote the past few lines, I heard:
Masih nidhaal.. Soe daar chalte dekha hai..
Bhadakti aag mein ek phool jalte dekha hai..

This last Jesus revelation with the mop that I had, somehow came with the sense that it was supposed to be the last one of this particular prophetic flow of the Spirit. So I got up from my rest on the floor.

Jesus is so good and sees the hearts and motives of wicked men like him who act insensibly without any good moral sense. Such a useless existence! Jesus, who is God, will even mop the floor in that way using that dirty mop of the kind used in Indian workplaces or homes - the typical meshed mop. And it was so dirty and He displayed His humility and greatness by performing that act. He is God, why should He bring Himself down to that level? But He will do so for His children whom He loves.

Somewhere during my prophetic revelatory flow of the Holy Spirit that I wrote above, I also saw:

- KA lying on the floor on my right side, dressed in his vision-standard attire of a white shirt tucked inside black pants, as he suddenly changes to a black demonic self and grabs my throat angrily and says in a stuffed resentful voice: Itna pyaar kyu kiya!, followed by him immediately changing back to his usual self! I then see RS lying on my left side on the floor dressed in his vision standard attire of a blue suit with a white shirt inside. Both of them happily roll sideways away from me followed by me hearing in the Spirit: I'm so happy in your company! I'm so happy in your company!
- My upper half wearing just a white bra but with the right cup torn at its joint with strap because of which the corresponding breast is protruding out and falling down.
- A person, dressed in a black suit over a white shirt, stands with his body facing to the right, with side-slicken hair. His face then changes to the Bollywood actor Ali Fazal.
  Randi tera to peet peet ke bhurta banaunga!: says a voice! But am I asking God for these revelations? No. I liked the horse revelation in a dimly-lit setting of a sunset a lot.
- The upper half of Bollywood actress Bhagyashree until the end of her throat with her head covered with a saffron dupatta. The face of the actress then changes to another Bollywood actress's face.
- Aamir Khan in a red ethnic Kashmiri tunic set with a half jacket and a red short cylindrical Topi on his head looks at the viewer.

Past Revelation

Vision: A small-framed vision of the short-heighted MSc Plasma Physics teacher Prof. Devaki Nandan Gupta of my workplace (Dept of Physics & Astrophysics, DU) dressed in an extremely loose white shirt tucked inside black pants standing with his posture facing to the left.

After I was done lying down and I felt I had enough revelations to record where the last Jesus revelation came with the sense of an ending note to this session of revelatory flow, I got up, and as I was walking to the balcony, I heard:

Bewafa bewafa bewafa nikli hai vo..
Jhoota pyaar, jhoota pyaar, jhoota pyaar kita hai vo!

Well, I don't who these lines refer to!

And while I was writing the previous sentence, I heard the lady sing:
Awaaz deke humein tum bulaao..
Mohhabat mein itna na humko satao..

But it's not me regardless of what someone thinks about me! Though I may not be relating with all revelations, I know the ones I do relate with. And I have already written about those people, and as I wrote this sentence, I heard the lady sing:
Dil mein sanam ki surat.. Aankhon mein aashiqui de..
Dil mein sanam ki surat.. Aankhon mein aashiqui de..
Mere khuda mujhe tu, ek aur zindagi de..

'Kartika, itni perfect mat ban.. itni perfect mat ban.. Jaan se maar dunga!': Heard in the Spirit intermittently (past 48 hours)
The sentence is accompanied by the face of Glory in a dark background.

While strolling on the roof at night:

As I was strolling on the roof and was looking upward mostly at the sky and briefly around me, I happened to be in awe of who God was, and how He created all that was visible in the sky to my eyes. I saw how great He was, and I was in too much awe of him. While I moved on the roof pondering on the nature of God and feeling glad for this new level at which I had stepped up in regards to my bond with Him, I was also complaining to Him about why didn't He reveal Himself the way He was doing now a few years back when I so wanted to know exactly His Will and was also more mentally strong than I was now. But I reasoned that God must have His own wise reason for the pace He followed with me. Though I didn't hear a lot of His voice, and only started hearing it recently, but I still at times get too confused. Anyway. When I was walking on the roof and was marvelling at how great and wonderful He was as was apparent in His creation around and above, I also kept seeing these visions:

- I am lying beside Glory on a mattress or some other surface that covered the roof's dirty floor and we are looking at the sky and marvelling at the Glory of God that's there above us. He's dressed in a thin t-shirt over denim, and I have his hand held on top of my belly as I caress it lightly. We are admiring His creation together being filled with His peace, contentment, and joy as we lay on the roof's ground.

  I see the vision filled with Godly peace and joy as we lie there smiling. That's how his creation is supposed to admire and praise Him. Remember how he created Adam & Eve to exist together to live with Him as their God. He didn't create them to have a separate existence from Him.

So, the vision reflects an ideal situation, and I did experience it once within the context of my beautiful and non-fleshly friendly bond with Meera, wherein we got to the top of her lone room present on the 3rd or 4th floor of the tall building the possessed along with her uncle. We lay on the top and admired the sky and its open view. And it wasn't like two wicked individuals who were causing harm to someone in their lives doing so but we lay there with a pure mind and admired the beauty of God's creation with a mind that wasn't wired to harm someone without a reason.

You see, the kind of things you enjoy and the extent to which you relish the same thing that another person does very much depends on the kind of mind you have. Two wicked men lying under the open sky will only talk about ungodly things while a righteous person with a pure mind will be able to fully grasp the extent of joy contained in God's perfect creation.

These lyrics play again:
Masih nidhaal soedaar chalte dekha hai..
Bhadakti aag mein ek phool jalte dekha hai..

Revelations when lying down on bed to sleep:

- A small-framed vision of about 2-3 inches in dimension of a hulk skinned Akshay Kumar with neck-length wavy hair, dressed in a light blue denim jacket, as he opens the can of a small A-shaped glass bottle of a soft drink and extends it with his right hand in a direction parallel to the viewer.
- 'You Love me.. You Love me.. You Love me..'. It seemed to me as if God was saying these words to me as I was so filled with love for Him.
- Dushman with a protruding genitalia, being fully dressed, moving in vertical to and fro motions above me. Though the vision is above me, he is moving in the air.
- The front cover of a black diary with Speak '18 written in golden print inside a circle. There are other things written around as well, but the highlight of the diary is the circular centre with Speak '18.
- 'I Love you child.. I Love you..' Previously in this prophetic flow, God saw that I loved Him, so He said : You love me.. You love me.. And now he was telling me blatantly that He loved me as well..

The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Page 550.

01 October 2023
00:45

Mit jaayengi kitaabein…

I have been hearing this phrase being sung in the melody of the Worship song Khul Jayengi Kitaabein since the previous day. And it was repeating in my Spirit a while back while I was adding descriptive notes to the YouTube Shorts I created within the past two nights.

Mit jaayengi kitaabein..
Jab bhi hisaab hoga..
Insaaf ka tarazoo.. Yeshu ke haath hoga..

It's important to record them because they serve as markers of my journey with God and as proof that I do hear from Him and that I am moving in the direction that He showed to me in those revelations.

These are the YouTube Shorts I created on the night of the 29th of the past month.

Dream of The Street Food Night Church Club on Page 485 (The Secret Place Revelations)

The Street Food Counter of the Night Church (Vijay Nagar, Double Storey)

The Green Light from the Green Light Visions on Page 416

Dream (around noon):

In this dream, I am in a house with my mom and youngest brother Divyanshu, and apparently, they have somehow slowly killed Himanshu. They didn't do it in a direct manner, but it was as if he kept getting devoid of life-energy as he stayed with them and only progressed towards the state of being dead. They have hidden his body in one of the bed's box below its sleeping surface. When they take out the box to take out his dead body, I see him lying naked in that box and he looks shorter, leaner, pale, with a body that looks rubbery, as he's very slowly moving his arms and legs and is slowly fluttering his eyes as well. So, it's revealed that he's not fully dead and is still alive though being un-nourished and lying in that position for a long time. I lay my hands on him and pray for him to get well in the name of Jesus after which he says a 'Yes!' and there's an instant change seen in him as his body now starts to transform. He starts gaining muscle and starts growing, his skin changes and is no longer pale. The Holy Spirit has filled him with life and he fully comes to life and becomes normal. My mom and brother Divyanshu somehow don’t seem to be affected much at this change in his state.

Well, this part of the dream made me think if it was a labeled dream in which I am Himanshu, Mom is Akhila, and Divyanshu is Death Conqueror for I only feel as if I am being drained of essential life-energy by even a thought of them, because of how they've behaved. I feel dead around them! And the person who prayed for Himanshu is perhaps Jesus. This is the way it makes sense to me, because Himanshu has been coming to life at home with Mom and Divyanshu since he started working, and it's me who feels dead around people like Death Conqueror and Akhila! Everything about them makes me want to turn away from them! Because not only do they do what is wrong, but they also showcase flashy vain things of no significance which makes me nauseous! I'm so glad I'm no longer in that PG. I can recall the wicked look in that girl's eyes as she looked at me!

The dream continued:

There’s a witch who lives on the ground floor and when I jump onto my floor, it leads to some soil/dust falling down in front of her door the sound of which she hears and checks the outer surroundings through a horizontal rectangular slit at the eye level in the door. The witch is, apparently, not my friend. Additionally, I happen to live in a space with other women where the centre hall is filled with many nail paint bottles, and I see those women present in the hall act foolishly in the space. I don’t become a part of them.

I woke up from the above dream before my alarm rang and I knew that I wasn't going to fall asleep after that. As I was still in bed, I saw the following.

Vision (Morning): Jesus drags me who is sitting with outstretched legs on the floor, dressed in the same green dress, through the narrow kitchen space by holding my hand as I sit peacefully on the floor facing in the direction opposite to him with my hand stretched backwards.

The vision seemed so cute to me that I decided to get up and freshen up.

After I brushed my teeth and had freshened up, I still didn't feel like working or starting with the daily chores. I felt a nudge for me to get in the bed. So I did. While lying in bed, I had the following revelations.

- A horizontally erected genitalia the mouth of which opens like the 4 conical flesh petals of a flower out of which comes out a brown-colored Lollipop fixed to a white stick. The genitalia smoothly enters a tissue tunnel and stays there still. The follow-up vision shows the side-view of it facing to the left lying still inside the tissue tunnel as if the tunnel was a see-through one at the viewer's side. The surface of the genitalia starts protruding out in uneven wavy motions while still lying inside the tube with the tube staying intact and still around it.
- I then see Jesus in multi-layered white robes on top of me and apparently, that genitalia is His. He says: I am so pleased with you.. I'm so pleased with you.. I then see the genitalia smoothly ejaculate a Lolipop as its four conical flesh petals open at the end, several brown-colored Lollipops come out one after the other, the sight of which seem too boring to me following which many differently colored Lollipops come out of the 4 conical petals at the end of the cylindrical structure. I am so pleased now at the sight of multi-colored Lollipops coming out of the flesh petals: such a creative expression.
  I'm sure that the revelation like other revelations is a reflection of the thoughts and deeds of a certain person like other revelations happened to represent the thoughts and deeds that were not mine, or they could be an counteracting argument or answer to yet one of their insults or mockeries.
- I start to fall asleep when I've the following lyric play in my Spirit: I wanna swing from the chandelier.. from the chandelier.. followed the vision of the song's artist standing in front of a window with her right leg (to the viewer's left) raised completely up with one of her arms serving as a barrier/support for the leg in front of it holding a curtain hanging vertically on the right side of that leg, and the other arm raised above her head as the hand opened the eye present on the side opposite to the raised leg. The song plays for a while, so I play it out on my phone though I am not liking it too much, and neither do I like the dance form much, except for the flexible ballet moves. But God finds it important to highlight this song for some reason. I don't even feel like watching the song's video for it seems savage at places, but I can recall when I used to like it years back, it didn't look savage but carried a sense of free expression, which I am not able to perceive now. So, it's my own brain that has become tinted with imprisoning mental social constructs or what is normal and what is not. You see, God can allow what's considered as a social norm to be displayed as something downright foolish or weird. And He can portray what would be considered as social awkwardness, or something that is not the norm, as something desirable. However, the things that pertain to His Holy nature stand unquestioned. If one has to break the rules, or want to live without rules, it's the things that are considered socially and culturally a norm that one should break for a better and more realistic expression of one's self and it leads one to be more authentic. However, the Holy statutes of God stand unchallenged and shouldn't be broken in the name of living with freedom which is but a sinful rebellion against Him.

I am watching the song now and will try to relate to it the way it demands, the way I did the first time I saw it, and not in the way that my tinted brain perceives it. God, many times, speaks a general message through the specific case of a person, like in this case.

Dream (Afternoon):

I see that my mom has leftovers stored in different-sized vessels that people usually don't use to store things, and she is showing us the varied things that are there but are not rotten so shouldn't be thrown, but should be used, and wants us to have them for a meal instead of her having to cook a new one. We find her idea good enough. I see that there's Kadhai paneer stored in a small mixer jar and I feel weird about her storage sense. (I didn't like it since childhood for I could see that she didn't organize things with a neat look but stored things in a clumsy way. Only when I would organize and clean would the space look neater and more spacious.) I chose to have the contents of the mixer jar with the leftover rice. Apparently, there are a lot of leftovers, and even when we all ate to our full, many things would be left still. So, I have that meal and get busy with other things now.

Ambani gives HRX from a Dhoom series a task to steal an AI software from a high-security place within 6 hours and to me it seems like a huge task to do. I wonder how is he going to complete the task in just 6 hours. I stand near a crossroad that I don't recall I have ever seen before. Ambani leaves in his black car on the road to my left and I see HRX, dressed in a pure white fluffed jacket over white trousers, come riding his bike from the road in front of me, and park it on the road to my right. I walk upto him for I feel thrilled to have come across the Dhoom personality and intend to perhaps strike a conversation though I don't carry any romantic interest in the guy. He looks very task oriented and doesn't seem to be too social or someone to whom small talk would be a norm. He silently stands around his bike, when a short-heighted lady dressed in a brown tunic set comes walking along with another woman. Apparently, she loves HRX who is assigned the task, and starts talking like a common man, bringing up things that would form a part of small talk. She is expecting HRX to behave in a way that is at par with her own brain that talks about common stuff as if it's too important or something too great, but HRX stands with a calm expression, though he is listening to the lady, but he is unable to talk in the smooth way she does. She seems to be hurt by his countenance and starts weeping out in the open itself. We all then start walking in the direction HRX came riding his bike towards, away from the crossroads. We walk on the left side of the road together and HRX is with as well. He hasn't left, though he was assigned a task, and the short-heighted lady continues to cry, as I try to console her and expect HRX to understand that lady and behave in a way that would bring her some relief and peace, so she knows that her love is not rejected. The side of the street/road we are walking together looks muddy. HRX keeps walking silently beside the lady with her in the middle, the other woman to her left at the side border of the street, and HRX to her right, and me in front of them as I am turned backwards and am observing the scene, talking to the lady and trying to console her. Somehow, I am trying to make HRX understand the lady's feelings without having to say anything about it. But I can also see that he is not getting the hint or catching up with the lady's emotional vibe, or perhaps it's us who don't understand what goes in his mind and why he behaves the way he does. We take a left turn at the end of the road and

I come across my mom there in a room. And apparently, someone has brought a lot of food for everyone to have. There is too much of cooked rice, which is being poured on a huge steel utensil in huge separate heaps by someone. The food is to be distributed. Apparently, my brothers were also in that place and the person had brought the food for our family. Some of the people present start consuming the rice with the gravy veggie brought along with it. I see the common double door refrigerator placed somewhere in the room. My mom is talking to a person as she asks her something to which she responds with the fact that she couldn't possibly fit that thing in her/our fridge as it was a small one and that we were yet to buy a bigger refrigerator. I had just returned using the smaller refrigerator and saw how it had low vertical space capacity between two consecutive slabs which limited the kind of things/vessels that could be placed inside. My mom's reply makes me look at her behavior, and I realize that she is not a liar and speaks plain and blatant truth. She doesn't exaggerate things, and neither does she feel ashamed about anything. I though don't seem to know in the dream who the bigger refrigerator belongs to.

When I wake up, the dream reminds me that it was Potluck lunch today in the church and that muddy road we walked together resembled the muddy road to the church. I remember someone bringing that huge amount of rice the last time I had the community lunch there.

I inquire later from the neighbouring home that provides tiffin service about their dinner menu and it happens to be what I ate in the dream. And then later, when I am standing at the top of the stairs of my floor beside the door of the adjoining apartment, I am thinking about the things that I should buy,

- It's then that I see a vision of Jesus in multilayered standing in the corridor and pointing me to get the dream's food content from that home.
  I don't feel that hungry though at that moment and want to get that packet of biscuits and Dahi Golgappas. Afterwards having the Golgappas in my room, I feel hungrier, and choose to go to get the dinner and on my way
- I see Jesus dressed in multilayered white behind my back pushing me forward with both hands as He walks quickly with a slanted self.

While I was roaming inside my room after having dinner:
Kartika I'm so happy with you.. Tumhare saath mein bahut khush hu.

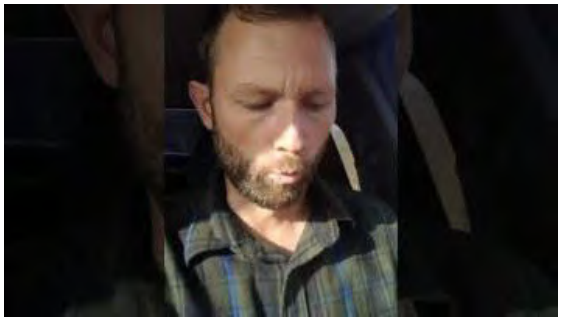
Tumse milke dil ka jo haal kya kahe..
Ho gya hai kaisa ye kamaal kya kahe..

While talking to my mom:
I tell her how Jesus loves this dress that I am wearing in response to which I hear an immediate:
Mere swaalo ka jawaab do… sung by a Guy!
Mere Rang Me Rangne Wali Video Song | Maine Pyar Kiya | Salman Khan, Bhagyashree | S P B Hit Songs

Also, since yesterday, this part from the movie Shaolin Soccer in which Mui gets a makeover and looks different in shiny clothes she's not used to wear has also been being highlighted to me since yesterday. Mui is a kungfu master who's used to dress in plain or printed cotton clothes and lives a lifestyle to earn her living in a way that makes use of her Kungfu skill.

Shaolin Soccer (2001) - Mui Beats the Boss Scene (7/12) | Movieclips

A good less-than-2-minutes video by Brother Andrew:
It's Judgement Day and You Can't Argue with God



I lay on my bed to rest. I feel fatigued and therefore would prefer some comfortable rest, and my bed seems soft because of its flexible surface and the mattress. But then I see:

- Jesus on top of me on the floor and it seems that He is wrestling hard with me.

I can see that I could either choose to rest on bed, or I could choose to be with Jesus on the floor. So, though I feel like my body needs the comfortable bed because of its fatigue and aches at places, I move to the floor to be with Jesus.

Revelations while being on the floor:

- 'Sukoon.. Sukoon…'*: repeats a voice several times that seems to be feeling too relieved and comforted.
- 'So pleasing… So pleasing…': repeats several times. The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

- Jesus and I against the wall in the front with me against the wall and Jesus in multilayered white robes in front of me as we kiss profusely. The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- The upper half of a moustached Aamir Khan in a shiny green ethnic attire with golden horizontal work on one side as he looks at the viewer.
- The side-view of Emraan Hashmi dressed in a sky blue shirt writing something on a desk in front of him as he abruptly comes at me and says with an angry, resentful expression: Itna pyaar kyu kiya!
- Priest Aamir Khan with extremely pointed ears at the top as he eats something in an awkward manner while licking it intermittently with his tongue.
- Jesus on top of me with His genitalia inside me – changes to a light being in the shape of a human representing the Holy Spirit with the act being a metaphor for communing with the Spirit.
  As I'm getting up:
- Mein dhanya ho gya..
  After I wrote the above revelation, I heard in my Spirit someone say: Bahut marunga Kartika tujhe.. bahut marunga..

(Vision) Late during the day: A small-framed, distant vision of a naked Himanshu in the air with outstretched arms, and legs joined together, floats backwards in the vision and gets superimposed on the cross of Jesus.

Tu maregi.. Tujhe pta nhi hai tu kya kya likh rahi hai.. Tu maregi..

Past Revelations

- Brother Wally bows down his upper half with stretched arms as he says: O wise lady.. This vision and phrase has repeated in my Spirit several times by far after I started playing the muted version of Sergei Polunin's dance video on Take Me To Church along with worship songs.
- Dushman stabs my belly and tears it open with both hands with a vicious expression.
- KA in his vision-standard attire of a white shirt tucked inside black pants with his very wide tongue placed at the inner centre of my groin.

Page 551.

02 October 2023
21:20

This morning while I lay in bed after waking up from sleep, I see:

- Jesus grab my hand from beside my bed and walk away dragging me down to freshen up. The vision repeated several times. So, I got up and went ahead with my day.

I didn't have any demonic experience in this room either, while when I stayed in Apurva PG, I remember waking up one day with a demon trying to come at me where I felt great oppression on top of my chest and an oppressing force coming at my face from the right direction as I lay on the floor. It left me when I prayed, bound it, and asked it to leave in Jesus' name. Those were also the days when women in Manipur were facing great trials as devil was working through people and raping women. The Sunday following that morning demonic attack, when I went to Yeshu Bhawan church, the Pastor talked about the case of two women in Manipur who were raped in their homes amidst the oppression caused by devil, and how they stayed inside being depressed, unable to live in a normal way. In this room, I only had experiences with Jesus. He gave me such great and loving revelations, with no attack from any demon that I experienced (in this place). I did have a vision in which I saw the huge black dragon head of devil the serpent come floating from the stairs through the corridor in my room's direction with a background of fire behind him. He looked quite enraged as He rushed towards the corridor. I later prayed the blood of Jesus on my room, its entrances: the front and back door, and saw the dragonhead of devil stuck outside the mesh door of my room. He can't come inside because my room is covered by the blood of Jesus. Jesus Himself lives with me here, and instructs and guides me. He is my hiding place, and He will not let any demon in this place. It's the place that He showed me in a previous dream revelation that served as a kind of night church. I do feel that since I shifted back to Delhi in March 2021, my time spent in this place has been the best because I live alone here, keep things clean and organize as I like them, and most importantly: Jesus lives with me, and this is the place where I have started to be instructed about little things. This is the place where I have grown in deeper intimacy with Him. This is the place where in a day I receive several instructive visions from Him as He guides me to do daily chores. I didn't experience the same in A-10, A-16, or A-17/B (of Vijay Nagar, Single Storey). Those places came with some remnants or shreds of a demonic aura of some kind. But this place.. it comes with such a Holy feeling around itself – the presence of God Himself dwelling inside the space. There's nothing more one can ask for. And such a blessing, such a blessing to see Jesus every now and then inside the room, roaming here and there. I could live here forever (during my Earthly tenure with Him), if I was to operate in a ministry that He wanted me to operate in. I could live in this room and work for Him as or if He leads me for a long period of many years. It's such a nice place to be in, with all amenities present nearby at a much cheaper rate than the previous place. But it's not His will for me to stay here for long, perhaps, because of my interpretation of some revelations, but I'm more than happy to live in the exclusive presence of Jesus. But I will always keep time spent with Him stored in a special place in my heart because it's here that He made me bolder. He separated me from ungodly people. He separated me from that lady named Akhila who only brought ungodliness into my life with her wickedness along with the people she associated with, and He then had me leave that other PG (A-10/B) as well where other girls worked together as messengers and where I often encountered demonic attacks. In this place, He gave me space to be myself. He reminded me of who I am by revealing the long-forgotten aspects of my persona, aspects that were rooted in an inner sense of purity hidden from the outer eyes, and He pushed me to bring to life those inner aspects but this time accompanied by all that I learned by far. If I knew about this place, I would have shifted to this room itself when I shifted to Saroj Sadan. That way I wouldn't have had to deal with those people who brought me headaches!

This place seems so safe because of His presence around.

Revelations earlier during the day:

- KA kisses me in bed.
- The head of KA in just a black fitting pants/trousers lying on my bosom in peaceful rest as he quietly says: Sukoon aur Shanti.. Sukoon aur Shaanti..
- (Afternoon): Glory stabs a dagger in my vagina.

Revelations while resting on the floor:

- The face of a lion with a dense and long mane with a beautiful conical crown beaded in white gemstones arranged in horizontal stripes on the crown on his head.
- The white witch from Narnia stands with the conical crown on her head in a background of starry glowing white hue.
- Ye mar kyu nahi rahi.. Ye mar kyu nahi rhi... : repeats several times in my Spirit. Perhaps I was supposed to be dead by now by how these people injured me on the inside.
- A golden person with The Rock's face, is lying on a surface in a well-lit environment as he bounces an object upwards that resembles a human's heart but is made of gold held in his right hand.
- Ranbir Kapoor dressed in a blue & white checkered shirt runs away on a bicycle towards the viewer from a huge green field covered with blue & white balloons. He seems to be in a hurry and cycling with a very high speed and after a while, he successfully leaves the field filled with balloons behind.
- The top-left view of Ashutosh Rana carrying the countenance of his role as Dushman, and dressed in a prisoner's suit striped in black & white as he lies along the front wall near the right corner of a room, with a thermometer in his mouth.
  Ye kisse panga le liya!
- Shahid Kapoor on a white horse, dressed in a creamish Indian Hindu wedding attire with a pagdi on his head, runs away from the viewer.

I did this livestream earlier at midnight on my YouTube channel The Secret Place within the first hour of the onset of the day of 2nd October. It was to talk about how Jesus led me to wear the green dress and had red love hearts in front of His eyes with a wide smile as He held it in His hands, and how I have been growing deeper into intimacy with Him with each passing day as He guides me in doing daily chores. He has now been giving me such sweet revelations. But then He has also given me difficult revelations that don't seem too pleasing or are actually quite violent and fear-inducing. But, I'm certain that He has revealed them to me at a time according to His great wisdom so that I would be able to endure whatever lies ahead and would still praise Him in the times of my persecution. It's hard to imagine that there are people who are so violent who would go to the extent of hurting a woman to that extent. But then, I have an example right in my own home, which is my dad, who has been a wife-beater for the most part of his life. Whenever our parents fought, we used to try to separate them, to stop my dad, but he was hard to handle for he used to be too strong for us. So we rather tried to take Mom away from him. And then she would keep shouting at him because of his behavior which would further enrage him. She was also a delicate being. She's still a delicate being. She's not someone who has been made to be beaten by an ungodly immoral man. She was a smart lady well capable of fending for herself before she got married. Likewise, I am not made to suffer at the hands of wicked immoral people possessing the character of Dushman from the movie Dushman. But, it's the will of God that should prevail in the end. The way Jesus was innocent, and wasn't deserving of what He went through, but that was His purpose on Earth. Likewise, we have to know the Will of God for our lives – the purpose He has for us. And if His purpose involves violent events in my life, then I will embrace them because I would know that the Earth system is anyway a sham, an illusion, and not a place where you should expect angelic behavior that's present in Heaven. Angels don't behave in the way people do on Earth. They don't say things they don't mean, or insult or put others down unnecessarily, or strip others of their dignity, or try to shame an innocent righteous person. Angels come with an angelic aura and not demonic threats and actions. Angels lift you up and want the best for you while demons bring you down. Angels are for a win-win situation and won't choose something that benefits only them, while demons are utterly selfish and take pleasure in the sufferings of others. Angels don't talk in a deceptive way but are honest and straightforward, while demons manipulate and deceive. I'm so glad and it makes me feel elated to know that I will be in a place, which is Heaven, where I will find only angels.. Wow.. and none of what I went through on Earth would matter but I would be rewarded for the works that I did for God and would receive a crown from Him, and He would hug me and welcome me into His kingdom.. What could be better than leaving the flesh illusion of the Earth system? His kingdom and His children are such a blessing to be around.

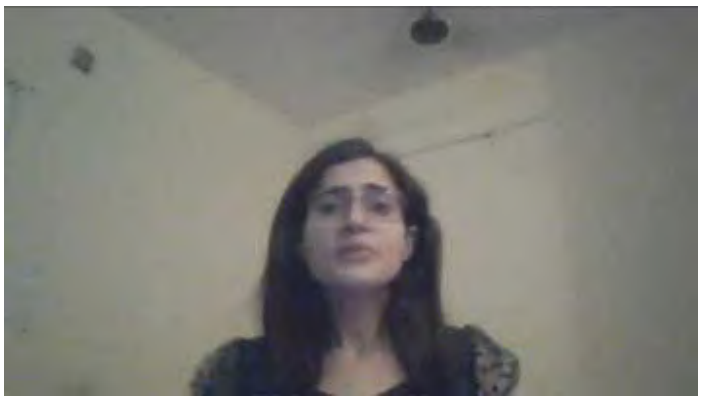
The live stream I did around midnight:
Intimacy With the Lord God: My Testimony



After I was done with the YouTube live stream at night and went to use the washroom, as I was sitting on the commode, I saw: The close-up view of the face of HRX until his neck in a white background looking at me as he says while lightly nodding his head: I Love You.. The vision's undertone then changes to a greyish one and he repeats: I Love You.. in a serious manner looking straight at the viewer.

The Birthing of the Promised Children

I was still dressed in my green dress when I had the following beautiful vision with Jesus.

Vision (late evening): I stand against the wall below my Psalm 34:4-5 wall painting dressed in the green dress that I am wearing in the video above as Jesus, dressed in His multilayered white robes, stands in front of me kissing me. He then sits down on His feet with vertically folded knees, lifts my dress from below, and starts sucking and kissing my groin, and as He continues doing so, I see downward contractions in my belly as if something inside is being pushed down leading to my entire belly accumulating at the lowest part of it making it protrude out to an unusual extent. As the contractions follow, a black child wrapped in black, carrying a seemingly demonic expression, comes out of my vagina with its head down and floats to the right along the ground. Jesus keeps sitting on the floor in front of me with my dress lifted up with His hands to such an extent that it now covers my groin. I then see that another child comes out of me, but this one is white and seems to be angelic, and this child too floats away to the right. He continues sitting with my dress lifted in His hands in that manner and now a continuous series of white angelic children come out of me one after the other in a line with closed eyes, all fat, and wrapped in a white cloth below their arms as their fat arms extended slightly away from their bodies. A few happen to open their eyes and they turn out to be blue as they keep floating to the right as they come out, and while this happens, I am shown to be continuously gulping in tea. I keep consuming tea and keep birthing fat angelic children in a line who keep floating away to the right, and it continues until the vision ends, and the vision continues for a long time as well.

Well, I understood from this vision that the children being birthed signified the prophetic children of the greater picture of the promise who would enter His kingdom because of my ministry. Well, it was such an amusing sight. So, you know all these people with whom God gave me revelations are those angelic children who would become a part of His kingdom in Heaven. The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala.. Some people thought that they served as options presented by God for the fulfillment of my Earthly promise of marriage, but, no, they all constituted together a part of the promise and are supposed to be birthed out of me (in a spiritual sense) because it was because of how God operated through me that those children of the promise were birthed. I'm so glad that I birthed those many children in a line for Jesus' kingdom in a spiritual sense. Those children, though birthed in a physical body and living in the world, weren't yet birthed in a spiritual sense into His kingdom, which He accomplished through my ministry. That explains the greater picture of the manifestation of the prophecy contained in the prophetic symbol of the side-view of a person. Those children weren't meant for my earthly promise of marriage but for His kingdom. I am Jesus' wife in a spiritual sense and He used me to birth children into His kingdom out of the world. Wow… What a great revelation…!

The Guy sings:
Chupana bhi nahi ata..

I mean.. I kept gulping in tea and angelic children wrapped in white kept coming out of me in a line and kept floating away to the right. So, you see, even the direction in which they floated carry a meaningful significance. Well, I hope though all floated away, I will still receive my earthly promise of marriage as I saw in that prophetic dream with Glory.

Additionally, if I was at Glory's place and he was birthing children for Jesus' kingdom, I would feel great about it because he would be doing a good work, as he would be bringing people out of the illusion of the world and leading them to God in the right direction. I wouldn't feel insecure or jealous or hurt, because I would know that God's wisdom surpasses all and that despite how he was being used by God, he was also called to follow the statutes of God within a covenant.

Wow.. well.. after receiving the revelation of those children being birthed out of me, I feel so glad that I would indeed get to see them in heaven, and that was also the plan from the beginning it seems. Now that things are clearer to me, I can look back and make sense of things. But a few people left an indelible mark on my heart, one in particular, and I don't want to mention the name because it might cause others to have undesirable feelings.
I just hope Glory doesn't beat me up for birthing those many children. That was God's Will for my life to birth children for His kingdom.

And as I was writing the previous last few lines, I heard the lady sing:
Dil mein sanam ki surat.. aankhon mein aashiqui de..
Mere khuda mujhe tu, ek aur zindagi de…

'Kartikey, tu bahut pitegi!'

Well, when I look at the vision that I had in 303 of A-10 in which I was dancing with Noah from The Notebook who then pushed me away following which I walked back towards him and started dancing with him again, it makes me wonder if that person is Glory but why will he beat me? What did I do to him!? The vision was followed by me dancing with Jack whom I kicked on the belly away but he walked back towards me and we continued dancing again, and it makes me think who this person is whom I will kick away, and who despite being kicked returns to me. Is that Jack me?

The 'aa.. aa.. aa..' melody at the beginning of this song has played in my Spirit several times. And it repeated itself a while back as well.

Enchanted - Happy Working Song (HD) Music Video

The One to Wear, and the One to Throw.

Additionally, Jesus already gave me the vision for the next dress yesterday itself. He wanted me to wear my long black maxi dress with a colorful floral and leafy print. Besides, prior to this vision, He also showed me the one He wanted me to throw as He cut it in pieces for it was so unholy. It was my parrot green fitting dress with beaded strings as shoulder straps. I had bought that dress because of a revelation I had in 2020 at home in which I saw the upper half until the shoulders of a woman with straight neck-length black hair dressed in a parrot green dress with very thin shoulder straps resembling a lace. When I bought it in 2022, I knew that it was unholy, but I had two things in mind: first, it was revelation-related, and that was my key reason without which I wouldn't have been motivated to buy such a dress, and second, I thought that when I would be slim, it would look relatively holier. But regardless of if I lost weight or not, it was an unholy dress, and so, Jesus showed me to throw it, and not just throw it, He was cutting it into pieces - that's how much He abhorred it. It was only upto my shoulders that it looked fine. So, I threw it away.

Page 552

03 October 2023
10:29

Morning
The distant view of a naked Glory in a dark background crying hard looking at me as he says: Ye sab meri galti hai.. Ye sab meri galti hai.. Ye sab meri wajah se hua hai.. Meri wajah se hua hai..

In the afternoon while washing clothes:
The face of my dad looking at the viewer as he says in a quiet, affirmative, and an affected innocent tone:
Marunga mein tujhe.. Marunga mein tujhe..

While resting on the floor (afternoon):
The back of a lady standing in front of me in a shoulderless black tube bra and black boyshorts with her long hair tied in a high pony at the back as she holds an upside down sword by its handle with both her hands and hits it abruptly on the ground.

While resting on my bed later during the day, I fell asleep for a while and had this brief dream.
Dream: There are some contacts stored in my phone that I am looking at. Apparently, my dad has saved them on my phone and is showing them to me. I see a contact with its name ending with an abbreviation starting from the letter N that I don't understand. I ask him about the same and he tells me the full name of the contact as he says: Chanda Mama Centre Narnaul*.*

I had these visions with Jesus that lasted for a long duration. He looked sad as He was crying as if it was His last few moments with me before I would be taken away and hurt.

- A communion begins as I see a genitalia enter a tissue tunnel.
- Apparently, it's too thick and gets stuck in the middle as it has stretched the tissue to a great extent.
- But it makes it to the end eventually as is flashed in the follow-up vision.
- Jesus, dressed in His full-length multi-layered white robes moves hard on top of me holding the iron handle of the bed at the back and He is hurt and crying as He says: 'Wife!' 'They're going to hurt you!'
- 'They've treated you terribly! But you must persist and persevere!'
- The vision with the thick genitalia inside a tissue tunnel flashes again and I hear:
  'I know I've stretched you to your limits, but you must persist and persevere.'

The sentence reflects the stretching of the mind as it is tested through difficult situations! The painful mental stretching was necessary for bringing others to His Kingdom.

- 'You're mine!'
- As we commune, tiny white sparkling stars scatter out in the room from the place of our communing groins.

He says the words to His bride, the people He bought with His blood for His kingdom and who are going to suffer in the end. He is urging His bride to persist and persevere during whatever savage and difficult situation is coming her way.

He is having His last communion with His bride before she is taken away from Him and would be persecuted (on Earth).

- 'Badi berahami se mara gaya..!'

- A golden and dusky woman with a metallic look and wings of the same color, dressed in a golden attire resembling that of wonder woman rises up in the air with a white dove in her hands as it flies in front of her, later rising up and dropping down its poop around.
- 'Write these as my last few moments with you.. They'll hurt you brutally, but you must endure.'
- 'My wife! You're my treasured possession!'

After I am out of bed and am moving inside the room doing one thing or another,

- I keep seeing this vision of Jesus standing in front of door blocking it with outstretched arms as He says crying: Don't go outside! They'll kill you!
- Paak ruh aa mere dil ke ander..
  Ban jau mein tera mandir..
  Utar aa.. Utar aa.. Utar aa..

While I am having these Jesus visions, I hear the above lyrics play intermittently throughout the duration.

- A U-shaped mirror with a pink plastic carrier cover of a size slightly greater than the one hanging in my balcony, lies on the floor as a localized blob of water is seen lying on top of it near the U-shaped end, and a steel spoon lying parallel to the other (straight) end.
- White liquid on top of the left arm of my brown chair as it stands with no one sitting on it.
- There's a lot His bride has to go through which is why He is crying in His expression.
- This vision repeats several times throughout the duration of this flow of the Holy Spirit. As the wrote the previous sentence, I heard in my Spirit: Ab ye jarur mar jayegi. The vision that repeated itself.. 'Kartika mat likho..' had the tip of the genitalia touch the tip of the cervix present at the end of the tunnel, followed by it pressing against it. The vision reminded me of yet another vision in which the hand of KA was pressing a bulb present at the end of the tunnel like a bell, and it was followed by the hand of Glory pulling away at the intestines that now came out from the inner end as his fingers struggled to get a hold of the circular arc of the intestines. I had these visions in 303 of A-10.
- While the tip of the thick genitalia presses against the cervix at the other end, Jesus is at the pinnacle of His time with His bride while He's crying and saying that they're going to take her with them and hurt her brutally.
- Jesus stands in front of the door as He says that they'll kill me!
  While I was writing the previous few lines, I heard this line highlighted in bold from the Worship song:
  Teri iccha puri ho jaye..
  Haathon mein tere jeevan hai ye..

Mein mitti hu.. Tu hai kumhar..
Mujhko utha.. Mujhko bana…

Ref: The Worship song 'Teri iccha puri ho jaaye'

When I was writing revelations, there was a brief shaking due to an earthquake at some other place. I stopped writing, closed my eyes, and prayed for the people of the land, wherever that quake was experienced. And I kept praying until the light tremors that I felt were gone because how could I keep working when there's an earthquake at some place the tremors of which are extending to my place? My prayer was for the people, for them to not face much damage, or for God to protect and preserve them. Because we can't and shouldn't pray against God's Will. So if there had to be an earthquake, there had to be an earthquake. This is the case of praying those general goodwill prayers. After the tremors were gone, I heard these lyrics play in my Spirit.

The lady sings:
Let the skyfall.. when it crumbles..
We'll stand tall.. face it all.. together..

Adele - Skyfall (Official Lyric Video)

While making coffee in the evening:
The Guy sings:
Nigaaho nigaaho mein dil lene wali..
Meri jaan seekha hai tumne jahan se.

While lying in rest on the floor in the evening:

- Rajesh Khanna throws some white tablets parallel to the floor towards the viewer who seems to be lying on the floor as he then sits on the floor. He is dressed in a prison suit striped in black & white with a vertically striped black & white cap on his head.
- Mera jeevan kora kaagaz, kora hi reh gaya..
  Mera jeevan kora kaagaz, kora hi reh gaya..
- Udte panchi ka thikana..
- Toota daali se phool..

Ref: The Bollywood song Mera jeevan kora kagaz

- 'Kasaai' written in cursive red on a white background with a top of green bushes lying above the straight line separating the bushes from the white zone.

20:30

I always had Jonathan and Adele as my prophetic role models because of how they clearly heard from God and how they operated with Him without hindrances that were a result of their own limitations to obey Him. I don't know if I've disobeyed God a lot because I do obey Him when I see instructive visions repeat that serve as a confirmation to me. I am just finding it very hard to go to the gym and run, very hard. That's where I had my first emotional breakdown while I was running. It just brings pain to me because it seems as if I'm doing something so worthless. It's not that I don't want to follow in God's Will, but running just to lose belly fat when I mentally struggling at grave levels to keep myself together, seems so uninviting to me. It seems such a vain thing and I don't feel like doing it. I don't want to disobey God, but my own sense works in this way and causes a hindrance. But I didn't feel any nudge or see any vision from Jesus for some days that was related to going back to the gym. He has been keeping me busy in writing revelations, worshipping, and maintaining this place which is His supposed night church, and then recently He nudged me to make a YT video. I pray to God to make me as obedient to Him as Jonathan is, because He hears Him so clearly in words and is so prompt in His obedience unlike me who takes a while to recognize what He wants me to do. But then, I've seen that even when I do things as I feel nudged internally not really recognizing the nudge as being from the Holy Spirit, it ends up turning into something that was supposed to be that way. But I would still want to have an open dialogue with God wherein there's no confusion - the way it is with Jonathan. I'm so inspired by his walk with God. And he persisted for more than 20 years with Him, doing His work. Perhaps I need to fast more.

We all should build a personal bond with God and it's our own responsibility to do so. Now, God can send a word to you through someone else as well or can reveal it to you directly. He decides how He delivers His word to you. But we all are called to seek His face in any case.

I had my water can delivered this time from a different place because of the unavailability of the previous one, and the new delivery guy turned out to be like to me to some extent in clumsiness. After he left leaving a watery mess around the water dispenser, I heard these lyrics play in my Spirit.

The Guy sings:
Toot na jaaye sapne.. Mein darta hu..
Nishdin sapno mein dekha karta hu..

After cleaning the mess, I spread my workout mat on the floor to rest and know the Will of God for what was it that I was supposed to do now, or in general. I was hoping to hear something from Him. I had these revelations:

- I saw my upper half in my green dress with my face turned to the left as I wore a jet-black cap over my loose hair. On searching for the types of caps, I got to know that the one I was wearing was a news/poor boy cap. So, this is what God has called me to do and I'm glad that I have my allotted job by Him even if it's that of a poor newsboy. Additionally, I too made the prophetic symbol in the vision.

  You see, because I received a revelation from the Holy Spirit about my question to God, and it was a supernatural revelation and the Will of God for me, it comes with immense weight and is not to be treated lightly even if it may sound menial to a rich person. But one has to remember it's God who decides what His children are supposed to do. Recall: Adele had to work cleaning toilets in hotels during the time she was building her business, and Jonathan left earning millions and his previous lifestyle where he had a sunglasses company and easily earned millions. He did that to follow along the Will of God for His life. And because the role is revealed by God supernaturally through His Spirit, I feel so glad about it. He portrayed me as a much better-looking person than I used to be. I feel so happy and excited about this job! Any job from God is great and is given according to His good wisdom! Now that He has allotted me this role, I am sure that He will also take care of my livelihood in a different way. He may provide me with a job to pay for my expenses after a while. You see, God is not about his people hoarding stuff or living in abundance they don't need, but rather He will provide them for what's needed in a stipulated period of time, and His children don't need to worry because they know that it's God who has given them that role and that it's going to be Him alone who is going to take care of their needs in His way. We the children of God operate in a different way than the whole world for we rely on our God and not on worldly measures of security.

- After a while, I saw Jesus dressed in His multilayered white clothes sitting on my chair and typing relentlessly on my Laptop. The vision repeated a few times. So, I now knew the Will of God for me.
- The vision was then followed by Him holding my white mug of tea and taking quick intermittent sips as He continued working on my Laptop.

  Wow. Such a great revelation. This is exactly the kind of job I wanted: a theoretical job that I could do sitting at one place wherein I also got to use my analytical or research mindset to some extent, and I have discovered in the previous live stream that my intuitive research mindset came into play while explaining my walk with God and how and why I came to Him. I also used my specific way of thinking to elaborate on why Jesus is the perfect God and how the doctrine of Good karmas and bad karmas proved the existence of a good self and a bad self as was revealed to me in previous revelations as a confirmation of Jonathan's ministry.

  I just can't stop saying Wow like The Steel Leg of Shaolin Soccer can't stop saying Wow at times in the soccer.

  Now that I know His perfect Will for me, and it's something that resonates with who I am, I can go ahead with even running and perhaps resume gym because I am not in confusion and I know for certain now that I have an assigned role by Him, and I feel invigorated in my Spirit because now the focus is not on getting a flat belly which I was finding as a very vain thing to do and it was lying like an extremely weighty burden on my head, but now the focus of my job is different, and working out and getting a flat belly is just a subset of it and not the main thing. And the focus resonates with who I am at my core.

22:30
The guy sings:
Toota toota ek parinda aise toota.. Ke phir jud na paya..
Loota loota usko kisne aise loota.. Ke phir udd na paya..

These lyrics have been repeating in my Spirit for perhaps the past 10-15 minutes now.

Past Revelations

- Chaaru sitting on a surface and continuously pushing on a cycle's air pump standing vertically to her right (viewer's left).
- The vegetable vendor I buy ginger from sits with a bent outstretched knee in a dark background, dressed in an off-white shirt vertically striped in light brown, untucked over pants.

Vision (Earlier in the morning): Jesus lifts me up against the wall of my Psalm 34:4-5 painting by holding my hair together by their end up in the air.

Page 553.

04 October 2023
11:35

Dream (Morning):

I am in a space with my parental family. The home doesn't look like my parental apartment at Omaxe. There's a square open Verandah with a cemented brick floor in the middle of this house. I happen to go somewhere with my dad in a bus. On our way, he picks up the keys stopping at a building with glass doors at its front as someone comes out and points it to him. My younger brothers are with me as well. And they seem to be held in higher favour by my dad as he shows a bit of a resentful attitude towards me. We are now in a building where I find myself with a shorter-heighted SRK and apparently, he's my dad but he is exhibiting an undesirable villainous attitude. He had to get into the lift of the building, but ended up lying outside on the floor and it seemed that he had had been in a fight and was exhausted because of it. I get away from him and see at a distance in front of me the side-view of Kajol dressed in a beige Saree with a light brown print. She has her hair tied at the back, and has a huge round belly covered by the saree where it almost seems like she's pregnant. She's with a child of about 2.5-3 feet high as she walks towards the exit of the building. It looks like she's leaving SRK with the boy child. SRK too walks towards that centre space where the lady previously stood, but he's holding a girl child horizontally in his hands. Instead of exiting, he enters a small metallic room, and as the sliding door closes on him, a voice says that if someone keeps sinning and behaving wickedly in a villainous manner, he earns the label of a wicked villain, referring to the short-heighted SRK.

The scene following the above shows a plum Gayatri dressed in what looks like red bridal clothes with her leaner friend Surbhi to her left who is dressed in a plain suit tunic set perhaps, but she is not as heavily dressed as Gayatri. Both are sitting on the left side of the hall alone on the floor as Gayatri is singing while playing the harmonium in front of her:
Jaago sone waalo.. Suno meri kahani..
Jaago sone waalo.. Suno meri kahani..

The vision then shifts behind her and shows how she's playing the harmonium. I can see that she must have practiced a lot for her to be able to play without errors because she was above average when it came to singing and perhaps playing harmonium as well, though I don't recall seeing her playing harmonium during the times we practiced together for school events. She was the chief singer of the Qawwali group song our school performed at several places. I was rejected from the lead role because of my low scale, and then I was made to sit in one of the back rows because I forgot my lines when I was given the role of one of the supporting singers in the front row, and person beside had to jerk me or remind me when it was my turn. I used to zone out easily and get lost in thoughts and often became unaware of my surroundings. And also Gayatri could sing high notes easily, though not the lower ones. I was the most melodious singer but I was absent-minded and sang at lower notes.

Coming back to the dream, I see her playing the harmonium and singing Jaago sone waalo.. Suno meri kahani.., while she's dressed in deep red embroidered bridal clothes and was perhaps adorned with jewelry as well. I didn't see her front view but only the side and the back view. As the view now shifts behind her focusing on her fingers on the harmonium, the vision zooms out and the line that plays after suno meri kahani.. as a part of the beginning of a stanza is: Ik deewana ek haseena se pyaar karta raha.. after which the dream ended and I woke up and after a few seconds my alarm bell rang. This is the second time it has happened that I woke up from a dream a minute or so before my alarm bell rang.

The last line made me think of the song lyric: Ek haseena thi.. Ek deewana tha… though I don't consider myself as a haseena.. so perhaps it talks about someone else.

While lying on the floor being awake but not feeling too energetic:

- Jesus grabs my hair from their end and drags me into the balcony space.
  I get up and am confused a bit if I should have tea first when I see
- The back-view of Jesus in multilayered white bent on the washbasin cleaning His mouth.
  So I brush and freshen up. God wants to be so intimate with His children that He wants to lead them in their menial tasks of daily routine. And when God leads you in those tasks, they're no longer menial but now hold great importance because God has shown them to you to do in a certain order.

Whatever He wants me to do, He gives me a vision of His own self doing it. For instance, the day before yesterday, He showed me that He was brooming out my hair in the balcony the first thing in the morning as it looked too dirty. I was thinking of making tea first to feel refreshed, but He repeated the vision of Him brooming the balcony. So, I followed along. It's great to be told on the spot what He wants me to do. He knows it when I need a break or need refreshment.

This morning, I had just brushed and again I was confused about the next thing I was supposed to do, when He showed me visions of Him in a long white tunic with a red drape on top dusting my bedsheet and spreading it afresh, and mopping the floor with His foot. So I organized and cleaned the room first. These days I get easily confused about what I am supposed to do at a given moment because I want to be doing what He wants me to do, or, I want to stay in His Will which is how we are supposed to live our lives. Now, if I wasn't confused, perhaps He wouldn't be showing me those visions, and would show different instructions to me when He sees fit. But it's good that He's leading me to do things in the order He wants me to do them. Or else I may have tended to stay in a state of confusion or depression that often leaves me unable to think clearly and be done with daily chores. His guidance leads me out of the mental fog and clears things up for me to be able to get tasks done amidst the difficult situation, and the visions testify for my existing bond with Him while strengthening the same.

While cleaning the room:

The Guy sings:
Mera dil to pagal tha.. Mera dil tha deewana..
Dil ki kismat phooti thi, ke dil ko tujhpe tha anaa..
Ref: Ja bewafa ja.. Humein pyaar nahi karna..

These lines have repeated to me several times.

Well, if people consider it as bad luck to have fallen in love with whomever they're singing the above for, by their way of reason, how much more my dil ki kismat is phooti because look at the kind of revelations I keep receiving! Is this what I chose for myself!? The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala.. But I'm not looking at the revelations as much as I am looking at God and my own heart state. I don't want to sin at heart. I feel enthralled to be working for God and receiving nuggets of gems from His Spirit. We should consider it as a thing of greatest luck that God revealed Himself to us, and I feel so grateful that He chose me and created me to love Him. That's the underlying message.

We should be glad and grateful that we're given the good news and a chance to enter the kingdom of God. And remember, as Sis Adele released the word, your do cannot become your who!

Kismat foot gi! Kismat foot gi!: says the fat and bald immoral middle man of Vijay Nagar, Single Storey, dressed in a skyblue fitting t-shirt.

After I'm done cleaning the room:
I walk to get my comb near the supposed low-sectioned wardrobe space, and as I leave the kitchen space and turn to the right, I see as a third person,

- Jesus, dressed in full-length multi-layered white robes, gets a hold of me as He kisses me passionately with a mouth wide open. It's the same space below the Psalm 34:4-5 verse on the wall.

As I stand near that space, I don't feel like moving away from it to get a hold of my comb, so I keep standing there and bend sideways to the right to lift my comb up.

Kartika, tu bahut pitne waali hai..

The Guy sings:
Mera dil to pagal tha.. Mera dil tha deewana..
Dil ki kismat phooti thi, ki dil ko tujhpe tha ana..

The lady sings:
Pardesi pardesi jana nahi..
Mujhe chhod ke.. Mujhe chhod ke..

Pardesi pardesi jana nahi..
Muh mod ke.. Dil tod ke..

Additionally, today while editing Page 540, on researching the attire of Ayushmann Khurrana that I had seen in my vision, I found it to be the royal gold braided red military attire of men, and it also reminded me of the previous revelation in which a demonic being had just slaughtered a person horizontally in half, and was later putting that person together by tying up the golden braids of the uniform of that person lying on the ground. That person who got slaughtered was wearing that gold-braided red military uniform, and the demonic being was tying together the gold braids. It was the dream in which the demonic being said to a person standing in my presence that 'the name of her book is The Lost Bible, and I'm the lost angel.', where I didn't seem to be visible to the demonic being as he was speaking to the guy. The attire of the slaughtered person was also what Aamir Khan wore in the previous two visions: the first one being in which he stood on a ship's deck and was combing his long blonde hair and showing the clear comb with no hair fall to the viewer, and secondly, the one in which he had short hair but was horizontally holding a sword at the viewer while grinding his teeth at the person he was pointing the sword at. I had previously described the attire as a mix of a sailorman and policeman because I didn't know the exact name or function of the position the attire functioned as a uniform for.

Evening

The Guy sings:

Hue bechain pehli baar humne raaz ye jaana..

Mohabbat mein koi aashiq kyu ban jata hai deewana..

Hue Bechain Pehli Baar Song Lyrics | Full song | Palak Muchhal, Yasser Desai

Now I will write the revelations I received during the time I was resting on the floor. At times I feel like not receiving any revelation, but just resting in the tangible presence of God, but then, writing revelations is a part of my job. It is very much like putting on paper the outpouring received directly from Heaven, as the Holy Spirit reveals what it receives from the Father in Heaven. It is a connecting conduit for us between Heaven and Earth. So, revelations bring heaven down on Earth as they're not a creation of a human's mind but are downloaded from Heaven. So, anyone who has the Holy Spirit should use that gift to outpour heaven down to Earth which can be done in several ways: receiving revelations – instructive or prophetic, praying in tongues which is a heavenly language, healing through the power of the Holy Spirit and the manifestation of other miracles on Earth. For example, my own physical body that's still alive functional. Anyone who has the Holy Spirit, let him/her outpour its fruits to others. Now, it doesn't matter if the revelations concern an individual, a family, a state, or a country, or the entire planet, but the fact that each revelation is supernaturally given by the Spirit of God is what makes them all equally important. For example, the revelation of Jesus walking in my room or doing something, a chore etc.., it would perhaps seem a redundant revelation to some people, but it's still very important, much more important than a prophecy about the future as it has Jesus who is the Most-High God Himself. He is not a god, like the ones who left heaven to create a kingdom of their own separate from God, but He is the Most High God who created those gods.

The Lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Humpe ye kisne hara rang dala..

Khushi ne hmari humein maar dala.. humein maar dala.. humein maar dala.. humein… Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Another example would be when one performs a lab experiment which focuses on a specific property, characteristic or aspect of the chosen system, one is exclusively concentrating on that specific quality. However, when is doing a casual chore at home which too involves the use of that natural characteristic, the fact that one is not exclusively focusing on that same quality or property doesn't decrease the importance of its function in that chore. Likewise, the Holy Spirit, whether it gives a revelation that pertains to a one's daily life or to something that concerns things at a greater social level, doesn't decrease the importance of the revelations because both kinds of revelations are outpoured from Heaven. The very fact that it's the Spirit of God that reveals those things to a human takes away my focus from the kind of revelations I receive but puts it on the supplier above.

It's only when we are on Earth that we have to make evident what we receive from Heaven. The time we have on Earth alone is the time during which we have the need and opportunity to expand the kingdom of God on Earth by harnessing His Holy Spirit. Because once in Heaven, one is already in the Kingdom of God and therefore what need one has to labor to reveal the fruits fo the Hol Spirit to those around the way one is supposed and called to on Earth. We bring the Light of God to Earth from Heaven through the Holy Spirit. But Heaven is already filled with His light. Earth is place where we get to labor for God like we do.

The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

The revelations I received during my time on the floor:

- The front-view of the tip of a male genitalia moving like a snake at the entrance of a tunnel as seen from inside the tunnel with the tunnel being shown as having no walls except the boundary at the entrance.
- The side-view of Brad Pitt as Achilles from Troy shaking a matchbox near his ears as he stands in an open ground with other armoured soldiers sitting on the ground dressed in the same manner.

After I completed writing the above, I heard in my Spirit:
The Guy sings:
Hasle. Gale. Ye din na milenge kal..
Thodi khushiyan, hai thode se ye pal..

The Lady sings:
Ek baar chali gayi jo ye baharein
Laut ken a ayengi guzri baharein

Everyone sings together:
Mela baharon ka ata hai..
Ek baar aake chala jata hai..

- He shakes the matchbox near his ear for long. It seems as if he's trying to check if it's empty, but for some reason, he moves it for a long time as he walks a few steps to the right. While he's still on it, he then abruptly takes out a lighter and throws it at the viewer with a resentful expression.
- He does a few somersaults and other gymnast moves in his attire of the soldier in front of the viewer.
- Bahut sundar.. Bahut sundar.. Bahut sundar..: repeats in my Spirit.
- KA in a full-sleeved black cotton top over black trousers stands with horizontally extended arms along the plane of his body, and feet joined together on a square ledge extending outwards in front of a glass window on a very tall building. It seems that he is planning to jump down.
- A very small-framed vision of the vertical upper half of a naked and extremely obese lady with wavy neck-length hair on her small face. She has an apple/A-shaped body as her belly extends more and more outwardly as one goes down.
- KA in fitting black pants with a naked upper half stands with a thin but extremely long genitalia waving high above his head followed by him beginning to squeeze it.
- After a few seconds, my own hands get a somatic revelation of holding the genitalia and apparently, it's me who's holding it and doing squish-squish.
- I do it hard and for a long time beside the commode in my washroom, though, in real life, I am lying on the floor in my room.
- Though I am squeezing and squishing it constantly and it has been long as I continue in the washroom standing in front of him, there's no ejaculation which seems weird.
- Though there's no ejaculation, I seem to be very pleased holding it, and apparently I'm too much in love as I convey the same to him.

The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

While I was moving around the balcony being busy doing something, I saw the previous vision of KA in fitting shiny jet-black pants repeat in which he had the sound of crackers burst in a line around his groin area - the revelation I had earlier during the day while lying on the floor.

The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Night, while resting:

- The top view of my naked lower half lying on the floor with loops of yellowish intestines protruding out of my vagina.
- Also, I kept seeing this vision of the upper half of a long-sleeved black dress with a print of the heads of red roses/flowers on it.

When I lay down to sleep:

- Some fleshly revelations similar to the previous ones begin.
- The naked muscular upper half of Dhoom 2 actor Uday Chopra looking at the viewer as he stands drenched in water in a dimly-lit yellowish surrounding.

I realized that getting fleshly revelations now put a stressful burden on my head because I am in a covenant with Jesus alone through His blood, and these revelations come with a burden on my conscience because though I may love someone, I have the law of the Lord in my heart as well and I won't feel good if I break it. And looking at how I feel about them, and the recent revelation in which it was Jesus who was sucking and kissing my groin following which began the birthing of fat children in a line, I understood why Jesus gave me that revelation. It was to make the point that It was Him who was pleasing me by giving these revelations to birth His children. So, He solved my moral dilemma. It's Jesus, in principle, who's pleasing me and working through His Holy Spirit in me, and birthing His children through me.

Past Revelations

- (Three or more weeks back) Brother Andrew stands between two walls with his arms extending sideways as he pushes away at them while they're moving in trying to smash him. He stands in the middle and keeps resisting, but the cement walls keep sliding in exerting pressure on him followed by his head getting vertically smashed as its contents get squeezed out of the broken skull. The vision begins again with Andrew still pushing against the walls trying to keep them from smashing him between them.

  Teri iccha puri ho jaye..
  Haathon mein tere Jeevan hai ye..

- KA in a white tunic with a V-shaped neck takes a few steps backwards towards the balcony in my kitchen space as he quietly says: Bye.. Tujhe nhi bhool paunga.. Tujhe hamesha yaad rakhunga..

  The Guy sings:
  Bhoologe tum.. bhulenge vo..
  Par hum tumhare rahenge sada..

- (Within the past week) I see this revelation above me around a translucent ceiling wherein I am pouring down a bucket full of water with red rose petals in it on top of a person standing above.
- The side-view of my dad dressed in a white tunic facing to the left as he makes the prophetic symbol.
- A naked beige Glory looks at me and with a jump turns in the opposite direction ejecting out a blob of poop.
- A naked guy on top of me in intercourse as he punches my jaw.

Somewhere around late evening, when I sat to type the pending revelations on my Laptop, I saw:

- Jesus standing me as He pushes forward the back of my head with His hand and says: Jaldi kar!

I found it so cute. I know that He is not rude or arrogant, but is very meek and Humble. So, His behavior came to me as surprising, but then I wondered if He was testing my reaction or perhaps He wanted to be brief in His instruction. But then, I also thought if His reaction was representative of someone else's behavior, or if He was making me used to the kind of behavior that people who aren't as humble and meek as Him display.

But whatever the case, I need to hurry and be at par with the daily revelations. So I can build in other directions He wants me to. Because, for sure, I can't be spending my days the way that I am doing now for all times to come. It is during this time that He is having me write these things, and slowly He's gonna add more things to my routine as I grow more in Him. I will have to read the Bible regularly too after a certain time and grow more in Him as I renew my mind according to the Word of God and learn more about His nature through the experiences of others written about in the Word. If we have to know God and His nature, we need to read the Bible for it clearly shows the things He hates, and the things He loves, and how we are supposed to perceive Him and our own selves, as we look at the journeys of other people who followed Him.

Page 554.

05 October 2023
22:21

For some reason, Jesus wants me on the floor most of the time, instead of me resting on the bed. And it's good too in a way, as it keeps me in an appropriate position with respect to Him as He is God. I'm not like Death Conqueror and the likes who don't God give His place but keep sinning foolishly disregarding His ways.

I wake up and go to bed from the floor, and though I see recurrent visions of Jesus pulling me down on the floor, I feel too tired as I find it hard to open my eyes and my body too feels unable to move, so I fall asleep on the bed.

After brushing my teeth: I see Jesus in full-length white robes sitting near the left corner of my bed with a straight back and a meek posture with His legs down as He is having tea with His head bent slightly down. He looks so characterful and doesn't seem to have any ego as He silently has tea in a straight posture.

Saiyarra mein saiyarra.. Saiyarra tu saiyarra..
Sitaaro ke jahaan mein, milenge ab yaara..

It tells me that instead of going ahead with cleaning, I am supposed to be having tea for I still wasn't feeling too energetic and a tea break would freshen me up.

I take my tea with snacks near the place I saw Jesus sitting and instead of sitting there, I sit on the floor because I want to be at His feet. How dare me sit on His spot..! Though I'm getting a nudge to sit on His spot.

I sit on the floor and have my tea time before I can proceed with the day. After having tea twice in a row, I see the side-view of Jesus facing to the left in front of me, with His upper half bent down towards the floor and His hands placed on my mop that was spread on the floor, as He is dressed in His full-length white tunic with a red drape, following which He started walking ahead sliding the mop with His hands on the floor in that bent position, and as He walked ahead away from the room's door, the area of the room He was leaving behind got sparkling cleaned at once. The vision repeated several times. I saw that He would even mop the room in that manner. I was sitting on the floor after having tea and happened to get lost in random thoughts and He kept showing me this vision after which I cleaned the room. I didn't feel a nudge to bathe today. I have to make a video in this last revelation dress that He showed me.

While cleaning the room, I kept hearing:

Sang dil se dil milake, bewafa ke haath aake
Usne ek din maut hi payee..
Ref: Daastan-e-Om Shaanti Om

After cleaning the room, I laid down to rest, and had the following revelations:

- A male genitalia enters into a see-through vagina and is getting squished inside.
- Mundeya nu sulee utte tangi rakhda ve tera nakhra hai teekhi talwaar varga…
  The chorus of this song plays in my Spirit in tandem with the previous vision of a sword with a golden cross-guard beaded with small multi-coloured gems moving by itself in a dark background.

  The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

  Ankh surme na ladi hui naar di..
  Khinch khinch ke nishaane seedhe mardi!

  The three lines highlighted in bold repeat in my Spirit, and then it reminds me of 2019 when I had joined Dream Fitness Zumba dance classes in the lane opposite to the corner sweet shop at the end of the lane with Gunika's Salon. I joined the classes because they suggested me to join Zumba first if I was to go ahead with learning the contemporary dance form because of which I had approached the dance classes. I used to be 92 kgs back then and had become severely obese with hormonal imbalances. The first song that I came to learn dancing in their group happened to be this Teekhi Talwar alone and I taught what I learned to Veera as well when she would come to me to play.
- After a while, I see a full-length featureless red figure of a woman birth out of me as it comes out with its head exiting first, and when it's fully out, it stands to my left facing the me who's lying on the floor. The figure is a bit shiny and has vertical lines running across, with its shape resembling that of a fit woman with small breasts, but lacking any obscene details, as the figure has no surface details except for its boundary that separated it from the surrounding space. Additionally, the figure is supposedly bald as its head has the shape of a skull and its face - featureless. It is much like a red living mannequin.
- After the red figure of a woman, a similar mustard-colored figure of a woman comes out of me, having the same stature, posture and texture of the surface, but varying only in its colour.
- A few more of such differently colored figures of women come out of me and stand beside me. They then quickly scatter around the room, take their supposed places, and get busy doing different chores. The red one sits at the table, the mustard one goes to the kitchen, and the green one stands near the bed dusting the bedsheet. In this way, all the different featureless avatars get busy with their respective chores. And as I wrote the last line, I heard:
  Hota hai jab aadmi ko.. Apna gyaan..
  Kehlaya vo… Shaktimaan.. Shaktimaan..

  This was such a nice and creative revelation. God is the most creative person. The skin or surface of those figures resembled a texture that a person would have if his/her skin were removed from his/her body and the tissue exposed.
- Akshay Kumar with a long, frizzy, and heavy beard and long hair of the same texture looks at the viewer as he puts a red tika on his forehead.
- This time when KA squeezes His genitalia, it ejaculates multiple times shown as discrete jets at first, followed by slightly elongated ones. And apparently, after a few seconds of him beginning to do it, I get a somatic revelation of me doing it to him. The visions flash intermittently throughout the duration of the revelatory flow.

Kehta hai pal pal tumse.. Hoke dil ye deewana..
Kehta hai pal pal tumse.. Hoke dil ye deewana..
Ek pal bhi jaanejana, mujhse door nahi jana..
Pyaar kiya to nibhana, pyaar kiya to nibhana..

I have tea again and I hear: Todunga... Todunga tujhe mein…

It's dark now and I lay down to rest when I have the following revelations:

- I see as a third person, the side-view of a dusky Jesus with neck-length wavy hair, dressed in just black pants, lying on top of me on the floor with the holes on his hands and feet being visible.
- Jesus in a sky blue & white attire like that of the guy in the screenshot below in my right mental view rolls a kneaded floor on a surface with a rolling pin into a vertical rectangle, after which he rolls it in a cylinder, followed by twisting the cylinder in a circle and cooking Laccha Parantha that He then serves with Pickle and tea on a plate.

- KA fully dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt tucked inside black pants walks towards me from my left side with a smile but he then takes a few steps backwards, and sits near the wall. He doesn't want to come near this time.
- The vision is followed by him beginning to squish his genitalia again followed by my hands doing it, but he immediately changes to Jesus in a white tunic with a red drape who then smiles at me.
- The vision is followed by me holding KA's genitalia in my hand and it ejaculates a jet high in the air.

Revelations while resting late night:

- The head of Akshay Kumar protrudes out of a baseless circle in a way the cap of a pineapple protrudes out of its hard base, but in his case, there's nothing below the circle which floats mid-air in a well-lit surrounding, and he has an oval pumpkin hat too on his head.
- A clean-shaven SRK in an Indian Navy uniform of a black suit over a white shirt, and a cap with golden embossments in the centre, silently nods his head looking down while facing the viewer.
- KA dressed in a full-sleeved cotton grey top over blue denims with the straps of a black bag with colorful anime print visible on both his shoulders comes walking towards me and extends his hand for a handshake.

- Karan Singh Grover sits behind a horizontally parked bike as he silently signals to the viewer with a hand. The vision repeats a few times.
- Juhi Parmar from the TV serial Kumkum sits on a seat on the front row in a gathering of people, dressed in what looks like a long and loose white cylindrical skirt with a white drape wrapped around her upper half which covers her head as well.
- The back of a woman dressed in a beige frilled dress with a multilayered fluffed conical lower half and a square back design as she walks away from the viewer.
- Virat Kohli in a pure white tunic horizontally lifts up Anushka Sharma dressed in a pure white dress as he rotates in a circle and they both look at each other joyfully. A gathering of people dressed in full-length white robes can be seen standing far behind them as tiny people while they rotate happily in a surrounding well-lit with white light.
- Virat Kohli and Anushka Sharma ride on different horses together, parallel to each other with a distance of about 2 meters between them, towards the viewer, on a dusty ground, as they both smile and look ahead, both being dressed in thin grey clothes: Virat Kohli being dressed in a sleeveless grey top while Anushka Sharma too in a differently stitched grey top of the same texture and shade with her hair falling loose behind her. They continue riding towards the viewer and then appears a girl child between them with her hair tied low at the back riding a smaller brown horse towards the viewer. The trio then ride their respective horses together towards the viewer.
- Akshay Kumar dressed in a black suit over a white shirt lifts Twinkle Khanna up vertically, with her dressed in a sleeveless silver sparkling dress with a square back neck, as he rotates around with them smiling and joyfully looking at each other in a worldly gathering of people in the dark surrounding of a celebration in what looks like a party with a floor that has silver lights. As he's rotating her around with one hand, he looks at the viewer and points a finger at him in a tapping motion making the point how happy he's with her.
- My mom comes dressed in her long lavender t-shirt walks to the right along the wall behind her and signals something at the viewer. She then comes closer and apparently, she's at the apartment's main entrance door now and is closing it as seen from outside the door and, apparently, I am holding the door and though I resisting as the door moves twice in a to and fro motion, she closes it nonetheless.

While writing revelations this evening, I saw Jesus with a rod above my head as He was hitting a person below, but then He changed to me carrying that rod, where I was dressed in this same black dress.

Past Revelation

- (Past two weeks) A semi-animated short-heighted but plum Chatur in a fluffed astronaut suit comes riding a bicycle from the right in a dark brown background and stops and partake in the continuing to and fro motions of agenitalia that are already underway for a while as I lay resting on the ground. But he's mainly stopping by in his suit and taking a look at the viewer.
- (Past week) James Franco dressed in a suit in a dark night open background looks at the viewer.

Page 555.

06 October 2023
07:52

Visions (after waking up):

- The face of Bhagyashree with her head covered with a white drape. She carries a light smile and covers her jaw with the left side of her drape looking at the viewer as she stands in an open space with the view of a market space behind her resembling that of this locality.
- A stubbled KA stands with a white square paper held in his hands, with the paper covering his entire upper half as only his face looks at the viewer from above the paper, with 'I GIVE UP' written on the white paper in blue ink.

Aaja abhi bhi mudkar.. Yeshu bula raha hai…
Aaja abhi bhi mudkar.. Yeshu bula raha hai…

Varna ye yaad karle.. Varna ye yaad karle..
Tera hi naash hoga.. Insaaf ka tarazoo Yeshu ke haath hoga..

Within a few hours, I will be doing a video talking about my own sins and how, by the time I was in BSc, I developed my own spiritual sense of perceiving things. We are called to confess our sins and not hide them.

Dream (Late Morning):

In this dream, I am staying in the ground floor of Saroj Sadan PG, and I set out to buy some groceries from the Gupta convenience store. I take a look back turning backwards in the direction of the building adjacent to A-16 to check Glory's status, if he's around. I don't see anything. I continue on my path and when I am on the road to Guptaji's, I see many huge pits dug out on the road. Apparently, some kind of construction is underway. Also, the road looks empty and it's night as well. I keep walking and see that there's a huge line of people in front of Guptaji's that extends to the other side of the road. I never saw such an organized way of buying things in that shop before. Somehow, this night, that's how the view is. As I walking towards the store, a dark, fat and short-heighted man with a wide round face and hair slicken back to one side, dressed in a skinny horizontally striped red & white top catches me and suggests me to buy from this shop called Fairprice. I get an intuition tell that he is trying to deceive me into a situation, and I tell him a 'No'. He insists again, that the shop called Fairprice laid on an underground floor as he pointed to the side of the road opposite to Guptaji's while I was still at a good distance from the shop. He repeats several times, with a smile and pointing his hand in the direction of the lift that was supposed to take us underground. I think it to be a new idea to check the shop out because I've never been there and if it's a new opening then it's only good to know about this new shop. So, I follow him and he leads in front of a lift which as it slide opens reveals itself to be of only about 2 or 2.5 feet wide. I never saw such a narrow lift either. He gets in and gestures me to follow along and once we've reached down, he'll guide me to the shop. I get in too, but as soon as I get in, he steps out and has another guy join me in the lift who is about the same height as me, perhaps an inch or two shorter and much leaner than me, and is dressed in a loose sky blue shirt printed in white. The fat guy tells me that this boy will lead me to the shop. I trust him and we both go down. The lift continues on its path for a long time. It keeps going down and down which makes me think how deep have they built this Fairprice shop. When the lift finally stops, and the door opens, what I see doesn't at all look like a marketplace or a group of shops. But it's a white corridor with a white floor with a few white doors in front of me giving the aura of a home. It looks confusing and I ask the boy with me about the shop as he was to lead me, but he says he doesn't know anything about it. I step outside the lift and take a look to the right and see the corridor get narrow as it leads to even more rooms with their doors to the right. Almost all rooms have their door opened by a few inches and I can see them lit in white light. I can tell that the rooms are definitely not occupied as any convenience store or any other kind of shop and nor do I see any person roaming outside in the corridors. I don't feel like opening the doors and checking inside either because it's quite apparent that the fat and dark man has fooled me into going underground to that place or else why would he lie and send that other boy to lead me to a place he himself doesn't know anything about. I go back into the lift and return to the ground. When I am out on the road, I see that I have a pink soap in my brown soap case with me and apparently, I got/bought it from down there without even me knowing when I bought it. I don't have any memory of me buying it but I found the soap when I reached the ground floor. The pink soap is much wider, bigger than my current lime soaps. I use it and check its smell out. I don't like it very much. It smells bland. I recall that I like my lime soaps better. I don't even know why I bought it when I already have 3 to 4 lime soaps with me lying at home. It doesn't make any sense to me. The vision of the dream then rewinds and goes back underground in that white corridor, and it goes inside the door to the right of the two doors present on the wall in front of the lift.

'Bahut pitne waali hai.. Kartika, tu bahut pitne waali hai..'

Inside that room I see James Franco (Harry from the movie Spiderman) in a slow duet with a slim lady who has her hair tied low at the back and is dressed in multilayered western clothes. There's a grey couch in the room two meters or so away from the wall. The room is well-furnished and the girls seem to know Harry well. As they dance and reach near the couch, he releases her and she ends up lying there to rest. He joins the couch after a while and they slowly begin making out and as thy do so and I am looking at them as a third person, I somehow fear how my dad is going to react if he's looking at the scene. I see them making weird poses on the couch as the guy is sucking the woman at different places but she seems to be dressed in the vision. I witness it for a while, and vision goes back to being in front of the lift. What I see makes me wonder if it was me who got confused or messed up the situation, or if the fat guy really misled me, because now I see that I am on an elevated open corridor resembling the one in Miranda House facing the Hostel's ground. It's a wide and open corridor without a roof and there are two lifts, one on each end, and I happen to find myself standing in front of the left lift. Now it seems to me that perhaps this is the right place to be and if I follow along the corridor, I may find the store called Fairprice. So, I walk along the open corridor and take a left with a water cooler present right around the corner in front, but again, the place seems to have an aura of a college as I come across an empty room opposite to the water cooler, and definitely, there can't be any shop called Fairprice that could be present there. So I walk back to the lift and I can see that even this is not the place the man was pointing me to. When I have reached the front of the lifts again, I enter the lift, move a bit around, and return to the same spot in front of the left lifts. This time, I notice a small square blackboard on the brick wall to the right of the other lift present to my right, while my left side is but open. I see a few things written on the board, one of them is Bookfair, and it points to the direction I had just returned from. Though I didn't find Fairprice, I see that there's a bookfair ongoing and that I would like to be there. So, I walk back along the same path through the wide corridor, and come across the water cooler at the left turn and continue walking despite coming across empty rooms, for I am hoping to be at the Bookfair.

I continue walking and the space now like that of a school, which I find so boring. I see classrooms, a wide centre hall around which the school is built as I walk through the corridor. I don't get a good feeling, because I don't resonate with the place. I was hoping to find the Bookfair where I would find books that resonate with me, but now I am at this place which is not giving me a good feeling. So, I turn back as I don't want to go further in, and on my way back, to my right I come across two middle school girls dressed in the school's uniform standing in front of the water cooler with their backs towards me. The girl to the left is taller and has her face turned sideways to the right. I notice her large eyelashes and she carries a calm and soothing expression. The girl to the right is much shorter than the other girl and seems to be in pre-school by her stature. I pass them by quickly for I am feeling too suffocated at the place. As I am treading my way back through the corridor, this little 2.5 to 3 feet high girl in a beige shirt over a dark brown skirt (resembling my school's uniform) with a Pichkaari in her hands spots me, and observing her looks, I can tell that she is going to attack me! So I start walking speedily, but she follows along and immediately starts running after me and as she does she has indeed begun using her weapon at me as she smiles wide, seeing which I too start running away from her and I keep running away for a few seconds but the range of her weapon is long enough to manage to get my clothes wet as I look back at her and find her still running with a wide smile on her wide round face towards me, and when she's finally managed to wet my clothes at the back, she stops, and it's when the dream ends.

After about an hour of waking up, I recalled the dream and its ending, and it was immediately followed by the vision of that little girl now briefly pressing the tip of the Pichkaari as she said something. She just seemed too naughty!

Looking at this dream, we can see that the place that the fat guy in red & and white had led me to led me to a place that was way below ground, in a way signifier of Hell or a low-grade or low-quality place. But the second place I found myself to be at in front of the lifts represents an elevated place, a place at a higher level that comes with the presence of a bookfair, while the one that was way down underground represented a degraded place of low quality where Harry was dancing with that slim girl. Now it seems to me if the place was a whorehouse, who knows! A mind that resonates with such places is in a way resonating with the conditions required to be sent to hell, that's what the revelation revealed. While a mind that resonates with the aura of a godly bookfair carries the nature that meets the mental status of the beings present in Heaven, because the angelic beings in Heaven obey God and fear sin and are much more wiser than humans, and it's only a wise person who doesn't sin, and then a wise person would also love (godly) books. In this way, God revealed the difference between those two states of mind: one that led one closer to Hell, and the other that led one closer to Heaven. Looking for a fairprice in a whore house is a low-level hellish act, while looking for a Bookfair is a high-level heavenly act.

After I woke up, I didn't feel energetic at all and my body was aching a bit as well, perhaps from sleeping on the floor, which made me wonder if I should place my mattress down. But, no. As I lay half awake on my bed, I had several visions of Jesus. In one, He was running the mop at the centre space of the room with His foot as He stood facing to the left in the green light. He looked so cute as He did that alone.

14:32
Well, I received a call from my Mom a while back with her telling me that my middle brother's legs are broken and that he was admitted in Bhagwan Das hospital of Sonipat. It reminded me of the previous dream revelation in which my youngest brother called me telling me that Mom had beaten him up which led to him having a broken leg and the back of his head swollen too as he received a hit there.

And it reminded me of two more revelations.
One in which I saw the top view as seen from far above of a person in a wheelchair being pushed forward by another individual behind him, and both seemed to resemble my brothers from a distance, and the street resembled that adjoining the society's unfunctional club room, that lies to the left of the main exit road as seen from above. And then this day, as I was standing in the cabin facing the apartment's entrance, my focus fixed on this wheelchair that my grandma used to use.

And then, about a minute or so back, I recalled the song revelation that I have had within the past few days which repeated itself intermittently:
Toota toota ek parinda aise toota
Ke phir jud na paya..
Loota loota kisne usko aise loota..
Ke phir udd na paya..

And then I had this recent revelation of the figure of Himanshu being superimposed on the cross of Jesus.

In one of the dreams from the past few days, I saw that I was writing the Gospel of Jesus Christ on my Notebook.
I wrote that Jesus died for the sins of the world in the form of His sacrifice on the cross, and He was raised up from being dead on the third day after which He ascended to Heaven.

Additionally, this incident with my brother Himanshu, though it made me feel sad about his suffering, but looking at it in the context of the Will of God as I saw in the wheelchair revelation, it only confirms His word. And it actually made me look forward to my own suffering as was willed by God, because it would only mean that I am moving closer to Him. I was filled with a certain kind of joy at the thought of me facing the difficult situations that were meant for me. Because it would be very much like leaving a false illusionary system and entering into the truth which is the kingdom of God, and living in truth always brings joy to the righteous and godly! I will definitely pray for my middle brother as I saw in a previous dream. But you see, when we suffer for God, or because we are His, it should bring us joy, and it will bring us joy if our love for Him is rooted in truth.

Link to download the PDF file of TSPR Pages 1 to 500:
https://1drv.ms/b/s!Aod5hx_90tDb4GpMAHTNGuQa1fS4?e=LHNFzS

Link to download the PDF file of TSPR Pages 501 to 554:
https://1drv.ms/b/s!Aod5hx_90tDb4GlxIuSDioseVW4G?e=2Wlbhe

This new incident with Himanshu is so disturbing from a human point of view. I have already been having a heavy head because of this constant pressure on my brain and now this incident with Himanshu doesn't take anything away. It's hard to believe that it was an accident. Because of the way my mom was constantly telling me that he was admitted to Bhagwan Das Hospital and is to be admitted to the ICU for two days, the presence of the names Bhagwan Das and ICU seemed weird to me. She was also telling me that he was on his way to eat a burger and fell off the scooter because of the uneven road and broke his legs. And this lady who roams outside and who was one day passing me a threat by showing her right hand that was hanging loose in front of her, she intentionally shouted in front of me at someone else a few days back: Taange tod du!? And as she said so, she held a steel danda in her hands. Now I thought she was passing that threat to me, but today I get to know that it's my brother who has his legs broken. Hard to believe someone can break his legs by falling from a scooty, but then he's too ft also, but how can he break his legs by falling off the scooty because if he fell, he would be falling on one side and that side would be hurt, or perhaps he got a high speed forward jolt. These days I've come across quite a few people who have had accidents. This moustached old guy outside who sells boiled eggs had his hand hurt by a buffalo, and it was all swollen, then the son of Mr. Subhash - the room's landlord had an accident wherein he fell from his bike and injured his leg and had to get it plastered. And now this incident with my brother.

Well, I may not know the full truth, but God does and He watches over things. I will still praise Him in whatever situations I go through.

Link to download the Stamped Copy of my extended FIR:
https://1drv.ms/b/s!Aod5hx_90tDb4GtUDHBTldhhTCKY?e=IvBS2W

The Guy sings:
Matlab ki bhari is duniya mein..
Najaane kaun saccha hai..

Humne bhi dekhe sapne the.. Humne bhi chahe apne the..
Par waqt ne humein sikhla hi diya..
Har dhaga yaha par kaccha hai..

Other people sing:
Kacche dhaago se meet bana.. Aur meet se apni jeet bana..
Aur jeet se aisi preet bana.. Tu preet ko jeevangeet bana..

Earlier in the afternoon, when my mom told me about my brother's accident, a while after I ended the call, these lyrics began playing in my Spirit. I was quite unsure of the reality of the situation because it came as such an unexpected surprise, and then later while I was cleaning my room, I wondered if we were nearing the end of the fair of hearts because these lines lie towards the end of the song after which begins the fight between Rupa and her group, and the terrorist Gujjar Singh.

Past Revelations

- (Prior to the past two weeks) I saw it as a third person. The Landlord of 9/31 Mr. Subhash dressed in a striped green t-shirt over shorts moves on top of me in communion.
- (Prior to the past week) I saw it as a third person. The guy Surjeet at Dinesh Store in his fitting thickly striped skyblue t-shirt moves on top of me in communion.
- (Past week) Dhruv Rathee in a sky blue t-shirt stands in the pose of a Namaste as he does a dance moving his hands sideways while moving around a bit. I had his revelations a few days in a row when I would be resting on floor, and he would be dancing sideways on the floor with hands joined in a Namaste. The lady sings: Maar dala… Maar dala…
- (Past week) He stands at a good distance from me behind me as I am working, dressed in the skyblue t-shirt as a genitalia trunk erects and hits his forehead.
- (Past week) My dad keep appearing intermittently during the fleshly revelations with KA, though very briefly and his appearance is not frequent either.

Now, these people.. They're all characterful people when it comes to me. My dad, though, he's had affairs, always maintained a good mental posture towards me. The wicked fleshly thoughts that sometimes people briefly, they don't define who they're, because as long as one is in flesh, one is open to the possibility of having ungodly thoughts. Those thoughts have to be rebuked. And if one has guarded one's heart with the breastplate of righteousness, those thoughts won't arise in their minds.

Vision (Past 24 hours): My dad's younger brother Sanjay Chacha stands in an orangish background beside the open door of the conductor seat of a car with his hand placed at the top of the door as he looks smiling at the viewer. The centre of his head had gone bald and he carries sideburns and beard around the lining of his face. He closes the door with a jerk, and then walks towards the viewer and starts moving on top of the viewer for a few seconds.

Now, whenever I receive a revelation related to a fleshly act, I at times take it as a metaphoric representation of heartfelt mental communion, and not necessarily a physical one because recall: the act of praying to God in the Spirit is itself represented by the physical act of having intercourse with God, but the metaphoric representation is because of the intimate nature that the act carries and it doesn't correspond to the way ungodly people treat the act as they fornicate and commit adultery outside of a covenant.

I recall that the last time I visited Sanjay Chacha, he had rudely sent away one or both of my brothers who had gone there before I went that day and I didn't know about it. It was because of some differences he had with my dad. I went there to meet my cousin sisters, and while I was sitting with them in their room, and he passed by the open door, he looked at me, and was about to say something, but he stopped and kept looking to the left silently with a shut mouth. He didn't tell me off. And now that I recall the incident, I see that he too made the prophetic symbol in that moment as he stood there outside the door. He respected me enough to not behave with me in the same manner he did with my brothers. When I was little, I used to call him Sanjay Papa, and my dad as just Papa. It was later that I started calling him Sanjay Chacha. He remembered the time I spent with him when I was little and had respect for it.

20:44
As I lay on my right side in bed in the morning, I saw my dad dressed in a white tunic set standing behind me in the room and hitting my ass repeatedly with some kind of rod which reminded me of the previous vision in which I lay on my side with a black and bruised back.

About an hour back, I started hearing the Teekhi Talwar song in my Spirit again. The song can be listened to with its subtitles on for it has an English translation available.

ILLEGAL WEAPON | GARRY SANDHU /JASMINE SANDLAS | INTENSE | FRESH MEDIA RECORDS

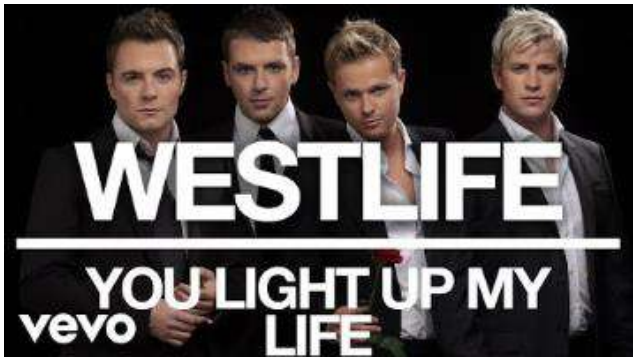
The Guy sings:
Kudiya de seene wich THA wajda ve munda UP de najaayz hathiyaar warga..
Kudiya de seene wich THA wajda ve munda UP de najaayz hathiyaar warga..

Kudiya de seene wich THA wajda ve munda UP de najaayz hathiyaar warga..
Kudiya de seene wich THA wajda ve munda UP de najaayz hathiyaar warga..

This lyric was playing in my Spirit some weeks back as well, though I didn't record it.

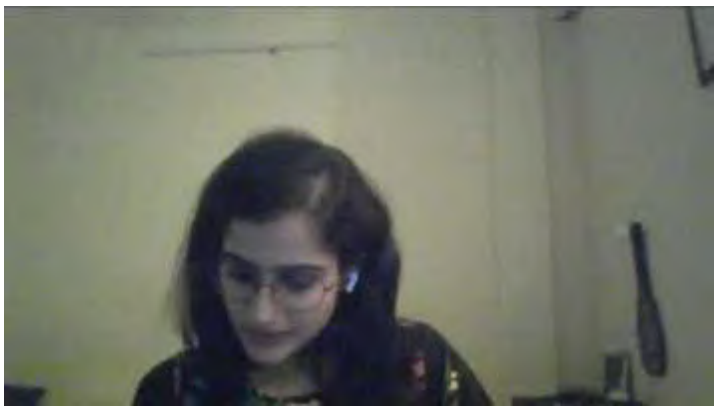
After I was done having my dinner of 2 chapattis with Ladyfingers, and got up from my seat, I had this song play in my Spirit:

Westlife - You Light Up My Life (Official Audio)



Now I'm gonna begin making my next video in which I will talk about my journey through brokenness, sin, friendship, spirituality, counselling sessions with the Psychologist, taking a few steps into the kingdom of devil, to finally coming to God.

From Sin to Jesus: My Journey of Sanctification



Page 556.

07 October 2023
15:07

Revelations before I fell asleep last late night after making the video:

- Benedict Cumberbatch, dressed in a fitting attire resembling in its color and outer texture to his attire of Dr. Strange but in its fitting to Superman, floats horizontally in what seems like dark outer space as he is handing over an off-white page to the viewer with the view of a huge round white moon behind him, where it seems that he is about to leave after handing out the letter/page. It seems as if he's come to hand over the letter as he waits for the viewer to pick it up so that he can leave immediately.
- A naked Glory steps out of something looking at the viewer in a background lit with light yellow light.
- Two words written in brown one below the other pop out together abruptly from behind a surface in a light yellow background.

Dream(Morning):

It was a long dream, but the part that I remember clearly and that stood out among all is the one in which I was in an open space with groups of other people around, and I saw them all holding a soft drink glass with a black drink inside. Everyone held that glass with that black drink which I assumed to be a soft drink. First, I saw a stubbled RS with neck-length hair holding the conical glass along with others who held their own respective glasses, and when I looked around, everyone was having that drink from their respective glasses which made me wonder if the shop present nearby in the dream was now serving soft drinks in that manner. It didn't look like an environment of celebration but it was quiet.

Additionally, somewhere in the dream, I had my white crop top (which is an inner part of a longer dress lying on a surface) as I was deciding between two options to wear on top of it in my mind with its original black counterpart being highlighted in the dream as a translucent image of it blinked on top of the white top.

Revelations late morning after waking up:

I have the song Teekhi Talwar playing in my Spirit again which is then accompanied by

- SRK in a V-neck black shirt dancing lightly around his position making light gestures towards the viewer with one hand while swirling what looks like a whip in the other hand in a shiny orangish brown background mixed with a bit of white light.
- Followed by SRK's vision, comes HRX walking from the left in the background of the cemented wall of an old building behind him, being dressed in a thick grey coat with a neck-high top inside, wearing black goggles and a green cap on his head as he walks to the right in light dance moves.
- A stubbled RS with very shiny, straight, and smooth neck length hair sits dressed in a smooth and shiny pink suit over a white shirt, with the bud of a rose protruding out of the place of his heart as he looks at the viewer with an affirming compassionate expression while sipping what looks like alcohol from a small tea glass held near his mouth. He then throws the alcohol on the face of the viewer in an abrupt fit of rage followed by the side-view of him standing facing to the left in front of a person to whom he says in what seems to be an angry tone: Tu itni smart kyu hai!

- The naked upper half of KA sucking on the left breast of the naked upper half of a lady whose face is not shown in the vision. He sucks her breast like a child taking her down on the floor. The vision repeats for a long while.
- A naked muscular Glory stands inside my room in front of my door but he has two thick breasts protruding out of his chest.
- The naked upper half until the chest's end of an extremely muscular and fluffed person with a longer hair sidelock as he gets drenched in water. Well, his hairstyle reminded me of Mukesh, though his face wasn't very clear.

I was lying on my floor bed, and this time I put my mattress on the floor as I had begun to wake up with an aching body. The floor of this room is different from A-10 on which I could sleep comfortably without feeling much difference. And while lying on the floor bed, I had my hand on my forehead for it was paining, when I saw:

- The upper half of Karan Johar lying on a bed in the same manner as me, being dressed in a black suit as he emulated my expressions accompanied with the hand gesture of him caressing his forehead with his fingers. I see that he is called by my name. The vision is followed by the top-view of him falling straight down on the ground on his back as if the two floors of the building below him have disappeared making him fall down, and it's also when his attire is shown to be entirely black (black jacket over a neck high fitting t-shirt tucked inside black pants) when he hit the ground, he makes about an inch-deep depression in the solid soiled ground.
- The vision of the middle section of a huge fully dressed Jesus in an off-white tunic with a red drape on top, with a flat round surface protruding out in place of His genitalia as many (5-6) small genitalia were seen as horizontally attached to the flat base as they waved around their positions in the air. The structure was in semblance with a round surface with uniformly distributed multiple pins fixed to it. Now when I think, I could interpret it as Him having many ways in which He could be pleased. You can please Him in several different ways, praise Him in several different ways, and worship Him truly in more than one ways though all ways may be rooted in the Spirit. He was then moving that composite structure in and out of me. Well, what I would understand from the vision would be that He was pleased with me in all the ways.

Additionally, later in the late evening, I saw:

- A wooden handle with a round end with several pins attached to it coming at a groin, as the naked lower half of the person was shown. (Poor fellow to whom such a violent thing would be happening.)

Past Revelations

- The upper half until the shoulders of the Bollywood actor Randeep Hooda dressed in a light blue shirt with the gesture of Namaste in front of his chest as he moves his joined hands in a circular gesture of worship while looking at me.
- In a dark orangish background, Bindu Desai in an orange saree sitting on a chair with her legs crossed looks at viewer.
- The naked upper half of a bearded Akshay Kumar with long hair crawls upwards in a tunnel that seems to be lit with yellow light because of a fire at the back.
- The glass transparent horizontally spread vertical head of a snake with a small glassy transparent crown on its head in an environment of yellow light with intermittent spaces dimly lit in white.

Revelations while in the Washroom:

After 5 and a half days, I went to bath and when I was first using the commode and was constipated, I heard in my Spirit:

- Tera jaadu chal gaya..
  Tera jaadu chal gaya..
  Tu mujhko mil gaya.. Tu mujhko mil gaya..
  Jab dil mile mile mile dil mile..
  Tab gul khile khile khile gul khile..
- I then saw an erected male genitalia being squished by hands as its abrupt ejaculation went upwards like a jet to the ceiling.
- The follow-up revelation had the somatic sensation of my own hands doing the squish squish as it ejected out jets.
  Kartika tu pitne waali hai bahut.
- Somewhere prior to the above visions, I saw a blurry vision of a naked KA standing with his upper half bent as he moved to and for in intercourse (during my commode time?), followed by him grabbing my breasts.

Well, I am glad I didn't have revelations while bathing because I needed time for I was bathing after 5 days and had to wash my head as well. I heard a few things towards the end but I let them go and didn't think much about them.

Revelations while resting:

- Jesus called me to rest on the floor after I had my dinner. He first nudged me to quickly swipe the floor once before I lay on it. So I did.
- I now lay in rest. He then nudged me to rest my hands on the sides, and let my body loose and get rid of all stiffness and relax with a fully surrendered body and mind, where one surrenders one's own thoughts and ways of thinking, giving all the way to God alone. It came to me as something new because previously at times I would be tensed when I came into His presence for I didn't know the kind of revelations I was going to receive. It seemed more like a chore than a time that relaxed me. Because while resting I would be receiving new revelations to be recorded and the time spent would be considered as work and not rest. Yeah, but then, when we are on Earth, that's the time we need to labor for God, and He does give us rest like He told me today to let my body loose in surrender and not hold any bodily and mental stiffness.
- I then saw as a third person Jesus, dressed in a full-length white tunic with a red drape, sitting on His knees with His upper body standing straight throwing my loose body horizontally upwards in air repeatedly as it came back down to Him.
- Jesus picks up a golden crown from a group of crowns lying on a surface to place on my head, and he is picking up more and more golden crowns. It seems that he is checking the one that would fit my head well.
- He then rolled out a long rectangular white cloth on the floor that apparently had me wrapped inside it, and when it was fully rolled out when it had reached the wall carrying the Psalm 34:4-5 verse, I was naked and completely out of the roll. Perhaps the revelation implied Him giving me a feeling of release.

- I saw RS dressed in his shirt from the packet of woody pens that I bought one from today. He was inserting his genitalia inside after which he lay on top me without moving.
- Tera jaadu chal gaya.. Tera jaadu chal gaya..
  I am hearing this lyric even now. It has been repeating in my Spirit for the past few minutes.

  The following lyrics also kept repeating in my Spirit during late evening:
  Toota toota ek parinda aise toota..
  Ke phir jud na paya..
  Loota loota usko kisne aise loota..
  Ke phir udd na paya..
  Girta hua vo aasman se aake gira jameen par
  *Khwaabo mein phir bhi badal hi the, v*o kehta raha magar ke allah ke bande hasde.. Allah ke bande..
  Allah ke bande hasde.. Jo bhi ho kal phir ayega..

  Later the song 'You light up my life' by Westlife played in my Spirit. The song reminded me of the past time I spent a lot of time listening to Westlife songs. Most of the songs that I had were by Westlife. I once was sharing with someone online how I had downloaded 100 (slightly lesser or greater) something Westlife songs. I think I was sharing it with Mukesh. He was someone who got bored with things easily. Most of the Westlife songs were meaningful and they pertained to this goldy side that had taken over me since I experienced that change. There were hardly any foolish worldly songs stored in my phone. Westlife lit up my life during those days with their godly songs. The song 'You light up my life' also refers to how Westlife songs lit up my life with a fountain of angelic aura.

  Currently the chorus lyrics of this song play in my Spirit:
  Deewana kar rha hai tera roop sunehra.. accompanied with the opening stanza.

  I happened to listen to this other video done by Brother Andrew in which he is stressing that The Chosen doesn't quite portray Jesus very well, and he said a few more mean things. He didn't say them to be mean perse but he was expressing out his mind.

  Don't be deceived by a false image of Jesus

And after he had a few mean sentences about The Chosen, I saw a semi-animated vision of

- A flood of tears continuously rolling down from the eyes of Brother Dallas (creator, director, and co-writer of The Chosen) as he looks towards the viewer dressed in his sea-green The Chosen t-shirt with a center print of fishes.

He's doing his best to portray Jesus and they put in a lot of thought to fill in the gaps present in the Word to give it a continuous form of a story as he was talking about in one of his videos.

And while writing the part related to Brother Andrew, I saw the semi-animated low-contrast, blurry upper half of Dallas with two red love hearts in front of his eyes.

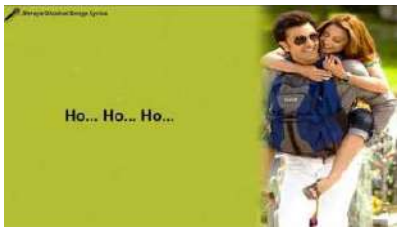
Page 557

08 October 2023
00:40

I close my eyes because of this uneasy movement inside my head and see the face of a stubbled RK with an innocent expression in a dimly-lit background followed by an army of black soldiers riding on stony black animals resembling rhinos as they all have a protruding thick horn on their heads as they run towards the viewer.

The lady sings:
Aahista aahista mujhe yakeen ho gya..

Ref: Ahista Ahista Song | Lyrical Video | Bachna Ae Haseeno



- The upper half of Salman Khan slightly tilted towards the left and seen in the right mental view at a level above one's horizontal plane of eyes as he looks ahead with a fluffed chest and a righteous expression in his role as the policeman from the Bollywood movie Dabang.
  It is so nice to be sitting, receiving revelations, and writing them on the spot instead of accumulating them.

11:17
After writing the above last night, I felt a nudge to go and rest on the floor. While resting, I fell asleep during the rest itself and woke up directly in the morning when I saw that the lights were still on and I had fallen asleep. Following are the revelations I had before falling asleep:

- The front -view of the upper half of a lady resembling Bhagyashree lying on her right side, with her upper half wrapped in a sea-green drape with a black triangular print visible on the border of its part that ran over her head. She is carrying a small stone in her left hand and is hitting the ground lightly with the same. The act of her hitting the ground with the stone as she briefly hovers it above it accompanied by scratching on the ground is highlighted in my Spirit, and it repeats in slow motion until I get up from the floor to make a note of it. I was watching the vision and seeing how it progressed before making a note of it, but when it repeated the same act in an intensified manner, I knew that that was all the vision carried in itself.
- It's night and a tall and slightly bulky guy in a light pink shirt untucked over pants sits with vertically folded knees on a horizontal pole extending outside of a building from a glass window as seen from inside the room lit in white light, with what seems like a workplace table present adjoining the glass window. The guy had landed on the pole in that posture with a jump and now stares inside through the window, but as he lands, lands two meters behind him on the long pole in the same posture a short-heighted and lean SRK dressed in all black that covers even his head in a way that gives him the look of a thief, or a spy. The vision is now seen from a distance of about 4-5 meters away from the duo (the man and SRK in black) as it shows their side-view with the man in pink looking inside the room through the window, while SRK sitting behind the man on his feet with vertically folded knees looking at the man. The bulky guy now jumps and lands on an adjacent pole in the same fashion with SRK following behind him with a delay of less than a second as he jumps and sits on the pole as if he's spying on the guy.

- The upper half of a lady with a plain broad chest dressed in a brown blouse widely checkered with metallic embroidery as she stands with a huge rock lifted up in her hands above her head.
- The upper half of AR Rehman dressed in a white shirt with a black waist-coat in a background of dim yellow light with a hazy translucent aura about it, as he holds out two cigarettes to the viewer.
- A male genitalia enters inside fully followed by 'You're locked' being said by a voice.
- AR Rehman smokes a cigarette looking at the viewer.
- The side-view of a wide hall showing the side-view of its front few rows of chairs occupied by men and women in western black & white clothes, with a distance of about 3 meters between the front row and the stage in front which is not shown in the vision, as a younger moustached version of my dad dressed in a white shirt with a black waistcoat over it stands smiling around the nearer end of the first two rows as he is bent sideways with his front facing the viewer while talking to another guy dressed in the same manner. It reminded me of the Worship song 'I will run to You' as most people in there are dressed in black & white.

I Will Run To You - Hillsong Worship

The vision is a reflected revelation of the scene above. The second guy from the left is looking away from the viewer and the scene is seen from its right side, and they're all on a podium. A reflected revelation that concerns with the doppelganger of Glory will have these people down the podium, with the scene seen from the left side, where the doppelganger is looking towards the viewer instead of away from him, and that's also what I saw in my vision, but only in the place of Glory, it was my dark moustached dad - the way he looked in his younger years. At first, I was thinking that the following scene was what the revelation was a reflected version of, but later I understood that the above scene in which the doppelganger is facing away from the viewer had to be the original scene that the revelation was reflecting or was a mirror image of in a way, when it came to inverting the subject in question - which is the doppelganger.

Also, in the vision, my dad was bent to a side as he was smiling at another guy present beside him, and it seemed there was one perhaps one more person beside that other guy who was not visible in the vision because it ended there, which is also the case in the picture that has the backs of the guys towards the viewer. Now, in the revelation, others beside the guys were sitting on chairs which would be a reflected situation of the standing crowd beside the guys, but God chose to reflect the situation of the standing guys in terms of their spatial positions unlike He did with others. So, in the revelation, the guys stood at the left side of the hall facing away from the people sitting on the chairs, as a few meters ahead of them to the left lay the stage. So, in decrypting, not only do we have to discover what the revelation pertains to, but also identify the different ways God used to reflect the scene because He reflected different objects from the picture in different aspects.

Now, this reveals to us that even the other revelation with SRK jumping behind the guy in pink is a reflected revelation that I will leave as an exercise for the viewer!

Past Revelations:

- (Past Week) The parallel view of the 3-D golden logo resembling that of Fox Star Studios floats on the left of the vision up high in the day sky above a slightly blurry background of tall buildings, with a golden face of the Hollywood Actor Jim Carrey on top of the logo as his huge bald skull protruded out in the viewer's direction.

- (Yesterday) HRX in a red sleeveless sweater on a half-sleeved white shirt tucked inside pants moves ahead with his hands stretched forward into a tissue tunnel lit in a mix of dim red and yellow.

14:25

'Kartika sab has rahe hai!'

Well, I don't see any reason for people to laugh. Is it because I am wearing my newsboy/poor boy cap that I received yesterday? Well, if the situation led to my hair fall, God gave me an appropriate solution which goes along with my job.

Wow.. Jesus looks so happy as he dances joyfully in a duet with me in the centre of the room. The place is so filled with a kind of Godly joy that doesn't need a reason. Yeah.. If these abusers were not there, I would be even much happier and more filled with joy! I can see how empty of the fruits of the Spirit these people are! Full of worldliness and wickedness, wicked sinful habits and lifestyle, no real appreciation and love for God or else they would be following along His principles and walking on His golden path but they find it extremely necessary to insult me in one or the other way, because how can someone be happy without a reason and not live a miserable existence as these people do! They can't be happy regardless of what they possess!

About half an hour back, I had my half tiffin from Chaaru's tiffin service, which had Aloo Puri and Halwa, and I had the worship song I will run to You played along with, following which the rest of the Worship songs by Hillsong started playing in a queue, and they were sung by the same people in the same setting wearing the same clothes they wore in the previous videos - black & white. So, I realized that today was my day of playing out Hillsong Worship songs that they've sung in black & white! I also saw how these people were only a cause of bitterness and oppression and headache in my life, being so devoid of godliness. I also recalled how when I was full of a positive mind, I naturally uplifted others and saw the best in them. I won't call a black person black to make them feel small, but these people call a beige person black to insult her, and represent me as being fully bald in the center of my head when I am not yet fully bald! This makes me look at how empty and shallow these people are that their minds think along such a direction. I never insulted calling a fat person as fat, but they insult an out-of-shape person of normal BMI by calling her as fat. They portray things to be of a lower quality than they actually are. Though it's just the outer appearance that they misrepresent or try to insult me with, it's not the insult that gets to me, but the fact that why do I have to even indirectly confront the presence of such cheap individuals with such cheap minds! No one desires the company of such people. Every day they put on display their wicked nature. Anyway.

17:58

After I had my Lunch, I saw that Jesus was so joyful as He danced with me with extended arms. He gave me a few visions in which He was leading me to the floor while kissing me. So I went to rest with Proverbs playing on my Laptop. It was then that I had these revelations:

- Jesus in a full-length long white tunic with a red drape on top lies on me in communion to give me rest.

- The back view of Jesus with neck-length hair, dressed in long white satin robes, as He floats in the air at a level high above the ground with a woman wrapped in white with closed eyes, and her drape running over her head lying in front of Him, with her hanging below as they went about Him, leading to them being in a communion being fully dressed where she looks lifeless as lies in front of Him, followed by Him lifting her body vertically up bringing her closer to Him as He hugs her and says: My daughter.. My daughter.. following which He turns His head backwards to the left and His face is revealed to be semi-animated black with huge eyes and an angry expression with which He looks at the viewer and says in an angry stuffed voice: She's mine! It almost sounds like a threat!

Masih nidhaal soe-daar chalte dekha hai..
Bhadakti aag mein ek phool jalte dekha hai..

I was in rest when my brother called and when I was going to go back into rest, Jesus prompted to write this detail first which is related to a previous revelation written towards the end of Page 549. In that revelation, I had seen a vision of a diary with a black cover and a golden print on it with Speak 18 written in the centre of a circle that there in the middle of the cover. The circle and the phrase reminded me of this diary that Akhila had that had Christ 17 or 18 written in the middle. So, this vision of the diary is related to the diary that she owns. Perhaps God is asking her to start praising Him.. who knows!?

While I was washing clothes earlier during the day, I saw:

- A naked Glory standing inside my room near the wall with the door as he pours a bucket of mud/soil on himself while looking at the viewer.

21:36
I was working on my laptop which God provided for His purpose and for my PhD, when I saw

- Jesus dressed in a full-length white tunic with a red drape lifted up on top of me as He was taking me down on my bed while kissing me.
  So I knew that it was time for me to rest, and that He wanted me to rest on bed this time. So I went and was resting with a stuffed mind. I wasn't feeling too well because of these continuous movements inside my brain. And then I received a call from my middle brother who recently broke both the bones of one of his legs in a fall from scooty. I talked to him for a while and told him to listen to contemporary Psalms video as absorbing them would bring about a godly change in his mind. When I was about to settle down back into my bed again after talking to him, I was reminded of the Speak 18 vision that I had on 30th Sept the last month.
- I felt a nudge to write its correlation with Akhila's beige diary, which I had happened to recall a short while after I had received the vision but I didn't write about it, though it later occurred to me a few times. I would recall it, think about writing it and it would slip away from mind. This time I wasn't sure if the nudge was from God, so I was still in doubt when I saw
- Jesus lying on my bed and giving me a push at the back to go and write about it. So, that was my confirmation.

Now I understood a bit more about the meaning of the revelation as I recalled the kind of things Akhila talked about. She was a great gossiper who went from room to room talking about others.

She gossiped about me as well while to my face she would be nice and later she started being mean to my face as well. She didn't like me preaching or sharing the Word of God according to the revelations He gave me. Still, God saw her because He created her and it's His will for all to turn to Him. I recalled how she only talked about useless stuff with her friends. I saw that she talked a lot in a very short duration of time but all of it was for no reason, and sounded meaningless without Godly wisdom. And she would talk about sexual things too, for no reason as well. So, God is now calling to speak sense and not just utter anything that comes to her mind that isn't godly or based in truth, and stop gossiping! Because recall:

Proverbs 20:19
New International Version
19 A gossip betrays a confidence; so avoid anyone who talks too much.

A different version:
"Whoever goes about slandering reveals secrets; therefore do not associate with a simple babbler."

1 Timothy 5:13
New International Version
13 Besides, they get into the habit of being idle and going about from house to house. And not only do they become idlers, but also busybodies who talk nonsense, saying things they ought not to.
From < https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=1%20Timothy%205%3A13&version=NIV>
It's time that she started speaking about Godly stuff and working towards being closer to Jesus, her creator instead condoning the sins of a sinning and unrepentful man!

I fell asleep after a while of getting back to bed and had these revelations:

- I am having a single tikki, but then I see a bigger plate carrying a full serving of the snack, and apparently, I am supposed to eat it.
- I stand near the kitchen space of my room and it's dark with just the surrounding area of the kitchen lit with yellow light in the manner a candle or a lamp lights up a place in a localized manner. Apparently, I have just finished talking about something. The vision then shifts to my right into the area of the room and I now see my foldable bed placed right in front of me and apparently, there are two foldable beds placed perpendicular to the wall adjoining the kitchen space and I see the upper half of bald Amir Khan with tiny spiky hair come floating from that almost dark direction towards the kitchen space as he says in a quiet and serious tone: Tum bhi to gareeb ho! And continues walking through the kitchen space to the balcony area where he stands in a thoughtful way with both hands spread on the wall.
- I am not chatting with Smriti Irani on chat, perhaps WhatsApp, while she is on her way to someplace as she sits in the backseat of her car dressed in a saree. Apparently, I know her very well, and she's sending me quite heartwarming messages, sweet-sounding messages that carry a healing and warm tone, and show her elderly love for me as a person. It seems to be dark outside while she's chatting on her phone with me.

- The scene is followed by a girl being driven in a car to some place by her mom and a driver, where the girl's mom doesn't seem to have good intentions as she talks rudely to her. Apparently, they're on their way to get rid of the girl. They're planning on an accident. I now see the top-view of the empty concrete road the car is treading through with the surrounding area resembling a wilderness. The speed of the car keeps getting higher and higher as the top-view of the road is moving backwards with a higher and higher speed. It seems that the lady and the driver are going to jump off and leave the girl alone in the car for her to face an accident, but then I, as the watcher of the dream, am also waiting for the girl to jump out of the running car before it acquires too great a speed. But I don't see any of them jumping off as the car speeds up more and more on the empty concrete road. Now the view is seen parallel to the road and it looks like that it has reached the end. While the car speeds, these lyrics start playing in my Spirit:
  Koi kya jaane kaha hai seema..
  Jana hai sagar paar..

  I am anticipating the car to end up into water the way it does in the song 'Everything I Wanted' by Billie Eilish in which she keeps driving and speeding up and drowns their car into the ocean, for the lyrics and the way it's moving subconsciously makes me think of an imminent water body because of the song. After the car crosses the perceived boundary of the road, revealed is indeed an ocean as seen from the top and the car is about to enter into the deep waters, and I can see that I will have to be ready to float over the waters as the car drowns, following which the parallel front view of the ocean is shown which shows a sharp boundary of land separating the water which extends far ahead to a great distance with the view ending with a wide mountain island visible in sight. I can see that I will have to try to reach there after my car is drowned though I am observing the situation from outside. So, as the car drowns, I prep up by taking a jump in the air and now I am ready to float above the waters towards the island, but as I make the preparatory pose above the ocean, I see myself being back into my room with green light and I am now performing rope ballet dance in the air with visible rope as I move from one end of the room to the other. I keep sweeping to and fro through the air with that pose of balancing myself on a rope though there's no rope. I lose momentum as I take more swings around the room, and when my momentum has gone down to an appreciable amount and I can see that I will be landing on the floor soon, I make a slide through the air through the kitchen to the balcony and back, and try to gain more momentum by pushing against the two walls of the room (wall with Psalm 34:4-5 bible verse and the one opposite to it with the door) as I hit them every time I reach them. I have begun to gain some momentum now, and now land on the wall beside the door's opening. I land on my back as I seem to be adhered to the wall with my hands and feet like Spiderman does with his body facing away from the wall and his hands and feet resting backwards on it. I begin moving upwards in that same pose like spiderman, and while I do so, I hear these sounds of a guy coming from the ceiling. But I continue moving upwards on the wall for some reason, and when I have reached the top, I now see the front view of me stuck to the wall as a third person with a tiny avatar of The Beast from the movie Kungfu Hustle, dressed in sporty clothes stuck around the joining line of the ceiling and the vertical wall, in the same manner as me, to my right. As I reach the top and see this view as a third person, I abruptly lose my adhesive power and see the top-view of me dressed in a brown dress polka-dotted thicky in dark brown, with shoulder length, open frizzy hair, as I fall down landing straight on the bed on my back with a thud. I get up and try to perform the ballet moves again, but apparently, I'm spent now.

The Guy sings:
Jo maine tumhe dekha.. Jo maine tumhe chaha..
Jo hosh tha vo kho gaya..

The above lines played in my Spirit after I completed writing the previous para and they've played in my Spirit several times previously as well, like the following lyrics keep playing intermittently in my Spirit.

The Guy sings:
Tu meri hai prem ki bhasha..
Likhta hu tujhe roj zara sa..

- After the dream, I see this vision of the face of Subha - my friend from BSc who also was once my lab partner, her full name being Kshetriyamaiyum Subha Devi that she wrote as K. Subha Devi. In the vision, her face is shown to be present at the right side of the vision as she's speaking something accompanied by her eating small conical meat slices of about 3-4 cms in length with a pink top surface one after the other as she is saying something to the viewer. She looks dusky with a round face and wears a pink lipstick in this dream-vision and has straight hair that was also the way her hair naturally were.
- The vision now shows her lying inside a metallic depression of the size of her body dressed in natural oceanic objects - huge pink shells around her breast with a long skirt made of green sea weeds.
  She was a north-eastern girl and was quite good natured and we went together quite well. When I went to visit her PG for some purpose, perhaps I had to pick up my notes or lab file, I don't recall exactly the reason I visited her but I had gone to her place for some academic purpose, while she was walking me to her PG, she insisted and bought me a packet of chips to eat together. I don't know.. Even the way she talked reflected her love and compassion towards me. She was a jolly empathetic person and the entire north-eastern group seemed to like me well besides one girl whom I didn't interact much with. Now that I thought about after long, many years since the BSc days, I just recalled that she often used to tell me that if I was a guy, girls would've been flat on me gesturing with her hand as she moved her palm facing downwards horizontally while saying in an elongated tone: Flaaaaaat…. She often made that comparison and I used to ignore it and found it too funny. I used to keep short hair back then, a veg cut, and I didn't like long hair. They somehow seemed foolish to me because they served no purpose, and I didn't like long hair on others either because even on them, they didn't serve any purpose but were just a useless extension. Now that I look at my present self, I see the ways my mind has become biased according to cultural or gender perceptions or preferences, while previously I had a very rational mind. But I find it good that though I may have adopted some biased ways of looking at things, I am aware of those biases present in my mind and can set them aside when I don’t need to use them.
- The face until neck of Death Conqueror with a blob of rough and frizzy hair above his head and two slim arrows going through his head in a crossed manner making a horizontal 'X' as he looks at the viewer in an open surrounding with the weather resembling that of a dusty evening, as he holds his ears and starts doing sit-ups.

I was now almost fully awake and was recalling my revelations to keep a record to make a note in my Notebook, and when I recalled the revelation of Amir Khan saying in a serious tone: Tum bhi to gareeb ho!, I saw the following follow-up vision.

- The top-view of Amir Khan standing in a room giving autographs to who resemble little street children as rows of beige sacks lie stacked one on top of the other along the wall behind him.

Well, in my walk with God by far, I saw how some people only added ungodliness and pushed their degraded way of thinking into my life through various channels. I saw how I progressed ahead in knowing God more as I read His word and received revelations, and how these people, like fools who don't have anything better in their lives to do, uttered meaningless stuff out of their sick and vain minds. They pollute my life, which would otherwise have been perfect now that I have the company of God Himself.

Jaane kaha gaye vo din..
Kehte the teri yaad mein.. Nazro ko hum bichayenge..
Chahe kahi bhi tum raho.. Chahenge tumko umar bhar
Tumko na bhool payenge..

Well, after I woke up, I freshened up a bit and went outside to buy a full Tikki as I had seen in my dream vision, and I was also getting a nudge to buy a small Mirinda. When I was at the Tikki stall, the guy asked me if I had paid for the Panipuris I ate yesterday. I remembered to some extent that I had indeed paid and in the beginning itself. But he was insisting that his wife told him that I didn't pay, which made me think a bit and I thought perhaps I didn't indeed pay. So I extended to him the small amount which he didn't take though his expression changed a bit. I then recalled Amir Khan's statement from the dream: Tum Bhi to Gareeb Ho! And somehow it was related to that situation. It went both ways. I thought if he wasn't sure about him receiving the payment, I could make it so they would be at peace for his wife may have forgotten, though I kept some space in my mind for the possibility of me actually forgetting to make the payment, though I was sure to a great extent that I did. Tum Bhi to Gareeb Ho corresponded to me making a second payment to him and also to the situation where he didn't accept it and the statement made by Amir Kahn then turned on me that I too was poor.

Well, Meera seemed so rich to me because of who she was. She was such a good company. God forbid that I become rich and become prideful of it and a sinner like Death Conqueror! Better to be poor and live right! All the good people whom I met, regardless of whether they were relatively richer or poorer resonated with me in the same manner!

Psalm 37:16
Contemporary English Version
16 It is better to live right and be poor than to be sinful and rich.

From < https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Psalm%2037%3A16&version=CEV>

I want righteous and smart people around me, smart in the sense that they're sensible in a godly sense, and don't behave like fools referred to in the proverbs. Only a fool would want to be rich like Death Conqueror and live in the way he does, betraying God and disrespecting His statutes. Like attracts Like. Sensible, smart and godly people are attracted to wisdom. And my monetary status doesn't seem to matter to me because it keeps me mentally reliant on God and keeps me from being reliant on the self and being filled with conceit like some people. I like to work hard and live godly, and develop mentally, and now developing spiritually in God has been added to my goals as well. This state of not being abundant teaches one many wise things.

Page 558

09 October 2023
02:59

Past Revelations

- (Past week): The view of the door in front of mine as a small white dog sneaks out of the door from above the stairs inside and leaves to the left into the corridor.

11:55

- (Past 24 hours) A small-framed vision of an opened book with off-white pages in the shape of a love heart.
- (Past 36 hours) When I was done washing clothes yesterday, and was wiping off the washroom's floor at the end, I saw: Dushman dressed in an orange Saree with its drape running over his head carrying his usual apathetic psychopathic look as he looked at me and danced in a weird way on the song: Mein to aarti utaaru re.. Santoshi mata ki..

- (Past two days) The front view of my black hair clutch with colorful radium print opening and closing.
- (Past two days) The side view of a Laung without its head and with its base spread wide open.
- (Past three to four days) Death Conqueror in a servant suit of light blue shirt tucked inside blue pants does a gentle duet with me as he smiles. (hard to believe!).
  I had the following vision repeat when I was lying on the floor in green light a few days back.
- (Past three to four days) The face of Death Conqueror until his neck with the skyblue collar of his shirt visible comes at me severing away my lips that he takes away above. The vision repeats a few times.

I heard this phrase repeated strongly in my spirit last night when I was making calls to my mom and my dad when my mom stopped responding after they got in an apparent fight: Maar dala… Maar dala.. But when my dad finally picked up, everything seemed to be fine. I had asked our neighbour Kanta who stays on the 9th floor in 903 above us to go take a look in our apartment and ring the bell, but I guess she didn't. But she instead called my mom later.

I happen to feel itchy around my throat so I begin itching while being in sleep itself but at the same time I hear something being said in my Spirit. This certain sentence ends with the word 'world' written in black on a beige surface and as I hear it I find myself poking a finger at the side of my throat after waking up from the dream-vision in which I was poking the word world with my finger written on the beige surface. The continuous itching and this world revelation wakes me up and then I see Jesus on the bed as He is now communicating to me to sleep on the bed now. So I use the washroom and do so. When I lay down to sleep, I series a fleshly revelations begin with a face flashing itself intermittently, but I ignore it. The revelations are later accompanied by the words 'beauty', and 'beautiful' being said out in the Spirit. Somewhere in the middle of these revelations, I see flashes of a tall, naked and muscular dark green reptilian being who is lying on top of me. And then I also see the top-view of a pair of hands massaging my back, the hands then changing to that of the green reptilian being. Somewhere in the middle of the revelations, I saw a vision of two hands trying to lift up the bottom elastic of my bra, which made me think if the spy cams were trying to do that. I felt glad that I at least wore a lingerie.

You see, these revelations, reveal things about the hearts and thoughts of others, and have nothing to do with me. The one time that I recall that can be attributed to me is this time that I lay on the floor in rest and was now ready to commune with Jesus when I immediately saw: Jesus in a full-white tunic with a red drape on top of me with an inverted genitalia as He looked at me with a serious expression of readiness. How great it is that one thinks of communing with God and He gives you an immediate vision implying that He indeed is vigilant of your thoughts.

Dream (Morning):

I am inside my room and my mom is outside, and apparently, she wants to get in. She's carrying a resentful look and aura around her. It's dark in my room. Perhaps it's night. I let her in and I'm not really sure how she's going to behave, but she seems to behave just fine as we talk for a while. She turns away from me and then I hear the sound of a bullet shot as I look ahead of her in the dark in the huge distance ahead, and as she freezes at her place at the sound of the bullet after which I wake up for a brief time. It seems that someone shot at her from that great distance in the night, and though we were in my room prior to the bullet shot, the view ahead is that of a dark and open night field.

I am now in what looks like a ship that moving ahead with the view of a road in the front to its one side while the other side being covered with painted cement walls as the ship carries the look of a wide building. It's raining heavily outside as the ship moves ahead and a certain guy keeps showing up in front of me with a ring in its case as he sits with it opened. Apparently, I know that guy and we've been together for a while. I move from one scene to another, from the ship to an open road, and still that guy keeps coming with an open case of a ring in front of me. Even when I'm in a what looks like a cloth shop, that guy appears again, and whenever he appears, we spend some time together after which he leaves.

Saare jahan mein tujh sa koi nahin..
Tujhko chhod koi Prabhu hai hi nahi..
Ghutne mein teku bas tere samne..
Tu hai mera Prabhu, tu mera pita..

Halle.. Halleluyah.. Halleluyah.. Hallelu..
Halle.. Halleluyah.. Halleluyah.. Hallelu..

Well, though I have shares some parts of my personal walk with God, I will now keep those revelations to myself or only reveal them as God leads me. Jesus sets an e.g. as He gave me the vision of Him sitting on the ground with a bouquet of colorful flowers in His hands and how He takes care of His bride and thinks of her well-being, while appreciating her skills as He gave me some reflected revelations that needed me to use some mental prowess.

Saare jahan mein tujh sa koi nahin..
Tujhko chhod koi Prabhu hai hi nahi..

These lines have been repeating in my Spirit intermittently for the past hour or so.

Revelations while resting:

- Two white sacks filled with some kind of powdered substance rest together against a wall.
- The face of the bald music teacher of Ek Chatur Naar nods his head vertically with the background of the wall of a room dimly-lit with daylight.
- Jesus is dancing alone in the centre of the room.
- The bearded face of Abhishek Bachchan as he looks at the viewer and wears a brown cowboy hat on his head, turns his back towards the viewer and as he's floating away from the viewer in a dark background, his pants fall down by themselves.
- I hear the lyrics:
  Mehbooba mehbooba hosh udaye mehbooba
  Mehbooba mehbooba chain churaye mehbooba
  Tu hai meri mehbooba, ye dil ye deewana tera mehbooba..
  Mehbooba mehbooba, ye dil ye tera mehbooba.
- The following lyrics play afterwards in my Spirit:
  Meri aankhon ne, meri saanso ne
  Mere hothon ne, meri baaton ne
  Is mehfil ki har dhadkan ka dil loota..
- followed by the vision of a dusky Urmila Matondkar from the song Mehbooba Mehbooba dressed in her stoned orange dress moving upwards as she holds a rope with a leg bent about it and holding it tightly. She continues moving upwards in the dark background of a high-ceiling room with black rocky walls and then a genitalia trunk hits her forehead.
- I see a clean-shaven Bobby Deol dressed in a zipped up, loose, plain and black track-suit with a neck-high t-shirt inside as he puts on a black cap on his head standing in a dark shiny background. This revelation makes my rest time, as it's so holy, and I get up from my bed with a Wow.. . This slot of revelatory rest was so much better.

Before going to rest, I saw how with a lack of a fleshly mind, things were perceived with a very high-quality perception: the one that I was used to. That way of perceiving things seemed so heavenly. I kept my fleshly aspect for a committed bond and for fornication to be thrown out to dogs or pigs, because recall Matthew 7:6 (NIV): "Do not give dogs what is sacred; do not throw your pearls to pigs. If you do, they may trample them under their feet, and turn and tear you to pieces.

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Matthew%207:6&version=NIV>

The following recent video by Brother Wally goes along with some of the visions I received that I found to be intermittently scattered in the initial parts of the video. For instance: the chessboard path vision.

Video on Brother Wally's Channel (Revelations of Jesus Christ) on YouTube:
the WAR between TWO LIGHTS (END DAYS WARNING) - YouTube

This particular dress of the heroine (Karina Kapoor) from this song has been highlighted to me a few times since yesterday, for I happen to be dressed in a similar Black and white dress that I wore because of a dream.

Full Video: Yeh Ishq Hai | Jab We Met | Kareena Kapoor, Shahid Kapoor | Pritam | Shreya Ghoshal

Also, the following lyrics from the song have been being highlighted in my Spirit since morning.
The Lady sings:
Tode maine saare ye bandhan jamane tere!
Todungi na mein waada..

Anyway. I will now do a livestream talking about the first time I happened to watch Jesus on TV, and the prophetic journey afterwards. I didn't talk about this in my previous video.

Well, I happened to open this video that I came across on my YT homepage, out of plain curiosity! I felt nudged to open it and then I came across this info about this green-eyed monster that I saw last night when I lay on bed to sleep, the naked and muscular green reptilian being that was attacking me!

The video made me think: Wow! Such a great timing! This green monster exactly captured the traits of the narcissistic Death conqueror who is so revengeful, envious, greedy and dissatisfied despite everything he has! I am so glad I opened this video before going live. I think I received that vision as a confirmation marker corresponding to this video.

5 Demonic Spirits Behind Narcissism

Also, you may check out this awesome song by Brother Andrew and others capturing the reality of earthly humanity and world-system and the role of God.

This World's Coming to an End

The live that I did today on my YouTube channel The Secret Place in which I talked about my early life spiritual experiences:

Live from Vijay Nagar, Double Storey, New Delhi, India (Jesus on TV and the Succeeding Revelations)

I also noticed again how the name of my ministry/book The Secret Place Revelations complemented my situation. Though I have no privacy, I receive these revelations in my private time alone with God in The Secret Place despite everyone watching me.

Page 559.

10 October 2023
06:03

Past Revelations

It was the evening that I wore my green dress as was pointed to by Jesus when I saw:

- The upper half of Dushman resting against a wall as he looks at the viewer and says making gestures with his hands to the people present beside him not visible in the vision: Isko leke aao re! Leke aao re isko!
- A very fat lady in a Saree with her hair tied at the back stands facing the viewer with another lady standing facing her at a distance of about 1.5-2 meters with her back towards the viewer as she holds a fat baby in a thick diaper around its shoulders extending him out with stretched forearms in front of the fat lady, as the fat lady makes a gesture as if she's about to eat the cute fat baby with its fat body hanging vertically in the air.
- I walk by Dinesh Store in the morning, away from it on the other side of the road and as I walk past it, I get an internal blast that sets me ablaze alive, and the shopkeeper(s) present inside the shop witness the brutal event.
- A naked Ali Fazal lies on my bed on top of a person as I see the vision from a distance of 3-4 meters as a third person.
- (Past few days) The back-view of me sitting on a chair swing as it swings high to and fro through the kitchen space. This was such a great revelation.
- (Past week) The front-view of a row of many cloth hanging ropes one in front of the other, tied at around the same level, on the right side of the door of the roof of this building, as they move vertically. The vision then shifts to its left side where in reality only one rope is present, but in the vision is shown many ropes tied in the same manner as the previous vision, but this time on the front rope is hanging my strapless beige bra as the ropes all vertically oscillate together.
- (Past week) A naked Ayushmann Khurrana nails me on the wall with the Psalm 34:4-5 verse as he is indulging in intercourse while standing as he moves his ass to and fro.

Revelations last night before sleeping:

- Urmila Matondkar from the song Mehbooba Mehbooba in the air on a rope in a posture with a bent knee as she is holding it and has balanced herself on it, as seen from a level below but at some distance away from her front, while a short fluffed guy of about 3 feet height dressed in a skyblue shirt tucked inside pants, with an ass bulging through the pants as he clings to her upper body looking at her. He then changes to a monkey dressed in the same clothes.

The lady sings:
Husn mera katilana khauf se tere..
This certain line has played in my Spirit several times previously (though this is not how I think.)
Mehbooba Mehbooba (Full Song) | Ram Gopal Verma Ki Aag

- The face of Abha Ma'am (Abha Dev Habib who taught us Mathematical Physics in Miranda House), in my right mental view as she walks by in the forward direction with short hair, lowered eyes, and long leafy metallic earrings in her ears as she says: I'm Sorry! The act of her saying Sorry repeats a few times.

  I woke up quite early today and then heard these Hindi song lyrics in my Spirit after a while.
- The Guy sings:
  Teri meri galla hogi mashhoor.. Karna kabhi tu mujhe nazroo se door..
  It repeats several times in my Spirit.

  As I keep lying in bed feeling uneasy as I am itching at the back, I also keep seeing a vision of
- Tea with my leftover Parle-G biscuits in the air in front of my mouth as with the face of Jesus beside them. It seemed that He was nudging to have them.

  I continue lying for a while and after a while, these lyrics from this song that had played in my Spirit in the morning a few days back get highlighted in my mind again.
- The Guy sings:
  Tu.. kab ye jaanegi. Tu.. Kab ye maanegi.
  Tu.. Tu hai jaanejana.. Tu.. Meri Mehbooba..
  Socha nahi socha.. Tune kabhi..
  Socha nahi socha.. Tune kabhi Dilruba! Hey!

  Ae dilruba kitna hasi mela.. Mele bein bhi, ye dil hai akela..
  Duniya jaane.. Najane aaj yaha..
  Par tujhko pata.. Tu hi meri laila..!
  Mere dil mein bas tu hai, ye tune na jana!
  Mein hu aashiq tera aashiq, ye tune na mana!
  Sharmati bhalkhati, tu kitna tadpati..
  Phir bhi tu, mere dil ko, kyu itni hai bhaati..!

  Tu.. kab ye jaanegi. Tu.. Kab ye maanegi.
  Tu.. Tu hai jaanejana.. Tu.. Meri Mehbooba..
  Socha nahi socha.. Tune kabhi..
  Socha nahi socha.. Tune kabhi Dilruba! Hey!

  TU KAB YE JANEGi (sonu nigam)

And as I was beginning to write the above song, I heard in my Spirit:
Masih Nidhaal soedaar chalte dekha hai..
Bhadakti aag mein ek phool jate dekha hai..

This reminds me of the previous vision that had Glory with neck-length hair in a black tunic with golden embroidery shouting at what he was witnessing with his upper half bent backwards with a terrified expression on his face.

Well, I used to watch the above 'Tu' song by Sonu Nigam often during 2019 when I was staying in Veera PG (E-7, Vijay Nagar, Single Storey) as I liked the melody, the rhythm, and the dance steps. And I liked it so much that I would watch it many times in a row as I liked Sonu Nigam's dance steps.

Sonu Nigam makes the prophetic symbol and also in this part of the song, he's dressed in red & white (white shirt untucked over red pants) which is further confirmation of him being called by God.

I get up and make tea, and while making tea, I hear the following song lyrics:
The Guy sings:
Teri jhuki nazar, teri har ada, mujhe keh rahi hai ye dastaan..
Ke koi shaksh hai jo ki in dino tere jehno dil pe hai cha gya..

Pritam, Shafqat Amanat Ali - Teri Jhuki Nazar (From "Murder 3")

Well, the lyrics playing in my Spirit make me think about where else was I supposed to look when I was making tea which was at a level below me.

Anyway. Randeep Hooda makes the prophetic symbol as well in the thumbnail above, and perhaps he has already been birthed like few others in a spiritual sense in the kingdom of god. Who knows. But he should become a part of His kingdom at some point in his life, like others who are called by Him and are birthed through me. Let me do a gesture of a worshipping namaste as well to him and others about whom I received Worshipping Namaste revelations, though the gesture doesn't and shouldn't surpass my and their worship of God.

I have my tea with the Parle-G biscuits while sitting on the floor with outstretched legs, after which I see

- Jesus standing to my right and pointing me to the Laptop to record the recent revelations. This is the kind of guidance I want from Him. The lady sings: Chalu uthu ishaare pe..
  You see He is God and it feels good to obey God because that's what we're supposed to do being His creation.

The Guy sings:
Chamakte chaand ko toota hua, tara bana dala..
Meri awaargi ne mujhko awara bana dala..

And after putting my mug into the kitchen sink, when I am walking towards the chair, I see

- A vision of Jesus behind my chair pressing my shoulders to relax and give me some rest. So I quickly sit on the chair and as I see Him giving me rest, I envision kissing His hands on my shoulders.

~15:50
Past Revelations

- (Yesterday) I was perhaps making tea in the narrow kitchen space when I saw SI Aakash, dressed in a checkered red and white shirt untucked over black pants standing in an upright manner near the bed and looking in my direction with two red love hearts in front of his eyes. The vision repeated a few times during the day in all the cases of which I saw him standing at the same spot (at a good distance of about 4-5 meters) and look in my direction with red love hearts in front of his eyes.
- Jesus pulls me down on the floor from behind leading to the back of my head hitting the floor though I don't seem to get hurt, but after He does so, He gets on top of me and gives me rest.
- (Past few days) 'Kartika tumhe sab yaad rakhenge!.. Tumhe sab yaad rakhenge…!'

I woke up quite early today and recorded the revelations that I had from the night above. Afterwards, I felt like resting again and had a series of revelations.

- When I lay on bed, I heard the following lyrics play in my Spirit.
  The Guy sings:
  Tu hai mera, Mein hu meri - Kabhi mujhse keh dena..
  Ek pal bhi bin tere, Ab mushkil hai rehna..
  Tu.. kab ye jaanegi. Tu.. Kab ye maanegi.

Tu.. Tu hai jaanejana.. Tu.. Meri Mehbooba..

- I then have some revelations with KA and fall asleep gradually when I have the following dream.

Dream 1:

In this dream, I find myself with Akhila in room D1 on A-16 with the two beds joined and the wardrobes missing from the room giving it a spacious look. She is dressed in her pink and white casual top and shorts that I saw her usually wear at home. The viewing me doesn't know what I am doing there. That's not where I want to be and I can already feel uneasiness inside me in her presence as I know she is unreliable and unpredictable for she can say any nonsensical, insensible, and hurtful thing at any moment of time. Being with her is like being in a dangerous territory and I don't want to be with an abuser like her or her friends! I see that she's sitting on the floor with her legs crossed in front of the center table placed along the wall between the room's and the balcony door, and she's reading a booklet held in her hands. The floor is supposedly too clean. After a while, she's on a video call with someone with her phone placed vertically in front of her on the floor at some distance from her, and she's has her eyes lowered to the phone as she is talking to that person. While she's doing so, I go back to what I was doing: washing my mug standing in front of the kitchen sink of this new room I've shifted to, and I notice that while I am washing it with my hand inside it with the water running, I too have my eyes closed. But my eyes are closed because I feel relaxed with closed eyes and I didn't see the need the open them while rubbing clean the mug's inside. She is not speaking in the usual bloated way that she does in a loud and domineering voice, but instead in a soft voice with a humble undertone and not an authoritative and domineering one. She seems to be talking in a sensible way and I find it hard to believe this aspect of her personality. It doesn't even seem real to the observing me and I am wondering if she's acting in front of me as did all the time! I was so fed up with living with a real-life actor who always hid stuff and said things in a deceptive manner when I lived with her! She's now lying in her bed with her phone held in her hands in front of her. It seems she's on a video call. And I observe the beds. The two beds are joined into a double bed which is covered by a light purple faded bedsheet printed in green and other colors. It's the one that's there in my home. I observe that the bedsheet is faded at places but is well-spread. The next scene flashes her lying on her side facing away from my side inside a plain off-white sheet with her phone still held in her hands in front of her. I don't want to be in the room and want to go back to 9/31 (my present residence). I don't know why I've dropped in that room. It seems I went there from my current place for a reason unknown to me in the dream. I am not liking the sight of her because of all that has happened in the past, and neither do I want to be there and am planning to leave the room as soon as possible as I intend to take my stuff lying there and leave.

There's a break now in the dream and the next scene shows her showing me a black surface with the shape of the mirror image of 6 embossed on it in solid silver, with the solid (and not hollow) circle at the bottom too huge compared to the top curve, and she's asking me what the figure is. Well, I know that she thinks in sexual terms even in casual interactions and I can tell that she's referring to the shape of the horizontally inverted 6 being in resemblance to that of a breast, though I don't mention it. I now see that both of us are lying together on the joined beds with her to my right as she shows me her right forefinger's nail, and apparently, there's this pale circular area in its centre with a dot inside and it seems to be lacking blood. Now she superimposes a red flat translucent surface with a circular shape with a dot in the middle and on her forefinger and says that a clot of blood inside one's body is also called a breast. Apparently, that circular paleness on her nail is because she received a hit on it leading to a blood clot inside, and now she's asking me to call the clot of blood a breast while laughing mildly with a fun countenance as if it's something funny, but I refuse. I tell her a no with a horizontal nod and say, "I will call it a clot." I now begin moving away but her face approaches me. I continue moving away, but she gets a hold of me and is making mouth movements as if she wants to kiss me while she's coming at me which makes me burst out in mild laughter as I resist and move away following which I wake up laughing as I say "What's she doing here!?" Well, the revelation reveals the only common grounds on which we could exist together in harmony where she's much more sensible and internally (not externally) humble which also reflects in the way she talks. It also shows how she would need to give a scientific turn to the immoral jokes she is used to making, and even then I won't like them! So difficult it is to find common grounds to exist together. She would have to really humble and sensible and not gossip and say hurtful things for no reason if she were to coexist with me. And then I didn't like the immoral joke either that she made! I think the dream reflected the best version she was capable of being in to coexist with me in harmony! I don't even want to stand beside her and listen to what she or others like her have to say! I find it sickening to listen to indirect talk!

Additionally, this dream made me recall the time that we were staying together with our beds joined with the center table in front of our beds with our wardrobes on either side.

- I wake up with a statement said by a lady's voice with the word Raniganj repeating in my Spirit. It repeats for a while and I don't record it but keep lying as I am too fatigued and I fall asleep again after a while and have this dream.

Dream 2:

In this dream, I found some relief as my dark and moustached dad dressed in a grey suit and wearing a cap was present in the room D1 of A-16, and he told me that he was taking Akhila away from me with him and shifting her to a different place. Also, in this dream, I told him how I had been eating his omelettes in response to which he told me that he had no problems in eating Akhila's apples that laid on her bed's side table near the washroom, and he seemed to say it in a mocking tone as he looked at me, took an apple from the heap and took a bite. He said in a mocking tone: To mujhe uske apples khaane mein koi dikkat thodi na hai! I also saw that our beds were no longer joined but were separated with her wardrobe in the middle that she was emptying as she packed her bags and she wasn't looking at me or talking to me as packed her stuff with her back towards me. I see that he's helping her get her stuff out of the wardrobe separating the two beds. She comes in the middle and stands near her wardrobe facing to the right to get the rest of her stuff out and I notice her attire as her side-view is visible to me. She's wearing a shoulder-less skinny pale grey dress with a floral print beginning to cover her right above her breasts with its back stitched in a deep V style.

The dream then shifts to the new place she has been shifted as the vision moves through a long corridor and stops at the end of it with a room present on its right with one more room ahead of it. The corridor looks white clean, and as the viewer enters the room, one finds it white clean as well. There is a double bed against the white wall right in front of the room's door with a white wardrobe to its right and the door to the washroom at the end of the wall with the wardrobe. The room looks quite tidy and clean and everything is shown as being white. I see Akhila fully dressed in multilayered clothes with her long hair let loose walking in that room.

After a while, I move out of the room and on my way out of the corridor, I find out that I'm actually together with two more women though I am not living with them in a direct manner. I get to know so as I see Akhila still around for why is her new white place being shown to me!? And this one more girl who's not as crooked as Akhila but I see her around. I move around a bit, and find myself on the roof of our rented apartment in Rugha Saini's home back in my hometown. And then as I am moving forward, I see Death Conqueror sitting in the open on a low-level surface dressed in a closed black suit with a white shirt inside with a tie, and he is sitting there as if he's waiting to be served. Additionally, he's an emanating an aura that makes it look like he's someone big and knows a lot though that's not how he is supposed to be perceived because of his actions! In the dream, I can sense that it's a situation I will most probably be unable to escape as I sense that the possibility of me actually having to serve the wicked man posing as someone righteous could come to pass. And then I can also see that I'm already a part of the 'trio' and it's not how I want to be ideally and I feel too helpless about it! I quickly move away from the entire scene and move around a bit. I don't go around the place I saw or know I could see Death Conqueror, but I walk up to a white Police Van in my sight and hide behind it. The middle-aged Policemen inside seem somewhat friendly as I briefly interact with them and feel safe for a while. I go back to the last second room in the corridor and find that it's empty. Apparently, Akhila left. The following dream-vision has a girl who lives in one of the apartments along the corridor walking with me and one more girl. She seems friendly, and shows us her apartment which looks like a narrow, dark dungeon as it's dimly lit and has metallic fittings as one looks through. And the first thing one comes across as she opens the gate to her apartment is a huge square grilled metallic structure of about 1 meter dimension on the floor on the left side of the apartment with a guttery base about a feet below. Apparently, that's her toilet. I look ahead into her apartment and find that the toilet grill is its most prominent part. She wants to invite us in but she would need to clean up. She uses a broom with hard wooden sticks to clean the wide metallic grills. She is aiming to remove a part of goop stuck on top of the grill. Her open toilet seems too unique to me but it looks very unhygienic as well because: look at the wide guttery surface below the grills! As she has scraped cleaned the surface of the grills with her broom, she is now looking forward to invite us in, and this's when the dream ends.

I woke up with this line said by a person in Hindi in my Spirit that said that (s)he found a Yogi on the way.

21:52

I was resting a minute back on the floor when I saw:

- Aishwarya Rai dressed in my fitting green dress standing with one leg in front of other as she moves the right side of her lose hair partitioned in the middle at the back. Ma'am Aishwarya Rai is called by my name as well. This revelation so made my late evening, and I got up with high vigour.

I'm so glad that I didn't have many fleshly revelations because you see, though I know that I am capable of not sinning despite seeing a sinful situation, but I am not infallible as I am not God. So, if I continuously keep seeing the fleshly revelations, though I may not sin, I feel mentally exhausted because I know that this is not what I want to keep seeing or come across. I want to read God's word and transform my brain according to it instead of watching the fleshly revelations. But to know that at the end when I get to heaven, I would find some of those people there or they would join me there with God in their bodies, the fleshly part of the fleshly revelations cease to matter. Flesh is but a prison for the spirit, an illusion, a part of devil's game to assimilate God's angels into His kingdom. Jonathan explains it so well. He's my favourite servant of the Lord. He's so genuine and he says what he means, and he doesn't call good evil and evil good. As the end times approach, people get worse and worse at even basic common sense.

Revelations during my rest on the floor a few hours back in the evening:
I was perhaps making tea when this song started playing in my Spirit.
The Guy sings:
Mohabbat kabhi maine ki to nhi thi..
Kisi ki nigaaho se pee to nhi thi..
Magar ye achanak hua kya…

The chorus of the above Sonu Nigam song keeps playing in my Spirit for a long time even until after I lie down on the floor to rest. Whenever I feel like I need rest, I lie down, and then this late evening God cheered me up by representing me as Aishwarya Rai.

Anyway.

- The revelatory flow begins by the front view of a horizontally erected male genitalia as it moved around its position like a wave. It then takes the form of a beige object with a curved top surface which is entering into something as seen from a distance from inside the entrance. As the beige object keeps sliding in, it takes the form of a naked man who then stands erect on the left side of the vision. The man has a blob of frizzy hair on his head that’s sparsely covered with snow. He seems to be standing in a cold place, and his face is not too clearly visible. Additionally, his body is also a bit blurry and beige all over, so he doesn't look obscene. As the vision focuses more on the guy, his face transforms into a few faces and finally to Sonu Nigam.
- The upper half of a woman dressed in the black and white attire of Kareen Kapoor from the song Ye Ishq Hai, with a black round hat on her head, as she looks at the viewer smiling through her red lipstick.
- I also saw a distant vision of Jesus dressed in a full-white tunic with his red drape beating me with a stick as I lay on the floor saying that I was not to eat meals, and this gesture of Him in the vision makes a strong point. So I know that I should not be eating meals besides what He shows me, like the dinner that I had yesterday wasn't shown by Him but I had it by my own will.

Also, I've been hearing this intermittently since yesterday:
Rassi jal gayi par akad nahi gayi..

which doesn't make any sense to me because I'm the same person more or less in my moral conduct than I used to be some years back, and I've only gotten better in discerning the aspects of outer holiness that my brain was blind to previously. I didn't condone sin, I don't do it even now. I didn't like sinful and vain company or the company of those who are entirely worldly, those who didn't ask questions or ponder about the hidden unseen reality that is sensed with a static and focused mind, because in my moments of extreme concentration where I was not a part of the world, it was almost as if I had mentally come out of its systems, is when I felt this invisible thing silently speaking to me that I sensed was very real. If one stays distracted and immersed in the world at all times, and that's also what's the devil's game is as was sung by Brother Andrew in his recently released song video, one doesn't get to grow spiritually.

So, I don't really understand how the statement Rassi jal gayi par akad nahi gayi.. applies to me because as a child of God, I am not called to partake with sinners or bow down to them. I am called to walk on the golden path of God and call others to walk on it. Wisdom calls others to walk on God's golden path. We're called to hold on to the righteous path of God despite persecution and oppression. The verse would better fit a wicked person who even when he gets judged stays wicked instead of turning away from his sin! But the one who wants to walk on the perfect path of God as God makes known His will to them, his experience is better captured by the metaphor of refining of gold under fire! Because that's what God does by putting His people in difficult situations: He refines them and builds the needed character in them required to fulfil His purpose, or to let them go of their idols or their worldly life so they can live for Him and His purpose and look forward to their heavenly life.

You see, devil and his minions, his demon servants, they are the ones who are cast out of heaven and they roam around on Earth awaiting judgment in Hell and they know their fate, yet they continue in their rebellion. That's what's called Rassi jal gayi, par akad nahi gayi.. This verse goes along with how a wicked person retains his wicked character despite being judged for it, and not for a righteous person who stands for the right thing despite persecution and oppression. Psychopaths though they may get jailed or get punished for what they do, they don't get affected much, they still continue to carry that psychopathic attitude which very well goes along with the Hindi phrase that was being repeated in my Spirit.

This plays even now.
The Guy sings:
Mohabbat kabhi maine ki to nhi thi..
Kisi ki nigaaho se pee to nhi thi..
Magar ye achanak hua kya…

Ref: Mohabbat Kabhi Maine Ki To Nahi Thi | Yaad | Lyrical Video | Sonu Nigam

I realized that the face of the woman in the thumbnail of the video above resembles Akhila's so some extent in her face cut.

23:11
Within the past half an hour or so, I happened to come across a post suggesting on my browser's home page and I felt like opening it because of the heading. I watched a part of it and then got back to working. This vision has been repeating in my Spirit for the past 10-15 minutes.
Vision (past half an hour): The upper half of Richa Chadda dressed in her beautiful fluffed V-necked black dress looks at the viewer and says while crying: I'm sorry! I'm sorry!

This night I felt a strong nudge to have ample amount of Sweet Lassi and got sweet curd and a bottle of zero sugar Pepsi as well. I felt so full after having these things and I began to feel an aversion towards eating wholesome solid foods the way I had begun to feel when I was on a liquid diet. I felt glad to some extent for it meant that I was slipping into that same state that I was in before I went to home months back and began eating after which it became very hard for me to food fast again. And now after long, I felt that inner sense where my body was repelling solid foods and wanted to sustain only on liquids. I pray to Jesus to keep me in that state so I can fulfil the vision of a flat belly that I had in A-16. You see, God's ways are not our ways. For me, a flat belly doesn't mean anything when compared to a person's character. Tejaswi didn't have a flat belly. He was so wide and chubby. Though I always wanted to be fit but I didn't put it at the place of a person's character. But I know that I have to follow along how God leads me to. He transforms you according to His Will. He led the Israelites through different circumstances through the wilderness and had them fight battles because that's what they needed to do to possess their promised land. But in my case, the nature of the promise is different. It's a promise of a marriage. So He's leading me accordingly. But above all, it's God who made that promise to us, is who should be at the top of our priority. He should be out favourite of all and our guide.

I bought grams because He showed them to me in a few revelations. I have started feeling aversed to food again. I am glad I'm slipping into that state. It has been months since I food fasted for many days like I was doing before I began eating at home! And though I was not eating and only drinking, I felt light, content and great in a spiritual sense. And the past few months, that I spent eating, though I ate, I didn't feel as good and content as I felt when I was food fasting, though I couldn't stop eating either. I had my dinner yesterday as per my own will, and not because I was nudged by God. I didn't feel good after having dinner. And today also, though I kept having my own inner impulses to eat, I could see that no matter what I ate I was going to feel like eating more and something else after a while, because I was eating for the wrong reason. It was serving as a pleasing distraction which doesn't lead one to feeling content. It felt just like one of those habits or activities one indulges in that seems like it will bring relief and one feels like indulging more and more in it but it doesn't in the end. Now, this habit or activity that serves as that circular loop is different for different people.

Anyway. When I got my Lassi and chose not to have meal and had my Lassi, I saw:

- Jesus kissing me passionately. Now He is happy that I'm following along His Will.

It feels so good to not be reliant on food for one's strength but on God's Spirit as I was feeling when I was food fasting some months back but could still carry my daily chores without any lack of energy. When I went to home and saw how much people ate and drank there and they weren't even working as much as I was, I saw how dependent they were on physical food and how low in Spirit they were. And I became like them in their company because I didn't guard my heart, and then they kept bringing me drinks after every hour under the pretext that I wasn't having food! They project their own self on others!

I can recall how great and spirit-filled I felt when I fasted. I felt great! And going home hindered my food fasting though it didn’t hinder at all with the amount of revelations that I received as they only increased with time and I only grew closer to Jesus though I was eating, and He led me through the phase. He corrects me because He knows that I love Him don't want to leave Him and where else will I go beside Him because He is the one who created me and He is the path to go back to my home. And if I leave Him, I am doomed. Only a foolish person would want to leave their creator Father and be lost in the World.

Page 560.

11 October 2023
04:14

Revelations before falling asleep:

- The upper half of a bearded Keanu Reeves with neck-length hair in a white cotton t-shirt. I saw in this sentence that I had misspelled Reeves as Reaves which was being detected by the Word programme. I looked up the name of KR and found that his surname is indeed Reeves and not Reaves – what I used in my previous mentions of him. In all my mentions of KR as Keanu Reaves, I am referring to Keanu Reeves – the actor who played Neo.
- A huge upper half of Sunder Pichai in a black suit over a white shirt to my left near the door takes his red love heart out of his chest and presents it to me. The heart then changes to a red 2-D paper heart which he is holding out to me.
- Randeep Hooda takes out a huge flesh heart from inside his chest and comes at me to lie on me with it in between but then he retracts and stands against the wall with his huge 3-D red love flesh heart held tightly against his chest in his hands as he looks wary of putting out his heart of flesh at risk. So, he continues standing there looking at me with his heart of flesh held tightly in his hands. Well, humans are but a passing wildflower. So, when we are unsure about our putting our fleshly hearts at risk, we should give them to God and build a relationship with Him, and in His company, we learn to not be dismayed even when people betray us.
- A black SRK dressed in multilayered black clothes stands behind Kajol dressed in full-sleeved white tunic with a multi-coloured abstract print as they both stand in the pose of Titanic, with SRK looking like a demon. Kaajol is still standing with her eyes closed and hands stretched when SRK walks out in front of her without her noticing it, pulls out a gun and shoots the centre of her forehead. Who could this betrayer avatar of SRK represent here?.. I wonder.

Dream (Post Midnight):

I see the upper-halves of a beige woman with shoulder-length, slightly frizzy hair with a beige stubbled man with neck-length hair (apparently Jesus) standing in a forest as they're kissing and hugging each other. It seems they're a couple, a married one perhaps. It's now raining heavily in the forest, as a messenger friend of ours comes riding a horse in the direction of the viewer on a path made through the forest. Though the guy and the lady aren't shown in this scene, apparently, they are still together. The messenger friend on the horse was rushing to warn them of an invasion by the enemy. After a while of the messenger on the horse being out of the sight, a troop of enemy on horses comes riding from the same path through the forest. It's still raining. The following scene shows the upper halves until throats of Jesus and I lying on stubble lying on the ground in the forest as we are kissing each other. In this part, the hair of the lady are much shorter than the previous time that they were shown being together, and she's carrying a blunt hair cut until the middle of her neck, and the color of her hair is light purple. The vision now shows them standing as she wraps a faded dark blue towel around her naked body while standing in front of the guy who now has longer neck-length hair than her.

The following scene shows the enemy troop briefly settled at a place that has a flyover running horizontally above, and it's dark now. The enemy has gathered together to find the couple in love busy together somewhere in the forest but they've not been able to find them by far.

The following scene shows the upper half of a bald man with features resembling Glory's, dressed in a solid grey kimono suit, looking smiling at the viewer with hands folded together in front of his chest, as the view shifts between the smiling bald man and the side-view of the naked legs of the duo in love caressing each other as they sit on top of a square cement stool facing each other. Only their lower halves below their upper thighs are shown as they rub against each other's legs on that solid cement stool with the lady wearing white heels. The woman stands up and is about to sit on the erected genitalia of the man on the stool as the bald man in grey watches. The duo seem so in love as they're keeping staying immersed in each other despite the enemy's troops searching for them for no reason. They don't seem to be affected by the enemy's search for them.

The doorbell rings. I am now in my room sitting on my table in front of my laptop, working with lights off. I stand up because of the doorbell and see that it's quite late at night. I look in the direction of my bed placed in a position perpendicular to its current one and I see a doppelganger of Glory sitting there dressed in a brown waistcoat over full-sleeved off-white shirt tucked inside pants. He stands up and looks at me as we both are surprised at the doorbell. I tell him in a quiet tone that it's quite late at night signaling that the door shouldn't be opened. He gives me a sarcastic affirmative nod as his face changes to that of a doppelganger of RS with a wider fluffed face and he continues looking at me with those negative expressions. It seems as if he's finding it mean that I am making the point of not opening the door for it's too late and therefore unsafe to do so. I think of opening the wooden door while the lights are still off as I think that there's no harm in taking a look outside through the closed mesh door and as I am approaching the door and about to open it, the doppelganger moves in the direction of the switchboard of the room. I open the wooden door and see a ghostly, fat and bald 2-3 feet high short-heighted figure right outside the mesh door looking upwards at me through the lower mesh of the door. It scares me off as it's dark outside as well making the figure look even scarier and making me walk backwards inside the room near the wall with the Psalm 34:4-5 painting. The figure stills stands outside and slips inside like a shadow from below the mesh door and as it does so, somehow the mesh door that I thought was closed flings opens towards the inside of the room (while in the real life it opens on the outside). I see that the wicked figure is sliding on a wheelchair as it immediately comes sliding in my direction and gets a hold of me as it stands behind me, and then I feel an oppression as it has gotten hold of me now. There's another taller man that has come along with this dark ghostly figure and he's the one who's holding my arm. I am shouting looking in the direction where Glory's doppelganger had moved and telling him to turn on the lights but he's not doing so for some reason. I continue shouting to him to turn on the lights as this ghostly figure is preparing to hurt or kill me, but he's ignoring my calls! I continue shouting at the top of my voice but no response, and as I do so, I end up biting at the arm of the taller man who though has a hold of me is also inside a room which is a part of their transport spaceship right to my left with its lights turned on and he keeps peeking outside from a door in present there. Towards the end I manage to bite off a part of the flesh of the arm of that person and spit if off following which I am set free with the bald figure on wheelchair still behind me as I now look at the top-view of the scene and see myself walking away from the bald figure and this is when the dream ends. When I wake up, I wonder if my doorbell actually rang because I heard the sound so clearly in my dream.

Revelations post waking up:

- I see several RS revelations as he stands in the space to my left dressed in blue sporty clothes with a huge erected genitalia.
- He appears in different sporty attires with joyful expressions of excitement.

There are a few other revelations as well, but I wasn't in a position to record them all. They were all so quick as they flashed by in front of eyes.

As I am standing at the sink washing dishes, I hear the voice of an old lady resembling somewhat that of my grandma's saying: Tod di bilkul! Tod di bikul!

This song begins to play in my Spirit.

What A Beautiful Name - Hillsong Worship

What A Beautiful Name (Lyric Video) - Hillsong Worship

- A naked half of Glory stretching open a tissue tunnel with his hands tearing apart a part of it around its opening as he stretches it out. (The upper half of a crying naked Glory says: That's not me, Kartika. That's not me, Kartika.)
- Dushman digs a 2 to 3 feet square mud hole inside my room near its door with me standing a few meters away from him. The follow-up vision shows his own naked upper-half holding inside the hole as he holds on to the surface of it.
- A clean-shaven Keanu Reaves/Neo in a white shirt with two holes burst through his eyes as they reveal the burst red eye tissue inside his eye sockets.

- A scissor cuts through a vagina's tissue with one of its ends inside and other outside. Such a savage sight. The vision repeats a few times.
- A huge upper half of Jim Carrey as the green The Mask character runs scissors through the air towards the viewer in the green atmosphere of my room.
- The back-view of three ladies standing high on the stairs of the audience area with the centre lady putting her arms across the shoulders of the ones on her sides, as they all watch a game being played in the green field in front. While the lady in the centre is dressed in a fitting bridal white dress and is bald, the ones on the sides are dressed differently in dark clothes and have long hair.
- I am lying static on the floor but then I get this vision of the internal view of my groin with the lobes stretched away as only the clitoris is visible with a finger going to and fro on it. But I don't feel like doing so as I don’t wanna sin and neither am I thinking of any such a thing which makes me wonder if the revelation is about someone else though the view is that of my groin as I can clearly tell.
- The clitoris starts bleeding out from a place.
- The vision continues for a while and is accompanied by this vision that I see as a third person of a naked upper half of Akshay Kumar standing behind a naked lady as he squishes her breasts from behind.
- The follow-up vision shows that it's him who is rubbing the open groin of that lady in that manner.
- The visions continue as he continues to please the lady and squish her breast(s).
- The side-view of a golden throne on a golden flat surface with four handles at its four ends is shown as a smiling Akshay Kumar holds the proximal right corner of the flat carrier and is dressed in multilayered full-length white robes, with the other 3 corners held by other people dressed in multilayered full-length white robes as all of them carry the throne carrier to the right in a background lit with mustard light. The vision expands and on the throne is shown to be sitting a fat me dressed in my green dress as the fat me leans back in a comfortable position bent on one side while the four men keep walking in the right direction. It made me wonder if it's a reflected revelation of my dead body being carried away for burial.
- My head until my throat bent backwards with closed eyes with a crown of thorns on my head. It made me recall the vision of RK with a crown of thorns on his head as he had his head bent backwards.
- The follow-up vision shows the slightly bearded face of Randeep Hooda in place of mine as he has his head bent backwards with a crown of thorns on his head.

Dream (Morning):

In this dream, I see my middle brother Himanshu with two women in this room that I am staying in, and he doesn't have a broken leg in the dream but walks in a normal manner. I see that he is wearing a black vest and then he put son another vest on top in way that it covers his left shoulder. He then lays on the bed and one of the women removes her clothes and sits near his legs with just her lingerie on while the other woman seems to be fully dressed. The behavior of those women seem too ungodly to me for why are they removing their clothes in front of him and sitting with him! I leave the room and am now walking on the road resembling my hometown's road to the junior wing of my DAV school with its playground lying behind the brick wall to the left of the road. It's night and on my way, I come across different people, one of whom happens to be a dark Glory, riding apparently a bicycle. The road takes a left turn and I am now at a place where I see a green square ground to my left and a cemented structure made on the other side of the road. I cross over that structure and move to a place that apparently has a grave. I had been moving towards my grave. I find myself in my rented room again and find Himanshu with the two women again, with the previous scene repeating. I notice the behavior of those women and don't like it at all. As I see him lying on the bed with the two women around him, I mock him saying that this is not how a space filled with Holy Spirit is supposed to look like! I am disgusted by the sight of the naked woman in just her lingerie set (in a plain lavender colored bra with V-shaped cups) sitting near his feet and the other woman sitting beside him. As I make the comment looking at them, it's then when the dream ends.

While lying down:

- Sis Adele standing on top of me with an axe as she moves it fiercely through my neck. The vision repeats a few times.

While standing in front of the washbasin, perhaps I was brushing, I see:

- Sis Adele dressed in her Bold Existence Polo t-shirt measures my neck with an inch-tape.

After I am almost done cleaning and am standing in the balcony doing something, I see:

- The naked upper half of Akshay Kumar until a feet below his shoulders looks smiling at me as he says: I'm really happy with you!
- While I sit working on my chair, I see a vision of Sis Adele abruptly wrap the thin end of a brown tie around my neck as she pulls me backwards towards her with a serious and fierce expression.

While resting:

- Sis Adele comes at me with a brownish face and fierce expression and holds my breasts as I lay on the floor followed by Jesus in a full-length white tunic with a red drape on top dragging her away from me near the door after which she runs to the right in a hurry with a bent upper half.
- Dino Maria sits cross-legged on an elevated surface with a book open in his left hand which he s reading while he is also ringing a golden bell in his right hand.

Past Revelation

- A fluffed muscular Salman Khan standing behind a woman as he is squishing one of her breasts with one hand.
- A naked Glory on top of a naked me with his hands on my breasts as he's moving them apart sideways separating them from their places as he pulls them away and severs them. It reminded me along with other such revelations that targeted my breasts about the vision in which Jesus oiled my body with a lot of oil. In that vision, He gave an oil massage to my entire body as if preparing it for something, beginning with the groin, followed by the belly and then the chest. The vision had shown the top-view of the detail of Him giving me a good gentle oil massage as He held my breasts with both hands, them being separate by a great extent as I lay on the bed, as He massaged them together in a circular manner for a good while in a surrounding lit dimly in a fire lamp's light. ('Mein pagal ho gya Kartika.') It actually scared me a bit for it made me think of what was it that was to ensue that He was giving me such an antidote revelation. I took the advance healing bestowed on me nevertheless. Afterwards, He oiled my ass and He did so with a very sad countenance as He looked down with lowered eyes and He put extra oil on my right hip that was on the top as I lay on my side with Him behind me. You see, you don't feel any shame with God because He is your creator. He is like a parent who knows everything about you - not just the external things but the internal things as well. After He was done, He walked backwards towards the door as He said in a serious and quiet tone: Now we will meet in heaven. I could tell that He had prepared me for something really terrible that was to take place. And when I receive such revelations like this one in which Glory or someone else is pulling apart my breasts, I recall the gentle anointing massage by Jesus/God. I didn't write this detail of the breast massage previously as I felt too uncomfortable. But it has to be written. Jesus gives such a relieving massage.

I want Godly people in my life who take me further on the Golden path! And who are able to help me in my walk with God instead of bringing me to lower levels or dragging me down to their levels by their degraded behavior, and whom I can also help from the aspects of my own walk with God! I don't want people like Akhila or Death Conqueror who will only fill my brain with their ungodly crap! They can't behave in even basic moral ways, let alone aid me in walking on the perfect path! They don't even read the Word when they have ample time. I am not able to read it because I have to write revelations, sit and spend time in the presence of the Holy Spirit to receive further revelations, and then I have my daily chores. But they!? They keep staying at the same worldly level and don't make any efforts to move along God's path. I was telling God how I don't want such degraded people. That, why was He pushing me towards people who were affecting my state with Him and who were not interested in getting to know Him or walking in His ways which they've clearly demonstrated by their actions!

And then I also started feeling repulsed by my green dress as well because it seemed so stupid to me just like my toes' nail paint that I removed yesterday! It looks so foolish to me if I look at it from my own view! The sleeves are so fancy. But when Jesus had shown it to me with that expression, that got me and it motivated me to wear it and I was happy because He suggested it to me. But even if I may be happy because of His love-filled gestures, sooner or later my own nature is going to come to the surface! One more reason I liked this dress was because of the dance swing move! And that move makes me like it again, just like Jesus's expression as He held it in His hands, with a wide teethful smile and two red love hearts in front of His eyes, and then yesterday He was representing me as Aishwarya Rai! These revelations make me like it, but in the absence of these revelations, I would feel great hatred for it, as I realized when I suddenly felt the same, because I don't want to look like a vain and dumb fool! It's such a shallow look! I like Jesus's clothes. He dresses Holy in plain white and red clothes. Since God started changing my mind as He gave me revelations related to my outer looks, I now have two ways of looking at such stuff: one which is my own which clearly rejects all vain things as it holds in high importance the inner mental statutes that one lives by, and not these foolish and meaningless outer representations, and the other way is that of looking at it from a plain viewpoint of outer beauty as is perceived by the world, which I have always found foolish! But the revelations given by Jesus make me want to keep wearing it because He made it about the dance move and me being the newsboy girl wearing this dress with a newsboy hat! So, it's no longer about the dress being vain or flashy but about the traits attributed to it by Jesus which are not outwardly traits but reflect a part of the truth while giving me a nice look at the same time.

At some point in time, my hatred for vanity started far surpassing my attraction towards them because of their attractive outer appearance. Even if I could've found something attractive, I always reasoned that it was vain, meaningless, or worldly and therefore that thing would cease to have any power over me! I looked at things from a viewpoint of the filter of morals and rationality that I built for myself and not by how those things were meant to affect a person. I was well in control of my mind. When I look at people like Death Conqueror, they seem so low-level in terms of maturity, godliness, and moral way of doing things. It's almost as if there's no fixed moral mental structure leading to unpredictability. This is not the kind of person I ever wanted to be around! One feels content and happy with someone whom one knows and feels reassured about him/her not going out of his/her way to hurt you. But this fellow and people like Akhila are the opposite! How can one form a stable sense of mutual bonding that is not entirely based on one side forgiving everything and taking the weight of the other person's wrongdoings! That's what Jesus did on the cross and that too not for the reprobates who never change their ways! It's so sick to use others to pass messages! And how foolish of those who agree to serve as messengers of the wicked ones! There're so many people around in the world who are much much better than these ungodly dumbasses God put me in the presence of for a time being!

He's no God that he should put people in difficult circumstances to test them or behave in unusual ways to observe their reaction! Sin is sin, no matter who commits it! What was he thinking before sending cameras in my vicinity? I can't even think of such a disgusting thing to do to someone! It fills me with disgust, just like the disgusting messengers do! These people are so used to deception. Don't they know that God is disgusted by deceit!? I feel as if I came down to such a low level with these people while previously I was on the high road away from the world. These morally degraded people, no words can describe my disgust for them!

If a moral person finds something unforgivable, it means (s)he herself/himself will never do it as (s)he is too serious about it! But these people just make you cringe! Now unforgiveness is a sin as well, but one doesn't have to be with those who keep committing acts that require one to bear their cross for them and serve as a doormat while handing out forgiveness as something invaluable as that's how these people treat it! Even God lifts His grace after a certain period of time! People like him think that their worldly status makes them seem like an attractive option, but it only adds to the disgust for they exhibit the deplorable combination of being wealthy with immorality! I'm more than happy to live in a clean hut than in a mansion filled with immoral goop of the world!

Dream (Evening):

I am in my room but apparently, it's a ship as well. Being in my room itself, I go from different scenarios from others capturing them and making a visual photo story as I go from one event to the next. I recap and capture some important details that I had missed and add them at the appropriate places. One of the events that I've missed capturing as I find out while rewinding the video is a bald doppelganger of RS slapping near his hand that is holding a bird in it. I've to add the entire part following the slap in which RS' bald doppelganger is with the bird to the ship's story of rescuing birds as it goes from land to water. There are some things that are to be left that are present in those areas my ship appears at, those things pertain to specific people or objects, and then there are some things and people that very clearly are shown that they're meant to be a part of the ship. I am sitting on the outer deck with water present right in front of me at a level almost as the surface I'm sitting on with no vertical barrier in between. To my left, I see a grey bird, perhaps a pigeon, perched on a tree's branch present at the same level as me. I take in the bird in my ship from the outer unsafe surroundings. Likewise, I keep gathering as my ship appears in different places and situations.

Revelations after waking up:

- The front view of a bald and clean-shaven Amir Khan with a fully flat front dressed in a white bridal dress with a floral crown on his head steps down cemented stairs. The vision follows up with his front changes to a flat chest and a protruding belly. He too is the bride of Christ.
- A figure above me bites away my eyeball out of my closed eye.
- A vicious black dog walks towards the viewer with a vicious expression carrying the figure of a naked person in the shape of a hand held in its mouth.
- The vision is followed by the person in the shape of a hand changing to the exact shape of the hand itself. (Evil demonic people)

  I sat up from my lying position on the floor and now happened to think about this fake couple I came across when I went out to buy milk powder and other stuff from Dinesh Store. I was thinking how they were affecting the presence of qualities inside them that didn't really exist and they emanated a persona that didn't go along with how they were trying to portray themselves. Their acting was very much apparent, and I felt disgusted because of the same. I then had this immediate vision.
- The girl with the grey head wrap, as she is walking ahead with the guy beside her, turns her head towards me and she is revealed to be having black demonic eyes.

  The Guy sings:

  Everywhere I go, all I see is dead people..

  God is disgusted by deceitful people who are one way and act the other. It is written very clearly in the Bible!
- Glory bites my lower lip away in one swipe!

21:05

The revelations that God gives me expose the hearts and thoughts of people. You see, God watches the people in their sin and He judges and weighs them accordingly. Though He has accorded us forgiveness and grace through His sacrifice at the cross, He calls us to come out of the world and overcome sin. But God, though He watches the sin of the world, He stays Holy or set apart. Nothing is hidden from Him. Likewise, when He gives me revelations, they expose the hearts and thoughts of people that God is watching. However, it doesn't mean that He approves of them.

A very insightful and revealing sermon on what Christ's death achieved on the Cross, given by Derek Prince. And he also talks about how the Jews were married to the Law before Jesus died for the sins of the world. They had to keep the law and the punishment for adultery was death. And remarrying was only permissible when one's marital partner died. So, adultery was in a way also an opening for the innocent partner to remarry because the adulterer or adulteress would be put to death because of the Law. Though Derek Prince doesn't say that gentiles were married to the world before the crucifixion, it is implied. After Jesus made a way into Heaven and fulfilled the law for Jews, the believing Jews in Jesus were no longer married to the Law, but to Jesus. Likewise, those who were in the world and were therefore married to it (the non-Jews), when they believed in Jesus, were no longer of the world but they got married to Jesus. Jesus made a way of reconciliation between the Jews and the Gentiles, and them and God because previously, it was only the Jews, the Israelites, who belonged to God and not the rest of the world because they were the ones who received His Holy Law that they had to keep for them to be called His nation or children, while the gentiles lived as they wanted and followed the false doctrines of the demons. But, Jesus tore the differentiating veil between the Jews and the Gentiles as He nailed the law to the cross and not just the sinful deeds of people (Colossians 2:14 NKJV: having wiped out the handwriting of requirements that was against us, which was contrary to us. And He has taken it out of the way, having nailed it to the cross.) Jesus nailed to the cross the requirements that we were supposed to follow. However, we are also called to keep ourselves pure and holy as we wait for Him, not fornicating with the world and its ways. And Derek also explains the verse where it says that if you're under law, you're not under grace and vice-versa. So, after Jesus made the way to Heaven through His sacrifice, the believing Jews got married to Him instead of the Law, and the believing Gentiles too get to get married to Him instead of the world. This made me recall the revelation in which Jesus with two white wings horizontally spread at the back, and a golden ring floating above His head stood behind the mesh door of my room as He was signing something.

Satan Defeated and Disarmed - Fullness Of The Cross Part 9 A (9:1)

The Lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Very insightful videos about narcissism I came across in the night.

5 Ways a Narcissist Reacts When You Become FEARLESS

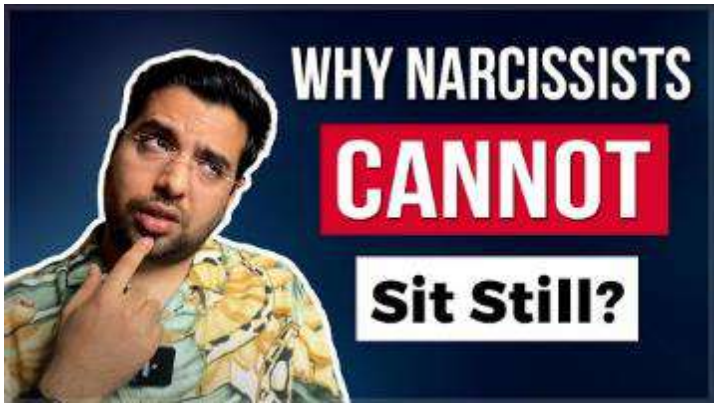
The 5 ways a narcissist reacts when you become fearless:

1. They will try to beat you down.
2. They'll go silent.
3. They'll discard you.
4. They'll run a smear campaign against you.
5. They'll seek revenge.

Another excellent video I watched. This video talks about how narcissists because of a lack of functioning conscience and the way their nervous system works, can never be alone and at peace with themselves but they always need chaos around them in one or another form (they have no apprehensions in creating chaos in the lives of others to appease themselves).

Also, they don't feel exhausted even when their minds are constantly working and thinking in negative ways to cause emotional, psychological, and mental harm, many times followed by physical harm, to their targets. They can spend hours fighting over something meaningless or they can work tirelessly to make life difficult for another person, but it doesn't affect their energy levels and they're capable of causing further harm as their immoral tongues are never bridled for they speak whatever foolish thought that comes to their minds, at times when they know that what they're saying is a blatant lie. Behaving in abnormal ways, where they're continuously lying, falsely portraying situations, or changing narratives, doesn't seem to have a detrimental effect on their well-being, as every day they wake up and do the same thing while maintaining their outer false self. But, to a conscientious person grounded in reality and truth, their behavior comes with huge repercussions which shows up in the functioning of the survivor's nervous system as (s)he begins to feel huge amounts of fatigue, mental confusion, and other symptoms caused by the narcissist's abuse. While a normal person doesn't like to keep others on their foot at all times or have them walk on eggshells with mental fog, a narcissist likes to control people by creating confusion and playing mind games that never stop!

Why The Narcissist Can't Sit Still?



Page 561.

12 October 2023
14:41

Vision (Last night): I am reminiscing about KA when I see a huge red love heart come out of my chest and rise above me and burst leaving just the first name of KA written in the air in red. The rising of the red love heart and its burst leaving just the first name written in the air in deep red repeats several times.

Vision somewhere in the morning as I lay half asleep on my bed:

- I see the upper half of Karishma Kapoor dressed in a neck-high shoulderless lavender-colored sparkling sweater, with her hair tied in a bun at the back, with her hands tied on a pole above her head as she looked at the viewer with an exhausted expression.

I was lying in bed bring half-awake in the morning as I was feeling too fatigued and had my hands resting on my belly one on top of the other, when I felt a very real and tangible sensation of a kiss at the back of my hand that was on top of the other.

It was followed by a vision of a naked Glory standing outside my room and apparently, he had dropped that kiss at the back of my hand.

I got up, used the washroom to pee, and laid back on the bed as I was still feeling fatigued and felt that I needed rest.

I then had these visions as I lay on bed feeling tired though I had slept relatively earlier last night:

- I see a semi-animated side-view of my upper half below my neck lying on bed which shows my bust with a blurry translucent aura about it protruding out more than the usual way it looks, with my head facing to the right. I watch the view which then moves to the left along my body and shows my slightly protruding lower belly and a huge ass below. I don't why am I being shown this vision. But somehow I look better in this vision than I actually do in real life. After a while of observing this view, I put up my green sheet on top though it's not too cold but it gives me a sense of relief. I fall asleep after a while.

Dream (late morning):

I am at my home and everything is messed up the way it always is! (In real life, I am so fed up of cleaning that dirty home, because it's not just about cleaning, but like fighting a never ending battle with people of opposite mentality who just don't want to live in a clean and organized manner, but like it to live like animals! I feel like I am the only one home who cares about the home being manged and clean and likes it, they don't seem to like cleanliness nor do they maintain it!) I think of cleaning a bit and I begin with the white wooden ply near the wife router placed on the LCD unit in the hall. I have to scrub it with some chemical to clean it. As I am doing so, my dad comes out in the hall and begins to chemical clean the other side of the LCD unit. I can tell that he has come to join me for a while to give me the momentum needed to clean the entire home! As he scrubs the ply for a while, he says: Isko saaf karke apna dimaag saaf kar rhi hai! (But cleaning this, you're cleaning/clearing up your mind) I don't really understand what he is trying to imply! His statement can either be a sarcastic comment about me focusing on cleaning the outside while my mind is polluted or unclean with ungodly thoughts, or he can also be implying that by cleaning that unit, I was wasting my time and degrading my mind by taking away from the time that I could've used in inserting my mind with good and godly thoughts. (Well, to me personally, I never felt that way when it came to cleaning, because it was very necessary for me to have a clean environment to live in. Cooking seemed to me to be a waste of time to me!)

Well, even filling the mind with good ideas or morals seems better when done in a clean environment. I would like it more to read my Bible or any other book in a clean space and not a cluttered and dirty one! So, I don't really understand what he is trying to say. He then leaves and leaves me alone with the chore. I can see that it's a huge task that even if it gets completed wouldn't matter because of the nature of the people living in the place. Also, I can sense my dad's inner resentment towards me and I don't feel safe at home. So, I run away. Additionally, in the dream, I know that I have some spy cameras placed/planted inside my body. And then I keep coming across this distant presence of the party that planted them inside me. I am moving forward on road that's on a highly elevated level with respect to the level of the ground below the road's side to my right. As I move ahead, and I seem to be in a hurry though I don't know where I am heading, but I just want to be away from my home, I see a car reveal itself on the ground below on the road to my right from behind a structure. The ground below is inhabited by people as there're homes built on it. I don’t move on or feel like going down to that low-level ground, but I keep moving on the road above with no structures built on it, and I am not alone there. I keep coming across people, youngsters present on the road who seem to be stationary on the road, and are dressed in camp suits or other types of dark sporty clothes. They all seem so smart and sporty while the life below on the ground looks too bogus and unnecessarily consuming. That presence that is chasing me intermittently makes its appearance on the ground below as I keep evading it though I know that I will always be found for I have the spy cams planted inside me. I continue moving on the high road and now have crossed a concrete traffic light crossroad, the area resembling that of the traffic light zone beside the GTB Nagar's Metro station with the opposite road with common autos that commute to Burari. I cross over to an almost empty road in the direction of the road with Police Line homes present to its left, but in the dream, the wide road has trees present on both its sides and it seems to be late evening now. Apparently, I am floating with a high speed on the road and am not using any vehicle. As I step on the road, a grey wide and long convertible with a rectangular built abruptly passes me by from behind with a great speed as its parts are all moving. When the car has passed me by and is now ahead of me, I look at its back, and see the vertical rectangular yellow and green metallic back of an autorickshaw fixed at the right half right at the end of the back seat. It didn't really need that addition. I don't know why it chose to fix it at the back. Additionally, the convertible amazes me for I saw no visible being present inside as it passed me by which makes me think how is it even running!

Well, it's a bit annoying to write all this because the revelation carries info that clears up things, doubt, misconceptions, misperceptions for others, and not me. I already know who I am and can use my time in better ways!

I now come across a building to my right that's built at the same level. It's day and I find my paternal Aunt, Rekha Bua (my dad's younger sister), there and she seems pleased to see me. It is perhaps the building of a school she works in. We have a hearty chat for a while and then she takes me to a store to buy me a bracelet of a promise. I don't know why the bracelets are being called as promise bracelets but in the dream, the bracelets are called promise bracelets for some reason. The store has many promise bracelets, the metallic, wooden or stony letters and words in different fonts and colours woven together artistically to form a bracelet and each one has a different promise written on it.

As I was writing the previous line, I saw the face until throat of a naked Glory as he is crying bitterly looking at me while saying: Kartika, I am sorry! I am sorry! Kartika, I am sorry!

She buys me a promise bracelet as per my choice and I am too happy about it. We then separate and go our own ways. I continue on the high road which is no longer a high road for everything seems to be at the same level now. I now come across Luthra Ma'am from my school in one of the other buildings to my right. She taught us science and social science during middle school and always had a short-haired veg cut resembling to a boy cut to a great extent. She looks like her usual self, wearing a red lipstick on her conical face. Her full name was Phool Luthra, and we never could've thought that that was her full name. We always called her Luthra Ma'am, and no one called her by her first name. She too seems happy to have met me as we have a hearty chat. She takes me along with her though I don't know where she's taking me. Perhaps it is to have a meal together. I walk happily with her as we take a turn to the left away from the building and it is then that I notice her suit she's wearing. She's wearing a white cotton tunic set with the light sky blue and light green horizontal print of a triangular wave all over on her tunic. She too wants to buy me a promise bracelet. We come across a shop that has huge promise bracelets hanging on the outer rectangular front of the shop which is to our left as we stand facing a street tailor who has planted himself at about 10 meters in front of the bracelet shop. We have stopped at the tailor's to inquire about something. The tailor is a middle-aged man dressed in a white shirt finely checkered in light blue. As Luthra ma'am is talking to him and asking about the huge metre or more long bracelets that ae visible to us from that distance, some metallic, one with a blue stone heart in the middle, and others with different designs but each one formed by joining together words giving it a specific meaning or promise, I notice that the tailor is not showing good behavior towards me. He says: Mein ek kisaan hu.. (I am a farmer..) I don't know why he is saying it when he is supposed to reply to Luthra Ma'am's questions. I get a sense that he's putting me down by indirectly referring to me as a kisaan (farmer) and communicating to her that I don't deserve that promise bracelet for I am a kisaan, though he doesn't say it apparently. She doesn't seem to get his hint or understand that he's insulting me in a way. (Now, he may not be insulting me, but that's how I perceived it in my dream because that's how these toxic narcissists insult you as I've come to understand since the time this disgusting fellow started chasing after me.) I look to my left on the wall with the bracelets and spot one that compares the person to a (sky) star, and it repeatedly catches my attention besides the one with a huge translucent and stony blue heart in the middle of the sentence. I leave the duo talking and walk towards the bracelet shop taking a closer look at the huge and beautiful bracelets hung in front of the wall as I read the writings on them. Each bracelet has a promise that uplifts the wearer by stating a good quality about him/her written on it. I look back in the direction of the tailor and find him saying: Mein ek kisaan hu to Luthra Ma'am in an affected tone. I don't understand why does the tailor has to put me down, for he's nowhere related to me in any way while with Luthra Ma'am I share a bond. Who is he to tell me who I am or what I deserve or the kind of people I should be bonding with!? I walk back towards him and tell him that we are not called to be part of the world. That God has called us to hate the world if we love Him because we can't love both at the same time as the world doesn't follow God and His statutes. Instead of understanding what I am trying to covey, he keeps interjecting and repeats: Mein ek kisaan hu which makes me angry and I bang my palm on his table with a loud thud to shun him for a while a whatever he is saying is reflecting his abusive and cheap mind while if he listens to me and absorb what I have to say, it will benefit him. Seeing my momentary impulsive behavior to shun the tailor so that he lets me complete my sentence and sees how it refutes whatever foolish point he is making, Luthra ma'am gets repulsed from me for she doesn't understand my motive and my mindset but judges me on the basis of the thud I made. As she gets angry and repulsed, she walks away from me without buying me the promise bracelet and out plan to have a meal together also coming to ruins. I see her walk away in front of me and take a left as she walks to the left at some distance behind the tailor. I keep standing in front of the tailor for some reason looking at him a while longer after she's gone. And now I notice that his expression has changed as he looks at me with slightly filled eyes and a sad expression. I notice that he has blue eyes as he looks at me silently. Now that I look at this part, that tailor could represent me as well, because I've been buying clothes as I see in revelations and to change my cloths set to a holy one, and then I would consider myself analytical to some extent as well, and then I am a farmer too as I sow seeds of Words of God that are supposed to grow in their due time and reap a harvest for His kingdom. But back when I was in the dream, I couldn't have thought that he represented me. He looks at me with that silent sad expression with filled eyes for a while as I observe him looking silently in my eyes.

After a while, I decide to leave and walk ahead. I leave him behind and am now feeling hungry and have to eat something. I am walking on the street Luthra Ma'am walked away from me on as she took a left thereafter. I come across a street vendor to my right on the service lane that I am walking on and eat something from there. I walk further ahead and come eat a bit more from another street vendor. I now come across a third street vendor and find it selling huge paneer kulcha sandwiches serve with gravy white grams. He says that he will have me taste it first and slices a rectangular part of the kulcha (~5"X2"X2") which looks more than enough to me and I feel that I won't be needing to eat more after I've eaten that freebie. He hands it to me and he says that he would be putting the gravy grams on top of the slice as I eat. I find his behavior quite amicable but it doesn't come to me as a surprise. He perhaps doesn't want to use a disposable plate to put the grams in. He pours some gravy gram on the head of the sliced kulcha, and I take a bite. I find it good. I tilt the slice in his direction signalling to him, and he puts another serving and he's putting more than enough so parts of it is falling down on the paper disposable plate I am holding below the paneer kulcha's slice. I see how good and amicable he is. I continue walking ahead on the service road and am now treading my way back on that high road as I rush ahead near its open end below which lie the great deep valley. It seems to be a plateau present at a very high level and this time it doesn't seem that there're any homes present below for when I happen to slip down by less than a meter or so and manage to get back to the surface, I see that the open vertical side of the plateau has green growth on it and though I didn't look down I could tell that the area wasn't habitated but consisted of a deep valley. I continue moving and am back to my home now I had previously run from. I find my mom there and she seems to be in good terms with me though I still feel a tension between me and my dad. I sit on the double bed with my dad sitting at the other end of it with his legs outstretched. My mom comes and sits close beside me between us putting her legs inside the sheet and I feel safe in her presence.

Revelations after waking up from the dream:

- Prof TRS removes the blob of green sheet lying on my upper half that I've placed there intentionally. The vision repeats a few times.
  The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- I see the back view of KA standing facing me with his hands above raised above his shoulders tied with a rope with my hands raised above my shoulders with him dressed in just a black pant as he says angrily to me: Saali! Itna pyaar karne ke baad bolti hai ke marne jaa rhi hu! He repeats it a few times while he is kissing me intermittently!
- A distant view of the naked upper half of a clean-shaven RK lying in a double bed with its head placed against a wall with a white bedsheet spread on it. He is lying on his left side facing and holding a naked woman whose back alone is visible at first, with their lower halves in side intercourse under a white sheet, but then she moves a bit and is revealed to be Alia Bhatt but a slightly chubbier version of her with a wide ass, as he looks in the direction of the viewer and says: Everyone loves you! Everyone loves you!

Past Revelations

- (Past week) Peter (Shahar Isaac) from The Chosen dressed in multilayered white clothes stands as he extends his right arm and hands something out to a person to the left not shown in the vision.
- (Past two weeks) The side-view of Awadhesh Prasad (my previous supervisor) standing at the gate of his room on the 2nd floor of the Multi Storey Building of the Department of Physics & Astrophysics, as seen from some distance to the left of his room, with him dressed in a white full-sleeved shirt widely checkered in blue as he horizontally rotates the forefinger of his right hand in front of his face while looking sideways with a slight smile towards the viewer.
- It was the day that I had seen this present room that I live in that I was thinking of booking while still being in A-10, and had returned to my room 303 of A-10 after checking out the room, and was now lying in the bed, resting when I was suddenly consumed with thoughts about KA followed by the vision: A lean and naked KA set entirely on fire stands above me in a firey background with his devil's tail with a triangular end floating in air behind him.
- 'Kartika, tumhara balidaan vyarth nhi jayega.. Tumhare balidaan vyarth nhi jayega': Heard in the Spirit. It was about the time that I visited my maternal granny in the village Mukimpur that lies opposite to the society of my parent's apartment.
- As I wrote the above revelation, I saw: A naked Glory in a dark background crying with an open mouth looking at the viewer.

While working in the afternoon:

- Prof TRS pulls away the top of my green dress and peeks inside.

(Well, it seems to be a labelled revelation. My tendency is to slap or hit abruptly anyone who dares cross his boundaries. And I've always felt this way when people cross boundaries of others as well against their will. I remember the past revelation in which Prof TRS came walking to me with lowered eyes and a bent head as I sat on the commode of a toilet with a naked upper half and loose palazzo denims below, as he asked me: Kingdom of darkness kab aya..?)

The Psychological Healing of God

The vision with the back of a lady in a sleeveless white dress with two silver fairy wings at the back and a blurry figure of Jesus standing in front of her as he gets replaced by Glory in a white tunic in flashes: equivalent of replaying/recreating the traumatic experience of bathing publicly in the washroom in the presence of a psychologist who then gives the situation a safe and healing outlook and goes through the traumatic experience with you! Jesus knows psychoanalysis very! He's the greatest scientist, philosopher, psychologist, counsellor. He is the Great Know-It-All!

Likewise, in this new place, I happened to Now, As I began to write the above line, I realized how Glory may not like the revelation followed by the lady singing: Maar dala… Maar dala..

In this new place, this day while removing clothes before bathing when I was removing my top, I saw that my shoulderdless bra had slipped down below my breasts revealing them in the open which again was a traumatic experience. And until that evening, I was too traumatized in a way, and the disgusting messenger people outside only made things worse for me but then later in the night I realized that I would have been even more traumatized if I hadn't already received the revelation of me standing with my top lifted revealing my breasts in front of KA and that too with a huge teethfull smile. I had this vision back in A-10 and it didn't make any sense to me for I thought why would I do such a thing but God was replaying the traumatic scenario before the event actually took place and he played a safe version of it in which I was apparently happy and was standing in front of a person with whom He had now given me many revelations with, many of which were of great quality! For e.g.: the swing revelation, and the smiling face of KA with Dil Mein Sanam Ki Surat song revelation, and the revelation in which a pink cloud arose out of my heart like in the manner of an animated chimney.

So, I felt good and safe when I thought about KA, and then God knows psychoanalysis very well. So, when I recalled this revelation, I was no longer hurt. It worked in the same manner as the washroom bathing revelation worked with me standing facing Him who was replaced by Glory. Jesus has been doing my psychoanalysis from the beginning now that I look back. Without all these timely revelations, I don't know how much traumatized and unable to work I would have been. He has kept me mentally functional while this disgusting fellow Death Conqueror only works to destroy me internally!

Likewise, with all the other revelations that I received, I can't really estimate the amount of Psychoanalysis He has performed on my Psyche and healed me. This disgusting fellow Death Conqueror was mocking me by saying: May God heal South Africa! Even if I was really a South African, even then why should I feel bad about myself. This disgusting ungodly fellow says it in a way as if being black is bad or an undesirable state to be in! Ungodly and immoral Fool! A black dog is more desirable than a white snake!

Such a disgusting fellow! But look! God is a healer to His children! He had been mentally healing me from the beginning and I didn't even know it! How great He is!

Another opportunity to praise God!

And I also understood the meaning of the inverted A inverting itself to the upright A, while I was watching Brother Jonathan's recent video. It represented the act of rigorously judging from down to up as encapsulated in the term Anakrino.

Strong's 350

350 anakrínō (from 303 /aná, "up, completing a process," which intensifies 2919 /krínō, "to select by separating/judging") – properly, to distinguish by vigorously judging "down to up," i.e. closely examining (investigating) through "the process of careful study, evaluation and judgment"

See: <https://biblehub.com/greek/350.htm>

Proverbs 15:8 (Contemporary English Version)
8 The Lord is disgusted
by gifts from the wicked, but it makes him happy
when his people pray.

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Proverbs%2015:8&version=CEV>

Psalm 5: 4-6 (NIV)
4For you are not a God who is pleased with wickedness; with you, evil people are not welcome.
5 The arrogant cannot stand in your presence.
You hate all who do wrong;
6 you destroy those who tell lies.
The bloodthirsty and deceitful
you, Lord, detest.

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Psalm+5&version=NIV>

I don't really know where I would be without God and His healing accorded to my mind! He wanted me to persist and resist the pressure put on me by the oppressors. That's why He gave me revelations that would serve as a healing ointment to my mind and would help me persist and persevere.

Morning before getting out of bed:
Vision: A tap in my room that I am using runs out of water.

During Day while I was cleaning:

When I reached outside the room mopping the floor, I heard in my Spirit:

- Hota hai jab aadmi ko apna gyaan.. Kehlaya vo Shaktimaan.. Shaktimaan..

And while I am mopping the narrow space outside my room, I hear:

- Ye aap shakti hai.. Duniya badal sakti hai..
  Phoolon mein dhal sakti hai..
  Sholo si jal sakti hai..
  Hota hai jab aadmi ko apna gyaan..
  Kehlaya vo shaktimaan.. Shaktimaan.. Shaktimaan.. Shaktimaan..
- When I was mopping the grey cemented floor that extended to the left of the region in front of my room, the Shaktimaan song kept playing in my Spirit and it reminded me of the visions in which many figures of differently colored bald women came out of me and set to different chores. The green and yellow one being abound the cleaning and cooking respectively. I never liked yellow color since I was a child. Within sometime of receiving that vision, I saw how it truly represented my real self, for the red version of me that would stand for the things I love and things that I connect through with a sense of love the most, the version of me went straight to work on the Laptop. While the one that I liked the least, the yellow one went to the kitchen. It also reminds me how I fell in love with Tejaswi. It was because he was so versatile though his moral character hadn't yet been quite clear to me. Aastha once commented about how I was so consumed with his intellect as I kept talking about his abilities in front of her. Well, the one thing that I liked the most was him being able to play music while looking at his written musical notes. I had found it quite impressive when he opened his file and started playing flute looking at the notes. And also when we would chat on WhatsApp, he used to casually talk in poetry. That's how his brain worked. He didn't have to sit and think to devise a poem, but he came up with several rhyming sentences in a row while he would be typing in his usual speed that I could hardly match. But none of those qualities mattered after he revealed his psychopathic self of a cheater and a betrayer! None of that intellectual stuff mattered afterwards! I projected my own self. I was a deep thinker and placed much focus on living upright, or rather having the right mind. To be able to continue to carry a right mind amidst various circumstances counted as intelligence to me. And to be able to have a deep-rooted understanding of morals and how one was supposed to behave was also a part of intellect which he exhibited none! His intellect was only objective and therefore robotic. It was quite robotic. He wasn't like someone who had a deep-rooted and consistent sense of morality of the kind that's visible on the faces itself of the people who exhibit that consistent and deeply ingrained moral structure in their minds. It was almost as if doing the wrong thing lay at the front in his mind while for a righteous person, his/her moral structure lies ahead of all his thought processes and is not a substitute meant to be used as one wills. For me, my personal moral structure lay at the front, and bonding with people came with a deep significance. It was like having fewer mental connections when it came to interactions with people but whatever connections existed had a great importance. So I also chose people very carefully because it was a matter of inner quality! I've changed greatly if I look at how I used to be because look at the kin of people God gave me revelations with: Death Conqueror and Akhila whom I would consider lying way below the threshold. My past self would look at them as being so low-levelled, people I wouldn't even want to greet. I don't know why I was like that. I was trying to not make even one mistake by my own standards and I loved to live in that manner. I was highly idealistic. And if I saw someone casually trespassing the moral code knowing that what they did was wrong, I used to right away reject them and didn't want them to be a part of my life! I didn't look at what they did or happened to do. I looked at their attitude towards what they did or said! And they said and did wrong things with no sense of remorse. Their attitude towards different things reflected their nature. If someone is joking about an ungodly addiction, it would tell how degraded and low quality the mind of that person is! After I came to God, I interacted with many people whom I would have never interacted with! He made me so open and changed my brain fully! I do think that my previous self was so much more better in detecting sinful attitudes in others and in my own self. Now I learn to ignore so many things. God lowered my standards to dust as He gave me revelations with these abusers! I still interacted with all sorts of people as I saw the best in them and I saw the areas they could develop morally, but in the case of abusers who with no reason say and do mean things, it's hard to keep going on! I let go of my self-righteousness and took on the righteousness of Christ.

Anyway. When I was almost done with cleaning, I saw:

- My dad dressed in a blue t-shirt over shorts dances happily in the centre of the room with raised arms.

I guess God was highlighting to me how I could do many things. He was building my morale and strengthening me in a way. I can like cooking as well if it involves the use of something that the red being likes. The red being would like cooking if it was not about the food but about meticulously doing that chore. That I can see. The red self is what came out of me first.

The vision and the Shaktimaan song playing in my Spirit today made me look at the new-age parallel of activating/opening chakras in one's spiritual body. God through this revelation revealed the truth that there's no such thing as a chakra inside a body and the concept is a part of a false doctrine, but what a human is capable of his daily routine chores alone. Any supernatural feat God has him perform by his Spirit, it's because of the Spirit of God working through that person, and not because he accessed or opened non-existent chakras that are but constructs of false doctrines that open ways for demons in one's lives. Demons can have one perform miracles too. But that counts as partaking in the kingdom of devil.

Page 562.

13 October 2023
00:12

Vision (yesterday afternoon): The upper half of Danish Bashir in a beige t-shirt with long strands of mucus hanging from both his nostrils as he look forward with head slightly bent down.

It was such a good and validating watch though sad. But it truly depicts the reality of the serpent race on Earth and how they operate!
Narcissist Forced Her to Unalive Herself- Chloe's Sad Story

I had just written the revelations that showed the presence of KA's first name alone hidden inside my heart and the revelation I had received this morning, when the following lyrics started playing in my Spirit after a few minutes

The person sings:
Mere dil mein bas tu hai.. Ye tune na janaa..
Mein hu aashiq, tera aashiq.. Ye tune na mana..

'Kartika, bahut pitegi.'

Past Revelation

- (Past two-three days) Dushman in his postman suit from the movie sobbing with a sad countenance as he stands downstairs in front of the small gate with his hand resting on the handle of a white scooty and his body facing towards the viewer.
- (Past two-three days) Dushman dressed in a red embroidered saree with his head covered with its drape.

"Day Of Rage" And "Global Jihad" Scheduled For Tomorrow (Friday The 13th)

Helping To Cast Out Demons 👉 Deliverance and Demonology

Past Revelation from the revelatory flow during a Worship session on 22nd Sept:
Death Conqueror pushes Akhila away in a haste as he is looking at me.

After I wrote the two KA revelations on the last page that showed his first name in air as my heart burst, followed by the revelation of his hands tied with mine as we stood facing each other with our arms raised, I saw:

- KA dressed in multilayered black turns away from me and runs jumping ahead happily as his genitalia trunk hits his forehead and stays erected.
- The vision is followed by him nailing me to the wall in front of the kitchen slab as he is kissing me passionately.

This makes me think if the second revelation of the two is also God's psychoanalytic response to what these people are going to do. Who knows? I never thought they could do such a thing either. They're very well capable of doing everything God showed me!

Revelations while on bed a while back:

- KA in multilayered black on top of me as he is kissing me.
- KA sits with his genitalia inside my mouth as he squishes my breasts inside my dress in front of him with both hands.
- A pack of vicious black wolves with vicious expressions walk towards the viewer with the wolf in the front horizontally holding a severed hand in its jaws.
- 'Samajh gaye hum tu kisse pyaar karti hai!': says Dhruv Rathee dressed in a sky blue t-shirt as he sits on top of me and stabs my forehead with a knife, and bends and drinks the blood that's oozing out while moving to and fro on top of me in intercourse.

After a while, I happened to think about the evening I was standing at my society's vegetable vendor after returning from my workplace on my white scooty, and had seen the face of Glory hiding behind a car about 10 meters ahead of me in the parking space in beside the lawn to the right of the society's main entry door. It was perhaps mid-2018 as I had just written my first trivial MS with Awadhesh Prasad. Glory was talking to someone present at a level below and when I looked at him, he immediately hid below. Well, first, it was dark, and though he looked like Glory to a great extent, I still had a few percent of doubt in my mind. Also, it was a quite an unexpected appearance and I didn't know what he was doing there and how was he expecting me to behave for we had never talked before. As I wrote this part, I heard in my Spirit: Kartika, sab tujhe bahut pitenge! Sab tujhe bahut pitenge! I mean I don't operate with a hive mind. I say things out clearly and completely and expect others to do the same as well. I don't expect or want them to assume things, and because I don't want to assume something false, I say everything out clearly leaving no room for confusion. It is also apparent in the way I talk on the phone. It sent me into a brief shock and I continued with my act of buying vegetables. While I was still standing at the vendor, I saw from the corner of my eyes a small car drive to me from the direction I had seen the apparent Glory stand, and stop to my right. The vendor was on the service lane of the road and the car had parked in front of it to my right. Now, I could sense that whoever was inside that car (one or more people), they had stopped there for a reason though no one was getting down and neither did I hear anything. Yeah. The behaviour came across to me as being very weird as this wasn't how I always operated in my life. Why will I look at or go to a parked car even if it's beside me? It just didn't make any sense to me! I mean if I already know the person well and (s)he had informed me beforehand that they would be coming to meet me, even in that case, the arriving party calls you before coming. They don't just park near you and sit silently! That's such a creepy behavior! (Glory says moving his hand with a raised finger in an apparent innocent affected tone: Pitunga bahut! Pitunga bahut!) Because he didn't choose the right way, I didn't make sense to me to even look in the direction of the parked car, because why would I. It would count as a very abnormal behavior. If I go to meet someone, I go to them directly in a straightforward manner. I don't play games. I won't go to them and then pretend that I don't see them while expecting them to come to me and trespass their own boundaries. This kind of behavior is so rooted in abnormality as it expects a person to violate his/her own boundaries without knowing the person. There's not set standard way that's followed that should've been followed. The act very weird to me. Only a self-sabotaging fool would have went and inquire the people present inside the car about the reason they were parked there! If you behave in this abnormal manner with one person, you will behave likewise with anyone and it would be counted as sheer foolishness! Such a boundaryless way of approaching people! He is below even the lowest level of psychopathy which is good because he only learned the psychopathic way of indirect interaction. Perhaps he had been a fornicator in his life and his methods aided in his function, but they are still not the right way to go about things. Now he is much better and way below the psychopathic levels of Death Conqueror and he is far more righteous than him as it seems. But still, all of these people operate with a hive mind don't know the direct straight forward way of communicating! They just camp themselves and wait for the other person to trespass their own boundaries.

Well, though I may have felt repulsion towards his chosen way that day because I found it abnormal, I was thinking yesterday how despite my perception of it being abnormal, if I had walked upto him and talked, perhaps I wouldn't have been in this camera situation today because perhaps I already would've been with been him. Who knows!? In that case, I wouldn't have had to go through these past years of mental suffering. But if he would've behaved normally, even then this situation would've been avoided in the case where I found the situation awkward. Why would a person walk up to a vehicle without a reason when the person(s) inside is not directly responding or calling you. These days the situation is so worse that even if someone calls you from inside a vehicle, you exhibit some wariness and not walk up to them freely and fearlessly as psychopathy is on such a rise. Why then chose the ways of psychopaths!? It would make sense to adopt such a covert way if one was to run away from a threatening or undesirable situation, not otherwise! Why does the minds of these people work in these psychopathic ways! It is so annoying!

Anyway. As I was lying on the floor yesterday, I was thinking about the alternative consequence of me behaving in that other way. But why with a normal mind would I respond to a covert action or behavior! It only makes me angry to even think about doing so. I think these people are too used to roam around red light areas and picking up prostitutes who themselves come walking to them and sit in their vehicles! It would or could never have walked up to that vehicle unless someone called me up and even in that case I will gauge the people inside and would walk to them only if I found them worth replying to, because I wouldn't be interacting with a group of drunken junkies if they happen to call me from inside a car and I would just ignore them!

Before falling asleep, I had the following revelations.

- The upper half of RK dressed in a navy blue neck high thick sherwani tunic as he is bicycling speedily towards the viewer in a golden background and says looking at the viewer: Tera badla to 'Mein' loonga!
- A heavily bearded RK looks at the viewer and says: Vo tujhe marne aa rha hai.. before he hastily turns and runs away…
- 'Vo tujhe maarne aa rha hai.. Vo tujhe maarne aa rha hai..'
- The top-view of Danish Basir lying on a bed with wide open unblinking eyes as another hand moves a beige sheet on his upper body. He looked so still and perhaps represented me in that vision.

These lines from the worship song 'Mein Hath Uthaakar Gaaunga' have played intermittently in my Spirit several times during the past weeks.

The Guy sings:
Karuna bhalai teri.. Sada rahegi mujhpar..
Teri vishwaas yogayata.. Dekhunga mein umarbhar..

Past Revelations

- (Yesterday): Jesus dressed in white tunic with a red drape on top lies over me on bed with my jaw in his hand as He says to me: Dhokha kyu diya!? after which He begins to kiss me! But I don't really understand this vision because in my eyes I've been very much obedient to Him and I mentally stretched myself to my limits and didn't want to leave Him.
- (Past 48 hours): The upper half until shoulders of KA in an astronaut suit without the helmet with his head drenched in water.
- (Past two days): I lay down on the floor to rest in green light and then have this vision of a maned lion walking towards me from the wall in front of me. When he has reached my groin, he sit down with his front two paws extended forward and starts licking and sucking my groin.
- This photo of me from my childhood has been being highlighted to me for some days. I has me wearing a shiny black velvet newsboy cap over a black sweater as I am holding my infant middle brother Himanshu wrapped in a cloth in my hands. He looked so cute when he was that tiny!

The Lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Revelations in the morning:

- An extremely black Jesus hits my belly with a steel rod.
- Sis Adele hits the back of my head with a rod.
- The side-view of the upper half of Danish Bashir until his shoulders dressed in a shirt finely printed in yellow & black as he looks at the viewer and says: He's going to kill you!
- A small-framed vision of a highly bearded RK speedily rides away on a bicycle from a pride of thickly maned lions that are running behind him. The lions as they chase after RK lose their outer cover and reveal themselves to be black dogs/wolves. RK speeds up even faster and manages to be away from the black dogs/wolves. He then reaches a huge Jesus dressed in a white long tunic with a red drape and starts moving/bicycling up on Him, but He turns out to be an idol and the wolves/dogs chase after Him on that idol. It seems that they're going to catch up and get a hold of him. The following scene has a clean-shaven RK dressed in a long white tunic with a red drape on top standing on a golden surface in a surrounding resembling that of heaven as he extends a hand downwards and pulls up another RK dressed in a long white tunic. And as I wrote the detail of RK dressed in Jesus' attire of red and white in a heavenly golden background, I saw:
- The upper half of a clean-shaven RK dressed in the attire of an off-white tunic with a red drape on top looking at the viewer with filled eyes as he says: Kartika, itna pyaar karo..!

The lady sings:
Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Well, if Glory or any man had godly love for many women, that wouldn't be called as sinful. Godly love refers to Agape and isn't fleshly, and then we're called to love others the way Christ has loved us. Now it's a different thing that God chose to minister to Bollywood stars first for some reason though I didn't previously have a Bollywood inclination. I only liked some specific movies or parts from different movies and mainly those Animes that I liked since high school, but now I seem to have grown above them. But I would perhaps still be watching them in my leisure time if I didn't have the present list of things that I had to do. I've many ways I can spend my time feeling happy. And my entire day will pass by and fall short but the things that I could do in my leisure time won't all still be covered. If I get tired of watching Animes, I will always have something that I love to read. And there's a great amount of books that I thought I would later buy as I had the list made, all I had read once and wanted to own later. So, there's no possibility of me getting bored even if I live alone. And now I've the company of God and a purpose accorded by Him. So everything is even more meaningful now.

Revelations while resting:

I am trying to rest, but the movements inside my head won't stop, and it makes me time and again look at the reality of the kind of people I am dealing with no matter what others or they themselves have to say. I get annoyed with this voice I keep hearing that comes from above. It seems too overreactive at times. It's been such a long time since I've talked to a sensible person who doesn't play mind games! After I've spent enough time lying on the floor with an aching head, I see:

- A bearded Glory in a full-sleeved white shirt untucked over denims hits my forehead with a steel rod with an angry countenance which makes me think perhaps he's thinking that I receiving fleshly revelations so he's punishing me when I'm actually struggling with a headache.

Towards the end of my rest, I see:

- A clean-shaven RS dressed in a full-sleeved light blue shirt sitting in the front seat of a roller coaster with the seats behind him fully filled, as it slides on a surface and he looks ahead with a cheerful countenance wearing specs with a transparent frame.

I then went outside to buy apples and other stuff and now going outside is such a depressing thing because one can tell that the environment is not real but affected. People are where they are not because they've a real chore but because they're messengers. Most of them seem to be messengers and it's disturbing. Gone are the days when one could walk on the road going unnoticed for now you see messengers everywhere! This is emotional abuse of a high extent driven by a need to control the outer reality of another! Why is this fellow trying to manipulate my outer reality? It is not going to achieve anything! He's only proving how great of a control freak and emotional abuser he is!

Revelations while resting on the floor after dinner before Sabbath:

- Glory in a full-sleeved white shirt untucked over denims is lying on top of me as he places hasty quick slaps on my face and says: Itna pyaar kyu kiya! Itna pyaar kyu kiya!

As I begin to fall into sleep:

- A small-framed vision of a tiny face of a beige cow lying with its eyes with huge eyelashes closed and mouth protruding out.
- The still expression of the tiny cow takes a few different forms as the vision changes.
- A tall RK with neck-length hair with a red cloth wrapped around his forehead holding the baby Yuvaan (the Salon lady's child) in one arm as he's pampering him.
- The lady sings:
  Teri bahon mein.. hain mere dono jahan..
  Tu mile jidhar meri jannat wahin..
  Jal rahi agar hai jo ye do tarfa..
  Na bhuje kabhi meri mannat yahi..

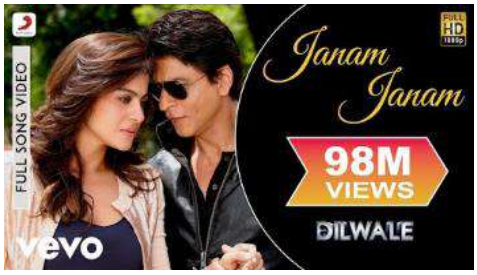
  Tu meri aarzoo main teri aashiqui
  Tu meri shayari main teri mausiqui

After a while as the song continues to play, I see:

- The side-view of naked upper half of Kajol with her back facing upwards, and head facing to the right, her body extending out from the left end of the vision, as she lies on what looks like a wooden floor with her straight hair falling backwards and her fae turned towards the viewer as she's freezing covered all over with ice, while a naked SRK sits on a chair facing the viewer as he's set on fire and as a huge genitalia trunk hits his forehead. Later when I looked at the revelation, it seemed contrary to the lyrics.

The Guy sings:
Talab talab talab.. Bas teri hai mujhe..
Naso mein tu nasha banke ghulna yuhi..
Meri mohhabat ka karna tu hak ye ada..
Meri hoke hamesha hi rehna kabhi na kehna alvida..

Ref: Janam Janam Full Video - Dilwale|Shah Rukh Khan|Kajol|Arijit Singh|Antara Mitra|Pritam



While cleaning floor:

- Amir Khan dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt with a black waistcoat on top driving a car with filled eyes as the song lyric plays: Kaise mujhe tum mil gayi..

While bathing:

The Lady sings:
Jo wada kiya vo nibhana padega..
Roke zamana chahe roke khudayi tumko ana padega..
Jo wada kiya vo nibhana padega..

The lady sings:
Tode maine saare ye bandhan zamaane tere..
Todungi na mein wada..
Aadha hissa mere to dil ki kahani ka tu
Piya mein baaki adha..

And the rest of the stanza continues followed by the chorus.
The two songs kept playing in my Spirit in turns.

The song from the movie Taj Mahal reminded me of this vision I had within the past few days but which I forgot to record:

- Madhubala as Mumtaz Mahal dressed in her white attire from the movie comes walking with a red rose held vertically in one of her hands and a bouquet held in the other.

Since I was bathing after many days, it took me time as I had to over-scrub the places that quickly get dirty and therefore were the dirtiest as I felt too dirty and was itching a bit as well. As I washed the dirtiest parts the last time for my own satisfaction, I saw:

- Amir Khan dressed in a full-sleeved shirt with a black waistcoat over it looks at me and says: She did it intentionally! She did it intentionally! which gave a sense of me intentionally overdoing some things to gain attention which was not so at all.

This is a song that played while I was typing the above and it has played previously as well accompanied by the scene from the movie Ghazini in which Amir Khan sits alone on the bench with the cement slab.

The Guy sings:
Kaise mujhe tum mil gayi..

Utar aayi jheel mein jaise chaand utarta hai zameen par
Haule haule.. Dheere se..

This vision from the morning also kept being highlighted to me:

- A highly bearded RK looks at me and says: Agar ye sara saman rakha hua dekh lega, to tujhe maar dega!

Well, I didn't understand what it meant because I don't possess anything bad.

Written in the morning of the next day (14th sept):
After bathing in the night, I lie down on the floor to rest and feel like having a drink - Mirinda. So, I go out and get a medium-sized bottle.
As I am having it, I see:

- Jesus abruptly comes at me along with the Mirinda and sticks to my lips in a kiss. He does so in the same abrupt manner that I am bringing the bottle to my lips.

After having some of it, I lie down on the floor again as I've recorded almost all revelations until that point in time and am at par with recording them.

I lay down on the floor, later changing my posture to my back facing upwards which reminds me of the vision I had of the upper half of Kajol lying on the floor with her back facing upwards as she was freezing covered with ice. Yeah, I see that I too am feeling cool and fresh, though I am not freezing, but I'm feeling good. I also think about the labeled SRK set on fire sitting on the chair behind her as her face is turned away from his direction. The back of the chair is facing me and then I also turn my face away from the chair.

As I'm lying there, I am reminded of this previous vision I had earlier during the day:

- The side-view of a naked woman lying on a surface with her back facing upwards as the focus shows her unusually protruding out ass, which makes me think if that's how I'm being perceived, though I am fully dressed.

I then have these visions follow:

- The youngest person in the Dinesh Store removes in a quick slide my black jeans, splits my legs apart, and starts having intercourse with me in that position only. The vision continues for a while after which I shift to the bed.

Past Revelations

- The same guy from Dinesh Store dressed in a navy blue sports attire sits above me with his legs open like a frog as he moves to and fro in the air above me. I see it as a vision showing him as a person greater in dimensions than me. The vision repeats for a while as he says: I love you.. I love you..

And then I've been hearing these lines intermittently throughout: Mit jaayengi kitaabein..

Page 563.

14 October 2023
11:52

Dream 1:

I am in a classroom and I see several navy bluish screens in the shape of an experimental globe, with latitude and longitude lines drawn on it, placed on the tables in front of us. I am sitting on one of the back benches of the room in the left row. The class is sparsely filled with some of the benches in front of me left vacant. We're being taught to read a parameter or decode something by using the globe screen to get a point on it corresponding to the observed parameter and thereby decode the underlying characteristic or parameter to be found out. Interestingly, the globe doesn't have the usual longitude and latitude lines but it has lines with words written at the ends of them instead of a number. Perhaps those words represent a quality. I've only partly understood the workings of that globe screen that's resting on a metallic globe stand. But I know that I will understand it later when I sit alone and think about it in my own way. That's how it used to be back during MSc days when it came to some subjects that I didn't understand in the class itself though there were some like Stat Mech (when taught by Prof Sanjay Jain) that left no scope for misconceptions and doubts. The teacher now seems to be talking about something else. After a while, I see a girl standing in front of the class with her facing the screen placed on the front left corner of the room. She is talking about a different concept now with a plot in blue being displayed on the white screen. I don't understand what she's talking about either. I receive a call from my dad and start talking to him inside the class itself. (I don't recall if I ever did so as it has been long and things are different now. Perhaps I did, because I used to immediately pick up his calls whenever he called.) I tell him about the class and he then tells me that he already knows what the teacher isI teaching and tells me the name of a phenomenon and as he's talking more about it, the teacher notices me being on phone and asks me about the same. I tell him that it's my dad and he's saying that he knew about what he’s teaching. The thin and bald teacher with tiny spiky hair who is dressed in a printed t-shirt gestures to me telling me that he wants to talk to my dad. He walks up to my seat and I give him the phone. My dad tells him the 3-word name of the phenomenon which the teacher is not able to grasp as he repeats it out and looking at him I can tell that he doesn't think that what my dad is talking about is anyway related to what he's teaching. As he is repeating out loud the 3-word phrase in confusion to ask my dad for confirmation, I repeat a slight variation of the phrase with the same words but with the middle word said in the continuous tense. As I do so, I see Amir Khan looking at me with a smiling mischievous expression in affirmation carrying his look from 3 idiots sitting on the last bench as he reveals himself from between two guys beside him in the other row to my right. The call ends.

Dream 2:

I am with two more people and I take a route from a place to Kurukshetra from where we take an E-Rickshaw which then takes us through the road and stops on the side after a while, with its side-view facing to the right seen as a third person. Missing the details of the rest of the ride, the dream now brings the people to a home in which I find Sis Adele. Apparently, we've followed an itinerary of three places, and now we're at her home, and we've come to visit her. She offers us some snacks on the brown rectangular center table in front of us with her sitting on the long couch against the wall on the other side of the table. The table is now filled with snacks she has someone place there. We talk for a while and I'm feeling great in her company. We move around her home as she takes us around, and I notice how ultra clean it is. I'm feeling great being in her home considering the fact that she's such a learned prophet of the Lord. The three of us leave after a while.

While we have treaded most of our way back and are back to Kurukshetra - the mid-transition point - I see that the people with me are two huge, wide middle-aged men dressed in white tunics with bald heads with tiny spiky hair, and I see that we are now in a corridor under a white ceiling and a few white pillars behind them with a wide background of open green park/field further ahead. I am now feeling like going back to Sis Adele's home as I was happy there and therefore I ask the two people to accompany me, but, they refuse. They're busy talking among themselves and they don't at all seem as serious and excited about seeing her again. The two are emanating a worldly aura. I so badly want to be back there. I am thinking of the ways I can reach my hometown Pundri (which is about 40 kms to Kurukshetra) as I need to be there first as a part of my journey to Adele's home. Once I've reached my hometown, I will get a direct commute to Sis Adele's home. I ask the two men about the ways I could reach Pundri. The two men tell me that I will have to take a bus which disappoints me a bit as I will have to first get to the bus station and it seems such a tedious process to me as I imagine myself actually reaching the bus station and see how it is filled with dust, crowd and noise. I turn away from the duo and exit the open corridor while entering the building and come across Mr. Dheeraj Kakkar (my previous PG Saroj Sadan's owner) who's standing against a wall to the left in front of me. He is leaning against the wall and facing in the viewer's direction, dressed in a pink shirt tucked inside pants, with his right hand raised straight upwards as he moves his fingers together against the wall. I take a quick right as I don't wanna be in his presence for I don't feel comfortable around him. After exiting the building, the dreams skips the intermediary details and I find myself in Sis Adele's home again. I am sitting on the corner of a bed with Sis Adele in front of me as she talks with that other guy. They're talking in a quiet and sensible manner. There's something below the bed to my left which I keep tending to as I am looking at her and listening to her talk with that guy. She's not talking to me as actively as she was doing when I was in her home together with the duo. I feel left alone though I still want to be there, and I watch them talk. She's now walking towards the balcony and I follow along, being 5-7 meters behind her, and notice the ultra-clean floor marbled in off-white with a thickly checkered pattern on it made by thin strips of light grey stone. There's isn't a single speck or particle of dust visible as seen in the reflected natural light of the day. It's silent, clean and peaceful. As I am exiting into the balcony, I see that it's a square area of about 4X4 meters and it is almost empty, ultra clean and marbled in the same manner as the rest of the space I walked through.

I move to the right corner of the balcony and look down and see an almost empty, wide, and ultra-clean concrete road. Apparently, I am in Australia with her. I look at how clean the surroundings are and how there's no dust in the air as well. I continue looking down, and now see some dark Indian laborers on the street. I can tell that they're Indian because of the way they're dressed in sarees and suits. They're moving some stuff to the right. Perhaps there's a construction underway. I see two ladies dressed in sarees walking together in a straight line in a weird manner as they stand facing each other where the one in front has to walk backwards while the other facing her is walking forwards. I find it weird that the Indian laborers should be there because the space is supposed to have Australian laborers. I observe them and see how out of place they look compared to the surroundings. I don't like their sight, because you see, even if one's a laborer, one can possess a mind that's above the petty things of the world which the people seem to be consumed with. I can sense the aura their minds are emanating, and I find their dressing sense cheap as well, for their sarees expose the huge bellies of the obese workers. It seems quite dumb to me for them to wear such uncomfortable clothes while laboring when one is supposed to be dressed in a way that doesn't hinder their work. On top of that, they're exposing their bodies revealing their ungodliness and unholiness. They could've dressed sensibly in a comfortable way that covered their bodies and do their work with vigor which would've also reflected their character. But, they choose to get their clothes stitched in a way that exposes a great part of their bodies.

As I wrote the above part about the laborers, I saw:
The angry upper-half of an angry Akshay Kumar dressed in a loose and long off-white full-sleeved shirt looks at the viewer with his anger clearly reflecting on his face!

Dream Continued:
I turn away from the scene of the road and see Sis Adele standing facing me behind the semi-open wooden mesh door on the right end of the wall as she walks backwards and goes back inside her home closing the balcony door. She hasn't talked much with me which makes me wonder if she really wants me there or if she's just putting up with me. After she's gone inside, I observe the clean balcony and the short and narrow sky blue rack placed against the wall a few meters to the left of the door. I wonder how could that balcony be so clean despite it being uncovered and exposed to the outside. I notice her white rubber flats with two broad horizontal white strips, and one more footwear on a lower shelf of the rack. There are a few thin notebooks and notebooks placed on the rack as well. I wonder how is she able to keep her white footwear that clean. Yeah. It's because of the dust-free place and the clean roads below. Though I can see the rack's resemblance with my own sky blue rack placed in my room, her rack isn't as wide as mine and looks even cleaner and with much lesser stuff placed on it. I am very impressed by her white flats. I go back in and now am standing at a door which has a white horizontal woven cloth strip stretched at the top between the two ends. I stretch the cloth in such a way that it decreases the vertical width of the woven piece. But as I observe it to have decreased, I am now trying to stretch it back to the previous level as I've messed up. Apparently, those rectangular white woven strips were also woven by her. I observe some tiny dusty balls around the corner of the door. I know that she's a very clean lady. So, that must have been left because she's too busy or has other things to do as well, for rest everything else is too clean.

I turn back and now move into a room that's not too organized as it has clothes lying around. She is sitting behind a table with a black sewing machine fixed on top of it, and is perhaps working as she continues talking in a quiet tone with that guy. This is the first time that I'm getting to know that she sews as well. I notice the room. I see a few small wooden square tables of a dimension of about less than 2 feet lying to her right. Those small square tables, though reaching up to a comfortable height are set in a line in front of the wall to aid her in sewing and have a metallic base below the textured beige wooden top. I look further around the room and move backwards by a bit and find a bed lying against the wall to my right. It is full of clothes lying on it. I spot a plain Indian shawl lying on the bed and ask her if she made that. She seems to be occupied in herself as she takes a while to respond.

She tells me that she didn't make that one but she made the green woolen one lying on the bed. I pick it up and observe the embossed pattern of multiple lines with each having a cm in thickness running together as they met into an intricate circular design embossed on the woolen cloth. I can see that she's quite talented. I now go back to the balcony and see the short man - her supposed help - move on the road below with a bent upper half as he's carrying something. He seems dark, has a bald head with tiny spiky hair, and is wearing a grey jacket over grey pants. He looks shabby and dirty. He's perhaps doing something to help the laborers.

The follow-up scene has Sis Adele lying on her side in a comfortable position on a bed made on the floor as she's explaining to the man in grey how this certain guy nearby moves around, his pattern, and where he will most probably go. I too am sitting on the bed with her in front of me. She's talking about the dynamics of this particular neighbor and says the word research in between. She seems quite insightful to me as she knows a lot about her surroundings. She's not gossiping or badmouthing anyone though. She then gets her wallet and takes out notes of two Australian dollars (of a high value) to give to the man sitting beside her for him to give to the laborers below. Looking at her, I recall the money lying in my red pouch and ask her if she needs my help (of Indian rupees) as well. I'm thinking of giving her two 500 Rupee notes from my pouch like she took out two high-value AUDs. I'm still waiting for a reply as she always takes a while before replying to me and that's when the dream ends.

Past Revelations:

- (Part of a dream-vision I had within the past week) A lady enters into a white zone from a door at the right and extends something, perhaps a polythene, to another person present to the left as she looks at the viewer and asks in a taunting tone: 'Sharab pee lee?'
- (Past few days) A smaller framed vision of the top view of me dressed in my green dress, and standing in the center of my room lit with green light, with my head turned upwards as I looked above with my hair falling down from the square head top as Jesus sat on vertically folded knees and stabbed with His hand a dagger in my groin in repeated motions. The top of my head has begun to look like a square because of the excessive hair loss from the center region of the top of my head.
- (Past two weeks or prior) The upper half of a naked KA rises up high in a curve, stretching his body up high as he looks upwards with a head turned slightly backward.
- (Past two weeks or prior) The upper half of Death Conqueror dressed in a plain shirt looking down at me with his upper half bent slightly bent forward as he says with a teethfull smile in an affirmative tone while slightly nodding his head: 'Tune Pyaar Kiya..'
  'Tune Pyaar Kiya..' reminding me of the movie 'Maine Pyaar Kiya'

Somewhere while writing the dream with Sis Adele, I saw:
A small-framed vision of about 2 inches in dimensions of the top view of a white disposable plastic bowl full of Gravy Aloo sabzi with a much smaller plastic disposable bowl placed to its left filled with Sewai Kheer.

While resting:

- The top view of my upper half until my shoulders lying on the floor with the face of my mom in place of mine.
  She too is called by my name.
- The upper half of Sis Adele dressed in her thick black Bold Existence Sweatshirt looking at me with a smile and filled eyes.
- The side-view of the face of Brother Philips until his throat, with him dressed in his brief video he uploaded today on YouTube, looking down at me as he says before turning away into the background of the open sky above: We all love you!

- My dad hits a person on the ground with all his force as he is hurling abusive words shouting at the person below calling her 'Saali…!' as he is coming at her with a long steel rod.
- A few more visions of my dad hitting a person on the ground with the steel rod with an angry vicious countenance.

I didn't have many revelations. But towards the end of it, as I was now thinking of getting up, I saw:

- My dad dressed in a white sleeveless sports tank top with white shorts below rides a cycle to the left in a white background. His upper body looks too muscular and huge compared to his legs below in the vision.

Well, after I got up, I went straight to my laptop to add the detail of the white strips having been woven by Sis Adele, and as I completed writing the sentence, my doorbell rang and I received an Amazon parcel. I found that it was the cycling shorts that I had ordered a few days back which reminded me of the vision I had of my dad bicycling to the left.

As I was writing the above, I saw:

- Akhila smiling at me showing her teeth with filled eyes in a shiny dark brownish background.

After a while of the above vision, I see:

- Death Conqueror smiling teethfully at the viewer with slightly filled eyes.

The Case with Poonam Bua

Poonam Bua - my dad's youngest sister - got married to an MBBS doctor who happened to be extremely obese and dark - almost black. She often told us before she had gotten married but her marriage was fixed to that guy that if people made fun or passed a demeaning comment about how her husband looked, she would say that he was an MBBS doctor. She herself was a beige woman with a very lean and bony structure.

20:36
It took me a long time (most of my day) to write the dream revelations from today. It's a tedious task for me to write revelations because I'm not a wordy person. I am a visual thinker and it's hard for me to encapsulate my thoughts in words and it takes a while.

21:14

While I was writing the above, I saw Jesus pointing me to have Aloo Puri Kheer as I had seen Aloo and Sewai Kheer in the vision. So, I do so.

And while I was having the same, I saw Jesus dancing in graceful moves behind me in the centre of the room as he walked and rotated gracefully with stretched arms.

After I was done eating and was now walking into the center of the room, I saw Jesus dressed in his full-length white tunic attire with a red drape on top sitting on the bed emulating my act of eating as he quickly moved both his hands to his mouth one after the other from the place of his lap.

And as I was typing out the above, I had the scene of Emma singing out the first phrase of the song from the following performance being highlighted to me in my Spirit.

Serge Lama - Je suis malade | Emma | The Voice Kids France 2018 | Blind Audition

It reminded me of the time that I gave my first singing performance in the school back when I was in 5th class. I sang the following song and received the first prize defeating the elder opponents. Everyone was so silent when I was singing and later all teachers praised me and some even had me sing the song in their respective classes that I was a part of. The song became my pet song and whenever a teacher would want a day off by spending the period in a casual fun way with the students, having them perform something in front of the class, the students will speak out my name along with this same song. Ashish, whom was my batchmate since class 1, when he briefly got in touch with me in BSc as we shared what we had been doing post-school and future plans, asked me to send a recording of this song sung by me to him. He too used to be one of those who would call out my name during such free periods along with the name of the song 'Lape ati hai.. Lape ati hai..' though the name of the song was 'Lab pe ati hai..'

Lab Pe Aati Hai Dua Banke //# Tamanna Meri Zindagi Shamma Ki Surat Ho Khudaya//# 2023Ka Naat video

Luthra Ma'am was so impressed with the song that she asked me to share with her the cassette, the original form I had it stored in. So, I gave it to her and when she later saw me, she told me that it was a prayer and not a song. I had skipped the 'Aaa..' melody in the beginning part as it was too high for me to sing and it would ruin my entire song if I was to incorporate it.

It was my dad who had suggested this song to me and told me to practice along with it as it played in the stereo. This became my favourite post-school routine before the day of the competition as I would practice the song many times in a row.

Now when I look at the song, I see how even the song was prophetic because God gave me the job described in the lines below.
Khushkhabri do gareebo ko..
Kaidiyo ko riha karo..

Ref: The Worship song 'Usne Mujhe Bheja Hai..'

I would talk a bit more about Ashish here. He was a lean and thin guy with slightly brown eyes. When we talked after a few years towards the end of my BSc, which was also the time I got back in touch with other batchmates of mine (Ravi, Himanshi, Shreya and Nupur perhaps too, or I might have gotten in touch with Shreya and Nupur later in MSc. I can't recall.), he told me how he remembered the day that I had happened to mistakenly walk in his section instead of mine on my first day of the school in 1st standard. He told me that I came walking with a finger in my mouth, after which the teacher sent me to the right section. I came as a surprise to me because though I remembered my first day at school, I didn't remember that I had walked into the wrong classroom at first. He was a funny guy and I went along well with him along with the other guys in my class who were all righteous! I went along with all the girls as all were good, humble, and righteous. I really have no idea how that segregation took place after 10th when all the humble, good, and righteous people were grouped in a section that I was a part of, while the deceptive and over-smart ones were a part of the other. I consider it as the work of God, because it's close to impossible to have no deceptive, gossiping, and lying person in the group. All the girls liked me as I used to shake hands with all in a line when I would reach school in the morning. Most of the people in my class used to be righteous. That was the beauty of the place. Ashish was there in my tuition with Shamsher Sir and he was a casual buddy, or a classmate, who threw intermittent jokes (not vulgar or ungodly jokes but clean jokes). I think his full name was Ashish Chhabra. I had some common friends with Shreya (Pooja Bansal etc.) as well who attended the tuition. There was an environment of Godly love in the air.

What I remembered from my first day was my dad showing me the classroom as he pointed towards it from a very far distance as we stood on the slant in front of the main gate which didn't really make things clear to me. I was dressed in my cream net frock with a short boycut style of hair that I kept until 6th or 7th, continuing the veg cut version of it briefly again in BSc, and later again in MSc.

So I happened to walk into the wrong section. In my right classroom, I met Bimla Ma'am and she was teaching Days of the week. On the first day itself, I got deceived because I happened to meet this guy named Diwaker who misguided me into not writing down what the teacher was saying. I wasn't carrying an eraser and made a lot of mistakes and then I was trying to erase what I wrote with my saliva on my forefinger as I couldn't think of any other way but it only made the page dirty. I asked for an eraser from here and there and he was sitting somewhere around me. He whispered to me in a quiet voice with a fishy tone: Rehne do! Mat likho! Kuch nhi hoga! Ma'am kuch nhi kahegi! (Don't write anything! Nothing is going to happen! The teacher won't punish you or say anything!)

I knew intuitively that it would be wrong if I was not to write, so I told him the same that the teacher was going to be angry as she was going to check out notebooks towards the end, but he, like the deceptive devil who deceived Eve in the garden by telling her that nothing was going to happen if she ate the fruit from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil (despite the instruction given by God to not eat from the tree), deceived and convinced me not write anything as he too wasn't writing. Towards the end of the class, when the teacher checked our notebooks, she found a few misspelled words written in my notebook and called everyone who didn't have their notes complete and punished them. His behavior made me remember him because he lied and deceived me on the very first day!

He later turned out to be the kind of guy who got his practical files completed by other girls of the class by begging in front of them with an innocent face calling them Behen Please file banade.. Behen Please file banade..
He even came to me once with that innocent expression, saying Behen Please , but I refused! But this girl from my section had pity on him and made his file. She was very fair and came from a village and had very thick brown hair that grew blonde as they grew further. The lower ends of her hair were always blonde naturally. Though he was bad in academics and often got punished and would be seen standing outside the classes because of a punishment given by the teacher, he wasn't immoral and deceptive in other ways.

As I was writing about Ashish asking me for my voice recording of the song 'Lab Pe Ati Hai..', I heard in my Spirit:
The Guy sings:
Rahegi sada yaha.. Pyaar ki ye daastan..
Sunenge sada jise.. Ye jameen aasman..

He shared with me the video of a recent remix that they had recorded in which he played the guitar. He also told me about this girl he was into, and the intermittent breakups they faced. I later stopped being in touch with everyone from my school. I don't know why I stopped being in touch with them, but the only reason that I can recall was that I felt like we were not on the same path. And then I was too happy with Meera. I thought she was enough as a friend for me and I expected the same from her but she had to befriend immoral people like Tejaswi.

Ashish then had begun sharing some parts of his life on chat during the 3rd year of my BSc that we got in touch online after school, and told me that he was working to build 6 pack abs. One day he excitedly sent me a photo of his upper half on WhatsApp, showing his six packs, but before it got downloaded I deleted it as I read his message that said he had shared his 6 packs and then the blurry to-be-downloaded image showed his body which I wasn't interested in looking at because it seemed boundary breaching to me. I told him that he shouldn’t have sent me that picture and also that I deleted it without taking a look. After that he was cautious and knew better how he was interact with me. He was then saying to me some other day on WhatsApp: Meri friend to itni charitrawaan hai ki meri photo dekhe bina hi delete kar di!

Page 564.

15 October 2023
05:56

When I lay down to sleep last night, the vision of the baby with her finger in her mouth from the song 'Lap Pe Ati Hai' kept being flashed to me in my Spirit before I fell asleep. I may have had other revelations, but I can't recall any. If any, they could've been fleshly, or else I would've remembered to take note of them otherwise. Because I've had many fleshly revelations by now and when I receive such innocent and cute revelations that I did yesterday, I find them stress relieving as they soothe you in a conscientious way, while a fleshly revelation will serve as a burden on your conscience.

As I wrote the previous sentence, I heard in my Spirit:

The Guy sings:
Yaariya..

Ref: The first line from the song Yaariyan.

Last night, I had these revelations as well:

- An entirely black and naked KA with a translucent boundary hugs me tightly as we move about together on my bed. And he's calling me his wife.
- The vision of KA and the doggy licks repeat in the setting of the current situation. I notice his very wide tongue that he's placing between the center of my groin and moving upwards in a lick until my throat.

I heard my phone ring at 2:47 am in the morning and it woke me up. I fetched my phone from the table and saw that it was my mom. She had woken up in the middle of the night because of the AC running in the bedroom which my middle Brother Himanshu needed as he had not been bathing since he broke his leg. I talked with her for about 1 hr 16 minutes after which she told me to go back to sleep, but I was already awake now so I told her that I would read something. I thought this was a good time to read the Bible as I hadn't been able to do so for long. She told me that she would go back to sleep.

I had tea with some biscuits first and then I began reading the Bible from where I had left it the last time. I saw that I wasn't retaining the words that I read as I had to re-read the same sentence many times and then my focus also kept drifting as I wasn't able to make a coherent sense of what I was reading. So I spent a good amount of time with the first paragraph itself that I began to read.

(Now I know that the abusers and oppressors who sent the spy cams around me would be more than happy to witness how my mind is negatively affected by their mental abuse, but I will leave them to God. Only a rotten piece of meat suit feels good about causing harm to other people and serving as a mental block in their life's journey! Demented abusers like it when they make you dysfunctional in one or the other way or when they know that they've ruined an aspect of your life which is very much apparent form this sentence this dumb and foolish made while standing in front of my room: Seedhiya 2nd floor ke baad khatam ho jaati hai.. Implying that I wasn;t supposed to progress further ahead after my MSc and then I saw this guy communicate this deplorable message that I was to be drop out which filled me with such disgust for these people! How much more disgusting they can prove themselves to be! They get filled with so much joy which reflects on their face and they can't stop smiling when they see the ways they've caused damaged to your life. It is their life force: this knowledge that they ruined someone's life!)

Anyway. I also noticed that it was taking me that amount of time because the paragraph carried objective info about the way the Israelites had to offer offerings before the Lord. If it was an incident or a story that I had to read, it wouldn't be taking me time. So, I spent a good amount of time on the paragraph concerning Daily Offerings to the Lord that the Israelites were told to make. However, regardless of the time it was taking me to understand, I saw how the Lord had to be pleased by the Israelites every day. The burnt and smell offerings they had to make every day, and that too within the time period specific by the Lord. It helped me to understand the kind of relationship the Israelites shared with the Lord, and the kind of things He expected and demanded from them. I saw that list of rigorous offerings they had to make, which made me think about how much more freedom we have now because of the shed blood of Christ where we don't have to perform those daily sacrifices but God has made Himself freely available to us nevertheless. As I was lying on my side thinking about how lucky we were now because of the one all fulfilling perfect sacrifice of Christ and how I was able to enjoy reading the Bible while lying in bed and knowing more about God without having to do any of those things that the Israelites did for them to have a sustained relationship with God, I saw

- Jesus lying beside me, dressed in His full-length white tunic with a red drape running across his front, as He dropped a kiss on my lips and hugged me intimately. It told me about how He loved His children, His creation.
- I then saw the vision as a third person of Him hugging Akhila top who was lying on my bed in my posture, dressed in a finely printed black and white.

I also saw how Jesus was justified in loving Akhila though she didn't yet believe in Him or even reciprocated His love. It was because she didn't know Him and didn't have any experiences with Him either. But, I, by this time had several experiences with Him and knew Him better and therefore carried more responsibility in a way about how I was to behave or progress ahead in my life, because I knew Him. He would rather have you not know Him at all than know Him and be lukewarm (not serious) about Him - a statement made by my friend once on FB chat. If we know God, we've to be serious about Him, or He would rather want us to not know Him at all!

After these thoughts passed through my brain, I continued reading and reached the para about the monthly offerings. I also had the following vision repeat during my reading time.

- KA gives me doggy licks again beginning from the groin to uptill my throat.

By this time, I had built some focus and was able to retain stuff now. I saw that they were called to sacrifice two male bulls, 1 ram, and 7 lambs. With each bull, they were to offer 24 cups of fine flour mixed with olive oil, with the ram - 16 cups, and with each lamb - 8 cups. I saw how the number of cups decreased by equal amounts as one went down to lower animals. Also, they were to offer wine along with each animal they sacrificed in the proportion of 2 cups for each bull, 1.24 cups for a ram and 1 cup for each lamb. This caught my attention as I saw how the amount of floor decreased by the same amount while going down to lower animals, but the amount of wine seemed to decrease in a different pattern.

So I stopped right there and tried to think of ways that the two sequences of decrease could go along together. I came up with a few trivial mathematical sequences the wine could decrease to go along with the cups of the flour but I couldn't understand or reconcile the two decreases. However, I knew that even this detail revealed an aspect of God's nature. There're many aspects of God's Holy nature that our minds won't be able to comprehend. Even the way the amount of flour and wine to be offered with the sacrifices decreased as one went to lower animals reveals things about God's nature.

For the Flour:
24-->16-->8
The difference: 8-->8

For the Wine:
2-->1.25-->1
The difference: 0.75-->0.25

I didn't understand how the amount of wine to be offered went in tandem with that to be offered with the floor. The amount of floor decreased by equal amounts, while this was not so with the wine.

A corresponding way for the floor to decrease in tandem with the wine would be:
16-->10-->8
Or if one was to begin with the original amount of 24 cups of flour, it would be: 24-->15-->12, considering 12 to be the scaled 1 in the case of flour. But how come it decrease in the sequence 24-->16-->8?

Perhaps a super-smart person can resolve this dilemma. In times such as these, I always craved a company that was smarter than me so I could receive some help. Nidhi used to partly fulfil that role when it came to mathematical juggling, algebraic steps, or other methodological clarifications.

Perhaps it has to do something with the nature of offerings where the floor decreased in equal amounts but the wine decreased in a different way. Perhaps Jesus leads me to find the resolution in my lifetime, or He may not. Because we can't understand all aspects of His nature.

While I was pondering on this mismatch while lying on my bed, I didn't feel like read any further, and then I saw:

- Jesus standing in the centre of the room pointing me to the table to write my thoughts about what I had read.

I'm so glad His job gives me space to use my mental faculties that I want to use.

~14:22
When I shared the song 'Lab Pe Ati Hai' last night, the following song was also highlighted to me. And then it played in my Spirit a while back.

Maa Sunao Mujhe Woh Kahani...

This was a song present in the cassette with the other Siza Roy prayer song Lab Pe Ati Hai. And I had this option as well to sing in that competition, but I chose the other one for that competition. I sang this one on a different occasion. When I shared it with Meera as we sat outside the Vishwavidyalaya Metro, she liked it very much along with the other one. It's a very meaningful song seemingly sung by a child of a very young age. She exhibits greater wisdom than some of the old men and women of this place, and this is such an old song. I grew up listening to these songs as my dad would play his ghazal cassettes in the morning itself while getting ready for work. At a young age itself, I was introduced to the idea of rejecting vanity, and not love it. That shows a part of how children need to be trained in righteousness (and their walk with God). Though I didn't understand the artist's context with which she sang the sentence 'Baat jisme na ho apsara ki..', what I understood was that it talked about being realistic and understanding the daily struggles of life of earthly people instead of thinking about sky fairies that didn't exist in my knowledge back then but now I know that the true kingdom is the kingdom of God's angels aka fairies, but they're not called fairies because of their vain looks but because they exist in their glorified spiritual bodies in heaven with God.

Well, now that I think about it, the lyric 'Ho na pariya jahan aasmani..', I've understood it in the new context of listening to a story that talks about fairies captured inside physical prison bodies and not the ones present above in the heavenly sky.

Later in the morning after I had returned from the Dinesh Store, and was done talking to my mom, I was saying out in annoyance how these (real-life) actors acted to possess one or more qualities that they didn't really possess. I had become sightly enraged at the sight of a few people on the way whom one could plainly tell that they were walking by while acting. I saw this fat A-shaped lady dressed in an unironed white tunic set with a green leafy print come walking in front of me a she looked downwards and was murmuring things in herself while slightly moving her hand on the side. I saw that she was presenting me! It was apparent! But why was she doing that! By doing such a thing of acting, she proved that she indeed was a dumbass! Doesn't she has any better stuff to do in her life than to serve as a messenger! Coming across such people on the road whom I can tell are fake spoils my mood and therefore I made the statement when I was back in my room about such actors who only pretended to possess an inner trait that they didn't have! Why have I been coming across such useless messengers that neither God nor want to know Him!

Anyway. As I made that statement out loud about real life actors pretending to possess qualities they didn't have, I saw:

- A stubbled RS standing behind me with neck-length silky and smooth hair dressed in his previous attire of a Pink Suit coming at the back of my head with a steel rod with all his might which made me think if he got offended by what I said. But what I had said was about real-life actors and not professional actors.

I lay down to rest around 9 or 9:30 am after doing the brief Bible Study I discussed previously and cleaning my room having a heavy breakfast of 500 ml milk with a banana and two coconut Ladoos. Before that, when I was making my second tea in the morning after the Bible Study, I was thinking if the sequential mismatch between the amounts of flour and wine was because of a common function that defined the sequences that I wasn't able to think of or figure out in my mind as I haven't done such a thing for a long time, and not because of any trivial algebraic correlation. But writing it was necessary because a better learned or trained person of higher acuity could figure out the correlation much quicker than me. As I was cleaning the room, I was thinking how if I were to get married according to the dream that I had received, I wouldn't have this fellow be a part of my life in any way and I didn't see for my heart to have the posture that I saw in the dream in which a green bulky Glory hulk stood with angry expressions while a short-heighted Nasiruddin Shah came smiling with a Chaayos bag as he threw it on the bed. Because.. look at all the revelations I am receiving! He put me through this, not God! God is revealing and exposing the hearts of people, but the sinner stands separate from God.

Additionally, this vision also kept being flashed in my Spirit in the morning while cleaning:

- Sis Candance dressed in a Bold Existence black Polo t-shirt is sitting beside Adele on a couch as she teases her about the revelation with her that I received yesterday. I know that God gave all these revelations concerning many people to unite everyone together!

At first, I was in a semi-sleepy state, and I didn't feel good lying on the bed in front of everyone as I felt creepy and lustful eyes watching me through the public broadcast! I had these revelations while being half-asleep or as a dream-vision.

- The side view of the face of Asin (from the movie Ghazini) lying on her side with closed eyes in the same way that I am lying.
- I see the top view of a naked muscular man lying on a lady in intercourse as he keeps pushing upwards and as the lady keeps pulling him towards her with her many arms that are wrapped around him. The guy then turned his face to the right and it turns out to be Glory with a bearded face on the sides. He moves his face to the right a few times ascertaining it to the viewer that it's him. I see this vision as a third person. I notice that unlike the cases with KA, there's no demonic resistance that's pulling him away from me against which I have to pray for. And when he's with me I see a naked KA get pushed upwards to the ceiling with a thud making him stuck to the ceiling like spiderman and leaving a depression in it.

- A flower with four long pink petals pushes against my mouth at the space of its mouth.
- A small-framed vision of the upper half of Sunny Deol in a white tank vest with a dark green turban sitting and moving to and fro in oscillatory motions.
- A long and thick penis goes in and out of a tissue tunnel for a while.
  Well, at times the revelations are labeled, and other times they expose the thoughts and perceptions of others.
- Danish Bashir moving a long sword smoothly in and out of a tissue tunnel.
- The front view from a distance of Deepika Padukone dressed in a neck-high and full-length square dress, finely printed in yellow and black, with square shoulders and buttoned up until her neck and having a side-slit on the right side of her dress until her knee, and with her hair partitioned in the middle tied low at the back in a bun, walks to the right on the service lane of a city road with a confident and righteous countenance carrying her brown laptop office bag held down in her right hand. Her face then changes to Tabu. (Confident and Righteous working ladies!)
- KA in a white tank vest over red plain boy shorts stands in the washroom with the vision followed by him on top of me.
- I pray to God that I don't want fleshly revelations, after which I see:
- The upper half of Brother Andrew, dressed in a full-sleeved checkered shirt with a brown half jacket on top, standing holding a few greenish snakes extended horizontally in both his hands that are twisting and twirling on top of each other. As they're doing so, he's looking at the viewer. He then looks down, drops down the snakes and runs to the right!
- 'Kartika, I want to see you. Go and take a bath.' Well, I didn't know who this foolish person was. But I heard it a few times. Immoral fool.
- The vision is seen from inside a tissue tunnel. John Abraham with neck-length straight and silky hair opens the mouth of the tissue tunnel, pours blue kerosene inside from a bottle, and sets the inside on fire, making me think what the kerosene represents.
- I see the side-view of my naked upper half sitting on the bed facing to the right with my body curved backwards seemingly stretching itself to the extreme. The vision repeats several times throughout the revelatory flow and is eventually followed by the vision of blood spread on the surface below the groin of the lady.
- Dream-Vision: The front view of the vertical naked body of a woman pinned to a surface with her head not visible in the vision as a lady says that it is time for a breast gun now, and as she says it, she takes out a small handgun in front of the viewer and as she is walking towards the pinned lady with just had carrying the gun black visible, I see the left side (viewer's right) of the pinned vertical body boundaried with a light black marker in a rectangle, I panic as I don't know what she is going to do to the tiny breast lying inside the marked area, and apparently that pinned lady is me, and as the other lady approaches near the pinned lady with that handgun, I wake up in panic.
  I have a bit of uncomfortable sensations inside my head and also I want to cover my eyes from light to give them rest. So, I put my fingers on my eyes with my palm facing down and that's when I see:
- The upper half of a beautiful lady in a black background dressed in clothes similar to the dancing lady in Pardesi Pardesi song from Raja Hindustani with a thick black boundary of Kohl around her eyes as she looks at the viewer through her fingers with her palm held horizontally in front of her eyes, as she is moving them above and below her face revealing and hiding her open eyes adorned with Kohl. And with this vision plays the song:
- In aankhon ki masti ke

Mastane hazaaro the.. Mastaane hazaaro the..
In aankhon ki masti ke..
In that state of being half-asleep, I realize that that's how I am being perceived, so I remove my hand from my eyes.
Just imagine, you happen to be in a comfy posture and then you receive such revelations which would have otherwise been absent in the absence of cameras!
And while I was writing the above, I heard the lady sing:
Bhool na jaana.. Bhool na janaa..
Bhool na janaa.. Ohhh…
I was half awake but too tired to open eyes when I had the above revelation.

And now these lyrics play in my Spirit:
The Guy sings:
Pal pal meri yaad tumhe tadpayegi..
Mein jagunga neend tumhe na ayegi..
Chhod ke aise haal mein jo tum jaoge..
Sach kehta hu jaan bahut pachtaoge..

The Lady sings:
Pardesi mere yara.. Mujhe na rulana..
Tum yaad rakhna.. Kahi bhool na jana..

- The follow-up vision that I had after this vision of this lady hiding and revealing her eyes after I had removed my hand from my head, had a close-up view of a huge bulging eye looking through two fingers.
- Somewhere in the flow, I see the close-up view of the upper half of the face of a lady lying down with closed eyes as an inexperienced hand puts black eyeliner in a crude way on her upper eyelids. As I wrote the sentence, I saw: The face of Death Conqueror with teary eyes and he's crying silently with a wavy open mouth followed by the view of him dressed in a full-sleeved shirt tucked inside pants hit the top of my head with a rod with a fierce intense expression. ('Ye mein nhi hu Kartika. Mein itna acha nhi hu.')
- A hand lightly rubbing against a female groin with open lobes. Apparently, it's Glory!
- A hand continues to lightly move on top of an open view of a groin.
- And then I keep hearing: Sab dekh rahe hai.. Sab dekh rahe hai.. In the tone and voice of the fat middleman from A-16. But I can't really understand what is it that all are seeing? I am fully dressed, and if anything is being telecasted live, it is entirely to be blamed on the disgusting criminal Death Conqueror! Who does such a thing! Will he do the same to his relative or mom!? No, because he looks down at me. He thinks he is so superior that he can just do anything! His reactions, the smirk when he's actually hurting the other person gives his wicked inner self away. Who feels elated when the other person is having a hard time - only a psychopath! And I've seen that wicked smile in his eyes many times that clearly tells that he's aware of how he is causing harm to me and how it's filling him with that sadistic joy! These people don't feel godly joy, but they derive it by hurting others, just like that wicked lady Akhila and the likes! On the outside, they look so polished and decked up as if they are high profile people, but when you listen to the kind of things they talk about, it tells you how cheap and degraded they are! And when I've already noticed twice this sick wicked smirk in this fellow, why would I approach him!? I will only tell him to go away and stay away from me! Go find abusers like his own self! Go and live telecast his mother's or sister's genitals which would be a just thing to pray for, but because now we have Jesus who contends for the repentful sinners, I would rather pray that these demonic meat-suits are delivered from their demons and repent before him in time!

- A small-framed semi-animated vision of the huge muscled clean-shaven and short-haired Pehelwaan Ali Faizal with a comparatively much smaller face, dressed in just a white Langot standing in a golden background as he in a pull pulls open his Langot and throws it away followed by a genitalia trunk erecting and hitting his forehead, followed by a smaller me with open hair sitting on top of his erected genitalia in intercourse. Apparently, the Pehelwaan is strong enough to bear my weight in that posture. I see the vision as third person.
- A semi-animated vision of a well-built muscular man dressed in just a white Langot lying on a surface with a dark background of tall metro city buildings behind him as he changes his poses like a Pehelwaan showcasing his muscles on the surface as the uneven buildings behind him are set on flames of fire reaching upwards.
- The top-view of Shilpa Shetty standing high above on a heap of rocks with a leg lifted and placed on a black oval rock in front of an ocean. She's dressed in a loose white t-shirt with something written in the centre untucked over light blue fitting jeans.
- The bearded face of Amir Khan facing to the right in a cold zone as an hour-glass carrying the bluish cold aura of the vision rotates vertically in a to and fro motion as the light bluish contents keep moving from one side to the other.
  I sit with a backwardly curved upper half with blood below.
- Dream-Vision: I am standing in front of a mirror fixed on a wall out in the open inside a covered space with an open back with the road to Dinesh Store lying to my left behind me. I have to go buy something and I notice my inner white vest has curled up by a noticeable extent inside my white Bold Existence t-shirt. So, I straighten it before going out and as I do so, a voice says: Bas isiliye ye humein achi lagti hai with the vision now moving behind me and to my left showing the path to the Dinesh Store with a few people present on it.
- I see the small red packet of namkeen, that I had three such small packets of, being highlighted in my Spirit. So, this told me that Jesus wanted me to have it after getting up from my rest! I didn't have much rest yesterday, as I spent most of my day typing out the dream revelations.

And then this cheap lady from upstairs walks by saying in front of my room that my Laptop is going to be destroyed! May her everything be destroyed if she stays in such a wicked mindset - which is a just and righteous prayer to pray! Badtameez! These fat badtameez ladies who communicate the messages that I don't wanna receive have no good sense but say demoralizing things to me!

Anyway. As I was having tea with the Namkeen poured in a steel bowl, I thought how I wouldn't be having it had I not seen the vision of it, because I intended to fast the rest of the day, but then I saw Jesus in a full-length white tunic set with a red drape on top standing beside me and talking to the vision me sitting in front of me responding to my thought in a very serious tone: No one else could've done what you did for Me! No one else could've what you did for Me! No one could've gone through what you went through for Me! And He looked so touched by how I stayed committed to Him through all this time! And then He started moving His genitalia somehow protruding out of His tunic in and out of my mouth which told me that He was pleased with my conduct. I saw He was allowing me these treats because of how I stood beside Him all this time despite workers of devil coming against me. Because you see, hardly anyone follows Jesus here and most follow one or other form of an idol as god, whom they don't hear from, nor do they see that god for real whom they're worshipping, and nor does that god of theirs guide them in righteousness like Jesus does in His Word as I have shared previously! And these people kept coming at me with their false gods and idols and hypocritical goldy arguments as they were still committing the sin but said things with an unjustified innocent countenance. I've been dealing with these demented people for a long time now!

And then I hear these lyrics often:
Badtameez dil, badtameez dil, badtameez dil, maane na maane na..

which only annoys me because I never liked this song after BSc because of its cheap lyrics! Until BSc I took it as dance song and didn't think much about the lyrics, but then I became too serious about the kind of things I was liking and exposing myself to or was letting in my life as I only wanted high-quality people to be a part of my life.

After I got up around 1 pm in the afternoon, I called my mom, talked to her about Eligibility Criteria for teaching positions of Assistant Professor as she was asking me, and I also shared with her some examples I knew of people who delayed their masters to either be eligible or because they face some kind of financial difficulty. After I was done talking her, I quickly mopped my room because I had noticed some dust below my indoor slippers before I went to sleep. Afterwards, I made tea, and added two sugar-free tablets which didn't turn out to be enough, so I put another, and as I picked up the small stirrer and started stirring my tea, I had this abrupt vision of:

- A short-heighted Death Conqueror standing to my right dressed in a closed black suit over a white shirt with a tie reach out his hand to my face and slap it wing a bang! Well, it rather seemed funny to me because.. look at him! If he really slaps me, he would entirely be on my mercy, and I could choose to hurt him real bad if I wanted to! 'Such a bold and fearless move', I thought!

16:44
And within the past minute, I saw:

- The face of a teary-eyed and naked KA until his throat as he looks at me and says in a stuffed voice: Kartika, I Love You! Kartika, I Love You!
  And I have plenty of revelations that would reveal my response to him.
  'Kartika, tu pitegi! Bahut pitegi!'

And when I had mopped my room the second time after waking up, and was now placing the bucket in its place, I heard the lady sing: Tod dala.. Tod dala..

Past Revelations

- (Past 24 hours) A girl dressed in a red crop top over blue denim jeans (I don't wear crop tops), as her attire highlights her wide lower half. She stands with a bent upper half with a guy present behind her back as he plays tabla on her ass which seems to be metallic.
- (Past 48 hours) The side-view of the upper half of Sis Bia facing to the left, dressed in a white polo t-shirt with her curly hair stretched back by a white hairband, while her left hand seems to be resting on a surface in front at the level of her chest, looks at the viewer and says something like: He's going to kill you..
- KA falls on me in multilayered black clothes squishing my breasts as they burst out in blood. It made me wonder if this was a warning such as the genitalia forehead hits that correspond to their drones hitting the centre of my forehead causing me pain. Now how many times will they prove how disgusting they are!? They are a great example of those who have a seared conscience that doesn't get affected regardless of what it does.
- And then I had this other revelation repeat often that shows my tongue being severed from its place. Now why should that happen? There's no limit to the wickedness of these people!
- Gulshan Grover with a moustache dressed in a black suit with a white shirt inside stands facing the viewer inside a room as he is moving a sword in a to and fro horizontal manner through something lying on a surface, with the subject in question not being shown in the vision.

During my brief rest:

- I see a huge green textured snake floating in the air resembling a python. It is then coming at me with its mouth wide open. I bind it in the name of Jesus and cast it out through my balcony's window and command it to never enter again into my room as I recall Brother Derek Prince's talk on how the demon kept coming up with different arguments that even if it was cast out, it will enter the host again! So, keeping that in mind, I tell the printed yellow and black snake to stay out and never enter again. Likewise, I seal my room's door with a prayer commanding it to never again through that door as well. I pray the blood of Jesus on my entire room and pray that all snakes (representing demons) stay out of it.
- An animated Maleficent hovering on a female's genitalia.
- The vision is followed by the animated Maleficent dressed in her animated attire with a purple robe at the back, and with the face of Angelina Jolie floating above a surface and approaching me with a red rose held in her right hand (the viewer's left of her hand).
  I then ask God to not give me any fleshly revelations, though I have begun to feel some movements near my groin, but I don't want to see anything. I understand that I have to keep my heart guarded and not expect fleshly revelations as I had become used to receiving them so every time I lay down to rest, I knew that I would be receiving one or other kind of fleshly revelation. So, I think of guarding myself spiritually and then have this vision:
- I see a person fully covered with thick golden armour from head to toe standing in shiny and well-lit golden surrounding with none of his skin or inner clothing visible, and his upper half covered with an almost rectangular breastplate with an outward slant at the bottom. But then the fully armoured person abruptly runs to the left fearfully leaving the frame of the vision which makes me wonder why is being such a coward though being fully armoured. Why doesn't he stand and face whatever is coming his way, now that he's armoured so well. And then I see a crowd of bald thin men with tiny spiky hair and round faces running after him with their chappals held in their hands with their bases facing in his direction.

Why did such a situation arise!? Because of the immoral fellow Death Conqueror!

I wanted to rest more but I didn't want more revelations. I will perhaps read something now. I see that God utilizes all of my time and He doesn't let any to go to waste as I receive something at all times, especially when I am resting.

Past Revelations:

- (The second of September) I wake up from a dream with a lady's voice saying in Hindi: '……., Akash hi sahi..' which implied: If no one's coming, then let's settle or be content and happy with Akash (the police man) who is a good option.
- (Past week) Akash whispers in my ear: She's a piece of shit about my assigned IO Meena as she has blocked me on WhatsApp for no reason and isn't reaching out to me either and doesn't pick up my calls. I think he said because he saw how I was correct in calling her corrupt the last times I contacted him regarding her not receiving my calls and then blocked me and didn't give any reply to my messages. He had then rebuked me as he called my behavior despicable as he reasoned that all police personnels were busy with G20 and didn't even get the time to eat and sleep properly. But now it had been more than a month since G 20 and still she didn't contact me as she would and she still has me blocked on WhatsApp which she had done back on 7th September (the past month). Instead of telling the culprit to follow the path of God and do things the right way, they are covertly insisting an innocent person to bow down to the wicked tactics of a psychopathic mind. She's not saying it, but that's what she's communicating with her behavior. She didn't call me even once after she was assigned as my IO.

19:36

While having milk with fruit bread:

I see a vision of a bearded RS with silky smooth neck-length hair nailing me angrily to the wall in front of me beside the kitchen sink as he holds my jaw with a furious expression and says: Naukar smajh ke rakha hai kya mujhe!? Naukar hu mein tera!?

After I wrote the above, I heard in my Spirit: Kartika sab has rahe hai.. sab has rahe hai..

****

From the evening of 13th October:

While going out this late evening (around 7-7:30 pm or so) few days back to buy Apples after talking to my mom, as I was nearing the outermost gate, this guy with a CID moustache dressed in full-sleeved navy blue shirt tucked inside black pants came walking hastily saying with a smile: Itni raat ko kahan jaa rhe the.. I don't know this guy though I seem some resemblance with Glory, and though he seems to be looking at me while he's saying the sentence to me, I don’t assume that he's saying it to me because he came rushing directly towards the gate and didn't even say Excuse Me or anything similar which would've served as a confirmation to me that he was indeed addressing me, and then he could be talking to someone behind me as well. So my attention kept shifting towards and away from him. As he reached the door, I saw that the expression of his eyes had turned inwards and then he was looking at the back. He opened the door and walked away behind me.

Later after I had returned from the local market having bought the apples, momos, Aloo Kachori and two sweets, I was reminded of the previous highlight from the movie The Notebook in which Noah stands in front of the heroine and says the he could be anyone whom she wanted him to be. And then I recalled the past dream revelations of The Dusty Man & The Fairy and the one with the fluffed and muscular CID Daya. Noah says that he could be fun, pensive smart, superstitious, brave etc. anything she liked and then he asks her what she wants him to be, which now makes me recall my own vision revelation of multiple differently colored women being birthed of me, with each one going ahead with a different chore. And then I also recalled the revelation in which Noah pushed me away while dancing together thrashing me to the wardrobe in 303 of A-10, while I kicked Jack away while dancing with him, but in either case the person being pushed/kicked away walked back to the pusher/kicker.

The Notebook | Drawn To Ya | Warner Bros. Entertainment

Additionally, on my way back from the local market, while passing by the nearest sweet shop to my place, as I looked towards it, I felt a strong nudge to eat a Kachori as I felt a subtle movement inside my heart. So I got one, ad bought two pieces of different sweets as well. I wrote this to record the point that I felt a strong internal nudge to have that Kachori.
****

Page 565.

16 October 2023
11:49

Past Revelation:

- (Past Few days) A butterfly with beige wings beautifully and thinly patterned in black is flying at its place close to something. Death Conqueror clips its wings with a scissor as a result of which it falls down on the ground, after which he squishes its main vertical black body with his foot!
- (Past two days) A small-framed vision of a hand putting yellow daal in two separate steel bowls.
- (Past few days) Jesus throws tea out openly in the air along with Parle G biscuits and as He has done so, they freeze at their places, as they're spread out in a wide region in the center of my room. The vision is followed by me floating through the air with an open mouth as I move through the contents lying still in the air and gulp them all.

I asked Chaaru last night about what they had cooked, they told me that it was Paneer and Yellow Daal. Though I remembered the vision, I didn't ask them for a tiffin as I didn't feel a nudge but was nudge to go buy milk and fruit bread as per the vision I had received within the past hour. So I went and did so, and had the same. It was after having it that I got the nudge to go and ask for a half tiffin with daal in both bowls along with two chapattis.

As I was breaking the second chapatti in pieces to put in the bowl to eat with a spoon after having the first bowl in the same manner, I heard: Isko bas attention chahiye! Isko to bas attention chahiye! accompanied by the RS dressed in his attire of a pink suit from a previous vision.

Earlier during the day yesterday I was thinking about the opposite way of eating the way I did, which would involve taking a lot of amount one perhaps already knew (s)he wouldn't be able to eat and then leaving the leftovers in the serving plate, leftovers that constitute more than half of the amount one took. And I saw how foolish such a way of eating was. First of all, the way a plate looks with leftovers in it is a shabby sight in itself. It looks so bad compared to a plate that has been completely eaten from thus giving it a kind of uniform and therefore neat look. Secondly, I thought only a foolish person would take an amount that was way above his/her eating capacity. I always put stuff on my plate according to my judgment made by considering three factors: how hungry I am, how I like the contents of the food that I am about to put on my plate, and lastly how much can I eat. And I have had a natural inclination to eat a lot because of the eating disorder I developed during childhood. So, I took the amount that I would be able to eat (which just happened to be perhaps more than what others ate), but I knew for sure that I would finish the contents instead of taking an unreasonably great amount when I know my capacity, and leaving the leftovers giving my plate an utterly despicable look. A plate with leftovers looks so disgusting as it shows the lack of good judgment on the part of the person who made that plate! Everyone should finish the contents of their plates and eat in a civilized manner instead leaving uneven mounts on the plate resembling heaps of garbage that are such an ugly sight to one's eyes because it is literally a heap of garbage on the plate when it's left over, or if one happens to leave stuff, one should immediately put the leftovers in the garbage can so that others do not witness the post-meal ugliness of the plate.

And this reminded me of the situation I saw in A-16 or other PGs. I saw plates placed inside or beside the sink with a lot of food on them which would make me question if the people who took that amount were dumb fools as they left a great part of what they took on their plates. At times, only eating a bite or two, and other times, not having eaten anything at all. Now there could be several circumstances (basically two with a number of varying reasons for them) leading to such a situation: either one had the plate set by someone or one's own self to eat later but then one ended up eating from somewhere else leading to the plate staying as such, or one had the plate set to eat but then had to leave because of an emergency, again leaving the plate filled. But no, it was not always so, because I saw my own foolish roommate fill up her plate to the brim and then put the filled plate in the store room outside her room. Now she's so dumb that she would even make a point of me calling that unused kitchen a store room and say 'It's a store room? Can't you see it's a kitchen?' and she would feel superior about it. I know how she thinks and puts others down with her low-level and degraded mind. I wouldn't have said a thing about her, but she has behaved consistently in such ways. I mean look at the habits of these people. They take more than they can eat, and then they don't put what they left in the dustbin and she exclusively put her filled plate in that store room despite the food delivery guy who also served as the dishwasher telling her to not put it there for it wasn't his job to gather utensils and everyone was supposed to put their utensils in their proper place. But the bigoted ego of the millionaire girl stopped her from listening to what he had to say. He talked to me about it once and told me to tell her the same. But I told him her response I had heard as she was complaining openly about how he wasn't picking her utensils up. In her mind, he had to do that job. He was obligated to do that job though it may not be his job. The same mentality you see in Death Conqueror! He targeted me, so I have to comply though I don't really have to comply with his sick ways, because why should I, looking at how he has been hurting me in various ways all this time? The end doesn't justify the means, because there's a proper way to get things done, because of this existent properness alone Jesus had to come and die or else He would have given free entry to Heaven to everyone! But there's a certain properness of mind and one's bond with God and how they obey Him that's needed when one enters in His kingdom. When I told that food delivery guy about her response, his eyes got filled. He felt small. She made him feel that way by her behavior! That's who she is when it comes to people below her economic level. That's why she's a dumb fool! Likewise her immoral and disgusting genitalia buddy Death Conqueror! The only proper way for us to enter heaven was through Jesus's sacrifice and it will hold true for all times to come. There's no other way. The disgusting man chose a way that showed his superior ego! He didn't think if I got irreversibly hurt or lost my mental balance, or I could've taken self-harming steps as well in the absence of God. But none of it mattered. The only thing that mattered was his disgusting genitalia and surmounting ego in the absence of which he wouldn't have such a thing in the first place! These stupid people are good in only tiny, small or insignificant ways that don't really matter, but they are terrible and bad in huge ways that cause a lot of harm to others! Because look how he wasted years of my PhD and then he wants me to be a drop-out and it would boost his ego if I was to be so. He just keeps proving again and again how filthy he is in his mind. Even thinking about such a person makes me nauseous with feelings of disgust!

Yesterday Evening:

- Dushman is prodding my body going from my face to my groin, and as he reaches my groin, he tears it apart, followed by him saying in his usual unstable tone: Are mein dushman nhi hu! Mein to tujhse pyaar karta hu! Pehchaan mujhe!
  But the Holy Spirit is still representing him by the character of Dushman. The follow-up scene has him standing to my left as he is removing his beige postman clothes before coming at me!

Late Evening after dinner, I had these revelations while lying on the floor:

- Ali Faizal walks by naked by my left side towards the narrow kitchen space.
- The follow-up vision has his naked self holding a pole in a dark background with one leg bent and wrapped around it as he has balanced himself on it. He seems to be enjoying his pole ride.
- He looks at me and says something like: You're the one for me! while rejecting his wife Richa in the next statement. (It doesn't reflect my thoughts though as I am not someone who wants husbands of other people and cause tension and strife in one's life.)
- The follow-up vision has a naked Meera with her open long and thick hair falling at the back balanced separately on the pole along with him as they both stretch forth their bodies outwardly in a direction perpendicular to each other.
- The chubby face of Bhumi Pednekar with her wavy (almost curly) hair combed sideways with a children's clip on one side of her head looks to the right slightly turned away from the viewer.
- Bhumi Pednekar in a saree breaks open a brown coconut on the ground severing it in half and revealing its white insides.

During Last Night:

As I lay on my bed and think that I feel tired, I see:

- RS in his previous attire of a pink suit with a stubble and silky and smooth neck-length hair sitting beside my legs and pressing on them together with both hands which reminds me of the previous revelation I had earlier in the evening while having milk and bread in which he had angrily said as he was about to twist and sever my jaw: Naukar hu mein tera!? Huh!? Naukar hu mein!?
- Harry Osborn in black graduation attire stands with a leg lifted and placed on a surface at a higher level with a background of a beautiful tall and green smooth (and not chaotic) waterfall.
- Somewhere in the middle of the revelatory flow I see a naked short heighted but slightly wide avatar of Death Conqueror resembling KA to some extent sitting on a standing me with his legs wrapped around a naked me as he sat in the posture against my body in intercourse.
- The vision is followed by us in that posture standing against the part of the wall to the left of Psalm 34:4-5 with my back against the wall.
- The above is followed by the vision of a naked Jack sitting at the edge of a double bed inside a room with a naked Rose on top of him in intercourse as he's then fondling her breasts.
- The vision is followed by the vision of the upper half of Jack dressed in his clothes from the movie (a dark olive green full-sleeved shirt with straps running across his shoulders from below his pants).

Today's Revelations

Dream 1:

I am in a vehicle and heading to a place with Shreya heavily dressed in multi-layered black clothes with her straight shoulder-length hair falling at the back. We are sitting on an elongated seat along the wall of a metallic vehicle with its door to our left. Shreya asks her younger and only brother Ojas to go and check if they're about to arrive at their destination (a certain building). Her little 2-3 feet high brother Ojas walks towards the gate, bends and peeks outside, returns and then tells her about the status and he does it in such an innocent way in his innocent baby voice that she's overwhelmed at his behavior listening to him and begins pampering him calling him Ojas Bhaiya. She keeps pampering him and I can see how much filled with love she is because of the innocence of her little brother. Now when I wrote about it, it reminded me how I used to be mesmerized by the innocence of my younger brothers when they were little. I couldn't leave them alone for long and needed to play with them and show my love for them every now and then as they were so little with their highly innocent self (and not just looks). They were so cute! It also reminds me of my own wickedness I exhibited with my youngest brother when he was little. I would ask him to fetch me something or do something for me, and he would do so, but then I would scold him for no reason because I wanted to make him cry not because I enjoyed in his pain but because he looked too cute while crying to my stupid younger self. And when he would begin crying, I would then start pampering him, showering him with love in order to make him stop. Now that I look at it, it is so wicked of me. How could I make an innocent child cry when he actually did something for me, and I made him cry for no reason? I would scold or shout at him, saying mean things and at times hit him lightly with my palm. But it wasn't the hitting that hurt him, but the fact that I was scolding him because of which he would start crying in front of me which would then melt my heart and I would begin soothing him as I would hug the little him and drop kisses on his cheeks saying: 'Sorry Sorry.. Sorry Bhaiya..' Suddenly I would feel too bad for my behavior and would try my best to make up for what I did. But Shreya exhibits the correct behavior. She doesn't scold her brother for no reason making him cry but appreciates what he did right and makes him feel loved. But I made my brother feel loved after giving him a dose of undeserved difficulty. The present abhors the past me for doing such an act! If I asked my little brother to do something for me and he obeyed without delay, I would immediately express my gratitude, admiration, and love for him instead of scolding him for no reason.

The Dream Continued:

It's night now and I am out of my home in my hometown and am standing at a shop to buy something when I notice this dance across the other side of the road performed by short ladies as they move forward dressed in sky-blue sarees while sitting down on vertically folded knees. I get curious about what's going on there so I cross over the road. I see a clean-shaven Amitabh Bachchan dressed in a cream tunic set with a half jacket on top performing on a song as he's singing it. I am sitting down on the floor on a spread along with others as we watch his performance. Towards the end of his performance, he is near to my side of the audience and ends it with the last three phrases said separated by some distance. When I enter the space in front of which these performances took place, I find it to be a huge empty hall lit in white light with very few people roaming inside. I walk further inside and find SRK walking around with a stoic expression, being dressed in a black suit with a black shirt inside, and though the hall is almost empty, he seems to have not looked at me though I'm standing right in front of him. Now I don't know if he didn't notice me as a human when he passed me by, or if he was aware that he passed by someone but didn't find it worth it to look in that person's direction to see who it was, for at times we can close by people we know without noticing them as we are focused on our path and we don't look hither tither. Though I don't know if he ignored me in the dream, I happen to think so, and then think about the group of pages with the vision of a hand holding them together in a group making a point that those were the pages that contained his reference in my revelatory notebook. I feel a bit hurt for I've those group of pages of revelations about him, so he could've at least said Hi, or have a brief friendly chat before walking away. There were two more girls with me when I entered the hall. Now I've to use the washroom to perhaps wash my hands or something like that. So, I move towards the same which is near the entrance of the hall that entered in through. I am now walking with the two girls inside through the hall when I see Anil Kapoor with a moustache coming walking in from a door present on the far left end of the hall, but on spotting me, he abruptly stops in his track, turns back and walks out of the hall. He enters the hall again, this time seemingly mentally prepared, dressed in his previous attire of full-sleeved shirt over pants with a half jacket on top. He spits lightly on the ground as he's walking to the right and passes by in front of us.

Dream 2:
The vision focuses on the face of Pooja Bhatt in the night navy blue background as it turns away from the tree's trunk that she's standing in right against, and as her face turns towards the viewer/vision's focus, it gets lit with green light that slowly increases in intensity as her face turns further towards the viewer. After the face of Pooja Bhatt, I see the vision now focusing on the face of a male and I am expecting him to be the actor Rahul Roy from Phir Teri Kahani Yaad Ayi.. As I wrote the previous line, I heard the person sing:
Tere dar par sanam chale aye..
Tu na aya to hum chale aye..

The chorus is followed by the lyrics wherein I hear the lady sing:
Bin tere koi aas bhi na rahi..
Itne tarse ke pyaas bhi na rahi..

And the lyrics repeat a few times.

Dream 2 continued:
As the vision of the dream now focuses on the face of the actor with his face too lit with the green light, though at first he briefly resembles Rahul Roy, his face then changes to another Bollywood actor with the green light still shining focusedly on his face. This part of the dream repeats a few times with the face of Pooja Bhatt turning away from the tree's trunk towards the viewer as focused green light falls on her face eventually illuminating it with great intensity, followed by the face of the actor in the forest's open space being lit with focused green light. Both of them are standing in what looks like a forest sparsely populated with trees as it is illuminated with the soothing moonlight giving it the bluish hue of the night.

And then somewhere in my sleep, I had this dream-vision in which I saw a rough figure of the upper half of a guy near the ceiling above my feet who was saying that because of the way that I eat - completely finishing the contents of my plate, I couldn't be with him. Though it wasn't clear who it was, the statement made me look at what I had been thinking the previous day about how I would be feeling if ate the other way round. The thought had dropped in my mind on its own and I saw that I found finishing the content of my plate somehow related to righteousness and that it I was to do the opposite, I wouldn't be feeling good. And today, as I wrote earlier on this page my thoughts about the same, I also looked at the reasoning I followed in finishing the contents of my plate. And if I find something unreasonable or illogical, I by default find it hard to do, as is apparent in the way I interact with others as well, or else I would've met Glory by now. Looking at the way people ate in my previous PG (A-16) made me quite angry as I saw filled plates that they didn't even care to empty in the dustbin. Why do they take that huge amount if they can't eat it. I always take the amount that I know that I will surely be able to eat and then I take more as needed and that's the right way to eat! People who don't even know the right way to serve themselves judge others who are doing things the right way!

Now there was a time when I had begun fasting and would stop eating as I felt full even if it meant leaving just a bite on my plate. It was around the time of Tejaswi. But now I prefer to finish the contents because I only grab that thing to eat that which I like and because I like it, I can easily eat a few more bites of it.

Past Dream-Vision

Again, a rough figure of a guy is pointing out things about me, the way I live, and other things that are shown to me in a group, and pointing to them, he says something like: How can I live in such conditions? But I don't find anything too wrong about the way I live. The only thing that has occurred to me that I am lacking is for me to buy a mat to lie on the floor so my olive green sheet won't be dirty. I like to live in clean and organized surroundings, and for my own self: I focus more on my internal cleanliness of mind.

Revelations post waking up:

- A beige wall on which is written in black that things will stay right for a day or two.
- The vision shows the face of Tom Cruise as he walks to the viewer with a well-lit background of a room lit in white light, and says: I Love You.. The vision repeats a few times.
- The upper half of Jyoti Ma'am (Jyoti Rajput) dressed in a green saree with a yellow blouse wearing my black newsboy cap salutes at the viewer with her right hand and says: Yes Sir! The vision repeats several times. She teaches in the Dept of Physics & Astrophysics of DU, and is a single lady though she has crossed her middle age. She chose to stay unmarried.
- The upper half of Srilekha (whom I met in Miranda's Hostel) looks at the viewer as she says in a broken voice: He's going to kill you.
- Later, when I've yet not written the vision about Jyoti Ma'am and am therefore constantly being reminded of the same as it keeps getting flashed in my Spirit, I see the follow-up vision showing her now looking at me with red love hearts in front of her eyes.

When I wrote the vision of Jyoti Ma'am saying Yes Sir with a salute wearing her newsboy cap, and then I was writing her brief background of being unmarried, I wondered if that was what God's plan was for me and it filled me with joy because that is the ideal thing I want to do. I want to work for God with my cap on. Now some foolish people like the lady who stays upstairs may and the likes may imply that it's a job anyone can do, but as Jesus revealed in the vision yesterday: No one could've done this tedious job besides me. Seeing the unrepentant and reprobate posture of the hearts of those people, they wouldn't even qualify for such a job! So they better not demean my job by saying that it's a trivial job! Because a lady like the one who stays upstairs doesn't even possess the needed inner traits and mind to do what I do, the same with others like her! I don't think the people who were making fun of my job yesterday, by portraying it as something trivial as a guy said something and the foolish lady above repeated after him, would stand with God for a week if not a day. Because their minds will keep going back to the demented ways they're used to thinking. Additionally, they don't believe in sanctifying one's inner self. They're just about an outward image, and that image they want to preserve, while internally they stink! This lady who was playing me yesterday nowhere possesses my character traits. So she better keep her mouth shut that does the job of devil. They all qualify for doing the devil's job, and that's why they do what they do: serve as wicked messengers. These people are so demented that they don't even know the way a bond is preserved and trust is gained! It is not gained by doing what these people did or by trying to put mental pressure on an individual.

Additionally, this other foolish lady was indirectly saying to me once when I was near The Royal Canteen that they sent cameras to make sure that I was working! And then these lines keep playing in my Spirit:
Teri Vishwas Yogyata dekhunga mein umar bhar..

The worship song: Mein Haath Uthakar Gaunga..

This makes me think how these foolish people fared in their lives by far as they did not see everyone who was around them, those who cooked their food or brought stuff. Were they watching those people all the time to make sure that they did things right or were trustworthy? How did they manage all this time? And I wouldn't even want to be with such a person whom I trust enough and whom I have to put cameras around to make sure if they're doing things right! These people are so demented and their minds stink. They're brainwashed with illogical immoral social reasoning that rules their brain!

Honestly, I truly want to be like the vision of Jyoti Ma'am that I saw today. I think she's in an ideal person to serve as a messenger of God because she's independent and unmarried and also a scientist so she can reason well with people. Being independent gives you the freedom to work for God without having to depend on others who may cause objections or hinder in your work, though one can face hindrances in other ways as well, financial dependence on the provision given by God alone removes the possibility of the different financial problems one could face in their ministry. Almost all the people I've come across who work for God are self-reliant like Sis Adele who has her business she established as God led her or they accept donations like Jonathan receives from different sources and a great part of it he also used to build the tiny homes for the homeless in a project he financially supported, but no one is fully dependent on one person or a particular person. They all in a way are reliant on God for their provision which is a very radical way to think and live. Brother Andrew works a job, while previously he was a paid pastor in the church system but he left that job as he saw the hypocrisy in the worldly church system where people didn't really follow the teaching of Jesus but stressed on the Easy Grace way to live. He left the financial provision he received from the church system and instead chose to do a job so he and his family could truly be set apart in their pursuit of the Lord because once you're in the church system, you and your family of believers are by default answerable to the church and there's a lot of worldly stuff that goes on there where the Pastor himself is in sin with his secretary etc.. And then we've brother Philip who runs entirely on donations. He has a huge ministry. Same goes for Brother Wally. So, God can lead one to do a job to fend for themselves and their family or situate them in such a place where they receive help from others. For me, God provided me through my job at the dept. And He knows my strengths and weaknesses. He knows that I teach well and that would be a good option of a job to provide for me. But I will see how He leads me in the future. Now if we look at the old Testament, God provided for Elijah when he was hiding through a raven and Elijah stayed at that place for a long time. Regardless of the way God provides for His children who follow Him, they are supposed to stay with Him and continue following Him.

I'm just so fed off of hearing these cheap 'Uffs'! It sounds so cheap to the ears!

God's Story: Elijah

While I was listening to another Elijah Video, the lyrics started playing in my Spirit.
The Guy sings:
Pehle kabhi na humne kaha.. O aaj sanam hum kehte hai..
Hum apke dil mein rehte hai.. Hum apke dil mein rehte hai..

Ref: The Bollywood Song.

While I was cleaning the balcony space, I kept hearing: Kartika Sab has rahe hai! Sab has rahe hai! which again didn't make any sense to me.

After cleaning room, and brushing teeth, when I am not cleaning up the few small particles on the wet balcony floor with a tissue as I don't want to get my hands dirty again by touching the mop, I hear: Kartika tum jitna soch rhi ho na, tum itni acchi nhi ho..! And it makes think of Glory as his face gets flashed! The sentence repeats a few times.

After I wrote the above: The naked upper half of Glory until slightly above his shoulders doing a Katta at the viewer.

And then as I continue to clean the floor, I hear: Na to ye itni sunder hai, na hi itni moral hai, isko God ne kaise choose kar liya! Which doesn't make any sense to me. Because I'm not sinning in any of the ways these people are doing and am following the Lord God as He guides me. In my own eyes, I've degraded in my moral standards as I put up with people like Akhila and Death Conqueror and gave them grace, kept listening to their crap as they threw it at me.

Well, I often think how the foolish men whose brains are brainwashed by the prevalent societal culture, use these stupid indirect tactics that only end up wasting time.

Well, now that I think about it, whenever I saw Glory downstairs while staying in A-16, I was thinking about God's plan and not mine. He had already given me the way the wedding was supposed to unfold, and then He had shown to get a flat belly. So I never felt I was ready to go and meet him. And then I recall his angry outburst once, when he threw a small bottle of soft drink in front of him as he was sitting downstairs and waiting! I hadn't talked to those guys, and I felt weird around them because they were not godly in a way and then I didn't even know if I was supposed to go downstairs because I didn't feel any nudge. It's now that I've started to be active in the Holy Spirit and know what I am supposed to do. But it didn't used to be like this during those days. I had these changes in me in my mind that God told me that I had to bring about. And they never approached me in a direct manner like I do others. It was mainly God who inhibited me perhaps in going up to him whenever I saw him. If he walked inside my PG and asked the guy below that he wanted to meet so and so, I would go and meet him. That's how normal people who are not psychopathic go about things. Now I've started to become a bit accustomed to the weird and awkward ways of these people, but even then I don't like them and neither would I adopt them, because they reflect a demented way of thinking that's based on acquiring a kind of mind control of another individual!

Note: Amrita Singh was the actress shown to me in the previous two visions, one of a lady sketched in white riding on an animal holding a Trident (with the entire scene sketched in white) on a black background in white, and other with the head of a woman with straight hair with a golden headband like that of wonder woman resting sideways as she faced the viewer. I couldn't find her name online as I didn't come across her picture. But today I found her picture as I searched for old age heroines.

'Kartika, you're living in Heaven.. You're living in Heaven..': This sentence has been repeated to me in my Spirit since morning. And it would make sense to me to some extent as everything in my room looks golden in golden light and most of the things are clean besides me.

Revelations while resting on the floor:

- The short-heighted and fat lady from the group of four people of the Bed Box PG standing behind a crowd of people, with her being unable to look through the crowd of tall people as dressed in a fluffed red Santa Claus suit making her look like a thick cylinder, as she says in a low tone: Maaro Maaro, Ise Maaro

Earlier during the day:

Death Conqueror standing beside a slab facing the viewer says in an affirmative tone as he looks to the left while fiddling with something lying on the slab: Dumbass to vo hai! Dumbass to vo hai!

Followed by: Pehle mein tujhe maarunga. Aur tere baad usko bhi maar dunga!

Revelations later at night:

- A small-framed vision of KA riding a bicycle towards the viewer on the viewer's right side of the road with a dark brown square-faced vertical bull sitting behind him with his rectangular vertical body lifted at a level higher than his head.
- He then stops after treading some distance and seems to talk with the viewer and shake hands.

Page 566.

17 October 2023
00:51

About an hour before the sunset and it was dark, I saw Jesus pointing me to eat milk and bread and when I went to Dinesh Store, I felt nudged to buy Maggi and Pasta as well. Before I set out to buy, He showed me with His fingers that I had to ideally water fast for three days and that it could extend to 5 days as well as I was able to persevere. So, I knew that he was having me eat that heavy meal of my favourite combo of milk and bread because I was supposed to fast for the next three days. I had the pasta and the milk and bread. While the pasta cooked, I mopped my room as the floor was a bit dusty. I had the full packet of bread leaving only two slices which I wasn't able to have as I was too full. I threw them for I was to fast and they would rot without a fridge. After a while, I saw Jesus nudging me to eat the Magi as well as He showed me His own self pouring in the Maggi in His mouth directly from the pan as He held it above His mouth. And the thought that accompanied was that I was going to need the fuel for the fast. So, I had that too.

Also, somewhere in the evening, I came across this video by Danish Basir as a YouTube suggestion in my phone's YT homepage which talked about how narcissistic abuse affects your skin. I had been having these itching episodes for the past few months where the itching had only increased and it increased to an unbearable extent when I was at home because of Raksha Bandhan. That night I started itching a lot and it was with a great intensity and I woke up with swollen arms. I had to go and see the dermatologist who sat in the Omaxe Plaza near my apartment and he told me that I had Urticaria and though that because of it I could have itching at any place from my head to toe. He gave me medicine for a week and my itching went away for a week or so but returned after a while, though not with the same intensity. Now, this video by Danish Basir told me that emotional and psychological stress caused by Narc Abuse often causes skin conditions in their victims. He shared how he himself suffered from the same and still does though he has reversed a great part of it. I will share the link with those who are interested in watching his video on the topic. His video was a confirmation for me that my condition wasn't unexplainable but a very common one found in victims of narc abuse that they developed after years of facing extreme levels of stress.

Skin Issues Caused by Narcissistic Abuse

My itching symptoms were still bearable when I was in my room, but when I went home, my home's unclean and unorganized condition made my symptoms worse as it only added a lot of stress to my brain, and my condition became unbearable. And I wasn't even in a condition to clean up because I had been low in energy levels and feeling emotionally downcast leaving me unable to function properly! Cleaning my home is a huge task when there are people like my youngest brother who leave things in improper places and only contribute to the mess with a speed greater than the home gets cleaned! A room one can clean multiple times in a day. But it's not possible to do with a full-fledged home filled with stuff and people need to be cautious and vigilant of how they operate and the way they do things inside a shared space. I understood the reason behind the itching I had been facing for those months now. It began small and I saw it as something normal at first but then it increased as my skin would inflame and even now I have inflammation at some spots in my body. I saw my wrists inflamed and then when I sat on the chair, I felt a bump on my ass and when I checked on the chair and found nothing lying there, it told me that that part was inflamed. At home, I had woken up with swollen arms and they itched a lot.

Later, I was deciding about the thing to go ahead with as I had a number of things I could do: there were a few teaching Christian videos that I could watch, or I could worship, or write my pending revelations. I thought that I would write the revelations. But then this worship song that I had just closed the window of on my browser came to my lips on its own and therefore I knew that I was supposed to worship as I felt an accompanying nudge to play the song.

When I played it, the thought of merging it with Sergei Polunin's dance occurred to me, and it has occurred to me several times previously as well when I used to play it together with this particular almost an-hour-long worship song video by the name of 'Holy Holy Holy Are You Lord'. So, I downloaded the worship song and started working on the song video. At first I had thought that I would play the dance video in a loop throughout the duration of the song as it played in the background. But when I started working on it, one thing followed next and the looped dance video took the form of the guy's worship journey. It took me my entire evening to complete editing the video as I had to make a coherent and sensible story. And as I was working on it, it started raining very heavily! And then I happened to laugh at something followed by a loud thunder right above my head. Looking at the story of the guy captured in the looped dance video made me think how much dumber I had become as compared to how I used to be some years back! Dumber in the sense that I stopped being receptive and accommodating of thinking in the way that I was doing while editing the video. I saw how I had become entirely consumed with low-quality people like Death Conqueror and Akhila, not because they were around me but because this disgusting fellow kept sending messages to me indirectly about them when I didn’t want to know anything. Now if God reveals something, it has a purpose, and it is not based on a lie. He doesn't misjudge or misperceive. And also, He is God, and is supposed to be thinking about everyone. So, He is free to give me revelations about anyone. However, I not being God, don't have to think about wicked people but this fellow kept showing me covert messages that I didn't want to see. Why is he trying to communicate with me when there's no appropriate receptor because I don't empathize with criminals or abusers like that foolish woman!? Later I was thinking how narcissists had to do something really bad to their victims so they wouldn’t be forgotten. It's not just about using their victim in one or other way but one thing they dread the most is the victim moving on and forgetting them. They can't seem to bear the thought of that person whom they once abused and kept under their thumb living a happy life being away from them and blocking their abuse tactics.

Anyway. After completing editing the video, I decided to rest, and then had these revelations:

- RK in place of Sergei Polunin looks at the viewer, hurries backwards, and does a few ballet jump steps.
- RK dressed in a navy blue ethnic set tunic
- 'Vo tujhe marne aa rha hai.. Vo tujhse pyaar karne nahi aa rha.. Vo tujhe marne aa rha hai..': The lines repeat with a strong emphasis on them.
- RS on a horse rides towards the viewer dressed in a sherwani.

13:36

Parts of two Dreams:

I happen to walk by a semi-animated pool when I hear a guy's voice saying: Mujhe aise pta lagta hai ki ye mujhse pyaar karti hai following which I see a semi-animated tall and wide lady with her back hair falling at the back dressed in a deep red beach bra with strings going over her shoulders and the back, and a full-length deep red vertical strip of cloth of about 1.5 feet wide hanging in front of her groin with the apparent skirt tied with a string at the back. It's a skirt made of two vertical deep red surfaces, one on each side. That lady takes a huge leap into the pool and moves on its surface as she's struggling to perhaps float and ends up accidentally stretching her legs wide out revealing her uncovered groin, does a few more awkward forward and backward swings before drowning inside the pool.

Well, after I woke up from this dream, I happened to notice the way I was sleeping, and at times I stretch my legs out to feel comfy and have a better sleep as I have wide thigs and I need some space between them to not feel weird or itchy, and I saw that's how I was lying in that moment as well, and then it reminded me of the lady from the dream, after which I crossed my feet together one on top of another.

My dad lives on a green hill along with other houses present on it. I am hiding by lying on the ground at about 20 meters or so below his level. I am lying on my front as I don't wanna be seen by him for he may hurt me. But he spots me and tells me something. I move away from him and continue doing so.

I am now standing on the road in front of the Laundry service shop. I happen to look back and right behind me in the centre of the road spot a white rectangular convertible with my dad sitting in the driver's seat after which he drives away. After he's left, revealed behind him is standing a Sardar Ji dressed in a full-sleeved checkered shirt untucked over pants beside a common car. The Sardar Ji comes and walks up to me and says something. His behavior doesn't make sense to me.

I was still lying in bed not feeling energetic when I saw:

- The upper half of a uniformly stubbled Jesus in a golden high contrast environment looking at me as He wore a golden crown beaded with multi-colored gems. He looked so beautiful. His character shone through His countenance. What a blessing and fortune to live be able to live with Him in Heaven.

Also, the sentence: Kartika, you're living in Heaven.. You're living in Heaven made me think if it pertained to the time that I would be actually living in Heaven leaving the Earth.

I am listening to Blessed are You Lord, and as I have been doing so, I saw:

- Death Conqueror and Akhila dancing together in the space between her room's sofa and her bed with him wearing a golden crown with multicolored gems embedded in it, and her dressed in her finely printed yellow and black dress revealing her slim figure. They're not dancing in an obscene manner but in a graceful way as they move about each other with extended arms.

As I wrote the above, I heard:
Rahegi sada yaha..
Pyaar ki ye daastan.. Sunenge sada jise..
Ye jameen aasman..

which reminded me of how Akhila was once seemingly crying in front of her friend Shin saying that 'It's her story', in response to which her friend responded with an indirect: Don't sideline her. But I was only writing the truth of how they had been behaving with me and the things that God showed me. They really seemed cheap and low-quality people to me because of their bloated self and their attitude and behavior! I still feel that disgust for them. Now they may be sharing the above bond, but it only shows their selves contained within that setting and not how they've come across in front of me which has only been abusive! They are severely degraded and are the kind of people that despite the other person not saying or doing a single thing to hurt them, will still devise deceptive schemes or say hurtful words to that person for no reason, or cause damage to her life and feel good about it. Typical Psychopaths! So low-quality! Who cares if such people have such a bond? Even Ahab and Jezebel shared a bond where Ahab did everything Jezebel told her but they both were ungodly and hated Elijah and were after his life. Jezebel wanted him dead. Now a woman like her wants to live in a dependent way where she doesn't have to lift a finger but is given all facilities because of one or other privilege she didn't earn and which doesn't involve her working for it. She would perhaps like the life of staying shut inside a house indulging only in vain social activities that involve a lot of useless talking with no sense of financial independence. She may be like that who doesn't like to work and earn her living using the skills or talents God has blessed her with, perhaps she doesn't have any! But I am not like that! I wouldn't like full-fledged dependence on a man, let alone on an immoral man! God gave me a brain that He did for a purpose! I could cook and cean anywhere, with any guy I was with! Jesus didn't have to show me the vision in which He was rolling out kneaded flour after which he made a Laccha Parantha. I don't know why He showed me because I could that even without Him showing me that and I did use to cook when I was home in 2020 during the lockdown of Covid-19. But He also knows that that's not who I am at the core. That's only a small part of my daily chores and shouldn't consume my entire day. When it comes to her, it would make sense if she spent her entire day cooking and cleaning because she is well-suited for that as she doesn't like to be independent or work a job, and then she likes situations where she gets to talk a lot of useless stuff. I have many things at hand that I could do because I am capable of doing them if I didn't have to stay at home taking care of chores. I can do that too, but I would prefer to do it while living with a righteous man. I would feel content and at peace if I was to depend financially on a righteous person who knows and follows the ways of God and not a worker of devil! I am on the side of Jesus because I know His character traits and I like it when He provides for me! But I wouldn't have liked it if an immoral man provided for me or else why would I have left Awadhesh Prasad (my previous supervisor)?

And also, the life where I am living within the foolish worldly social bounds that require me to partake in foolish social activities while being a part of a worldly home doesn't seem too inviting to me either! I know that the lives of some people only revolve around what they're going to wear in the next social gathering they're going to attend and they spend a lot of time discussing the same while on the other front they're blinded to their wicked ways of ungodly thinking that has tainted their brains. I know she's like that. I don't want to be a part of home where my life is going to revolve around the foolish things of the world that I don't want anyway. I want Jesus and His Kingdom. I don't want to be the part of the kingdom of an immoral man who put me through what I went through all this time, because I know where it leads. I know the kind of lifestyle they live, and how their brains work as well, with God, the real God and not their perception of who God is, being nowhere in their thoughts. I don't want an abundant life, but I am not contending for poverty either, but what I am saying is having in God in whatever situation one finds one in, because a wise person knows that a life situation or condition is separate from the person. We've to look at the person and not his surrounding life condition. It's a very foolish life in my eyes that entirely revolves around living comfortable, attending family gatherings, going to places, and partaking in systems that reflect a worldly way of thinking without the presence of God. Mind rules over the body. Living such a life I described above seems such a waste of time in the absence of God. Because there're many in the family of God who stay at home, don't work a job, but then they interact with others who also are a part of God's family and not the world, and they know that where they are is what the Will of God is for their lives as well. But to uselessly fare around the social systems of the world without the guidance of God is a very foolish thing to do and a waste of time. Whatever work you do, it has to be done under God and not by being separate from Him. And I realized that this kind of lifestyle with Godly guidance would hold meaning when one lives with a righteous partner and not a wicked immoral one.

Late at night, I did a live stream in which I explained the different phases of the worshipping man in the video, but after the video was done, I found out that it had been removed by YouTube as they found it to copy someone else's work when it showed mostly my own Worship Dance video that I had uploaded previously. I don't know if they removed it because it matched a video from my own channel, but then my channel isn't huge or even the level of a beginner. I am not making videos to gain subscribers but to share the truth.

As I was talking in the stream,

- I kept seeing the vision of the upper half of Sis Adele lightly slapping my face with a smile. It seemed as if she was pleased with what I was saying.

After the stream, when I lay on bed:

- The naked upper half of RK with abs visible through his open navy blue full-sleeved shirt as he is sitting on top of a much smaller woman and moving slowly.
- His face then changes to Bobby Deol.
- A hand holds out a huge conical shiny light green diamond. The guy turns out to be KA dressed in a neck-high black t-shirt with a loose printed shirt on top.
- The diamond changes its shape to that of a leaner cone with a taller height.
- He looks at the viewer with the same green diamond that he was holding in his hand now shining inside his eyes.
- The follow-up vision has him still having those eyes with that emerald green diamond shining inside, but he's now both his hands lifted up to the sides of his head as he presses his thumb against his head and moves his free fingers in quick motions while sticking out his tongue and moving it up and down randomly making random sounds.
- The side-view from a distance of 5-6 metres of a naked couple on a single bed laid in the centre of a dimly-lit room with a localized light with both the persons having a beige complexion and a sheet with a lavender print wrapped around their middle bodies as the guy moves slowly on top of the woman. The room looks spacious and well organized and their bed seems to be situated in front a window present in their room with it being covered with a white sheet.

Past Revelations:

- (Past 48 hours) A firey white football moves to the left through a dark background. The vision repeats intermittently throughout my time of resting which is not a true rest.
- I had a few Jackie Shroff and Tiger Shroff Visions as well. The Jackie Shroff visions had the upper half of the actor dressed in a full-sleeved shirt tucked inside pants looking to the left, while the Tiger Shroff visions showed his naked upper half standing beside what looked like a hospital bed on its side away from the viewer inside a spacious room lit with sunlight coming through the windows on the wall facing the viewer and present at some distance from the bed, as a naked woman lying on the bed jumps and wraps her legs around him in intercourse.
  Last night, I was preparing to fall asleep as I lay on my bed under my green sheet with my face covered with it as well.
- And then I have this vision of the face of Glory in front of mine as I dropped quick repeated kisses on his lips.
- A long and narrow steel cylindrical pipe held in front of a vagina in open air.
- (Past 48 hours) A close-up view of the pink vertical tissue slit of a vagina.

Page 567.

18 October 2023
15:11

Dream:

Apparently, I am in my school in my hometown. And I am this person dressed in a red fitting t-shirt over black pants with short hair whom I am seeing as a third person. He is standing outside the row of classrooms lying to the left of the principal's office and is now walking to the group of teachers standing near the lawn in front. Many filled buses are leaving with school students dressed in their red and brown uniforms, I too have to board the same. All of us are going on an educational trip to a place where we would be looking at the details of the things on display. But then I recall that I have to quickly fetch something. So, I rush to the first floor to the left of the principal's office. Instead of taking the open stairs adjoining the outer wall , I take a leap and jump directly to the first floor, and as I am rushing to the left end of the corridor, I see the short-heighted and cylindrical Prof. Hashmi, dressed in a grey full-sleeved shirt tucked inside pants, running in the opposite direction to me holding a heap of answer sheets in his hands as two slim and taller people run behind him to catch him. It seems that he doesn't want to be caught, and while I am on my way to get the thing I am worried that the filled buses may leave.

Revelations Post Waking up:

- Vijay Raaz dressed in a green satin shirt with a crumpled V-neck looks at the viewer and swipes away his nose towards him.
- The vision repeats a few times with him performing the act in different forms.
- The vision from last night of the couple in bed repeats with the middle bodies of the duo wrapped inside a lavender sheet as the man lay on top of the woman, but this time I see the presence of a rat trap that gets stuck to the left hand of the lady, and when the guy has removed it, it gets stuck to his hand lying on the same side. They keep removing it but it keeps shifting from the hand of one to another.
- The follow-up vision now shows the front view of their bed showing the face of the man who's lifted above the woman while only the head of the woman lying on the bed is visible. The man carries the face of Tom Cruise and then changes to that of the clean-shaven red ranger (Conner McKnight played by James Napier Robertson) from Power Rangers Dino Thunder who has short and straight neck-length hair that he keeps partitioned in the middle.

  As I wrote the last sentence, I heard:

  The Guy sings:

  Deewani hoke haseena.. Khaayi kya dhoke haseena..

  Aao tum bhi aaj sunlo..

- The face of Meredith Miller from the Inner Integration channel on YouTube with her ringing a bell beside her right ear.
- Meredith Miller looks at the viewer with a smile as she sits in her seat.

I had an outburst again because their abuse continues all the time! And whenever I go out, I have to come across messenger people who only depress me more by their stupid messages! They've to insult one or other thing about me! Even if I am 250 kgs in weight, they've no right to insult my body! And even when I at home, the messengers keep coming in different ways! It's almost as if the whole world has become abusive! And it doesn't mean that I don't want to walk in the Will of God. If I was alone in the desert like the Israelites where the only problems I faced were about food and shelter, but where I knew that I was led by God, I wouldn't be as stressed as I would know that I am walking with God. But, at least, I wouldn't be having these wicked people around me who serve as messengers and cause me harm. Israelites didn't have people bothering them or targeting them during the time in the wilderness before they entered the promised land.

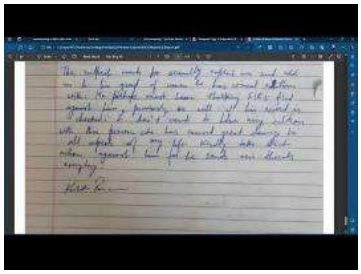
I called my assigned IO and found out that she had blocked me! So I called the general Police helpline 100. A lady picked up and I told her I had filed an FIR and as I said so, my voice by itself became coarse as I was about to cry, and when I shared with her that the assigned IO had blocked me, I began to cry out loud, and then she told me to visit the Police Station. But I've done so previously, and whenever I do so, I don't find her there, and neither does she pick up my calls when I'm there! While I was preparing to go to the Police Station, I felt like peeing and on my way to the washroom, I saw the following vision.

- My dad dressed in a black full-sleeved t-shirt is slapping my face hard repeatedly as he is saying: Jayegi Police Station!? Jayegi Police Station!?

And then it occurred to me that I should record my FIR first before going to the Station, and I've thought about it previously as well many times but I didn't do so, and I was also busy with my work. But I want to make a record of the things I've complained against. Because why should truth be kept hidden! Only wrongdoers would want so!

My FIR Made In Model Town Police Station (Live From Vijay Nagar, Double Storey, New Delhi, India)



When I had just begun to do the above livestream, I saw:

- Jesus coming with a steel rod at the back of my head with full force as He came at me with a high jump through the air with the vision beginning at His position at the highest spot in His vertical trajectory.
- My dad coming with a steel rod at the back of my head with full force.
- Towards the end of the video, I saw my dad sitting on my bed with his legs resting downwards as he now carried a relaxed and calmed down expression of relief as he smiled to himself. He was no longer angry the way he was when I was doing the livestream.

After doing the above livestream, when I lay on my bed to rest, I had the following revelations:

- The character of Gajendra (played by Danny Denzongpa) from the movie Lajja swings a metallic rod towards a person lying on the floor. He carries his hostile villainous look from the movie. It seems that he is going to hit his head.
- The vision is followed by him changing to now dressed in an attire of white polo shirt over tucked inside pants, but still carrying the moustache from the movie, and standing in a Polo ground with the stick followed by him hitting it straight in my direction and the ball hitting the centre of my forehead.
- A chubby and short-heighted Soha Ali Khan with her hair tied at the back comes walking towards the viewer dressed in a sleeveless light attire in the shape of an open cone at the lower half with a semicircular top buttoned up to her neck.
- The vision is seen from the ground level. Death Conqueror dressed in a white sherwani tunic with grey buffalo/cow print hits the head of a person with a steel rod with all his might.
- Followed by him hitting her head again.

Past Revelations:

- (Past 48 hours) Shiney Ahuja from the movie Gangster, dressed in a finely checkered full-sleeved shirt, standing above me in a dark background throws a lit lighter on me with an apathetic expression.
- (Past week) A modern cubic art painting with a naked beige lady lying on her side facing the viewer as a man lies behind her with an arm going over her. The painting is colored with mild forms of colors.
- (Past 48 hours) 'Kartika, we're sorry that you've to go through this because of us! We're sorry that you've to go through this because of us!': Heard in the Spirit

Well, I don't find it burdensome to go through the situation that I am going through as part of my walk with God, and then it's job as well in a way, but what hurts and hinders in my daily functioning are the bullying and insulting messengers that I keep coming across every day! They're what make things difficult for me, along with the fact that a wicked person is expecting me to lay down my life for him when he has already ruined most parts of it! He wants to turn me into a dumb robotic fool who takes orders and doesn't get hurt regardless of what is done to her! (So wicked and deplorable!)

It made me recall how I intrinsically developed this inclination to doodle cubic on my own, and I didn't know that it came under the category of cubic art when I would begin making the structures on any surface I happen to begin doodling on. This day during BSc while being on the roof of Saroj Sadan, I happened to doodle a huge cubic structure on the roof's floor with something, perhaps a chalk or a piece of red brick, and it was then that Tripti Di asked me with a slightly authoritative tone about what was it that I was doing. I didn't reply because I couldn't have given a reply that would've seemed sensible and then I also knew that a person who would understand what I was doing and why I was doing what I was doing wouldn't be asking me that question. I saw that she didn't have the reception needed for the answer to the question she had posed. So I just smiled at her because I didn't know what else to do.

I happened to search for Walter Lewin on YouTube yesterday as I felt a nudge. I was curious about what he was doing now as he had been expelled from MIT in a way. I found his channel that he posted videos on now, videos sharing problems and their solutions and other things. I saw that he still carried the same artistic bent which was quite apparent when one looked in his background. I watched a few of his videos and then scrolled down his YT page and found some art quizzes that made me recall that he had a huge interest in the history of art where he had delivered a lecture on the same talking about the evolution of modern art. Looking at those art quizzes made me recall the vision of the cubic painting I wrote above which I had forgotten as I had not made a note of it in my revelation notebook. When I paid closed attention to the thumbnails of his videos, I saw this cubic painting of naked women hanging behind the scene as he stood facing to the right demonstrating momentum conservation by releasing a huge ball as a part of a pendulum that kept swinging to and fro but never hit him, always missing him by a few inches, demonstrating to his students the law of conservation of momentum. This was his famous classroom experiment her performed to make students understand the concepts of physics on a practical level. That painting in that lecture further confirmed that my vision was somehow related to that. Though I don't do obscene cubic art. When I looked at the painting, not only did it serve as a confirmation of the relation of the painting that I had seen with that painting in that lecture, but it also nudged me to look up the types of painting in modern art as I had now forgotten the names of them. I had watched his video on the history of art many years back, back during my previous year of MSc perhaps or the final year of BSc. But I didn't recognize my own doodle style at that time. It was yesterday that I recalled the roof incident, put everything together and realized that my doddle style has mostly been cubic.

Ref: Lectures by Walter Lewin. They will make you ♥ Physics. - YouTube

As I was looking at his pendulum lecture for fun, I heard in my Spirit the lady sing: Banake kyu bigada re..
Now followed by: Bewafa bewafa bewafa nikli hai vo.. Jhoota pyaar Jhoota pyaar jhoota pyaar kita hai vo!

Bigada re naseeba.. Upar waale upar waale.. No matter what I may do, I keep going back to what I like which is not vanity.

Anyway. Good to know that I shared my interest in cubic art with Walter.

A (cubic) sketch I made in Saroj Sadan (A-17/B) somewhere during mid-2021 representing the pure flames of the unmatched Spirit of God.

Cubic Art in My Song Notebook that I am not using as my revelation notebook after the red one got filled:

I shared with my mom how my supervisor Nivedita Deo wasn't really vested in my PhD as she said many hurtful things to me and said many sarcastic things to cut me down and make me a part of their degraded system. She gestured to me once when I with my colleagues was standing in (her husband) Sanjay Jain's room, by making mouth movements in front of me in the manner of drinking something. And then the last times I met her, she told me that 'Just close your eyes and lie on the bed.' as the solution to my manuscript being stuck, or being stuck in my PhD. She's been very mean to me like she has been no one else. Once she even shouted hard at me saying: You're not innocent! And she gave me a huge lecture for nothing! And she has shouted at me previously as well making me cower! But the prior incident of her saying that I was not innocent traumatized me for a few days as I kept feeling vibrations in my brain and couldn't stop/control crying! I would feel a trauma wave spread across my brain in vibrations! I shared with mom today how I didn't want to talk to her anymore as it didn't lead me anywhere but only hurt me. And then the last time that I was with her, she behaved in an almost normal manner during our meet in her room, but when I was back to my corner seat in Room No. 184 on the 2nd floor of MSB of my dept (Physics & Astrophysics), she came to talk to Pooja, and indirectly said to me: Chance hi nhi hai!, in a mocking tone! She was referring to my PhD having no chance of progressing ahead. These people, they talk indirectly. They say hurtful things indirectly! They abuse indirectly!

And then I kept having this nudge to have 2 chapattis with Aloo Soyabean that Chaaru had cooked tonight. I don't know.. perhaps I was too stressed, and that's why I felt the nudge! And then I realized how my supervisor wasted 5 years of my life keeping me in confusion and misleading me into thinking that she was on my side when she was working for the abusers and played both sides! I didn't benefit much from discussions with her. But I saw that others did benefit a lot. I realized that she was invested in their cause, but was against mine as some years back when I had still not cleared my confirmation exam she had once told me to leave everything here and return to my place (hometown). But she's nice to everyone else because they're not facing the problem that I am facing! She also once said to me: Pehle kyu nhi chhoda! Pehle kyu nhi chhoda! Pehle hi mana kar dete! referring to my own future thought that she thought that I would have sooner or later as I would realize her stance with me! This day, I realized that she had playing me all this time, though she would never say it, but she has always said things that targeted my individuality and pushed me to cover up my originality as she once said in a taunting and annoyed way that journal don't allow for that amount of originality in the way one wrote things, in response to me highlighting to her the fact that I saw different paper in the same journal written in different language styles that were peculiar of the respective authors though written in the format of the journal! She has always tried to have me mellow down my originality. I put a lot of thought in writing something which made perfect sense to me, and she would straight away reject it. She once told me to mellow down or change what I had written, but what I had written was how I wanted it to be written and changing it would change the way I approaching the point that I was trying to make. Perhaps she was guiding me according to her better reasoning, but it's hard to believe so as she doesn't like originality, individuality and morality and has said really mean things to me as well. She was crying for her student Vivek saying that he hailed from a poor farmer family and how Awadhesh Pradesh shouldn't have insulted his work and presentation, but look at she treated me! I didn't hail from a very rich family either. I hailed from a middle-class family! I too had to work to be independent as I couldn't be dependent on my parents! But she didn't see my case as important as she did others, because in her eyes, if I am moral and stand for what was right, I deserve to go through what I've been going through! Anyway.

And then when I had the dinner tiffin with me, and was talking to my mom while being under a sort of breakdown as I was no longer in denial about my supervisor's behavior, I ended up tearing up and crying out loudly for a very brief while as I talked to her. I told her that if I couldn't progress ahead in my PhD, then I was going to look for a job. I had these revelations while lying on bed after having dinner.

- The semi-animated upper half of RS dressed in a light pink sherwani embroidered in gold.
- The semi-animated Sidharth Malhotra with a long golden crown on his head stands up from a throne and moves to the left.
- A semi-animated Salman Khan with a long golden crown on his head, dressed in the typical half-naked ancient Hindu attire of the king of a folded drape running across one's body with only the lower half covered with a dhoti and the rest of the body adorned with golden ornaments as usually shown in the TV serials. He stands from his throne and takes a few steps forward as he swirls a whip he's carrying in his left hand. He then says something like: Kisne pareshaan kiya Kartika Tumhe!? The Lady sings: Banake kyu bigada re..
- The view from in between the left two rows of benches in a classroom well-lit in white light in which all students are busy writing, perhaps, an exam with their heads bent low, but Hritik Roshan sitting on the left end of one of the benches of the middle row at a distance of a few benches is looking down and eating food. After a while, it is revealed that he is eating daal chawal with his hand (rice covered in yellow gravy). Everyone else is busy writing their exam, but he is busy eating daal chawal.

The students are all dressed in white shirts with a tie striped in grey and white slanted horizontal stripes.

- The back of Sridevi dressed in a shiny Indian saree that fully covers her back as she looks at the viewer turning her face to her right side.
- The side view of Uma Thurman (as The Bride from Kill Bill) with blonde hair, with her bare arm visible to the viewer as she rotates her bare shoulder facing the viewer in a semicircle with her face turned towards the viewer to her left side.

Earlier late in the evening, I felt an urgency to look for a job, as I didn't felt like going to that department, and also, now I no longer wanted to pursue research the way I did previously as God had brought significant changes in my perception about things in a way that I no longer gave the things the importance that I previously gave them. He had already shown me back in 2020 that He could reveal things that were unsearchable, things that couldn't be researched about.

God reveals 'unsearchable' things.

So, I no longer had the same inclination towards research as I realized that it was by knowing God and reading His word and putting His revelations to action that my mind was going to grow, and not by pursuing research. So, I didn't find it hard to let go my PhD though I spent years working in a fallen system where people were only working against me collectively! I finally realized that my supervisor wasn't on my side, but she herself was copying me as I observed, and why was she doing that! I would rather see her original self as I love to see the original selves of people and not a fake or affected countenance, and considering how I have been coming across several real life actors for a long time, I have grown tired of it. It's almost as if almost everyone has become a hive minded robot lacking individuality!

I was feeling betrayed by God, because He didn't come through for me though many years had passed and now the abuse was taking a toll on my mind. I wondered why was He not inflicting His judgment on the culprits or correcting them with His rod. Why was He instead having me change things about me instead of them changing things they need to change about their ungodly selves! By far, I reasoned that perhaps the change in them was directly correlated to how I changed in response to God's given revelations, but it had been many years now and I looked at the mental damage that I had suffered. I no longer thought the same way. I looked at my traumatized brain that no object of whatsoever value could heal. And then I looked at abusers, how they were continuing in their abuse of me and How was only telling me to bring about physical changes in me that were but vain, though not all. I don't have the immoral habits or problems that these people faced yet I was facing the brut of their actions! It was the time that my human emotions came to surface and I put aside my role as a servant of God! I looked at all that I had gone through and saw how undeserving some people were! Why should I've went through such a situation for someone who thinks of himself as someone above law or as someone too superior!? I was fed up of the things writing the things God showed me as I that's what I did most of the times and found no relief from my oppressive situation. I was also earlier complaining to Him that why did He show me things with a speed that I couldn't easily record them but had always to be kept on my foot. Perhaps He was optimizing my time and wanted to reach out as many people as possible within a short period of time. But it is very stressful for me and not at all like where people rest with God, receive one or two revelations in a day and further understanding about it following by them sharing it with others. In my case, I had started receiving several revelations in just a day. I was telling Him that why was He putting such an unbearable load on my head where He was giving me revelations one after the other before I could record them. Perhaps He knew that I would be able to catch up or He knew my capacity, and perhaps He had reserved this time for this part of the job itself.

When I was on the roof strolling after drying clothes - and it was before I talked to my mom and shared with her my desire to find a job - I was thinking how I, though being in a difficult situation, didn't want to betray God or leave His side. I told Him that I didn't want to be Judas or fail in my job because of my stressful situation.

Later after having dinner and talking to mom, I was asking Him to take my life away as I was so done with this situation. I knew that it was Him that I wanted and not those lusty men who run after flesh and have no second thoughts before hurting others in irreversible ways! Marriage was never important to me because I knew the marital situations of the times. Look at my supervisor's situation where she asks her husband if he had a good time sleeping outside of their covenant! That's how degraded their minds are! God didn't devise the institution of marriage for a person to be with his/her spouse's family but for him/her to be with his/her spouse. So, it's the character of the spouse, the other party, that matters above that of his/her family. But many people in the place make it about living in a soup of extended family disregarding the actual condition of their marriage and only looking at their interactions with others who're not causing them problems. But this is not how God devised a marriage to function! He made it exclusively for the unison of a man with a woman and not that of a family with another family, as is also written in the Bible: A man shall leave his father and mother and be united with his wife and they shall be one flesh.

Genesis 2:23-24
23 "At last!" the man exclaimed.
"This one is bone from my bone,
and flesh from my flesh!

She will be called ‘woman,’ because she was taken from ‘man.’”
24 This explains why a man leaves his father and mother and is joined to his wife, and the two are united into one.

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=genesis+2&version=NLT>

And I've seen only those people who possess a strong sense of individuality possess the intelligence to understand these above verses, or they by default carrying such a mindset without them knowing the Bible. It came as common sense to me and many others with whom I resonated. This verse if not to say that one is completely sever from his/her family, but what it says is that the family is not supposed to hinder in the marital unison or life of a man and a woman. Their respective families shouldn’t be posing hindrances or problems in the smooth functioning of their marriage. If they do so, that's not a godly situation to be in. Because, a family unit in God's eyes constitutes of a man and a woman, and not even their children should be posing a division between them. The earthly unison of a man and a woman is supposed to reflect the heavenly unison of Christ with His Church. It is supposed to reflect that bond. Christ told His bride to be set-apart. He didn't marry the church's earthly relatives, but the church alone. So, though a person may be with Christ, it would imply that they are the ones belonging to Christ alone and not their family members who chose to reject Him. So even from within a family, Christ married a specific individual or individuals, and not all, with all of them constituting together one body of Christ. Christ doesn’t have many wives, but one, which is the body of Christ. He doesn't call each individual as a separate bride, but all together constitute a collective body and that one body is whom He calls His bride. That's also why Apostle Paul wrote that let one man choose one wife for himself, though he suggested for those who were able to stay celibate without falling into sexual sin to stay celibate as marriage only increased one's physical and mental involvement in the systems of the world, and because of this involvement, he wrote as well: let those who're married live as if they're not married and those with possessions as if they’ve none.

1 Corinthians 7:29-40
29 What I mean, brothers and sisters, is that the time is short. From now on those who have wives should live as if they do not; 30 those who mourn, as if they did not; those who are happy, as if they were not; those who buy something, as if it were not theirs to keep; 31 those who use the things of the world, as if not engrossed in them. For this world in its present form is passing away.
32 I would like you to be free from concern. An unmarried man is concerned about the Lord’s affairs—how he can please the Lord. 33 But a married man is concerned about the affairs of this world—how he can please his wife— 34 and his interests are divided. An unmarried woman or virgin is concerned about the Lord’s affairs: Her aim is to be devoted to the Lord in both body and spirit. But a married woman is concerned about the affairs of this world—how she can please her husband. 35 I am saying this for your own good, not to restrict you, but that you may live in a right way in undivided devotion to the Lord.
36 If anyone is worried that he might not be acting honorably toward the virgin he is engaged to, and if his passions are too strong[b] and he feels he ought to marry, he should do as he wants. He is not sinning. They should get married. 37 But the man who has settled the matter in his own mind, who is under no compulsion but has control over his own will, and who has made up his mind not to marry the virgin—this man also does the right thing. 38 So then, he who marries the virgin does right, but he who does not marry her does better.[c]

39 A woman is bound to her husband as long as he lives. But if her husband dies, she is free to marry anyone she wishes, but he must belong to the Lord. 40 In my judgment, she is happier if she stays as she is—and I think that I too have the Spirit of God.

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=1%20Corinthians%207&version=NIV>

Yeah, so this day I was feeling too tired of writing revelations relentlessly as my work didn't operate in the manner of how others worked for Him! I don't find real rest that comes with silent time with God but He keeps giving me revelations, and I can understand that there must be a reason for this urgency.
And I was on a fast that I began the evening of the day before yesterday. That evening, as I lay on bed with a mindset of having to fast fort the next few days, I saw:

- The Bold Existence mug near my mouth with milk contained inside it from which I am drinking the cool milk. And the vision continued for a while.

So, I knew that God was telling me that I could have milk during my fast, though I didn't have any drink besides water during my first day. I ate after it was dark after the one-day fast. And I guess it fuelled me to clean my room in a greater detail the following day and also wash my clothes that had been lying for around a week or so. I think I received that mental energy because I ate. I don't want to depend on food for my mental strength, but the situation gets very stressful at times! I've eaten this night as well, and I don't know if I am going to do something extra tomorrow that I don't do in my daily routine.. I may. Or rather, I should use this day of having eaten to accomplish the chores that I don't do on a daily basis! This is how I regulate my energy that I've gained after resting.

I also prayed to God to not even put me in such a situation which could lead me to turn away from Him.

While I was talking to my mom and having dinner, I saw: Sis Adele dressed in her black Bold Existence Polo-T-shirt coming at my face with a slap as she said: Dhokhebaaz!

Earlier during the day as well, I kept seeing this vision of her calling me Dhokebaaz. It made me think if she was calling me so because I ate.

This morning I saw how dirty my room had become because of it not been cleaned for just a day (yesterday), and I felt bad about it because this is the place where the Lord stays with me as well, and the condition of the space needed to be maintained accordingly. I knew that this shouldn't be the condition of the place that has the Lord's presence.

Earlier during the day while I lay on bed:

- A sudden jerk at the place of both my knees.

Page 568.

19 October 2023
15:21

Revelations last night after lying on the bed to sleep around 4:30 am:

- A naked Glory with a heavy force enters inside me abruptly and starts slapping my face with a hand afterwards.
- He removes and inserts again in the same manner and continues slapping my face. The follow-up visions have him repeating the same.

Dream 1:

I am in a rectangular home with an almost empty dark room at the back with a narrow closed corridor present to the right of the room with the connecting door present at the left end of the wall to the right - the structure resembling my grandpa's now-demolished home in Rohtak (Haryana). The dark room has chips lying around in it. The behavior of my youngest brother Divyanshu seems fishy and he seems to be a messenger to me. I don't feel around him. My mom cooks and then sits alone on the head chair on the left end of the long and wooden rectangular dining table in a dark background with some wooden utensils lying below her chair and around on the dinner table as well. She sits alone to eat as she places her plate on the table after everyone else has eaten. I keep going back to the dark room at the back and eat some of the chips and my mom keeps coming in that space to check. I am not eating a lot of chips but small amounts that I am able to eat without being noticed.

I am now standing on the narrow outer balcony on the first floor of Aditi's home (one of the homes we rented in our hometown of Pundri), facing towards the open roofless pagan temple where people offer food offerings and at times animal offerings. (We used to sometimes hear the sounds of pigs coming from the space. They were apparently meant for sacrifice though I never saw with my own what went on there. Those sacrificed animals were perhaps buried there itself.) The dream continued: There are some other people present in that narrow space standing facing in the direction of the pagan temple. I notice a little girl standing there who is focused on an insect with longer than usual rectangular translucent wings (one inch wide and 3 inches long) of about with a horizontally striped multi-colored pattern. The little girl behaves fearfully with the insect flying in front of her but becomes normal as a butterfly with longer than usual wings (about 3 inches wide) carrying the same multi-colored pattern on its wings with the same opacity comes flying near her. The girl is actually happy with the butterfly around her. That insect with rectangular wings is apparently dangerous but the butterfly with wide wings is safe to be around and doesn't mean to cause any harm to the girl. I help the girl evade the insect by shooing it away while letting the butterfly stay.

As I wrote the above sentence, I heard in my Spirit: Sab pata hai ise.. Sab pata hai ise..

This time when I am inside the home, I see the long dining table filled with dirty used utensils and apparently my mom will be washing them. I offer to help her as they're a lot and then she was busy cooking previously as well, so I think she must be tired. But she denies my help. I go back to the dark zone and come across a symbol put to help me discern something related to the room. As I observe it, it assumes a black-colored heart shape.

I enter into a room with hostages locked inside by a criminal. The hostages don't resist or reason as they've been put in a mental prison and fear the criminal. I talk to the hostages and the criminal who's keeping them as a hostage and am able to show them that they could actually leave and they didn't have to stay inside because of the fear of that criminal who was holding them all in. But they don't seem to understand and I leave the room.

I go back to the well-lit part of the home and my mouth is stuffed with chips. My mom comes and asks something, perhaps something related to the chips. I tell her that I'm not eating food as I've eaten enough and then my eating chips doesn't affect me like it does Himanshu for he's not supposed to eat fast food as he's usually sick and is obese as well. She then retracts and says: Galat jagah angutha laga diya, after which she walk away and stands beside Himanshu as she's pressing his genitalia near its end.

Visions while being briefly awake:

- The upper half of Sis Adele in her black Bold Existence sweatshirt with her wearing a golden crown with small multi-coloured gems embedded in it as she looks at the viewer.
- A thick splash of blood on the middle of the left side of the wall with the Tube light facing the wall with the door.

'Kartika, tum already jeet chuki ho..': Heard in the Spirit (Past few days)

Yesterday Evening: Kartika sab mere saath hai. Sab mere saath hai.

- The front-view of an almost square Notebook with a bald, tall and wide man standing beside a very lean and thin girl in a high temperature background as the Notebook starts rotating around its horizontal axis extending towards the viewer.
- Sis Adele says: I Love You Kartika, as she looks at me dressed in her thick black sweatshirt!

Past Revelations

- Jesus comes at my head with a steel rod bifurcating my head vertically in half.
- Judas (moustache with a bald head) from The Matrix stands behind my chair facing the part of the wall beside the Wifi socket dressed in a long black V-neck expensive suit.
- The follow-up vision shows the front view of him sitting in front of a Laptop & working dressed the same way and wearing black goggles.
- While bathing the last time as I stood in the washroom in my lingerie set: Glory whips my back standing a few meters away.
- A smiling Glory puts a red tika on his forehead.
- Day before yesterday: The upper half of a bald man with a round face and carrying a reddish hue on his face standing near the ceiling as if being seen through a transparent surface. He has two tiny devil horns resembling the shape of a less than an inch long nail on his near his forehead.
- Seen as a third person: The upper half of the bald reddish man with baby devil horns now lies on top of me in intercourse on the bed with a slightly wicked smile. His upper half then changes to a full-fledged resemblance of devil with red muscular skin and thick and long bull horns on his head with the wide wicked smile, him no longer being the baby devil he previously was. It makes me feel repelled and worried about him turning fully into the devil for now only half of him was turned into the same. The extent to which he changes into the devil kept varying as the vision progressed, with him at times turning into a full human as the side-view of his naked and muscular upper half is visible with head bent downwards but apparently possessing sky blue eyes, but then he would go back to begin transforming into that full-fledged devil form, never fully transforming to the devil. As the vision progressed, the instances of him transforming back into a man with blue eyes kept increasing and it seemed like he was going to stay in that form for longer durations, perhaps never changing back to the devil form.

- Part of a dream: The side top-view of an extremely obese lady in the shape of a cylinder walking to the right and crossing an empty road covered with trees on both sides and walking to the right, while being dressed in a fitting printed tunic set as a thin man comes walking by on the road further behind into the vision being at a distance of about 4-5 meters. The follow-up vision has the top view of a slim lady dancing with the guy, being dressed in a saree with the square back of her black blouse visible in the view of the vision.
- HRX stands with his right leg placed on an elevated surface in a light golden background.

Dream 2:

I am in an open ground with square white tents made around. Apparently, there's a function being held as I see long rectangular benches covered with white satin cloth placed at the front stage position inside the tent where the organizers or speakers are supposed to sit. I see myself dressed in my green dress that Jesus was previously highlighting in a vision, and am wearing a thick and long olive green shawl on top that I've wrapped around me and it covers my upper body entirely extending even further downwards until slightly above my knees. After the function has ended, I see a similar rectangular table with white satin cloth set outside some distance away from the tent where food is being served as people sit around it and have it. I am not having it as I feel too full already as I've already eaten previously and apparently, I'm on a fast as well. So, I'm avoiding eating more though they're inviting me to eat with them. I just stand beside them and watch them while I adjust my long and thick green shawl which hangs as a thick multilayered A-shaped mountain below my neck. Those people are supposedly known to me and are a part of my group. They resemble well-built Hariyanvis dressed in white tunics. There's another similar function held beside the one that I am a part of and that one is being held inside a concrete hall unlike the one that I am a part of that is organized in an open tent covered with a white satin cloth on three sides. I notice that the one inside the concrete hall, though about supposedly being Jesus, is playing the messages of Buddha and seems to his teachings with Jesus', while my function talks about Jesus alone which makes me think why are they merging the two. I am now in a room with a lady and we seem to be resonating and rejoice in each other's company. We come across a poster talking about a skating fun activity in a cold snowy place as a part of a supposed tour consisting of a few days. She asks me is I would accompany her to the event. It seems fun to me and now she's become my friend. Apparently, we stay together in the same building and I can tell that she's a good and genuine lady without deception who doesn't feign or affect emotions. I can tell that she really finds it an exciting idea to attend the skating event together with me and I see her usually dressed in a Saree. The following scene has her lying on the floor with the vision focusing on her naked belly visible because she's wearing a Saree in such a manner. She's probably half asleep or perhaps is murmuring within herself as a lady's quiet voice is heard out in the open saying: Mera chota bhai kab aake mera pet katega! And as she says this, the vision zooms in close to the exposed part of her lower belly with the navel and continues zooming in until the view moves to the side of her belly. But comes from inside the room in front of the door of which she's lying (being a meter or two away) a chubby bald man with spiky hair dressed in a fitting red t-shirt over black trousers who is supposedly her husband and whips her belly sharply waking her up followed by more whips on her belly and all over. In the next scene, she is sitting against a wall with vertically folded knees and looks injured and spent with a dull face with blackness all over. She's no more joyful but sits silently with a sad expression. Now when I see her, I ask her if she would accompany me to the skating event. She denies shaking her head slowly to the sides. Her friend is going to a colosseum and wants her to join in and I seem to be knowing about it in the dream, so I ask her about the same, but the vision then shifts to her left where her fat and bald husband is revealed to be sitting on the corner of the bed and he exhibits resentment towards her visiting the same. This enrages me and I immediately grab his head and hit it on the sides of the wall beside the bed hurting him. I felt he was being too controlling and then he hurt and silenced her as well!

The next scene has me walking into the living room of our rented Apartment on the first floor of Rugha Saini's house in my hometown Pundri. The living room has a wooden square serve window going into the kitchen above which I see something engraved in brown by my youngest brother on the wall, and the statement he has written insults Sis Adele. I can see his hatred or repulsion with her and I understand that he is not of God and is of the world and therefore someone like Sis Adele who was once a successful doctor career-wise before she changed her profession to starting a business as led by the Lord is going across as someone who has reached too far in her life's journey than a regular man living in the world. My youngest brother can nowhere compete with her, neither professionally, nor morally, nor in his bond with God. I see the basis of his insults and how they are rooted in his feelings of inferiority. She loves God and has a deep understanding of His Word as well. She is not vain. She is scientific, sporty, and spiritual. Though my youngest brother may be scientific or sporty to some extent, but still, he wouldn't be able to be as knowledgeable and competent as her as she has a working experience. And then he doesn’t have a spiritual bone at all, let alone progress ahead in that direction. I can see that it's no use arguing with him about what he has written. Though it irks me, I know it's not gonna change who Sis Adele is, less so her bond with God and her role as a prophet of the Lord.

Because of this act of his, I hate being in the home. I see my mom and dad present in the room as well.

I sit on the bed with legs hanging down, the bed being placed against the wall with the room's door, and the door lying to my right hand side. I see my dad enter the room and pass me by slapping my face. He seems to be having stuffed anger inside him for me that he's finding ways to express. Though I am hurt by the slap, it takes me a while to respond to it as I make sense of what just happened by which time he had walked ahead by a meter or two to my left, and then I hit him back in response to which he asks me about what took me so long to respond. He was expecting an immediate response. We get into a fight and I nail him down to the floor with his front lying the floor as he lies face down and I keep him stuck there sitting near him and putting pressure on his back and shoulders so that he's not able to hit me again or more.

I am now back to the ongoing function outside and my dad is around as well, and apparently, he's observing the way things operate in the place.

I move around leaving him engrossed with the function as I know that the presence of the group that was playing Buddha's lessons is going to catch his interest and keep him occupied. As I move around, I come across different animals as well that are eating from the food served on the table placed on the other side of the ground. The last animal that I see is a huge elephant that picks up with its trunk a huge ring-shaped slice of bitter gourd from the heap, and he eats it as well. The ring is about a foot or so in diameter and less than half-a-foot in thickness.

When I go back to the zone where I had seen my group eating the served food, I come across my dad and he seems to be curious about why everyone in the place that's playing the teachings of Jesus and holding functions about Him love Him that much and wants to get married to Him. Apparently, he is thinking of Jesus as a human as he is, so why then should He then have that special perception where everyone in the function wants to marry Him. Apparently, he has learned enough by roaming around that the kingdom of God involves the wedding of believers with Jesus. Now I don't know if he got to know in the dream that the believers constitute one spiritual body when looked at from an earthly perspective and not many bodies, but this He has understood that people get married to Jesus in the Kingdom of God in Heaven (which is a spiritual kingdom). My dad is carrying a moustache in this part of the dream, and as I begin to explain to him the meaning of the term marriage in heavenly context and what it means for a body of believers to get married to Jesus, I see him checking his own face out with an inspective look in a wall mirror bringing his face up too close to it. I can see that he's wondering about what's wrong with him, when there's nothing wrong with him but he hasn't understood that Jesus is God, so why should he compare himself to Jesus? As he leaves the mirror and continues walking with me, I begin again to explain the marriage of believers to Jesus signifying the return of the angels that left Him to being back to their heavenly home.

Somewhere above in the middle, I heard a guy's voice whisper: Sab pata hai isko! Sab pata hai isko! Well, indeed. Jesus knows everything. Who revealed these things to me? -His Holy Spirit!

The Lady sings:
Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Vision received while making a note of these dream revelations in my revelation notebook:

- Mr Bajaj stands dressed in a navy blue suit with an open navy blue shirt inside looking at the viewer as his legs are missing and not visible below the level of his coat.
- Glory pushes open my legs and kicks a white football in.

After I had woken from sleep, I saw:

- Adele throws tea and my conical bowl carrying the white Sabutdana mixture Namkeen at my face with a resentful expression. The vision repeats several times. I wasn't thinking of having it or could've avoided as in my heart I wanted to avoid having it, but the vision kept repeating itself and so I had it.

Past Rev while making the FIR video:

- Prof TRS hits the back of my head with a steel rod. The vision repeats a few times throughout the duration of the video. Thinking of the video now reminds me how I made it private later as I wasn't sure if I should make it public as God had His eyes on these people as He wanted them to turn to Him, from what He revealed to me in revelations. So I made the video private. But then I kept coming across the same foolish and false insults whenever I went out or happened to look outside. So I was then wondering how could I expect any different behavior than how they've been behaving all this time. So I made the video public again. As I would receive revelations, any my heart would have a change, I would make the video private again, but again, these people would exhibit the same behavior and cause me stress. So I knew then it was only better to let it stay public because they proved themselves to be highly unreliable and unpredictable. It's almost as if every time I go outside I come across something insulting that I don't resonate with! I learned over time that I was only going to be hurt on one or other way so I shouldn't be withholding from sharing my filed record of their abuse.

Whenever I go out, it's almost as if a load of filth comes at me in the form of and false portrayals being thrown at me by the wicked messengers! It's almost as if they bring you down to such a low mental level of perception which is demonstrated by the kind of things they come to deliver - mostly insults rooted in lies, or comments about things that one person shouldn't be commenting anything about as the subjects of those messages are none of their business and they're not supposed to be thinking about those things! This death conqueror and his messenger group make you cringe with their degraded comments and tactics.

And then I had this vision repeat intermittently throughout the day in which I saw:
A lean, thin, tiny and cute Death Conqueror dressed in a sky blue full-sleeved top embossed with vertically strips on it over navy blue trousers in an upright posture as he sobbed with filled eyes looking at the viewer. The vision was so heart-melting. But I didn't know if it showed a reflected revelation or the truth.

It reminded me of this certain day when I was staying in E-7 (Veera PG's) in Vijay Nagar Single Storey. It was winters and we all used to sit outside the PG in sunlight as the PG was entirely closed and no sunlight came in our rooms and then there was no roof either that we could go to. All I remember is that I was outside the PG dressed in my grey woollen sweater and then I briefly spotted a guy dressed in full-sleeved sky blue top over navy blue Jeans walking on the side of the PG a few buildings to the right of it with his head bent down on his phone. Though I didn't take a long look at the person, as I looking at that person rang an alarm inside me because I had spotted a fellow of a similar height and stature a few times and then I was aware of the stalking situation as well though I had not yet reported it as the lockdown had begun and therefore I didn't come across the stalkers as we mostly had to stay inside. Also, I wasn't as disturbed back at the time that I am now after enduring and persevering through the difficult times! I didn't have any experience of being stalked previously (not any that I noticed) so I reasoned that perhaps the stalking will stop on its own if I don't give the stalkers any attention and continue focusing on my own work. I had begun to observe these incidences after I was enrolled in PhD when I would walk from the dept to the Metro or vice-versa. Those incidences were few (that I identified) and also they were separated by wide periods of time. And each time I would ignore because why would one give attention to someone who seems to be stalking one? It only raised my alarm bells which Glory will call CID alarm bells for I saw it as a very wrong thing to do because I had my own fixed mine and I projected my own self on others.

I would never stalk a person, so if someone is stalking me, it came across to me as deceptive and criminalistic behavior. What were they trying to achieve by stalking? The first incidence I observed was quite easy to identify because of the way the shared E-Rickshaw was arranged and the body language of the clean-shaven guy sitting inside gave him away. It didn't go together with the way he was dressed (deep red tunic set with a black half jacket on top) and the way he held his bag also stood out separately from his persona. It seemed he had dressed specifically for that 'occasion' and he was dressed in a way that made his self and his dressing sense stand out as two separate objects and not as one (the dressing sense) being a reflection of the other (the person inside). It was long back in 2018 perhaps. The E-Rickshaw was present across the road in front of Gate No. 4 and on the first look at the passengers, I spotted that guy that stood out so I took a right turn before crossing the road. And my intuition turned out be correct because when I had walked some distance towards the Metro, I noticed that guy walking to my right with high speed matching mine. He had left that E-Rickshaw and was now walking beside me a meter or two to my right. It further scared me and I didn't even know that guy and neither did he seem to resemble Death Conqueror because I knew his face (like many other people's) with whom I was FB friends with. But the stature of that guy resembled Death Conqueror. So I still wasn't sure. And I saw a stern psychopathic look on his face as he gave me a very quick side glance signalling something. And then he increased his speed and walked speedily ahead towards the Metro stopping at the place where one is supposed to take a right turn towards the Metro as I abruptly happen to notice his back towards me from several metres behind him. He had made sure that I looked at him, and then I saw another red flag. I saw him copying my movements, as he looked to his left and then to his right while holding a handkerchief by its end in one hand. It now raised my alarm bells to the highest because I had recently been fooled by Tejaswi who mirrored my persona and formed a strong bond only to gravely hurt me in the end which was very difficult for me to emerge out of. I had met Tejaswi in 2016 and perhaps more than 2 years had passed by this time and I was still not fully healed and now I come across this other guy displaying psychopathic tendencies which activated the flight response in me out of the fight or flight. During that time, I wasn't looking closely at how the world operated in its deceptive ways and neither did I have any inclination towards learning the same as I thought in black & white terms where I had strong weights of right and wrong attached to different ways of thoughts. And this guy was exhibiting weighty wrong behavior. I didn't look at what could be the reason behind someone's acts. I projected my own self on the world not expecting it to be like me but evaluating things by own sense of right and wrong. And this behavior that he exhibited wasn't in a moral logical line with any righteous intention. I had just emerged out from being in that dark space where I watched a lot of healing videos and spent time in healing myself alone. Coming across another one of such fellows especially after I had read Psychopath Free sent me into high alert mode.

Anyway. After I shifted to Veera's PG and before the lockdown was imposed, and when I was going regularly to the dept, I noticed that the stalking was still continuing and I didn't even know why I was being stalked though I observed Death Conqueror trying to mirror something as he walked by me dressed in a blue tunic set printed in silver with a half jacket on top carrying a bag and wearing black shoes. But why had he assumed this look. Now back during those days, I was scrutinizing everyone through the lens of Psychopathy as normal people don't mirror others. I don't expect people to adopt a second persona to interact with me. So I found it weird and unnecessary. And then it seemed like a red flag to me well. In the incidences of him making an appearance in this attire of his, he didn't carry a psychopathic look, but still, mirroring is a red flag and I had just escaped a Psychopath. Now with a different person who seemed to resemble Glory to me, his expressions were not Psychopathic when I happened to catch sight of him twice. But again, I was a very straightforward person and I wouldn't behave in the ways that fellows were doing and I hadn't met people until this point who behaved in such a manner. Their behavior came across as something very abnormal to me and the only solution I found was to ignore these incidences. Before Tejaswi (2016), I never observed this weird behavior coming from anyone in my life . But now, all of a sudden, I was suddenly being exposed to a great number of such psychopathic appearances. But despite them, my mental structure of right and wrong stayed intact. It told me that they were the ones who were not behaving in normal but deceptive and psychopathic ways. And I tended to stay away from such people. I communicated things in a very transparent manner and I wouldn't even think of choosing a logically or morally wrong way to do something that I already knew the right way to do. Why with a right mind would I choose the wrong way to accomplish a purpose?

I kept ignoring the stalking and didn't report it because I was used to living an upright life away from dealing with Policemen or going to them, and then I had already approached them a few times after I got to know that my cell phone and laptop were hacked after Tejaswi's incident. I was tired of being consumed with the thoughts of these new problems that arose in my life as a result of psychopathic Tejaswi's brief arrival in my life. So I kept ignoring it. I assumed things would become better because I was a normal citizen and then there are many people around and then one thinks along the lines of why would someone specifically target me via stalking. And if someone is doing so, in the absence of open communication, things never get cleared out and one can only live day by day under this confusion of how the next day is going to unfold. This fellow made my life abnormal because of his actions and though I was disturbed to some extent it was at a subconscious level and not at a conscious one as I had things to do and look forward to in that phase of my life as I had recently joined in PhD and I was looking forward to progress ahead in my career and didn't want the stalking situation to negatively affect me. When someone has been exhibiting those psychopathic tendencies, how could I think anything positive about that person? I didn't assume stuff about others. I let their actions and behavior speak for themselves, and this stalking behavior without communication didn't seem to make any sense to me. It wasn't leading anywhere. I only observed it as an observer knowing that stalking was very wrong. Now the entire city has turned into a stalker! - Extreme rise in Psychopathy, but I don't have the same mind either that I had many years back. I became used to the tricks and behavior of the deceptive people around though it does hurt me and is making me tear up as of now because why do people (be it anyone) have to play these games!?
And how foolish it is to stalk someone or insult them without a reason? Their behavior came across as being very unreasonable that didn't lead to any productive thing as in it didn't make clear the purpose behind their acts for they don't communicate directly nor does and it only perpetuates the situation. And why would I interact with strangers and ask them about their strange behavior. Isn't it risky to do so!?

So, coming back to the incident of very briefly spotting that lean and short guy near Veera PG, I figured that it could be Death Conqueror and I also knew by this time that he had been involved in stalking and then I had a list of Psychopathic appearances made by different flying monkeys I didn't know. He had formed an image of him in my mind of being a threat because he's so abnormal and a socially illogical person who takes the illogical path of high resistance that may never lead to the destination, destination in the sense of getting to the end of the reason behind one even beginning to act in such psychopathic ways! So looking at him I had the obvious thoughts of him being the unreasonable stalker making me quickly go inside because of the activation of flight. And then I came out after a while. Perhaps it was to pick up my footwear drying outside in the sunlight and then I saw him walk by to the right right in front of me with his head bowed low into the phone and in that brief glance I noticed his expression and the embossed pattern on his full-sleeved winter top. And his expression actually came as a surprise because he was smiling silently with a closed mouth as he looked below on his phone and his eyes were shining as well. They had a certain light that I often noticed in righteous people. It didn't go along with the image he made in my mind through his actions. But still, looking at the unexpected countenance didn't nullify the list of unexplained events of abnormal behavior that I had in my mind. So, things were still not clear to me! And then the stalking and insults continued! And then in 2020 I got to know about the cameras which further added to the bad image of him in my mind. Why would I intentionally come across as an unrighteous person and give a false impression to someone I am trying to form a bond with!? - that's how a normal mind thinks that wants clear waters between him/her and the person in question.

All this time that I wrote the above, Glory has been hitting the back and the top of my head with a steel rod!

Why would I stalk Meera in black clothes on a bike with other people dressed in a similar manner looking like a criminal. Why would I try to scare her by my tactics!? And why would she choose to be around me when I have consistently behaved in such psychopathic ways! It counts as lying and deception! Why make one's own life and the lives of other people abnormal by indulging in such activities!?

When I came across such behavior, it was a HUGE red flag. I reported against stalking in 2021 when I was getting mentally disturbed by the same. At this point the subconscious disturbance caused to my mind had reached the conscious part of my mind and I noticed how I had been getting disturbed by these abnormal acts! I didn't choose any abnormal or immoral way. One act of mine that I know for certain was immoral was when I got B-waxed openly the first time knowing that there were cameras around, and that too was performed because of two reasons: one was that I had already received the revelation of the naked and smooth lower half of a woman sitting with open thighs with green gras present in the centre of her legs and as she continued sitting in such a manner, a small cow came walking to her and started grazing at the grass. I didn't follow along the vision for many months because I just wasn't ok with it and I understood it as me having to get B-waxed! The second reason is actually the main reason that caused me to go ahead with it. Apparently, that night I was supposed to have a significant event of my life take place as I saw a function nearby and I heard some voices of me being covertly called out. Apparently, I was to meet Glory that day and God had already shown me that he was the person of the promise in that vision I had in 2020. Though I've already had the wedding dream and knew how things were supposed to unfold, I still went downstairs because they had organized it and they were calling me and he's the God-chosen person as well. The Lady sings: Banake kyu bigada re..

Without that event, I wouldn't have gone ahead with that act which I knew was immoral but I was following God's instruction in my mind. But now that I think about it, it could also refer to a man waiting silently at his place for the woman represented by a tiny cow to approach him, where the cow is about an inch high with the fair and smooth legs of the man being of a normal size. Because this is not a tactic that I use or even would think of. Perhaps God revealed to me how their minds work. You see, I visited the home I thought I was meant to visit so things would be clearer, and I told them about my white camel's dream who is lying thirsty. I was being honest to the extent I found comfortable, because there were some revelations with Glory I had received by that time that I didn't share with them because they were personal. If I have a confusion, I go and ask. Even when I think I may be causing a problem to someone, I go and ask them. This is a non-psychopathic way to think! It's not simple. It's pure and it brings me such joy, peace and contentment to be able to interact in such a way!

Why do people act in such confusing ways!? And why would a person who's not used to the ways of the world feel like getting oneself into a deceptive environment!? Why did they expect me to think illogically or assume or deduce something which is not apparently shown by their acts!? If I thought like the world, I would find their behavior okay, because a great part of social behavior is illogical and not based on a solid moral or any other type of reasoning, but is only based on an impulse to interact and build one's circle. Societies are not formed because of the presence of an outer logical structure though the inner underlying principles behind a socially interacting system have to be logical, where the outer socially manifested behavior would be considered as an emergent property of the social complex system. I approach things in the right way that's also consistent with a logical way to think. Now it varies from person to person if one wants individuals who would understand and go along with their unreasonable ways or if they want someone who is as straight and sleek in approaching the problem or task at hand. I may seem like a fool to someone who would prefer someone who doesn't look at the outwardly immoral behavior. But I want a person whose acts and words reflect his inner self and not the other way round which would be a very foolish and unreasonable thing to do. Why do I have to make an unreasonable and illogical twist in my way of thought to go along or understand the demented ways of these people - that twist, that jump that's uncalled for and shouldn't be made. In fact, it wouldn't be made by a Holy mind. That's what Gandhi talked about: being one in thoughts, words and actions. He was referring to this same principle. That's why God has called us to be set apart from the world because being a part of it only brings out illogical and unreasonable changes in one's brain. Because I had in extreme black & white terms, something they may have considered as a trivial way of life, would come across as terribly wrong to me. Now if I seem like a fool to someone because of it or if this is not the person they would want for themselves for they want as deceptive individuals as them, who possess minds that have defective neural jumps in their thought processes leading them to think in such ways, then it is not really my problem. In fact they're living a problem when they should try to get rid of this defect in their thinking patterns. I too had difficult experiences in my childhood. But it doesn't mean I want to keep having a defective mind. Now there are some defects that're not harmful like switching between two tasks or forgetting names or switching events or people, which aren't really defects but constitute a normal way a mind should be thinking. But what would be considered as a mental defect is when one acts in a way that may never accomplish the purpose of the person. Say, I have to inquire about my package that is to be delivered which has been delayed but instead of calling the firm directly, I call the shopkeeper in my locality, the iron man, the street vendor, or someone else, or basically everyone else besides the firm who could give me the answer to my query, or say I use these other people that I am contacting to contact the firm on my behalf without them even sharing the order number any my details with the firm, I am never going to receive the package with such an approach, no matter how many third party resources I may use because I am not giving the firm the details it needs to know for it to inform me about my package or confirm it it's going to be delivered or not. When one uses logic with a firm, why doesn't that person uses it with other people!? And say, I give my details to those third party communicators I am using, for them to share it with the firm, get the details of my package and then share it with me, but in that case, I could've done the same thing by my own self and why would I need others to do my task for me when they could miss answering a question asked by firm, a detail that only I knew. I like to be around people who will not drive me insane with their socially learned foolish tactics. There are logical ways to function in a society as well. Now that I've written this, I feel so at peace because I know the reason these people have been repelling me immensely! Why can't they choose the right and straight path to whatever they want to achieve! It goes hand in hand with thinking morally. Because it's a moral person who chooses the straight and narrow path talked about in the Word of God. Again, we've arrived at another moral principle logically. Bible is not an illogical book. It's based on hard core logic, and it also reflects God's way of thinking. Being truthful and leaving with integrity (Gandhi's statement about consistency in thoughts, words and acts) and walking on the narrow path - we've arrived at the Biblical principals in a very logical way!

Why are they targeting a person's way of thinking by putting forth such a defective way of operating!?

Evening

When using the washroom to pee:

- I see the upper half of RS dressed in a peach colored sherwani tunic with golden print with a light golden background, as he gives me a thumbs up with the image of my new brown Laptop bag flashes on top of the vision around its lower end.

Visions while resting on bed:

- RS dribbles a white ball with one hand.
- Bobby Deol wearing a brown coat with a navy blue shirt inside as he dribbles a white ball.
- RK, dressed in a brown coat, stands inside the frame of the open door of a lit room present on the left side of one's mental view, the vision having a dark background. He's about to say something but then he abruptly extends his hand forward and slaps my face.

- RK dressed in a grey V-neck sweater with a white shirt inside, its collar being visible through the V-neck of the sweater, and carrying a brown bag behind his back with its thin shoulder straps running across his shoulders, runs in a direction parallel to the line of sight of the viewer as he looks straight ahead and not to the sides.

Past Revelation

- (Past few days) RS in the shiny pink suit from a past revelation rips open my chest and gloms on my heart in quick motions.

As I was cleaning my room this night as the floor had gone dirty, I kept hearing whisky lullaby playing in my Spirit as I mopped the floor.

The lady sings:
The rumors flew.. But nobody knew how much she hated herself..
For years and years.. She tried to hide the whisky on her breath..
(The song continues playing..)

The entire song played in my Spirit.

Alison Krauss and Brad Paisley - Whiskey Lullaby (Lyrics)

I was completing writing the Dream 2 on Page 565 when I began hearing the chorus of the song Tere dar par sanam chale aye.. And it still plays in my Spirit.

Tere Dar Par Sanam - Male Version - Phir Teri Kahani Yaad Aayee | Kumar Sanu | Rahul Roy

(Yesterday) I tell Jesus that this disgusting fellow has a huge list of sins against me and then I see: Jesus stands in a golden background dressed in His attire of long white tunic with a red drape holding a long golden list of paper in His hands held near His chest reaching down until the floor and further ahead with the golden writing on it visible from a distance.

The sins of this fellow against me are sins against Him first before they would be called as sins against me.

Past Revelation
Genelia D'Souza with long hair walks to the left in a direction turned by a small extent towards the viewer.

I was telling my mom late evening how this criminal fellow was very much like a totalitarian who was only concerned about what he wanted because of which he was willing to put others in extreme mental trauma while using people around as flying monkeys to pass abusive messages. It later reminded me of the vision which had the huge lightly stubbled face of KA at the top of the vision with his hands clasped below his chin as he looked below with a wicked expression showing how he was in control of everything and how it was giving him pleasure. He was liking to be in control of the situation below. This vision proved the statement that I made to my mom. And then this disgusting messenger lady, that stays behind the white door apartment in front of my room to the left, was saying how everyone was important and connected. But it is a false statement. Everyone is supposed to be connected but not to pass covert messages to another person, and not to inflict abuse either! This guy has only traumatized me and dulled my brain and tried to nullify everything that I believed in, none of which was immoral by the way, but rational and righteous! He is more than happy if my PhD is ruined because how could I, someone belonging to a 'poor' family (poor in his eyes) could reach the level of PhD!? According to him, I've come a long way while it is the norm in the family! Most of my aunts (dad's younger sisters) have MSc MPhil degrees and they believe in being financially independent. What I've is the least I could've done because of my difficult childhood which my Masters hindered to some extent. Even my dad's friends' wives are employed. It is not a surprising thing to get a degree and find a job. Their purpose behind progressing ahead is not to flash a degree but to be employable in greater number of situations. But as Akhila was insulting me in front of Shin once saying with a derogatory tone how I've come a long way in my life which seemed such an overstatement. Because what I've done doesn't reflect 10% of what I was or am capable of doing had these cheap people not inflicted on their abuse on me and tried to make mentally handicapped. People with worse financial conditions than mine have progressed ahead to greater extents in their career than me, and they don't minimize or insult whatever they achieved by saying things like they've come a long way because that thing that they achieved or fulfilled was already inside of them or a part of their nature. It wasn't something they couldn't have done. It's almost like saying that a natural painter has come a long way when you see him actually painting something. It's her, Akhila, who has come a long way, because what she's doing is a side thing for her as she doesn't even carries a bent for her subject but chose it because it was within her grasp. She's come a long way because she's not really an academics person and doesn't like reading either. For her to reach the level of Masters would seem to a person of average reasoning to be a huge thing. I never saw her reading any good book besides when it was time for her exams. (I only recall her reading a book casually in that dream that I had in which she was sitting cross-legged on the floor and reading a book.) She possesses foolish and worldly books like Rich Dad Poor Dad. An online psychologist once suggested it to me for whatever reason, and when I read it, it was boring and seemed stupid. If a person like her becomes independent, it makes sense to say that she's come a long way because she has the mind of a person who stays at home and talks with others around her all the time going from room to room. It's a huge feat she achieved by completing whatever she's done, and that too isn't done with any purpose besides just to gain a degree so she doesn't look illiterate in this current world where everyone is roaming around jobless though possessing many degrees! But in my case, I had the mentality of being independent since childhood and I preferred a mindset of scientific temperament over any other. What I did goes in line with who I am and what I was supposed to do! It doesn't look like something huge or strange to us, but normal! That's what my mom and her friends did. Though it's a different thing my dad made her leave her job by giving her false assurance and she often complaint about her decision later. These people are so wrong! In the view of this disgusting fellow, he should've targeted me in Masters alone so I would fail to complete that course as well. He chuckles inside as he thinks how he caused harm to my career while pleasing himself, and then he thinks that he got late in abusing me in this way, a he would've stopped me from getting my Masters degree because, how come I, someone so downtrodden in his eyes, think in such ways! All my friends had a strong righteous mind and a drive to be independent. Even Aditi and Deepika from my hometown are working and those are the kind of things I used to be taunted about: this girl started working, that girl started working as well.. what was I doing!? My maternal cousin (stepmom's eldest brother's daughter) whose dad was government driver, even she started working after getting a degree from DU and to a sane and normal mind not tinged with a superior lens of one's upbringing - it wouldn't seem that she should be proud of it or if she's out of place. Regardless of what she's doing, her elder brother isn't doing much and was previously in wrong practices (I don't know what he's doing now). The mentality of these people, the ones who've had an abundant upbringing, it seems so downtrodden! My birth mom used to sit with my dad in his office and give injections to the patients and later she cleared HCS as well though my dad couldn't and they had gone together to take the exam after their marriage when I was perhaps still in her womb. I don't know what makes these people think so highly of themselves. Just because they have abundant wealth and they managed to get degrees from good places, they somehow feel to superior while not exhibiting the basic common moral sense! My birth mom received several job offers according to what my step-mom told me. It's a different thing she died because she couldn't tolerate the trauma of an event in her life. If she was alive, my home's financial condition financial and relational conditions would've been much better because she and my dad never fought according to how my dad described their time together a few times.

This stupid person hasn't yet caused enough damage but in his view should've caused more damage by targeting me when I was in the Masters itself so I wouldn't even be eligible for some types of jobs that I wanted to pursue. This thought was put in my brain a few days back out of nowhere, and I saw how evil this disgusting totalitarian fellow was! He will lie and say that I am just not smart or intelligent enough to have come this far or I don't really possess the qualities that I actually do! Who wants such a wicked man in his/her surroundings? And only those who are as wicked as him would serve as his messengers! He is ruining my career when I am have the internal built of a professional woman, but he encourages that dumbass to pursue hers when doesn't even have the thinking skills besides possessing the ability to indulge in vain talk! These minds of these people are immensely anti-social and they've proved it by how they've behaved, because they used an criminalistic achieve something they didn't even let me know about. I didn't even know why they targeted me. At times they say, it was to take revenge because I blocked this fellow online as I perceived to be a highly immoral man, other times they say it was to propose marriage, and now they're saying it was to shame me publicly, break me down and make me submit for being boundaried and having lived a much better life than them in terms of morals! I would go to a person whom I know is my friend or have spent quality time with, and the fact that I am going to that person reflects this other fact that I found him moral and trustworthy enough for he proved it by his behavior and actions. But what has Death Conqueror and Akhila proven by their wicked behaviour and actions committed towards me! In an environment of a hive mindset with people not taking decisions according to their individual moral sense, morality goes down in the drain as no one cares about doing the right thing but about doing the group thing! And an intelligent doesn't partake but separates himself/herself from such an interconnected group lacking common basic morals! Because intelligence by its intuitive definition refers to the quality of taking correct decision regardless of the dumb, immoral foolish behavior of the crowd! - This is key! And they've proven how great of dumbasses they are! I don't even want to interact with people of such demented thinking because whatever I am going to say they will respond with their demented and brainwashed hive mind. An individual doesn't has to be a part of an interconnected hive mind for him to think that everyone is important. I too think everyone is important and so does God when it comes to His children and not the wicked, because se the wicked He has reserved for judgment. But me thinking so doesn't nullify my distinct quality of thinking independently and evaluate if what the hive is doing is wrong! Everyone is connected in principle, but it doesn't mean they've to behave like these people have been doing! You don't try to oppress another individual and force them to take a step you want them to take, or to cause harm to them to have your way, but you give them enough space for their individual persona to exist while retaining your own space! But these people don't even have the basic common moral intellect! How many time will I say this repeatedly observed fact!? They want to blur my sense of individuality. I don't know why they're targeting it. They must be fools! And then they exhibit these seemingly uncorrelated qualities that go along together. They possess no sense of a wholeness of persona. Why so they represent that I am someone one. It shows how much of a moral fool they are and that they don't know how to proceed ahead while not causing mental or otherwise harm to the other person! The only way that I felt I was out of place in thar place with her was the place itself and the kind of people was surrounded I was surrounded by, and not my life situation. It was so because I hadn't yet stayed in a PG like that and had not encountered such wicked and bloated women that I found in that PG. And I shifted there it was cheaper for me to stay there than staying in that single seater in Saroj Sadan where I could've continued had I not had a fight with the owner! The place was out of place for me and not what I was doing career-wise! While with her, she wasn't in an out of place in regards to her living conditions for she's used to living in comfortable situations and not take care of things around by her own self, but she was out of place career wise because it's not what adds meaning to her life and it's not something she's really passionate about either. Their statements said about me seem so out of place to me because it shows how they form false perceptions and make foolish judgments because of a lack of a rational mind in the presence of which they wouldn't have done what they did! If I am in an expensive place with a lot of flashy things but I am not able to exhibit my innate sense of self, that place is an out of place for me. My mom gives me the space to be me and she praises the qualities that actually matter in life, while encouraging me to be financially independent, so I don't feel out of place with her because we resonate at a personal level and not at the level of our living conditions/situation. When I was friends with Meera who was from a weaker financial background, or when I was friends with Neha who was from a stronger financial background, our friendship never involved an exchange of money so it wasn't based on our economic conditions but we bonded and interacted at a personal level and took decisions that went well along with both the parties instead of putting down one of them for being or not being a certain way. And they were not actors, that's why they were my friends. I can't even stand in a real-life acting group of supposed hive-mined friends lacking or who have put their own individual sense of morality at the backseat! It's almost as if I came to a place of Dumb Dumb meat-suits as they all do and think about is the dumb act dumb-dumb (phonetically speaking), idea being inspired by one of Brother Marcus's video in which he was talking about Dumb Dumb Christians.

Anyway. When I saw how he thought that he should've my ruined my Masters too, it filled me with disgust for him! The entire place has turned into an obeying apathetic zombie land! It's not about securing a loved one, but it's about knowing how one completely turned the life's plan of another person upside down and turned into her someone unrecognizable, instilling in her low-level qualities while diminishing her real traits or self or an inclination towards low-level vain things to feel superior about one's own self, that how one was able to possess control of a person's life and cause immense damage to it! When did I see this disgusting fellow talk to my real self! He only portrays me in downtrodden avatars that are not me at all! Without him and the presence of people like Awadhesh Prasad, my PhD would've faced no hindrances and I would be happier and not traumatized. It makes him feel content and happy that he inflicted trauma on an innocent individual! I was not a stripper or a whore like the women that he's used to hanging around with that his act wasn't supposed to have a traumatizing effect on me! But he didn't care at all if ai would be left traumatized for life or left brain dead because of his abuse. He could've chosen the right way, the moral way to approach me, but his intention was not moral, his intention was to break me so I could be turned into a brainless puppet who says yes to everything and take simple decisions (in his own words). Is he taking simple moral decisions!? Or is he taking pleasure in his criminalistic acts!? He changed my brain through the trauma! And this disgusting fellow knows it and it doesn’t has any effect on his conscience-dead soul! Conscience-dead people make empathetic people brain-dead whom they target! Abusers don't marry to find a partner to love and respect. They marry to find a slave, who doesn't speak up in the circumstance of abuse and who doesn't leave them despite abuse, someone who would put up with anything and everything! And they often target strong individuals! And change them into a brain-dead person through their abuse and it gives them joy to look back at the itinerary of people they did the same thing to! That's who they're looking for! That's his truth! Even their song preferences shows how conscience-dead they're! Doesn't he has people from his own status whom he could choose to be with him, if he's so concerned about his good-for-nothing worldly status!? Of course he has! But, those people because of their support system and wealth can leave and can cause this fellow harm. And he would have never chosen this evil wicked way with them! He chose this sick way with me because he knew I wouldn’t be able to cause him harm or even defend myself! A normal person doesn't ruin someone's mental health or try to drive another person insane like this fellow has tried to do to me! He had no shame in saying that I would need to go to a rehabilitation centre as was repeated to me by his dumbass messenger Akhila when I was staying with her. At least, I repeat what God says, and not what an immoral demonic meat-suit like him says! He knew the extent to which he has cause me damage! And he expected it to drive me insane, to a mental asylum. According to his good judgment, I should've been dead by now! But because I am still not dead, he will continue until the day I am either brain dead or physically dead as well! And then he would find sadistic relief upon looking at how he killed an innocent girl! Look at his history! If I was to look at his history which he hasn't revealed to me or told me anything about, but it's not hard to guess! Look at his history which says a lot about his filthy inner self!

While I was writing the previous paragraph and writing about the thought put in my head that talked about my Masters being ruined, I kept seeing:

- The fat guy from the Dinesh Store with a relatively smaller face and a protruded jaw stands behind his shop's counter dressed in his striped full-sleeved shirt tucked inside pants and nods at the viewer with teary eyes in affirmation.

Meera was once telling me that if a man loved a woman, he took even a single step towards her with utmost care. Undeserved traumatizing abuse isn't even in his farthest thoughts! But this guy can insult me every day in several different ways and then lies and says he is a shy man and therefore he needs others to do his bidding! He is neither shy for he slept with many women and he is neither mature and moral which he has proved by his inability to do things the right way! If he was to come and talk to me like a regular person, I know that I would spot his hypocritical nature and tell him off! You talk to a person for an extended period of time and observe their character traits and then you decide if you want that person in your life! What character traits did he show that deem him worthy!? I am sure that this fellow even if happens to get married to someone else would raise children teaching them the same principle he has followed his entire life! It's hard to think that he would teach them the right way of God when he himself follows the ways of devil and leads others to follow along! Why would a normal moral person want to co-parent with such an abuser if she has already given up on her preferences regarding the different aspects of her life because of having no other option. No child should get to grow in the company of such a person. A godly parent leads children in the Godly way, but this fellow is making other people themselves follow wicked ways and traumatizing others! Abusers like him only want a door mat and a servant who never leaves because they've trapped her with no windows out and then she knows that even if she leaves, the criminal is going to come after her and not respect her boundaries and decision. If he had come walking to me like a regular man actually possessing the moral qualities of a regular man, I would've talked to him regularly. But how can he behave like someone he is not!

I know that God ordained Glory for me as He revealed to me in that dream. But I happened to think analytically about the situation of this person that how with his present self he would only be a terrible example to his children because what will he tell them - that he stripped and abused and almost drove that woman to suicide and left no other option but to succumb to the abuse? Sooner or later they will find out and, say, if someone else was there in place of me who retained her godly self though couldn't evade being with this fellow, then that person isn't going to hide the truth or stay silent. I will always say no matter what happens to me or where I go that this fellow was responsible for causing me mental and physical pain and how he tried to gain mind control over me and subdue my God-given free will! Say if someone else and not me went through this situation and ended up compromising, her children will ask her questions that she'll have to answer. They can ask what happened to the course she was pursuing. Why did she make this or that specific choice. If that woman is godly, she will say the truth. How she was left traumatized and unable to continue ahead in anything because of which she had to make the choice she didn't want to make. And how she still regretted making that choice and the ailments she suffered because of the same. How she was emotionally abused all this time. In an environment like that of his home, children grow up to be psychopaths like him, like the acting children he sends to deliver messages who know acting and lack innocence! The children of this fellow would think that it's alright to do what he did and live the way he lives and perhaps it's something great to do and a proud badge of the rich in the pursuit of what one desired not loved. Perhaps for them, desiring someone is equivalent of loving them, in that case they're too immature! I love Jesus. So I tell Him everything directly I think about Him as I praise His good godly qualities.

No one should grow up in a wealthy environment only to be an immoral psychopath at the end!

With Glory, things are so straightforward, because though he too is deceptive to some extent but not in a way that's meant to traumatize another person. So if a child grows under his guidance, he can at max learn societal deceptive ways of communicating and I already know this about him that he won't lead them into unrighteousness and won't call good evil and evil good. He signifies a relatively much better moral environment that children should grow in - a normal moral home.

As I wrote the above, I saw:

- Glory dressed in a sleeveless grey cotton top with a grey inverted cap on his head looks at me smiling as he flaunts a slap showing the palm of his hand.

Glory is a good moral example and I love moral people. Now, the only way things could work out with Death Conqueror concerning other women as options for him was him turning away from his wicked ways and actually changing inwardly and repenting before God and giving his history to Him leaving that lifestyle behind. In that case, he already repented before God and gave everything to Him and changed His ways. So, he will be now a good influence for his children as he wouldn't be instilling in them this criminalistic political way of thinking. One teaches what one knows to be right. And what will he teach to his children or what will they learn by example: living a superficial life devoid of originality and morals just like him! But even if he was able to turn upright and guide his children to righteousness, they would still face many problems in the world because of them not being a part of its ways, as the ways of the world are not ways of God. So, teaching Godly ways to children is almost equivalent to leading them to live a difficult life as the serpent race doesn't support godliness. I don't think he is mature enough to lead himself or his children straight into worldly problems because of their godliness.

Glory and his circle is mostly righteous, and even his messengers, and they're not wicked! Though he has been demeaning, but not to the extent of this fellow. Their reasoning is upright though their ways of communicating may be deceptive.

With the present mind, it seems that Death Conqueror wants to turn his children in his copies who thinks along the ways he does!

I wish Glory was upright in ways of communicating as well and then his only problem would be solved.

Now let's analyse Akhila. What will she teach her children. Is she going to gossip and demean others or cut them down in front of them. Is she going to teach them condoning sin, or how it's ok to back bite behind one's back and break trust! They'll only see a vain person who is concerned only about keeping the outer countenance of things normal while functioning with a demented self undercover. Even in my family's case, my dad is a bad example of a husband if we look at how he treated my mom. I see it and know that it's wrong, but my youngest brother, he doesn't seem to care about it. For him, it has become the norm now and he doesn't get too affected when my dad insults my mom. If my dad was different, perhaps my youngest brother's behavior towards my mom would also've been different, and he would find it offensive if some day my dad actually became abusive because of some reason while now he himself says demeaning things to my mom. He learnt this attitude via observation and induction, and this is not what children are not supposed to see. Now, if one only cares about their children having enough money, then these things won't matter to them, for they're not thinking in the ways of God or the ways of Devil but only in terms of worldly security attained by money and power. But if we look at the true body of Christ, it's security comes from the sinless Most-High God whom they follow.

If an abuser makes a parent brain-dead, it will have an inductive effect on the children as well. Why should people live with a broken sense of self in a setting which is supposed to be ruled by a base of purity and commitment. But abusers break their targets because they're to not choose the right path.

Now let's consider the cases of RS and KA. They both would serve as a moral example with their respective partners.

Page 569.

21 October 2023
15:21

Past Revelations From 20th October

- (Yesterday) As I turned the kitchen's yellow light once On & Off to check if the green light was on or otherwise I would've had to walk in the dark and then I needed the green light on to be able to see and write revelations, I saw: the naked upper half of Glory until shoulders as he said in a stuffed voice: Kartika, Bahut Marunga!

On my way back from buying Chole Kulcha's as I was on the flat floor between the stairs of the two floors, I saw:

- A flat surface hits the back of my head with great force. It reminded me of youngest brother telling me while crying that mom had beaten him ('Didi, Mummy ne mujhe mara..')
- As I sit to have the Chola Kulchas, I keep hearing: Kartik Aryan pagal ho gya! Kartik Aryan pagal ho gya!

While having Chole Kulchas, as I pick up my Bold Existence (BE) Mug, I see:

- Sis Adele in her BE black & white polo t-shirt in front of me hits the top of my head with a rod and an intense expression followed by her abruptly leaping towards me with an 'I Love You' taking me back in a kiss.

This revelation like the other Jesus revelations I had represents the physical equivalent of her inner state. The recent revelations within the past week that God gave me about Sis Adele only strengthened my bond with her though I may not be directly talking to her, it has built an unbreakable bond and this is also how we are called to be with our fellow brethren in the Body of Christ - not emulating the physical representation but carrying the underlying love-filled heart state. The revelations strengthened me internally for I felt that now I had the company of God's chosen woman who is so successful in her ministry and is doing His job so well, being well-advanced and well-learned in Scripture than me. Her given words not only encourage me but also points out the spots I'm being loose at. And this is how we are called to minister to each other. For instance, I came across this video yesterday she released and it spoke directly to my soul as I had been having emotional outbursts wherein I was getting impatient and angry to some extent as well at God for I didn't see much change in my situation and neither had I lost weight or worked out (felt no emotional strength to hit the gym while coming across messenger people) and most of my time was used up in writing and daily chores. And then a few days back I was shouting in my room at the cameraman. This video told me that regardless of my emotional state, God was still with me and that emotions help us to bond better with him but aren't the sole determining factor of how He bonds with us.

What if you don't "feel" God?

In this way, God uses my situation to lead the way for others who may be going through the same struggles and when they come across the testimony of my situation, they get company and therefore can be led out of their situation. I watched Brother Philip's video and it seemed to point to me that my way of writing consumed a lot of time of other people. But then I also understand God gives me revelations in a day that talk to multiple people either in a straight way through His revelations or the application of His revelations in my life thereby revealing a meaningful teaching or message. So, at times it may get long, but we've to keep in mind, that we're ministering to people on an individual basis as well which is quite important. So, though it may take a lot of my time to write out the extended life situations or the application of revelations, it's all worth it in the end, because what seems dull, trivial or a waste of time to one person may be a piece of gem for someone else. When I compare the similarities between people and me, it's not to glorify my own self but to get the attention of those people and have them identify with me as we share common interests thereby leading them to the truth. It reminds me of this statement I heard in one of Derek Prince's videos: At times, the only Bible some people get to read is by observing your life. God can use several ways to get to the heart of a person. For instance, He knows that Walter likes cubic art specifically pertaining to nudity or obscenity, and therefore He gave me the revelation of that cubic painting of a naked woman with a man lying behind her, and then later I was reminded of my own inclination towards cubic art, not as something that I would buy or like to possess (I never thought about buying a cubic piece of Work) but as an art form that comes out of me on its own. In this way, He connected two individuals through common shared interests leading the person who would otherwise never have thought about Him or would've kept rejecting Him, to think and realize that God is indeed aware of that person's inner self. And then He revealed through me the Holy version of Walter's cubic painting that hung in his lecture containing the practical experiment of energy conservation. My artwork Flames of The Holy Spirit is intended to talk to him at a personal level through a channel he deeply connects with, as he has always been fascinated by art and knows a lot about it as well, the various forms and its history. To some people, reading such sections that talk about my interests may seem to be self-glorifying or as if I'm just feigning for attention, but the underlying purpose of those long paragraphs is to have a specific individual identify with the text at a deep subconscious level so in due time his mind is transformed and is turned towards God. Not everything is for everyone. An unbeliever is fed something he can understand about God while an advanced believer already knows the basics and needs words of greater wisdom. It's a combo of milk and meat and addresses a variety or people.

1 Corinthians 3:1-3 (New International Version)
The Church and Its Leaders
3 Brothers and sisters, I could not address you as people who live by the Spirit but as people who are still worldly—mere infants in Christ. 2 I gave you milk, not solid food, for you were not yet ready for it. Indeed, you are still not ready. 3 You are still worldly. For since there is jealousy and quarreling among you, are you not worldly? Are you not acting like mere humans?

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=1+corinthians+3%3A1-3&version=NIV>

Hebrews 5:13-14 (New International Version)
13 Anyone who lives on milk, being still an infant, is not acquainted with the teaching about righteousness. 14 But solid food is for the mature, who by constant use have trained themselves to distinguish good from evil.

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Hebrews+5%3A13-14&version=NIV>

To know that a member of the Body of Christ loves me the way Sis Adele does is so encouraging to me and it doesn't let me feel alone though I may physically be alone. It makes me feel truly connected to her in the Spirit. Likewise with other members. We're called to build each other up and not break each other down.

This may not be for everyone, but I would just like to add to the statement where I wrote that Walter demonstrated the law of conservation of momentum in that pendulum experiment. I had written the statement from my memory not really working out the logic behind it and it had seemed correct to me. And when I opened his video and saw him saying that he demonstrated the law of conservation of energy and not momentum in that experiment, I wondered if I said something wrong but I had the intuition that it had to be correct in some way. I later thought about my own statement and figured that at each point in the trajectory of the huge pendulum, the law of conservation of momentum was being obeyed separately with the momentum assuming different values along the path but the same value at a given point (in the absence of external or frictional forces). I just wanted to clarify my statement which may have seemed incorrect to people who really know the subject.

During day
The guy sings:
Dil diya galla.. Karange naal naal behke..
Ankh naal ankh nu milake..

The song lyric played in my Spirit the previous day as well.

Revelations While Resting on Bed:

- The face of Amir Khan with a Handlebar moustache in a dim golden background as he bites a small green chili pickle in one go looking forward at the viewer.
- A long-seeming face of RK in a dim golden background with a huge flower peeking out from behind his left ear with a gazra/garland of huge colorful flowers covering the top of his head as he looks at the viewer. The face changes to Alia Bhatt's.

'Mit Jaayengi Kitaabein..'

Past Revelation

- (Past few days) The face of Tiger Shroff in a background lit with white light facing slightly towards the viewer away from the left direction as he blows out a pink bubble out of the chewing gum he was chewing which expands into a circle of diameter of about 5 to 6 inches and bursts.

Today's Revelations (21st Oct 2023)

Dream:

I have a game that I have to play in the field but I notice some people playing an indoor game in a common hall lying to the left of the playground area. The game involves throwing white balls at each other and I observe 4-5 people playing it. Instead of going to the open field, I stand in their group and assume a position as I receive my own catches. Rekha bua says that the place she learned stitching from was 3rd best in the skill in the town. The name of the town she said sounded like the typical name of a village ending with a pur.

I now find myself in a space with the view of an open ground in front of me with a wide and conical mud mountain lying at its far end. I see a prototype flash in my vision of the situation that's supposedly safe for me to be in. The safe situation has a semi-circular soil strip of a disk extending away from the mountain, with a huge open green area extending further in my direction. Apparently, I can monitor and change the width of the semi-circular strip and the green zone right in front of me and I am supposed to fix it to the prototype I had seen. The soiled strip in front of the mountain is supposedly the enemy's territory of attack and therefore it needs to be thin while the green area in front large. I fix the parameters, and find the soiled space to be much wider than the ideal thickness, and the mountain also seems closer in the real setting than what I had seen in the flash. I can see that how I've fixed the parameters isn't a safe place to be in as the mountain is close up and so is the enemy's territory with the green zone covering almost half the width of what I had seen which stresses me out.

After waking up

- A small framed vision of a room with a single bed covered with a white sheet with a white pillow placed near its end against the wall as a fat and wide woman dressed in a finely printed blue and white tunic over a red salwar with her hair tied at the back quickly walks by the right side of the bed in a curvy manner in a direction away from the viewer towards the wall as she leaves the vision passing the bed by.

  As I wrote the above sentence, I saw the vision of Glory carrying a violent expression while grinding his teeth.

I was walking around my bed in the morning when I had this vision.

- The side-view of a teethfully smiling bearded guy with ruffled hair, dressed in a brown suit with a white shirt inside and a tie striped in a slanted pattern, as he is moving speedily to the right in an open space pushing his hair backwards while he holds a thick horizontal wooden stick parallel to his body with both hands stretching his arms in front of him. The view expands downwards and to the right side to some extent and what is shown is him moving speedily on a skateboard as he is being dragged away by a car as the wooden stick is tied with ropes around both its ends at the back of that car. The vision shifts further to the right and the surrounding is revealed to be that of a concrete road surrounded by trees. As the view shifts further to the right, the car is revealed to be a dull red convertible with the conical back view of the head of the driving guy can be seen. The guy sliding on the skateboard with high speed seems to be enjoying his ride as he is being dragged away by the guy in the convertible. The road ahead of the car as seen from the back is open and empty with the view of the sky clearly visible.

The vision reminded me of what I had written the previous day about me getting together with my friends that were both lower and higher in their financial status compared to me wherein we made choices that went well along with both sides. But the common denominator was all of them being good people.

Revelations during the past hour while resting on my bed:

- The side-view of the upper half of Meera dressed in a dark saree with her hair tied low at the back in a white background as she blows out a party horn finely printed in brown and a lighter yellowish shade which extends to the left on blowing it. (As I wrote this revelation, I saw: a naked Glory hit my head with a rod with an expression signifying stuffed anger.) She keeps blowing out the horn, and this specific time, it extends to an unusual length and keeps extending ahead to the left as the vision follows the extending horn. It seems like it's going to extend indefinitely, but the vision cuts short and the horn is now shown to have been rolled back to her mouth possessing a seemingly normal length inconsistent with the previous extension.
- A bearded RS drives to the left as he sits on the passenger seat of a scooty with both his legs on the side of the viewer as he laughs pointing at something/someone he has just passed by behind him. He seems to be laughing in a mocking manner and is dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt with a black print tucked inside a tan shaded jeans/trousers (neither a denim nor a pant). (As I wrote the revelation: An overjoyed face of Glory threatens with a 'Maarunga!'.)
- The front view of Johnny Lever dressed in a full-sleeved finely vertically striped shirt tucked inside pants stands behind a Thela on road, the Thela being covered with a thick red plastic sheet as a child dressed in a red t-shirt stands close to his right while he looked down at her as he held a huge and thick glass jar in his other (left) hand and poured greasy granular liquid syrup contained inside it on his Thela itself. The jar is almost empty and filled to an extent that he is able to hold it with one hand, lifting it about half-a-meter above the surface.

After I had this resting session, I changed my dirty top and went out to do a few chores and on my way back, I got one more jar of coconut sweets - the square one. I already had bought the round one the previous day. I got the square one because I liked it more as it tasted different. So, when I was having the square sweet and I had not yet written the above Johnny Lever revelation fully but had only made a mention of it, I heard this in my Spirit:

'Johnny Johnny', Yes Papa
'Eating Sugar', No Papa
'Telling Lies', No Papa
'Open Your Mouth', Ha Ha Ha!

Well, I am not lying or hiding stuff from anyone. But it could represent what someone else's doing.

The Chorus of the song Tere Khat Main Jalata Kaise plays in my Spirit after the Johnny song.

The rest of the revelations I had while resting:

- A clean-shaven HRX holding a sword in his right hand, dressed in his white multilayered attire resembling his look from the movie Jodha Akbar, looks at the viewer in a dim golden background.
- The clean-shaven fat and bald Guruji, whose photo many people put inside their shops or homes, sits dressed in his saffron attire on a seat with clasped hands slightly below his face as he looks at the viewer with the pet look he carries in his photos. Then appears the BJP symbol of a Lotus superimposed at the bottom left side of the vision.
- The face of Bollywood Actor Jitendra Kumar seen in one's left mental vision pukes out water held in his mouth to the right in a streamlined manner.
- His face then changes to Rajpal Yadav's who pukes out water in the same manner.
- The stubbled face until the throat of Brother Andrew with the top of his multilayered checkered clothing visible appears in front of my face and drops a kiss.
- Glory appears dropping quick kisses on my lips.
- RS dressed in the multilayered white attire resembling that of HRX in Jodha Akbar, comes riding on a dark brown horse from the right direction in a night background, looks at the viewer with a resentful expression while moving up and down slowly at his place because of the horse, following which he turns away and rides away from the viewer on a narrow dark path through a forest with a stuffed and angry 'JAA!' said as he rides away into the forest's dark path.

The Guy sings the chorus of High-Rated Gabru song.
Haye ni haye nakhra tera nee, high-rated Gabru nu maare!
Guru de ha dil te dimaag ute chaa gayi..
Beautiful hogi je tu zindagi wich aagyi!
Haye ni haye nakhra tera nee, high-rated Gabru nu maare!

Past Revelation

- A small-framed vision of a bearded RS with neck-length hair dressed in a printed sherwani as he holds his head with it getting separated from his body from the neck, and extends it forward to the viewer and puts it back in its place afterwards.
- The front view of the upper half of a woman in full-sleeved black top with her hair tied low at the back and head turned to the left as she spits out water in the washbasin in a streamlined manner from a distance of about 2 feet after followed by her moving sideways to the right and turning in that direction.

Recall: The vision that had a tall and wide bald man dressed in a full-sleeved (off) white shirt tucked inside pants standing facing a lean and shorter woman dressed in black on the front cover of an almost square notebook that started rotating around the axis perpendicular to its plane and then moved backwards. I understood a while back that the vision actually represented the Right Hand Thumb Rule! Because the Notebook rotated in a clockwise manner and moved away from the viewer. And then name Right Hand Thumb Rule in itself says a lot about the message hidden in the revelation.

At first, it occurred to me out of nowhere if the revelation was about me teaching centrifugal force as a demo class that I am to take on Wednesday, but then I looked at how it didn't involve things moving outwards around the axis of rotation, but backwards as the Notebook rotated. Which then made me look at the direction of rotation and I recalled it to be clockwise thereby deducing it to represent the Right Hand Thumb Rule. I hope the people will get the message regarding what constitutes the right way of using one's thumb.

I actually don't want to eat anything but I end up eating at times because of different reasons. At times, Jesus reveals for me to have a small communion, at times it's related to something else like yesterday I felt this nudge to ask my mom if I should've Aloo Puri which I found and didn't find weird at the same time. Because I generally wouldn't ask my mom before eating a specific or a general thing with a rational mind, but then I am getting this strong nudge from within to ask her if I should've it. She tells me a yes so I go ahead with it. Likewise, this morning, I felt this strong nudge to order Paranthas from Pandit Ji Paranthe Wale (in Ashok Vihar). So, I did. Ideally, I would not like to eat anything at any time. But at times I am guided to have something, other times it's my own choice as I need breaks after sitting for long and need tea or coffee. But ideally, I want to fast all the time because it will lead me to be more active in the Spirit, even much more active than I am now.

This event from my middle school was highlighted to me a long time back but I didn't record it but this evening it just popped out with an unusual weight as it reminded me of this lady shouting 'Phoolmala lelo' outside in the morning.
So, the event concerns the school's Punjabi exam that I took which asked us to write some words in Punjabi, perhaps two words or more, but two is the minimum number that they could've asked from my memory. And one the words I happened to come up with was 'Phoolmala'. I don't why but it just happened to be one of the words I wrote in my school's Punjabi exam. It was somewhere between 5th to 8th when I learned Punjabi. This lady repeatedly shouting Phoolmala lelo outside seems correlated to this event of my life.

Evening

When I lie down to rest:

- RS stands in a full fluffed yellow sports suit in the sunlit background of an open ground stadium with ruckus visible around the audience seats behind him, followed by his face and neck visible through the suit changing into a form of a muscular black chimpanzee and then to a black dog with a human figure as he leaps at me and start licking my face.

'Kartika, marunga!'

- HRX in a grey suit with a tie sits on the right end of a circular dining table only the right half of which is visible with an upright countenance and posture of a gentleman as many women sit around him on the table and feed him Chowmein with a fork held in their hands. All of them are putting the noodles in his mouth in a random manner and they all seem to be in a haste to do so, at times some even ending up touching an empty fork on his cheek.

A long time back, this vision of the dark-complexioned Shastri Sir from the DAV school that I attended in my hometown kept being highlighted to me. The vision had him sitting near my row of seats in front of which lay the classroom's podium. He sat there dressed in his light pink shirt that had an oval mark embossed on the front on one of the sides because of it having been rafooed. The thread used in the rafoo stood out on his shirt and the embossed part was about an inch or so. This particular vision of him sitting on the chair wearing that shirt kept being highlighted to me but I didn't record it. He taught us Dharm Shiksha (Religion Studies) - a compulsory subject we had to take study and take an exam at the end followed by us receiving separate special certificates of the same. He also performed rituals and hawanas in our school and knew about the Arya Samaj stuff along with the related mantras that he recited during the hawanas that were often performed in the school. He was a dark and bellied man. This evening, I went to give my pink shirt that was torn by a slight bit by its side. I had only worn it once but for an extended period of days and perhaps it got brushed against a rough surface leading it to slightly tear up around that area. At first, I was thinking of throwing it, and it kept lying for a month or so as I kept forgetting about it and also hadn't yet decided if I should get it mended or throw it. Also, the torn part was present on the side and not the front and because the shirt was a boxy loose-fit one, it wouldn't be too visible either. So I decided to get the shirt mended instead of throwing it. I could always wear it inside if it looked too weird. I in my own persona would've no problem in wearing that rafooed shirt outside either because look at the condition the disciples of Jesus walked the earth in. The act of giving the pink shirt for Rafoo highlighted that view of Shastri Sir to me.

Somewhere during writing the above para, I saw:

- The teethfully smiling face of an amalgamation of Death Conqueror and KA with filled eyes.
- I also heard: Kartika, vo bahut buri hai.. Kartika, vo bahut buri hai..
  The Lady sings: Hum Mar Jayenge..

Back in my school, I used to think if he didn't feel weird wearing that shirt with an inch-long embossment standing out. I used to think that I would've instead thrown that shirt though I didn't possess an abundance of clothes but had what was required and what I had was enough to fill a cubical box of about less than 3 feet. But still, I would've thrown the shirt. It looked weird and caught our attention. But now I was giving my own shirt for Rafoo and even if it would be visible, I didn't care about it and then I understood why he was ok with wearing it though he had other shirts as well. It was because he was wise enough to not care about the embossed mark but what mattered to him was that it was mended and was usable. He treated that shirt like other shirts and cared the same for it as it used to be well-ironed with sharp creases and the mark didn't catch his attention at all though it did ours. I learned this wise thing about his way of thought today. Though objectively I understood him during those days as well, years later this time I myself had possessed that quality of his. The vision most probably pertains to the 10th class because of the location of the classroom that I remember. And I could tell that no one else in the school would've worn that shirt in a formal social setting but he flaunted it. It wasn't his foolishness but wisdom.

And then this attire of mine that I often used to dress in during my school days keeps getting highlighted and flashed to me as well. I often wore a fitting but thick full-sleeved pink sporty winter top with two rectangular strips hanging down from the sides on each side over blue denims and it goes along with the revelation of the fairy in pink and blue that came flying from the sky and took away the child standing alone on the road from behind his back. The fitting clothes didn't look weird because I used to 55-58 kgs back then. I didn't see fitting clothes as being unholy back in those days and those who dressed in salwars and suits or even sarees seemed too foolish to me because only a fool would choose to wear such uncomfortable clothes. So I intrinsically associated well with those who shared my sense of clothing. I didn't like Shirts either but only T-shirts and other tops. I've changed my dressing sense now to be Holy as I bought loose boxy-fit shirts. It seems to me that they will be put to use now if I get a job which I'm planning to find.

And then this also keeps getting highlighted to me: This girl named Arnimal from my BSc batch sitting in front of my bench wearing an old off-white t-shirt with a few mm hole near its neck. She hailed from a rich family and later left Miranda and went abroad to pursue BS. She was a great pop dancer as well and easily performed Michael Jackson's steps and she was so humble. When we spotted her in the lawn outside Miranda's canteen many months after she had shifted to that University abroad, she exhibited the same humility and even put herself down by calling her BS as BS. I don't know why that vision of the back-view of her t-shirt was being highlighted to me, because in her case I had gotten impressed by her wearing it as it showed how she was not vain but an original person. Now that I look at this incident written below the Shastri Sir's highlight, we can see the wise teachings hidden in the two seemingly opposite situations.

Later during the late evening, I heard inside me that if I had to feel something, I should be feeling sad for those who continue to choose the wrong way because by doing so, they're rejecting God in a way. I think I heard this because a day or two before I was shouting out in anger. But this day I heard that instead of being angry I should be feeling sad. But eventually one is going to expect the other person to come out of their wrong act, repent, and leave it behind instead of continuing to feel sad.

~20:00
I found this interesting suggestion as a notification on Quora. I think we all are all fours when it comes to different things. Now I could be an idiot in one thing and a scholar in something else.

Human beings are of four types:
1. A man who knows, and knows that he knows. This is the scholar, so take and patiently learn from him.
2. A man who knows, but does not know that he knows. This one has forgotten, so quietly remind him.

3. A man who does not know, and knows that he does not know. This one is a student, so teach him continuously because he will be a great scholar one day.
4. A man who does not know, and does not know that he does not know and isn't even interested in knowing. This one is an idiot, so reject him".

From
<https://thestoics.quora.com/?__ni__=0&__tiids__=115239420&__filter__=all&__nsrc__=notif_page&__sncid__=45132454620&__snid3__=60320847406#anchor>

I watched this recent video (perhaps yesterday) by Brother Andrew and it was followed by the chorus of the Westlife song shared next to this video playing in my Spirit.

What Makes a Man a Man?

Westlife - What makes a man - Lyrics Video

The Guy sings:
Tell me what makes me man wanna give you all his heart..
Smile when you're around, and cry when you're apart..
If you know what makes a man, wanna love you the way I do..
Girl you gotta let me know… So I can get over you..

Page 570.

22 October 2023
21:56

Revelations last night before falling asleep:

- A small-framed animated vision of a muscular and naked upper half of Aamir Khan with half of his upper half shown as being black with a slanted boundary on the surface while the lower half is shown as being white as he stands beside a window to his right in front of a table inside a dark room lit with perhaps just moonlight and takes a note of something on a square notepad.
- The top view of a white Ginnie Aamir Khan with a bald head and a white Ginnie flesh ponytail around the top of the back of his head.

Today Morning

- A small-framed vision of the hand of a lady pouring out tea from a white disposable square packet, apparently of the size of a 500ml milk packet, into a small white disposable tea glass with a few more such glasses placed on the slab.
- Angelina Jolie comes walking from one's left mental view with long and thick brownish hair falling at her back wearing a full-length golden dress with a few mm thick vertical stripes of golden glassy embossments as it runs across her chest like the drape of a Saree with her right shoulder exposed, though being a one piece and not separate at places like a Saree. The dress covers the rest of her body fully and properly while leaving that shoulder exposed.
- The view is seen from a point slightly below the parallel view of the object. The front view of the top-right corner of a tree's round top fully covered with red flowers with the background of the clear open blue sky at the back.

Dream:

I am inside a house with a striped metallic door standing behind it as a lady sits with outstretched legs crossed over each other on the bed a few meters away from the door. In front of the door lie a huge ground through which I see a person walking towards it and apparently, that person isn't supposed to be there. I draw the curtains so that person can't look inside and I myself hide to the left of the door, sitting down on vertically folded knees. That person is now standing outside the door and is peeking inside and I can see him through the fine vertical strips. I then move inside the house and am now able to see a slim lady with her hair tied at the back standing outside in the wide space between two walls. She is looking inside but is not entering the house. I sit down and hide behind the table present at that place of the house. Apparently, I don't want to be seen by her.

Vision (Past 24 hours): Sis Adele dressed in her black Bold Existence attire of a polo shirt over black pants dances with Jesus dressed in His attire of a long white tunic with a red drape on top with both of them having their arms extended forward and their hands clutched tightly together in the center of my room.

While having tea:

- Walter appears behind me in the air as he hits the back of my head with a steel rod.
- A few more people come at my head with a rod.

- I feel several hits on my head. It's almost as if whoever is hitting my head is not showing any mercy to me while doing so.

I had milk in the afternoon with some solid food and later lay to rest on the floor and had these revelations.

- The backside top-right view of Shawn dressed in a finely printed half-sleeved shirt as he is sitting in front of a piano and playing it meticulously with both hands. He then looks up at the viewer and says: I Love You.
- 'Banake kyu mara re..'
- The parallel back-view of a man lying on the floor on his back as me but being dressed in a white polo, sporty fitting T-shirt with his hands joined behind his head as he abruptly jerks them forward and throws a knife held together by them at the wall in front of me.

I move to the bed because it's cold down on the floor as the winter has begun its onset, and then have the following revelations.

- The top-view of the upper-half until slightly below the shoulders of Chaaru lying on the bed in the same posture as me carrying the same relaxed expression with a tinge of smile.
- Guruji dressed in long saffron clothes with the hairstyle of Master Pillai from the movie Padosan walks holding the hand of a little child dressed in a printed orange t-shirt and shorts who is walking on his right side as they both walk together on a stoned floor inside what looks like a hall in the direction slightly tilted towards the viewer away from the left direction.
- My right lower leg suddenly feels broken and crushed inside, almost as if the bones are broken as it's no longer intact but is free flowing lacking inner stiffness (which reminds me of my Himanshu's accident), though I don't feel any pain. How miraculous God can create bodily sensations without me having to go through the accident. If He can give me this somatic experience, He can heal without medicine as well.
- The Lady sings: Hum Mar Jayenge.. (from the song Hum Mar Jayenge from the movie Aashiqui 2).

The following song played in my Spirit in the evening.
The Guy sings:
O meri pyaari Bindu, O meri bholi Bindu..
Meri prem ki naiyya beech bhawar mein gud gud gote khaye
Bindu paar lagade, Bindu paar lagade..

Meri Pyari Bindu - Padosan - Kishore Kumar & Sunil Dutt - Classic Comedy Songs

Also, after I wrote the cubic art revelations and the momentum conservation in a Pendulum, and I was thinking about Walter that day as I had written about him, I saw the following vision.

- Akhila standing to my left shrinks down to a dot on the ground, being almost invisible.

It can have more than one context. It could represent me as well in some situations.

While having dinner, I listened to songs sung by Little Emma in a row and ended up listening to Never Enough and because she was little, I didn't understand the beginning lyrics fully and the song seemed good and melodious to me so I looked up the original version and played the first video suggestion that had the song's lyrics as well.

The Greatest Showman - Never Enough Lyric Video

While I was listening to the song, a few thoughts crossed my mind. The lady sings how without a certain person (or she could be addressing several people as well at once) all the spotlights and the world would never be enough for her. This later pointed me to how the lyrics correlated with the previous vision of RS stepping out of a car with a stern expression in a surrounding of people and spotlights all around leaving DP alone inside, and how she didn't step out for a while by herself but her translucent red drape flew several meters ahead and got stuck to RS wrist calling for him to accompany her! The revelation came to new life with this song as I saw how the spotlights and the world will never be enough for DP without RS.

And as I wrote the above para, I saw:

- DP dressed in her red bridal saree abruptly slaps my face with a fierce and intense expression turns her back towards me and ejects a blob of poop through the stuff of her Saree. Somehow it passed not touching her clothes as it has been shown with other people who were a part of similar visions.

It also made me ponder at how each individual is so important for God, the ones He chose for Himself, that the million angels that He already has in Heaven will never be enough without even one of those that He died for on the cross and ordained for His kingdom. Indeed, each one of His chosen ones are too important and without even one of them, the rest are NEVER enough! Because we can only imagine how hard it must be for someone to just throw away something he or she himself or herself created. If it's possible, that person will try to mend that thing so it can be with him/her. And now imagine God creating a living person who thinks and feels, can reason and love. He gave those qualities to each one of us and designed each one uniquely. How difficult it must be for Him to throw away this complex thing capable of love that He created for a purpose!? This created being is so precious for Him that He will go to any extent to get it back to Himself. I never looked at His mind in this way before. It's a revelation. He downloaded this understanding of His perception in my brain this night itself. I still have the artwork I created back in MSc placed in a photo frame in my home. And I will never throw it! How can then God throw His children so easily!? Wouldn't He first incorporate all solutions He can to bring them back to Him? - which He did on the cross taking out iniquity on His own self.

22:42

As I delved more in the song, wrote the above, or listened to a different video of it, somewhere in between I saw:

- DP dressed in her red Saree performing ballet moves in the centre of my room.

Never Enough (from The Greatest Showman) repris par emma 'Toot chuke hai hum, Kartika.. Toot chuke hai hum.'

Past Revelations

- (Past Week) I grab a naked Death Conqueror's long and thick genitalia and pull him towards my groin. The act repeats a few times. I have this revelation while sitting on my chair.
- I see the following vision as a third person. I stand naked facing Glory whose face I pull and abruptly push him down to my right breast.
- I have this vision while lying on the bed. Glory hits my chest with a danda as I lie on the bed.
- The top view of Ayushmann Khurrana as seen from slightly behind him, showing him dressed in a black and white Dhoti Salwar with a well-built naked upper half stands facing a lady while he holds a sickle in his left hand. The duo stand in an open forest area. After Ayushmann is done speaking, the lady leaves the scene.
- The Lady sings: Baatein ye kabhi na tu bhulna.. Koi teri khatir hai jee raha.. (The lyrics have intermittently repeated several times in my Spirit during the past week.)
- Likewise in the same manner, the following lyrics have also been repeating intermittently during the past weeks where the lady sings: Bepanah pyaar tujhse.. Tu kyu jaane na.. Hua ikraar tujhse.. Tu kyu maane na..
- The top-view of the naked upper half of Rose from the movie scene in which she lies on a surface to get painted with her hand raised and lying above her head. When I had this vision, I had my hand lying above my head in a similar posture. Perhaps that's why I received this vision. I feel relaxed when my hands or legs are stretched by a bit so I happen to put my hands above my head or fold my legs horizontally or change in different postures.

- (Past week) I lay on the bed to sleep perhaps or rest, when I see the head of Death Conqueror with overgrown ruffled hair between my legs as he was sucking on my inner lobes.
  The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

After I shut down my Laptop, I hear the song lyric repeat itself in a row many times: Hum Mar Jayenge..

I then lay on my side to sleep, and see:

- The front view of the upper half of a lady sleeping on her side in my posture as 3-4 black crows sit on top of the side of her neck pecking at it with their beaks.
- As I'm beginning to fall asleep, I hear a lady say: Divyanshu followed by a small *Moti*lal written in white on a thin navy blue rectangular strip with the word Moti blinking on the surface.
- I wake up after this dream vision and see a tall and overweight lady in a dim golden light dressed in a thick green satin saree fully covering her like an extended drape and not a folded one over a shining yellow blouse as she holds a sickle in her right hand.
- A distant view of the lower half of a woman dressed in a fluffed white dress resembling the lower half of that of the lady in the song 'Never Enough' as she takes a step over an elevated door frame towards the viewer while stepping out of the space, with her other leg following. As she does so, her professional black bellies can be seen on her foot.
- The side-view of the upper half of HRX in a dim golden background in his white Akbar attire in my left mental view as he looks forward to the right with his body moving movements as if he's sitting on a horse slightly moving around his position.
  The Lady sings: Kaat Dala.. Kaat Dala..
- A Giraffe's long yellow neck patterned in light brown in a dim golden surrounding. It also reminded of the previous vision in which I the scene in the beginning from the movie The Matrix that showed Neo's long neck as he slept on his side facing away from the viewer.
  Neo's Neck (The Matrix)

Currently, I hear:
Nai jeena tere bajo.. nai jeena nai jeena..
Nai jeena tere bajo.. nai jeena nai jeena..
Followed by the chorus of the same song.

Ref: Arijit Singh | Shreya Ghoshal - Samjhawan (Lyrics)

- The upper half of Shawn from Yeshu Ke Geet, dressed in a full-sleeved yellow shirt in a dimly lit background, looks at the viewer and makes the 'awesome' symbol by joining his thumb and forefinger with his other three fingers standing upright. He then gives a thumbs-up to the viewer. These two actions of him repeat several times.
- As I close my eyes after the above vision to sleep, I immediately see: A small-framed vision of KA moving above my groin, a tiny naked groin superimposed on the real reality as he begins sucking the insides of the groin.
- It is followed by him sitting on my left on a stool wearing a full-sleeved white shirt tucked inside grey pants.
- Also, somewhere around the same time, I see my naked upper half below me with a wide empty space in the center of my chest as an amalgamation of KA and Death Conqueror dropped kisses at the beginning of my small breasts followed by:
- 'My Darling.. I'm so pleased with you..' followed by the side-view of a very thick penis entering a vagina while moving to the left, as it moves fully inwards with a slight thud made by the end of it hitting the surface. It does so for a while and then I feel a strong nudge to upload the revelations in the Laptop this moment itself and not delay. So I get up and write the above.
- Somewhere while lying on the bed when in this revelatory flow, I heard: Kartika, vo tujhe maar degi. Vo bahut buri hai! Vo bahut buri hai!

More Past Revelations

- (Past three weeks or before) It was during my communion time with Jesus as I was resting and He was on top of me in intercourse/communion that I saw: Several white and sparkling shapes roughly resembling curved snake heads eject out and scatter themselves uniformly, in the open air space to my left near the center of the room, in the shape of an arc of a circle or along the surface of an inverted cone with a circular arc at the top.
- (Past week or before) I dance with a smiling Death Conqueror in the center of the room with extended arms, with him dressed in a full-sleeved sky-blue shirt tucked inside a lighter version of navy blue pants.
- While resting on the bed after I wrote about my first day in school when I had accidentally walked into the wrong class with a finger in my mouth when I had to actually go to the other section of the class: Dushman looks at me with wide-open eyes as he rushes to the left biting a finger in his mouth.
- (Past few days while brushing teeth) Dushman says with an amused expression: Haaye re! while moving his hands very loosely.

Page 571.

23 October 2023
03:33

The Guy sings:
Isse pehle ke humpe hasti raat..
Banke naagin jo humko dasti raat..
Banke naagin jo humko dasti raat..

Leke apna bharam chale aye..
Leke apna bharam chale aye..
Chale aye.. Chale aye..

Tere dar par sanam chale aye..

Last Night Before Sleeping:

- Edible silver foil superimposed on a blurry background of the display picture of Death Conqueror's FB profile with him dressed in a yellow tunic, as the vision eventually takes the form of a soft yellow square barfi with silver foil on top - the shiny texture resembling the freshly made yellow Barfis in the departmental canteen of my workplace.
- A lady's voice says: Jeb mein ….(the phrase isn't clearly audible) aur 300 rupay the.
- The sentence hasn't yet ended when the vision of the scene towards the end of Titanic is shown that had Rose standing on dry land along with others after having been successfully rescued from the disaster, being dressed in her thick hooded attire with an expression that shows how she's looking forward to her life that she would be starting afresh. In the vision, the hooded face of Rose is seen from below her face and her head is covered with a thick dark hood and not the thin checkered hood from the scene.

Hooded Rose post being rescued from the shipwreck.

In my vision, she didn't have this stern look, but a soft expression as she looked ahead.

Ref: Titanic - Rose Sees Cal Hockley For The Last Time

- 'You Love Me..' : says a voice.

Morning Revelations

- A small-framed vision of a stubbled Arshad Warsi dressed in a chicken white tunic set (embroidered all over) standing at the far end of a room in front of a brown door as he claps his hands looking at the viewer.
- A small-framed distant vision of the side-view of Emma (when she was that little child) standing facing to the left inside a recording room with the mic apparatus in front of her and her ears covered with a headphone, with her dressed in a sleeveless sky blue top that runs too wide as it goes down and ends with a narrow elastic end hidden below her oversized long top, with a navy blue capri below.
- I place an almost empty pack of the Atta Biscuits that I have almost half filled as of now into an almost empty carton with a few things placed at its right side after which I slide the carton below my foldable bed again.
- 'Through your voice, you continue to echo..'

Somewhere around noon, I go to the home salon on the first floor to Shalini - Chaaru's brother-in-law's wife, to smoothen out my looks a bit for my upcoming teaching demo in Medi-JEE in Sonipat as I now have excessive hair growth back on my chin and my face looks shabby as well – being full of hair. I could prepare for my demo anytime (including night or early morning), but she won't be free anytime and then I must leave the next day. Her little child (about 2.5-3 feet high) is sitting there as well on the sofa, looking too cute being busy with her phone she gave him to keep him busy during the time she is busy with me. When she asks me if I would be getting the full length of my legs waxed, I tell her that I will only get half of my legs waxed as I don't want to serve as a bad influence on a little child for they shouldn't be exposed to the nudity of other people. After I've said so, I see:

- The view of Death Conqueror standing in the middle of the stairs going down to the first floor present to the right of her apartment, with filled eyes and long drools of snots hanging down from his nose as seen from the slight left from a space somewhere around the near the end of stair while he looks ahead.
- The vision repeats when I comment on how her child also knows the lyrics of a certain song he was singing along with as it played on her phone (the lyrics of which I didn't understand at all).

For older people or young adults, they are supposed to have built that internal wall that stops them from observing things from an obsecene perspective in order to stop them from sinning. While little children don't their brains well developed and need to be preserved from looking at certain things or reading or watching certain kind of things. Adults are supposed to be guarded in their hearts for they've reached an age of maturity and must have their minds developed. Now, whether their minds have developed in righteousness or justifying unrighteous living depends on their own self, their friends circle and their home conditions. When we go out, we don't see everyone dressed in long tunics - be it men or women, but a mature guarded mind is able to still have clean eyes while coming across people dressed in different types of clothes. However, we are also called to reflect Holiness through our outer clothing. I wrote this paragraph to clarify the counterintuitive thought that why is it that children shouldn't be exposed to nudity while young adults aren't strictly inhibited from doing so. It is because they are expected to have already built that strong filtering wall of righteousness through which they perceive things, which is to say one doesn't get affected regardless of what one sees but chooses when to get affected and when to not and if the situation and the context is right for one to pull down that filtering wall of righteousness and runs away from sin. We should have that internal righteous wall of perception pulled up at all times as we operate in society and should only let ourselves get affected when we're around our spouse.

I understood later that the vision pertained to a bride stepping out with professional shoes on her feet. And though, at first, I related it with my situation or with how Jesus thinks in general about how women are supposed to be in the world, I later understood that the vision pertained to His Bride stepping out of the doorframe with working shoes on her feet. Nowhere is it written in the Word that they're supposed to stay inside and never step outside to work. Indeed, they're responsible for taking care of the family and training children in righteousness and are to be submissive to their husbands who are called the heads of the family, but nowhere is it written that women shouldn't be working and have to stay inside, as is revealed in this vision. Additionally, after a while of realizing the meaning of this vision, I also understood its related spiritual significance which implies that the Bride of Christ must step out in order to fulfil His purpose on Earth to expand His Kingdom: the bride constituting all believers, be it male or female. The Bride has to step out and labour for the kingdom of God for she serves as the hands and feet of Jesus on Earth. His Bride obediently listen to her master and steps out to do His Will. It's not the will of God for Christians to be lukewarm and not expand His kingdom. The vision goes hand in hand with the parable of The Master and The Servant, and The Parable of The Sower. The Servant and the Sower is none but the Bride as she is the servant of Christ and she sows the words given to her by God in the world for them to be picked by the lost and turn to God. As I wrote this paragraph, I saw: A crying face of Death Conqueror looking at the viewer (me). The Bride is called to step out. However, it doesn't always imply working out a worldly job. For women who stay at home and serve their families as housewives too work in their own way to expand the kingdom as they teach God's Word to their children or sow His seeds to outsiders whenever they get a chance to do so. However, God could also have them work a worldly job. That wouldn't be unscriptural or unbiblical. After I understood the vision, I was too encouraged because it's a Word from God itself. He is making it known that the bride is called to step out to fulfil His purpose which reminded me of the graffiti of the Pinjra Tod movement that I saw on the walls at various places in DU calling women to step out of their prisoner cages.

- The face of Abha Ma'am from Miranda House with stars in front of her eyes. She always came across someone who raised important oppressive societal issues and contended for freedom and righteousness. She was often seen in Dharnas, strikes, or different types of protests - the real protests and not the affected ones with ulterior motives.

The expanded understanding of the revelation made me look at how Jesus is the perfect husband as He loves His bride to the extent that He gave His own life and blood to secure her to Him, He is faithful, patient, and longsuffering towards His beloved bride, and then He helps and leads her to be better in righteousness as He himself is righteous and then He is not oppressive either for He asks and expects His bride to step out of her zone and put her feet to professional work (His work)! He exemplifies a perfect husband.

Past Revelations

(Past three weeks or before) The visions are seen in third person.

- Jesus lying on top of me fully dressed in His multilayered white robes as He is stabbing the sides of the bed with two daggers.
- The vision repeats with me now standing against the wall parallel to my bed to its right as He stands covering me and stabs the sides of the wall with a dagger held in each one of His hands.

A good husband stabs the sides and not his bride. He doesn't cause pain to His wife but honours her while leading her in righteousness.

Page 572.

24 October 2023
09:32

Perfection Comes from Within and Manifests Outwardly

From yesterday when I went to the home Salon on the first floor:
I notice that the way she performs/delivers her service is perfect. She does it with a grip on time and skill not really wanting to rush the process but doing it in a way that is exclusive to the customer according to her body requirements. She is doing it well to such an extent that one can tell that it couldn't have been done better than that. After looking at the finished job, I can see that a better job couldn't have been performed. I tell her the same. I recall how they do it in Salon shops that have customers lined up. I can clearly that they can do a better job but then if you tell them to do the place they left which they do repeatedly, they get annoyed as they make it about the type of my hair growth and that for my type, Indian or Italian Rica is the best - the best and the most expensive wax they have. But Shalini does her job so well with normal wax. She checks by herself if there's something left and targets everything that can be done. But in the salon system, they are too quick in their job and they don't use acuity around details. It's not that they don't know how to do well, but their standard of good is average or slightly below average. They never recommend me normal wax and they at times deny to do my underarms when the growth is small as they it can't be removed. But what Shalini did yesterday, the salon ladies would've given a negative comment about. And if you ask them to redo a place, they do it with haste and you can tell that they feel bothered. During one of the times I was in Gunikas, their wax kept leaving hair on my legs and I kept pointing it out to the girl and though she was listening to me, the next time I visited them, the other girl told me that if my growth was small, she wouldn't be able to do it with the normal wax as it won't be removed. She told it to me beforehand, before even beginning her job or taking a look at my hair growth. Apparently, the girl from the last time had shared her annoyance with my behavior with her. But Shalini does her job with a genuine willingness to do her best job and even if she happens to leave something, it's not because she doesn't care, or is in a hurry or that she wanted to leave it or is okay with performing lesser than her best. She gives the customer a relaxed mental space afterward to point to her if there's something she is not satisfied with, and she doesn't act as if she's in a hurry. One leaves feeling satisfied and having put one's money to good use. When I was back to my room, later I thought how the behavioural aura resembled that of Heaven where there are no contentions, no slander, no poison or negativity, but a willingness to be perfect in one's job while being humble at the same time. Though when I looked closely in my own wall mirror I saw a few tiny hairs around my upper lip, it wasn't because of a poor job done, but they had gone unnoticed by both her and me when I took a look at her place on my upper lip. They were just more clearly visible in the open day's light near the window. I haven't yet experienced a better salon service than hers which is not about the products she uses but the way she does her job. Perhaps her normal wax is of good quality because of which it worked so well on my growth, while the ladies at normal salons always do a poor job with their normal wax on my hair growth. I never went ahead with their suggestion of Italian Rica. I told one of the girls there once that it was out of my budget. And even with Indian Rica, they did an average job with which I was never satisfied. But Shalini did a perfect job with normal products. It also shows how having expensive things or being born with a silver spoon in one's mouth doesn't determine how well we perform our job but it's our own skill and inner attitude that's responsible to a great extent for how well we perform our job.

She proved that her good service was not entirely because of some expensive product she's using or her skill alone but because of her attitude towards how she performed her job. She did it with patience and wanted to leave her customers satisfied. You find this attitude of perfection in very few people. Now the first time I visited her, I found her service above average as she did a good job with normal wax, but the second time I visited her, I found that this is how she is at her core in regards to her job. It comes naturally to her to do her job in this manner. We all can learn to do our own respective jobs with this kind of attitude that she carries. I found it so impressive, and then she was so mature and amicable and didn't seem fake to me at all. I complimented her about her attitude and service. She was surprised as to her why would she be having customers if she does a bad job. But I told her that if everyone is corrupt in their job, one doesn't have an option but to choose one of the corrupt options and if someone is found to be performing their job as perfectly as they can, they're reflecting an intrinsic quality and not being a part of the herd. And this made her approach towards her job very special. Now when I think about it, it reminds me of Pinky's and Akhila's attitude towards me. While Pinky insulted several things about me, one being me meticulously by arranging things in an ordered way on the low-leveled square bedside table of my room placed to the right of the washroom ('Veli baithi thi to socha katoria hee jacha leti hu'), Akhila too was insulting me for no reason. They've an attitude opposite to that of Shalini who not only does her own job with perfection but also encourages to do well. While these people were only discouraging and demeaning others while backbiting and gossiping about them, or saying mean things to them to their faces (well, at least to me they were like that), and I don't how they performed or approached their own job. Highly immature behavior! They neither cared about their own job, and they demeaned and discouraged others! These are not the kind of people one wants around.

When I am plucking out the few tiny hairs left in my room from my upper lip, I see:

- A small-framed vision of Shalini standing dressed in the same finely printed blue and white tunic looking at me with filled eyes as she seems to sob.
- When I think about her perfect service at night, I see a vision of her looking at me with filled eyes as she throws yellow daal held in a flat circular container at me with a seemingly intense and furious expression.

The latter vision repeated when I was writing about her service this morning along with an additional vision of her coming at me with a kiss pressing her lips against mine. The vision repeats a few times.

I will be leaving for him late afternoon today and now I have to clean room, bath and make notes for my demo class that I am to deliver tomorrow. I had a dream involving CID with their sky inspection drones involving Rose and Jack as well this morning that I will write later.

Also, I happened to tie my hair in a high pony and when the lady applied bleach on my face, it reminded me of the vision with the entirely white face of genie Amir Khan having a muscle ponytail at the back of his head.

Revelations Last Late Evening

- Several small-framed visions involving HRX and Tiger Shroff.
- HRX in a grey suit stands facing the viewer as he looks sideways to the viewer's right through the corner of his eyes while he moves to and fro in front of him with an erected genitalia.
- A tiny-framed vision of the naked upper half of Tiger Shroff on a beach.

The visions are passing by in my view too quickly. And I know that I won't be able to record them so I try to remember the general idea/progression of the flow.

- A long mechanical metallic rod that seems to be the part of a prosthetic leg as it moves around its joint.
- A tiny infant in just a white diaper carrying the facial features of the guy from the YouTube channel Voicu Means Truth, sits on the floor with a drooling nose and a sad crying expression.

Page 573.

25 October 2023
05:31

Dream (Yesterday Morning):

I am with some CID personnel who ask me to go to my room and rest on my bed in my olive green sheet first. So, I go and do so as I sit covered with my olive green sheet while I talk with some people sitting with me on the bed. After resting on my bed covered with my olive-green sheet, I later leave the room and go downstairs and sit behind what looks like a reception desk of the place and apparently, I'm sitting there and eating. In front of me, a few meters ahead to the right go stairs upwards to the right with a wall separating them from the wide and huge open hall visible in front of me, a part of which lies behind the wall. The stairs are dimly lit while the empty hall is lit in golden. I then see ACP Pradyuman from CID walking downstairs holding my olive green sheet in one of his hands. He stops midway on the stairs in front of me as he shows it to me in a gesture pointing to the fact that it needs to be washed as I have been using it for too long. He then leaves with the sheet through the narrow corridor to my right in front of the stairs, exiting outside into the dark of the late evening. Apparently, he will give it for cleaning by himself for I've been busy. I think that it's good for me for my workload is decreased. The next thing I see is me exit the building out in the open and it's day now. I am in the middle of what looks like the crowded locality of a town, or an old rural part of a city. I see some vehicles parked around me and I at some distance ahead I can see some rectangular air drones with curved edges and a slanting top lifting up in the air. It seems like a spaceship lifting up with smaller rectangular and square parts of it lifting up together separately. Apparently, they are the CID drones that have been recruited to monitor the land in a new way. They are to move in the sky and keep a check and report the situation below. I look up at the open day blue sky where the drones are going to be flying in. I then see the parts of the ship move by me on the road. They seem to be like buses and I am trying to avoid being too close to them but their way of driving makes it look like they're trying to corner me on the road as they drive by in a curvy way while I am struggling to find space to move to stand safely in the space. Apparently, I too will be boarding the air drones that'll be moving up high in the sky as control and scout drones. I know that Jack is somewhere around me though I don't see him around and that he's being sought after by the CID as well. The next thing I see is me inside a metallic room which is a part of one of the drones and I have Jack with me. He is dressed in an off-white shirt tucked inside pants with shoulder straps. The room has a double bed and a wardrobe to the left beside it. Apparently, I am hiding Jack from CID who's looking for him. I am kissing him while I move about the room. While I move in the room, I am carrying a book in my hands. It seems to be a novel as I've it opened in my hands and I want him to read it. I then find myself standing behind the door of my open wardrobe being dressed in just my lingerie set which I see as a third person. The focus is on my middle portion which shows a black panty on a toned belly. It doesn't seem to me to be mine. Perhaps I am changing clothes and I bring Jack into that space as well.

(The room reminds me of my room in A-16 because of the presence of a double bed and the two wardrobes in the direction of the door. This reminds me of the first setting of room D4 in which I stayed first. The wardrobes were placed together and to the left of them was the room's door. I later shifted my almirah to my side, but my roommate Pinky used to use that space. I don't remember if she changed clothes in that manner, but I never did such a thing. And I don't look at people even if they're changing clothes right in front of me!

The Guy sings:
Bewafa bewafa bewafa nikli hai vo..
Jhoota pyaar, jhoota pyaar, jhoot pyaar kita hai vo!
)

Dream Continued: A person walks in through the door but he's not able to see Jack as I've hidden him behind the wardrobe's open door that stands as a screen between him and the room's door. I know that I will have to keep him in hiding for he's not safe outside.

The Slow Girl
The next part of the dream shows a translucent girl with her middle in the shape of a flower's closed bud she looks like a long and thick bean fat in the centre resembling a flower bud. She's standing in front of a lever and she has to turn it to the right, but she's too slow. She is moving so slowly that it doesn't seem like she can even pull the lever to the right as her hand moves by about a cm or two in a few seconds. It doesn't look like she can control the vehicle she is trying to operate using that lever. She is shown as being so devoid of lifeforce that she can't even dry her head properly after bathing as she's lightly moving her towel around her head as she is unable to twist her hands. There doesn't seem to be any force left inside the slow girl. The dream ends with the top view from about two feet above the ground of a closed transparent almost square box lying on the road and it seems to be filled with a brownish gravy substance - most probably rajma, as a lady's voice says: Deborah.

Judges 4:4-5 (NIV)
4 Now Deborah, a prophet, the wife of Lappidoth, was leading[a] Israel at that time. 5 She held court under the Palm of Deborah between Ramah and Bethel in the hill country of Ephraim, and the Israelites went up to her to have their disputes decided.
From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Judges%204&version=NIV>

While I was writing the above dream with Jack, I heard a few times in my Spirit: Fod dala.. Fod dala.. Jack needs to be wary.

The Lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse, tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse.. Tu kyu maane na..

******

Yesterday I decided to bathe as it has been a few days and I've begun to itch. I had now begun to bathe after a few days and not regularly to decrease my stress load because it's only stressful to bathe publicly and then I've to wash my head as well if I'm bathing with a gap of 2-3 days. While I'm bathing in my lingerie set, I hear several things:

'Sab dekh rahe hai.. Sab dekh rahe hai..'

Followed by the voice of the fat immoral middle man: Behencd.. sab dekh rahe hai.. Behencd.. sab dekh rahe hai..

And then the following Bible verse is highlighted in my Spirit:

Hebrews 10:26 (New International Version)
26 If we deliberately keep on sinning after we have received the knowledge of the truth, no sacrifice for sins is left, 27 but only a fearful expectation of judgment and of raging fire that will consume the enemies of God.
From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Hebrews+10%3A26-27&version=NIV>

I had been trying to delay bathing or bath with increased gaps, but it's Death Conqueror who has been continuing his sin consistently against me regardless of what God reveals in His revelations!

From Yesterday:
After bathing, I go out to get my demo notes printed and as I exit the connecting gate of the building at the ground floor and have walked a few steps ahead in the lane of Dinesh Store, I see from a huge distance a tall and wide man dressed in a loose and boxy yellow t-shirt over light blue denim carrying a grey bag around his left shoulder and wearing black goggles enter the opposite lane from the other side of the street. From that distance, he looks an unusual entry into the space to me and I can tell that his appearance is not a coincidence. I don't seem to know him and then I've been keeping coming across messengers or others who appear to deceive me in some way. So, I lower my eyes and pass him by. As I've just passed him, I hear:

The Guy sings:
Bhula dena mujhe.. Hai alvida tujhe..
Tujhe jeena hai mer bina..

After I've walked some distance, I realize that though I didn't look at his face from a reasonable distance, his stature resembled KA but when I'd looked at him from that long distance, I got conscious all of a sudden and then one late evening many tall and wide men kept had kept coming in my path when I went out to do some chore, and it had seemed too unusual to me and I could tell that their appearance was intentional as they passed by in front of me, and that same morning I had a dream in which I got duped by a very tall and wide man with neck-length wavy hair who was with me in my home.

Afterwards, as I continue on my way, I think about the guy in yellow because as we had crossed each other, I saw in my field of view his grip on the shoulder strap of his bag tighten and it was yet another confirmation that his appearance was intentional. What if he indeed was KA for real? Or perhaps not..

I get my demo notes printed and it takes a while. After I've reached my building and I'm walking in the corridor towards my room, I see:

- The blurry stubbled face of the man in yellow t-shirt resembling KA to some extent kisses my lips as it moves forward and presses his lips against mine. He's kissing me gently. The vision repeats a few times after I'm inside my room. I still am not fully sure if he was really KA..

When I've reached the GTB Metro Station and am sitting on the bench waiting for the train to Jahangirpuri arrive, I see:

- The upper half until below the thighs of KA dressed in the attire of that man as he's saying to me: You're not mine… Kartika, you're not mine… You're not mine.. He seems to be giving a sense that that's the reason that the meet and greet didn't take place earlier during the day.. I had walked by yet another stubbled, tall and wide man resembling KA and dressed entirely in black when I was staying in A-10, again, with him passing me by at my right side on the Saroj Sadan road in the same manner. I didn't take a look at him because I thought Glory who had his tent nearby was going to kill me as he was once already shouting outside at night Behen ch*..d, Behen Ki Li.. followed by a suppressed Neeri hai puri as he came across my revelation with Akhila in which I was lying naked on top of a naked her! Now with Akhila, I wasn't attracted to her but for some reason, I had that revelation. Perhaps it was labeled or it showed that she was called by God into His kingdom, though look at how she behaved with me. But with KA, things were different. I actually had begun to love him because of several God-given revelations that Glory knew about. Now if I was to stop and talk to this guy who resembles KA and perhaps is KA (I wasn't 100% sure as I never saw him in real life or wasn't used to seeing him), only God knows how Glory would be behaving when God's prophecy would've been fulfilled! This made me think if that's why God gave me revelations in which he had torn the centre of my chest apart and was looking inside with a vicious expression - the revelation that I had in A-16 while staying with Akhila, as later after shifting in A-10, I saw the stubbled face of KA in my vision followed by the song 'Dil mein sanam ki Surat' after some days. And then I thought if that was also the reason he had broken open my forehead and again was looking inside with a vicious expression, as in Saroj Sadan I had the somatic revelation of something entering my forehead from above followed by the formation of the image of a huge golden key inside, which went in conjunction with RS dressed in blue and white suit holding a huge golden key horizontally in his hands as he put his teethfully smiling face inside the circular beginning of the key held with its end facing to the left.

'Dil mein sanam ki Surat' still plays in my Spirit, followed by the Stanza 'Kaise karu mohabbat do din ki zindagi mein..'

When I was traveling in common cab, I heard in my Spirit: Kartika, you love everyone.. You love everyone.. Which is true when I look the revelation I had while walking towards Omaxe Heights as I passed the Gate into Villas to my left. A dark short-heighted girl dressed in a printed red tunic set walked by my right and again, she seemed like a messenger to me who was walking by to demean me in a shallow way of no significance. When I looked at her, though I was aware that she could be a covert messenger girl, but instead of feeling hatred for her being a messenger, I looked at how she was a spiritual being inside that house body who was created by God. And then I felt the love of God for her for being His creation which was immediately followed by the vision:

- A translucent figure of Jesus dressed in an off-white tunic set with a red drape on top comes out of me and runs to that girl and hugs her. How wonderful it is to have His Spirit living inside us being believers.

'Usne mujhe bheja hai.. Uski rooh mujh pe hai..'

Anyway. After I was back to my home, I explained to my mom how I thought yet another one of my dreams had come to pass, and after I did so, I saw:

- a teary and sobbing face of KA until his throat in a yellow t-shirt.

As I began to prepare for my demo class, I heard the following song lyric in my Spirit:
The Guy sings:

- Dil de diya hai.. Jaa tumhe denge..

After a while, the song begins playing somewhere outside my apartment along with special emphasis on the following lyrics of the stanza:

- Awargi mein ban gaya deewana, maine kyu sadgee ko nhi jana..
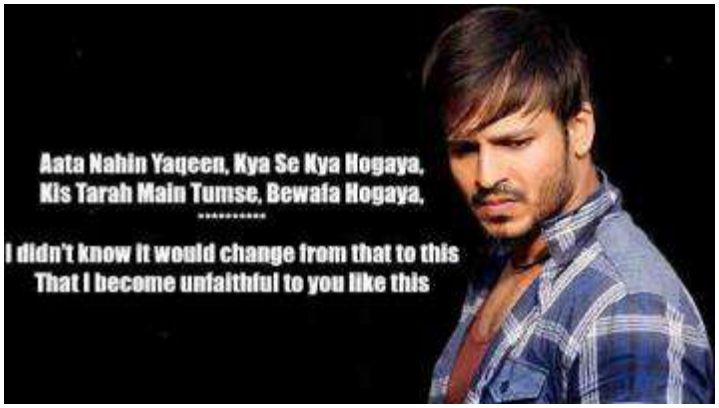
  Mere ashk keh rahe meri kahani, inhe samjho na tum sirf paani..

Dil De Diya Hai Anand Raj Anand Masti Lyrical Video With Translation



And then when I was making notes for my demo class and it was taking me a while, when I heard:

- Kartika itni mehnat mat karo. Itni mehnat karne ki jarurat nhi hai. Mein to tumhe use karke fenke wala hu.
  Itni mehnat karne ki jarurat nhi hai. Mein to tumhe use karke fenke wala hu.
  Now I don't think it pertained to my demo class but obviously to a psychopathic abusive mind!

And then after a while, I heard in my Spirit:

- Puri family khatam hone wali hai.. Puri family khatam hone wali hai.. and it repeated several times.

I was still making my notes when I heard:

- Tu mujhse jyada intelligent nahi ho sakti. Tu mujhse jyada intelligent nhi ho sakti.

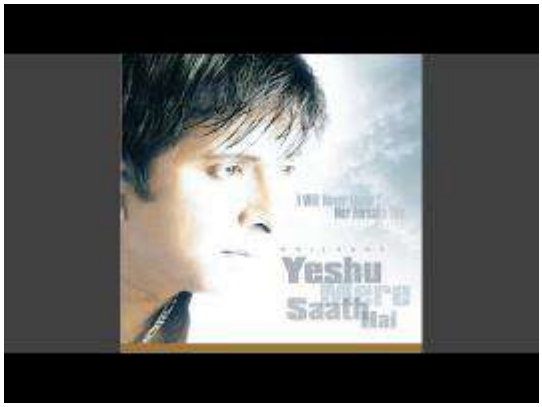
Also, the chorus of the following song played as well in my Spirit somewhere during my preparatory time:

Yeshu mere saath hai.. Yeshu mere ander hai..
Yeshu ko mein pehne hu.. Mujhme vo Zinda hai..

Ref: Yeshu Mere Saath Hai



Akhila, Christ University, and Her Christ 17 or 18 diary.
Additionally, yesterday the fact that Akhila graduated from Christ University was also highlighted to me which goes along with the Speak 18 revelation with the phrase written in golden on a black diary that went in tandem with the phrase Christ 17 or 18 written on her beige diary. And it was highlighted with a strong emphasis on the fact. Now I don't know how strongly she will consider the fact or let it affect and change her, or if she will continue in her sin, but it was something that she was highlighted to me yesterday.

- 'The Fair of Hearts is about to end.'

****

Past Revelations

- (Yesterday Evening) 'Pair kat Gaye. Pair kat Gaye.': keeps repeating in my Spirit.
- (6th October - the day of Himanshu's accident) After a while of getting to know about Himanshu's accident, I feel a sudden weakness and pain spread all over in both my legs.

****

I gave the demo earlier during the day and it went well according to me and they told me that if I was selected for the job, they would call me. During the demo, I heard again:

- Tu mujhse jyada intelligent nhi ho sakti. Kartika tu mujhse jyada intelligent nhi ho sakti.

Page 574.

26 October 2023
07:16

Last night, I was feeling so demotivated and I didn't want to continue on Earth as I was fed up of this abuse where people walked to me and said hurtful oppressive stuff. This lady said to me indirectly the last morning as I lay on the sofa in front of the apartment's closed door, 'Vaha bhi kar rhi thi. Yaha bhi karna padega.' She was trying to add to breaking me internally - a feat taken by Death Conqueror. He's challenged himself to break me internally by putting me through abuse and to make my life miserable! That lady sounded so cheap. Her tone was to apathetic and abusive and it only told me how all of these people work.

So, because of these messengers who have been passing me these messages and then I keep coming across other messengers who represent me being with Akhila which just seems such a distant reality to me because why would I interact with a woman like her who made life difficult for me with her words, toxicity and dumbness as she would argue with a sense that what she was saying was indeed right when it was clearly not the truth, because of these messengers, I was feeling too distraught and then I saw:

- The side-view of standing in front of Glory dressed in a full-sleeved deep red shirt as I held his hand and put the handgun held in his hand at the centre of my forehead. I in a way wanted him to shoot my forehead. At least I will find some peace by dying at the hands of the person God ordained for me and not at the hands of an immoral wicked abuser!

The vision repeated several times showing me holding his hand that held a handgun putting it at the center of my forehead and then signalling him to shoot.

Link to my FIR video on Odysee:
Live From Vijay Nagar, Double Storey, New Delhi, India: My FIR Submitted In Model Town Police Station (odysee.com)

Dream:
I enter my neighbour Nancy's house #602 adjacent to our flat #603 , and enter into their hall, and I see that it is so well organized and clean. I see their sofas as I enter the hall, followed by the TV on the wall, and then I notice a double bed lying on the left side of the hall near the kitchen space from that distance alone, with the bed covered with a printed brown bedsheet. It's now that I have begun to notice the subtle fragrance in the air which is not of any freshener but the objects themselves are so clean and covered with clean clothes that the air is filled with their fragrance. In this dream, I am filled with admiration for her clean and organized home.

On my way to my room when I've just entered Vijay Nagar single Storey in Rickshaw from GTB Nagar Metro Station, I hear this phrase repeated in my Spirit in a guy's voice:

- Sorry, Kartika. Sorry, Kartika. I'm sorry. Kartika Sorry.
  The voice to me seems to be resembling RK's.

The apology was repeated several times. The apology that I heard above, I didn't know from whom it came, and apparently, it had seemed to me that it came from the emotionally abusive camera guy. But I don't really think that he's even capable of truly repenting and apologizing!

After reaching my room, I put my FIR on play in my Laptop. I began dusting and cleaning so I could start working, and when I was almost done with brooming, I had this vision:

- The upper half of my mom's face crying bitterly as she says to me: Sorry Bete. Sorry Bete. Sorry Bete. The vision of her saying Sorry Bete repeated throughout most of the duration that I was mopping the floor. It told me that my mom was really feeling sorry for how she behaved with me.

After cleaning the room, I felt a pressure to pee. As I was doing so, I was sure that these people were still watching me and so the words I had heard previously had no meaning! Those people were still the same. Why were they even bothering to say sorry when their actions clearly told how sorry they were?

Why are they lying or apologising hypocritically? The apology has ZERO significance. It's just a vain gesture!

After I was done with cleaning, I then moved on to washing the few clothes I had forgotten soaked in my bucket. And when was I doing so, I heard:
Mein tujhe maar dunga! Ab tu mere kis kaam ki? Ab tu mere kis kaam ki? Mein tujhe maar dunga!

The lady sings:
Tod dala.. Tod dala..

I went ahead with brushing my teeth with the FIR still playing in my laptop, and as I was brushing, I heard a guy's voice in my Spirit say in a low tone:
Kartika mujhe mat maar. Kartika mujhe mat maar. Kartika please mujhe mat maar.

And I thought who could it be, and then I can't kill people. Murder doesn't come naturally to me. It's a very wrong thing to do. I can only kill a very wicked man who has proven himself to be wicked! When I didn't know God, I had a strong hatred for people like him and even those who would support such people and serve as their messengers. This Death Conqueror has done the worst thing that I thought once could do in his life, and I knew that my past self would've had no reservations in killing such a person if I could. I've tried to be patient and I looked at God's given revelations, and I saw how He suffered but then I also know that unrepentant people like him who continue in their sin don't get to inherit the kingdom of Heaven. He has almost all the qualities said in 2 Timothy 3. that one is not supposed to have! Later I found that I was on my period now. So, I put on a sanitary napkin and when I did so, again, I knew that I was being watched. So, again, my heart hardened for this disgusting vain criminal and I knew that even his words couldn't be trusted! They were all meaningless words! Because their apology wasn't accompanied by a change in their actions!

And then I had to go bath because I was too dirty as I spent the last day cleaning, and again, I knew that I was being watched, and therefore they proved again that their apology was meaningless.

Also, when I was in the washroom to bath and had stripped down to being in just my lingerie set, I heard in my Spirit an abrupt: Kaat khaya! And it repeated a few times, along with: Maar khaya! After I was done bathing, I was reminded of this event from the last evening in which I was near the Milk Point of my home around late evening when I heard a child running after another child on a bicycle as he said: Uski bezzati hoti hai kyunki uski izzat hai, lekin meri to izzat hi nhi hai! I didn't understand whom he was referring to with these words. Again, he seemed to me a messenger. If he was referring to me as the one who is capable of being dishonored because she had some honor, it would've held true as in God's eyes I am worth honoring from the revelations that he gave me. If he was referring to me as the one who didn't possess the honor attributed to a woman by her nature, then it would be false statement. The one who sins is the one who loses his honor. A wicked person is not worth honoring while a righteous person despite being dishonored by wicked men/women gains his/her honor from the Lord and from knowing absolutely that he is in the right. Though his statement was confusing, I had only been coming across insults of various kinds so I assumed that that event too was meant to insult me. And then as I wiping the floor after bathing, I understood that his statement directed me as one who didn't possess any honor in the first place that I could lose. I was wiping the floor and I was feeling deeply hurt by the statement and I kept repeating it to myself: Meri to izzat hi nhi hai! And then the song lyric played in my Spirit: Meri to izzat hi khudawand hai.. Meri to daulat hi kudawand hai.. Ha saari izzat hi khudawand hai.. and then it made sense to me why this song was playing so strongly the night before I left for home! You see, in these ways, these people keep demonstrating their wickedness and therefore I keep rejecting them!

Jesus is not blind. I gave a warning to this fellow several times but he continues in his ways. So, we'll see how God judges him in the end, or what becomes of him. Will his false reputation or wealth be able to save him from judgment at the hands of the living God? Their statement seemed so foolish to me because I was a person who never slept with a man or a woman after a certain time as I gained good moral sense. I was still a virgin and wasn't willing to give up my sanctity to anyone besides within a committed godly bond, and then I am hearing from God and I follow Him and My prophecies come to pass and God calls me Amy, Rihanna, Princess Shayla, Tori the water ranger and so on, and these people are saying such things about me that don't go along with the Word of God about me. These people who lived immorally throughout their lives and committed several types of sins and were still continuing to do so were calling themselves as someone worthy of honor. And that's one reason I don't like talking to them because they good evil and evil good. They should understand that it's in their wicked sight that their abusive statement has any significance but not as a truth statement. Why are they lying? It is so foolish to try to hurt someone by lying, or pointing out things that are not related to honor. God doesn't honor people according to their background of birth or the wealth they possess. His criteria of honoring is absolutely just and based in truth. So I am going to look up to Him and not these wicked men and women for the validation that God gives me. According to God she is an abusive dumbass, and he is the abusive Dushman - both characters are not honorable! Anyway. While wiping the floor, I was too hurt as I kept repeating to myself: Meri to izzat hi nhi hai. Meri to izzat hi nahi hai. And then thinking of it as the reason these people were doing this to me which I knew by logic and truth wasn't true. What's the point of their scientific background when they can't even represent the truth well!? And then they make the point that someone like Deepak is worth me when I wouldn't even prefer to talk to a wicked man like him. He's so wicked and an abuser at heart if he targets someone, that he nowhere possesses the qualities needed to be with me! If he was a genuine person who was moral in the true sense and not acting wise, I would've given their statement a brief thought despite the already-given revelation of me being wedded to Glory. If he was moral, their statement would've seemed logical and to be holding some base to it, but with the truth in front of my eyes, it seems such a baseless statement. God didn't choose people for Him because of their background or looks, but because of the hearts they possessed, and then He knows how to bring a wicked man to repentance.

I made tea and had it with snacks, and then talked to my mom. I explained to her that it wasn't that I wanted her to leave Himanshu and clean the house because I was the one who had been cleaning since I was done with the demo. (Their home never follows a routine clean-up.) I told her that it was Divyanshu's comments that hurt me and made me angry because of which I had to leave. He was saying that I couldn't afford a home so I should be grateful that I was at least getting to live in that home though I had to put up with how savage they lived and even clean up after them. My mom made my youngest brother Divyanshu do sit-ups holding his ears and then he said sorry for his behavior. I told my mom that he lived like an animal. The last night he left several urine drops on the toilet seat with a strand of hair and didn't up clean up after him. Is he that foolish that he doesn't know how to even pee, or that one has to clean up look behind, and check that the toilet seat is left clean? I could tell that he did this intentionally so I would be irritated, and then my mom lies as well. She was then justifying or trying to hide his folly by saying that it was her who left those drops when one could tell clearly that they were urine drops! And earlier in the morning, he put used tissue on top of my toothbrush when I had told my mom several days back already on the phone that he put used tissue on the washbasin and when asked about it, would say that he was cleaning slab and that he forgot it there, and then he wouldn't even stand up to throw it in the dustbin. One could tell that he was lying. If someone tells me that I have left some dirt somewhere, I being a normal person would get up and throw it away in the dustbin. But that psychopathic fellow justified it and kept sitting! And this has been his behavior for a long time now. I told my mom that it was Divyanshu's comment that if I wanted to live at home, I had to put up with their intentionally caused unclean mess, and that I should be grateful that at least I've a home. But having a home isn't all that matters in life. People stay on rent their entire lives. Living right away from abusers and those who intentionally create problems for others is what matters. I told my mom that I never caused such problems for others and always left spaces clean. I never left behind an unclean bodily mess or treated someone's hard work with disrespect but I was the one who was suffering because of their shortcomings! And that they should have at least the common basic sense of living! I also scolded my brother and told him that it was him who wasn't exhibiting grateful because I cleaned the hall and the washroom that I was using, but he only left messes for others! I told him that he could show his gratefulness by keeping his space clean instead of treating it like trash. He seemed to have understood it and did sit-ups as well and my mom plainly told me that it wasn't his home that he should be making such statements. Anyway.

Despite me having heard 'Kartika Please mujhe mat maar.', I resumed the FIR video after I was done bathing because I saw how apathetic and unaffected by my suffering this disgusting fellow had been. So I continued playing the FIR as I sat in front of my Laptop listening to it. And while I did so, I heard:

- I broke her/your heart! I broke her/your heart!

I heard it a few times and then I even wanted to play the FIR video once more but then I wanted to rest as well as I was menstruating and had just been done with the day's chores after I had reached my home.

On my way from my home to Delhi in the common cab, I noticed that I was still wearing the yellow tunic with silver print on it and then I had left home as I had a fight, and it reminded me of the two revelations I had on the night of 22nd October written on Page 571. I had seen the vision of silver foil on top of a blurry vision of Death Conqueror in yellow tunic which then transfigured into a yellow barfi a while after of which I fell asleep briefly and had the dream-vision of Rose standing alone after having deboarded one of the small life-saver boats as the lady's voice said something like: ….. Aur jeb mein 300 rupay the. I had more than 1k in my wallet that day. So I don't know perhaps the vision talked of some other day. The vision actually reminded me of the time I didn't have my own money when my dad used to give me only what was needed and I used to be grateful for it. I didn't want more from him. I wanted my own money, not his money, so I could help both me and my parental family. So when I was on my way to my room away from my home today, I was thinking if it meant I was to stay away from home or if it was a repeat of the past situation but this time with me having my own money to fend for myself. My mom had told me angrily to leave as she was annoyed with my persistent pointing out of how they lived and left stuff here and there. And this wasn't because of Himanshu for even when he was alright and working, they had those same habits that they were not willing to change. It was their habits and mental attitude, and not the situation of the home that I was pointing to them. My youngest brother hardly left things at their proper places and never maintained his surrounding space or left things clean after using them which he should after they has been cleaned once by the other person. They just didn’t have the habits needed to maintain a home well. Even if a maid came regularly to clean up after them, they would mess everything up very quickly. They need a constant presence to keep a check on what they've spilled here and there and what needs to be cleaned and picked up. She got annoyed by me pointing to her their attitude. If it was about the home, it wouldn't have been a problem for me But I've been observing them and living with them since I was a child so I knew how these people operated! In a second they could make dirty what was just cleaned. So the problem wasn't that they didn't have time to clean or they couldn't afford a maid, but the problem laid in the way they lived! She just couldn't tolerate the truth. But I pointed out a very important thing missing in their family. And Divyanshu had made it very clear that it was me who was supposed to clean after them relentlessly as they kept messing up like animals! They don't have the attitude needed to maintain a home which is a very basic thing one should have regardless of the circumstance one is in. It is not a dumb thing to do, but it's a necessary thing. It's the starting point of living in a shared space and they lack in this needed quality but only talk about worldly success and positions. For instance, my mom keeps talking highly about administrative jobs when a clean and maintained home is the first thing a family begins to operate from regardless the kind of home! I too talk highly about things pertaining to God or moral things in general but I also know that I have to maintain my living space as well! I too stress on the importance of being independent and fending for oneself, but then I take care of my surroundings and don't expect a person to continuously keep cleaning up after me as I keep leaving residues here and there! In fact, maintaining my living space is the first thing that comes to my mind when I think of living in an enclosed space.

My dad says in a stuffed voice: Ye maregi mere haathon se..!

I can skip a meal or two, but I will keep the surroundings clean first. Anyway God has called us to fast and to eat His word as our bread.

After I reached my locality and went to the Dinesh Store to buy milk, a song was playing inside that said no one was with the person to whom the song was being played for, and therefore she had no option but to come to the person singing the song and that she no longer had the 'Aukat' to run or run away.

Night

- Dushman's quiet and creepy voice says: Apni maa ki izzat nhi dikh rhi tujhe!? Apni maa ki izzat nhi dikh rhi tujhe!?
  Well, it's me who should be saying the words to Dushman, and not him to me because I only stitched my mom's gown when I saw it torn unlike him who strips innocent women to get his way! It goes along with the Hindi muhawara my mom often recites: Ulta chor kotwal ko daante! As I wrote the sentence, I saw a very small-framed vision of the fat SI Meena from Model Town Police Station dressed in a yellow tunic set laughing at the viewer. The phrase Apni maa ki izzat nhi dikh rhi tujhe!? repeated several times in my Spirit with breaks. It only shows more of their demented way of thinking.
- Later at night, I heard the earlier phrase from the morning being said in the low-toned and creepy Dushman's voice: Ab tu mere kis kaam ki? Ab mein tujhe maar dunga. And the fact that it was said in the voice of Dushman told me who it could be.
- Someone was hitting on the top-left floor corner of the floor above my room as I heard repeated sounds of thud. This made me angry because I had been putting up with this intrusive behavior for a long time now. Even when I was at home in 2020, we heard the sound of repeated hits on the floor above. I went upstairs in a hurry to get even. I could've asked this fellow to stop doing the same, but I knew that it wasn't in his nature to listen when he was told to stop doing something as I already shouted at whoever was present above to stop hitting the floor as it was being done for no reason. When that person despite being told to not do so kept repeating that unreasonable act committed to cause emotional and psychological disturbance to me, I had to go and if I had found him or her, I would've given him a warning first to not repeat the same, and if he didn't listen to me, the next time I would've given him a taste of his own stubbornness. I made this known as I shouted at that person to keep within his boundaries because if I stepped over mine, he would face consequences. And then I made it known that it won't be called crossing over boundaries in my case, but a righteous response to an unrighteous act. (Because this immoral cameraman had been causing these disturbances for a long time now!)
- When I said that me having to forcibly shut that guy/girl would amount to being called as giving a righteous response to an unrighteous act, I heard in my Spirit, again, Dushman's quiet low-toned villainous voice: Samajh Gaya..

It made me question if he really had understood it. And then when I was done having the milk chocolate I had brought, I felt the hits behind my eyes and after a while I saw a bulge and a downward displacement in my right eye. I had the other smaller chocolate as well and then the hits decreased, and the drones moved on to hitting my brain from being behind my eyes and my eyes went to normal after some time.

****

Dream Fulfilment

Prior to getting the chocolates, I had talked to my dad as he called me after a few weeks of keeping me blocked. It was in response to me texting him about how long was he going to keep me blocked and that I only shared proverbs and nothing wrong with him. After that talk, perhaps I had warm turmeric milk with some snacks and then I lay to rest and then I was talking to my mom on phone. It was then that I told her that I had to go outside to buy sanitary napkins and that I had stopped at the Store the last time I passed by it but couldn't figure out what it was that I had to buy. After telling my mom so, I went out to the Dinesh Store and then for some reason I bought chocolates as well (2 only). It didn't seem like to be going against the Will of God to me. And then my dad's name is Dinesh as well. So, when I was having the chocolates, the dream came to life. And while I was having it, I saw: a naked Glory jumping in joy as he ran away followed by a high jump with outwardly folded knees.

Part of the dream from 17th Aug (Page 507):

The next scene has me in a space with my dad. It's day as the insides of the home are lit by natural daylight. My dad is repeatedly asking me to come along with him. He says that he will buy me chocolates but I am busy and am not sure if I should go along. I am working and am busy but he is repeating to me to go out to hang out and buy chocolates as I listen to him while working. Though I am busy I decide to go out with him and pick up some money from my bag. I see that he has already reached the door and is about to exit, but before I am about to leave with him, the vision shifts to our backsides where I see a 3-4 feet tall very young Divyanshu come walking crying with red eyes from inside the home and stop at some distance from me. I feel terrible for him. I take a few steps towards him and ask him about the matter and this is when the dream ends.

****

****

Dream Fulfilment

This morning I stitched my mom's red and white gown from its right side.

Part of the dream from 21st Oct (Page 569): Rekha Bua says that the place she learned stitching from was the 3rd best in the skill in the town.

****

Page 575.

27 October 2023
08:10

Last night, before falling into sleep, I now saw:

- My hand putting the handgun held in Glory's hand at the centre of my chest at the place of my heart. I now wanted him to shoot at that place. But he was not shooting!

Dream (Morning):

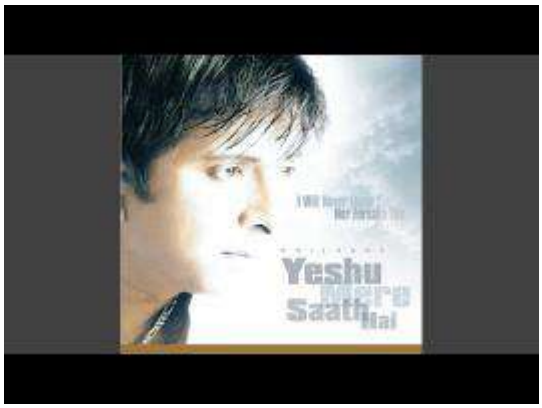
I find myself in a white hall with seats arranged in a row one after the other sitting with many other people. It's a gathering and I see many people sitting around. I see Tabu sitting on one of the seats in the hall. She is now on a call with a person on the other side who is revealed to be Akshay Khanna sitting on what looks like an open park bench with another guy present beside him. He asks Tabu a question. She gives a two-sentence answer following which the vision shifts to Akshay Khanna on the phone as he says in a quiet and touched tone: Dhamaka in response to her reply. (It reminded me of the shop called Dhamaka Sale in Kingsway Camp.) Tabu's answer seems to have sent him into a thoughtful state. He asks her another question. She gives a one-word reply. He asks more questions, and their replies are quite brief. The entire interview repeats again in the dream with the first question highlighted as Tabu gives such an impressive answer to it sending Akshay Khanna into a quiet thoughtful state making him say in a quiet and low tone: Dhamaka.

In response to the oppressive song I heard in the Dinesh Store yesterday, I heard the following lines play in my Spirit.

Yesu mere saath hai Yesu mere ander hai..
Yesu ko mein pehne hu.. Mujhme vo zinda hai..

The lines were playing in my Spirit in the morning as well with the following lyrics highlighted:
Yahi meri takat hai, Ye nhi bhoolna hai..
Kabhi nahi bhoolna hai.. Kabhi nahi bhoolna hai..

Yeshu Mere Saath Hai



- A crying Death Conqueror moves says with his face moving in the left direction: Mein mar jaunga!

****

Dream Fulfilment

When I reached my society on the evening of the 24th (Tuesday) and deboarded the auto with the entrance to my society lying some distance ahead to the left, I saw a black poster with 'The Wash' written on it in white and it was supposed to give me a shock or take me by surprise. But it reminded me of the following dream from Page 523 that I had on 3rd Sept:

'I stand below a tall black flag that has "Keep watch" written on it between two white wings and am looking at it carefully. A fat and dark child of about 10-12 years old with a round face carrying expressions of Death Conqueror comes slowly riding a bicycle in an unstable manner, he stops in front of me, and says, "Kya hua!?" in a weird tone (not a caring or curious one, but said in a taunting way), and leaves. After he leaves, I look in the direction he came from, and at some distance, I see the main entrance of Omaxe Heights to the left of that direction, and apparently, someone has thrown out a lot of water from inside the main entrance door to wash the area.' I didn't click a pic of the Poster 'The Wash' though.

****

- Vision: The face of a tensed Death Conqueror facing to the left says, 'Mein mar jaunga.'

****

Dream Fulfilment

My middle brother Himanshu broke his left leg on 6th of October and was successfully operated on 9th. I went to my home on Tuesday (24th Oct) because I had a demo class the next day on 25th. A few days prior to the day of the demo, when I was still in my room, I spent some time getting groomed in the Salon and much more time painting nails as I kept making mistakes. When I reached home, the next day after the demo, I prayed for my brother Himanshu putting my hands on his head and later that day in the evening spent time with him as I watched two episodes of Shin Chan with him along with a few other videos and I kept my hands placed on his head again as I was acting out in faith. His countenance changed and then he began talking with a different attitude as he now talked about being active in front of my mom, and I sensed/saw godly wisdom in him as he was arguing with my youngest brother. I saw that he had understood the videos to some extent. He sounded different, unlike the way he did previously. He was filled with positive energy.

Part of the dream on Page 550 from Oct 1st: "In this dream, I am in a house with my mom and youngest brother Divyanshu, and apparently, they have somehow slowly killed Himanshu. They didn't do it in a direct manner, but it was as if he kept getting devoid of life-energy as he stayed with them and only progressed towards the state of being dead. They have hidden his body in one of the bed's boxes below its sleeping surface. When they take out the box to take out his dead body, I see him lying naked in that box and he looks shorter, leaner, pale, with a body that looks rubbery, as he's very slowly moving his arms and legs and is slowly fluttering his eyes as well. So, it's revealed that he's not fully dead and is still alive though being un-nourished and lying in that position for a very long time. I lay my hands on him and pray for him to get well in the name of Jesus after which he says a 'Yes!' and there's an instant change seen in him as his body now starts to transform. He starts gaining muscle and starts growing, his skin changes and is no longer pale. The Holy Spirit has filled him with life and he fully comes to life and becomes normal. My mom and brother Divyanshu somehow don't seem to be affected much by this change in his state."

****

The guy sings:
Yahi meri takat hai, Ye nhi bhoolna hai..
Kabhi nahi bhoolna hai.. Kabhi nahi bhoolna hai..

Yahi meri takat hai, Ye nhi bhoolna hai..

As I was writing about the fulfilled revelations, I heard: Yehi teri takat hai. Kartika YE HEE teri takat hai.

And then this revelation have also been highlighted to me intermittently several times by now: Jesus standing facing to the left swipes a long axe in front of Him and beheads Akhila, Death Conqueror and others in one wide swipe.

As I turned away from my door and was getting my keys to lock my room to buy milk, I heard in my Spirit again the song lyric:
Awargi mein ban gaya deewana, maine kyu saadgee ko nhi jana..

I will now go out to buy Milk and some other things.

The Worship Song lyrics play in my Spirit:
Yesu mere saath hai.. Yesu mere ander hai..
Yesu ko main pehne hu.. Mujhme vo zinda hai..

Dushman's voice says:
'Ab tu mere kise kaam ki nhi hai.. Ab mein tera kya karunga. Tu mere kisi kaam ki nhi hai..'

Page 576.

28 October 2023
10:07

Event From Yesterday:
I went to the dept after long to meet my supervisor. We had a meeting at 12pm. But it got rescheduled to 4pm because of Ma'am's changed schedule. While I was waiting in the room, the messenger Guy Deepak came in and sat facing my direction in the middle row. Now the problem with him is not that he's a messenger because these days smany people are serving as messengers, but his problem is that he is a messenger and then he's wicked as well as he says wicked and murderous stuff at times without any second thoughts, things that I don't even want to think about. He has said several hurtful things to me and he is a negative presence for me in the room because of his fake and negative persona.

Looking at him sitting there triggered me into crying as I recalled how they all had been stressing me out and inflicting severe mental pain on my poor brain. I didn't want to create a scene in the room and therefore picked up my laptop and other stuff and walked towards the door to leave. But when I reached the door, Pooja's cordless mouse slid down from over my laptop, and its cover got separated from it. The fall of the mouse and my emotional state wherein I was crying out loud led Pooja and Shagun to come to my help as they were comforting me. The distraction caused by the fall of the mouse caused my attention to shift to the negative trigger sitting in front of me and therefore I went straight up to him and asked him what was he doing there? ('Ye yaha kya kar raha hai!? Ye ek messenger hai!') And then I asked him to leave the room because he only said taunting, mocking and hurtful things. I blatantly told him: Bahar nikal yaha se! Bahar nikal yaha se!

Pooja and Shagun had their arms around mine lightly as they didn't want the situation to get worse. I left his seat and went back to mine and continued crying. Pooja gave me water in a mug and as I got the mug in my hands, I felt this nudge to throw it on Deepak for some unknown reason, but it was a very strong nudge. So in anger I walked up to him and threw the contents of it directly on him after which he left the room. I was back to my seat and Shagun came to me to ask me some questions and offer help. She hugged me for a while and consoled me. No one by far showed me empathy in the direct way that Pooja and Shagun did that day as was apparent by their genuinely caring behavior. People only made me more depressed by saying mean things. I shared with her the problem that I faced with Awadhesh Prasad and Deepak and she listened to me patiently and with empathy and accompanied me on my way to get a water bottle.

After this incident, as I sat on seat, the following lyrics played strongly in my Spirit:
Yesu mere saath hai Yesu mere ander hai..
Yesu ko mein pehne hu.. Mujhme vo zinda hai..
Yahi meri takat hai, Ye nhi bhoolna hai..
Kabhi nahi bhoolna hai.. Kabhi nahi bhoolna hai..

which made me wonder if my reaction to Deepak's presence was caused by Him living inside me for He knew that Deepak will only cause me stress.

The lady sings: Tod dala.. Tod dala..

Even looking at Deepak was stressing me out as I knew he could say anything hurtful at any moment just as Akhila behaved with me, and on top of that, he was wearing an orange full-sleeved t-shirt to give a false impression of him being a spiritual person when I knew enough of how he thought as I had interacted enough with him. He was neither spiritual nor moral!

As I kept sitting through this phase, I also heard:
Tu mere kisi kaam ki nhi hai.

Later that day before the time of my meeting with my Supervisor, some teachers came to my lab and surrounded me and it seemed that they had come to talk to me and I couldn't understand why could they be there. Ashutosh Sir asked me to take a seat in the middle row as he highlighted it to me a few times after which I was able to surmise that he indeed was asking me to sit there. They inquired about the incident that day and I told them about the problem I had been facing in the room because of the negative behavior of Deepak around me, and also shared the past problems that I faced with Awadhesh Prasad, and also some of the things said by my present supervisor Nivedita Deo. At the end of it, they decided to change his seat and they told me that had I complained about it before, his seat could have been changed earlier. And then they went to talk to my supervisor after which I had my meeting with her as it was about past 4pm.

She told me to focus on work and meditate on work to get depressive thoughts out of my mind. She included other out-of-context things in between as well. For e.g.: they're not worth you. Which didn't any godly sense to me. Why did she have to say it? Anyway. She told me that the only solution was to work diligently.

Later during the evening, I was thinking in my room if God led me to throw that water on Deepak's face for him to be baptized in the Spirit because after a few hours of that, I saw him standing outside the lab facing to the left making the prophetic symbol. During my first or second visit to church, the Pastor was throwing anointed water on people, and that day I was carrying a swollen and bulging eye which got healed during my church time and I returned feeling filled with positive lifeforce. So, in the same way that water could've worked in a similar manner the water that the Pastor throws on people works after he has prayed over it though I didn't say any prayer. The Spirit may have done its job and then nudged me to throw it on him in the same way that my mom placed her hand on my forehead and without her praying I was instantly relieved of shivering as I felt a calming warmth take over inside my body.

As I wrote the above para, I saw:

- Death Conqueror dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt tucked inside black pants walks up to me in hasty steps to hug me with teary eyes and extended arms and wraps himself around me.

After my discussion with my supervisor, as I stepped out of the lift on the ground floor while leaving for my room, I saw an obese and tall lady dressed in a yellow tunic walk up to the lift as she said: Dekhenge hee! taking steps forward meant to corner me, but it seemed to me that she was perhaps saying that to the two tall and bellied men present at her back as they were of the same size as her and were dressed in a similar manner (shirts tucked inside pants) and therefore seemed to be related to her. So I casually walked away from her. I did look back as her when I was about 5-6 meters away from them as her behavior had come across as weird to me and my intuition told me that she must have said those words to me and not the men present at her back. I saw that they were not sure if should be entering the lift as they stood in front of it.

I later thought about how the lady in the yellow tunic was reflecting a negative version of the situation in the lab today. While I received some healing in the comforting support of Shagun and Pooja, the situation I saw downstairs was meant to cause me stress and put me in fear.

It reminded me of the following revelation written on Page 561 that was created on 12th Oct :

- The side-view of Awadhesh Prasad (my previous supervisor) standing at the gate of his room on the 2nd floor of the Multi Storey Building of the Department of Physics & Astrophysics, as seen from some distance to the left of his room, with him dressed in a white full-sleeved shirt widely checkered in blue as he horizontally rotates the forefinger of his right hand in front of his face while looking sideways with a slight smile towards the viewer.

After I returned from the dept:

- I was doing something sitting on my chair in front of my table when I heard 'Mein tujhse pyaar nhi karta. Mein tujhse bahut jyada pyaar karta hu.' It repeats in my spirit a few times.

Vision:

- A small-framed vision of a flat RS in a colourful bra and boxer shorts with an ankle-length colourful robe with an open front walks sideways on an elevated surface in the night as he hits a concrete ground below with a pickaxe.

Post waking up:

- 'Sara kaam to ho gya hai. Bas thoda sa aur karna hai. Thoda sa beautiful aur ban na hai.'
- I wake up with the following phrase repeated in my Spirit said in a group voice: 'MPs above. MPs above. MPs above. MPs above.'
- "She's kissing you, Mrittunjay." "She's kissing you, Mrittunjay." I hear a voice in my Spirit repeat the phrase, as I see a vision of me dropping brief kisses on Death Conqueror's lips. For some reason, this day I am not feeling angry or resentful towards him. At times, what he has done or the ways he has humiliated me go in the background and don't seem to matter to me but all I feel is unconditional love for him. In those moments, I seem to be carrying the mind of Jesus as I look at the God-given revelation of him being that tiny and fat infant who was doing Ee ee ee ee ee while moving his arms and legs rapidly as he lay on the bed wearing just a thick diaper. But yesterday, I wasn't looking at this revelation, but I was looking at his avatar of that guy in blue and silver half-jacket with black shoes and a black bag. I was looking at it separately not considering what he did later, along with the revelation of him sobbing as he stood straight dressed in that thick full-sleeved sky-blue top over navy blue trousers. That event and this revelation can't be understood if I would look at what he did as a whole. I realized that I had to look at them separately as was revealed to me in the dream revelation in which I was standing facing him and saw a blue angel eye beside a red devil eye, and looking at one eye couldn't have suggested the presence of the other eye. But why he is showing me his devil eye which makes those feelings resurface and I feel distant from him again? In the moments that I am carrying the mind of Jesus, he is no longer hateworthy or deplorable because of what he did but a precious child of God Jesus is running after. And then I see how everything he ever did in his life until this point could be forgiven in an instant if He was willing to come to Jesus and repent for his sins and transform internally. And then I look at the state that he would be in after he has done that, and that's precious and most importantly - precious in the sight of God. I understood that that was what God was looking at. He was looking at the point he would turn to Him and repent truly and then all his sins would be forgiven at once. So I knew that though this fellow was hurting me by sinning against me, his sins could be forgiven in an instant provided he turned to Jesus and accepted His solution for the human sin condition. This fact has been highlighted in my Spirit several times. And this fact alone is what at times helps me to let go of his sins against me. Because I know how huge-hearted Jesus is, and how He loves! He would even drive a stake through His own heart as He showed me in a revelation in which He drove a wooden stake through his chest and it came out from the other side. Now, He also knows that my heart is connected to my groin and that's why I don't go around fornicating, because why would I hurt my heart by making short-term memories? I always wanted fleshly memories with the person I would be sharing a long-term bond with. The fleshly revelations challenged my mind but I came out of it successfully. I came across this video in which this guy talked about why he never had sex before marriage and it was because he thought about the consequences and his main reason was that he always thought in terms of his acts being worth cherishing in memories, and an incident of loveless fornication isn't a good memory. After I had listened to his video, these song lyrics played in my Spirit:

Hum guzre pal mein rehte hai..
Yaadon ke sab jugnu jungle mein rehte hai..

Ane wala kal ek sapna hai.. Guzra hua kal bas apna hai..
Hum guzre pal mein rehte hai..
Yaadon ke sab jugnu jungle mein rehte hai..

The lyrics in bold were the ones that were highlighted exclusively in my Spirit. The video I watched:

NO SEX BEFORE MARRIAGE

Anyway. But when I see the same acts of abuse continue, my feelings of resentment and hatred towards what he did resurface. But it doesn't seem to matter it seems and that's why I don't feel like having to do anything with him. Because I was very careful with Meera, about how she perceived my behavior and how I behaved with her, and the kind of things I said to her. I didn't want to make her feel small. I saw her potential and skills. I knew she would easily earn enough, and then she possessed qualities that didn't come naturally to others. She was highly spiritual at such a young age. I bonded with her at a personal level, and then I had a strong sense of individuality because of which I built a strong and exclusive bond with her. And because it's exclusive and originates from a place of purity, one by default feels protective of the bond and won't want to ruin it or let it be affected by one's own intentional emotionally abusive acts at least, let alone the acts of other people. So, the behavior of some people never made any sense to me. The more something is based on purity, the harder it is to want to malice it. It would be very hard for me to even think of doing such a thing to someone I love, say Glory or my mom, even if I had the means to do so. What he did was not right and is still not right. But this day I wasn't looking at what he did later, but I was looking at the short guy in the silver and blue tunic.

- After a while, I see a small-framed vision of the front view of a long and thick male genitalia covered entirely with thick fluid coming out of a vagina and landing on the floor from a distance followed by the vision expanding which reveals the guy to be a naked Death Conqueror. He is then taken backwards by two naked people who drag him on the floor and lay his upper body against the white wall away from the lady, with a few naked people standing around him near the wall. He crawls back to the lady who's not visible in the vision and inserts his semen-drenched genitalia inside again.
- The follow-up vision has the side view of a naked lady of the size of Akhila with her hair tied at the back standing hugging a naked Death Conqueror as she holds his head against her the center of her chest near her heart with his genitalia inside her in the same drenched state from the previous vision as she says in an affirmative tone: (Yes) This is love! (Yes) This is love!
- After a while, the following phrase repeats in my Spirit: 'Vo marne waali hai, Mrittunjay.' It repeats 4-5 times.
- Jesus stands in the centre of the room facing the wall adjoining my bed as He points with His left hand at me lying on the bed and says, "Ye aurat marne wali hai." followed by him pointing with His right hand to Death Conqueror who, being dressed in a full-sleeved sky blue shirt tucked inside navy blue pants, stands straight being stuck to the Psalm 34:4-5 wall in front of me as Jesus says, "Aur iska zimmedar tu hai!"
- The vision then repeats with my dad standing about a meter and a half away from my bed as he repeats the words of Jesus in slight astonishment: Ye aurat marne waali hai, followed by him slowly turning his head and pointing to Death Conqueror and saying: Aur iska zimmedaar tu hai! The vision repeats a few times.
- The follow-up vision has my dad hitting my head with a danda repeatedly! It seemed like if in real life it was to happen my head would be crushed and bleeding and I would be dead for sure. Such visions remind me of the dream in which my mom complained to my dad about the minor thing of a doodle I had made on my diary which angered him in response to which I said, 'Doddle karna to normal hai.' after which he got really angry and fetched a rod/danda and started beating me severely as my mom stood beside him. The vision of him beating me was shown as seen from a distance behind them as he hit me lying on the floor with that danda. This also reminds me of the vision in which my dad was hitting a person lying on the floor with a danda severely as seen from the perspective of that person.

I don't know if it's really going to ensue. But it reminds me of the phrase 'Tod di bilkul.. Tod di bilkul..' that I heard being said in the voice of my daadi, and the modified song lyrics: Tod dala.. Tod dala..

- The upper half of Awadhesh Prasad's PhD student Parag until slightly below his throat dressed in his widely checkered white shirt from the previous day in a blurry background of the Room 184 with a blurry view of his seat in the room behind him as he touches his earlobes alternating between the posture of his hands being crisscrossed to being on the same side and says: Baaba re Baaba…! Mein to door hi rahunga.. The vision repeats a few times.

  It was so funny that I decided to get up from my bed and begin my day. I was feeling so downcast asking for death repeatedly and then I saw this and it gave me a brief laugh and I got up.

After I had written some of the revelations above and others were yet to be written, I saw:

- The face of Death Conqueror until his throat as he cries hard and puts a gun at the left side of his head in a white background.

The Guy sings:
Lalala la lalala
Lalala la lalala..

from the Whiskey Lullaby.

This revelation made me think about why should he do this. May God chop his hand before he does so. This is not a normal thought for me to have, but I learned his way of thinking from God-given revelations. Yeah, because self-harm is a sin as well and he should never do it. Likewise, one should get rid of all addictions which too come under the category of sin. Doesn't he know that his body is supposed to be a temple of God and not meant for harm?

The Lady sings:
The rumors flew..
But nobody knew how much he blamed herself..

Evening
But while I was still lying in bed in the morning, I heard again:
Hasle. Gaale. Ye din na milenge kal..
Thodi khushiya hai thode se ye pal..

The lyrics made me think of the irony as I was having a severe headache as those drones moved inside my head causing me immense stress and pain and how I was wishing for death asking Jesus to end it for me in that moment as I just couldn't take another day. I also thought about how these people were making me familiar with the wicked ways of the world and in a way my own way of thinking when I didn't really have to learn how foolishly the world thinks or operates as I have my own consistent logical structure of thinking to follow which is also godly! I thought of the times when all this stalking etc hadn't yet begun and how I was separate from the world though I hadn't yet come to God. But now I was with God but then these worldly people were infiltrating my life with their worldly ways of thinking and their wicked and nonsensical ways of operating in the world!

Why would I be bothered with learning how the world works and how it thinks and operates when it's an enemy of God and headed towards Hell? It's only as if all this insulting covert communication is only amounting to them throwing filth on me and my life because it is so filled with deceit and ungodliness. No godly person would do what Death Conqueror did and no godly person would behave how he and his messengers did! They are only adding filth to my life by their wicked ways. And then I was also thinking how I began calling Akhila and Death Conqueror dumbasses, Akhila especially after I dream revelation in which I was calling her a dumbass because she was behaving in weird ways in front of me, and I didn't feel good about it at all, because I was saying her dumbass with an annoyed tone implying a feeling of aversion and hatred perhaps to some extent. But that's not how I wanted to think and it wasn't how I thought either. It was God who labeled her behavior and showed me calling her a dumbass in response to how she behaved with me. I didn't like that either because that's not how I used to be or like to be. It is stressful for me to call someone a dumbass because that's not what defines one's worth. It goes against my own reasoning. Being with these people led me to encounter such extremes of ungodly behavior and then I let in my thoughts the thought patterns that I didn't previously like, and neither do now. Perhaps it was God revealing to me her insecurity, what she felt insecure about, so I could insult her by giving her a taste of her own unreasonable behavior. But that's not how I want to think. If she couldn't perform even plain algebra but was a good and pure person, and by pure I refer to someone who doesn't try to deceive others, I would've found her company amazing. It would be too good and good enough for me. But she insulted me for no reason and she continued doing so, without apologizing for her previous insults but instead acting as if she never said and did those things, and this ed me to have a very downtrodden view of her. Her vanity and gossiping nature along with meaningless insults made me look down at her. And then she was comparing herself with me in everything and I didn't really think that she needed to do that, because I wasn't comparing myself to her in any way. If any, I found her behavior with me too impressive the night that she gave me her own blanket to sleep in when I was feeling too cold but she wanted the fan running. And I actually learned from her in that instant. If I was in her place, I would've most probably turned the fan off, but giving my blanket to another wouldn't have come easily to me because of hygiene reasons unless that person is a very good friend of mine or is someone in dire need. But she gave her blanket to me so easily without much thought. That was one of the godly traits I observed in her! But her lying, deceiving, testing, and acting, they were too stressful because in those circumstances, even the other person cannot be honest and there's no point in being honest as it's only reciprocated with lying and deception. She was good sometimes with me, but she wasn't consistent. It didn't come as a surprise to me because I've come across several people like this in my life. Actually, most of the people I met were of this kind, wherein they would be good and kind some of the times but then would resort to unexplained rudeness or insulting behavior without a reason. I found godly consistency in only a few people in my life who had those good traits working in their minds as continuous modes of operation. Whenever I would come across such people who were capable of cheat, deceit, lying or other kinds of ungodly behavior, I wouldn't find it weird because I knew that most of the world was filled with such people but I also knew that those people weren't who I wanted to be around. I wanted people with consistency in their godly behavior that emanated from that trait working inside them as one of the bases with the bad traits being absent from their minds. So, in the morning, I was observing about the changes in my own thought patterns that I had undergone after going through this length of abuse. And I found/discovered that if I was able to maintain operating in those godly traits, as I always preferred to while securing myself from falling into the thought patterns lying on the opposite end of the spectrum, then regardless of the situation I was in, those godly traits would only generate godly thoughts and behavior and I would be able to go through difficult or persecuting times with ease. Because when I look back, if someone insulted me or said something mean to me, I didn't feel hatred or aversion for them, but I felt a sort of unconditional love regardless of what they had to say. It was when I hadn't yet come to God but I was separate from the world and didn't want to adopt its ways of thinking. So comparing with that version of me, the current version would be a degraded version. But then perhaps I didn't go through abuse to this extent back during those days and therefore was able to maintain my inner countenance. But now when I was thinking about this in the morning, and as I wrote it here, I feel as if I've in a way overcome my situation and grown above it to some extent thereby regaining my previous mindset. My previous mindset didn't call good evil or evil good but it didn't take things personally and would forgive quickly and not keep a record of things but then it didn't want to stay in the presence of such people as well who would only keep adding to a list of negative behavioural acts. This state of mind was full of abundant life, but I had it when I didn't have a person target me in the way that I was being targeted now, and I hadn't gone through the mental and physical damages that I went through as a result of the undergoing abuse. I don't want to be this person who only keeps complaining about her situation, but I want to live in the knowledge of God focusing my thoughts on Him so I can receive better guidance and can be more like Him and not stray from godliness in the face of difficulties caused by immoral people. Back in those days, I could see my own light, though I didn't it light but only as my inner nature that kept me happy and content and made my perception of things more vibrant without me delving into vanity or worldliness. And then I could also see the light in other people, along with worldliness in yet others as well. Some were guided by the light, some with their worldly thought patterns. The ones with worldly thought patterns always seemed to be too boring and the ones with the light were so real, full of joy, and were happy for no reason and they seemed to be led by that inner light they possessed. I am not referring to any new-age concept of light, but simply the nature of God a righteous person carries within him/herself. The world does not carry the light of God. There's nothing good one can learn from it. So, it's only a waste of time to learn and implement how it thinks or operates. God uses logical thinking which is apparent in how He clearly shows me what He wants me to do or how He feels in a given instant. He doesn't play games. It's a direct one-to-one relationship with Him that one carries with oneself.

After writing the revelations in the morning, I felt dizzy again and therefore went to bed again which then reminded me of the vision in which Keanu Reaves' forehead got hit by a steel danda after which he laid down on the floor, but as soon as he got up after a while, he would get hit by a steel danda on his forehead again and lie down on the floor again. While I was writing the previous sentence, I saw:

- Glory coming at the back of my head with an open mouth and vicious expression holding a danda as he floated in the air in slow motion moving towards me.

Hasle. gaale. Ye din na milenge kal..
Thodi khushiya hai thode se ye pal..

21:26

Earlier in the day, the incident with Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego being untouched in the fire with the Lord present with them in it to protect them was highlighted to me. And then I came across this video today and I am sharing it below.

You will come out of this fire not even smelling like smoke.

As I wrote the above, I heard:

- Usne mujhe bheja hai.. Uski rooh mujhpe hai..

Around 7-7:30 pm, I went into rest after talking to my mom. And then I had these following revelations:

- A foot covered with a seamed light blue denim boot.
- A man in a black suit stands behind a woman in bridal white facing to the right with the man against a tree's trunk lying behind his back in a night forest background on the left side of the vision as he strokes her face with a dandelion holding it by its stem while several white dandelion balls come into the scene flying from the left as the guy continues to stroke the face of the lady with the flower. The vision is followed by the lady lifting her right leg and extending it to the viewer which reveals her feet to be bandaged in white as a hand pecks the bottom of her feet with a pointed surface.
- Death Conqueror between my legs pulls my thighs apart stretching them wide.
- The vision repeats a few times with breaks. And then I heard: Open your legs. I want to see. Please open your legs. But I don't do so because I don't wanna sin from my side. I am in the good books of Jesus. And though at times I sleep with open legs, it comes naturally to me and I've always slept like that. But now I have become a bit conscious since I received some revelations.
- A small-framed vision of the side-view of a lean and thin lady standing facing to the left in front of a wide and fluffed version of Death Conqueror of the same height as him who is dressed in a black full-sleeved shirt tucked inside, as she says to him: I need your lips. He stands looking at her with his lips perched inside as he is hiding them as he asks mockingly: You need my lips?! in response to which the lady replies with a nod: Yes. He asks again with his lips still hidden inside: You need my lips!? The lady replies again with a nod: Yes. And then he slaps her abruptly with an extended arm from a distance! And he slaps her again from that distance!

After this rest, I went out to buy something from the Dinesh Store and I was again angry at the situation as I thought and said out loudly: I don't need anyone! in the sense that I didn't have to put up with emotional pain to just to rely on someone whom I didn't need, but then I was reminded of the vision and it made me question its validity, but when I had the vision, the lady seemed to me to be me and she was meaning what she said in the vision.

Recall dream revelation from 13th Aug on Page 503:
I am in the Satguru broker's shop that helped me find the new place today in the real life to stay that I already booked today itself. I see some tiny objects placed on a shelf on the wall behind the shop's counter. The one I am holding in my hand is a small translucent letter A with one of the legs of the letter slightly deformed. While I am looking at it, apparently, Death Conqueror stands to my right looking at it as well. I am saying, "So, this is perfect..!?.. This is perfect.." while looking carefully at the letter. I can see that it's not perfect, so, I throw it far away at the front into the visible space ahead through the wall where the object lands. I then move on to other small objects lying on the shelf and I find that all are light yellowish and star-shaped. I like the small stars more than the alphabet A for it was just an alphabet while those other objects were stars. They were perhaps star-shaped earrings.

And then this revelation also keeps being highlighted to me in which I saw a woman's face stuck to a transparent glass surface as a man moved behind her in intercourse after which was shown a blurry vision of a man holding a rectangular banner of REJECTED written on it in red as he showed it to the viewer. The woman didn't look happy or pleased in love, but she looked dead in her expression.

Mela bahaaro ka ata hai
Ek baar aake chala jata hai..

Hasle gaale ye din ne milenge kal..
Thodi khushiyan, hai thode se ye pal..
Ek baar chali gayi jo ye bahare,
Laut ke na ayengi guzri bahare..

Mela bahaaro ka ata hai
Ek baar aake chala jata hai..

The lyrics in bold kept repeating in my Spirit as I was typing out the RS with a pickaxe vision.

I can only imagine how much worse the situation is going to get as these lyrics get highlighted in my Spirit: Hasle. Gale. Ye din na milenge kal.. Thodi khushiyan, hai thode se ye pal..

Past Revelation

- 'Na to mein tere layak hu, aur na hi tu mere layak hai.': I hear this phrase while painting my toenails black with overgrown hair on my feet that night a few days before I went to give my demo in Medi-JEE Sonipat. It doesn't come naturally to me. Different things come naturally to me.
  A voice sings:
  'Taare zameen par..'

Vision: The view of the middle of a man reading a very thick book which he closes with a thud while he's still in the middle of it.

Earlier during the day, these lyrics from the Haryanvi group dance performance that I sang together with 2 more girls as other girls danced on it were highlighted to me.
The girls sing:
Udd jaiye re kabuttar tanne maare bijli (the dance group claps at 'Bijli'), udd jaiye re..!
Udd jaiye re kabuttar tanne maare bijli (group clap), udd jaiye re..!

followed by the stanza:

Udda ae kabuttar mere dhoonge pe baitha!
Udda ae kabuttar mere dhoonge pe baitha!

Dhoonga sae bajanti!
Dhichak dhichak dhichak dhichak dhichak dhichak (the tabla plays!)
Dhoonga say bajanti nalla laiye gajbee, udd jaiye re..!
Udd jaiye re kabuttar tanne maare bijli (group clap), udd jaiye re..!

Later during the day as I thought about my righteous response to Deepak's presence in the room, I had the following vision.

- The side-view of Deepak dressed in a yellow cricket uniform as he stands facing the viewer and hits a ball to the right coming from that direction in a good posture with the blurry background of a cricket field around him followed by him saying: Jeet Gayi.

Past Revelation

- Randeep Hooda standing behind a black car with his arms folded on its top as he rests his face on them while looking at the viewer.

Page 577.

29 October 2023
09:28

I happened to watch this good explanatory video by Brother Andrew this morning a while back in which he talks openly about what kind of birth control mechanisms do not count as 'murder'. He makes clear why being on the pill or aborting a baby counts as murder. One interesting point he made that got me was when he said that there are no accidental babies but accidental parents which made me think a bit about the validity of this statement. And while I was writing it here, I understood what he was implying. The only way it made sense to me was that a baby arriving on Earth is never an accident but his/her parents may not have expected that baby to be there or they may not be ready to serve as parents and therefore the baby may end up having foster parents who then would not be called as accidental parents. Only in such a case, the parents of the baby are accidental, while the baby in itself is not accidental along with the foster parents not being accidental as they chose to adopt the baby who dropped on Earth incidentally.

But his video made me look at my situation in which I am birthing spiritual babies through Jesus into His kingdom, and how I could not choose to abort any one of them by discounting them as being too unworthy of His kingdom or too wicked in my own judgment or just not being godly enough. Regardless of their present state in the conceiving process, they were still babies who had already been conceived and therefore needed to be birthed. And if I were to give up or be unwilling to birth even one of them, it would count as spiritual murder by Brother Andrew's logical explanation.

Why Abortion is Murder

You see, yesterday I wrote about the day Death Conqueror would turn to Jesus and repent for his sins and how in that moment, all the sins he committed throughout his life by far would be forgiven in an instant with him now being covered under God's grace. That moment of him accepting Jesus as His savior and repenting for his sins would be the moment that he would be birthed spiritually into His kingdom, and that's what I am conceiving. The same situation holds with others who are to be birthed spiritually through me.

When I was listening to Brother Andrew's video, I looked at the previous God-given revelations of a lady holding a tiny baby wrapped in white in her arms as he looked at her innocently followed by his wrapped body leaping upwards and dropping quick kisses on the lady, and how God represented Death Conqueror as that fat infant wearing just a thick diaper, it made me look at my emotionally difficult situation as being the spiritual equivalent of the physical situation of a woman facing painful birth pangs before she gives birth. Now, once he is birthed in the spiritual kingdom of God, he may not have the parent who birthed him in the spiritual kingdom of God as the parent who nurtures him spiritually on Earth.

Well, if I look at the past revelation of The Semi-Open House, in which I found a baby head in a car that was birthed as a stillbirth and was left inside as told to me by the doctors, I seemed to be the foster parent of that child, because he was already birthed and I held his head in my hands and then I prayed for him to come to life in the name of Jesus after which the baby head changed to a grey cement photo frame with a face emerging on it carrying the features of Death Conqueror who then smirked at me which I found too wicked leading me to pray further for his wicked powers to not affect the world in any way and for God to keep his wickedness in check as I held the photo frame at a distance from my face while the face changed its expression perching its mouth from one side to another. Now when I look at it, it seems to me that that's what I am supposed to do, to pray for the stillborn child and bring him to life in the kingdom of God. And while writing the last few lines, I was reminded of the recent event of me praying for Himanshu which too I saw in a previous dream, and because I saw it in that dream, I knew that I had to pray for him when I was at home a few days back. Now, I happened to go home situationally because of a teaching demo I had to give which I didn't see in the dream. But in the still-birth dream, I was led to that car as I saw a well-grown black buffalo calf turn in its direction following which I found myself inside the car with something pressing on the windshield as I looked at it from near the floor of the back seat with the two front seats standing straight on the sides. That black thing kept pressing on the windshield from the outside for a while following which I found myself with the baby head with closed eyes. I don't know in what way this dream is going to come to pass. The dream with Himanshu came to pass too quickly. I received it on 1st Oct (Page 550). I didn't force the dream to come to pass but when I saw the situation of the dream in front of me, I acted as I was led and I prayed for him – following the instruction shown to me in the dream.

I had the dream of the Semi-Open House on 15th March 2023 (Page 319). It seems to me that he got birthed by Akhila. It's my own understanding, or perhaps she could be the midwife as Sis Candance said about a woman getting to hold an infant before it is given to his/her mother. And then I had the revelation of the scene from the movie Chori Chori Chupke Chupke in which the hired surrogate played by Preity Zinta is refusing to hand over the child to Rani Mukherji. Now, it was me who found the stillbirth and prayed for it, so this I know for sure that he would be revived after my prayer prayed in the name of Jesus. I could be both his birthing as well as the foster parent too in the spiritual sense. Birthing parent because he got introduced to Jesus and His kingdom through me and I gave him words about him given to me by Jesus, but then he was also carried by Akhila as I couldn’t sustain him because of a level or mental mismatch somewhere while she was able to carry him well. I didn’t go well with Akhila either as I found her too lying and deceptive. I go along well with straightforward people who don’t cover up/hide their words and intentions with an additional layer and who have no malice in their hearts. Because Akhila nurtured him successfully, in that way, I am his foster parent. However, it doesn't mean that I have to sin against God to nurture him spiritually.

The word given by God should be his bread. But then I also recall the revelation in which a baby dressed in a white vest over blue boxer shorts came out of me having a round face with a bald head with tiny spiky hair, vertically narrow red demonic eyes, and two vampiric canines slightly protruding out from the sides of his mouth, after which he quickly sprinted upwards on my body and attacked my lips abruptly with a jerk in the movement resembling that of a zombie. And then I look at the revelation in which a fat child sat on a slab and was stroking the face of Akhila who was present on the left with a long-stemmed rose with angelic expression while when he looked to the right, his countenance changed to being demonic and he turned into a dark metallic being as he hit the lady (supposedly me) present on that side with a metallic weapon with a very wicked expression. And he alternated between the two states going from stroking Akhila with a rose to hitting me with a metallic weapon with a vicious expression, but that fat infant looked so cute even with that wicked expression. And then yesterday, I came across this YT shorts video by Derek Prince in which he said that the Holy Spirit was a realist, and he showed things the way it was.

Holy Spirit is Realist #shorts

So, he is indeed that fat infant who is switching between those two states as he switches between the two versions shown. It seems to me that I birthed a wicked child who then perhaps I would have to pray for so that he becomes normal. I don't know. Well, what I could do is meet him, hold his head in my hands, and pray for him to be birthed in the kingdom of God after which he could go back to his birth mother whom he treats with a rose unlike me whom he hits with metallic weapons with vicious expression! Then my job would be complete in a way. When it comes to Glory, I don’t see a lot of complications.

Even in the revelation where I was birthing children in a line, the first child that came out of me was fully black with a wicked expression after which 2-feet wide fat angelic children with fluffed arms and blue eyes came out of me in a line. I often complained to God about the kind of child he gave me for he was only causing me pain and that I didn't want to birth this child, but I wanted to birth Glory. But then I have other revelations as well that help me to get a clearer understanding of the situation. And Brother Andrew's video told me that I couldn't abort any of God's children that were to be birthed spiritually through me.

The lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse, tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse, tu kyu maane na..

These lyrics have often played in my Spirit, and I don't always record them because my righteous self takes over and I repel the thought away from me. The song lyrics were playing in my Spirit even when I was writing the report sitting in the Police Station and several other instances that I don't recall but to hear it while writing the report came as a surprise to me as I couldn't/didn't identify with it in that moment and I just shoved the lyrics away without thinking about them much.

I've heard the lyrics play in my Spirit at times even when I am saying insulting things or openly expressing anger or apparent hatred. But again, I ignore the lyrics!

I found this song video by Nathan Wagner in my notifications and watched it. It talks about the real battle a person faces with the devil on Earth.

Nathan Wagner - Nightmare

Now coming to the revelations that I received about Glory, he is mostly displayed as a naked person in all of them and only in one was he shown as a black demonic being with red eyes and vampiric canines who was rushing at my groin wit stretched arms as I sat on the bed crossed legs back in D4 of A-16 during late 2021.

Since yesterday, I have been hearing these lyrics in my Spirit and they played several times.
The Lady sings:
Har lamha teri aankhein mujhe dekhna hi chaahe..
Har rasta mera teri taraf hi jaye..

Bepanah pyaar tujhse, tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse, tu kyu maane na..

Har lamha teri aankhein mujhe dekhna hi chaahe..:This line played in my spirit on its own and the song repeated itself beginning from this sentence.

But during the past two weeks, whenever I had a loving inner heart state for Death Conqueror, these lyrics played in my Spirit as well which then cautioned me.
The guy sings:
Deewani hoke haseena, khaayi kya dhoke haseena..
Aao tum bhi aaj sunlo!

So, I am not progressing ahead with any of them because I also saw Glory peeking inside my ripped open forehead, chest's centre, and belly, and then yesterday, I saw Him make a cut in the middle of the front of my body with a knife followed by the lyrics being sung by the lady: Phaad dala.. Phaad dala..

Dream:
I am inside a huge room with purple walls and a relatively higher ceiling and I stay inside to keep safe. I keep coming across a person outside the building with whom I chat briefly during day. I see a moustached man dressed in an off-white shirt tucked inside pants working as a street vendor with another man beside him - both standing in front of a wall behind which lies a square surface on top of a pole beside an electricity board behind the wall present to its right. I am busy with something when I hear an abrupt blast and see the square surface on fire behind the wall above the man. I quickly inform them about the fire above them as it would get worse if it reached the electricity board to the right. Someone quickly throws water on the fire in a jolt extinguishing the same.

Past Revelation

- (Past 48 hours) A voice says: Akhila is the most maintained of them all accompanied by a small-framed vision of a tiny Akhila standing straight and looking at the viewer. When I once visited her room, I saw it too well maintained and I found it quite impressive. That thing I liked about her though she didn't leave utensils in the kitchen which I found to be an ego problem because even when the guy said that it wasn't his job to do so and that everyone was supposed to put their utensils in the sink by themselves, she didn't agree with him but started arguing and complaining about it with others.
- Part of the dream: In the dream, when we had left Sis Adele after visiting her and I was now thinking of going back to her, I recalled her set table in her home where she was offering us snacks, and this time I saw in my view samosas placed on the table as well which I hadn't previously noticed when I was actually present there. This certain part of me recalling my visit in my dream itself - I didn't write previously.
- The back-view of the Aunty with a small conical face who stands at the boiled egg counter to the left of the narrow passage in front of the narrow arched passage of my building as the naked upper half of an infant is visible at her left shoulder as she holds him and pampers him like an infant while he looks back at the viewer with an innocent expression.

While bathing I only washed my lower half as I didn't want to strip in fully grown people who would be looking at me with lusty eyes! It was having an amplified painful effect on me now and no longer was I able to tolerate it! It was almost as if I had reached the threshold of my tolerance. When I was struggling to change into clean clothes with my towel wrapped around me, I saw:

- The face of Glory until slightly below his throat as he says: Ye launda marega mere haathon se!

15:03

In the afternoon, I felt like sifting my clothes and separating the summer wear and putting them back into the carton, and while I did so, making two heaps of clothes, one to keep for daily use, the other to pack away, I heard in my Spirit:

- Kartika tu kab se aisi ban gayi. Tu kab se aisi ban gayi. which didn't make any sense to me because it's a usual thing for me to keep my space organized and sifted. I keep sifting things out and only keep outside things that I need during a reasonable time-period instead. And I didn't see anything wrong in sifting my clothes and only keeping some in the trolley bag. So I didn't really understand the comment. This time I kept what I identified with the most. I kept the shirts, the denims, the long sporty t-shirts, the Christian T-shirts, and the Bold Existence apparel and kept the rest in the cartons to be packed. I thought that the clothes I kept out would be useful for my dept if I happened to go there regularly, and the casuals - for staying at home. I kept the shirts outside to be given for ironing as my iron doesn't iron well and some of my shirts are heavy cotton. My iron doesn't work too well now. And then I have other things to do as well and don't have the energy to iron them when I already have God-given work to do and now I will have to prepare for the interview in case I happen to sit for it.

I then went to buy a packet of small Samosa snack, but the store didn't have it so I bought something else and on my way back from the Dinesh Store, when I was walking along the corridor towards my room, I heard in my Spirit:

Teri toh taange mein todunga!

It repeated a few times as I walked towards the door.

After a while of entering my room, I saw:

- The face of Glory until his throat with a visible collar of a sky blue shirt saying while sobbing: Sorry Kartika. Sorry Kartika. And then the vision repeated.

After returning to my room, I recalled how they compared me to inferior versions of me or highlighted things about me that weren't desirable as I saw two ladies walking on the road intentionally showing their backs to me, one of which walked away saying: Aunty aa gyi. This made me think why didn't Death Conqueror run after someone who already met his criteria instead of pointing out things about me and insulting me? And if he did happen to find a person who met all of his requirements, even then he shouldn't have chosen such a way.

- I say a part of this openly and then hear: 'Samajh Gayi ye. Sab samajh gayi.' Because I know that I don't meet the outer girly requirements or standards, but I met God's mental requirements to be chosen for His job. Also, He doesn't microanalyse the way I do things and then point stuff out. He looks at my reasons or motives behind behaving in those ways. If I am not good at remembering words, He knows that I am a visual person and I think and understand things visually and in their abstract meaning instead of understanding them in terms of words and that that's a part of my individuality. If I happen to drop stuff, He understands that I tend to forget that I am holding something or my grip these days is not strong enough from what He revealed as an extension in the CID dream on Page 573. He understands my reasoning behind everything instead of judging me for it.

And my reasoning is right when it comes to moral matters, and I don't use twisted ways of operation in my daily life. He doesn't care about my reasoning related to objective things as they are highly individualistic in the same manner I don't/won't care about the reasoning of other people pertaining to objective things in their lives as I would understand that's the way they're most comfortable with doing those things.

He (Death Conqueror) wants to pursue me but at the same time, he's telling me that I deserve someone like Deepak because of the way he looks and his poor financial background though he lacks a moral bone to a great extent! When I can see that he's lying, being deceptive, and saying those hurtful things to me, why would I want to be with him?

As I sone writing about the first line of the previous sentence, I saw:

- My mom in her red and white leafy gown comes at the back of my head with a danda as she floats slowly in the air with folded legs (the usual pose of people who come at my head with a danda).

What is he trying to prove by behaving in these ways? And then he's inflicting abuse at me at the same time and causing me damage while communicating indirectly to me that I am not worth anything. That I don't even possess the basic honor that every individual possesses by virtue of just being a person in himself/herself. I mean I don't even have to do anything to earn that honor that he is saying I don't have. I just have to exist. This thinking is straight from the mind of devil. Now if I was doing wicked deeds, even then I would've had my basic rights intact though I may be judged or punished according to my wickedness.

Deepak doesn't possess one-third of my inner traits. And on top of that he's wicked. And he doesn't possess the mind that would be compatible with me. Meera was my friend not because she was rich or at the same level of middle class as me, but because we resonated at a mental level. The way I have behaved with everyone who would be considered to be at a place I am in when looking at the relative situation of me and those wealthy ones, my behavior with those people was quite respectful unlike how the behavior of these people has been with me. I hugged my friends whenever I met them and I shared very good bonds with them. It wasn't based on affectedness but it was quite individualistic. It wasn't based on group behavior but we operated out of our own individual inner self. It took me a took long time to understand the mode of operation itself of these people and it didn't seem to make sense to me. It wasn't logical either. It only told me about the culture they grew up in. They must be used to communicating in such indirect ways while I never did so!

The Guy sings: Take me to church!

While I wrote the above, the following lyrics play again in my Spirit.
The Lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse, tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse, tu kyu maane na..

I've often thought why did they target me if I didn't match their criteria in the first place? Because I blocked people when I saw that they failed to meet some moral standards pertaining to my criteria.

And then I made some tea and was having it with some snacks while sitting on the floor when I saw:

- A small-framed vision of Glory dressed in a boxy full-sleeved light blue shirt over finely checkered pajamas is looking at me as he says: Tu mere layak nhi hai. Lekin mein tere layak hu. He repeats it again. I didn't really understand what he was implying by this statement.
- And then I heard the English version: Kartika you don't deserve me. But I deserve you. Which again left me confused because it could be understood in multiple ways. But I could see that the bottom line that he was implying was that we could be together.
- As I was having my tea with snacks, I saw: Glory dressed in the attire of the previous vision now standing in the centre of my room and walking towards the Psalm 34:4-5 wall with me standing in front of him as he slapped me on one cheek after the other while moving forward in a relaxed manner in those pajamas. I saw this as a third person.

18:13

I washed my period lingerie and as I moved out of my room to hang them to dry on the roof upstairs, I heard:

Tera baap aa rha hai tujhe maarne! Tera baap aa rha hai tujhe maarne!

And while I was hanging clothes upstairs, I kept hearing:

Tod dala.. Tod dala..

Tod dala.. Tod dala..

Somewhere earlier in the day, I see the form of Glory from previous visions from the day accompanied with the lyrics:

- Is ladki ne mujhse bahut pyaar kiya hai. Is ladki ne mujhse bahut pyaar kiya hai.

20:22

Later in the evening, I was looking for teaching jobs in DU colleges on the University's website, and after a while of struggling with my application account, I ended up opening the link for applying to jobs in various colleges, and then I found this advertisement for upcoming interviews for the post of assistant professor of Physics held by one of the colleges. My name wasn't in the list as I wasn't present in the ad-hoc panel of the physics department. I then had to look for the physics ad-hoc panel which then landed me on the website of the Department of Physics & Astrophysics and there I found this notice/Office Order released in August that said that the no such panel would be made after the notice was out and any existing panels would be considered lapsed. So I mailed the college's email given on their website to inquire about the same, that if I could walk in the interview space since I was eligible for it. As I was looking for jobs on DU portal and hadn't yet landed on this one, I saw:

- A small-framed vision of the upper half until below the shoulders of a crying Death Conqueror as he said looking at the viewer: Sorry Kartika. Sorry Kartika. The vision repeated several times as I was surfing the website and the I landed on the Physics faculty job.

After mailing, I went outside to do some chores, I heard again the guy sing:

Hasle. Gaale. Ye din na milenge kal.

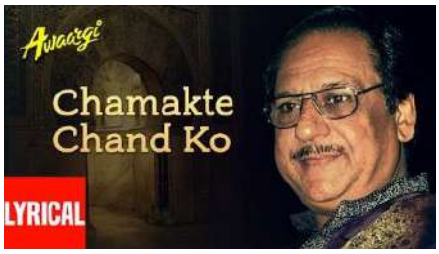
Thodi khushiya, hai thode se ye pal.

On my way back when I was nearing my room, I heard again the lady sing:
Banake kyu bigada re..

And I've also been hearing the following lyrics for the past few days.
The Guy sings:
Chamakte chaand ko toota hua tara bana dala..
Meri awargi ne mujhko awara bana dala..

Chamakte chaand ko toota hua tara bana dala..

Ref: Chamakte Chand Ko Lyrical Video | Ghulam Ali | Anil Kapoor | Awaargi Movie Song



Again:
Hasle. Gaale. Ye din na milenge kal.
Thodi khushiya, hai thode se ye pal.

****

Past Revelations:

- (Past 24 hours) Kartika tu bahut jyada ro rhi hai. Tu bahut jyada ro rhi hai!
- (Past 48 hours) Glory stands beside my bed and with a sharp weapon severs my body in half around my middle belly. The vision repeats several times. But I don't understand what could be the significance of this vision in which he is severing my body in half.
- (Past 24-48 hours) As I lay on bed, I hear the voice of a person hovering on me and it's saying: 'Maine tujhe maar diya hai. Maine tujhe maar diya hai. Tu mar chuki hai. Tu mar chuki hai.'
- (Past two weeks) A lot of white balm/gel spread on top of the naked female groin area and its surrounding sides with tiny spiky hair growth on the uterus area.
- (Past few months) The scene from the movie The Reader that shows the side-view of Hanna (played by Kate Winslet) lying on a surface with her right leg lifted straight up and folded on the shoulder of young Michael who lays on top of her as she guides him to slowly advance ahead inside her, while acutely guiding his pace and interjecting when he seems to be too quick in his movements.
- 'Mit jaye jo watan ke liye marna kabool hai, Ha ha!': Part of the Qawwali I was a part of. The term Watan refers to the people of the Kingdom of God on Earth, and we are called to lay down our lives on Earth for those people.

****

Now when I think about today, I see an order. I see that I sifted out my professional clothes and kept the others inside. And then I later felt nudged to look for a job on the DU portal itself where I found a job opening in Motilal Nehru College which reminded me of the vision that I had on the night of 22nd October (Page 570) in which I saw Motilal written in white on a dark navy blue strip. I am not taking it as a sign that I will get selected for sure. I'm not even sure if I will be sitting for the interview either or if they will allow me. I told my mom that it would give me an experience as I never gave an interview for the job of Assistant Professor in a college.

Revelations when I lay to sleep but didn't fall asleep yet:

- RK in the white ethnic attire from Jodha Akbar rides a small white stuffed horse as it moves at its place silently being adorned with golden straps around it.
- Ice cubes are poured into a cylindrical transparent glass accompanied with the sound as the vision focuses on the ice cubes first followed by the glass from a foot away.
  The Guy sings:
  Lalala la lalala

  From The Whiskey Lullaby.

- My Dadi once gave me a wise cautionary word about marriage. She told me how a man's mother suggested him to hit his wife only after tying her up, which implied her having given birth to a child so she won't be able to leave as she would be tied by that child to that man. This cautionary word against a possible abusive/undesirable situation was highlighted to me in my Spirit a while back while I was on YouTube.

- Hasle. Gale. Ye din na milenge kal..
  Thodi khushiyan, hai thode se ye pal.

  Ek baar chali gayi jo ye bahare
  Laut ke na ayengi guzri bahare..

  Mela baharo ka ata hai..
  Ek baar, ake chala jata hai..

  Lautengi bahare, baharo se kahenge
  Karam jo hai apna, hum karke hi rahenge!

  Earlier during the day:
- I'm bored of this, Kartika. But it's my body of revelatory work and it helps keep track of God's given revelations and match them with reality or real events as they come to pass.
- Kab aa rahe ho, Mrittunjay. Chalo na!: says a lady's voice in a soft and expectant tone. I heard in the Spirit when I fell into a brief sleep earlier during the day.
- As I wrote the above revelation, I heard: 'Dil leygi!'. in my Spirit from the song Dil Leygi kudi gujarat di!

  Ref: Dil Le Gayee

Page 578.

30 October 2023
13:47

Dream 1:

I am with my family and have to board a train. The first train passes as I am busy with something. I board the next with my mom and dad and my brothers are there as well. On our way, I spot a butterfly with huge green wings of the colour and the size of the leaves of a money plant. It is hovering on a plant outside the train. As we pass it by, I point my mom's attention to it and tell her that I had seen this butterfly previously in one of my dreams and now I was seeing it for real. So I am sharing with her a part of a dream fulfilled.

Our train stops at a station and we are having a meal together. We're in a closed space with a train track present 10-12 meters above our heads behind our backs. Apparently, our train compartment is shown as being an open one. And I seem to be knowing in the dream how my mom built a good bond with RK and put much effort in it, but he has now refused to listen to her thoughts about the necessity of coming to Jesus. We see a train pass by quickly above us on that track and my mom says that he could've honoured the bond a bit by heeding what she had to say but he straightaway rejected it and left in that train above. I agree with her. He shouldn't behaved in that distant manner as if he had no bond with her when she spent a lot of time in building the bond.

My mom then extends a half-used packet of bread to be thrown. We've another full packet of bread as well. She comments that we should've bought two full packets of bread.

- Dream-Vision: The upper half of SRK in multilayered black points me to a news article as it shuffles through others and as he disappears appears in the viewer's vision on the homepage of my browser's screen with the headline: I know that you really really really like me.

After I woke up I recalled the Udd Jaiye re Kabuttar cultural song I wrote the last night. And then the following lyrics played in my Spirit. They served as one of the stanzas of the entire song performance.
The girls sings together:
Mere sasure ne baag laga diya re.. Daali daali anaar.
Mere sasure ne baag laga diya re.. Daali daali anaar.

Ek chhore ne. Ek chhore ne.
Ek chhore ne rukka marya re..
'Re suniyoooo…'
Mat dhakkay rumal!

Ek chhore ne rukka marya re.. Mat dhakkay rumal!

Followed by the next stanza playing in my Spirit.

Mat baandho re mohe tohe chinaar.
Jor ka naada mat baandho.
Mat baandho re mohe tohe chinaar.

Is naade me, Dilli ka bazaar. Kaithal ka bazaar. Pundri ka bazaar!

Followed by:
Ghoome re ghoome re mhara ghagraa..
Ghoome re ghoome re mhara ghagra..
Ghoomman mein jaangi Dilli Agraa..
Ghoomman mein jaangi Dilli Agraa..

Ghana hi staayo mhara saasra..
Ghana hi staayo mhara saasra..
Ghoomman mein jaangi Dilli Agraa..
Ghoomman mein jaangi Dilli Agraa.

It stopped here. But then the first line of the first stanza kept being highlighted in my Spirit along with the following constituting lines.

Meanwhile I am having these depressing thoughts, I have other revelations as well.
Revelations post waking up after the 1st dream:

- In a dark background, I see the following written in white: Dirac, Relativity, and … The third word I forgot. But it started with an E and seemed more understandable by physical intuition unlike Relativity and how Dirac thought and devised Quantum Mechanics (that doesn't come easily to one's intuition). It was a field in theoretical Physics itself. After seeing this vision, I thought I would remember the names because they are so well-known and pertain to my past interests to some extent. So I didn't record the vision. But I forgot the last which started with an E.
- I fall into a brief sleep and see the dream-vision Denizer 17 with the number 17 getting substituted by 18 in a flash written on the bottom left corner of my red spiky doormat placed to the right of the door.
- I close my eyes and fall into a brief sleep and see water rushing in a small transparent tube-like structure in the air above me. I wake up after this revelation.

Somewhere in the middle of this revelatory flow, I go to pee and again hear: Mere sasure ne baag laga diya re.. Daali daali anaar. and when I am tidying my white vest properly inside my trousers, I hear: She just wants attention (while I am too depressed because of this character of Dushman!) after which I lie down on the bed again as I feel too sapped. I see myself falling into depression again as I see how my PhD has been ruined to a great extent, and then I am not entirely fit to work either, and then I am telling Jesus how this Death conqueror made me a prostitute as I am thinking: He made me a prostitute. He made me a prostitute. accompanied with the following vision:

- I am looking above while sitting naked on the floor near the washroom's commode with my hair tied low at the back. And then I feel the weight of this reality fall heavily on me.

- A small-framed vision of Death Conqueror dressed in a white cotton tunic set in a dim light orangish golden background standing facing the viewer with a vertically slanted genitalia protruding out as he looks at the viewer and says while crying: Sorry Kartika. Sorry Kartika.
- A male voice says: 'Dumb thing is making us do what we are not supposed to do..' - accompanied by the side-view of a lean Prof Patrick Das Gupta dressed in a maroonish purple suit with the coat left open as it looks like a wall hiding the side view of his upper body. He stands with his back leaning lightly on a surface in a wide and open green grass field with none present around and he carries a thick beard and neck-length wavy greyish-white hair as he looks at the viewer with his face turned towards the viewer.
- The end of a penis hits the groin of woman making sounds as it inserts itself fully inside, trying to go in further.

The foolish person upstairs starts hitting on the floor again making loud noises that serve as hits on my head, and I see the following vision:

- The top view of a naked me lying on the ground in a night background as its upper half gets further buried inside the soil with each thud. The lady seems to be sinking in her grave.
- Dushman dressed in his postman clothes jumps foolishly at his place lifting one leg after another as he turns to the left and says: Mein shuru se hi aisa tha! Mein shuru se hi aisa tha!

Dream 2:

I am talking to my dad about something. He doesn't seem too happy with me. I can see that I need to take some classes. He would be soothed if I go take some classes. He drives me on his bike to drop me to a class I have to attend or perhaps a coaching institute. In the dream, it's not very clear why I have to attend a class, but I can see that he is driving me to my suitable. We take a right turn and pass by a building to our right with the open window of a room elevated above the ground level with its windows open and students can be seen sitting inside on rows of benches. I move my head around while passing it by while still sitting on the bike and notice a variety of students sitting inside. I spot a blonde and fair man with his excessively slicken hair neatly combed sideways away from the viewer as he sits facing to the right along with other students. He's a foreigner. It seems to be a highly moral crowd but a heterogenous one. It turns out that this is the class I need to attend. He drops me and I move up the stairs and enter the room by its backdoor present on the right wall. I look around and see three rows of triple-seater benches. The room is mostly filled with some seats left. I am at the back and want to sit in one of the front benches. I spot the 2nd bench on the middle row empty though there are white papers and open blank notebooks lying on the desk. I see that my mom is teaching Biology in the front and she's talking about the complications she faced during her pregnancy.

Revelations post waking up after the second dream:

After I woke up after the second dream, the following lines were highlighted again.

- Mere sasure ne baag laga diya re.. Daali daali anaar.
- I have some fleshly revelations which seem disgusting to me now. I don't even feel like writing them.
- Two hands slide up on the surface of my naked upper half and slide themselves inside my bra holding my breasts. The vision repeats. The last time I had this vision with KA in a full-sleeved white shirt as he slid his hands up inside my bra holding my breasts while he moved on top me in intercourse. This time it looks like it's Death Conqueror.

- The upper half of Glory dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt walking to the left holding a beige carry bag by its small handles with his left hand lifted up and the bag resting behind his left shoulder, as he says: I'm already inside you. His face then changes to an amalgamation of KA and Death Conqueror.
- The bearded face of Prof PDF with neck-length long wavy hair from the previous vision along with a genitalia that has just come out.
- I tell Jesus that I am not a prostitute and that I don't want to be in this situation.
- The back view of RS with a Handlebar moustache dressed in a boxy full-sleeved nylon shirt with widely separated fine grey strips and holding a colorful ethnic bag on his right shoulder with glass mirrors on the main body and round orangish red handles as he looks at the viewer turning his head sideways to the right: Usne tujhe barbaad kar diya. Usne tujhe barbaad kar diya.
- It repeats several times. RS tells me several times that he has ruined me.
- The side-view of the upper half of a stubbled RS until slightly below his shoulders with him carrying neck-length hair and dressed in a thick multilayered royal attire, as he bends forward in his right direction and looks at the viewer.
- The upper half until slightly below shoulders of a stubbled RS with neck-length hair dressed in a thick white neck-high attire as he puts cubical pieces of an eatable with a curved top in his mouth one after the other.
- After a while of having few more revelations, I see the view of the naked chest of a woman as her nipples pop open and hang down while blood flows out of the flesh opening.

As I am lying in bed, I observe how low I am in energy and how I can't move a hand or even breathe for breathing seems too effortful as well. Without me noticing, I cease to breathe intermittently several times, and only notice it after a while after which I resume breathing. I keep lying on my bed in this depressive state until around noon, when I see:

- Bhagyashree dressed in a satin green saree wrapped in a fluffed and holy manner with a red blouse inside stands facing to the left holding a tiny lean and thin monkey in her hands against her body. She is holding it as if it's her child. He seems to be a newborn though he's excessively covered with long brown monkey hair.
- The tiny beige monkey child extends his right hand and stretches it long as it reaches to her ass with a widened palm followed by him slapping the left side of her ass. The vision repeats a few times.
- The follow-up vision now shows the top view of her lying on my bed with that monkey child stuck to her in that same manner.
- The following vision now shows the top view of a naked me lying on my left side on my bed with that tiny monkey child stuck on my chest as he's sucking my left breast with his other hand with an extended palm on the right. He keeps feeding on the breast and after a while grows instantly to a fully grown, adult, highly muscular and haired monkey of the size of a chimpanzee after which he lies on top of me and starts moving to and fro in intercourse.
- The beige chimpanzee monkey now removes his monkey attire like a t-shirt and inside is revealed the black upper half of Glory with a translucent shiny edge with the face changing to Death Conqueror's for an instant.

This monkey revelation lights me up and I get up from the bed now filled with some energy as it means that my toil has borne some fruit though it may be a monkey who is born in the kingdom of God, but at least I've been able to birth someone. The monkey revelation reminded me of the part from this previous dream revelation from 24th July (written on Page 483) because the monkeys were of a similar size as in this current revelation after the monkey grew up to the size of a Chimpanzee:

I am walking forward into a narrow corridor open-ended at my left side, and stop at a room to my right lit in white light. I see a fluffed beige monkey sitting inside near the open door. The room isn't my PG's. The monkey walks out and another monkey comes walking from the inside. (Reminds me of my nickname – Bander – Hindi for Monkey) A forest area extends ahead of the room when one looks below with the top of the forest reaching a foot or so above the corridor's level, though there are some trees along the sides that are too tall, and there are a few thin stems of climbers wrapped onto the sidewalls at the right end of the corridor. I can see that the other monkey is coming at me which scares me a bit. So, I turn away from him and rush outside the room and jump out of the corridor floating forward above the forest area. It looked like a beautiful place to live in. Though I got scared of the first monkey at first look, his calm countenance told me that he was very well-behaved as he walked out quietly. The second monkey scared me a bit as he rushed after me and followed until a distance. **

And while looking for the above dream revelation, I came across this past revelation from Page 559:

- Urmila Matondkar from the song Mehbooba Mehbooba in the air on a rope in a posture with a bent knee as she is holding it and has balanced herself on it, as seen from a level below but at some distance away from her front, while a short fluffed guy of about 3 feet height dressed in a sky blue (light blue) shirt tucked inside (light navy blue) pants, with an ass bulging through the pants as he clings to her upper body looking at her. He then changes to a monkey dressed in the same clothes.

As I am brushing teeth, I get reminded of this previous sentence that I had heard in my Spirit: Kartika teri delivery hone waali hai. because I hear:

- Teri delivery ho chuki hai!

and I see that it's referring to the tiny monkey child that's borne.

And then I was thinking a while back if the Motilal Post was meant for someone else. I don't know. But I will call and inquire about the shortlisting procedure they followed.

And currently, the following stanza of the group dance song plays in my Spirit which is in continuation with the above stanzas.
The Girls sing together:
Dilli sheher mein bikaay chunariya..
Dilli sheher mein bikaay chunariya..

Oh Balma. Oh Sajna.
Oh Balma, manyay lyaade chunariya
Oh Balma, manyay lyaade chunariya
Oh Sajna, manyay lyaade chunariya.
Oh Sajna, manyay lyaade chunariya.

Yesterday, one of the messengers was referring to me as RedBull drink at the Dinesh Store. And this pointed me to the Motilal revelation - that I was not RedBull but Motilal as the part Moti from Motilal blinked at its place. I don't think I will be allowed to give the interview for the Motilal post because I didn't fill up the form. This morning I was thinking what if their procedure involved filling up a form, and I couldn't find the link to their form either.

As I am making tea after having returned from the Dinesh Store:

- 'Kartika you hate me.' which is just not true. I hate what he did and his attitude towards it. If he was to turn away from his usual way of thought and do things in the right logical way, there would be no room left for resentment by default.

After I had my first cup of tea a while back, and was filling a spoon of Aloo Bhujia,

- I heard a voice say: Kartika, you can't be mine. You can never be mine.
- 'Kartika tu mujhe bhool ja. Tu meri nahi ho sakti.' Mujhe bhool ja.' (Though I am hearing these statements, I don't even know from whom do they come from.)
- While making second cup of tea, I hear 'Ye mere paas nhi ayegi aur na hee baat karegi.'
  Which makes me think why should I go to a person who has only behaved in abusive ways! The sentence reminds me of this statement said by a girl within the past 48 hours the sound of which I heard from my balcony: Na to hum bulane par ayenge aur na hee phone par mithai denge. What does the statement: Na to ye bulane pe ayegi imply!? Am I a call girl!? Go find a prostitute who is a real one and who goes to people after being called!

17:19

- 'You're just not worthy of me, Kartika. You're just not worthy of me.'

18:01

I lay down on my bed again as I feel spent, and after a while I see:

- The side-view of Death Conqueror driving in his car in my left mental vision as he drives to the right smiling with teary eyes while throwing 100 Rupee notes beside him as he says: I'm freee..!
- The back view of a white car that driving away on a street with the upper halves of Akhila and other people peeking out of the windows at the back seat with a huge red love heart floating out of the window. Perhaps its string is being held by a person. And while they drive away, a male voice says loudly from inside the car: Thank You..!
- A highly muscular and clean-shaven Tom Hiddleston dressed in metallic armor with neck-length hair stands in the middle of the ground with people sitting on the seats around and above as audience. The scene carries the look of an old-age open fight. He pulls out with his left hand his long and wide metallic whip with zagged triangular edges that was wrapped across his body and went around his left shoulder followed by him now beginning to whip the back of a person not visible in the vision.

18:39

- (the past two days) 'He's about to kill her/you.': The phrase has been highlighted in my Spirit for two days.

20:23

When I am mopping the balcony area, I hear:

- You're too good for me, Kartika. You're too good for me.

When I am almost done cleaning and am doing the last part in the washroom, I see:

- The crying face of Death Conqueror as he says: Sorry Kartika. Sorry Kartika.

It keeps repeating in my Spirit followed by the following stanza.

The Guy sings:

Mere ashk keh rahe meri kahani..
Inhe samjho na tum sirf paani..

Mere ashk keh rahe meri kahani..
Inhe samjho na tum sirf paani..

Ro ro ke aansuon ke daag dhul jayenge
Inme wafa ke rang aaj ghul jayenge..

Paas tum rahogi.. Bhool ab na hogi..
Karunga na tumpe sitam..

Dil de diya hai, jaa tumhe denge..
Daga nahin karenge sanam..

Yeah. I forgive very quickly when I see a person really repenting and meaning his apology. And because it is revealed by God, the apology is true and not false. While wiping the washroom floor, I was thinking about how I was obligated to forgive him if he was really meaning what he was saying. It wasn't something I could choose to do. I had to forgive and show the love of Christ to him which reminds me of this vision I had earlier during the day:

- The side-view of a huge Jesus dressed in an off-white tunic with a red drape on top lifts up a 3-foot-high child and moves him vertically up and down with an extremely love-filled expression. At first, I think Jesus is showing me love as I was too depressed in the morning, but then after a while, I see that the fat face of the child carries the features of Death Conqueror whom Jesus is looking at and moving vertically with a great force. I observe the child carefully to make sure that what I am seeing is indeed what I am seeing. And it turns out to be so. Wow.. And that child looked so happy and joy-filled as Jesus pampered Him in His arms. Wow.. That fat child was dressed in a white cotton top tucked inside blue light blue nickers. How Jesus loves Death Conqueror. And I am to show him the same kind of love.

As I wrote the last line, I saw:

- The face of Glory boiling with anger following which he was shown as coming at my head with a rod from high up in the air.

The Guy sings:

Saiyara mein saiyara, saiyara tu saiyara..
Sitaaro ke jahan mein, milenge ab yara..

Well, in my present condition, how can I meet any of these people for I stink most of the time and wear dirty clothes. And the only day I am the freshest is once in a few days when I take a bath. Well, if I saw someone I loved in such a condition, I wouldn't be expecting them to keep themselves clean because I would understand that they can't be cleaning themselves regularly for it's stressful for them.

Death Conqueror should be very happy about this revelation, because look, how Jesus sees him and loves him as His child that He died for. His great love for the tiny man. Wow… Tiny is synonym for cute.

The voice sings again:
Hasle. Gale. Ye din na milenge kal..
Thodi khushiya. hai thode se ye pal..

Jesus keeps revealing Himself and His love for him, but he is not accepting Him as the Almighty God, but he is not fully accepting Jesus in his life.

I can literally feel the love of Jesus Christ for Death Conqueror contained in that revelation.

- (Highlighted) Tejaswi makes a lot of typos while typing though his speed is great and he doesn't correct them either in casual chats.

There are two facets of love that I am looking at. One would correspond to my own heart-state which is exclusive to how I feel and express love and it is highly individualistic and rooted in depth. It expects good treatment and reciprocation of my perception and behavior. It doesn't expect the other to do wrong because I wouldn't do wrong to the person I love. I will treat them the way I want to be treated by others. It comes naturally to me.
As I wrote this, I again saw:

- A crying face of Death Conqueror saying: Sorry Kartika. Sorry Kartika. I've not heard these amounts of Sorry's that I've been hearing after I returned from home on Thursday. The Silsila of Sorrys began first when I had just entered Vijay Nagar Single Storey on Rickshaw on my way from the GTB Metro to my room.

If someone does something intentionally to hurt me, it's going to affect my perception of them unless I know the heart of that person. If I show rudeness to someone for no reason, it would be wrong. And if I stay internally distant from a person who hurt me in same way despite them repenting for it, this too would be highly wrong, and d God sees the same. Me being apathetic to the heart-state of another individual would be equivalent of repeating what Aarti went through because of me. But then I hadn't bonded too deeply with her and I was able to let go quickly though I felt bad about my decision to leave her as it caused her pain. The lady sings: Banake kyu mara re..

The second facet of love that I am seeing is the all-consuming and surmounting love of Jesus Christ which loves with the premise that He is going to forgive the sins of the person He has chosen for Himself, though He is not expecting them to sin. But He knows that that created being can't be as perfect as Him though he may be relatively perfect. Despite the nature of sin, He continues to love with the firm assurance that He won't let go of that child He bought with His blood. His love is highly sacrificial and because He is so great, wise and all-knowing, His love is perfect and meets the specific needs of an individual.

Without His revelations, I wouldn't have understood the heart-state of Death Conqueror at specific events and I would be carrying my own perception. Likewise, without His revelations, would others have known my heart-state. Well, I only hide my good feelings or love for a person when I know that they did something wrong as I don't want my emotional stance to blur my righteous reasoning.

The Lady sings: Banake kyu bigada re…

And yesterday she was singing: Banake kyu mara re..

And this morning while brushing as I was nearing my tongue cleaning process, I happened to generate a lot of saliva this specific morning which was followed by the lady singing: Raal dala.. Raal dala..

****

Revelation and Real Life

Anyway. Recall: A green naked being comes out of a fat Rose and walks out in the street saying to people: Please lelo. Please Lelo. But I realized that I had been doing the opposite. Whenever I went out, I wore an additional layer of clothes and I wanted to not be noticed in the street but then I also was aware of messengers and other people which made me turn inwards and walk while trying to feel isolated.

Also, it was perhaps in my second or third YT video that when I watched, I noticed that I was looking way too up often with my eyes turned upwards as I thought about stuff, and this came out as my natural behavior. It reminded me of the second part of the following semi-animated revelation in which a slightly chubby lady in just a long and boxy full-sleeved white shirt was standing in front of a guy leaning against a tree in a lawn in front of a house as she looked upwards in the same manner as I was doing in the video. The YT videos served as a confirmation that that lady in the revelation was indeed me which I couldn't have guessed before as she was looking way too up away from the guy who is standing in front of him and it came across as a quiet weird behavior to me. And I didn't know before that I exhibited such behavior. I had this vision on 26th September and I made my first YT video on 28th Sept.

When I wrote the above, I heard in my Spirit:

- Tu mujhse pyaar karti hai. Tu mujhse pyaar karti hai.

When I came back to this section this time (early morning of 31st Oct), I heard:

- Ye bechaari mujhse pyaar karti hai.

From Page 545 (26th Sept):

- The view is seen from behind a tree from some distance to its left: A man dressed in a white shirt tucked inside grey pants with a hat on top stands with his back against the tree's trunk as a slim lady in a black suit over a pencil skirt with a white tucked shirt inside, and a black hat on top, stands facing him in a hug, as she continues to hug him even tighter and then kiss him.
- The lady is now only wearing a long and loose white shirt, has her long blonde and thick hair open, with an undone tie around her neck the loose ends of which she is holding with both hands and is moving them sideways as her neck is bent a bit backwards as she is looking upwards at the canopy of trees above and moves her neck around a bit. This lady seems fatter than the previous one in black who seemed too slim. The tree is present in a lawn in front of a house that's visible at the far end of the vision.

****

The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala…

While I was watching the 2nd YT live I did and came across my act of looking upwards intermittently, I kept hearing: Taare Zameen Par.. the song lyric from the movie Taare Zameen Par.
Also, I noticed that this act increased with each video I made. I didn't find an instance of looking upwards in the first video as ai quickly sifted through it. But I came across it in my second live a few times within the 10 min long duration that I watched. And in the third video that I uploaded, I am exhibiting even more of this gesture. Like I'm doing it most of the time. The gesture only increased with each video and I also noticed that the more relaxed state I am in, the more of the gesture I exhibit.
Again: Taare Zameen Par..

****

Past Revelations

When I was cleaning nose using a spatula, I saw:

- Akshay Kumar dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt looking at the viewer as he says in a resentful tone: You don't deserve any of us!

It's later within the following hour when I am busy doing a chore, perhaps I am cleaning room, that I now see:

- Akshay Kumar dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt looking at the viewer as he says smilingly: You deserve all of us!

- The view of Post Malon as seen from my room's distance dressed in a thick full-sleeved white top with a neck-high round neck tucked inside white pants with a uniform small print on his top and his frizzy hair tied at the back in a small bun stands in front of Chaaru's home with his body facing in the viewer's direction but head turned towards the kitchen entrance to their apartment.

As I think of this unusual vision, I get reminded of the previous song revelation:

- I've been fin whoes and popping pillies
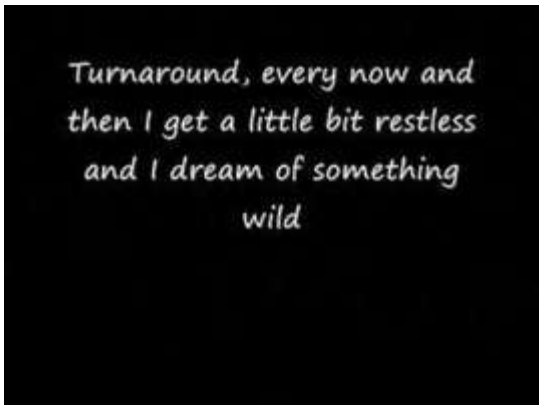
  Man I'm feeling like a pop/rockstar..

Post Malone - Rockstar (Lyrics) ft. 21 Savage

****

As I was done writing the above Rockstar revelation, I heard the Guy sing: Turnaround..

Westlife - Total Eclipse Of The Heart



Page 579.

31 October 2023
04:41

Before sleeping the previous night

As I sit on the bed and perhaps I've finished my milk and am planning to sleep, I see

- Death Conqueror in a white tunic set in his real stature spread straight on my bed as he takes me down on the bed.
- He has his hands on my breasts and he's kissing me.

Dream:

I enter into a very tall multi-storeyed building and lock the entrance to my floor so no one is able to come in. Apparently, I sense myself to be in danger and feel that some people are after me. There is a door present at the stairs coming upstairs to my floor and I lock it. I lock the door at the stairs going to higher floors and also the one present to the left of that apartment which goes into yet another apartment. I look outside and find a spacious view of a tall building and the one to my left is still under construction as I look downstairs.

I go downstairs and move around as I talk to some people who tell me how others hold group meetings in their homes. It's about night and I jump to a high floor into an apartment as I come across middle-aged people having a get-together with rice being served out of a long cuboidal glass chamber full of it placed on a table. I get to know that Abha Ma'am from the college Miranda House holds such meetings in her home as well. I move into another home and find the woman of that home serving rice in a similar manner to others as she is pouring reddish tomato rice with peas in a plate using a serving spoon from the open left side of about a meter or so long cuboidal glass chamber of width and height 1.5 feet. I observe that this is the norm for these people to serve rice from such cuboidal glass chambers to others when they have casual meet-ups.

I move down from the homes present at a height and it seems to be day as I am now present in a building with open concrete ground spaces. I find an extremely tall woman there in the building who is talking about the small amount of small fish she has bought. Perhaps it’s one kg in amount. After a while of her talking about it, she then tells us she has decided to buy 50k small fish which makes me think if she's obsessed with fishes or there could be a reason for her to buy that amount of fish. Not knowing the reason, I imagine the small grey fish piled together in a huge cubical space as I leave the lady.

The follow-up has me standing on a roof with HRX present on it as well. He is dressed in a creamish embroidered sherwani and is standing at some distance from me to my left as I walk along a narrow path towards him, stop near him for a while and sing a song facing him, and move away from him stopping again. While I am doing to and fro, I am singing the chorus of the following song:

Aapke Pyaar Mein Hum Lyrics - Raaz | Alka Yagnik | Bipasha Basu | Dino Morea & Malini Sharma |

I continue singing as I stand near him for a while followed by moving further away from him. After a while of singing the song, as the lady sings a line that has the phrase 2 se 3 din, and the sentence is repeated in a high base, thick and creepy voice resembling that of a dead person existing as a spirit accompanied by the vision of blood and severed tissue with the figure of a man hidden behind the vision. The lady repeats the line and it is repeated again by the thick, stuffed, and creepy voice of a spirit along with the bloodied vision. It repeats one more time and then I wake up. After I wake up, the chorus of the song plays in my Spirit as sung by the lady in the original song.

- You're a dead girl, Kartika.

6:11

- 'Dream Girl!': the phrase sung in the way as sung in the movie Dream Girl has been repeating in my Spirit for a few days.

- 'Dekha Jab se hai chehra tera.. Mein to hafton se soya nahi..' followed by the chorus of the song continuing afterwards. The lyrics has been intermittently playing in my Spirit within the past week.
- 'Rooh se chahne waale aashiq.. Baatien jismo ki karte nahin..': the lyric was playing in my Spirit a few months back.
- 'Ek tumhe chahne ke alawa.. Aur kuch humse hoga nahin..': heard in the Spirit a while back.

I'm writing the following section in response to some people calling me normal as a while back I was thinking how with the right mind, we expand the persona of the person we're interacting with and look at it with an exclusive strong focus that helps us to bond with that person regardless of the kind of talents they possess, because we are actually seeing the abstract composition of their persona. And then I recalled that this was the way people bonded some years back as I observed in my hometown and with other friends. Our bond wasn't rooted in any special skill or talent we possessed but there was an intermingling of two real personas and not that of outer fake layers. In such a way of bonding, whether one possesses one skill or many is of no significance but just an addition. Tejaswi possessed many skills but they all seemed futile to me after he revealed his deceptive, unfaithful, and abusive self. I was also thinking a while back about how all talents and skills are accorded by God and are meant to be put to use for His purposes. I'm not too skilled at writing, but He has used me to write for Him. I am skilled at singing and music, and abstract things that allowed/helped me to understand the physical world in a distinctly unique way and it can't be observed with the physical eye. It doesn't help me in understanding spiritual things though as spiritual discernment is accorded to a person directly by the Spirit without which one can't receive and discern and needs a different mindset and therefore I learned about those things from other people who were well advanced in their spiritual walk with God.

- As I was writing this para, I kept hearing: A Beautiful Mind. A Beautiful Mind. A Beautiful Mind.

Somewhere while writing the above, I saw:

- The side-view of the huge face of Glory on the body of Death Conqueror dressed in a white cotton tunic set moving on top of a lady in intercourse facing to the left. The vision came as a fun surprise to me. But then I looked at its significance and what it was implying.

If those people looked inside my mind, they would've known that they're seeing objects they don't understand. That part of me comes to function when I am studying or trying to understand something in my individual exclusive way which I've not done for a long time as I've been busy with writing what I receive. And I know that though Death Conqueror may be extremely smart and fast, I may not like how he understands things. Because even Tejaswi was quite fast in whatever he did. He had this quickness in typing and replying, and it also reflected in how he played his flute. But I saw that he didn't understand things in an intelligent way. He was only quick and smart. He couldn't expand and look closely at things diving into them in a way, and understand them in his own individualistic manner. His mind was like a mesh of relentlessly moving points that're connected to one another and that never seem to come to rest. But then there's a mind that seems slow and its quiet and there isn't much movement but it expands and looks at things in an unusual way, stopping at a place it finds intriguing to reflect on and taking its time there, and in this way it extracts the subjective info about the objects it's revolving around. To a mind like Tejaswi's everything held the same weight and he explained away things in a go but the latter type of mind, it perceives things with a weight that's automatically intuitively accorded to them and the task then doesn't revolve around quickly explaining away the object or problem at hand, but to stop and look at it with that wide and acute lens. I saw that he was impressively fast and he couldn't answer tricky questions but he didn't know giving the right intuitive weight to the things he was talking about. So many things he talked about came out as being foolish to me and as if they were said without much thought. And I knew that I couldn't point it out because he would be too quick to give a rebuttal when I haven't even completely put forth my stance on the matter and the rare times that I was able to do so, he had to agree that I was right and then I could see a silence in him as it also implied him not possessing all control. While I liked to have challenging discussions, he didn't like to be defeated, especially by a woman. When I wasn't spiritual, I had rebuttals to all his arguments but he was too quick in replying and caused my mental system to run on overdrive and fail and come to a hang. Logic didn't work with him. And it wasn't that what he believed in was right either, but yet he was able to prove it in his twisted way that wasn't intuitively right. Now that I 've gained a spiritual understanding of things by God-given revelations, I haven't used the part of my mind that used its exclusive way of thinking to understand the physical world, because the way of thinking that would be considered unique in the physical sense can't discern the things of the Spirit. I used the term unique because I've observed that some individuals possess a unique way of understanding things that's exclusive to them and it's unlike the majority. I was watching this interview of a lady who fell under the spectrum of Autism but when one interacted with her, she didn't seem autistic, but it was the way she thought. She was sharing in that interview how she thought everything in terms of pictures. But it may not be helpful in understanding the things of the Spirit. Likewise, another individual may have his/her own abstract language which makes it difficult for him/her to be wordy though he has learned to be so. That person may come across as someone stupid to a normal mind when in fact (s)he can understand things in a way perhaps no one else can and it has nothing to do with speed, which reminds me of how a certain scientist explained to others his understanding of a concept he had understood by using clay. Now after it has been explained, it seems like a very trivial and normal thing, but before it was revealed, no one else could've thought of it that way and explained it in that manner.

Also, a hallmark of a narcissistic mind is that it shrinks down another person's way of looking at things to an inferior version as compared to itself and it explains it away as being simple or normal which I would never do so with a scientific mind because even a simple mind would be a complex problem for me as I know that even a simple mind isn't yet fully understood, and it's not easy to do so either. But when one comes to God, one doesn't care about the brain-mind connection but understands one's existence as being separate from one's body. The body is no longer a highly scientifically weighty thing to be studied but it becomes a prison suit that we are to leave one and then other things gain weight over everything else - the most weighty thing being the fact of a person needing to reconciling with the real living God while he is still in his prison suit, and that instead of having a philosophical discussion about whether the idea of wars and fights between countries is a desirable one, one needs to understand and accept the reality of the real spiritual war that's always ongoing between two forces in the spiritual realm, with the first battleground one faces it on being one's own mind. devil and demons attack one's own mind first and foremost before they attack a person through other people. That's also the main reason why the children of God who re guarded in their minds at times face such demonic resistance from others around them. I wrote this section not for the body of Christ but the newbies who come with a mindset grounded in a version of reality that doesn't have God in its centre, but who try to explain away things with their own limited understanding.

8:14
I go out to buy a packet of biscuit and return with 3 bought things held in my hand. I am then warming tea while making more of it, and after I am done as I am taking out biscuits from its packet, I hear this song strongly play in my Spirit.
The Guy sings:
Aaja lagja gale se mere tha karke. Tha tha kar ke, tha tha kar ke.
Saari duniya se ishq bayan karke. Tha tha kar ke, tha tha kar ke.

Lagja gale se mere tha karke. Tha the kar ke, tha tha kar ke.
Saari duniya se ishq bayan karke. Tha tha kar ke, tha the kar ke.

Accompanied with the vision of me being in a duet with Glory dressed in his attire from the previous day with his changing to RS. And we dance happily on the song, I see:

- Death Conqueror dressed in a full white tunic-set holding his nose with a disgusted expression as if there's a lot of scum or stinking smell around and then he quickly runs away from the scene with that expression.

After a while of this scene, I hear the following lyrics and they were playing in my Spirit last late evening as well.
The Guy sings:
Bhool ja.. Jo hua use, bhool jaa..
Hai kasam tujhe.. Muskura..
Khud ko yu na de tu sajaa.. Un yadoon ko tu bhool ja..

Bhool ja.. Jo hua use, bhool jaa..
Hai kasam tujhe.. Muskura..
Khud ko yu na de tu sajaa.. Un yadoon ko tu bhool ja..

As I wrote the above, I saw:

- The face of Glory with a serious expression as he says while grinding teeth: Ye randi maregi mere haathon se!

Bhool Ja - Shaan

I first came across this song when I was sitting in the back seat of my dad's car and had not yet gotten over the heartache caused by Tejaswi, and it didn't seem to me that I would ever get over it either. It was Bhuvan (Meera's fiancé) perhaps who pointed out if it was my first heartbreak which just didn't resonate with me because what did first or any number have to do when one had loved for real for in either case the heartache is supposed to be unbearable. It had already been several months since I had blocked him, but I was still in pain. This day this song happened to play on the radio as I sat behind my dad tearing up. He was aware of my heart state. So he kept quiet and kept driving. And the song seemed to be speaking to me exclusively at that moment. I felt a strong sense that I was supposed to be listening to it that day and I felt as if God was talking to me through the chorus. But even with the words I couldn't be comforted and I then knew that the only solution for me to come out of the state was what was suggested in the song - i.e., to forget what had with him, but then how could I forget easily as well because it wasn't a casual or routine thing that I was remembering. But I listened to the song and took the advice seriously. I hadn't listened to this song before that day. God was guiding and consoling me through the song like He did by dropping a kiss on my cheek when I lay sad on the bed in the second bedroom of my parental home.

Past Revelation

(Past week) As I was recalling the revelation that had a hooded Rose standing in the space along with other rescued people as she is hiding from her fiancé Cal dressed in a black suit while she is hiding a huge light green diamond of about the size slightly smaller than a medium-sized fist in her pocket unlike the blue one actually shown in the movie, and is looking forward and thinking about her life ahead with the huge green diamond in her pocket, I had the following vision:

- Cal, unable to find Rose, walks away behind her to the left to a crowded space and meets a lady dressed in a full-length white dress with her face resembling the White Witch from Narnia, both of them standing at the front of the crowd. The next scene shows him kissing her being slightly bent on her as holds her, and in this scene, her white dress is shown to be heavily fluffed around the shoulders and below her waist. Apparently, he found a new mate.

While I am still in the beginning of writing the above revelation, I take a break to put water to warm as I am thinking of going to work today. And then I am tidying clothes. Somewhere while doing these things, I see:

- A very small-framed vision of Prof Sanjay Jain dressed in his usual attire of a tunic over trousers walking to the left and saying to someone present there: She 'loves' you, Mrittunjay! The vision repeats a few times.
- As I was still writing the sentence where they're kissing with the lady in fluffed dress around the shoulders, I saw:
- The upper half of Death Conqueror slightly below his shoulders looking at me while crying as he says: I Love You, Kartika! I Love You, Kartika!
- And after I wrote the last sentence of the revelation of Cal finding a new mate, I saw: The face of Glory until his throat with the collar of his sky blue shirt visible coming viciously at my neck with an axe.

The Guy sings:
Bewafa, bewafa, bewafa nikli hai vo.
Jhoota pyaar, jhoota pyaar, jhoota pyaar kita hai vo!

And currently this song plays in my Spirit.
The Guy sings:
Chamakte chaand ko toota hua tara bana dala..
Chamakte chaand ko toota hua tara bana dala..

9:44
The Guy sings:
Kitna haseen chehra.. Kitni pyaari aankhein..
Kitni pyaari aankhein hai , aanknhon se jhalakta pyaar.

Tujhe rab ne banaya hoga fursat se tujhe mujhe yaar.
Tujhe rab ne banaya hoga fursat se tujhe mujhe yaar.

Immediately accompanied by:

Ye kaali kaali aankhein! (Note: It's an insult about the dark circles around my eyes.)

I take a brief break to rest before going to bathe and have the following revelations:

- I get several fleshly revelations with Death Conqueror that usually begin with a male genitalia entering a tissue tunnel with him briefly changing to Glory. The lady sings: Tod dala.. Tod dala..

I remind myself that I laid down to rest and worship in the presence of Jesus as I had the worship songs playing.

- I then see the upper half of a huge brown being with a face having unusual features near the ceiling of my room as it relentlessly rotates me around holding my hand that's raised upwards in dance moves. The brown being seems to be dusty.
- Jesus moves to and fro a 4-5 inches thick and about 2 feet long wooden log through something not visible in the vision as He stands in a background of open daylight with perhaps a tree roughly visible at some distance behind him. He is holding the log with a handle at it top resembling a door's handle resembling a thin curved cylinder.
- It then changes to an iron log of the same thickness which vertically erects itself and hits His forehead.
- Jesus holds me close and dances in the center of the room.

After a while, I fall into a very brief sleep and have the following dream-vision:

- I am a tiny child dressed in my thick and frilled cream frock from the first day of my school and standing in a surrounding lit with white light as someone is showing me my class by pointing up high to the right with one of his hands but I haven't yet understood as I can't see what he's pointing to. That person is supposed to lift me up and then point me to the right class door that I 've to attend. Though the child in the dream-vision isn't able to fathom the direction, the viewer can surmise that she is being pointed to the top-right corner of the vision where her class door is supposedly present though not visible. (It reminds me of my actual first school day when my dad was pointing me to my class with a horizontally raised arm.)
  The vision also reminded me of the middle-aged guy I happened to ask the way to an electronics shop first and later to the dryclean shop the second time I happened to interact with him. Both the times he raised a hand and pointed me up to the top right corner telling me that in that direction or behind those buildings I will find the shops as I understood from his pointing.

After a few minute of waking up, I get up from the bed and now have to go bath as I intend to go my workplace. I have my green shirt out to wear but I don't feel too content about it as I can sense that God wants me to wear something else. So I sit in front of my open luggage bag, close my eyes and ask Him what shirt did He want me to wear, and the light blue one gets highlighted so I take that out. I then need to find my half-sleeved vest to wear underneath as it's gotten a bit colder these days. I am unable to find it in the trolly but as I am looking for it in a haste, I hear:

- Kartika, tu bahut jyada laalchi hai. And I find it quite judgmental because the only reason that seemed logical to me for someone to call me greedy could be my hasty countenance perhaps as I shuffled through my clothes. I couldn't find any other explanation for this comment. Why would I waste my time looking slowly for a vest or searching for any other thing. Because searching is meant to be done quickly unless one is not in a hurry or wants to sit relaxedly and do things slowly. But it would just seem a waste of time to me.

As I was writing the above para, I heard:

- Sab samajhti hai ye. Ye sab samajhti hai.

So I am not able to find the half-sleeved apparent priest vest in the bag. So I move out my cartons and begin sifting through them. Again, I hear:

- Kartika, tu bahut jyada laalchi hai. Tu bahut jyada laalchi hai. which again ruins my mood though I'm ignoring the comment. I would've searched for a thing in the same manner regardless of the number of things I possess because why would I waste my time searching through physical stuff. Other important things are meant to be done slowly with a restful outer countenance. Why would I give a slow and focused attention to a heap of clothes when I am looking for something specific. I find it in the second carton and then I quickly throw it on the bed and push the cartons inside again.

And a few days back I was thinking of sifting through my clothes to give away some of them. Ideally I wanted to give away the two cartons but I knew that my green bag carries mostly shirts, denims and t-shirts and that the cartons had clothes that I bought with a certain thing in mind. For instance: Regarding the red & white long casual/sleep dress, I thought when I would be slim, I would show the red & white dress to Glory as red & white is symbolic of him. Likewise, several other clothes were meant for a slimmer version of me and they wouldn't look unholy after I would've lost more weight. They came with a concept. Like the black dress with a floral and leafy print came with a night forest concept. And likewise others. And therefore I found it extremely difficult to choose a small subset out of them for I knew that I would want to put those concept on at some point in time. It's easy to throw things that don't carry any meaning but hard to throw the ones that come with an associated concept that one identifies with. Anyway.

After I've gathered the clothes to wear, I enter the washroom and see:

- A danda coming hard at the center of my head.

But I was stinking as I hadn't bathed for a few days. And I had to go to work so I took a bath though I was still itching at the end around the covered parts as they don't get washed as properly as the naked skin.

While I'm bathing, I see:

- A vision of Ashutosh Sir from the nuclear physics section of my dept dressed in his full-sleeved brown shirt near the wall to the left of the commode as he says: Ye ladki randi nahi hai. Ye ladki randi nahi hai.
  It repeats three to four times intermittently.

After I am done and am out and am dressed, I see:

- The fat immoral middle man from Vijay Nagar Single Storey (dressed in a sky blue sporty polo t-shirt over blue denims) says to Glory: Dekh teri wife beautiful ban gayi! Dekh teri wife beautiful ban gayi!

- I then hear Glory say: Kartika itni sunder banke kaha jaa rhi ho!

After I wrote the above, I heard the Lady sing:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse, tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse, tu kyu maane na..

I then brush and am cleaning my nose now with the spatula which is a very good tool as it deep cleans the surface and it's ideal for those with a hairy nose as it helps in getting rid of dirt that doesn't come out easily because it has gotten stuck in the hair. While I am cleaning my nose, I feel a bit weird as no one is supposed to be watching me in these private self-cleaning acts, and then I hear a male's gentle voice say:

- 'Kartika tum ye sab meri wajah se kar rahi ho na..!' 'Kartika tum ye sab meri wajah se kar rahi ho na..!'

After I was almost ready, I washed dishes and before leaving thought of having the coconut water I had stored from the past two days. As I was making a hole in the centre, the first hit led to its water ejecting out in a jet and wetting my face along with a bit of my shirt. These days whenever I do things, it's almost as if I'm doing them for the first time and then I don't use much thought as it's stressful for me. I would rather have someone else do the thinking while previously I didn't want to rely on another's judgment or analysis of a situation but had my own. I didn't want to rely on others while now I was needing someone to do everything for me! I don't know if it will get worse. Anyway. After I had the coconut drink, I was wrapping the garbage up together and it was when I lifted the garbage polybag from inside the dustbin to put alongside the coconut shell in a polyethene, that I heard:

- Ye mujhe maar degi.. accompanied with the face of Glory in a dark background. Ye mujhe maar degi.. repeats again. It doesn't make any sense to me because why will I kill him.
  As I wrote the above, I heard: Ye mujhse bahut pyaar karti hai.. Ye mujhse bahut pyaar karti hai..

I then leave for my workplace.

17:53
Revelations noted at 13:53 in the dept and recorded here in the evening in my rented room.
I had just reached my workplace and begun to read a paper that I was trying to understand after a long break of thinking in such terms. As I read and re-read the same lines trying to dissect and understand what is being said,
I hear:

- Bye.. I don't deserve you Kartika.

Followed after a while by

- 'Maine is bechaari ko barbaad kar diya.' 'Maine is bechaari ko barbaad kar diya..' The sentence repeats a few times.
  Now I didn't know if it pertained to me or someone else. But looking at my condition, I took it to be me.

It was then followed by:

- Hasle. Gaale. Ye din na milenge kal..
  Thodi khushiya. Hai thode se ye pal.

About after an hour, I went out and got a coffee to my seat. After I finished it, I resumed working and it was then that I heard:

- 'Kiss him, Kartika.' 'Kiss him, Kartika' I pay attention to it as it seems to repeat strongly in my Spirit, and then it's followed by: 'or else he'll die.'
- 'Kiss him Kartika, or else he'll die.' : It repeats in my Spirit a few times.
  I had just returned from getting a coffee and was reading a paper when I heard the above. Though I'm hearing this. I feel uncomfortable going out, and then my anger had returned a bit again as I came across acting students on my way to get coffee. I kept sitting on my seat, and then I heard the following:
- "Go and kiss him 'now' " . And it repeated with an urgency. I heard again: Go and kiss him 'now'.
  As I wrote the above, I heard: Mein zinda ho raha hu. Mein zinda ho gya.
  The words also reminded me of the dream in which I held the baby head of stillbirth and prayed for it. So I thought now was the time for me to step out and do so.

I didn't want him to die. I mean I want him to be saved as I want others to be saved. And why would I want anyone dead unless they're highly wicked unrepentant evil men or women. I felt the urgency in my Spirit as I heard a few more times: Go and kiss him 'now'. Though I was concerned, I was feeling uncomfortable as well because I never talked or met him in person. I was feeling reluctant to stand up and go out of the room. And then I had this following vision:

- Jesus stands near my seat in his usual full-length attire of off-white tunic with a red drape with the moustached face of Glory with neck-length wavy hair and he is holding me close and then He drops two consecutive kisses on my lips and says: Let's go and kiss him.
  I feel strengthened a bit for Jesus is with me and then He said: Let's go and kiss him. It's both Jesus and me who would be kissing him like that. He is then dancing with me in a slow duet between my row of benches and the middle row as he rotates me by my hand. He is filling me with joy. I feel a bit happy now. Then I see:
- The back-view of Jesus walking to my left with me in the corridor of the 2nd floor as he holds me by the side. He is leading me to step out and walk comfortably with Him.
  I still keep sitting as I know that I haven't received the full revelation and I don't feel ready yet. He then shows me the following:
- He has now led me to the road between my department and Gate No. 5 that leads into CIC as we stand together in front of a car's door out of which comes out a blurry short figure of a guy. Jesus introduces me to him as He points to me with His right hand and then to him as He gently says: Hi. This is my daughter Kartika. Followed by His countenance abruptly changing and Him slapping his left cheek as He says: How dare you ….! (The part afterwards wasn't very clear.)

And this really amped me up. So I now felt quite motivated to go out and meet him because I knew that Jesus was leading me to out to him and He even introduced me to him making things comfortable for me in my mind. This revelation gave me the needed grounds to go and meet this fellow because I wasn't something foolish or illogical. It was something Jesus had shown me to do in His presence and I was supposed to kiss him like that afterwards.

So I went out happily with a good mood because He normalized the situation and it didn't seem like I was acting in unreasonable ways. On my way to that road, when I was still in front of the department's main entrance, I was saying joyfully in myself: You'll die if I don't kiss you!?.. You'll die if I don't kiss you!? and so I had my opening line with me. I was no longer feeling uneasy as Jesus neutralized it for me. He showed me the exact situation I needed to see for me to be able to go out and meet him. When I was done writing the previous sentence, I heard the lady sing: Tod dala.. Tod dala..

After I had written the above part, I took a small break to go buy milk as I had already had finished the packet I had bought previously. During this break, I heard:

- Everyone is happy now. Everyone is happy now. accompanied by the view of my supervisor Nivedita Deo. Me going to look for the short fellow who was supposedly there but didn't show up to drop two kisses on him and save him from dying was a good act that I performed in their eyes. I kept hearing the phrase.

So I went roaming outside for a while but I didn't find anyone. Also, while walking towards the exit of the Buddha Lawn, I came across a huge lady dressed in a brown t-shirt over a black denim with GREAT written on the viewer's right side of her t-shirt. I then heard in my Spirit: Socha nhi tha ki tu itni great niklegi..

I then begin making rounds on the road between the Buddha Lawn and the VC's building opposite to it. And as I do so, I still am hearing: Socha nhi tha ki tu itni great niklegi.. And then I am walking towards Gate No. 5 when I see: A huge dark Akhila dressed in a thick sleeveless brown school dress with a lighter shade of shirt inside standing to my left facing me with her hair falling down. (Now that I wrote about it, it reminded me of one of the versions of my school dress. Some wore this version, others wore shirts tucked inside skirts, while yet others wore shirts tucked inside skirts with shoulder straps which was my way of dressing in childhood.) When I see that Akhila vision, I think there must be a reason God is showing her as that huge figure mounting high in the sky. And His reasons aren't vain.

As I roam around, I am also enjoying the sunlight and the calm. I am feeling ok at this hour. I then see

- Jesus pointing me to go to The Royal Canteen and have a Samosa via the Multi Storey Building (MSB) road. It takes me a while to obey as I keep roaming and then I want to fast as well. But I don't feel like using that path but want to go via the Rose Vatika as I find it more soothing than the view of buildings and cars. I finally listen to Jesus and move in the direction of MSB, and as I do so, I see Jesus now pointing me to the Gulab Vatika. At times, He tests my obedience. I move in that direction and find the path locked as a guy passes by me coming from that direction which doesn't make sense to me. The watchman sitting along with an obese lady tell me that the path is locked. So I take the MSB route. When I reach the canteen, it turns out that the Samosas are over and so I get a grilled Paneer sandwich along with a juice can. As I'm standing in front of the Canteen, I see:

- Prof TRS dressed in a finely checkered full-sleeved off-white shirt tucked inside brown pants come at the back of my head with a rod with him floating high in the air in a jump as He says: You're smart!
- When I'm having that Paneer Sandwich, I hear: Randi ko to banake marunga! It repeats several times in my Spirit as I'm having my meal.
- I see Prof TRS come at the back of my head again with a rod. This time he says: You're Not smart!

After having that meal, I return to my room. Earlier when I was exiting the park while looking for the short fellow to introduce him to Jesus by introducing myself on His behalf, and then dropping kisses on his lips the way Jesus had shown to me, I was looking at how people felt no shame or shyness in committing a crime and wait for indefinite intervals and adopt indirect tactics, but they found it very hard to come across in a regular way which makes me recall the revelation of KA dressed in a full-sleeved grey top over blue denim and carrying a bag around both his shoulders with black straps and small animated print came walking directly to me, extended a hand for a handshake, and said: Hi. which is a normal logical way of interaction that makes a lot of sense.

Revelations noted at 15:06 in the dept after I returned from the walk outside.
As I sit in my place, I try to understand what I'm reading but after a while, I can sense my condition worsening as I feel a heaviness in my forehead.

- 'Teri taange todunga!': heard in the Spirit. Now I don't know who meant these words for whom, but these aren't my thoughts. My dad was once saying to my mom that he will break her legs if she interrupted his school life and things were going between his and Dr Bharati.

Somewhere post returning from the scout out:

- Prof. TRS drops kisses at the centre of my forehead one after the other.

After a while I hear this phrase repeat itself several times:

- Mein mar jaungi. Mein mar jaungi. It keeps repeating in my Spirit as I sit there in that condition.

I suddenly feel drained of all energy and I can't seem to continue. I then see Jesus pointing me to go back to my room as He shows it to me with both His hands joined together that He is putting below one of his cheeks while bending it a bit and is nudging me to go and rest. So I leave and I can literally sense a dire lack of energy where I am not even able to speak as I catch up with a colleague who asks me I am and I am not able to reply to him. Also, my eyes are closing as I am walking. I board a rickshaw after exiting Gate No. 4 and again my eyes are closing and I don't want to look around as I know that my surroundings are no longer the way they used to be but affected now. I spot a red Fire extinguishing vehicle on the way that's turning to the left. It seems to me to be present there on purpose as I had spotted a Police Van standing outside A-16 by purpose which as I spotted it, drove away. While I am in Rikshaw, I hear:

- Maine ise barbaad kar diya. Maine ise barbaad kar diya.

I deboard near Dinesh Store and go to buy milk as I think it would to have warm turmeric milk. I find that I am not even able to speak out loud enough. The guy has to ask me again and then I am able to say only half of the sentence and fortunately, he understands.

- The face of KA above me as he says: Tu 'mujhse' pyaar karti hai!
  I have not felt so drained of my energy in my entire life that's caused by a lack of work as I became devoid of life-force while sitting on the chair itself. I climb up the stairs very slowly and don't want to look around as I am an observant person, but I keep walking straight ahead ignoring Chaaru who's standing inside her kitchen as I pass by her. I go straight to my bed and lie down to rest. I then hear:
- Barbaad ho gyi. Barbaad ho gyi.
  And it repeats several times. Barbaad ho gyi. Barbaad ho gyi.
  It makes sense to me because I'm not able to do anything. If I can't work a job, how will I sustain myself? And then I need to support my mom as well as my dad doesn't keep exclusive care of her and she's mostly dependent on me. I keep lying on my bed breathing lightly as I hope to gain energy after a while so I can record these revelations for it's because of the revelations alone that the hearts of people were revealed and therefore changed.

- Barbaad ho gyi. is followed by: mein yahi chahta tha. mein yahi chahta tha. Maine aisa kyu kiya.. Maine aisa kyu kiya.. Mujhe kya mila aisa karke.. Mujhe kya mila aisa karke..

After a while I see:

- My bald dad standing facing me in the dim background resembling my room as he looked at me pointing first with his left hand extended sideways with his forefinger pointing to a person not shown in the vision as he says: Vo ek randi hai! Vo ek randi hai! He says it with a serious and intense expression and then the vision moves to the right and there standing against the wall is shown Akhila dressed in the brown attire I saw her previously during the day on the road to Gate No. 5 beside Buddha Lawns, though in that vision she was shown as a dark giant dressed in multilayered brown mounting to the sky. The vision repeats with him now extending his right hand sideways pointing a finger at someone present in that direction as he says looking at me: Vo ek randi hai! Vo ek randi hai!

I rest lying motionless being devoid of all energy when I hear a lady repeat inside:

- Kiss me, Mrittunjay. Kiss me, Mrittunjay. And she seems to be giving a sense that she'll die otherwise or will die soon. It's as if she's lying on her deathbed. And that lady is me. It came as a surprise to me as I lay motionless on my bed. I now saw the situation from the dept repeat with me in the room. I was now repeating inside: Kiss me, Mrittunjay, or I will die. And I meant the words. They were not labelled. When the anger and apparent hatred present on the surface is done away with, that's what remains at the bottom of it all and it turns out to be of a very high importance at a time that I am lying devoid of all energy just being able to breathe. when .

My condition made me recall the dream in which I was walking and crying out loud as I took a turn towards the Chhatra Marg when a naked Glory came out from between two cars with his forearms extended towards me followed by me running to him with a 'No' and hugging him and thereafter kissing him following which we lay down on the ground between the two cars with me lying on my side against the car and him covering me. This would bring me healing as well.

Also, the past revelation of the top-view of a shorter me with a bulging belly lying on the ground being dressed in my green dress with my arms extended to the sides and tied with a rope as a taller and wide version of Death Conqueror dressed in a heavy golden armour came and sat beside me and put his hand on my cheek stroking it followed by him getting on top of me and slowly moving to and fro in intercourse being fully armoured with just his genitalia protruding out has also been being highlighted to me for the past two days. This revelation made me think if he was now sacred of me, when it's me who feels scared being around him. But yesterday I didn't feel scared or uneasy or uncomfortable because Jesus gave me that awesome introductory revelation as He said: Hi. This is my daughter Kartika. This was the first time I went out happily to look for him while I was previously shouting and asking God that may I rather die before I get to see him. But this time, I felt no shame and I had forgiven everything. I didn't feel any shame because of my situation either while I was walking outside because I looked at things from the perspective that I was a heavenly servant of God whose true abode was with Him in heaven and therefore what I went through on Earth held no significance. And also I understood this fact that if I really loved a person, I would forgive everything and not hold any grudges as was taught to me and demonstrated by Jesus, and that that's what would be called as perfect love. I wasn't afraid of anything yesterday nor did I feel angry or resentful while the day before yesterday, when I spotted a white car facing in my direction at the end of the street as I was walking towards Dinesh Store, I hid on the left side of the road. Though I didn't know who was inside the vehicle, but I could tell that it was facing and pointing at me as it slowly moved after I spotted it. I didn't want to be seen and wanted to disappear. I felt highly uncomfortable by the piercing gaze that I could sense coming from inside the vehicle though I didn't look inside through the windshield to see who it was.

I continue resting and keep falling into brief intervals of sleep during one of which I have the following dream-vision.

- The vertical empty packet of sweet and salty Makhana namkeen that I've bought twice by far with Bikaneri written on it, while in reality it has Ravi written on it. I bought it's a light namkeen good for fasting. I don't know if Bikaneri carries any negative connotation.

I keep resting and falling asleep until I feel strong enough to get up and when I've gained some energy, I get up to record my revelations, but before I do so, I boil some milk from the first packet I had bought when I had deboarded the Rickshaw. And then I began recording the revelations at 17:53. I just noticed that if I was to continue writing what I did after 17:53, it would just be a repetition of everything that I wrote after 17:53 but written in the past sentence in a style of already having done those things. And then I would reach the part of this para where I mention what I did when I began writing this entire section beginning at the 17:53 mark way above, and then I would be writing the same thing but being a step backwards in the past, and if I chose to continue writing in this way following the logical order of what I did afterwards, I would go into an indefinite or infinite loop with each loop of writing written a step further backwards in the past. This is the first time that I've identified this pattern in my writing or perhaps this section got written in such a way that it could be continued being written logically indefinitely while being chronological at the same time. This characteristic of this section comes across as an amazing quality of it. And the section gained this property because I made a note of the time I began writing about events from an earlier part of the day.

Back in the past, I used to happy doing similar things - finding such interesting hidden things in a piece of work, be it natural or man-made and because I felt happy doing do, I wanted to do it as a vocation. I hardly felt happy cooking because I didn't learn anything but I loved it when I cooked together with Meera or even when I cooked for Meera as I perhaps did when she visited my home and my mom was busy with something. I loved doing things for her and she did things for me as well. I always did things with love, but they just seem to hold no significance to my family members and they take it for granted. It doesn't increase or confirm the love that should be present between family members.

When I got up from bed after going through that death-like state, I now saw the two situations - the one from the afternoon wherein Jesus told me to go and kiss him or he'll die and the other situation of me abruptly saying the same words for myself. And as I looked at the situation, I heard: Heer Ranjha! Heer Ranjha! which points my attention to the fact that both died in the end with one dying because of a lack of clarity.

Somewhere writing the above, I heard: 'Vo nhi tu marne waali hai.'

Late at night, I felt like having dinner. It seemed to me that it may give me mental strength as well to continue. And while I was having it, I heard:

- 'Agar ye mar gayi, to usko hum sab marenge': heard while having dinner. And it repeated a few times.

I happen to listen to several Westlife songs in a series, and within the duration of the first few songs that I listened to , I heard a strong:

- Aaj iski taange tutengi! Aaj iski taange tutengi! which doesn't make any sense to me.

Somewhere in the middle of listening to the songs, I have this vision:

- An amalgamation of KA and Death Conqueror dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt tucked inside black pants flying in a dark background with two huge white wings at the back as he looks at me with blue eyes that later pop out.
- When I am listening to Uptown Girl, I hear: Samajh gaya..

Uptown Girl - Westlife [Official MV with Lyrics in Full HQ]

The Guy sings:
You know I can't afford to buy her pearls
But maybe someday when my ship comes in She'll understand what kind of guy I've been
And then I'll win..

- Somewhere within the past 24-48 hours, it's during the night as I'm lying in bed that I see the upper half of Death Conqueror slightly bent towards me above in the air dressed in a checkered full-sleeved shirt as I call him: My husband.. for the first time. It marks the beginning of the unexpected abrupt revelations that would follow pertaining to a sudden change in heart state .

- Earlier during the day, I had this additional dream-vision revelation in the morning of a hand grabbing a disposable plate filled with what looked like aloo kachori inside it. And when I went to the dept and later went to the Royal Canteen, I saw the canteen handing out the plates one of which I had seen earlier in my dream.

The Guy sings:
Bhool jaa.. Jo hua use bhool jaa..

I don’t know who's saying this. This is definitely not me.

Page 580.

01 November 2023
09:38

Revelations from last night

- Pal pal dil ke paas tum rehti ho.. : heard in the Spirit last night.
  Blackmail - Pal Pal Dil Ke Paas Tum Rehti Ho - Kishore Kumar

- I have several revelations. Whenever I Top-view of the upper half of the naked dusky and muscular back of Death Conqueror on top of me with his real small face on top of his highly muscular body of a wrestler as he lies on top of me with his face resting down on the left side of my face.
  I was taking to my mom when I got reminded of the above revelation and I felt an urgency to write it as I heard: Vo mar jayega.. Vo mar jayega.. symbolic of a spiritual death as the vision of the top-view of Jack freezing and dying in the ice cold water of the ocean as he drowns down into the ocean is highlighted to me. So, I rush to write the vision. I don't want him to die in the ocean of the world, and after I've written it, I heard a guy's voice say: 'Ab nahi marega…'

Dream:

In this dream, I am at a sweet shop counter and apparently, my dad is present there as well. I see an inner room inside the door behind the counter. I go inside and talk to a person there and get a few more sweets.

I am standing below a shed with an open ground in front along with other people around me. It starts raining and we all move below the shed as we watch it fall in front of us. There're some other things being thrown in our direction from behind.

My dad is standing facing to the left in front of what looks like the door of the left room of the two rooms lying to the left of the kitchen on the first floor of Aditi's home. I am asking him about letting Himanshu have those injections every 2-3 days if he thinks he can't afford to give them every day, and that he could talk to the doctor about the same.

Someone gives the good news that Death Conqueror has agreed to have the leftovers accompanied with his upper half being shown dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt.

Post waking up as I am lying in bed, I close my eyes for a while and see:

- Mark Feehily from Westlife dressed in a loose half-sleeved sky blue shirt checkered in white being unbuttoned with a neck-high white t-shirt inside, stands facing to the right as he bends on a surface to perhaps listen to someone after which he looks at me and says: We all love you.

Uptown Girl - Westlife [Official MV with Lyrics in Full HQ]

I was listening to the song video again, when I heard:

- Bhool ja. Tu mere layak nhi hai. Bhool ja. Tu mere layak nhi hai.

If I wasn't camera situation, I would have been taking keyboard lessons as I always wanted to do so for without any training I learned songs by my own self. But now I've turned to this person who instead of getting better at things, has walked backwards in her skills. Forget skills, I don't even feel energetic.

When you turn to God, you come back to the basics which is good, because when I play the keyboard now, I can look at my skill and my heart-state separately and I know that regardless of my skill, it's my heart-state that matters when I worship. There are several talented musicians who won't make it into heaven because they didn't know or love God. By putting me in this difficult situation, God brought my priorities down to the most basic ones. I wasn't just stripped of the world or the worldly ways of thinking but of my mental acuity and skills as well which again only brought me closer to God because I realized my existence as being separate from those traits. My profession, worldly status, talents or skills no longer mattered when it came to working for God but I had to love Him truly with all my heart. That's what He was teaching me when He stripped me of my perception of how my normal worldly life should've been. Earlier I identified with my skills and talents too strongly and to me, they constituted my identity. I revered keyboard playing and wanted to be skilled in this talent and then I would imagine playing the keyboard uninterruptedly for hours, imagining how great it must feel resonating with the music one is creating. Now I can live without my past self. I can live as a mediocre who loves the Lord with all her heart. He broke my idols. Can you live without your past person and the things you identify too strongly with? If I was the mental self that I was in 2019, I would be energetic enough to join Zumba dance classes for fitness, and would want to eventually contemporary dance style as well. But I am a servant of the Lord and for a purpose here. I'm not here to build on my latent skills. People are born talented as some things come easier to them that others, and then they work on those talents to give it the status of a full-fledged functioning skill. But the servant of the Lord has several things at her hand and skill-building would be counted as selfish ambition. According to God, I will be healing people at some point though I don't know when that ensues. My skills, talents or way of thinking were idols for me as I gave them a high importance. I found them as different but important ways of expression. But now

God has taught me several things. The most important expression to Him is the inner abstract presence of love for Him in my heart which I may or may not express using different ways that would count as using a skill. Can you make yourself a nobody for God? Leaving even your own self behind. Can Death Conqueror love a guy who is way below his intellectual and economic level with the kind of love God loved him? - The answer to this question will tell him his place in being Christ-like. It's the same situation I faced when I had to show the love of Christ to Akhila who was only insulting me by using her reasoning in wicked ways that would be counted as dumb? But I had to love her with the love of God. I see such difficult people as lessons we learn in being Christ-like as we build resilience and endure through difficulties. Without God, I couldn't have forgiven them because to me it would've seemed the right thing to do. I would've reasoned: why should I forgive them when they're not even sorry and only exhibit more of that undesirable behavior towards me? But Jesus demonstrated to me and taught me His nature and wisdom. Though we are called to love all children of God with the love of God, He understands that some personalities, or combinations of natural qualities in a person would be better suited for an individual than others, and so He brings people together. It is written that God still brings Eve to Adam as He knows who would be a suitable mate for him according to the things he needs or gives preferences to.

After I was done writing the above, I saw:

- The upper half of RS dressed in a black Sherwani tunic in a dim yellow background as he drops light kisses on my lips and says with squinched eyes in an affirmative tone: I love you.. I love you..

One important point to be noted: Jesus introducing me as His daughter makes a strong point that I belong to His kingdom and not the earthly kingdom of devil. So I will not honor the name of a god other than Jesus because He is the one and only true God manifested in flesh. He in a way invited Death Conqueror to His kingdom when He called me His daughter and asked him to leave the kingdom of devil. Now we have enough proof that Jesus is God and still lives. He is the God of the heavens.

I've been hearing this since yesterday:

- Kartika tume aisa kyu kiya. Tumne aisa kyu kiya.

But I only wrote what God showed me.

- Vo tujhe marne aa raha hai… Vo tujhe marne aa rha hai..

While making tea in the afternoon:

- A clean-shaven Kian Egan with straight blonde hair until the middle of his neck from Westlife dressed in multilayered black as he hurls a whip, takes a few rotations, and stands in the center of the room.

This question was highlighted in my Spirit a while back as I was completing the previous page.
God is a perfect being who is all omniscient, omnipresent, and omnipotent. He is the most intelligent being and above all skills as He is the one who accords skills and talents to people. He can make a smart person dumb if He wishes, and a dumb person smart according to His Will. He pointed out this question in my Spirit why was Death Conqueror not coming to God when He is above all skills and talents and everything belongs to Him in principle? Why is he looking for a person/woman to be highly skilled or possessing many talents or someone who is not normal by the standards of the world? Because, according to worldly standards, all godly people have a problem. At times their godliness is called a thing of differing viewpoints and at other times, they're judged as being too self-righteous for standing with God.

God pointed a finger to His own self in answer to Death Conqueror's search. How great He is! He's pointing at His own self. He knows everything because He created it. He knows the answers to all his unsolved problems, be it pertaining to research or life in general. He holds the answer to everything. He is so amazing. How can someone not look at His nature and characteristics and not fall in love with Him? If one truly perceives God for who He is, one is bound to be filled with adoration of the highest kind. So, he needs to answer this question for himself and take a step towards it because He is the answer to His everything. Same with Glory but He is smart enough to know this fact. I mean this fact will come across as a redundant statement to him and won't answer anything for him as perhaps he's not looking for a highly skilled wife!

From my new and better perspective, I see everyone with the same lens regardless of them differing in skills and abilities though I know that God knows the type of person that would be good for me as my spouse.

When I was listening to the Westlife song Uptown Girl, I realized that it went along with the dream revelation The Dusty Man and The Fairy, where very much apparently, Glory was trying to be the downtown man from the song as he said, 'Kartika, to be with you, I've to be someone that I'm not.'

When I was hanging clothes to dry on the roof, I saw:

- Amitabh Bachchan says with a pitiful expression as he looks at me: Ye jhuti nahi hai! Ye jhuti nahi hai!

Later during the day, when I was busy with a chore in the kitchen area, I saw:

- My bald dad standing in a dark background as he said to me: Shayad tujhe ye pata nhi hai. Par vo tujhe marne wala hai. Pehle vo tujhe marega, aur phir use - pointing to Akhila standing behind him at a distance dressed in the same multilayered brown clothes. My dad repeats it quite a few number of times. Shayad tujhe ye pata nhi hai. Par vo tujhe marne wala hai. Pehle vo tujhe marega, aur phir use.

The lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse, tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse, tu kyu maane na..

Late evening as I'm getting ready to go out to buy something from the Dinesh Store, I hear:

- Ye bahut 'seedhi' hai! Ye bahut 'seedhi' hai! And I find it weird because, throughout my life, I took extreme care that I didn't become deceptive or behave in cunning ways as I found it wicked. And when I know that a certain way of behaving counts as wicked, why would I exhibit it!? Also, what is called as 'Seedhapan' in the world actually forms a strong basis of a strong bond between two honest (seedhe) people as they're not thinking in wicked terms to deceive anyone. I saw how others were indirect, talked indirectly, or said deceptive things, but I didn't want to be like that because it would amount to a degradation of inner quality. Look at Jonathan. How transparent he is!? He is the most transparent person I've ever met! There's such truth and honesty that reflects out of his countenance. Now the woman whom he laid hands on and healed of cancer is deceptive and cunning as she lies and spreads false info about Jonathan but she's not chosen of God though she counts herself as a Christian. God told Jonathan that He was removing His blessing from her as she was gossiping and saying mean things about him which God heard. She was a rich woman who inherited her millions and quickly spent it all away on rash living and buying stuff. She is not honest either as she was insulting Jonathan behind his back but to his face, she was smiling and behaving normally and when confronted with the reality she would give that laugh as if it justified what she did, instead of admitting her guilt and being sorry.

When one looks at Jesus, one doesn't see any presence of cunningness and wickedness. All His intentions are pure and good, or rooted in testing, refining, or judging righteously. He talks in parables. When I explain something using an analogous situation, even that has been humiliated. We can talk about something in parables, but we should possess a simple and straight character that counts as inner personal beauty and not as the aversive quality of being Seedha!

I have to go and get my shirt I had given for Rafoo about a week back, and I don't feel like going because of the crowd and I feel awkward stepping outside. Anyway, I get my shirt and on my way back stop at a sweet shop and get some sweets as well.

When I have returned, and have put things in their place, I see the following making me stop beside the water dispenser:

- I stand hugging Death Conqueror very tightly with him dressed in a full-sleeved light blue shirt tucked inside navy blue pants.

Throughout the day, I kept hearing the lady sing intermittently: Taad dala… Taad dala…

- I clean my room and as I'm in the kitchen area cleaning, I hear: I can't believe this perfect lady is my wife. I can't believe this perfect lady is my wife.

It's perhaps when I'm mopping when I hear the lady sing the following:

- Jaanu mein to jaanu teri baatein meethi meethi
  Par karu kaise tujhpe bharosa..
  Badi mushkil hai ye darta hai dil hai ye
  Ho na jaye kahi koi dhokha..

The Guy sings:
Hai dhokha.. toh khale..
Magar tu aajmaale..
Jo kehna tha maine, keh diya bas that's it!

Hai love mera hit hit Soniye..
To phir kaisi khit pit, Soniye..
Tu baby badi fit fit, Soniye..
Na kar aise khit pit, khit pit..

LYRICAL: Love Mera Hit Hit | Billu | Shahrukh Khan, Deepika Padukone | Neeraj Shridhar, Tulsi Kumar

The rainbow dress of Deepika Padukone in the song reminded me of this recent vision from Page 576:

- A small-framed vision of a flat RS in a colourful bra and boxer shorts with an ankle-length colourful robe with an open front walks sideways on an elevated surface in the night as he hits a concrete ground below with a pickaxe.

In the above vision, he wore a vertically striped multi-colored bra and has neck-length wavy hair with a beard.

As I was writing the above vision, I saw: SRK holds my jaw turning my face abruptly to him as he says in an intense stuffed voice: Jeet gayi!

When I was done writing the vision, I saw:

- The fat immoral middle man from Vijay Nagar Single Storey bursting out in laughter along with other people.
- A moustached Death conqueror dressed in a white shirt over grey pants laughing hard sitting in his car.

Heard earlier during the day: Kartika, you don't know how to live. you don't know how to live. Tujhe rehna nahi ata. which reminds me of what I keep telling to my mom. But I don't think there's any problem in the way I live. If I was in a normal situation, I would be quite active the way I was a few years back, and I would be managing my work and home life like others are doing. And I am not a dirty person who likes to live in unclean circumstances. I mean who would think such a thing about a person who's going through a lot of mental stress. It would be a very ignorant statement to make. It sounds like something that's said blindly.

Also, if I am used to live a certain way, or I have my own way of living, I will only get to know another person's way of living or doing things when I observe them. By far I've been observing my own family members and I could see that my family didn't know how to live when I compared it to others who under the same or worse financial conditions lived in a better way as everything would be organized in their homes and they carried this positivity around them while the environment of my home was stifling! I know my way of living. And I automatically feel uneasy in the presence of acting people. There's this guy whom I identified with the most as I saw a group of people preaching in a pride event.

2020 Auckland Gay Pride. Protesting a celebration of sin | Phillip Blair

He is not a smooth talker. Nor is he faking supremacy over anything or acting as if he is superior over others. Nor does he look down on his own self. But one can see that he is preaching from his inner self and that each statement he makes is said out of his genuine thought process that's laid out in the open and not a covered self that's hiding behind what's one is saying. When I first watched this video some years back ,I instantly fell for his persona or way of preaching, because I saw immense simplicity and ingenuity in him. I saw how he was struggling to speak continuously and that though it was hard for him to speak, he wanted the best for the ones he was addressing his words to. I saw a reflection of my own self inside him. Watching the video again reminded me of this dance performance I gave back during my middle school.

I didn't have any specific dance steps prepared but I had prepared something the previous day on one of the energetic dance songs from the movie Raja Hindustani. One side of the Cassette had songs from Raja Hindustani while the other side had songs from the movie Ishq. And I used to be very shy during those days. I gave my cassette to the girls who were playing the music. Also, I had a TikTok clip that held back my front hairlocks (I used to have a boy cut during those days.) The clip was getting undone repeatedly by itself. I showed it to the girls and asked them to fix it for me. They couldn't so they asked me to rather leave it with them and collect it after my performance. They now played my cassette and asked me about the first song that played that if it was the one I had to dance to. Though it wasn't the song, I didn't find the courage to tell them otherwise and said a 'Yes'. So the song that I ended up dancing on was: Dekho dekho janam hum dil apna tere liye laaye..

Dekho Dekho Jaanam Full Video - Ishq|Ajay Devgan,Kajol|Udit Narayan|Alka Yagnik,Anu Malik

which wasn't a dance song at all as it as soothing slow song. So what I did was I made a rotation swirling my long dark green pleated skirt worn over a full-sleeved white top with a dark green half-jacket on top. And my long skirt didn't lift up on rotation but assumed a bell-shape on rotation. Afterwards I raised my arm and rotated it in a semi-circle pointing at the audience. I rotated again and pointed at the audience again and then went back to the ladies sitting near the stereo to ask for my clip as I was feeling uncomfortable with both my hair and my dance. They asked me if I was done so quickly after repeating the same two steps. Again, instead of openly putting forth my thoughts, I said a yes and my performance ended there. Mine was the shortest performance in that dance group. This guy's performance in preaching reminded me of my dance performance where I didn't just know how to dance in front of a public. He was nervous because he was being genuine.

Now this guy would be termed a foolish simpleton when in fact he's being genuine and isn't faking anything! It's a 'great' quality.

Page 581.

02 November 2023
09:58

Revelations last night:

As I lie in bed to rest, I see:

- A naked Glory get on top of me and move to and fro in intercourse with me.
- He then changes to Death Conqueror.
- I see Death Conqueror split my legs open as he looks at my groin with wide-open eyes with dim yellow light lighting the space in between. The vision repeats several times, and I hear intermittently:
- Mein dekh raha hu.. Mein dekh raha hu..
- I am having a long streak of love-filled fleshly revelations with Death Conqueror.
- I say authoritatively: Ander jaa! Ander jaa! I keep repeating it intermittently.

The lady sings:

- Bepanah pyaar tujhse, tu kyu jaane na..
  Hua ikraar tujhse, tu kyu maane na..
- I then see a small-framed vision of the side-view of a man with golden streaked wings with another person standing facing him against a wall. At first, that person is me and the one in front of me is Death Conqueror, but then the winged man carries the face of Death Conqueror, the golden man keeps transfiguring and at the end assumes the face of Glory as he stands facing me standing against a wall with his golden wings fluttering around me as he stands protecting me. It's almost as if we all are called to protect each other and assume the role of that golden-winged man.

Somewhere in the middle, I hear:

- Koi khoobi hai na liyakat.. Baksho humko apni takat..
  Koi khoobi hai na liyakat.. Baksho humko apni takat..
  From the worship song: Ashish tujhse chahte hai.

I decide to sleep early. I turn off the yellow light and as I am walking towards bed, I hear the lady sing:

- Bepanah pyaar tujhse, tu kyu jaane na..
  Hua ikraar tujhse, tu kyu maane na..
- I go to bed and immediately see a close-up vision of my dad's face saying to me in an accusatory and angry tone: Randi vo nahi TU hai! Changing then to my mom's face as she repeats in the same way: Randi vo nahi TU hai!.
- The revelations with Death Conqueror continue.
- Somewhere in the middle as I lay on my side: A tongue spread between my naked hipline as it moving to and fro from back to the front until groin which makes me think how smelly it must be as I didn't bathe for the past two days.
- Somewhere in the revelatory flow: The upper half of Ayushmann Khurrana dressed in a checkered blue shirt as he looks at the viewer with a small background of an empty field of solid soiled ground behind him.

- 'Let's have a baby.': apparently, I'm saying this to Death Conqueror. And I keep repeating it for a while and I seem to be meaning it. It was quite abrupt and an unexpected sudden change of mindset as I think the thought.
- After a while, I seem to have taken a mindset of Jesus as I tell him that I am his bread and wine. It's almost as if I've become Jesus to him as I say: My flesh is your bread, and my blood is your wine. which reminds me of the green light revelations in which I was communing with Jesus.
- 'Mujhe itna pyaar mat kar. Tera dil toot jayega.' 'Mujhe itna pyaar mat kar. Tera dil toot jayega.': I hear a voice saying this to me. And it's not my thought.
- 'Dhokha hone wala hai tere saath.' 'Dhokha hone wala hai tere saath.': repeats a few times in the Spirit.
- 'Deewani hoke haseena. Khaayi kya dhoke haseena..'
- I see a male genitalia hitting at the entrance of my tissue tunnel and it enters in a bit, followed after a few seconds by the real somatic revelation of something tiny moving inside and it's arousing me.
  As I wrote the above revelation, Glory says: Kartika, tu maregi mere haathon se!
- I ask Death Conqueror to go inside fully and stay there always. I tell him that that's his home and that's where he has to stay. And I am saying it with authority.
- Death Conqueror stands leaning against the wall dressed in a light blue full-sleeved shirt tucked inside blue pants as he is holding his genitalia and says: Mein kut raha hu.. Mein kut raha hu.. with square checkered pattern appearing on his held genitalia.
- After a while, he says: Mein kut gaya.. Mein kut gaya..
  It's almost as if Jesus has transformed by heart to a state where the actions of Death conqueror don't matter anymore but where he's always going to stay that Ee ee ee ee ee infant and I've now gained practical experience in learning to love like He does. And as I was writing the previous sentence, I saw:
  Death Conqueror running away from me moving his ass up and down awkwardly dressed in a white cotton tunic with a smile on his face which is turned slightly to his left as he's looking backwards through the corner of his eyes. No matter what he says or does, I will impose the eyes of Jesus towards him with which Jesus looks at me and His other children!
  I haven't yet fallen asleep but I'm not properly awake either.
- I have several revelations of the insertion of a male genitalia (apparently Death Conqueror's) accompanied by the sensation of the upward movements of a tiny something inside.
  Somewhere late during the revelatory flow, I see:
- The upper-half until the shoulders of Akshay Kumar dressed in a white shirt in a black background says seriously: Pyaar karta hu mein tujhse! He then holds my face with both hands and repeats: Pyaar karta hu mein tujhse!
  After a long while of these revelations, I turn and lie on my side, and see:
- A tall and muscular Death Conqueror heavily armoured in a huge metallic suit as he sits beside me hovering one of his hands lightly on me.
- He is then fanning me with a hand fan as he says: Mein to iska naukar ban ne ke layak hu.
- He's sitting there quietly and looks idle as he fans me. He has his complete focus on me.
- I change my posture to now lying on my back and he is lying on top of me in that armoured suit as he strokes my lips lightly.
- Somewhere in the revelatory session, I hear: Give me your lips. Give me your lips.

- He looks so strong and powerful in that avatar of an armored man, and he's not hurting me in that avatar but is showing love and care towards me.

And then this past dream revelation of everyone desk rejecting me by throwing a paper at my face has been being highlighted to me for the past few days. In this revelation, all the men behind the desk said: Hum nhi lenge! Hum nhi lenge! Hum nhi lenge! Followed by me walking out crying holding that paper as more men from that workspace walked by saying to me: Sher aa raha hai! Sher aa raha hai! Sher aa raha hai! hearing which I got in a hurry to hide as I saw that man and others running towards a corridor and running to the left crossing behind the pillars as they were all hiding from the lion. A tall and moustached man with frizzy hair among all who passed by saying that to me was the highlight of all the people. I went the opposite way to hide in a room but it was an open room and I then found my legs frozen and I knew that I wouldn't be able to move up the stairs to the right of the door I had entered through and if I crossed it, I could be spotted by the lion. I was floating in the air above the level of the floor wishing that the lion didn't see me as I was feeling afraid of it but then the lion entered in the space and spots me and on seeing me runs towards me in a circle and then jumps directly towards my face and I 'm still looking at him being frozen at my place unable to move and that's when the dream ended. nd then the lion actually came and ran towards me in a circle and then jumped on me with a serious expression and an open mouth.

Dream:

The Guy sings:
Mein saans leta hu.. Teri khusboo ati hai..
Ek mehka mehka sa.. Paigaam laati hai..

Meri dil ki dhadkan bhi.. Tere geet gaati hai..
Pal pal dil ke paas tum rehti ho..

Post waking up:

I keep lying on bed after waking up to gain energy before I get up from the bed. I then flip and lie on my front side on the bed and I see:

- I wake up and my fleshly revelations with Death Conqueror begin again. I see his naked self standing at a distance as he says: Mein is sab se thak chuka hu. Mein thak chuka hu. But then he comes back to me with his tired self again and inserts his genitalia inside again.
  I hear: Kartika sab tujhe reject karne waale hai! Sab tujhe reject karne waale hai!
- I look up in the air near the ceiling with eyes wide-open and then hear: Vo tujhe dekh rahi hai! Vo tujhe dekh rahi hai! Vo tujhe aankhein phaad phaad ke dekh rahi hai! Vo tujhe aankhein phaad phaad ke dekh rahi hai!
- Ashish tujhse chahte hai.. Hey swargiye pita hum ate hai..
  Ashish tujhse chahte hai.. Hey swargiye pita hum ate hai..
  From the Worship song: Ashish tujhse chahte hai

- Death Conqueror in his real stature dressed in a white tunic set lying below me which seems to me a highly dangerous situation for him as I'm too heavy for him.
- After a while, I see the top view of the tiny naked infant dressed in just a thick diaper lying on the bed and apparently, I am on top of him though I am seeing the vision from a few above him as he is saying to me: Mein mar gaya.. Mein mar gaya.. Mein mar gaya..

13:05
After I've written the Sher Aa raha hai revelation, I happen to think of KA and see:

- The side-view of KA dressed in a loose yellow boxy shirt on the street below as I run towards him and hug him placing my arms around his neck!
  Ye sabko maaregi!

Heard earlier during the day: Kartika, sab tujhe marenge! Kartika, sab tujhe marenge!

I play the song Pal pal dil ke paas tum rehti ho, and the following lyric plays in my Spirit: Diye jalte hai.. Phool khilte hai..

दिए जलते हैं फूल खिलते हैं [HD] वीडियो सॉंग: किशोर कुमार । अमिताभ बच्चन, राजेश खन्ना । नमक हराम 1973

- The upper half of Sanjay Sir looking at me as he says with his face lifted a bit: We all love you.

- This kind of love.. plays in my Spirit (is more than a lifeline!).

Westlife - Lighthouse (Official Video)

You're the light in the dark
You're the seat in the park
You're the lighthouse, you're the lighthouse that I need
You're the key to the door
You're the port in the storm
And I need to find a shore
When I can't swim anymore
You always guide me back to solid ground
You're my lighthouse
Source: Internet

This day I was reminded of the dream-revelation in which I kept entering in and out of a thermocol house full of yellow light, written on Page 482.
'In this dream, I found myself inside a thermocol home lit with yellow light. I was going in and out of the thermocol home as I did chores. The significance of thermocol home was that it represented my body. The body is corruptible like a thermocol home. It was lit with yellow light - the Holy Spirit.'

Inside that home I found a person standing on top of an elevated slab as he looked down at me. The person was apparently Glory and he kept looking down at me in that thermocol home.

The past week has been quite different as I've had this sudden change in countenance towards Death Conqueror and look at the recent revelations.

- A voice says: Dhokha khaane waali hai.

And then this past vision revelation keeps getting highlighted to me in which I saw a small-framed vision of the side-view a lady dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt with very long hair laid on a surface beside what looked like a train window with her upper half lifted up on the support of her forearms resting on the surface with her legs vertically folded and spread apart as a man's face was buried between her legs while she looked at him. That man had overgrown hair and seemed shorter than the lady. And then I'm reminded of the dream-revelation in which I finished Aloo Kachori in a plate resembling my PG's one with multiple flat compartments followed by me handing the plate over to Death Conqueror who passed it to the street vendor outside Vishwavidyalaya Metro station and then he disappeared to the right leaving me alone. I looked down and saw my naked thighs and legs as I was just wearing that long white shirt and then I looked in front and saw several short-heighted girls dressed casually in t-shirts and denims and similar clothes as they stood in a group and looked at me.

'Pair tutne waale hai Kartika tere..'

Somewhere during the Evening:

- A chubby Glory dressed in a skinny full-sleeved round neck top horizontally striped in black and white over black sports trousers with short white strips at the side, carrying sideburns and ruffled hair says looking at me while pointing at him: Tu mere hi layak hai!

As I am getting ready to go out to do some chores, I see:

- The upper-half of a moustached Glory with neck-length wavy hair dressed in Jesus' attire of an off-white tunic with a red drape on top looks at me and moves his shoulders up and down periodically. This certain pose has repeated itself several times accompanied with his upper half until shoulders accompanied with the song lyrics:
  Dil mein shola bhadak raha hai!
  Dil jala jal jayega!

  Ref: The Bollywood song Tha Kar Ke

Yesterday evening I was filled with these thoughts that I was a huge simpleton and it seemed to me as if the thoughts revealed Death Conqueror's perception of me. But it made me look at how he was so limited in his perception. Because I wouldn't be impressed by any skilled person, but I would rather be drawn by their inner persona that's reflecting out through those skills. For instance, I am drawn towards Beethoven more than Mozart though both are skilled because I can identify with Beethoven's melodies as they resonate in my Spirit. Now if he was playing his tunes in front of me, he would know how calm, at peace, and internally touched I would be feeling because I would resonate with him. But a different person may not perceive his performance in the same way and could just let it just pass by as being just a musical performance. It's not his performance that would be drawing me in, but his inner self that's being encapsulated in what he's performing! And I would also understand that under chronic stress and abuse, he may lose all of his functionality but I would still have the same respect for him because I would know that he ended up being at that level because of a reason and not because that's who he is. I would know that he still carries his core inner traits that made him. Likewise with the works of other artists! It's not their acuity that makes them stand out but their uniqueness and an unusual perception of world.

To be able to play music, you need to understand it first, and you won't be able to understand it with a chronically stressed mind. What a dumbass! That's why I call these people dumbasses! They create situations that bring about undesirable changes in an individual or inhibit them in several ways or decrease their productivity and then mock the individual about the results caused by their actions! That's why they're dumbasses!

This is one thing I like about artists. They are quite self-ascertained. They believe fully with all their heart in what they believe in. And they are very much committed to what they believe in. They almost come with an ingrained sense of eternality that reflects through their art though not all of them are aware of the presence or existence of God who is the supreme being whose unchanging qualities they embody. A true artist can hardly be corrupt as he is fully invested in his/her way of thinking which is also his body of work. That's why I liked Oscar Wilde because he was a very self-ascertained man. You just need to find one who is self-ascertained in the right or godly mindset. I've noticed and observed this quality of constancy in the work of several artists. A picture says several things that can't be described in words and it reflects the thing that person has believed in fully to an extent that he wanted to give it a physical form. It's hard for such a person to be deceptive. If anyone is truly an artist, one thing they want is for their work to be untouched by deceit or a dishonest portrayal of things. They try to be exact and articulate in their expression, and that expression is created by their own selves and not others. They carry such a strong and unchanging sense of individuality which I find breathtaking! Their persona is so well-formed and is not subject to volatility. They embody the nature of God to an extent. They can't speak evil or a lie, because why would they be termed as an artist if they were to portray a lie in their expression that's supposed to be grounded in truth by the virtue of it being an expression that's coming from the heart of someone who's an artist in his inner self. The quality of having unchanging qualities grounded in morality and truth accompanied with a sense of self-conviction lies at the core of being an artist. I've often heard people call moral and godly people too self-righteous or as someone who think that what they believe in is the absolute truth, when they're actually representing a part of the unchanging nature of God that carries His godly values that are justified as being absolutely righteous by the virtue of them being godly alone, and they don't need any other justification for them to be considered as legitimate. I bonded instantly with people in whom I sensed this inner presence of self-conviction when it came to the things they believed in. Now I've constricted that part to what would be called Godly by His standards. Earlier I had an openness about ideas though I discerned right from wrong. I was open to dialogue, but now I know that there's an absolute standard present in the world or the universe that comes from the fact of the existence of creator God. When one actually thinks in a legitimate way about such things one is logically led to the right way of living.

As I was writing the above, I saw:

- A moustached Death Conqueror dressed in a white shirt over grey pants looks at me with teary eyes as he says: I don't deserve you.. I don't deserve you.. Mein tere layak nahi hu.. But then I think even I lacked godliness in character when I hadn't yet learned to forgive. My first lesson of forgiveness came from Tejaswi. Forgiveness is a very important aspect of being godly.

Observing and learning

You stay or spend time with a person and you observe how they do stuff or like to do stuff or would prefer you to do stuff around them and then bring about changes. But unless you spend time together, two people can't intermingle. If I hadn't taken steps to know Jesus and spent time with Him, I wouldn't have known how He thinks and wouldn't have been able to bring about these changes in the way I thought.

I'm listening to Uptown Girl and I see:

- My supervisor Nivedita Deo says: Now we all love you. Her husband Sanjay Jain says the same, followed by Prof TRS shown as standing with them near my table and skyblue rack space. All of them stand looking at me as I sit on my bed listening to the song as they say: Now we all love you!

After my phone's battery dies while I'm talking to my mom, I hear:

- Banana bhi jaruri tha, todna bhi jaruri tha.

Past Revelation

- (24 hours) The upper half of a clean-shaven man dressed in a polo t-shirt with a white cap on top as he is hitting the centre of my forehead with a white ball. He hits it a few times.

The Chowmein Vendor

This incident that my BSc friend Anjali shared with me was being highlighted to me this evening after I got bread omelette from the nearby eating point. I noticed that the guy Rahul from Sharmaji Eating Point was exhibiting extraordinary skills this time and it reminded me of the song Uptown Girl. So I knew that his behavior was in conjunction with the Westlife song Uptown Girl and the fact that he had Chowmein on his huge tawa reminded me what Anjali had shared with me followed by the Chowmein revelations with Glory.

It was when she was staying in the 1 RK flat allotted to her dad in the Police line area of Kingsway Camp where she used to stay with her sister Veenu who was pursuing CA while she prepared for govt entrance exams. Her dad had a job in Delhi Police and only visited them in the afternoon to have lunch and then left. Though it was 1RK, they had a spacious kitchen and I and Meera often visited her and even stayed at her place a few times. She was once sharing with me about this girl from her neighbourhood who ran away with a Chowmein street vendor. She was saying all sorts of things about that girl, that how could she run away with a chowmein vendor leaving her family. Didn't she care about her family's reputation in the neighbourhood? And the 'how could she' expressions she was making were her signature mark whenever she talked about such news topics she found hard to digest. I didn't feel too surprised with that girl's act and told her that she was being too judgmental of that girl! Perhaps she felt happy with that guy. Apparently, that guy was perhaps a north-eastern guy who had a chowmein stall in her locality and that girl hailed from a middle class family. Both of them ran away together.

Page 582.

03 November 2023
00:50

Revelations within the past two hours:

- Inside a basket lay my red plastic sieve with white mesh in between two surfaces of an open blank white plain notebook as the sides of the notebook are pressing in at the head of the sieve.
- The face of Death Conqueror between my legs less than an inch away from my groin looking at it with wide open eyes lit in dim golden light.
  As I wrote the previous line, I heard the Guy sing:
- Tum chupa na sakogi, mein vo raaz hu..
  Tum bhula na sakogi vo andaaz hu..
  Gunzta hu jo dil mein to hairan ho kyu..
  Mein tumhare hi dil ki to awaaz hu.

- She can feel me. She can feel me.: I hear it as I lay with closed eyes. He is referring to him being inside me as I can sense when the drones enter in.
- A bald Akshay Khanna with tiny spiky hair stands holding a tiny baby wrapped fully in clothes with a pink woolen cap as he's pampering it while a lady (apparently me) with her hair tied low at the back stands to his right reaching out for the baby.
- The naked upper half of Glory gets stabbed by a knife several times leaving a bloody raw surface as he is pushed towards a wall.
- 'Raanjhe ki Heer. Raanjhe Ki Heer': Repeats in my Spirit several times.
- I lie on my left side and stretch straight my back with my folded right leg on top stretching out and then I hear: Bas yahi chahiye tha! Bas yahi chahiye tha!
- A tongue spread at my ahole.
- As I wrote the above, I heard a voice say: Ab ye tutegi!
- I hear: Khol ise. Khol ise. Khol ise. with my ahole being highlighted followed after a while by: Khul gaya..
- Somewhere during the revelatory flow, I lie straight on my back hear a yawn and I tell Death Conqueror to go to sleep followed by: I will give you rest. as I hold him in a restful position on top of me.
- I have my arms on my belly and then I hear Death Conqueror say: You're hugging me. You're hugging me.
  After I wrote the above I was thinking of the next revelation I had in mind when I heard: Tera jabra tootne wala hai. Kartika. which now reminds me of the uneasy sensation I had around the left side of my jaw post-bathing the last time I bathed, and also of the revelation in which Glory was pushing sideways on my jaw as he pinned me to the floor while I said crying: Mein bahar nahi jaungi!
  As I wrote the above revelation, I heard the Guy sing:
  Janam samjha karo.. Janam samjha karo..
- My face lifts up in a curve as I feel something moving upwards and I am whispering a Yes followed by the sensation of it hitting at the top near the cervix and apparently, I'm shouting an 'aa' silently. As I wrote the sentence, I heard a male whisper of a: Yes..
- 'Pyaar ki baarish.' 'Pyaar ki baarish.' 'Pyaar ki baarish.'

- I see a naked upper half of Death Conqueror as he stands with closed eyes and face - lifted slightly upwards, while pink rose petals fall on top of him from above.
- Somewhere in the middle: I am kissing Death Conqueror.
  As I wrote the above, I saw Sanjay Sir say: Everyone loves you.

I think of turning off the light outside as it doesn't seem to be giving the right impression and I'm feeling a nudge to turn it off. So I go and do so and as I am walking towards my bed, I see:

- A tall and wide Death Conqueror dressed in his fluffed metallic armour from yesterday's revelations walks behind me as he rushes/pushes me towards the bed.
  A voice says: Bhool jaa.. Jo hua use bhool jaa..
  I don't understand the context of it but as I already said previously, body is a means for me to show love and not indulge meaninglessly.

While I was editing the above revelation, I heard the guy sing:

- Saiyyara mein saiyarra, saiyyara tu saiyyara.
  Sitaaro ke jahan mein, milenge ab yara.

- The Guy sings:
  Janam dekhlo.. Mit gayi dooriya..
  Mein yaha hu, yahan hu, yahan hu, yahan.

4:06

Within the past hour: KA dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt tucked inside black pants looks at me and says laughing lightly while closing his eyes briefly: 'Kartika tu randi nahi hai. Tu cute hai.' Kartika tu randi nahi hai. Tu cute hai.

9:39

- Water you turned into wine..: re*peats in my Spirit.* followed by: opened the eyes of the Blind..
  From the Worship song - Our God
- Jacob is holding Bella inside her blanket as he lies behind he warming her as she says to Edward sitting on the tent floor in front of them: Look I know that she loves you, but she loves me too. The vision is flashed several times in my Spirit.
  Jacob Keeps Bella Warm | Twilight: Eclipse

- (Heard intermittently since day before yesterday) 'Vo use choddne wala hai..' 'Vo use choddne wala hai..' ('He's about to leave her..' ('He's about to leave her..')
- The face of KA as he abruptly holds my face bringing it right in front of mine as he says in a stuffed voice: 'Tu cute hai!'
  After I wrote the above, I heard: Sab aa rahe hai tujhe peetne!
- 'Koi patthar se na maare mere deewane ko..' 'Koi patthar se na maare mere deewane ko..' begins playing in my Spirit.
  Followed by: Husn haazir hai mohabbat ki sazaa paane ko.. Koi patthar se na maare mere deewane ko..
  Koi Patthar Se Na Maare - [HD] - Lata Mangeshkar - Laila Majnu

- 'We will we will rock you!' 'We will we will rock you!': Heard in my Spirit afterwards.
  After I wrote the above revelation, I saw the upper half of a moustached Death Conqueror dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt sitting in his car as he says looking at me while sobbing: Sorry Kartika.
  During the past two nights: The vision of the middle zone of a man's genitalia inserted in a vagina as they both are moving to and fro together in phase in wavy motions mid-air. The joined system moves together.
- Mrittunjay dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt abruptly holds my pelvic bones by their sides as he is present on top of me while I lie straight on the bed followed by the vision of him rushing all over the zone. (In this revelation, I first wrote the English meaning of his name, but then I kept hearing in my Spirit to write his actual name.)
- I feel movements against the inner surface of my left eye and then hear: Teri aankh phodunga!
  Somewhere during the above revelatory flow:
- The face of KA comes close to mine as he holds my face and says in an intense stuffed voice: You LOVE me!
- 'Water you turned into wine..' plays again. It reminds me of the vision in which a lady sat on a surface with her naked upper body bent backwards in a curve as blood could be seen lying on the surface below her groin. I understood it as blood, but the vision was highlighted to me in conjunction with this worship song lyric.
- I also keep hearing True Love. True Love. True Love. in my Spirit as I lay on my bed. I am repeatedly reminded of the dream revelation in which a man's voice says: Mujhe aise pta lagta hai ki ye mujhse pyaar karti hai followed by a lady dressed in a red beach bra with flat conical cups tied together with red strings and with two wide full-length vertical red strips jumping in a pool following which she loses balance on the pool's surface and ends up separating her legs leading to her front vertical strip move to one side revealing her groin after which she does a few uncomfortable somersaults around her position as she moves in an unstable manner on the pool's surface and eventually falls inside the pool (Rev received on 17th Oct on Page 566).

I am writing revelations with my laptop placed on my lap as I sit with vertically folded knees separated apart a bit and then I hear:

- Laptop to bahana hai..
  Humein to dikhana hai..

As I lie looking above, I see:

- The face of Death Conqueror falls on me from above with the left side view of his wide-open skyblue eye looking right into mine.
- His face falls on mine again as he is looking into my eyes with his wide-open skyblue eyes being less-than-an-inch away from mine followed by him kissing me.
- Mrittunjay on top of me dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt looking into my wide-open eyes with his wide-open sky blue eyes as he is kissing me while moving to and fro in intercourse.
  The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

Our God (Is Greater) by Chris Tomlin (w/ lyrics)

After reaching the dept, as I'm sitting on my seat, I hear after a while:

- Aaj mein marunga. Aaj mein marunga. (Today I'll die. Today I'll die.)

- I also see the upper half of Death Conqueror in front of me floating above the desk and he had two blue eyes that were wide-open as they moved asynchronously in a random manner around their positions. It seemed that he was now turning into that blue-eyed man.

Around 11:30 pm my supervisor calls me for a discussion and after we've progressed ahead into an hour of time and are now discussing the new thing to do, I hear a whisper in my Spirit:

- She'll still smarter than me.. She'll still smarter than me.. which I know is not my thought. She's thinking this about me.
  Though I'm focusing my entire attention on her, I keep losing track of what Ma'am's saying and miss out on the meaning of her spoken words. She's just completed a sentence that I've bypassed so I ask her to repeat the same. I tell her that I didn't understand her words (as they ran over my mind without being absorbed). She replies with an 'Of course!' in affirmation that it was quite normal and expected for me to reach this stage after going through all that I did and as she begins to explain to me again, I hear:

- Chimpanzee! I feel as if she's calling me so for losing out on her words. A contrasting statement to what I previously heard. After a while, she verbalizes my situation: You can't think!
  Well, yeah, after bearing these internal head hits on my frontal brain which is responsible for logical thinking, of course, my thinking is going to be affected as it's facing real additional stress!

Throughout my interaction, I kept reminding myself to uphold her at a high level as she's my supervisor. It's not that I didn't respect her previously, but she would at times defend immoral ideas thereby making me feel annoyed, and then our interactions also used to be at times a repetition of previous ones so she seemed to me to be having a similar level of mental acuity. I didn't feel as excited about thinking and solving problems as I did in the presence of Sanjay Sir where I perceived a newness about things. But today as Ma'am suggested something different and was sharing her mind with me, I observed her mind and I kept reminding myself to hold her at a high level, and then she wasn't saying anything immoral either, so I was glad. Earlier I treated her with respect but also like a friend and then she didn't seem too extraordinary to me. But today I told myself that regardless of how I may perceive her, I will hold her at a high level. I somehow resonate more with the Shashi ma'am from the Nuclear Physics department because she doesn't feel the need to fight for her worth but she knows her worth regardless of how the person may come across in front of her, and then she's so authentic and individualistic.

And when I was writing the part above about me holding my supervisor at a high level, I saw:

- My supervisor with her hands folded is touching my shoulders and then my feet with the side of her hands folded together as she's doing quick sit-ups.

After I wrote the above revelation, I heard the guy sing:
Jatt da pajama kude uncha hogya! Jatt da pajama kude uncha hogya!

Past Revelations

- (Past two weeks) Jesus dressed in His usual full-length off-white attire of a tunic set with a red drape on top stands with a dragon-headed serpent devil behind Him which bites His head off in a swipe from behind but then immediately a new Jesus head comes out on top of His neck.
- 'Bulbul..': the word sung in the song Mela Dilo Ka has been repeating intermittently in my Spirit for many past weeks.
- (Past two weeks): The upper half of a stubbled RS with neck-length hair dressed in an embroidered blue Sherwani tunic as he moves ahead with someone present to his right with the vision of the middle zone of a woman wearing a black bikini panty to his left side behind him and he seems to be aware of the woman as he moves ahead of her.
  As I was nearing the end of writing the above, I heard: Tod dala.. Tod dala..
- The top view of KA lying on his side while hugging a woman dressed in an English gown resembling medieval times as both float in that posture in mid-space while several women lie in the empty space below and around him.
- (Past month or before) I was lying in bed when I happened to internally reiterate the name of Death Conqueror unexpectedly for the first time followed by the song lyric:

- Saanson ki mala pe simrun mein pee ka naam.. Before this revelation during the past month, I had this song revelation when I was chanting the name of Glory, but this day I found myself chanting the name of Death Conqueror.
  Sanson Ki Mala | Ustad Rahat Fateh Ali Khan | Tribute to Ustad Nusrat Fateh Ali Khan | New Song 2020

- (Past few days) I see as a third person my semi-animated naked body lying on the bed lifted a bit in an arc as I'm looking more overweight in this revelation than I actually am. In fact, I'm looking obese. I see my breasts filled with milk as can be seen through the translucent skin on top, and they're shown as being greater than they actually are like the rest of my body. I then see honey spread on my naked ass and something else on my protruding belly.
- (Past 48 hours) A parallel view of a hilly green wilderness area extending far ahead with a cemented convex arc of a ring present at a proportionate distance of about 2:5 from the vantage point to the end point of the full extension of the vision.
- (More than a month back) I received this revelation along with the one in which I saw the naked upper half of Glory standing inside my room with two breasts. After this revelation, I saw the top view of us lying naked on our sides on the floor facing each other where I was shown as being slim and lean and possessing an erect penis along with two breasts as we kissed and apparently, I was moving my erect penis to and fro towards Glory though it wasn't clearly shown what it was doing.
  It seems to me to be an answer to a thought.

- (within the Past week) Hands of Death Conqueror slide upwards inside my lingerie as he has his hands pressing against my breasts followed by me pressing my hands on top of his.
  As I completed writing the above revelation, I heard:
- Mein mar raha hu! Mein mar raha hu! (Mein tujhse milne ke liye mar raha hu!)
- (Past week in continuation with the fleshly revelations of the revelatory flow) Mein tript ho gya.

Recent Word released by Sis Adele:

I heard Jesus say this about the current hour of trial

Yesterday, my dad said to me in a weird tone on the phone that when he got hurt by a ball in his head and it led to him bleeding, he burnt a cloth and filled the space with its ashes and it helped him. It reminded me of the previous dream revelation in which he was threatening me that he had bought special kind of ashes and other things to burn and kill me (dream revelation on Page 466 from 7th of July of this year).

Revelations while resting after returning to my room:

- I see the view from a distance of my open groin as a golden surface. The inner lobes, the clitoris and the base are all golden along with the rest of the area.
- It is then followed by the vision of my clitoris being represented by a pea-shaped diamond that stands out from the golden part.
- Out of my vagina is flowing out milk and honey and I see Glory's mouth at it as he's drinking from the river of milk and honey together.
- My groin as a well-groomed green garden with the inner lobes and the clitoris as the parts of a garden as a very tiny Glory dressed in a white t-shirt tucked inside black trousers lies resting on his back between the left inner lob and the clitoris with his legs crossed relaxedly as seen from behind the groin towards the belly's surface.
- The follow-up vision shows him now standing hugging intimately the pea-shaped diamond in the centre which extends high to almost his tiny stature as he stands on the golden surface with his arms wrapped around the diamond and his body stuck to it with him being dressed in his previous attire of half-sleeved white t-shirt tucked inside black pants.
- In yet another revelation, my clitoris is shown to be a bud with a depression filled with a sweet drink as a tiny man of its size stands to its right and drinks from it like a bee extracts nectar from a flower.
  As I was writing the above: Zinda ho gya. Zinda ho gya. Zinda ho gya.
- The view from a distance of my golden groin which has now started emitting rays of bright white light that cover it fully. The white light is blinding.
- My inner lobes turn to two bright white diamond butterfly wings that're flapping at their places as the central vertical space with clitoris is shown to be the body of the butterfly. Seeing the inner groin butterfly, Death Conqueror seems to be scared as he moves away from it with a bewildered expression.
- The diamond butterfly is now flying about an inch above the surface at the same spot as Mrittunjay gets further scared and moves backwards and gets stuck to the wall.
- Dekh (the Hindi name of Death Conqueror) Dekh!: heard in the Spirit, and the sentence repeats several times in my Spirit.
  When I wrote the above revelation, I saw: Death Conqueror gulping in red wine with his head lifted up accompanied after a few seconds by: Zinda ho gaya.. Zinda ho gaya.. which is great.
- My clitoris stands straight and looks longer than usual (1-2 inches long).
- It is now slightly bent to the inner side with it being slightly longer than the previous revelation and is stretched straight in that direction as Brother Philip's face appears in front of it and he seems to speak something into it with a serious expression, with it seeming like a prop for a mic.
- During my rest, I also later heard the lady sing: Phaad dala.. Phaad dala..
- After resting for a while, I place my hands on my belly as I lie straight on my back followed by a male's voice repeating quietly in a whisper: This is Love.. This is Love.. This is Love.. and then the song lyrics: This is Love. This is Love. This is Love. play in my Spirit followed by the music that follows. The chorus lyrics repeated several times in my Spirit.

will.i.am - This Is Love (Lyrics) ft. Eva Simons

And now I am recalling the dream revelation in which I was stepping down the stairs while smiling into a hall on the ground floor as a green muscular Glory Hulk stood facing to the left grinding his teeth with a resentful expression while a short-heighted Nasiruddin Shah with smiling eyes came walking in with a brown Chaayos bag held in his hand as he said the name of a special type of Kheer ….. (…) Kheer (…) Kheer and threw the bag to the side on the bed followed by him wrapping himself on the Hulk Glory with love while the green Glory kept standing in the same manner. Nasiruddin Shah then walked towards me as I walked towards him behind Glory and we gave each other a warm hug. Well, it shows how things will be. The dream ended with a lady saying that Jesus alone is his Pritam as she may have been left/rejected/abandoned. (Page 516 created on 27th August).

Revelatory flow during rest continued:

- I hear a firm and affirmative male voice repeating: This is Love.. This is Love.. in the Spirit which is then followed by the vision of the smiling face of KA with blood oozing out of both his eyes giving them a look that suggested that they were burst as blood continued rolling down from his eyes while he faced at the viewer with a loving affirmative smile.

And after I wrote the above, I heard the following song again, beginning with the song's beginning lyrics.

Bepanah Pyaar Tujhse Tu Kyu Jaane Na Full Song With Lyrics Payal Dev Yasser Desai Bepanah Pyaar Song

I didn't create this situation. It's God who has reconciled things in this way. And from the previous revelations that seemed unbelievable to me but then when I actually ended up carrying those heart-states towards Death Conqueror, this revelation too now doesn't seem unbelievable to me. Now when I look at the revelations that I was micro-analysing and trying to make sense of them in some way, I can see them making plain sense as I ended up feeling that way at a later point in time.

Afterwards, I got up from bed and was looking for the This is Love song on YT but then the following song was highlighted to me as well that I came across some years back:

This Is Love | Official Lyric Video | LIFE Worship

While cleaning:

- Mein tujhe nahi maar sakta. Mein tujhse bahut pyaar karta hu. Mein tujhse bahut pyaar karta hu.
- While I am in the washroom wiping the floor: Papa marne wale hai. Papa marne wale hai. Papa marne wale hai. The phrase repeats incessantly in my Spirit for a while.
  As I wrote the above revelations, I heard: Janam samjha karo. Janam samjha karo.
- A small-framed vision of Prof. PDG standing facing the viewer with his face turned to the left as he says to someone present on that side but who's not visible in the visible: She deserves to be in Cambridge. She deserves to be in Cambridge.
- When I was at the washbasin doing something: She just made all of us feel small. She just made all of us feel small.
  But I don't make people feel small intentionally or act superior.
- Accompanied by the vision of some teachers from my dept shown as tiny half-an-inch high beings on the room's floor. One of them was Prof TRS dressed in a full-sleeved brown shirt tucked inside pants.

I cleaned the room and then had some snacks with tea, followed by a small chocolate and then a banana with milk. Then I wanted to rest but I happened to talk to my mom for a while as I lay on bed. I share with my mom how it was after long that I'm feeling like my past self who was smart and took care of household chores as well. And then I was dressed Holy as well which was making me feel great. And then I have made some progress in going through the paper with my supervisor earlier during the day as well. And the discussion with her helped me in reviving my analytical self as she is not a vain company but she presented her ideas related to what I was into. This day was better than others. I told my mom that I would rest for a while and then work. I was having sensations even while talking to my mom as I felt something tiny move upwards through my groin. So I ended the call and then wanted to rest in peace as I was having a heavy head as well. As I began resting, I had the following revelations:

- I feel something hitting my cervix followed by the phrase: Height of pleasure. Height of pleasure. repeat in my Spirit. It repeats as long as I feel that thing at that height.
- I see semi-animated naked upper halves of several men fall on top of me together one on top of the other. But then the previous avatar of Death Conqueror in metallic armour shoves them all to one side with one hand and gets on top of me in that armour. A voice says: Samajh gaya Kartika. Samajh gaya.

I place my hands on my belly and it reminds me of the previous revelations in which when I placed my hand on top of me, I saw Death Conqueror dressed in a sky blue shirt tucked inside blue pants stuck in the middle as he moved his upper body at his place unable to set himself free. It repeated once more time this time him being dressed in a cotton white tunic set. I still am lying with my hands on my belly when I see:

- A naked Death Conqueror moves backwards with a 3-4 feet high erection as he says: Kartika you're so good. You love me. You're so good. You love me. You love me. It's almost as if he is walking away as he walks backwards, or is saying a bye.
- A short-heighted Death Conqueror lies on top of me as he is oscillating in intercourse but then a black muscular giant Glory drags him away holding his legs and throws him towards the wall like a toy.
- This time I am sitting on top of Death Conqueror, but again a naked, muscular giant Glory slides him away from below me holding his legs, and throws him away again like a toy and then he corners me against a wall and starts beating me!
  The lady sings: Banake kyu bigada re…
- Kartika tu phatne waali hai! Tu phatne waali hai!

The guy sings:
Accha sila diya tune pyaar ka.. Achha sila diya tune mere pyaar ka..
Yaar ne hi loot liya ghar yaar ka..

Well, if the lyrics are talking about me as Glory might be internally singing these lyrics to me, I would say that if because of God's given revelations one of His children is saved from being lost in the world, then he should actually feel good about the revelations and not just think about how ideal things were supposed to be which they would've been if I wasn't in the camera situation as I'm an ideal person, but God is ideal as well as realistic. He is realistic because He knew that we can't match His holiness but He is idealistic as well because by offering Himself as the perfect sacrifice He fulfilled the ideal condition that was needed to be fulfilled for us to be in communion with Him through His Spirit. One can learn a lot from Jesus. It's not that He led me into sin, but He revealed to me the heart states of people and that brought some changes in my heart state followed by Him showing me more things that He knew would manifest as future heart-states. So the time that I may have received revelation, I may have been taken aback or it may have been hard for me to believe in the revelations but when I saw them getting manifested, I knew that God foresaw this. Now, it also shows that He was willing to give grace beforehand if that was needed for those people to be introduced to Him and how He works through His Spirit. I am not a person who would indulge with many people physically, but I received those revelations and the ones that affected me were the ones that were very much apparently an expression of love. Why did God give me those revelations? There must have been a reason. If he had not given me those revelations, I would still have been very much guarded in my heart state and I would be pointing out how wrong Death Conqueror and Akhila are or how wrong some people from my dept are and I would never be able to accept their way or even fully forgive. But by giving me those revelations, He changed my hard self that blocked any type of sin at once and looked at it as something that defiles one's conscience, and moulded me into this person who would forgive and give grace to others as He gives grace and as He has given me. I learnt from His patience with the human race through the millenniums and how He saw all wickedness and injustice and yet He had His Holy nature intact. He gives Himself freely and He rains on both the righteous and the wicked and provides them both with their needs - that's the goodness of God. I never could've understood His nature had I not been in this situation by my own self. He worked on my heart slowly and changed me to this advanced self now. He is God and yet He gave me revelations in which He is kissing me or communing with me because He knew that for me they're an expression of Love and because I loved Him, Him giving me those revelations would strengthen me.

Revelations while resting:

- I see the right side-view of my face until my throat lying on the bed as I am pressing Death Conqueror's face to my throat as he lies on me with closed eyes which then changes to Glory and then back to him. The visible part of him is dressed in a white cotton tunic.
- The upper half of Shanon from Yeshu Ke Geet dressed in a neck-high black and white printed attire standing facing the viewer with her face turned to the left as she holds out a red rose towards the viewer with a shy countenance moving her face away to the left and then slightly towards the viewer.
- I lie on my bed on my side hugging intimately the short fellow and am resting with him.
  The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..
- Tera baap aa rha hai tujhe maarne. Tera baap aa rha hai tujhe maarne. which reminds me of my dad coming to my room as he said: Kya kar rahi hai yaha pe! Kya kar rhi hai yaha pe! and then this other revelation of: Jayegi Police Station!? Jayegi Police Station!?

When I was writing revelations above, I heard a guy say in my Spirit: Vo ek bhediya hai. But God calls him Jacob. He is Jacob who loves Bella. But Jacob smells like dust and is dusty as Bella once comments about him.

During one of my revelatory flows earlier today:

- As I am lying in the bed I see deep red clouds rise up from my upper half/heart in the form of the release from a Chimney as they dissolve in the space above me with the Hindi name of Death Conqueror revealed in that space above with each rise of the Chimney cloud.

- Earlier during the day as I was sitting in my lab: Hum mar jayenge! from the Bollywood song Hum Mar Jayenge!

Page 583.

04 November 2023
02:07

I had been having mild bowel movements since evening but I didn't use the washroom as I was busy with one or other thing. Now about more than an hour back, I knew that I would be sleeping so should clean my intestines so I could've a good sleep. But then I hadn't taken the Kayam tablets so I was aware I might be facing some problem as I am often constipated under a lack of rigorous physical workout or emotional stress. So I did face the problem I wasn't really expecting because looking at the bowel movement I was having, it seemed I would be quick. But when I sat to poop, I found I was highly constipated and I also knew that I had to poop in order to feel relieved. So I had to sit through the process for about perhaps an hour or less.

As I was sitting on it, I heard: these are your birth pangs!
The phrase repeated: these are your birth pangs!

As I continued sitting on it, somewhere in the middle, I heard:

- She has a real problem. Several people repeat the same as I am struggling to have a normal and smooth bowel movement. She has a real problem. And then I can't stand up either because I've started the process. I regret not taking my constipation relieving tablets in the morning but then I wasn't expecting this either.

- Death Conqueror stands in front of a wall as he says: You're too good for me. You're too good for me.

Towards the end of the process when I am about to be done, I hear:

- Ye tere layak nahi hai. Aur na hi tu iske layak hai.
- Followed by: Ye tere layak nhi hai! Ye tere layak nahi hai! accompanied with the vision of some guys saying the sentence to the short fellow referring to me.
- Ye kiske chakkar mein pad gaya Mrittunjay!? Tujhe to bhot ladkiya mil jayengi!

As I was writing the above, I heard the Worship song lyrics:
Aaja abhi bhi mudkar.. Yeshu bula raha hai..
Aaja abhi bhi mudkar.. Yeshu bula raha hai..
Varna ye yaad karle.. Varna ye yaad karle..
Tera hi naash hoga.. Insaaf ka traazoo, Yeshu ke haath hoga..

When I heard the revelations towards the end of my constipated washroom experience, I did feel bad and used as well, because he could've come across as a normal person instead of inflicting that amount of pain and torment on my poor brain which affected all aspects of my life. And now that I already suffered those losses that couldn't be made up for when it came to me, not him, because his forgiveness comes from Jesus and I'm entitled to forgive him because Jesus has called me to do so. But the damage that this fellow caused and how he brought about this desensitization towards my washroom experience was something I had to permanently live with, but Jesus healed me!

Also, for the past week, I have been hearing this song lyric that says that of everything love is the remedy. So I knew that even my mental healing was dependent on the amount of Godly love I carried because a person who is carrying resentfulness, hatred, or unforgiveness in one's heart wouldn't be considered healed. A healed person has gotten completely over the event or thing or person that put him/her under trauma, and (s)he is able to look at his/her traumatic experience with acceptance and forgiveness. A healed person doesn't hate the one who inflicted trauma on him/her. And then God brought out what was hidden inside my heart and supplemented it with revelations of Death Conqueror's heart states which in a way solidified my healing and godly stance towards him thereby allowing me to forgive him easily and also love him with the love of God.

After I was out of the Washroom and was listening to these comments being made, I thought how in the absence of the work done on my heart by God, the same situation would be too traumatizing and full of heartache for me, because first these people (both him and Glory) talk using others which I find very annoying, and then, without God, it would've been very hard for me to accept the fact that I had been publicly stripped several times without me even knowing it!

But as I was boiling milk so it wouldn't get sour, I looked at the revelation in which Jesus struck a wooden stake through His own heart that came out from the other side. I saw that such a being loved me. That Jesus was that person who would do such a thing out of His great love for me, that I already had the perfect and great love of God. And this knowledge and that revelation helped me to develop the same quality in my own self. It's easy to inculcate a quality in oneself that's exhibited by someone close to one.

Also, I saw how the messengers tried to portray that the situation was all under their control. And while boiling milk I re-realized that God was the one in control, and that I knew Him and was His servant, and that it was His narrative that mattered.

Aaja abhi bhi mudkar.. Yeshu bula raha hai..
Aaja abhi bhi mudkar.. Yeshu bula raha hai..

Knowing the same, I also knew that I had an advantage over the situation in the sense that I didn't need to feel ashamed of anything regardless of what I went through.

And somewhere above, I saw:
Death Conqueror dressed in a white tunic set moving backwards as he says smiling: Mein tere layak nahi hu. Mein tere layak nahi hu.

As I wrote the previous sentence, I heard:
Aaja abhi bhi mudkar.. Yeshu bula raha hai..
Varna ye yaad karle, tera hi naash hoga..

Towards the end of writing the above, I saw:

- Death Conqueror in a white tunic and I lie hugging each other on my bed as he is kissing me and moving on top of me in brief intercourse. God has created this image of him of being a fat infant in my brain. So I keep calling him Chota Baccha which now reminds me of the dream revelation in which I was sitting holding Glory sideways in a park setting along with Rakhi and was lovingly calling him Chota Baccha and it had come as a surprise to me when I had the revelation.

I don't keep grudges. I am a highly reciprocating person when it comes to love-filled bonds.

And then I was hearing after I was over inside the washroom:

- Kartika teri delivery ho chuki hai.

- You 'love' me Kartika. You 'love' me.: says tiny KA dressed in a white tunic in a small-framed vision of about 3 inches or lesser in dimension.

4:50
After writing the above, I felt like sleeping so I lay with closed eyes to fall asleep, but then I had the following revelation:

- The face of Death Conqueror dressed in a white cotton tunic above mine as he's biting the left side of my upper lip.

I fall asleep but am not able to sleep properly as the lights are still on. So after a while, I get up and decide to have my dinner which would serve as my energy meal before I would wake up the next day so I won't wake up feeling without energy. I have my meal and as I'm heating it, I see:

- A short-heighted KA in a white tunic set stands facing me as he says to me: Mein tere 'hee' layak hu. Mein tere 'hee' layak hu!

- Zinda ho gya. Zinda ho gya. Zinda ho gya.

After I've had my meal, I feel like having the dark chocolate I have. As I begin having it, I hear: Mein cut raha hu. Mein cut raha hu. Reminding me of the vision from yesterday in which square checks appeared on the horizontally erected genitalia of Death Conqueror at the end of which he said: Mein cut gaya! As I am about to finish my chocolate, I hear: Mein cut gaya. Mein tere pyaar mein cut gaya. Mein tere pyaar mein cut gaya. Well, I never used such language before and I will not use it in real life as well I know. I don't know the reason but it doesn't come naturally to me.

After a while of having the chocolate as I continue writing the revelations, I hear:

- Mein cut rahi hu. Mein cut rahi hu. Mein cut rahi hu. followed after a while by Mein cut gayi.
- Amir Khan dressed in multilayered woollen clothes with a green striped and patterned woollen cap on his head sitting outside in snowy cold on the ground on his feet on vertically folded knees facing to the left as he is rubbing his palms together.
- I hug the short cute fellow tightly on my bed and keep him warm.
- The upper half of Death Conqueror in a dark background as he shouts: I Love Youu!

Saiyaara mein saiyarra, saiyarra tu saiyarra
Sitaaro ke jahan mein, milenge ab yara.

- Death Conqueror dressed in a plain white cotton tunic set fiercely moves in and out of me.

I will go to sleep now. I have to work on Masting this week. I've resumed my work after long and I feel internally motivated to do so as well.

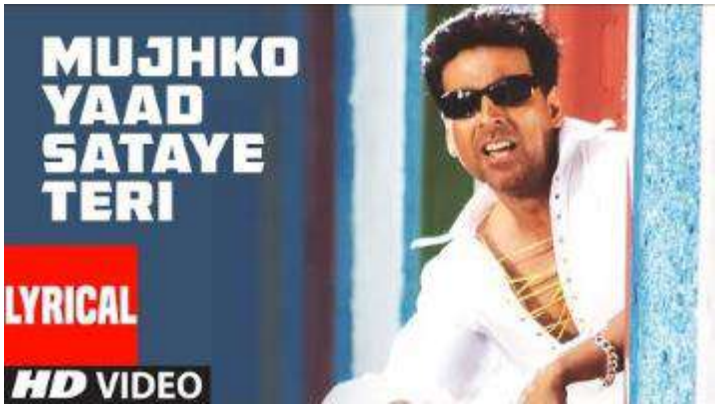
Afternoon

Vision (Last night): A lady's voice is repeating something related to one's body being touched (Badan ko chu. Badan ko chu. Badan ko chu.) when the voice is followed by an obese lady police officer dressed in her beige police clothes: a half-sleeved shirt tucked inside beige pants sitting on her bike with a much leaner and slimmer woman dressed in a long black tunic with a purple head wrap on her head sitting behind her with both her legs towards the direction away from the viewer. The slim lady is carrying a bag on her right shoulder and is to be dropped to her class while the obese lady looks bold and protective as she drives her bike in the left direction in the open daylight.

Dream (Morning): Towards the end of this dream, I am telling a moustached guy dressed in a suit standing in front of a wall with a child beside him that I can sleep on the floor and don't need a bed.

Vision (Morning): Death Conqueror separates and stands apart from Akhila with a distance of about half a meter between them.

I was writing an email to my supervisor when I heard the following song play in my Spirit.
Mujhko Yaad Sataye Teri Lyrical Video Song | Phir Hera Pheri | Akshay Kumar, Rimi Sen



Revelation while resting:

- She's responding to you.. She's responding to you..: As I'm responding to what I'm hearing as I lay on my bed.
- As I lay on my bed with closed eyes: Aa raha hu Kartika mein tujhe kiss karne. Aa raha hu Kartika mein tujhe kiss karne.
- A vertically straight yellow filament bulb with the figure of the upper half of a man with the face of Glory having the same shape as that of the bulb flashing momentarily in its place.
- Come close. Come close. Come close.: Apparently, I'm saying this to the voice (supposedly Death conqueror's) that I'm hearing near the ceiling because I want to hear it from a close distance. I want to feel a closer presence.

- You love me a lot Kartika. You love me a lot Kartika.
- You're responding to me. You're responding to me. You're responding to me.: As I lay on my bed with closed eyes feeling the sensations caused by the drones, I'm reminded of the following part from the dream revelation My Roommate in a Cream Green Ethnic Set written on 1st March of this year on Page 279:
  Perhaps I was out of the washroom when I stood outside and found her lying on her bed in the opposite direction with her eyes closed. She was breathing heavily as her belly moved. It looked like she was aroused while having an imaginary experience, still dressed in that ethnic dress. I ignored her as I have been doing since she started behaving weirdly after she started her affair (with the dual-eyed criminal). That dress was thick and covered her properly and exposed no part of her belly and shoulders.

  Her dressing sense:
  In this dream, I saw my roommate dressed in a solid thick cream ethnic dress with green leaf-like structures embroidered on it. The dress had an outer meshy and shiny fabric look all over it. The dress top had the lower half of an asymmetrical hexagon (wider at the top) as its neck design, and had 3/4th sleeves. The lower was wide-legged giving it an exceptional look, and because the dress material was thick and heavy, the lower retained its shape. She was roaming inside the room in it with her hair open.

  Well, her trousers from the dream revelation now made me notice my own wide-legged Jeans that retains its shape as I walk.

  While I was the above, this song began playing in continuation with the other songs.

  Ronan Keating - When You Say Nothing At All

  And as it played, I saw:
- I am dancing happily with a lean and thin short-heighted person with the face of Glory in the centre of my room in a duet holding him close to me. The face then changed to Death Conqueror's and then back to Glory. The face fluctuated between the two.

  When I went out to withdraw money as I had almost run out of cash, I noticed that I was filled with resentment on stepping out. While being inside my room, I was mostly filled with love and good feelings but when I stepped outside the building, I didn't feel good as I came across different people whom I knew that they knew about my situation and it was making me feel awkward, and then they serve as messengers as well. A real person feels awkward when one sees real-life actors all around. Likewise, a real-life actor would feel awkward when there are real people everywhere.

I don't feel any anger, hate or resentment towards Death Conqueror when I'm inside my room, but rather I feel what I wrote in the previous revelations. I feel a sense of intimacy with him but when I step outside, as I come across people, my heart hardens and I get refilled with hard feelings for him whatever I was feeling inside the room is no longer there but I become very much judgmental of right from wrong because I'm seeing a variety of personas around that are not based in morality and authenticity and it evokes righteous judgement inside of me. But as soon as I enter my room again, I've nothing to judge but only have the person who is the object of love in my mental space, so those hard feelings dissolve away. And I noticed in the dept as well. I got filled with hard feelings for him when I was in the dept with people, but when I was back to my room, I had this supple heart state again for him! I couldn't understand how could I exhibit these two very different states in different conditions. One explanation that I can come up with for this mental flip that I experience is me being in a somewhat isolated environment in my room where I am easily able to look at things from a distance and put them away from me which allows me to easily forgive what he did or is still doing. But whenever I step out, I have to face the outer world and it comes at me with all sorts of things that don't make sense to me or seem foolish or come across as something that I count as wicked and I feel uncomfortable. But inside I don't have to deal with the outer world and so I experience an immediate flip in my heart-state.

When I was in the dept last Friday, as I saw Deepak sitting in the room, I was so triggered again because he is a person who is so full of deceit and says anything and doesn't exhibit a consistent moral sense. So I asked him if his room wasn't changed yet following which he left immediately. But even after he left, I ended up crying again and then I was in a bad state for the next half an hour and was still feeling down as I was having mixed feelings, when my supervisor called me and I got distracted by the discussion. I felt righteous anger and distant from the short fellow while I was in the dept and I was under a lot of stress. But when I entered my room in the evening, I saw my heart change in an instance and I was now feeling this poke to go into rest.

The Holy Spirit is the best messenger and He doesn’t cause me any stress to me because the Spirit is not acting but is saying the truth as it is.

The Lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse, tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse, tu kyu maane na..

Also, when I'm outside, I come across messenger women who are either dressed in unholy ways which make me feel disgusted, or are either dressed holy but don't have the godly character as I can sense apparent shallowness in them which again makes me feel disgusted, and disgust is stressful. It's a negative emotion.

Further revelations while resting during the day:

- The naked upper half of Glory with his fingers joined together placed on my groin covering it as he sits with closed eyes with his face turned to his left which reminds me of the revelations from the previous day in which he stood stuck to the diamond pea.

Hasle. Gale. Ye din na milenge kal..
Thodi khushiya. Hai thode se ye pal.

- A naked Jacob is lying on top of a woman with her hair tied low at the back in intercourse as a naked Edward picks up white blank sheets of paper from a slab along with empty white plates.

While cleaning earlier during the day:
The lady sings:
Har pal naseeb hua hai.. Uski rehmat hai..
Usne din jode hai zindagi mein.. Uska maksad hai..

Isse pehle ke hissab ho, sudhaar jau..
Anant ke liye kuch inaam kaam jau..

Har pal naseeb hua hai.. Uski rehmat hai..
Usne din jode hai zindagi mein.. Uska maksad hai..

The above lines are the highlight of the song revelation.

As I am nearing the end of the stairs to my floor after having withdrawn money, having inquired about my clothes that I gave to the laundry and having bought two boiled eggs and a small Mirinda, I hear and see:

- The crying upper half of Mrittunjay as he looks at me and says: Sorry Kartika. Sorry Kartika. Sorry Kartika.

Immediately as I step on my floor, I receive a call from the laundry guy who seems to be upset about something.

Vision (late night): Akhila is lying naked on her right side beside me against the wall facing me and then I have this momentary thought of hugging her out of a sense of intimacy and not fleshly lust but I quickly brush it aside because she should be dressed ideally. I can't recall why I brushed the thought aside but I do remember that I saw it as something wrong. To me, indulging fleshy is equivalent of building intimacy with that person. It's an intimate act of bonding. And I only kept it reserved for my partner of commitment and not random people. And I can't have this expression of intimacy with her because she is a woman and not my partner of covenant commitment, but the vision could still represent a metaphoric expression of inner intimacy. Or it could be labelled as well. But the above is what I saw.

Page 584.

05 November 2023
12:43

Revelations from yesterday:

- (morning) A small-framed vision of Shane Filan dressed in a blue Sherwani embroidered in silver as he says looking at me: We love you..
- (night) A small-framed upper-half of Chaaru dressed in her yellow suit hitting the top of my head with a rod as she says in an investigative and confirming tone: You love him!? You love him!?
- (night) The face of Chaaru with eyes opened by just a few mm's as she flutters her eyes with her eyeballs turned upwards revealing only the white of her eyes through the vertically narrow slits.

I slept early last night as I wasn't feeling in my head. And I held fast to my square cushion as I was falling asleep. I then saw:

- The upper half of Death Conqueror looking at me as he says: That's me. That's me. That's me. It repeated after a while.
- A tall and wide Glory dressed in Jesus attire of off-white tunic set with a red drape on top carrying a stubble and wavy hair reaching until mid of his neck sits on the skyblue rack beside my table looking in my direction while I lie on the bed and says smilingly: Pyaar ho raha hai.. Pyaar ho raha hai..
- It is accompanied by the scene of a song in which Amitabh Bachchan is singing: Ye kya ho raha hai are ye kya ho raha hai.. Ye kya ho raha hai are ye kya ho raha hai.. He's interjecting between the hero and heroine, in response to which the heroine sings: Kuch nahi kuch nahi.. Pyaar ho raha hai.
- The vision of the wavy-haired Glory saying the phrase while looking smilingly at me repeats a few times intermittently within a span of less than half an hour.
- A happy Death Conqueror with pink love hearts in front of His eyes standing against my room's Psalm 34:4-5 wall dressed in a white cotton tunic as he says: She's responding to me. She's responding to me. followed by him squishing his genitalia even more.
- The upper half of Death Conqueror in a dark background says to me: I love you, but his voice seems to be resembling Sanjay Sir's. He actually carries a bit of his look if one looks at how Sanjay Sir looked during his early years.
- This 'I love you' repeats a few times intermittently as I continue lying on bed.

Dream Fulfilment

Recall: The Globe dream from Page 563. Last Friday on 3rd October I had a discussion with my supervisor in which she gave me an exercise to obtain some graphs for regions corresponding to different longitude and latitude positions.

Dream 1 (Morning):

I am in a room with cream walls and it has a plant pot with a single dark green stem of cactus (about 2-3 inches wide) standing vertically straight with two shorter 2-3 inches wide stems of a lighter green colour beside it. I keep pouring water on the cactus for I find the soil too dry and see that it needs water. It keeps absorbing everything that's given to it as I pour water over it several times, making me even more of it, and it keeps growing as well with more water being poured on it and I feel happy about it as I'm doing something good. It finally suddenly grows into a weird beige animal with a camel-like hairy face and several long tail-like hairy structures protruding out and comes out of the vase it was planted in. It doesn't seem safe to me but volatile though its expression are funny. It seems scary to me as I wasn't expecting the cactus to grow into that hairy creature with several tails and I can tell that it is going to attack me, perhaps not in a violent way but in some sense it seems unsafe. I quickly move away from the animal now that it has grown to its full extent and is quite unpredictable as we don't know how it's going to behave. I exit the room straight into a corridor and have now moved to being several meters away from the door. Right to the left of the room in the corridor lies another room inside which, apparently my mom is sitting on a double bed with her back resting against a wall and her legs stretched out and crossed over one another on the bed. The door to her room is left open. The creature walks out of the room in its mast chaal. and I see that it has a camel-like long neck, wide-eyes and it carries a smile, and its several flesh tail extensions bounce in the air as its walking on all fours in my direction. It emanates a raw childlike persona where it will seemingly cause harm to anyone it comes across. It turns to the open door of my mom's room which scares me as I feel that it may hurt her. I get a hold of the creature by one of its long extended tails and push it out of the room and rotate it around by that long tail itself so it doesn't get to come too close to me. That's how I'm now controlling the creature - by one of his long extended tails. I am successfully able to lock the creature alone in a room so it doesn't cause a ruckus around. I feel a bit relieved. I now move to another room and it has a wall full of windows cojoined with the room of the creature. So, now I have this additional task of checking if all the windows being shared with the animal that was previously a plant are closed. There are several transparent windows between us and I'm going through all of them making sure that all are bolted up. I find that some don't have a horizontal extension to hold the mall rod to bold it down, so I have to struggle a bit closing the windows. While I am doing so, I see the creature's smiling brown mouth pressed against the window in front of me as it's looking at me and is trying to peek out of the glass panes. Fortunately I find all windows closed and I bolt the open ones up (or down). There's a door towards the end of that pane of windows which connects the creature's room to the room I am in. I see the animal through the window panes moving towards the door but I've already made sure that is's locked.

- A voice says: Kartika I'm pleased with you.. I'm pleased with you..
- Kartika, sab reject karne waale hai! Sab reject karne waale hai!

Revelations during the brief waking period after dream 1:

- Jesus in his full-length off-white attire with a red drape on top, having a stubble and neck-length hair extends out an infant fully wrapped in white as He says: I'm giving it to you. Handle with care. Take utmost care of it.

The act of Jesus bending a bit and extending forward a tiny infant wrapped fully in a white cloth with the cloth running over even its head repeats several times in a row as He says:
While I'm holding the square cushion in my arms, the following song lyrics play: I'm giving it to you. Take utmost care of it.

- Can you feel the love…? Can you feel the love…?

- This is love. This is love. This is love..
  As I lie on my left side holding the pillow:
- I see the vision of a man's chest dressed in a white tunic breathing slowly an inch away from mine. The vision flashes itself a few times.
  As I lie straight on my back:
- The back of a man in a white tunic lying on me as he is breathing on top of me. He is lying facing upwards on top of me.

Dream 2 (Morning):

I am in a hall and my mom is present with me as well. There is a square Indian-style washroom co-joined with the right end of the hall's wall and the washroom exits into the open through another door present across the entry door through the hall. Outside the washroom I see a white convertible standing facing to the left and a person behind me suggests that I could be dropped to my place if I needed a lift. I've to use the washroom to pee so I close both the doors and sit with vertically folded knees on that India-style toilet.

The next part of the dream has me in our rented home in my hometown in the Cheema colony. This home was the first one present to the right as one entered the narrow street. I am in the first room of the home which is the most spacious one as well, but it has a different setting than what we had. It has a double bed resting against the wall with the showcase. To the right of the bed as one looks at it while standing right in front of it facing it lies a vertical dark brown wooden bookrack, while when one stands facing in the opposite direction (along the direction of the extension of the bed), there are two vertical wardrobes present to the right (diametrically opposite to the bookrack). I can sense the weird resentful behavior of my dad. I don't feel safe around him. First, he grabs a green broom lying above the rightmost wardrobe and the broom has its holding stick partially broken towards the end as he's waving it in front of me to hurt me. But I successfully evade it. I see my middle brother Himanshu lying on that side of the bed and I am concerned about him as well in the dream as I can sense that he is not safe either. I want to warn him about the same. I walk around a bit and am back to the side of the wardrobe standing between the window panes and the double bed facing the wardrobes as my dad now comes at me with an injection held in his hand. I notice that the injection has its needle just fully inside the narrow tube and is not protruding out but still, it can cause me harm if it hits me. Why does he want to hit me with an injection though its needle is not protruding out? I get a hold of his hand and successfully block his attempt again. He leaves the room. I again walk around a bit and go to the other side of the bed with the bookrack and talk to my mom for a while as well as I move around. Her behavior seems safe to me. While I am still standing near the bookrack. The room has two doors. One of the doors is present on the right end of the wall at the intersection of the direction of the face of the bookrack and the sides of the wardrobes present on the far end of the room. This internal door is the connecting point between the room and the closed square verandah which has the home's kitchen present on the left as one exits the room and a washbasin and the washrooms on the opposite end. Opposite this internal door lies the door to the smaller room of the home that further had two internal separations of a small sore room and a verandah at the back with a grilled top through which came in sunlight. The other door of the spacious room lies across the internal door and exits into a rectangular verandah with a gardening strip present along it at the other end of it to the right of the main entrance gate and right in front of the entrance gate lies a long corridor (to be used as parking space) that runs beside the spacious room and leads one to the common verandah with the kitchen and washroom space. (I explained this home in detail because this home has repeated itself in a few dreams by now and I may need to reuse the specifications.)

The next time that my dad comes walking in the room through the internal door as I stand beside the bookrack, he is wearing just a blue underwear of the size of boxer shorts and has his hand holding his genitalia as he stops after the first step inside the room. This behavior seems a gross violation of boundaries to me and I again ignore it as I feel uneasy around him though he's not carrying a violent expression but an intense one as he energetically steps in the room. He says something with a smile and leaves again.

As I wrote the above, I had the following revelations.

- The guy sings:
  Muskurane ki wajah tum ho..
  Gungunane ki wajah tum ho..
  Jiya jaye na jaye na jaye na, O re piyaa re..
  Jiya jaye na jaye na jaye na, O re piyaa re..

- The smiling upper half of KA until his shoulders dressed in a white tunic says with filled eyes: That's me. That's me.

- O re lamhe tu kahi mat ja…
  Ho sake to umar bhar tham ja..
  Jiya jaye na jaye na jaye na, O re piyaa re..
  Jiya jaye na jaye na jaye na, O re piyaa re..

The Dream Continued:

I can now feel that I am not safe around my dad in the dream, so I am already havin these thoughts of leaving home. My parents then make the point that I rest a lot, that I just want to rest and sleep in response to which I say that my situation is as such. I need to rest as I mentally fatigues easily and quickly. They don't seem to have an empathetic attitude towards my situation. They keep pointing out one thing or other. Though my mom is not seeming as unsafe as my dad, she still asks me questions that reflect the fact that she's questioning my character. I explain to her that the convertible parked outside the washroom was suggested to me to use as a help to be dropped to my workplace though I wouldn't use it as I hardly take lifts. She misunderstands and questions further that how could I go and sit in a randomly parked car just like that (for that's what prostitutes do). I explain to her again that I did not sit in that car but that I was suggested by a person that I could board that vehicle as it must be of a person from the department. Looking at the vehicle it seemed that it was meant for that purpose as it stood there idly. But she takes time to understand me and I have to repeat the same thing a few times. So we have these altercations as we are arguing and I am explaining my side to my mom. I then find myself packing my clothes in the smaller bedroom of the home (painted in white) as my mom still stands with me and is saying things.

This reminded me of the kind of arguments I used to have with her back when we were living in the hometown. She would make huge points about little things. For instance, I used a lift from Sakshi's brother on bike as I sat behind her for we had to leave together and I shared it casually with my mom and she made a huge point of the same. It seemed to me as if, of all, only my mom was so nitpicky as I observed the relationships of my friends with their moms which was very much friendly! (I'm so glad for the bond I have with my mom at this point because of the work of God in my life.) Likewise, when I used to walk daily in the morning with Renuka back during my high school to the point our school bus picked us up from, this day she was with her brother on a bike and she asked me if I would join her and I agreed and sat behind them. (Every morning, she used to come to my home and we used to leave together to walk to the bus stop because we found good company and it sort of served as a situation that kept me from getting late as I had to get ready before she would arrive and ring the bell. She was a short-heighted, lean, slim and an underweight girl but she was the topper of the previous school she was enrolled in. She had transferred to my school in the 11th class.) When I told my mom, again casually, about how I joined Renuka on the bike with her brother in the morning as perhaps she was late and I was waiting for her, my mom made a huge issue about the same as told me that my own dad could've left me. She gave several stupid reasons, but I knew that it was a normal thing and her brother too emanated a righteous boundaries aura. She complained about this to my dad and he scolded me and said something to me in a tone that seemed too fake to me ending the sentence with: Aur agar ye nhi ho sakta to apna muh kala kar aur bahar nikal yaha se! This had seemed a very foolish statement to me and it didn't make any sense to me and he said it quickly in a go in a casual tone, unlike the times when he was really angry. This other time I happened to smile in the direction of my mom while she was standing near the entrance gate with a vegetable vendor as the guy from the first floor's family stepped down the stairs in front of me. He had to go outside for some reason. Again, my mom made a huge issue of it saying that I was smiling at that guy and then she had a habit of recalling everything else whenever she pointed out one thing. This day, Diwakar, the guy who fooled me on the first day of my first class, came to my home to return my file or some notes he had borrowed. It was his good self because I needed it before a certain time and had further work to do. My mom, again, made an issue of the same! He could've returned it in the school as well but I had to do work before I went to school and he had made this point to me beforehand that if he wasn't able to return it in time in school as he was often running late in his work, he would come to my home and return it, and that's why I gave it to him because he looked very much serious while making that statement. She always pointing out these normal situations of my interactions with other people as something immoral and she often made it about my character and threatened to complaint about the same to my dad. I never liked this about her in the past though she's not like that. This other day we were all waiting together for perhaps school bus to pick us up and perhaps we were late, when a guy from out school came driving by in his car and one of us (not me) knew him and therefore asked him to drop us to the school. He did and again, my mom made an issue. Just a small additional detail: I had 10 Rupees in my pocket that day that fell in his car in response to which Nupur jokingly said that I paid him the fare. This particular detail was highlighted to me some time back but I didn't write about it.)

The Dream Continued: They seem to have formed an impression of me of being morally loose in character while it was my dad who was behaving in those ways and all I was doing was evading him. They don't seem to understand the repercussions of the situation of having the tiny spy drones around me but they're making me look like the one at fault. Because of these arguments, I am now packing my clothes as my mom still stands beside me saying something to me. It's now that I hear some people arrive and go to attend them at the entrance gate and find that it's dark now. It seems to be a family and there are three people standing there, one of whom is a tall Sardarji with a pink turban who's standing in the middle with a woman beside him. He tells me that they've come from Uttam Nagar. (Now, there's no place in my hometown called Uttam Nagar, but it makes me think of Delhi as it has an area by the same name.) The trio seem friendly and of a normal countenance unlike my dad. The Sardarji says a few more things. It seems that they already knew about how I was feeling unsafe in my home so had come to my rescue at that night hour. Their car is parked right in front of my home's main entrance door with its head facing towards the street's/colony's exit and the Sardarji goes and sits inside at the back seat as he tells me that he would sitting there only if I had to leave or needed some help. He doesn't have any ulterior motive other than to ensure my safety. At this stage in the dream, I'm witnessing the good side of the Indian society, which reminds me of the other dream that too had a Sardarji dropping in a car lit internally in Magenta light when I reached the door of my to leave the same after getting a severe beating from my dad because my mom complained to my dad showing a doodle I had made at the inner corner of on the pages inside the diar, in response to which I said: Doodle karna to normal hai, which made him angry.

Coming back to the dream, as I continue standing near the main entrance of the home observing the situation outside, another group of people comes around and this one is different with a lean and clean-shaven guy with a slightly conical face dressed in a shiny black sports tracksuit standing out as he is explaining something to me. He seems to be of the same height as me and has wavy hair combed sideways reaching until slightly below his ears, and stands with his back towards me, his body slightly tilted in my direction on the left side and his head turned to the left side in my direction as he looks at me. These new people don't seem like a threatening presence to me either, and I know them as well. The guy says a few things followed by telling me to go and just lie down ('Jao Let jao.') which also reminds me of what my supervisor told me: Just close your eyes and lie down. He doesn't look like a threatening presence and from his words, I understand that he must be suggesting me to go lie down for he understands my situation and that I need rest. (But when I wrote this part of the dream, other explanations came to me as well.) My mom comes out to talk with those people as well. And then I see a group of ladies dressed in shiny and stoned ethnic tunic sets come and surround her as they're trying to convince her of something. I spot a fair lady (shorter than me) dressed in a shiny black tunic set with stonework around its front with her hair tied the back and her cheeks having marks left by pimples. They all have surrounded her near the gardening strip as she stands with her upper half and head bent backwards a bit as she's resisting the lady's attempts to persuade her about something.

I am now back inside the home with my mom and we are now walking together side by side with a distance of about one or two meters between us along the bed's end with as my dad stands to the side behind us and says: Waise kuch jyada farak to nhi hai.. which makes me think what is it that he's comparing for I can clearly see that my mom is an obese lady while I have a normal BMI. The follow-up scene has my mom sitting on the bed under a quilt with her legs outstretched as my dad is saying something this time with a seemingly normal countenance though I'm still wary of him because of how he behaved in the past. Pointing to my mom, he looks at me and says to me with a smile with his upper half bent by a bit: Saari raat neend nhi ayi mujhe iske saath! He is letting me know he couldn't sleep with my mom for the entire night. He has never talked like this before so it seems weird. He doesn't have to tell me about his time with my mom as that's their marriage bond. As he says this, I look at my mom lying on the bed with the quilt covering her obese belly and the shape of her small triangular breasts visible through the blue and white tunic she's wearing and then the dream ends.

Revelations post waking up:

I'm still half asleep and lying on my right side when I see:

- The infant wrapped in white that Jesus extended to me in the vision I had post the first dream this morning moves towards my lips through the air as he drops brief kisses on them with his lips open in a cute oval shape. He doesn't seem to resemble any specific person but the shape and texture of his lips in that vision reminds me of the vision in which I slept with an open mouth wrapped in a printed green cloth with a muscular man (supposedly Glory) on top of me. In that vision, I had short hair of my natural texture that reached a few inches below my ears, and my lips made an oval shape as I slept deeply with my mouth open.
- A lady pours out opaque pink water from a bucket on the head of Death Conqueror drenching him fully in it.
- He sits on the floor against a wall with his skin shrunken because of the effect of the water and the colour has stuck to his skin and all of him is pink now.
- He keeps sitting on the floor being drenched in that pink fluid.
- The upper half of Glory points at the cushion and says: That's me.. He changes to KA and says: That's me.. He changes to Death Conqueror now as he says: That's me..
- Can you feel the love…? Can you feel the love…?
- I lie straight with the cushion held by my right side when I see a tall KA in a black t-shirt worn over black trousers pointing to the cushion with a serious expression and filled eyes and say: That's me. That's me. That's me. as he takes a few steps backwards and stands against the Psalm 34:4-5 wall.

He is then pinned to the wall with his front pressed against it by an invisible force with his arms raised and resting in a surrender position against the wall.

Somewhere during the above revelatory flow:

- The face of Death Conqueror with overgrown frizzy hair comes at me from above and drops brief kisses on my lips accompanied by a voice saying: Mrittunjay is kissing you, Kartika. Mrittunjay is kissing you, Kartika.

  After I was done writing the above, I heard the lady sing: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

  And he kept dropping kisses on my lips for a while. A voice says in affirmation: I did that.
- Somewhere in the above revelatory flow: The baby is happy with you.
- Somewhere in the above revelatory flow, the following lyrics come to me by themselves as I am singing them to Mrittunjay: Look into my eyes..

  (Everything I Do) I Do It For You (Official Music Video)

As I pasted the above song, I heard: Kartika, I'm happy.

A lady outside says: Mandir nahi gayi..? Mandir nahi gayi..? Mandir to jana chahiye na beta..! Apparently, she's saying it to her daughter inside the apartment but it was meant for me to listen.

- A while she's gone, the following worship song is highlighted to me: 'Pavitra Atma ka Mandir Hu Mein..'.

After a while of listening to the song twice, I see:

- A disposable plastic water bottle with horizontal circular stripes with a rectangular tag strip running around its centre with the thumbnail of the song's video printed on it along with the lyric 'Pavitra Atma ka Mandir hu Mein..'

- A black snake with a head which is an amalgamation of the snake's head and Death Conqueror's face crawls up on my upper half inside my t-shirt through its round neck accompanied by the phrase: The Mrittunjay Snake. The Mrittunjay Snake. The Mrittunjay Snake.
- The snake crawls inside my lingerie, first in the flat hairy centre (as is shown in the vision) between my breasts and then is represented as a tiny beige spy drone which because of its size easily makes its way on top of my breast as the tiny (less than an mm in dimension) drone sits on top of its nipple.
- The follow-up vision has the head of the snake on my nipples one after the other, accompanied by the phrase: Graduation Milk. Graduation Milk. Graduation Milk.
  As I wrote the above: Can you feel the love…? Can you feel the love…? This is love. This is love. This is love..
- Kitne armaan maan.. maan maan.. Jaage tere vaste soniye..

Revelation from one of the two sets above post waking up the respective dreams:

- A trouser soaked in dipped in a bucket filled with blue paint taken out and held straight by someone's hands.
- The back-view of a woman dressed in a light yellowish tunic with long wet and curly hair extending below her waist.

****

Past Revelations

- (Past two weeks) 'It's a blood-soaked love letter'. The phrase is accompanied by the vision of a hand holding a crumpled page drenched entirely in blood.
- (Past week) I see the vision as a third person: Death Conqueror's hands slide up on me inside my lingerie as he presses against them followed by me putting my hands on top of his as I'm pressing against his hands.
- (Within the past week) The front left side view of a lady driving a white scooty with RK sitting behind her being dressed in a neck-high t-shirt inside a blue shirt checkered in white as he looks ahead from one side. Both of them are wearing helmets.
- (Within the past week) A dagger hits the top of my groin repeatedly.
- (Within the Past week) The upper half of Einstein in a black background as he is moving his finger around his nose and fiddling with mucus.
- (Past week)
- (Past few days) The bottom-view of Death Conqueror dressed in a light blue sherwani embroidered in silver coming at me with a rod held in both his hands carrying a violently furious expression.
- (Past two days) The semi-animated small-framed vision of a very tall SRK of height about 6 feet or more standing dressed in a full-sleeved green shirt tucked inside jeans with a protruding lower belly as he shows his back to the viewer while rotating clockwise towards the viewer revealing the convex curve of his lower belly followed by turning his back towards the viewer again.
- (Past two days) Tujhe to vo aisi laat marega ki tu yaad rakhegi. Tujhe to vo aisi laat marega ki tu yaad rakhegi.
- The chorus of the following song has been playing in my Spirit for the past few days:

'Cause I want it all or nothing at all

There's nowhere left to fall when you reach the bottom, it's now or never
Is it all, or are we just friends?
Is this how it ends, with a simple telephone call?
You leave me here, with nothing at all..

Source: Internet
All or Nothing - Westlife with Lyrics

- (Past two days) Glory lightly rotating a long-stemmed rose inside my tissue tunnel.

****

Revelations during the rest late evening:

- A naked upper half of a clean-shaven Glory points to the left with a raised arm as he says: Tu us se pyaar karti hai Kartika. Tu us se pyaar karti hai Kartika. Aur vo tere layak nhi hai. You 'love' him Kartika, and he doesn't deserve it. (He's saying this referring to what Mrittunjay did.)
- HRX on an open carriage with two small and furry white dogs attached to it at the front pours an egg mixture contained in an opaque plastic mixture on a pan as he is cooking an omelette on a flame generated through a small cylinder or some other mechanism in that carriage itself.
- The naked upper half of a person with a face resembling an amalgamation of Glory and Death Conqueror above me in a black background as he rips apart a red love heart vertically from the centre in two pieces in one go. The vision repeats a few times.
- The upper half of Sanjay Sir looking at me as he says: We are sorry. We are sorry.
- The view from a few meters of the upper half of Deepak dressed in the yellow cricket uniform attire from the previous vision from Page 576 stands near the entrance to the MSB building of my workplace as he says looking at me: Vo ye sab yaad nhi rakhta. Bhool jao!. Vo ye sab yaad nhi rakhta. Vo ye sab yaad nhi rakhta.
- This time the clear face of Death Conqueror is shown on top of the muscular upper half as he tears apart my red love heart in two pieces in one go. The vision repeats several times.
- Sanjay Sir says: We don't deserve you.
- The tiny group of teachers standing on my room's floor has my supervisor as well who says: Chalo re! We don't deserve her! followed by them moving away from me towards the door. The vision repeats several times!

I don't want to think more about this but want to focus my attention on Jesus in that moment. So I direct my attention to Him so I can see what He has to say. The next thing I see is something very remarkable. I see:

- A very tiny me comes walking towards Jesus who is sitting on a throne and all that's visible in the vision is His huge lower half dressed in full-length off-white tunic with His red drape reaching drown. I had walked to His throne and He was so huge, and me so tiny - about the size of an ant in front of Him. He reached down with a love-filled fiery expression on his black face confirming His love for me.
- The follow-up showed the top view of me standing in front of His throne, this time with other people present around me as well, among which I can recognize from a distance my supervisor Nivedita Deo. I see that they're of the size of an ant when compared to me though I myself am the size of an ant in front of Jesus. I see our relative heights from His view. But I feel glad that they're present there as well.

After I got up from the bed and left my supposed rest, I again began hearing: Can you feel the love…? Can you feel the love…? This is love. This is love. This is love..

Earlier during the day:
Dene lo mujhe jeevan, khud maut sahi usne.. Khud maut sahi usne..
Kya khub hai karunayi. Kya pyaar anokha hai.. Kya pyaar anokha hai.

I felt a nudge to have the Mcdonalds burger I had seen in the hoarding that had KA on it. So I went to the McDonalds in the Swiggy app and found an exclusive KartikAaryan Meal there which lightened me up and then I was happy. It was something unexpected and then it had been about more than a month since I had come across that hoarding. It brightened my evening.

'Cause I want it all or nothing at all
There's nowhere left to fall when you reach the bottom, it's now or never
Is it all, or are we just friends?
Is this how it ends, with a simple telephone call?
You leave me here, with nothing at all..

When I was having The KartikAaryan Meal from McDonalds:

- KA in the yellow and light blue attire from the meal's packaging dancing in the centre of the room in a graceful manner as he rotated around while saying: Kartika, you love me!

While I was having the meal, the name of the meal - The KartikAaryan Meal - caught my attention and reminded me of the revelation of The Mrittunjay Snake from earlier this morning and I wondered if there was a correlation.

Also, as I slid a long fry into my mouth at once, I heard: Rejected in my Spirit followed by an immediate beep of a car horn from a distance.
As I crumpled the bill of the meal and was about to throw it in the dustbin, I recalled how Tejaswi kept the bill of our evening meal together in that rotating restaurant in his wallet because he wanted to save the memory. So, I too thought of saving the bill but then I had already crumpled it. Well, I could still keep it but then I knew that everyone was watching me and I didn't want to look like a fool saving bills and tags. I thought I would save the bill of another The KartikAaryan Meal that I would order after some days because I have a revelation which tells a truth and therefore it's not something immoral that I would be doing by saving the bill. However, if my husband has a problem with it, I may need to throw it because (biblically speaking) the husband is the head over the wife. But if my husband was keeping such a slip, I wouldn't have a problem with him because I would understand that it must mean something to him or captured something important though it's with a different woman but it has to be from a time from before he got married and not after. The slip would serve as a memoir of the McDonalds hoarding revelation in which there was a brown bear with black eyes inside the hear-shape made by his hands on his chest with the heart shape popping in and out of the vision. I was feeling a bit shy to store it.

After having the meal, as I'm moving towards the washbasin, I see:

- KA hugging me happily from behind.
- Kartika Randi, luk tu! Tu malegi mele haathon se!

I then have to pee and I can feel slight bowel movements as well. When I'm just finished peeing, I see:

- The top-view of the commode with the vision of the small-framed logo of KA making a heart-shape on his chest from the McDonalds wrap present on the left side about a feet below the seat as the vision moved slightly to and fro in the manner of a heartbeat.

'Cause I want it all or nothing at all..

Somewhere in the evening, I am thinking about the tiny teachers from my dept that I saw in the previous vision as I want to record who all I saw. As I'm thinking of the same, I saw:

- A tiny Prof Hashmi dressed in a full-sleeved brown shirt tucked inside pants is shown walking to the right.

Dene ko mujhe jeevan, khud maut sahi usne.. Khud maut sahi usne..

Revelations while resting:

I am resting with my legs crossed and I don't want to have any fleshly revelations but I want to rest. After a while, I see:

- A semi-animated Death Conqueror trying to open the outer lobes of my groin. But why should I sin?
- The follow-up vision has Glory around my groin as he says: don't hide this gem Kartika. as he stands near my closed golden groin with the diamond pea inside. Regardless of what they've to say, I've my own brain and moral judgment.

After a while I heard:

- Beautiful. Beautiful. Beautiful.
- KA with his tongue resting on top of my open groin as it has made its way inside.

After a while I begin hearing a voice that said:

- If you don't open your legs and show it, he will die. Vo mar jayega. Vo mar jayega.

Now I didn't know the sense the sentence referred death to. But because of the repetition of Vo Mar Jayega continuing in my Spirit, I felt bad so I was no longer lying crossed legs but in my usual posture that comes naturally to me.

- The voice continued saying that this person was dependent on me for his survival like an infant and it stressed the importance of me extending myself out to him with love.
- After a while, I heard: Ab nahi marega. Ab nahi marega.
- Followed by: Zinda ho gya. Zinda ho gya. Zinda ho gya.

This told me that the person was now not going to face whatever kind of death the sentence spoke about. I understood it as spiritual death because one shouldn't die before one is internally converted to a state that's reconciled with God.

Now, I was wondering how by lying in my normal posture brought that person to life. So the next thing I thought about was the impact or effect it would have on this fellow if my legs were fully horizontally and deliberately separated, and then I received the following revelation.

- A semi-animated vision of my naked lower half with my legs fully horizontally separated with the face of Death Conqueror in front of it. Rays of yellow light came out from my open groin and gave the fellow a jolt throwing him backwards overloading him with energy.
- While writing the above, I saw:
- A stubbled RS with neck-length hair dressed in a sherwani come smiling at me and kiss me lightly.

As I was done writing the above and was thinking about it, I saw:

- My dad dressed in a white tunic set beating me hard who's lying on the floor with a danda.

And then the following lyrics played:

- Dene ko mujhe jeevan, khud maut sahi usne.. Khud maut sahi usne.

Ref: The Worship song Jo cruz pe kurbaan hai.. by Yeshu Ke Geet

Jo Krus Pe Kurbaan Hai (Official Video) Shawn & Shanon | Good Friday Songs 2022 | Yeshu Ke Geet

- Jesus is now standing slightly to the left of His throne with the tiny us in front of Him. I see myself grow in size and become equal to His stature but this time I'm dressed in a sleeveless bridal white dress with a covering on my head. I'm standing facing him and we look happy together. The face of the bride doesn't resemble me though. Others around me grow to His size as well as I see Nivedita Deo grow up to our stature following which she is absorbed into the bride. Likewise, others grow to the stature of Jesus and get absorbed into the bride's body. Everyone gets absorbed into the body of the bride thereby leaving one body standing in front of Jesus.

When I was in the washroom to change lingerie as I had been wearing the same for a few days, I heard the voice continue to say:

- Zinda ho gya. Zinda ho gya. Zinda ho gya.
  Ye use marne nahi degi. Ye use marne nahi degi.
  When I wrote the above, I saw:
- The smiling teary-eyed face resembling both KA and Death Conqueror with snoot hanging from its nose.
- The upper half of my supervisor Nivedita Deo dressed in her usual attire of printed tunic sets smiling at me with a teary-eyed face.
  As I was done writing the above, I saw:
  My supervisor moving away from the viewer as she says: Chalo bhai. Kartika ke paas chalo. She's the best.

The chorus of the following song was highlighted to me a while back.
I'm all out of love.. I'm so lost without you.
I know you were right believing for so long.
I'm all out of love, what am I without you..
I can't be too late, to say that I was so wrong..
I can't be too late, to say that I was so wrong..

[Vietsub+Kara] All Out Of Love - Westlife ft Delta Goodrem [X Factor 18.11.2006]

- Can you feel the love…? Can you feel the love…? Can you feel the love…?
  This is love. This is love. This is love..

Earlier during the day, as I lay on my side, I saw:

- A person stroking my side that's facing upwards with a the top of a long-stemmed red rose. It was either Glory or Death Conqueror. I can't recall who it was because of a generic bodily figure shown with a distinct face.

Sometime earlier during the day as I lay on the bed half asleep, I heard in my Spirit:

- Deliberate after which I woke up.

Past Revelations

- The tip of someone's forefinger scratching at a clitoris.

It was a very brief part of a dream and I forgot about it when I woke up.
Part of a dream (past two days): The dream shows small-framed vision of Benedict Cumberbatch and a few other Hollywood actors (perhaps LDC and KR) as a voice says that they're to be called as eye witnesses for a case being fought.

Past Revelation
(past few days) A lady's voice says: Mein tujhse pyaar karti hu. Aur yehi sacchai hai. It repeats again. Mein tujhse pyaar karti hu. Aur yehi sacchai hai. Apparently, she's saying this to Death Conqueror.

A voice says: Ab ye maregi mere haathon se.

Page 585.

06 November 2023
05:17

From last evening:

The side-view of a blurred lady resembling Akhila sitting on my bed in my posture and writing revelations in her notebook in neat and cursive handwriting. A very apparent neatness and posture can be seen in the way she is sitting and writing things and the aura is different as well but it has nothing to do with her inner self. She is reflecting a soothing outer self and looking at the vision I understand this particular aspect of her personality which was hidden to me before as I didn't perceive it. I looked at my own way of writing things and saw how I was different from the lady being shown in the vision. I don't have any posture or neatness nor does it impress me if there's no ingenuity. I find Pooja from my lab quite impressive because she reflects a righteous and authentic aura to a great extent and then her priorities are different as well. But in this vision, I understood for the first time the magic of neatness in conduct as was displayed to me though I knew that it wouldn't work on me I understood how it was something desirable.

Revelations post waking up:

- Death Conqueror stuffs chapattis in his mouth as a part of a huge meal as he says: Khana mil gaya. Khana mil gaya.
- The front-view of a lean woman dressed in a light blue tunic with a light brown head wrap holds a baby horizontally in her arms covered with a cloth in an open street in the dark. The baby changes to a bloodied version in a flash with the cloth shown as being wet and blood-soaked red as the woman continues to stand in the same posture.

  As I lay on my left side close to the wall:
- Kartika is hugging me. Kartika is hugging me. Kartika is hugging me.
- Can you feel the love…? Can you feel the love…? Can you feel the love…?

  This is love. This is love. This is love..

Earlier during my sleep, I kept waking up as the following revelations kept dropping down in my Spirit.

- A lady's voice says something like: Himanshu pit gaya. Though the words aren't exactly what I heard. This is the meaning that they carried as they talked about him breaking.
- I take a bite of a veg burger and have to extend out my lips a bit to get hold of a small part that may fall down and as I do so I wake up with my mouth making those movements for real.
- Adulteress: Heard in the Spirit.
- I am sitting at the edge on one side of a single foldable bed inside a room lit with dim sunlight as a man is ironing clothes on the other side of the bed. There is a chair lying close to my side on which is sitting a person who's not clearly shown in the vision. I'm looking down at the floor as he's speaking in a voice and way resembling Sanjay Sir's - the way he speaks taking breaks with a lot of thought: You know… I've left her.. And there's always scope for reconsideration. While I'm looking down, I spot grey washroom rubber flip-flops lying on the floor near the chair and the grey doormat. And I'm dressed in a deep red cotton shirt thickly checkered in black.

- My dad dressed in a white tunic set stands beside my bed and hits my legs brutally with a rod in quick repeated motions.

20:17

Past Revelation

- (past week) The upper half of KA looking at me as he says with a self-righteous and resentful expression while looking intermittently to the left: Is paagal ne mujhse itna pyaar kyu kiya!? Is paagal ne mujhse itna pyaar kyu kiya!?
- (past few days) A hand slides down on my right thigh and pushes it horizontally to the side. The vision repeats a few times.
- (past week) The side-view of a lady dressed in the ethnic attire resembling the dancing lady of the Pardesi Pardesi song from the movie *Raja Hindustani i*n a black background as she is sitting on a flat slab with her head covered by a red embroidered and stoned drape as she hops to the left with her left leg stretched forward and her right leg missing as can be made out through her spread heavy red embroidered and stoned Ghagra.

Revelations in the morning before getting out of bed:

- Sanjay Sir in a dim background says pointing at me: You love 'me'..!
- A medium-framed vision of Sanjay Sir dressed in a full-sleeved deep red tunic with a half-jacket on top stands facing in my direction as he holds in his left hand a bouquet of red flowers with a sparse but uniform spread of baby's breath flowers standing out on top of the red flowers while swinging them towards me as he stops for a while at the end of the swing in my direction while moving the bouquet to and fro sideways.

After I was done writing the above revelation, I saw:

- The side-view of Sanjay Sir dressed in the same attire as that of the revelation above as he stands facing to the left with his head lifted up and his genitalia erected and apparently inserted inside a translucent tunnel as he says: Kartika, I love you! The short fellow is responsible for this heart state of his!

I was standing in front of the washbasin as I was doing the basic morning self-refreshment chore, and perhaps I was cleaning my nose in the morning after brushing my teeth when I heard in my Spirit:

- Kartika tu pehle bhi mere layak nhi thi, aur ab bhi mere layak nhi hai. Tu pehle bhi mere layak nhi thi, aur ab bhi mere layak nhi hai.

The Guy sings: It's amazing how you can speak right to my heart.

When I was busy packing my bag and getting ready to partially bath in the morning, I saw:

- A small-framed vision of the fat immoral middle man from Vijay Nagar Single Storey looking at me as he says: Dhokha hone wala hai tere saath. Dhokha hone wala hai bahut bada tere saath aaj.

It keeps repeating intermittently throughout the day.

After I'm dressed for the workplace, I hear:

- A joyful Glory says: Sundari se milke ata hu. Sundari se milke ata hu. which reminds me of the dream revelation in which he came riding on a bike dressed in a top striped in red with the horizontal outline of his black vest visible through the top as he rode with a puffed chest with an overweight moustached man sitting beside him. In that dream, I was dressed in a white shirt. So, I think perhaps this is the day.

I reach my lab post noon and find Rakhi, Naveen, Shagun, and Parag there and the environment seems so much better without Deepak who was always saying demeaning things about me to me, either directly or indirectly, and made it highly difficult for me to sit in that room.

I begin to work and am able to progress in my own way as I gain an understanding of things. I see that I am still the past me. I still carry huge fragments from my past way of thinking and I don't seem to be lagging too much or to have lost too much of the way I thought or did things but the problem I was facing was that of a heavy head as the drones moved inside my skull making me quickly feel fatigued and drowsy and serving as a distraction.

Rakhi and Naveen behind me are talking about our colleague Vivek who also works under our supervisor as they say: Vivek aa rha hai aaj. Vivek aa rha hai aaj. They've to complete a chore together perhaps. After a while of their comment dropping in my ears, I see:

- The bottom view of a HUGE Vivek dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt untucked over dark blue denim jeans as he's looking down at the viewer with lowered eyes. He is a tall and dark guy and in the vision, he was shown as having sideburns and a slight beard around the edges of his face while he looked down.

The vision of a HUGE Vivek repeats several times in my Spirit.

After a while of working, I get a nudge to go to the canteen and have a burger, and when I've turned towards The Royal Canteen on the open path to its right, I see:

- The side-view of Vivek dressed in the attire from the previous vision as he stands facing a lightly bearded Jesus with neck-length hair dressed in a full-length white tunic with a drape and who is standing on the left side while Vivek stands on the right as he puts a garland of flowers around Jesus' neck with both hands.
  The vision repeats and this time Jesus is shown to have Glory's bearded face with neck-length hair as He looks at Vivek with a very serious and intense expression grinding his teeth. This time the focus is not on Vivek putting that garland of flowers on the Glory Jesus but on Glory's intense expression as he looks at Vivek.

When I wrote the Vivek revelations, I saw:
Prof TRS and Prof Nivedita Deo rotate around dancing happily individually in separate visions.

I have a burger with a small tomato soup (the only size they give) from The Royal Canteen, and then I get another tomato soup packed to have in the room.

I return to my lab and spot a girl sitting there whom I have not seen before in that room but she doesn't look wicked or threatening while Deepak looked so deceptive and repelled me. It doesn't look like she's there for a real purpose, but then she doesn't seem like a wicked presence either.

I have my soup, and continue to figure things out related to Masting when I have the song This Town by Kygo highlighted to me in the Spirit. So, I play the same, and as I'm listening to it,

I was about to write further when I heard: Ab tootne waali hai Kartika.

So, I play the song on my Laptop via my Airdopes and after a minute or so feel the drone moving up into me though I'm wearing fitting Jeans (So, how did it make its way up there. Or perhaps it stays around at all times. Who knows!?)

Following this sensation, I see:

- The upper half of Bella until her shoulders with open hair in a reddish hue lifted up with closed eyes as the reddish hue moved like a granular fluid around her. It seemed like she was being drawn deep into the somatic experience. She carries an expression similar to the one she has in the song Fire In The Water from The Twilight Saga: Breaking Dawn.
- The vision is followed by the side-view of a semi-animated me dressed in the attire from the day (white full-sleeved shirt untucked over fitting light blue denim) sitting on top of the genitalia of a semi-animated naked Death Conqueror with my legs hanging down the surface as he is sitting in front of me in a background carrying a reddish hue imposed on a golden background as I sit with my head lifted up against him in the union. He is shown as having dim red skin with ruffled hair standing up in the air. His face is not entirely his but a superimposition or an amalgamation.

I'm sitting crossed legs on my seat and am focusing on my work but how do I stop the drones?

After I was done writing the above revelation, I went to throw a strand of hair that I found lying on my laptop into the dustbin and heard the lady sing:

- Banake kyu maara re..! which made me wonder if Glory was going to hit me because according to the revelations, he was the one who hit me in them.
  and while I was wiping my hands after washing them, I heard: Khush ho gya! Khush ho gya!

- The follow-up vision has us slightly moving around our positions in the reddish hue imposed on top of a golden background. Again, I'm dressed while he is naked. His face is blinking to being that of Glory's.
- The follow-up vision now shows the naked upper half of Glory in place of him. I pay close attention to the vision again, and it indeed is Glory this time in a reddish hue as I sit against him with his genitalia inside me.

Somewhere above when I wrote about Death Conqueror, I heard the guy sing:
Ja bewafa Ja. Humein pyaar nahi karna.
Ja bewafa Ja. Humein pyaar nahi karna.
Tanha hee jee lenge hum, jab hai tanha marna..

I continue working as I'm having these revelations, but then I start feeling sleepy and am yawning a lot. I then see:

- Prof TRS dressed in a full-sleeved shirt tucked inside pants says with a pitiful expression with slightly filled eyes: She's not lying! She's not lying!
- Amarjeet Kaur from the dept, dressed in the attire that I saw her in when I was having a burger with tomato soup, says with filled eyes: She's not lying! She says this as I am feeling drowsy and feel those hits inside my head.

So I get up to get a double coffee from the departmental canteen near The Royal Café as their coffee is strong. On my way to the canteen, I come across a girl wearing a black top with a How written on it which just seems such an understatement of things the way they are, because it's not just the how but the complexity of it and the attitude needed to ask the right questions and formulate things in a sensible way which doesn't get fully summarized in the word How. Well, looking at that girl I knew that she wasn't really into how but yet she was wearing that top.

After I've returned from the Canteen, I continue listening to the songs and the revelations begin again, this time, it's a definite Death Conqueror and with no superimpositions or amalgamations and the revelations continue while I'm working. I see him in a state of deep immersion in that reddish hue as his semi-animated skin is shown to be wheatish reddish as we sit against each other in union with me sitting with closed eyes feeling taken out. He is holding my breasts with both hands as we sit against each other. And as I wrote this, I heard the chorus of the following song play in my Spirit.

Sometimes all I think about is you
Late nights in the middle of June
Heat waves been faking' me out
Can't make you happier now

Glass Animals - Heat Waves (Lyrics)

The song was highlighted to me when I sat in my seat in my lab as well.

As I wrote the above, I saw:

- An extremely hairy head of Death Conqueror is kissing me wholeheartedly with closed eyes by just gently pressing his lips against mine with closed eyes. (Perhaps his hair are overgrown and he hasn't had a haircut in a while. I don't know.)

As I wrote the above, I heard a male's voice resembling Glory's as he said: Ye marega mere haathon se!

Sometime earlier during the day, as I was working focusedly on a research problem after long, I saw:

- My mom dressed in her red and white leafy gown come at the back of my head angrily with a danda held high in her hand as she is in the middle of a jump in the air with legs folded back.

Later in the dept, I happened to interact with Naveen - the most senior colleague from our Research group and he motivated me to work wholeheartedly even if it was without working a job for a while as he said that he himself was taking money from home and so were Rakhi and Parag who only received 8k from the University as their PhD fellowship. I told them I felt a burden on my conscience to not ask money from home as I was too old now (and though I forgot to say this point, I didn't want to ask money from home because if I wasn't receiving any fellowship or was short on funds, it wasn't my family's problem but mine and that I should only be asking them for money when I have not already tried other options to fend for myself. They should be the last resort to turn towards instead of relying fully on them and taking them for granted.)

We had a long discussion. He shared about his family condition and how many people weren't receiving a JRF but were still working as they took money from their homes. But still, I wasn't feeling happy about it because I wanna be independent to the extent wherein I could at least fend for my own self if not give money to my home.

Naveen said a few covert things meant to cause some stress on me as he was covertly making the point that one cannot always avoid stress. He made some comments about Awadhesh Prasad and Sanjay Jain making me feel uncomfortable though I didn't respond in a negative way. We're not called to intentionally try to test others and cause them stress for no reason like he was doing to me.

Anyway, I told him how his and Rakhi's presence was emotionally safe as they didn't talk about wicked things like Deepak did. I shared with them how Deepak used to pass stressful comments. I pointed out the difference in our lab's aura because of Deepak's absence, that how it now felt more clean and without deception and wickedness.

After I returned to my PG, I was thinking about things said by Naveen and had the following revelations:

- The bottom view of a huge Naveen looking down righteously at the viewer. The follow-up vision shows a top-view of a shorter him looking pathetically up at the viewer.
- The blurry upper half of Naveen as he says: Kartika mein tere samne kuch bhi nahi hu, isiliye mein teri bezzati karta hu. which highlighted the things about Awadhesh Prasad and Sanjay Sir that he said to make me uncomfortable.

- The blurry upper half of Rakhi in her attire from today as she says: I Love You, Kartika. I love you, Kartika.

As I was writing the above revelations, somewhere in the middle, I had the reddish hue revelations repeat with Death Conqueror and I noticed that I was now sitting in that golden space.

Sometimes all I think about is you
Late nights in the middle of June
Heat waves been faking' me out
Can't make you happier now

- Can you feel the love…? Can you feel the love…? Can you feel the love…?
  This is love. This is love. This is love..

Additional Revelations

- His naked self in a golden background with a reddish hue thrusts his genitalia forward with force inside a woman in a few strong hits.
- The side-view of his naked dim-red self sitting alone in that golden space facing to the right with his head turned up with closed eyes and vertically slanted genitalia as he seems to be in a state of solitary bliss.
- After a while, I see my own dressed self sitting alone facing to the left in a golden background with a reddish hue with my head lifted up.

The lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse, tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse, tu kyu maane na..

While making tea to have with dinner:

- I see a naked dim-red Death Conqueror pushing his genitalia up into me who is standing in front of the induction heater as he stands facing me, and in that moment I have my hands joined together in front of me which I realize after having the vision. It reminds me of the vision of the side -view of a naked lady standing hugging a naked Death Conqueror with his slumped genitals inside her as she is hugging him while pressing his head to her heart.

For the past few days, since I began hearing these whispers and voices, I was reminded of the dream revelation from 2020 in which I was praying for him with my hands on his head and nothing worked but then I whispered Jesus loves you in his left ear, he was brought to life!

This morning, I was woken up by a strong whisper in my left ear though I couldn't understand what it said, but the drone had apparently made its way into my left ear and whispered that thing right next to my ear drum leaving it feeling the air vibrations for a while longer after I was woken up by it. This activity of his reminded me of me praying for him in that dream and whispering in his left ear only after which he woke up.

Can you feel the love…? Can you feel the love…? Can you feel the love…?
This is love. This is love. This is love..

This incident made it known to me that what happened today was a key marker in reaching that dream. Things were supposed to be this way, as they were revealed to be so to me back in 2020.

A reply to the current situation and the statement 'Is paagal ne mujhse itna pyaar kyu kiya!?'

Westlife- Written in the stars lyrics

'Kartika, sab maarne aa rahe hai tujhe!'

I will go to sleep now as I've to go to dept again tomorrow as I've gained momentum now.
As I wrote the above, I saw:

- The upper half of my supervisor looking at me happily with a slight teethfull smile and filled eyes.

A voice whispers: Good night.

Page 586.

07 November 2023
11:00

Revelations from last night:

- As I close my eyes after lying in the bed to sleep, I hear: I love you.. in my Spirit.
- Can you feel the love..? Can you feel the love..? Can you feel the love..?
  This is Love. This is Love. This is Love..

  Can you feel the Love..?
  Can you feel the Love..?
  Can you feel the Love..?
  This is Love. This is Love. This is Love..

- A small-framed vision of the naked upper half of Glory putting a hand and resting the fingers joined together and the palm straight inside a dark see-through tissue tunnel/vagina.

  After a while, as I continue to try to fall asleep, I had the following revelations.
  (When I go to bed, or am sitting busy with a chore, it's not me who decides who the Holy Spirit will show things to me about though at times I ask a question and receive an answer which again is not always the case, and other times I think of someone and then receive a revelation which again is not always the case for I wasn't thinking of several people when I received revelations about them. I think he gives me the most revelations when I am resting because then I won't be interrupted a lot because the rest of time too I am doing the work of God and if I was to receive continuous revelations while I was working, it would be very difficult to even work. So, He knows when to give an overload, and when to give revelations in small amounts.)

- The side-view of the naked upper half of HRX on top of a lady as he lovingly and lightly strokes the side of her face with a hand.
  The vision is accompanied by the song:
- Bholi si surat, aankhon mein masti
  Door khadi sharmaye.. Aaye haaye..

- It's amazing how you can speak right to my heart..
  Without saying a word, you can light up the dark..

- A fully-armoured Roman soldier from The Chosen crawls to the right on a surface in the dark with his front lying on the surface as he stabs a dagger on the surface to drag himself forward.
- KA with teary eyes and dressed in a white tunic says: 'You love me!'

  And while I lay on bed, I am having a feeling of loss as I get a sense of me losing the promised people whom God has develop a mental bond with me through the revelations of their heart states which brought about changes in mine. I don't know if I've gained them for the kingdom either. But I'm feeling a sense of humanly loss and it's too painful because to not get to spend time with a loved one is always painful. But then I also know at the back of my mind that it's also painful because it's limited in perspective as I'm only looking at my earthly time and not the promised future in Heaven that they're called to join me in, others, and Jesus in. Because I loved some people a lot and still do but where did it lead me? I felt as if I was left alone without anyone around me after God called all of them. But I was looking at my situation from an earthly perspective.

- Saans mein teri saans mili to mujhe saans ayi.. Mujhe saans ayi.. Mujhe saans ayi…

- The naked upper half of KA on top of the naked upper half of a lady with them lying with their heads facing to the left, as KA sucked on the left breast of the lady while holding the right with his hand in front of an open semi-animated late evening background of a visible small huge grey rocky conical mountain under with greenery around under an open sky.

- A seemingly overweight wheatish and chubby man with a round face and a stubble, dressed in a polo t-shirt horizontally striped in beige and light brown standing in a dim background, smiles lightly at the viewer as his metallic canine to the viewer's right on the upper jaw shines.
- He's chewing on your inner lobes.. He's chewing on your inner lobes.. (It repeats several times.)
- He's now biting the clitoris..

- Cuz when I look at my life.. All the pieces fall into place.
  It just wouldn't rhyme.. Without you..
  And when I see how my path.. seems to end up before your face..
  The state of my heart, the place where we are..
  was written in the stars..

  The state of my heart, the place where we are..
  was written in the stars..

- With filled eyes and an intense expression, KA says: I Love You!
- The chorus of High-Rated Gabru plays in my Spirit.
- He's chewing your lobes again, Kartika.
- Kartika is kissing Kartik. Kartika is kissing Kartik.

- A stubble face of Fardeen Khan in a dim background with a red bullet shot in the centre of his forehead as he says: Sir mein goli lagi hai.. Sir mein goli lagi hai..

****

Past Revelations

- (Past two weeks) A dark see-through tunnel with boiling water bubbling on one end.
- (Past few days) A forefinger prodding at a clitoris after a while leads to an eruption of a very fine stream of blood.
- (Past few days) A distant view of the outside of a well-lit home with a man and a woman dressed in ethnic wear standing outside. It seems to be some kind of night celebration with the couple standing outside the lit duplex with its plain walls visible in the vision.

- (Past few days) A tiny 5-7 years old Kaalu (my cousin sister with her real name being Swati) dressed in a half-sleeved thinly striped shirt with a tall man behind her as he brings his mouth closer to the right of her neck. I don't know if it refers to an incident from her childhood, but it's something I saw.

- (5th Nov) A woman dressed in a fluffed white dress with a floral crown of Baby's Breath on her head stands facing slightly away from the viewer to the right on the left side of the vision in a day-lit forest background with her hand extended towards the viewer which too is wrapped in Baby's Breath towards the end.
- (Past two days) The top view of the face of a blonde lying on a bed with her hair braided at the back, visible through one of the sides, as sunlight falls on her face while her face moves a bit (in the manner that I am moving my face) under a canopy of trees. (This shows a beautiful mind's perception of me.)

(From 6th November - yesterday)

- After I am done washing my hands after a chore, KA in a white tunic set shouts: I Love You Kartika, as he starts hugging and kissing me. (A voice whispers after I've written the revelation: 'You're not a liar Kartika..')
- As I close my eyes after I lay down to sleep on the bed: I Love You Kartika.
- A small-framed vision of Sunny Deol dressed in a black Sherwani embroidered with golden colored thread with a black turban on his head stands in a dark open space with others as he says looking at me: Munda intezaar kar raha hai.. which seem to make a strong point.
- I fall into a brief sleep and wake up from the following: A small-framed vision of a crane smashing the front of a building down as a grouped male voice sings in a wicked and creepy informative way: It is coming soon. It makes me think of my dad's preschool building in Rose Valley, Chandigarh. But why would it be taken down!?

****

Morning

I wake up from the following dream in the morning.

Dream:

I am on a road at a great height from the ground as it's built on top of buildings (resembling the structure in hilly areas though I don't see any snow around). Around a turn, I see a huge white square hoarding. A translucent light blue lady wearing square glasses with a square top head and a tail behind her like a genie horizontally comes floating through the air along with another leaner and shorter lady present to her right along the road with the hoarding's face facing it at the turn. Both float right towards the hoarding and impress themselves on it thereby making a painting on the open whiteboard. Sis Adele and Sis Candance from Bold Existence Ministries are present there as well and inform us that the ground below is to be cleared and made even while my mom and Divyanshu are glossing over the impressed ladies on the hoarding with a transparent shiny greasy substance using a paint brush as parts of the liquid falls down on the ground. I inform them to be done quickly with it as the ground below needs to be evened out and built over and their continued act is only going to untidy the ground as I look up high at them from the ground level while they're continuing to further gloss the impression.

I then find myself along with a few others in a huge open soil ground with elevated sides near the wall separating it from the open road. This ground too needs to be made even by digging out the excess side elevations. But first, the transparent packed grocery bags would need to be removed from the elevated sides. We're figuring out a way to deal with the transparent packed vertical suitcases filled with daily-use grocery items. I see several long and thick earbuds inside the see-through bag along with other daily items. There are several such bags lying on the elevated sides and we're still moving around trying to come up with a way to even out the high elevations to the ground level and we're not still done when I find myself lying on my back on a sofa laid beside a wall. My brother Himanshu comes from the right in front of me and he has to be settled at a place for a long time as perhaps he's got an injury in the dream (though he's walking towards the sofa. He tells mom that he would be settling at my place and he asks for an extension switchboard to be placed near him on the sofa. So I get up giving him the space.

I am now walking on the streets and enter a room with clothes hanging around. It's a shop perhaps. I buy a green top with a V-neck and it's just for Rs. 50. I hardly wear it and it keeps lying idle for long. I am now in a different setting where this lady is showing me the same top and telling me that she got it for 50 rupees. I tell her that I have the same though I don't wear it often.

I am now in a room with prison bars present to the left end of the wall in front of me where I see a lady dressed in a beige tunic set lying on the ground as her husband stands outside the prison bars and wants her out. He starts dragging her by her feet taking each foot out through two different adjacent gaps through the bars. I wonder if he doesn't understand that she can't be taken out in such a way and will only get hurt if he keeps pulling out. But he continues to pull her feet out and the prison bar eventually hits her groin hurting her. He pulls a bit more but to no use. Doesn't he understand that he needs to open the prison door and not try to slide the lady out!? Being unable to get her out, he now starts to make horizontal cuts along her thighs thinking that perhaps it would help. He is trying to sever her thighs and thereby pull her out. After he has made several horizontal cuts one below the other separated by an inch or two each, he gives up pulling her out, and starts to undo the damage he caused as he's covering up the wounds and stitching them back together.

Towards the end of the dream, I am in a room that seems to be carrying the aura of a club though I don't see any immorally behaving people around. It's a dark room with several people present though the people are clearly visible in the dark space. There's a moustached man with wide eyes sitting inside a room wearing a white coat and he seems to be carrying an aura of fear. The vision shows the top left view of the man as he is looking up at the viewer with an expressionless creepy countenance. When he gets up and walks by in front of me and others, everyone seems to be silent and scared as they watch his pass to the left. He passes us by silently and goes down the stairs present to the left near the end of the vision's frame. His creepy expression and the act of his sitting up is repeated several times. It seems that he possesses a lot of power because of which everyone goes silent around him. I too now don't feel safe in the area and therefore move downstairs with another person with me and as I take a U-turn along the stairs, I have to lift up the person with me to some extent and drag along as (s)he doesn't seem to be able to carry his/her self with my pace and I have to hurry for us to be safe. I reach the arched dark hallway on the ground, take a right, and see the exit into the open to the left and it's when I wake up.

After waking up, I continue resting on the bed with legs crossed and closed eyes because my head isn't feeling light and I want to feel relaxed before leaving for the dept so I can work well, and then I keep intermittently falling into sleep.

- The lady sings: Saans mein teri saans mili to mujhe saans ayi.. Mujhe saans ayi.. Mujhe saans aaayi..
  I desire a closer presence where I can hear and discern the whispers from a close distance and then I hear them coming mostly from my left side near the wall. And now I can see why I whispered very closely in the left ear of Death Conqueror in the healing dream. Because by that time, I had had this experience that I am having now and I don't how it unfolds but it has stood out to me and comes with a sense of intimacy so I employed the technique while praying for him to be healed when nothing else worked.

- The recent vision in which a naked Jacob was lifted up and moving on top of a lady in intercourse with a naked Edward picking up blank white sheets of paper from a slab along with medium-sized white plates was highlighted to me.
- Somewhere in the middle: Pair kaat diye.. Pair kaat diye..
- The Guy sings:
  Jaane kaha gaye vo din.. Kehte the teri yaad mein
  Nazro ko hum bichayenge..
  Chahe kahi bhi tum raho.. Chahenge tumko umar bhar..
  Tumko na bhool payenge.

  As I've now started to think of getting up to get ready to leave for the dept:
  Kartika mein to sirf use kar raha hu.. I can't be with you. I'm only using you. You can't be with me. Mein pehle bhi use kar rha tha. Ab bhi use kar rha hu.

  I hear it a few times but it doesn't hurt me a lot because I am looking at Jesus and His love that He has displayed for me in various ways so I don't feel too hurt as I know that Jesus is my emotional backbone who looks at the things of heavenly value and not earthly value and I know that I'm here for His purpose as He keeps repeating in my Spirit:
  Har pal naseeb hua hai.. Uski rehmat hai..
  Usne din jode hai zindagi mein. Uska maksad hai..

  After a while, I get up as I can see that it would be better it I go to the dept instead of trying to find peace in the room when there is stuff left to be done..

  On my way to the dept, I hear: Usne teri zindagi mein ab din jod diye hai. Usne teri zindagi mein ab kaafi din jod diye hai.

#*******

Past Revelation

Vision (past 48 hours): I find myself in a blurry surrounding with a guy lying on a hospital bed in a setting similar to that of the song It Aint't Me as the scene goes through a sequence of a few blurry scenes with the sequence ending with the guy on the hospital bed with the girl being absent and an orange and back butterfly resting on his head accompanied with the song lyrics playing in my Spirit.

Ref: Kygo, Selena Gomez - It Ain't Me (Official Video)

**********#

On reaching the dept as I'm working with Shagun sitting two benches next to my right, I get snapped from my flow by a loud thud she happens to make on the desk. This day she's dressed formally in a black suit with a beige neck-high top inside. The loud thud seems intentional to me and as I'm thinking about it, I see as a third person:

(As I was done writing the previous sentence, I heard: Banake kyu bigada re.. which makes me question if Glory is going to leave me after reading the revelation)

- Shagun kissing my body from down to up beginning from groin and moving upwards with her dressed in the same professional clothes she was wearing that day as I sat naked on my seat. It told me her heart-state!

- The vision is followed by us sharing an intimate dance in the room with a mix of tango and contemporary dance steps!
  This is an example of a revelation that's a revelatory answer to the question being posed. After I wrote the revelations, I saw: KA in a white tunic waving his hand in a Bye as he moves backwards into a dark background.
  It was very much like the revelatory answer of 'I love Kartika Aaryanaa..' as I was saying in my own heart: I love Kartik. And as I wrote the previous sentence, I heard the lady sing:
  Bepanah pyaar tujhse.. Tu kyu jaane na..
  Hua ikraar tujhse.. Tu kyu mane na..

  And as I began to write the above song revelation, I heard: Sab reject karne waale hai..

  God showed me Shagun's heart-state followed by what I would be okay with. She was kissing me all over but I would be happy dancing with her which would carry a sense of intimacy but not which is exclusive to the flesh.

  I have only begun to work when the following starts playing in my Spirit again:
  Hasle. Gale. Ye di na milenge kal..
  Thodi khushiya, hai thode se ye pal..
  It creeps me out because after months I've gone to the department after my depressive phase and things were beginning to seem normal enough for me to be able to work, and then I was hearing the above again and it only disheartened me and made me apprehensive of what laid ahead.

  I'm making my own notes as I am understanding things, and while I'm doing so, I notice that I'm writing legibly in a neat cursive way as I usually do when I'm doing something logical, and it reminds me of the revelation of Akhila sitting on my bed and writing revelations with posture and patience in a neat and cursive handwriting in the diary that I use. I understand that I can only be legible and neat in my writing when I'm understanding something or doing something that involves focused concentration and thought and use of logic as being messy would only further mess things up. I cannot waste time taking a lot of time to write revelations neatly in my Notebook as I've to type them as well.

  While I am making notes of what I've understood, I hear:
- Still not enough.. It's still not enough..
  It repeats later as well as I continue making notes.
- Still not enough.. It's still not enough..

  I sit reading the paper opened in my Laptop with my hands placed casually without much thought one on top of the other on my thighs below and then I hear a man's voice saying:
- Bhool ja mein tera haath pakdunga! Bhool ja mein tera haath pakdunga!
  But I am not saying such a thing by that gesture which is just something casual I happen to sit in. After hearing this, I separate my hands as I don't want to continue giving a false message but then as I continue reading, I again unknowingly put them one on top of the other and then I hear again: Bhool ja mein tera haath pakdunga!

I continue working and after a while, see:

- A naked dim-red Death Conqueror says: Aaja Janeman as he slides his hands down my arms holding my hands with me standing pressed against the wall to my left while he inserts his vertically erect genitalia upwards in strong abrupt pushes.

  After making a note of the above revelation in my revelatory notebook, I heard the lady sing:

  Phod dala.. Tod dala..

  Followed by

  'Pet kut raha hai.. Pet kut raha hai..'

- A naked dim-red Death Conqueror between my legs while I sit working on the chair as he's sucking at my clitoris and inner lobes.
- A dim-red naked Death Conqueror pushes his genitalia up into me with strong impacts as he stands straight and strong on the floor lifting me up on it.

I was now getting deeper into my work being immersed in similar to how I used to be, not matching up to that extent. As I was fully into my Laptop, I saw:

(Well, as I wrote the previous sentence, I saw: HRX come at my head fiercely with a rod in his hand!)

- A joyful and smiling KA dressed in his vision standard attire of a full-sleeved white shirt tucked inside black pants hugs me tightly as he tells me that he loves me.

  It was after a while of me catching a male voice outside that said: Kya chal raha hai ye sab.. while I was being fully immersed in my work as I researched sexual reproduction in plants as a part of expanding my understanding.

I go to have a tea break in the departmental canteen and have a samosa with tea, and after I return I find my lab locked. I go inside and am about to begin to work when I recall that we had a Junior Researchers' Forum Meeting around the same time and therefore everyone must be there. I take the stuff that I think I might need and set out towards the seminar room. As I am walking towards the exit of the Multi Storey Building of my dept with the lift present about 4-5 meters to my left, I see:

- A HUGE Jesus dressed in an off-white tunic set walking beside me to my right and He's walking slower than me, so I adjust my pace to match His. Looking at His pace it seems that He may not want me to go to the meet, but I am not yet sure as He hasn't communicated anything related to it but is just walking slowly beside me! He stops in the middle and I too stop for a second though I'm in a hurry as the meeting has already begun. When He doesn't move within that brief second, I take a few slow hesitant steps forward thinking that He would follow but He stays standing at that spot. So, I stop a few steps ahead of Him, and turn back to Him looking at Him to know what is it that He wants. Does He want me to not go to the meet when I am in a hurry or does He want to stay and follow where He leads me though in my heart I am in quite a hurry to reach the meeting spot. As I look at His beautiful figure standing there, He gestures with His right hand for me to continue walking ahead. So I turn away and start walking and as I do it seems to me that He is communicating the sense that He would be waiting at that spot. As I leave Him behind, I am feeling sad, though I know that His Spirit is inside of me and that He is indeed inside me as I am the temple of His Spirit, but still, I feel a sense of separation and therefore pain.

As I am passing by the administrative office of the dept, I feel a sudden sense of unbreakable strength inside accompanied by an immediate:
Mujhe rula diya.. Oh. Mujhe rula diya..

Followed by the vision of a metallic armour visibly present in the Spirit with my upper half. It is almost as if I am that metallic titanium being on the inside as I walk towards the Seminar Room and I actually am feeling that metallic inside as I take steps with a strong demeanour, and as I walk, the word Titanium is being highlighted in my Spirit.

David Guetta - Titanium (Lyrics) ft. Sia

I pass by the DSKL Hall, I spot Jyoti Ma'am on the teacher's podium inside so perhaps the venue has changed. So, I enter the DSKL Hall instead from its back door. Towards the end, she asks for someone to be willing to be the Student's Go-to person for any problem they may face. I felt a nudge to raise my hand and I heard a voice inside as well that was telling me to do so, but I didn't as several things ran in my mind. I thought, I don't have long now in my PhD and then I didn't know if I would be willing to do a good job as well because of the already present load. So, Jyoti Ma'am asked Aakansha if she would be willing to take up the role. As I didn't speak up when I was being nudged on the inside, and the role was already assigned to Aakansha, I saw in my left mental view:

- My dad looking at me with a disappointed expression as he exclaimed a: Dhat teri ki! gesturing at me with his hand!

After the JRF Forum meeting while we are all having tea together, as I walk towards a bench to sit with Rakhi, I pass by Deepak standing to my left and I exclaim: Aaj chai hai mere haath mein! Now I don't know if he heard it but I felt a strong nudge to say the same! I and Rakhi sit on the bench in front of the huge and wide Peepal tree that has its branches extending more than 6-7 meters away from it. We have a brief chat about the same and on our way to our lab, Rakhi repeats to Naveen how I said what I did to Deepak, and though he ignored it, I made it a point to say that according to their rule, it was just okay to say anything, so I just said it though I knew that I wouldn't be throwing it on him! I wanted to make him realize his own folly as he was making comments about Sanjay Sir and Awadhesh Prasad the last time we had a chat in the lab.

After we were back in the room, I resumed working and saw:

- A clean-shaven Glory standing behind me near the pillar to the right of the door dressed in that red and white striped V-neck top with red sleeves conically stitched to the central body of the top. And as he stands there, he opens wide his chest from the center, takes his huge red love heart out of the dark inner background of his chest, and extends it forward in my direction with a cute smile.
  The vision repeats 3-4 times as I continue working.

After I made a record of the above revelation in my revelation diary, I heard in my Spirit the lady sing:
Can you feel the Love.? Can you feel the Love..?
Can you feel the Love..?
This is Love. This is Love. This is Love..

Past Revelation

- Death Conqueror gets off of me and lies on the left side of the bed dressed in a white tunic set with just his slumped genitalia protruding out of his attire as a voice says: Lath path ho gya..

(This is not how I think or talk, but this is what I heard in the revelation.)

On my way to my room in a Rickshaw, I was suddenly gripped by a subtle fear because of the situation I have been in for long. I felt too vulnerable, and then the roads were also crowded, and I felt surrounded and a bit targeted. I was feeling fearful and it seemed like I only had Jesus with me in this situation as my parents didn't even directly acknowledge the presence of cameras. My mom would only lie and deflect when it came to the cameras and I felt alone in this situation and then the assigned IO had also blocked me, and then my supervisor was also saying that it's no use filing an FIR or going to the police station, that nothing is going to happen and so on and so forth. So I was gripped with a subtle fear sitting in that Rickshaw though I knew I had Jesus with me. As I was writing the above, I heard the lady from the song sing:
You shoot me down.. But I won't fall.
I'm Titanium..
You shoot me down.. But I won't fall.
I'm Titanium..

I spot some lights lying outside the Dinesh Store and happen to buy a string of pink lights to put inside the room. As I begin to put the lights, I see:

- The upper half of KA in his white tunic attire crying hard as he looks at me and says: You're so good. You're so good.
  The vision repeats a few times and I don't know why the lights are making him cry!?

I hear the sound of a guy crying hard from near the balcony. I continue putting lights and hear the lady sing:
Mela dilo ka ata hai..
Ik baar ake chala jata hai..
Mela dilo ka ata hai..
Ik baar ake chala jata hai..

This time the extended version of the song played strongly in my Spirit.
As I continue putting them up on the wall, I see Jesus dressed in His full-length attire of off-white tunic with a red drape on top standing near the kitchen slab as He says in a gentle empathetic tone: I know that you're doing this for me! And He is right because I bought the lights to decorate the room He blessed me with, the room in which He stays with me. I did not buy them to celebrate a pagan festival that has nothing to do with the God who sits on His throne in heaven and has revealed Himself to me several times!

After putting the lights, I now begin to listen to Adele's recently released video and it helps me understand the significance of the revelations I received pertaining to those people and the consequent love that I felt! Now that I've understood God's perspective, the revelations were meant to make them feel the love of a loving spouse where Jesus is the bridegroom and they together constitute the bride. I understood this part after watching Adele's video later in the evening. But while lying in bed the previous night, I was feeling too sad as it would be a terrible thing otherwise to love someone in a certain way and not end up with them or not get to have any kind of interaction with them. But now as I write it, my perspective has expanded again and I can see that that was my human perception of the situation as I was looking at the earthy time frame and earthly unraveling of situations that may not be as we expect them to be or how they should be according to what our hearts and minds can accept. The following video made the significance of the fleshly revelations clear to me as Adele said that Jesus will use a friend of His to make others feel the love of a bridegroom (Jesus) for His bride (the church) so that they know and understand the love of Jesus for them through that person and understand Jesus and accept Him for themselves. Makes me recall how KA was shouting Wife! looking at me!

Are You Loving Jesus well? Difference Between Servant & Friend...

I was now watching the video again and towards the end of it, I saw:

- Jesus dancing gracefully with me in the centre of the room on a Worship song. So, I stopped the video in the middle, and started listening to a Worship song standing in front of the song playing in my phone.

And as I did, I saw:

- The girl I had met in the home that I visited last year (that lay facing the backside of A-16) inside my room dressed in a yellow t-shirt over light green shorts as she rotated around herself with high speed and translated throughout the room.

- It was followed by the lean old man I had happened to talk to in that house doing the same thing in my room, being dressed in a half-sleeved white vest over a white dhoti perhaps or trousers, as he rotated inside the room with high speed and moved all around in worship! They seemed to be impacted in some way.

21:18

- Darna mana hai.. Darna mana hai..
- Shh… Koi hai..

As I'm writing sitting in bed and hearing the voice, I hear the lady from the song sing:
Saans mein teri saans mili toh.. Mujhe saans ayi..
Mujhe saans ayi.. Mujhe saans ayi..

The guy says:
I can control her.. I can control her.. as the drones are fiddling with my insides and the fellow is speaking through yet another drone.

The Guy sings:
Hasle. Gale. Ye din na milenge kal..
Thodi khushiya. Hai thode se ye pal..

Page 587.

08 November 2023
11:15

Kygo Visions From Last Night

I have several Kygo visions in a line.

- Kygo dressed in a navy blue full-sleeved sweater over denims with wavy hair falling slightly below his ears sits on the ledge on the ground with other youngsters out in the open. They look like college youngsters having their casual time out.
- A small-framed vision of the side-view of the upper half until the shoulders of a neat and clean-shaven Kygo with slicken hair smiling facing to the right, slightly tilted towards the viewer with him looking silently in that direction in a golden background.
- A small-framed vision of his upper half until shoulders in front of me in a golden background as he starts dropping quick incessant kisses on my face.
- There are a few more visions that are more like gentle pictures captured of him.

****

Past Revelations

- (Past week or before) I'm in the washroom to bath and then the vision of the upper half of my dad in front of the wall with the cloth hanging rod as he is looking at me and says: Is randi ko ye nhi pata ki sab dekh rahe hai to kaise act karna chahiye..! It makes me think what more could I do. Instead of him doing something about my situation, he's putting it on me in the vision.
- (Past week) Side-view of me lying on the bed on my back in the same posture as I was lying in that moment as a huge red love heart appears on my belly.
- (Past few days) I'm lying on my left side on the bed at night when I see as a part of a revelatory flow of the sequence of revelations the top-view of a naked HRX behind a naked me as he's hugging me and grabbing my right breast from behind.
- (Yesterday) I hear a voice in my Spirit: Ye randi nhi hai, ye bahut achi hai.. Ye randi nhi hai, ye bahut achi hai.. The phrase repeats intermittently several times throughout the day.
- (Yesterday) I am hugging a short and lean Death Conqueror as I lay on my bed and he seems to be too light and has a tendency to float away like a helium balloon. As I lie hugging him, lower body that's not held fast keeps floating upwards. So I've to tighten my grip and change my posture a few times. And then I see a giant Glory trying to get a hold of him and smash him away against the wall Psalm 34:4-5 wall in front of me! But I hold fast on to him and neither let him float away nor let Glory slide him out and throw him away. In one of the visions, the giant white Glory seemingly armoured in white is able to snatch and throw him away following which he himself corners me against a wall though with a resentful expression.

****

I am saying within myself: Don't say Bye. Don't say Uff. Say only Wow..

I keep hearing incessant whispers of Wow… being repeated from the drone flying above and I block my ears because I have to fall asleep so I can leave for the department tomorrow. And then the voice says Uffs as well which I don't like as it sounds too cheap and said out of cheap observation, while Wow gives a sense of being pleased and enthrilled.

I continue lying on the bed and at a certain moment, the voice keeps repeating Wow in an unending row and I happen to respond to the Wows in sequence as well, and then I hear:
'I can control her.. I can control her.. '
It repeats several times. After a certain period of time I feel like crying because I can't really escape from hearing the Wows coming from the drones. I go to the washroom to pee and the voice follows and when I've enterd the entered the washroom, I hear the lady sing:
Jahan mein jaati hu wahi chale ate ho.
Chori chori mere dil mein samate ho.
Ye to batao ki tum.. Mere kaun ho!

And then I kept having the Kygo visions intermittently as well. They represented daily life situations and were not fleshly besides one or two which too showed an expression of adoration for the other person.

Dream (Morning):

In this dream, I was in the kitchen of Rugha Saini's home and washing the dishes standing at the washbasin present at its end at the right corner to the left of the serve window. It's a rectangular kitchen with a green slab. My mom keep dropping in intermittently. She does a few things that causes further mess. Perhaps she cooked or did something else. I clean up everything again while I had just gotten free about a minute back. I do this for a while in the dream with the kitchen being lit with just the daylight coming in through the window present to the right of the washbasin as it seems more soothing than the artificial white light.

After I wake up, I fall back into sleep after a while and have the following brief dream-visions.

- I have momos in a plate and am walking towards the Multi-Storey building of my workplace. As I begin walking up the stairs, I come across my supervisor Nivedita Deo on the stairs and ask her if she would have some. She says she's going to a meeting and would have after she returns. I continue walking upstairs and when I'm about to reach the second floor, I spot the top right view of a bald Prof Debajyoti Choudhary with tiny spiky hair being dressed in a half-sleeved polo t-shirt over trousers on the corridor of the first floor near the turn of the stairs as he is talking with two other men standing in front of him.
- I am heading towards the crossroads with the Hanuman Mandir present to the left am still at a distance of about 5-7 meters from the centre and apparently, I've to take a left turn and go to Glory's place and collect something as I keep seeing the act being flashed. But I then see myself standing at the crossroads facing Death Conqueror and lightly slapping his cheeks one after the other.

Post waking Up

- I love you Kartika..
- A darker version of the upper-half of Glory dressed in a grey jacket stands facing me as he turns his face to the left and says: Kartika you love him a lot. Kartika you love him a lot.

Jesus Visions While Worship

While having tea the second time with it being held in one of my hands, as I was listening to the songs playing in my phone, I saw:

- I am hugging a short-heighted Death Conqueror dressed in a white tunic set while he tends to rise up in the air and float away like a helium balloon, and then I see a wide muscular Glory trying to move him away when he already has a tendency to float away, so the follow-up vision has me turning to the other side and tightly hugging him with him completely buried into me and then he's no more floating away.
  It takes me by a bit of surprise because I was insulting him a while back. It's not the act that was surprising (as I had a similar vision the previous night as well) but the fact that I shifted too quickly from one heart state to another.

The lady sings:
It ain't me.

Revelations while resting during day:

- I fall into a brief and hear a lady sing:
  Daikhawa samjho.. She sings something
  Daikhawa samjho.. Maujo ki aas kaa..

The para repeats ending with the line:
Daikhawa samjho.. Gusse ki pyaas ka.

I wake up after the last sentence.

- I fall back into sleep after a while, and this time I see my mom sitting in front of me as I lay on the bed and a shorter childhood version of my youngest brother stood right in front of me. My mom is perhaps asking me if I'm okay while my youngest brother stands as an additional help. I tell her something - perhaps that I had been working for a while so I was resting now. My brother is giving his own suggestions but my mom asks me to rest by sleeping. She says gently: Bete so jaao.. Bete so jaao.. She is holding my hand as she repeats: Bete so jaao.. Bete so jaao.. The revelation is so real that it seems that I'm awake for real in my sleep as my mom is asking me lovingly to go to sleep while I have her hand with me. The touch of her hand seems so real while my mind wonders if she's really present with me in my room because how could she be as I slept alone in my room, and so it must be a dream, but then what I'm hearing and sensing is real as well. She moves behind my head and I still have her hand held in my hand and it's somehow giving me emotional strength. I don't want to let go of it and she doesn't withdraw it either. It seems that she is going to stay with me while I sleep. I still am feeling her hand in mine as I am now mentally preparing to sleep.

  And then I feel something touch at my ahole and try to lift it and it's when I wake up and hear the immediate sound of a car door getting shut outside as I wake up.

After I was done writing the above, I heard the lady sing:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse, tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse, tu kyu maane na..

A while after I wrote the above, I heard the guy sing:
Ye to sach hai ki bhagwaan hai..
Hai magar phir bhi anjaan hai..

For the past few days, I've been hearing in my Spirit:
Lakk 28 kudi da, 47 weight kudi da!
Mainu kol bulawe, seene laawe. Karda si mein wait kudi da!
Lakk 28 kudi da, 47 weight kudi da!

18:30
As I lay to rest for a while after working for a few hours, I heard:

- Kartika, don't waste time.

And this made me think what else could I do if not rest to recharge me and get back to work. I work as much as I can and when I feel like I'm dropping in my energy levels, I go to bed to rest and recharge but then I start receiving revelations which makes sense because I can't be noting down many new revelations while I'm typing out the old. So I do need the rest even if it comes with revelations.
I don't know if it's a revelation from the restful time but I found it noted down below the above phrase in my revelatory diary.

- I lift up the short and tiny Death Conqueror and push him upwards into me.

A while back while talking to my mom, I happened to ask her if I could have a burger. I felt like having the KA meal again and this time I thought I would save the Bill. I didn't tell my mom my reason behind the order though. She told me a NO as I have had the same a few days back and while I was asking her, I saw:

- A small-framed vision of KA dressed in a white tunic set standing facing me with his head turned to the left as he says: Bhool ja! Bhool ja! with a slight jerk of the neck.

After I wrote the above, I saw:

- The face of KA until slightly below his throat in a bluish-dark shiny background as says to me in an affirmative tone: Kartika tu bahut acchi hai! Kartika tu bahut acchi hai!

The Guy sings:
Chalo bulawa aya hai.. Mata ne bulaya hai..
Ho… Apne parvat pe raani maa ne darbar lagaya hai..

Chalo bulawa aya hai.. Mata ne bulaya hai..

A Precursive Taste of the Mark of The Beast

An informative video by Brother Chad about what it would be like to have the biblical prophecy of the Mark of the Beast seeing fulfillment on Earth.

Wow!!! Thousands Are Lining Up To Have Brain Chips Implanted!!!

Aaja abhi bhi mudkar..
Aaja abhi bhi mudkar.. Yeshu bula raha hai..
Var na yeyaad karle.. Tera hi nash hoga..

Insaaf ka tarazoo.. Yeshu ke haath hoga..

Aaja abhi bhi mudkar..
Aaja abhi bhi mudkar.. Yeshu bula raha hai..

Aaja abhi bhi mudkar..
This line keeps getting highlighted to me in the Spirit. Confirm for yourself if it's for you.

Past Revelations
(Past Week)

- A tiny translucent love heart with a translucent red string attached to it is moving up on the inner surface of my groin brushing lightly against it.
- The letter M with a cojoined K to its right end in a black background which reminds me of how happily I made the 2K's tree artwork during the time that I was making the model diagram. Well, M could stand for various things including Masih.

And while editing one of the previous pages, I came across the revelation in which a short-heighted and lean Naseeruddin Shah came walking in happily to meet me and Glory saying the name of a special type of Kheer which I forgot about but looking at the revelation again pointed me to the term Kheer itself which is K+Heer and on the same page I came across the revelation of Heer Ranjha. So I understood that the special type of Kheer was a reference to me while previously I thought he must be referring to his own self.

Page 588

09 November 2023
06:13

Revelations from last night:

As I lay down to rest/sleep with my eyes covered, I hear:

- A lady resembling Akhila with her hair tied low at the back and dressed in a full-length dress with a small purple floral print and two wide rectangular purple strips running on top across her shoulders meeting down at the front center of her waist as she slowly moves forward on her bicycle looking slightly downwards. The junction behind her seemed to be the one with Rahul's SharmaJi Hunger Point which reminds me of the overweight moustached guy in one of the shops on the left near the turn at the end of the street with Rahul's shop lying at the beginning of it on the right side. That moustached guy was the one who was pointing high to the right in response to my questions related to the location of certain shops which was rephrased later as a vision in which a guy was guiding the tiny me from the first day of school to my class in the way that my dad did.
- This beautiful woman.. This beautiful woman.. This beautiful woman.. This beautiful woman..
- A distant and small-framed vision of the back of Prof M Naimuddin of High Energy Physics from my department slightly bent to the right of a narrow lane and mentioning something to a person standing there as he enters the lane walks into it. He is dressed in an orange shirt thickly checkered in blue and holds vertically straight a conical beige paper cone with 4-5 roses in it in his right hand in front of his upper body.
- A small-framed vision of a wide and muscled HRX dressed in a V-neck sleeveless top unbuttoned until his belly as he's running towards the viewer in a dimly-lit golden background holding a baby loosely but fully wrapped in the thick cloth of a floor mat as he shouts in a righteous angry tone: Badla lunga tera!
- Prof Sanjay Jain dressed in deep red tunic with a black half Jacket on top in a dark background holds the typical wooden Jhadoo in a vertically upright manner as he's vibrating around his position with his body to his left by a bit as he says: We will all take your revenge.
- The face of Prof M Naimuddin (with a lower beard) in a dark background looks at the viewer as he says: We'll all take your revenge.
- A small-framed vision of the upper half of HRX in the attire from his previous vision stands with his body slightly facing towards the left as he says: Badla lunga!
- A close-up vision of the face of an animated RK with a long animated genitalia beside his face as he inserts it high into a tissue tunnel until the brim as he gives an accompanying shout. (As I wrote the revelation, I saw KA say: Ye mein hu!)
- The face of KA facing to the left in my upper mental view until his throat revealing a part of his white tunic as he shouts in a hurt tone: Badla lunga tera..!
- I fall into a brief sleep and experience an outward blow inside my chest accompanied by the term: Bhoot!
- The side-view of a lady resembling the white witch (Tilda Swilton) dressed in an extremely fluffed full-length white dress standing facing to the left in a dark blue night background of a cold region with her arm gently extended forward as a tiny white 3-4 inches monkey walks over it and moves on to an icy slab covered with an icy shed about 1-2 feet above him, as he continues to look in her direction and they both stand facing each other. The tiny monkey seems to be in love with the White

Witch as they look at each other both shining in bright white in the blue of the night. Behind them lies a water body visible through the blue of the night.

- The vision is followed by a voice: Tum bahut sunder ho Kartika. Tum bahut sunder ho.. It repeats several times and different versions of the same sentence keeps repeating for a few minutes.
- A short and yellow translucent water bottle with a narrow and 2 inches long bottle neck.

As I am laying on my right side, and can still hear whispers, I hear in my Spirit the following lyrics from the Worship song 'Yeshu Aaa':

- Tujhe dekhna mein chahu.. Tere aur Yeshu kareeb aau..
  Tujhe dekhna mein chahu.. Tere aur Yeshu kareeb aau..
  Kitna hai tu pyara Prabhu, teri mahima mein sabko sunau..

Dream (Morning):

I see a rectangular pool with some half-naked people inside. I am now out in the open and move towards the entrance of the wide building ahead as I walk through the empty ground. I move in to a huge hall and find the space near the front left corner where my group is supposed to implement the pool art project. I see Kejriwal (Delhi's CM) dressed in a full-sleeved shirt untucked over pants there as well who too is supposedly a part of my art group and I have a brief chat with him.

I see a change in the demeanor of the people around me as they're now exhibiting a different attitude which resembles mine. The scene changes to me being in the Junior wing of my school in the left open corridor present to the left of the main entrance gate. I see a person bent over a table and working on an art project with a demeanor I don't see in many people. I walk towards the corridor in front to get something and out of which comes out walking the tall Sourav Sur (from my dept) dressed in his usual attire of shirt tucked inside pants with his hir neatly combed to the side, along with one more person. He is holding two long conical transparent glasses filled with tea almost to their brim. It makes me think how come they now start having this amount of tea. He is walking seriously towards the place where I saw the person bent over the bench working on an art project. I see that his attitude is resembling mine now as he's getting ready to put his hands to work in that art group with that amount of tea first to be gulped. I like the group now, but I also somewhere am questioning if it's their real self or if they're only mimicking me. But whatever the case, I feel like I'm in the presence of open-minded intellects.

The next scene has all of us sitting on benches in a class, as a guy stands outside in the open with a seemingly snowy background behind him. He's demonstrating his individual art in front of us as he's tying ropes to the beige branches of a withered tree with no leaves. The follow-up art performance has Ravi (my batchmate and Geeta Ma'am's son) with his 4-5 metres wide ship lying on the ground which he is renovating. He stops from working and stands lost in thought for a while because of which I ask him the matter and he replies that he wants to color the ship around some areas. Someone suggests him to use watercolors, but he says it will be washed off by the rain/water. So, I suggest him to use paper as I find a lot of newspapers lying around. He could mold the paper into a hardened substance using glue, color it, and thereby use it to cover the part he so desired. It seems like a good idea to him.. I am now in one of the rooms on the ground floor of the Senior wing of my school built amidst the fields. Again, I find myself being a part of an art group. This time I see Shreya's ex-best friend Khyati (Chachra) fiddling with the cardboard home that I had made. She looks like her self that I remember from school: round and fair face with thick dark brownish hair braided at the back. She has covered the outside afresh with differently colored plain paper and the house looks like a hut in the dream though in real life it's a high rectangular structure with a square base that I made from a cardboard coffee cover. She wants to have a plain window on the surface instead of the embedded one that I had made. I explained to her that I made an embedded window so it could in a way deflect the snow falling on it. The topmost outer slanted protrusion served as a ledge that itself got covered with the snow thereby protecting the insides of the home. It takes me a while to convince her of the same as she finds the plain window desirable. She makes the window plain, pushes it inwards thereby making the outer boundary protrude giving it the original outer look I had designed, then pushes it outwards again making it plain. She does it a few times as I explain to her how the embedded window with protruding boundaries is better. I see she has the fresh cover pasted on the door's front but the edges still need to be folded in to finish the look. I make the point as we happen to observe the inside which resembles the insides of my house, that it was good that I previously covered the inside with the multi-colored floral paper in that intricate manner as it gives the house a unique look which she was now covering outwards with parrot green plain paper on the walls and light purple paper on the hut's shed top. Khyati shows me how she has made a rectangular slit around the place of the name of God I had written inside by slicing it along three sides and covering the slit with the outer paper displacing the name of God from its position and making it ugly and untidy on the inside. It disappoints me but then she's already done the act and I can't do anything about it. So I don't show my uneasy feelings to her. She was supposed to keep the inner surface with the name of God written in red on the white plain surface as such but she wanted to make the outer window plain while she ruined things on the inside. I ignore her act as I can see that this is how things made sense to her and that that's how she thought.

I now leave her with the house and move to interact with another person but now begin the incessant whispers of 'Wow's' coming from a guy behind me. Apparently, there's another fellow in my art group who too is working on an art project but his implementation of the project involves putting something inside my vagina. No one including me is saying anything to this guy about this act, so it gives a sense in the dream as if it was his allotted task. He is present behind me and I can sense that he is prodding the insides of my groin with something inserted through the backside as he continues with his: Wow.. Wow.. Wow.. Wow.. Wow.. Wow.. And he doesn't take a break. I go from interacting with one person to another, but this fellow keeps prodding my groin from behind me with that thing as he continues to say: Wow.. Wow.. Wow.. Wow.. He is somehow able to do it through my Jeans or trousers without him having to remove them as he sits behind me. His act is not arousing me as he's not hitting the apparent diamond so I'm able to sit unaffected through his act and interact normally with others ignoring the sensations. Also, I'm not diving into the experience in the dream therefore his act isn't having a lot of effect on me. I hear the Wows for a long time in the dream as I am sitting on the desk and continue interacting with different people. I look back to take a look at this fellow, and find a lean man dressed in a purple suit with thin golden pipings around the ends of the sleeves. He is sitting on the bench behind me and benches are at a level lower than the desks so my ass is directly in front of him, and I find that he is holding a long and thin metallic stick in his hand which he is putting inside my groin through the back side and he just keeps moving it to and fro slowly inside. I then see as a third person the top-view of him putting that 1.5-2 feet long and thin metallic stick into my groin through the backside and not making it inside the tissue tunnel as he can't see clearly but even while being outside, he keeps moving the stick around and continues with his Wows, while other times - he's able to make it inside. I turn my head back to the front as he still continues to prode my insides with that metallic stick with Wows.., and I get up from my seat after a while. His art project involved putting that solid metallic stick into my groin. As I move ahead leaving the man, I see a slim girl with her hair tied low at the back sitting on one of the benches in front and I sense her to be a good match for him as she's an uptown girl looking for a downtown man. So I point to her and say: Uptown Girl and then I face the guy behind her, point to him and say: Downtown man. I continue walking towards the exit when I come across another unusual guy sitting on a wooden chair placed right in front of the middle row. He's dressed in a loose lavender t-shirt with a central anime print over an off-white pants and looks like a Korean with black hair. He's holding a notebook opened in his lap as he is a frontliner and doesn't have a desk or table to place it on, and is serious about what's being taught in the class. It seems that the guy is characterful along with being cute, but then who can see through the hearts of people? I walk past the guy and exit the room leaving the art group behind in the room.

I walk by some classes through the corridor and look at the white wall at the far end of the corridor with graffiti on it. I notice the writings in dull black, stopping there for a while, and then take a left turn into a spacious room which is apparently the teacher's room. I wash my hands that are supposedly dirty from having a meal in the washbasin present on the right side of the wall facing the door of the room and when I turn back, I come across some people chatting in the room. I see the upper half of a chubby wheatish lady with a short and straight blunt hairstyle and a dark moustache area. She looks cute and is dressed in a parrot green tunic set with a white drape running around her neck. She is standing facing to the left and is talking to another woman in front of her and explaining something to her or having a discussion in quite a humble tone. I then leave those people behind and continue towards the door and come across an extremely thin but very dark lady of almost the same height as the chubby lady. She too is dressed in a parrot green suit with a white drape around her neck and has her slightly curly hair open at the back. She says something in a loud and authoritative tone and then smiles out her white teeth. I cross her by and briefly notice her way of talking which seemed bold in the moment but now when I think of it, it seemed to come with an uncomfortable aura and it wasn't something righteous either that she was making that bold statement about which would have made sense, but she was saying a casual thing in that loud and thick voice. As I pass her by and am about to exit the room, I wake up from the dream and find myself actually admiring the loud lady but now that I think of it, her posture of talking seems too stressful and not healing to me!

Post waking up:

- A small-framed vision of Jyoti Ma'am (Prof Jyoti Rajput from my dept) dressed in a green and yellow tunic looking at me as she says: He's coming to kill you.
- A small-framed vision of me standing on the ground hall of my dept away from the lift as I see Jyoti Ma'am entering the hall turning to the left and taking the lift.
- After a while, I see her dressed in the same clothes from the above visions as she was bent over me and kissing me while I lay on my bed.

I kept lying on my bed, and the chorus of the following song began playing in the Spirit. I decided to get up and write revelations and a lot had been pending to be written. I chose to brush my teeth first because I hadn't brushed the previous day as well and was feeling too dirty in my mouth. While brushing teeth, the following song continued to play in my Spirit with the following lyrics highlighted.

The Guy sings:
Ab hain saamne, ise chu lu zara..
Mar jau yaa jee lu zara..

Ajay-Atul - Abhi Mujh Mein Kahin Best Lyric|Agneepath|Priyanka Chopra,Hrithik|Sonu Nigam

Now that I look at these abusive people who have been judging me with all sorts of stupid and false judgments and making degrading comments about me, I see how they themselves are so limited and confined in their living and perception because I've open thought patterns that don't follow a certain route while the abusive ones think in normal and structured ways and overcomplicate things unnecessarily. They are not just normal and structured but immoral as well! They judge what they don't understand: the cliché holds true in this case. They're good at copying the moral traits of others without really possessing them.

I felt fatigued after briefly typing the dream and therefore chose to sleep for a while. In my brief sleep, I saw:

- I am in a room with has a well-built, muscular and a bald doctor with tiny spiky hair on his head who is dressed in a blue suit with a white shirt inside. I take a jump with a statement resembling: Doctor tera to sir phodunga, and am now hovering at a high level above him near the ceiling inside the room and I keep coming down at him to hit his head but he dodges my attack every time and I am not able to cause him harm.

****

Past Revelations

- (Past month) Shawn from Yeshu Ke Geet gets an abrupt forehead hit as he sits on his stool in his song video Hallelujah Stuti Gaye Hum.
- Also, this scene from a Bollywood movie in which Konkona Sen Sharma is standing in front of her new boss played by an actor I don't know the name of, as she comments how he eats in a really messy way and spills things around but is also a leader and a very creative person, has been being highlighted to me several times. While she's talking, he's eating some fast food that he has spilled all over himself.

****

12:14

- I was editing the Page 586 when I saw KA say: Kartika tujhe attention nahi chahiye.. Kartika tujhe attenton nahi chahiye..

15:29

While I was cleaning my room, I saw:
Prof Hashmi from my dept looks sad as he says: We will never have another you. We will never have another you.
Likewise, Prof Naimuddin says in a similar tone as he seems to be crying while saying: We won't get another you after you. We won't get another you after you.
And then he repeats: We will all take your revenge.

They were saying above: She's great!

They're making the point that there isn't going to be another to fill the role I played or perform the tasks of God with as much popularity and wide reach as me because my familial and scientific background leads me to seem relatable to a wider audience.

Somewhere earlier in the morning, I saw Glory dressed in a white tunic set looking at me as he said:

- Kartika tu itni achhi nahi ho sakti! Tu itni acchi nahi ho sakti! This makes me think why is saying so! What did I do to him!?

And today while washing clothes I was thinking about the first healing dream which also happened to be my first dream from the Holy Spirit when I started receiving revelations, and I then told myself it was indeed going to come to pass like the other situations did. And in that dream, I had a camera placed close to my hands placed on the head of Death Conqueror as they wanted to see closely if I wasn't tricking them in some way while I prayed for him. And I saw how after he was healed, when I turned away from him after he had walked away and was out of my sight, I saw a whole group of people with a lady walking forth with a mic held in her hand as I told her God did this. And I saw how God had shown me the moment He would be glorified in front of everyone long back and in that moment these moments of shame that I had to go through would cease to hold any importance because everyone would know that I am His child and work for Him and not a prostitute like these people had been trying to make me feel! It was today that I gained that strong faith because by this time, I had encountered enough number of revelations that had come to pass and therefore I had no doubt that the healing dream would as well while previously, I was thinking that I was going to be dead soon and that how would I do the things that God showed me at the very beginning.

But today I gained that rock strong faith because I saw the grounds being made for that revelation of the healing done by just a whisper made possible by the mighty Holy Spirit of God.

With a whisper.. We will tame the vicious seas..
Like a feather, bringing kingdoms to their knees..

I was still in the washroom when this specific scene from Kungfu Panda 2 was highlighted to me in which Shen asks Po how was he able to find inner peace after everything he had done to destroy his life. He tells him that he took away his parents and everything and scarred him for life and yet Po found inner peace while Shen never did so.

The lady sings: Banake kyu bigada re..

KUNG FU PANDA 2 Clip - "Final Fight With Shen" (2011)

Today I told myself with a firm faith that that dream was indeed going to come to pass and so I could let go of everything that these people had to say to me to insult or discourage me in some way. I understood that God was giving me revelations to create His perception of reality in my mind. And His perception says that I'm doing creative work while these people would make it look like I'm doing the work of a prostitute. According to God, I've the anointing of Deborah who served as a judge for the Israelites as she judged situations well and people used to come to her with their disputes to be solved.

The Lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse.. Tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse.. Tu kyu maane na..

It's almost as if God is equipping me with things - the right mindset, inner strength, faith, reliance on Him instead of worldly security - that I would need when I begin to walk in that ministry.

And He took me through a beautiful phase before sending me into that direction. Because the revelations He gave were not fleshly but love-filled.

I went to ask Chaaru for a half tiffin around 14:22 and I told her about the granularity present in the dinner from the last night. At first, she said: Dekh lungi! And what I understood from her reply was that she was referring to checking the current meal out for the matter, or perhaps that she would be careful while making rotis this time. So, I replied with an affirmative Hmm. She said again: Dekh Lungi! And I replied again with a Hmm. After all, she was agreeing to rectify the possible reasons behind the incident last night. So, I felt good around her. She then replied that it must be because of something left in Methi. When she came to deliver the tiffin, she was mimicking my internal tongue movements that I make to remove the residue from my teeth as it annoys me if it stays stuck there. I understood that she was putting me down for some reason but I didn't really understand the reason. But regardless of her act, I still felt the same way for her since I've been feeling since I understood her persona and smiled at her with a Thank You. She didn't understand my reaction, but it was what came naturally to me.

When I started having my meal, I saw:

- Chaaru says: We don't deserve you, Kartika. We don't deserve you, Kartika.
  The vision repeats again.
- She repeats again: None of us deserves you, Kartika.

Ohh. She took it as an attack. She thought I was attacking their cooking instead of just sharing an incident from the last night. She shouldn't have taken my normal complaint to an extreme. I had faced granularity one more time previously but then I didn't complain as I thought it was not always the case. But this time I thought of letting her know.

As I was having the lunch, I thought of making tea to have along with.

While I was having my meal with tea, I saw:

- A small-framed vision of KA dressed in a white tunic in a dim shiny navy blue background says to me looking at me: You're not like us Kartika. You're not like us Kartika.
- The vision repeats with Glory repeating the same statement being dressed in a white tunic set: You are not like the rest of us, Kartika. You're not like the rest of us, Kartika. You don't think like us.
- It is followed by KA saying: None of us deserves you. None of us deserves you.
  It made me ask myself: do I look that despicable, or am I too poor, or perhaps I am in a bad career situation?

As they're repeating these, I see:

- A huge Nivedita Deo standing in front of me as she repeats looking down at me: You're not like us! You're not like us! I don't know in what sense she's making that comment to me. I can't have an attitude like them and go around dealing with the needy the way God wants me to deal with them. Their worldly situation and attitude because of it is useless in the eyes of God. I have the nature needed to interact humbly in a genuine love-filled manner with a wide audience. That's how He has trained me now because previously I used to be reserved and avoided interacting with others.

It was while I was having my meal that I understood her reply of Dekh Lungi! in the way most people would or perhaps that was the way she said it.

Further things I hear:

- You're too good for any of us!

- You're too perfect! (internally)

  Well, that's what I had been thinking about Glory when he was in his waiting period and now KA as they behaved so patiently. Because I would have been too angry if I had to wait for long. But then it would only be the case when I've asked them directly to come meet me and they've agreed and are then making me wait. In this case alone, will I not wait for long. While if someone never invited me directly in a normal way, I wouldn't feel like going to their place because it would seem weird to me. But still, I looked at their patience though they never said things directly, but it was a twisted kind of patience! But still their continued good behavior towards me made me think that though they didn't invite me directly behaved in weird ways to some extent, still they were expecting to meet me and then I looked at how they had been quite patient with their wait. I thought: Look! KA is so perfect. He didn't judge harshly the way I looked, unlike Glory about whom when I thought, what was highlighted to me was my lower belly! Likewise, I thought RS was too patient as well! Also, prior to having my meal, I was fixing the string of golden lights in my room and as I did so, I thought how could someone who looked perfect according to worldly standards and then was successful in his career as well think of being with me as I was recalling the I love Kartika Aryana revelation in which a pink cloud rose out of my chest and took the shape of the words, and this other revelation of a brown bear with black eyes in the heart shape made by the hands of KA along with the movie revelation of Bhola Bhaalu and Hero Hiran. It didn't make a lot of sense to me so I thought he must be someone great in character because he didn't look at things of no significance but looked at the core values of who I was. In that way, I formed a really good impression of KA and others who had good thoughts about me. Now for God to love me the way He does, makes a lot of sense because He created me and I being His creation who knows Him am obliged to love others the same way as He has loved me because I am to be like Him to be called His child. But KA and others didn't have an exclusive bond with God and they were not under any obligation to love an average-looking person the way they did, and no one told them to love an out-of-shape, beige, and hairy woman, but they felt it within themselves by themselves. So, it shows the greatness of their character, and then they didn't judge me the way Akhila and her group did for they highlighted shallow things about me while RS and KA admired my inner qualities as I could tell from their behavior later when I missed the moment like I did with Chaaru for I didn't understand what she meant in the moment but understood it later. With them, it was later that I wondered if that person was really RS or KA while I stayed confused in the moment as I'm mostly concerned about behaving in the right way or doing things the right way when in the open and unless someone comes to me directly, I'm prone to stay in confusion regarding their motive of being there as that's not how I think. I approach people directly instead of employing indirect means, like I told Chaaru directly about the problem I faced in the meal last night instead of saying it in a covert way. This way of interaction is based on the premise that the other person will acknowledge and understand what (s)he is being told. I was expecting Chaaru to understand but it wouldn't have made sense to me if she had replied indirectly to me while saying something to her mother-in-law which I would have counted as stupidity.

  But I found KA as someone great! Someone really great and I thanked God for bringing such people in my life and His kingdom through me! I now understand why God chose them! I was recalling yesterday y previous revelations given to me by the Holy Spirit and I understood that they all pertained to real heart-states in specific situations. For instance, when I was lying on with my head turned to a side with a disturbed expression as I was having a headache, it reminded me of the revelation in which KA laid on top of Juhi Chawla with her head turned in that manner having a disturbed expression. So I knew that though my state was that of a headache, KA's was what I saw in the vision. Likewise, in the vision where he was feeding me a yellow cubic snack from a table filled with tea-time snacks, it told me about his heart.

As I wrote the above, I kept hearing a guy's voice sing:

Bhool ja.. Jo hua use bhool ja..
Hai kasam tujhe.. Muskura..

With an emphasis on Bhool ja..

But the revelations are there to stay as they're given by God. How can one erase the Word released by God? Whatever I saw in the past months, I took them from a heavenly perspective in the sense that I was expecting to meet those people in heaven as I also wrote somewhere earlier.

And I got impressed by KA's and RS' humble nature because they understood me and I understood them as God revealed their heart states to me. They exhibited godly traits to a great extent that's why God reached out to them through me.

And in the Spirit, we all possess a Spirit man of our own who lives inside of all of us.

Anyway. While Glory looks innocent to me, it was KA that had the greatest influence over me because of the kind of revelations God gave me.

And then I also recalled the revelation in which he came dressed in a sports uniform resembling Shohoku's from Salm Dunk and asked me: Kisne pareshaan kiya Kartika tumhe to which I to the left to Death Conqueror standing there following which he immediately floated straight to his side and started punching him. This also carries truth.

In this way, when I looked at the revelations, I saw how they captured real-life situations in a straightforward representation. And then I looked at the revelation from A-10 in which I saw myself with my t-shirt lifted up in front of KA revealing my breasts as I looked at him with a wide teethfull and shining eyes and it had come as a real surprise to me at the time of the reception. But then in this place, this certain I happened to lift up my shirt to remove it to take a bath but then ended up revealing my breasts because the strapless bra had slid downwards and then I was stressed out the entire day and felt terrible and was filled with some amount of hatred for the short fellow as well! I hated him in that moment! And then later during the evening, I recalled the KA revelation from A-10 in which I stood smiling in that posture in front of the fellow which confused and I thought that perhaps God gave me that revelation to psychoanalytically heal me of this scenario that I was going to face later as He knew that I found KA safe and moral, unlike these abusers. So I understood it as a healing antidote revelation but I didn't really see any effect in making me feel better about the incident from earlier during the day. But within a few hours, I had this state take over me where I was okay with doing and would be feeling delighted just as was shown in the revelation, not because I had become immoral but because I felt that level of intimacy with him, and it was then that the revelation made sense to me. That revelation showed that I stood like that only in front of KA and not anyone else and that was how it manifested as well. And I saw how true it was. Though I don't possess that state now as I've reverted back to my righteous self but when I had understood the revelation, I had a mindset of wanting to do the same. So, when I understood that revelation, I understood other revelations as well, though not all pertained to my heart state.

The Lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse.. Tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse.. Tu kyu maane na..

As I was writing the above, I saw:

- My mom comes at the back of my head with a danda with a furious expression.
- My dad comes walking in angrily as he says: Kya kar rahi hai ye yaha pe! Kya kar rhi hai ye yaha pe!

Both of them scare me to an extent now. All that I am capable of doing without facing any problems now is God's work which includes healing, casting off demons or other things of the Spirit, as no one can stop me or pose a hindrance in my way in doing these things. They can create problems in the publication of my Paper, or the completion of my PhD. They can pose problems in the next firm I happen to work with. But one job that they can never put their feet in my path in is the job that's done through the Holy Spirit. If God wants me to heal someone, they can't do anything to stop it. If He wants me to cast off a demon by praying for someone, again, they can't do anything about it. It's something that I would just speak out a prayer for in the name of Jesus and it will be done if it's God's will. So, when I look at my current situation, I can see that these people can only create problems in my life in worldly situations and not in the tasks assigned by God to me. They can send abusive messengers on the road to harass me mentally, or my new job or even the current one but they've literally no power on the task of God that He wants to fulfil through my life.

And then some days back within the past week or so while standing at the balcony, I saw how if I was to not walk in the Will of God or was to live a life free of suffering, how it would be of no real use for his kingdom. Because now that I've to come to Him, I can't think about living a problem free life and am expected to face problems. And I was thinking if I wasn't in this situation facing the oppression which actually fulfilled God's purpose and brought His sheep to Him, what better thing could I do. It would just a redundant thing to do in the matrix with no real objective of significance achieved. So I understood that if I had to be useful for His purpose, I had to be okay with going through suffering as well, and His purpose is always noble and is never aimed at achieving an ungodly purpose. So this day I understood that if we've to be useful to God, we have to be willing to go through some situations. And if in the process one faces harm, but it achieves the purpose of God, it's still useful for God, while if one just lives for oneself to fulfil one's own purposes like this short fellow does, it's a useless life for God because it doesn't achieve any of His purpose. But then everyone has their respective roles in God's great plan. I shouldn't think of myself as being someone who's above God like these people do.

The Lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse.. Tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse.. Tu kyu maane na..

They're useless for God in a way. Because they don't just not follow His statutes but also deliberately violate them and resort to wicked satanic ways to achieve things. They can be of use by creating the situation(s) that leads to His purpose being eventually fulfilled but they can't be the direct hands and feet of Jesus unless they internally transform. As I wrote the last few lines, I saw:

- A short-heighted and seemingly dusty Death Conqueror dressed in a grey jacket crying with mouth wide-open as he turns his head to the left.

18:24

After typing for long, I lie on my bed to rest for a while and hear music being played outside. It reminds me of the music from the following song, and as I am listening to it, I see:

- A white lady in the texture of an opaque glass with her form seemingly dressed soberly in Saree which too is represented as having the same texture as her as she moves her arms together to one side in abrupt pop dance moves, and she performs a few more dance moves.

Europe -The Final Countdown (lyrics)

I continue resting and then I hear:

Pet kut raha hai.. Pet kut raha hai..

And I've heard this sentence previously as well. I looked below at my belly and adjusted my top a bit as I laid down crossed legs on the bed.

I also kept hearing the beginning melody of the song Bol Do Na Zara.. with the opening lines playing in my Spirit. I don't know who they correspond to but they make me think of KA for some reason.

I continued resting for a while more and then decided to get up. While I was having the small Mirinda, I saw:

- Glory in a white tunic tells a no with a smile moving his vertically raised forefinger horizontally in front of his middle.

And for the past few days, the following lines have been playing in my Spirit as well.

The lady sings:

I wish I had a diamond heart…! Oh o Ooh..

I would give you all my love.. If it was unbreakable..

I wish I had a diamond heart…! Oh o Ooh..

Alan Walker ft Sia Diamond Heart Lyrics Video

And I think they go along with the movements I have been feeling around my heart for a few days. This day as well I kept hearing while having lunch:

- Dil nirastra ho gaya. Dil nirastra ho gya..

Once when I was walking towards the stairs after church, I had a child walking in front of me and her dress's zip at the back was slightly open. So, I closed it fully, and as I did so, the drone inside hit at my heart making it bounce outwards to such a great extent that I thought that if it had hit harder, my heart would have blasted out of my body.

20:28
He loves you, Kartika.

21:56
It occurred to me to order sugarfree pellets to use in tea and so I did along with two more things on the Zepto App. After placing the order, I went to use the washroom to see if I would be able to clean bowels and as I sat on the commode, I saw:

- The past vision of the top-view of the logo of KA from his Mcdonalds' Meal with his upper half making a heart shape in front of his chest on the inner right side of the commode as the vision beats rhythmically up and down like heartbeats, and this time it continues for a longer while. I know that it's a sin to show ass and I don't feel about it either so I choose to get up and not try harder as I am not having contractions though my bowels are not empty. As I am finalizing my decision to get up, I see the top-view of a vertically erect male genitalia inside the commode and pointing at my ahole making me not delay to stand up!

After receiving the Zepto order, when I was putting things in place in the kitchen area,

- I kept hearing the chorus of the Hai Love Mera Hit Hit song and other parts of the song in my Spirit.

The Guy sings:
Aaja lagja gale se mere tha karke
Tha tha karke.. tha tha karke..

Saari duniya se ishq bayan karke…
That ha karke.. tha tha karke..

Lagja gale se mere tha karke
Tha tha karke.. tha tha karke..
Saari duniya se ishq bayan karke…
That ha karke.. tha tha karke..

As I wrote the above, I saw:

- KA dressed in his attire from the McDonalds logo kisses me happily on my bed as he stabs his genitalia a few times.

I ordered momos to have the red chili sauce as it's quite effective in cleaning bowels efficiently. While waiting for the order, I was looking at how I had been getting mentally involved in the fleshly revelations that I had been receiving. I mean they were having an effect on me implying that my heart wasn't fully guarded. And what pointed my attention to the discord between my behavior and my inner heart state was the fact that I was lying on the bed with legs stretched forth crossed over each other and wasn't having any fleshly thought but then I received the following revelation:

- I remove my jeans and sit on my bed with vertically folded legs stretched sideways and I seem to be in a tense state.

And I didn't mean this for the general public but specific individual(s), or perhaps I didn't have anything or anyone but the fact that the drones had been stimulating my genitals all this time had this subconscious desire emerge in my mind and it was quite opposite to my posture. And it made me really look at my inner state and not how I was behaving on the outside. But at the same time, I knew what was wrong and would be considered a sin, so that knowledge dictated my outer behavior! But God was revealing to me perhaps what I deep down wanted to do. This had me quite vigilant about my inner state and I knew that I had to not want or desire what I was doing instead of somewhere wanting it on the inside but rebuking the thought categorizing it as sin, which would be considered the perfect way of not sinning. So, though we may think we are being perfect by rebuking ungodly thoughts and behaving in the perfect way, a still deeper version of perfection would require not wanting to commit those sins, or if one gets a thought – to immediately rebuke it and run away from it!

After I received the order, and was back upstairs, I had the following visions:

- Death Conqueror dressed in a grey jacket says: I do not possess even half of your character. And perhaps it will take me my entire life to inculcate a sense of morality that would be considered close to yours but I may never achieve the same.
- Followed by: I do not possess even one-tenth of your character.

I had it immediately, and within a few minutes of having the red chili sauce with momos, I started having a burning sensation in my stomach and I could feel bowel contractions. It worked much quicker than I had expected. While I was moving in the room with the burning sensation, I heard in my Spirit the lady sing:

Jaanu mein to jaanu teri baatein meethi meethi
Par karu kaise tujhpe bharosa..
Badi mushkil hai ye darta hai dil hai ye hona jaye kahi koi dhokha..

Attempt 1:
I went to the washroom to clean up my bowels, but the contractions stopped after the passage of accumulated gas. I knew that they were not going to begin any sooner. So, I got up quickly.
The burning sensation continued, and I knew that I would be having contractions again.

Attempt 2:
As I am now again going to use the washroom, I see the face of Glory in a dark background as he says:

- Nashta karne ka kya legi!? Nashta karne ka kya legi!? He repeats it a few times.

Again, more accumulated gas passes out. It accumulates if the waste keeps lying inside the bowels which is so often the case with those who face constipation. After its passage, I see:

- KA in a white tunic set blocks his nose as he seems disgusted followed by him turning away with a jump with horizontally folded knees as he says: I'm leaving. I'm free..!

The contractions stop again, and I can see that they won't begin any sooner and neither can I force clean my bowels, so I leave the room.

The burning sensation in my belly continues and I can't sit peacefully at one place either and this time it seems I will definitely end up cleaning my bowels.

Attempt 3:
So, I go to the washroom again and because of contractions accompanied with the right posture, I am able to clean up my bowels quite quickly and as I do so, I see:

- A 5-6 inches long tiny baby wrapped in a white cloth comes out and falls upside down into the commode along with the poop.
- The lady sings:
  Ik bas tu hi meri pehli pehli aarzo hai..
  Tu hi meri aakhiri tamanna..
  Naam bas tera maine dil pe likha hai
  Meri aankhon mein basa hai year sapna..
  accompanied by the dance step from the song with SRK standing behind DP facing to the right dressed in her rainbow attire as he's rubbing his right thigh.
- The top-view of the face of Glory in the commode stabbing upwards at me with a dagger in his hand carrying a fierce expression.
- A smiling face of Death Conqueror towards the end which is resembling a bit with Sherlock Holmes's face.
- A voice says that I am both smart and cute.

While I'm washing hands, I am thinking of how I avoided getting becoming a part of love triangles easily as I had my morals straight. If I was with someone, why would I be with a different person. But I saw how I got in this unusual situation where I wasn't yet fixed with a specific person but kept receiving revelations from different people about their heart-states. I was thinking how if I was married, I would be very strict in my conduct and wouldn't think or fall for other people but in this situation, I had now had enough revelations with some people changing my heart for them which wouldn't have happened without the Spirit of God. So, I learned that God was teaching me an important principle which was related to Him having several angels as His beloved servants in the Heavenly realm so I too should be ideally okay if my partner wanted to have multiple wives by the same logic though I am not ok with it and am a monogamous person, but it was a common practice in the Old Testament. God made me understand how one could have a genuine love for multiple people at once while previously it would've seemed an impossible and immoral thing to me but now I understood the base behind it, and he made me understand it by a number of revelations. The first one being me holding a cup and taking it to the King along with other people around me who too were walking to the King. And on my way, I saw a baker walk out of his hut alone with a cake he had baked and then he was taken away for judgment. A cupbearer is closer to the king as he hands the cup in the king's hand and perhaps even tastes the contents before handing it out to make sure if it's worth giving it to the king. While a baker bakes eatables and decorates the common dining table with the stuff for everyone and doesn't share the same intimacy with the King. So, Jesus had me understand that I had to be a cupbearer even if it meant that I was part of a group. I couldn't be a distant baker who didn't really know the King. A cupbearer knows the King intimately. And then I saw how other believers share an intimate bond with Jesus as their husband as well and how He truly cares for all of them according to their individual needs. He knows what each one prefers and is well acquainted with their personalities and knows the best way He could nurture them without having them to suppress any specific part of their persona. Like He used my creative self for His own kingdom purpose, and then He gave me the model's revelation as He knows I have a scientific bent and I love to think and understand things in unusual ways. He told me I was Rihanna and later compared me to Adele as well and not some other singer because He knew that I love to sing western songs in bold high tones and I don't like very thin high-pitched voices. So He compared me to singers whose voices matched my way of singing when they sang. So in a way, He boosted my persona. And He does this with all His children. He pointed out my specialties, how I look down at the mundane world and its usual ways and how I don't find it worth being a part of it. He showed me as having two white wings while I was looking down at the systems of the world. Because to a real fairy, the artificial world is supposed to be boring but he or she is going to be happy in natural surroundings!

God never oppresses or tries to turn us into someone with immoral values He taught and made me understand the underlying principle behind polygamy though we are not called to have several married partners as it pulls us further into the world as Paul suggested for a man to have one woman as wife for himself and for him to love her the way Christ loved the church.

So while washing hands, I was comparing my previous understanding with the new things God taught me. If my moral husband wanted to have another wife, I have now understood the principle behind it and I would find it easier to accept it if he wasn't inflicting abuse on me or if the other woman was not abusive towards me in which case I would have no option but to leave. But for me, I know that I am the happiest in a monogamous setting. I remember how satisfying the idea of having one bond seemed to me when God had not worked on my mind and opened it. But staying committed and content with one spouse is a great quality too and it's not everybody's cup of tea as several people find it stifling but to me, it seems to bring fulfillment to my soul as that's how I originally was and I know how idealistic things are in a monogamous setting and how fulfilling they seem. But a loss in such a setting is also extremely difficult to bear which is decreased in a polygamous situation. I can be strictly monogamous because the underlying principle was already ingrained in my brain before I understood the other way of looking at things. But I still prefer monogamy.

Well, I was actually looking at the process of me falling for different individuals. I saw that after the promise was made, the process began with Glory, though I was having a soft corner for Death Conqueror previously as well just by the virtue of his short and thin stature, but then I can control my emotions depending on the conduct of the other individual and I saw that he was behaving in weird ways that I didn't understand instead of coming across as a normal person.

Also, God gave me revelations in which I was dancing together with three men behind me which He already showed me as a revelation though it doesn't go along with my inner self. The basic behind it all is that one has to just be willing to be in a polygamous relationship unlike the case of a monogamous one which is based on a strong inner conviction of being committed to one individual a failure is do which is considered as falling short of the moral standard. But then we have King Solomon from the Old Testament who was given the gift of wisdom and who took hundreds of wives and concubines for himself. But then we have Isaac and Rebekah who stayed committed to each other alone until the end. Isaac didn't even have a concubine. So we have different kinds of people. I find it hurtful to be in a polygamous relationship and I can understand the hurt that would be caused to my monogamous partner if I was having multiple husbands which is not a biblically good situation to be in, but God gave me a flavor of how things operate in a polygamous setting.

I recalled the revelation of Sherlock Holmes' face with two golden candies in his eyes and a black rotating rose at the place of his mouth. It was a very unique revelation pertaining to his personality and character. Likewise, God gave me unique revelations pertaining to John Wick and Jack from Titanic. So, I ended up thinking in this way. And then I thought that if I kept receiving revelations, I would keep adding to my group, and there would be no end to adding people with such a mindset, and then I figured by looking inside that in real life I wouldn't even expect or accept advances or attention from a different person if I was already having a spouse. But when receiving the revelations, they were given to me under the premise that I was open to them though in real life I am not open. So if I had first met Jack and later John Wick, I would be exercising boundaries with John Wick. Likewise, I would be exercising boundaries with Sherlock Holmes if I happened to meet him after I was already with Jack or KA or Glory or Death Conqueror or anyone else. But in the revelatory world, I wasn't allowed to exercise boundaries as they revealed the present or future heart-states which I didn't know at the time what they represented. I continued receiving revelations one after the other and then I was looking at the perfect trio: Jack, John Wick, and Sherlock Holmes – how each one was perfect in one's own self and incomparable and therefore couldn't be left out. Well, this is the way God thinks about us, and not how I think about men or women! So, if either one of Glory, KA or someone else were calling me wife, why would I accept or expect advances from other people? – as simple as that! That's how a monogamous mind thinks. But at the same time, I understood how a polygamous person looks at his group of spouses who are incomparable with themselves. Jack, John Wick, and Sherlock Holmes are all incomparable and great at their respective places but a monogamous person wouldn't see someone other than their spouse as being great or greater than his/her spouse – that's what sustains a monogamous relationship. They may appreciate the qualities of a different person but they won't desire the person for themselves because they would know that several people would have the same qualities that they're desiring in that person other than their spouse.

As I wrote the last sentence, I saw:

- DP dressed in a sober satin white saree with its drape spread fully across her front sits to the right of RS who is bent forward towards the viewer keenly reading the stuff as she hits the back of his head lightly gesturing with her hand for him to notice that specific sentence with a corrective countenance.

So, they would find the idea of running after that other individual immoral and selfish. Now God can make us run after people to bring them to His kingdom. God made me experientially understand the difference between the two mindsets and I would choose a system that doesn't hurt my God-ordained partner. At the same time, I know that God won't keep me in an abusive marital situation for long even if it was monogamous, and would rather perhaps shift me to a polygamous situation. And whichever system we follow, we are called to love Jesus the most though it shouldn't be a hindrance in us expressing our love to our covenant partner.

While washing my hands, I was gathering together the above analysis and how I ended up in this state and I identified the points that allowed for this mental situation to manifest. I figured that in the absence of cameras in real life, I would be a very boundaried person and there would be no chance of me cheating on my partner unless I married someone other than whom I knew beforehand and happened to find more desirable in which case I would be drawn to that other person I already knew and already desired more than my spouse whom I married. In such a case, one has to keep one's heart guarded and employ no Contact with that other individual for the healthy sustenance of one's marriage.

Earlier during the day:

- KA dressed in a white tunic says looking at me: Randi tu nahi, mein hu!

The vision repeats several times throughout the day.

- Glory dressed in a white tunic says looking at me: Randi tun nahi, mein hu!
- Death Conqueror in a white tunic says looking at me: Randi tu nahi, mein hu!

Page 589.

10 November 2023
10:51

Last Night as I lay to rest on bed after writing the section on monogamy and polygamy, I began (a voice says: Ab ye footegi!) to experience rubs against my clitoris and I could tell that this was being done intentionally. It continued for a while with sudden peaks in intensity and I looked at what could've possibly changed for the fellow to now exhibit this new behavior which wasn't present until before. I figured in my reasoning that it could be because of my written section on monogamy and polygamy which the fellow liked and therefore now wanted to please me as he felt a sense of intimacy. For the first time, I felt this new sense of intimacy while previously I was mostly feeling abused, and whatever love I had was because of God's given revelations, my own nature, and how God guided me in His ways. If God hadn't shown me the truth, my heart wouldn't have changed.

After a short while of when the rubs began, I saw:

- Akshay Kumar dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt with a very wide cubical iron hammer in his hand comes down at my groin with it!

This night I experienced intimacy the way God knew I preferred because it was aimed at pleasing me as well. It later reminded me of the past vision in which a finger was rubbing itself on my clitoris and this other previous revelation in which I lay beside Glory with a vertically erect penis which I understood later to be my organ of physical pleasure or pleasure point (pp). My understanding and thoughts were my own as I never had an interaction with this person. So I could've been wrong in my perception of this act as well. Because for me it was a form of bonding and not having food that one ejects out after absorbing its nutrients. But I gave him the benefit of the doubt in that moment.

Prabhu ka dhanyawaad karunga..
Uski sangati mein sada rahunga..
Saath chalunga mein jai, jarur paunga..
Saath chalunga mein jai, jarur paunga..
Prabhu ka dhanyawaad karunga..

This night, I had a sensationally better experience though it didn't decrease the stress load caused by other situations.
And during the time, I saw:

- About a cm thick light pink clitoris extended straight forward away from the viewer in a lit background, as a hand rubbed on top of it along its direction with the other hand apparently present below it.

As I continued lying down in the bed, I saw:

- The upper half of Mukesh Khanna from (Shaktimaan) until slightly below his shoulders dressed in a finally checkered beige coat in a dim golden background with a black cap on his head as he's moving his jaw in discrete up and down motions with the end of his tongue sticking to the inner edge of his lower lip.

Somewhere during the night, before falling asleep, I saw:

- 'Following' written in translucent black on a dark background.
- A single piece of the snack resembling Kurkure held vertically straight in a hand by its tip. (I found that small packet I had later the next day as I was sifting through my snack rack and had the same.)

I have been hearing this phrase intermittently in my Spirit for the past few days:

- Lipta hua hai tujhse.. Lipta hua hai tujhse..

Dream (Morning):

Pankaj Chachra (Khyati's cousin brother) comes and informs me of something following which I have to make a route on a road through a dense green zone with several dense trees on the sides. It almost looks like a wilderness.

I wake up after this dream and see that it is quite early in the morning and as I continue lying in bed, I have the following revelations.

Post waking up:

I begin feeling the rubs at my pp again. I know that I've a dream at hand that I need to write but I don't feel any strength to get up. I wanna lie in bed for a while, and then I've now begin to experience a sense of intimacy with this fellow because of this constant presence around me and then I keep hearing these sounds through the drones and God has revealed several reconciling revelations by now so I no longer feel that repulsive attitude towards him that I felt before because of the camera situation. And I've had several revelations of apology though none were said directly but could've been implied in indirect ways and then I saw the cute fellow in a skyblue winter top over navy blue trousers sobbing standing in an upright manner which again served to melt my heart. Now, I understand that there must be a reason why God didn't reveal it earlier because the incident was way back from late 2019 or early 2020. If God had given me revelations earlier, my heart would've had a different trajectory of changing to its current state. I don't know the why's and the reasons behind the order in which He gave these revelations. And then am I a robot that I will continue with an emotionless state given how God portrayed him recently?

So, as I lay stay on bed, it's not a fleshly experience that I begin to have, but for me, I am going deeper into intimacy, and now God has changed me enough to return back to Him after experiencing a kick or rejection by other people. I now know that Jesus is my backbone and My Creator. So, though I experience intimacy with other people, I won't be left as broken as I would've had in the absence of Jesus for He knows how to bring healing to me. When I look back at the revelation of Him walking beside me, I find it heart-touching, and something spectacular or great. It's a great revelation for me. If I would just walk with Jesus beside me to some distance, I know it's going to leave me feeling so happy and refreshed. It's going to leave a lasting impression of His real presence. So I know that even if I'm hurt by someone, Jesus' presence and care can heal me in and out. He's a healer.

As I was about to write further, I heard the guy sing:

Bhool jaa.. Jo hua use, bhool jaa..

But these are not my thoughts.

I continue lying on the bed and am now slowly diving into the sensual experience which is increasing gradually. And then the whispers continue along and after a while, I feel my groin strongly stimulated this time, and it's the first time in several years that both the strong and the mild pp's have been stimulated together. Back when I was a child, I was used to often fiddling with the strong pp which I decreased significantly when I was older. This time I feel both pp's stimulated together and I was filled with a sense of love and intimacy. I feel like I'm being with someone I am in love with and I'm assuming it to be Death Conqueror who's whispering words to me through the drones.

After a while of resting in that intimate experience, as they continue in cycles, this time when I am being stimulated again, I see:

- Pink clouds are ejected out of my middle section like a chimney taking the form of the words LOVE in pink above me. The pink clouds are ejected out of me a few times as I see them.
- The scene from the movie FWBs in which the lady doc and guy started having spontaneous intercourse is flashed in my Spirit as one of them is repeating: We're having sex.. with the other confirming with a: Yeah..

  The phrase 'We're having sex..' keeps repeating in my Spirit for a while, and after a while is followed by the phrase: Love Me.. being repeated in my Spirit. It is further followed by a whispered Love. being repeated in my Spirit.

Love.. Love.. Love..

The above is followed by the part of the scene from the movie which shows the upper halves of both actors until their throats with their palms covering each other's mouths to stop each other from making audible sounds.

As I wrote the above, I saw a naked Glory say: Ab ye maregi mere haathon se.

The scene with the duo moving in intercourse with their hands on each other mouths is repeated for a while.

- I then hear: Hot s*x. Hot s*x. Hot s*x. Hot s*x with a hot girl. Hot s*x with a hot girl! Hot s*x with a hot girl!

It repeats for a while as I'm unusually aroused this time.

I keep falling into partial sleep, but then get woken out of it by a sudden jerk as something hits my strong pp again and then I go through another cycle, followed after a while by:

- Love being written in cursive red with a translucent boundary around the letters on the inner dark surface of my groin.

The sounds coming from the drone all seemed to be saying things in the same tone and way so it was the same person most probably. In my mind, I had that experience with the short fellow.

I keep falling into sleep and waking up and have a very jagged sleep.

Earlier during the early morning, I was into the sensual experience. After I wake up, the realization of me having sinned dawns on me, and I tell Jesus about the same. I confess and repent in front of Him and then I see:

- A huge semi-animated Jesus dressed in a full-length off-white tunic bends His upper body down to my level revealing His black shiny face with a translucent outline as He says in an abrupt tone: You love him!

The vision repeats a few times, and it reminds me of the previous vision I had in the department where I was repenting standing in front of His throne. In that vision, I saw as a third person:

- The side-view of a very tiny me standing in front of a HUGE Him dressed in a full-length off-white tunic in a dim background sitting on His throne to the viewer's right, and I was confessing and feeling guilty before Him and He responded with just one sentence. He bent His upper body down from His throne, again, revealing the side-view of His huge dark, and shiny semi-animated face with a translucent outlining as He had looked at me intensely and said: I Love You!

And this answered everything for me! I knew that it wasn't a license to sin but He was letting me know that He had forgiven me because He loved me! And also, He knows that if the cameras were not present at places they were not supposed to be, I wouldn't be having those fleshly revelations. So, He knew that the short fellow was attacking my seat of love which is an expression of love for me revealed in the dim-red revelations! And that my reaction was therefore in accordance with who I was! A perfect reaction would be to be unaffected, disgusted or repelled by the presence of cameras and not be affected by the resulting revelations of the heart-states of others, like I was for a long time, but then that would be the case if I was still hating the short fellow who caused this situation, and now I had learned Jesus's way of loving and I didn't want to feel hate for anyone and He changed my heart towards the short fellow by portraying him as the naked fat infant dressed in just a diaper who was only concerned with chewing his feet, likewise the revelation of the infant Renesmee wrapped in white representing Akhila who too was chewing her feet looking at the person holding her with wide-open unblinking eyes. So, though in real-life situations, I could control my behavior and also my thoughts by moral reasoning, the revelations revealed what lay behind the behavior that was actually implemented. There are levels of exhibiting sinlessness, but a sin is still a sin.

Jesus knows that I am not the kind of person who would go and sin without being in the perfect situation - being in love (before I knew Jesus), and now being in a covenant (after I knew Jesus), and He also knows that I can subdue my abstract thought lying under the layers of my reasoning thoughts that have a greater weight and expression than the sinful thought which I would subdue even before it takes a concrete form of me wanting to go ahead with that thought. So, He was revealing to me those thoughts that I was subduing before they took proper form. Those were the thoughts I wouldn't let in my conscious reasoning as I would know that I shouldn't be having them. Now I was having those shapeless thoughts (shapeless because they still hadn't taken a concrete form in my mind to be running in the outer significant layers of reasoning) because I wasn't already in a covenant and then He had changed my perception of those people.

So last evening I was also asking Him that if I was to not sin, why did He change my mind towards that person by showing me cute and desirable versions of him that He knew would do a work on me! He shouldn't have given those revelations to me! And then He revealed the truth as well in those revelations so it was me as well who wasn't fully guarded while witnessing those revelations.

I was somehow blaming Jesus yesterday for making me sin but then I realized that even if He showed me the truth and it pertained to my individual sense of what I found desirable, if I was truly perfect, I would still not sin! In this way, He reveals deeper layers of what it means to sin and not sin and expands my understanding of the same!

Now I know that my level of sinning is having shapeless thoughts that I never let in my conscious reasoning and I've noticed that when I'm in the presence of someone who doesn't sin even at the level of having such shapeless thoughts, I too don't have even those shapeless thoughts of sin, and I feel a certain kind of bliss and freedom as there's no pressure or stress put on me by an external agent that's stressing me to be in a state that would be categorized as being in sin. Now those shapeless thoughts used to take hold of my conscious reasoning if I loved the person back when I didn't know Jesus, and now I've added an extra layer of being in a covenant so I wouldn't sin in a godly sense! So, in the way that I added an additional layer to my implementation of something to match God's standard, Jesus in His understanding of me removed a layer as He said: You love him! in response to how I was being in the morning. It doesn't mean that His standard changed, but what it means is that He understood me and took my shortcomings on His own self justifying it by His sacrificial blood. Now it doesn't mean that I should continue sinning in this way attributing it to Jesus's blood, but it has enlightened me to deeper levels of exhibiting godly behavior.

Now people in this region neither exhibit righteousness in their outwardly implemented behavior nor in the thoughts they carry in their conscious reasoning revealing the level of corruption of their minds. For me, the extreme way I am prone to sin is by falling mentally into it which I avoid as I keep those thoughts shapeless and I don't have even those shapeless thoughts when in the presence of someone who too is vary of his/her thought process at the same level and I often felt the most comfortable with such individuals alone.

I analysed these changes yesterday as I was repenting before God and was waiting for my momos to be delivered. Because one can't have such a mind while being a part of the world as that's not how the majority of people think, that's why God has called His people to be set-apart so they can be Holy as He is Holy. Holiness is first rooted deeply into one's Psyche before it's manifested in one's outer behavior, assuming that one's behavior is not affected but in direct compliance with what one's thinking. So yesterday, me sitting in a Holy posture while having a shapeless thought of sitting in an unholy posture would be considered as me being unholy because that's not how God is. But in this godless land, the entire conscious reasoning of people is captured by unholy thought patterns.

God uses my example to reveal to others their shortcomings.

Somewhere above while I was writing my expanded understanding of things, I saw:

- Death Conqueror dressed in the Sherlock Holmes attire of a black suit with a white shirt inside and having curly hair on his head is cornered against a wall as he looks ahead with shiny sky blue stars in front of his eyes that changed to red stars and somewhere in the middle morphed into red love-hearts in front of his eyes.

The following began playing in my Spirit after I was done writing the above.

The Lady sings:
Ik bas tu hi meri pehli pehli aarzo hai..
Tu hi meri aakhiri tamanna..
Naam bas tera maine dil pe likha hai
Meri aankhon mein basa hai year sapna..

In the morning when it was day and the sun had risen and I was partially awake, I saw:

- A small framed vision of a tall lady dressed in a half-sleeved fitting white dress extending until below her calves with a slight around her middle-section lightly separated in two sections by an inner cloth, with short brownish blonde hair combed to the viewer's left with a curly bulge at the end of the side flock on top pf her head's side, as she is walking towards the viewer.

The effect of the three Kayam tablets that I had had the last day now showed up this day and this time I was able to clean my bowels completely as I kept feeling contractions even after I was already clean. I then saw:

- Several tiny 3-4 inches long infant babies wrapped in white drop down in the commode in the manner of tiny bits of poop dropping down.
- The tiny babies were then shown to be present on the washroom floor and then they quickly grew up into naked dark men that immediately crawled on the floor towards me in a group as they looked up at me and I sat on the commode. One of the men on the floor on my left that I remember seeing in that group looking up at me was Sumit Sir (Sumit Mamoria - He taught us during BSc in Miranda House and was enrolled in PhD in my dept as well under Debajyoti Choudhury.)

Past Revelation
(the past two days) The side view of the faces of Sumit Sir and a lady in a kiss as he presses his lips against hers.

15:59
I was washing dishes when I heard the following lyrics play in my Spirit, and they were repeating within the past minute and they make me feel terribly sad as I can feel the underlying longing and pain though I don't know who the person is!
The Guy sings:
Tu soke raat guzaar layi..
Mein roke raat guzaar layi..

17:33
As I was standing in the balcony, I heard the lady sing:
Awaaz deke humein tum bulaao..
Mohabbat mein itna na humko sataao..

(Past 24 hours)
A guy's voice says:
She's vulnerable. She's vulnerable.
And it repeats a few times.

****

Past Revelations

(Past two months) The free and open laughter of KA from one of his interviews kept flashing in my Spirit, and after a day or two, I happened to spot his chubby girl standing facing to the left inside the apartment present to the right of the stairs going down from my floor as she as laughing in the same open manner!

Kartik Aaryan talking about his dream celebrity Dentist #shorts #fyp (Past week) A beige spy drone is moving vertically along the surface of the naked male genitalia of Glory as I'm looking at it.

(Past few days) It was a part of dream I had yesterday or the day before yesterday. I saw myself scrolling down on a column of names written on what seemed like an internet screen and the page somewhat resembled an FB page, and the names perhaps represented the profiles of people. I stopped at the name Dr. Mrittunjay Guha Majumdar and apparently, it was the name I was looking for as I scrolled down through the names.

The Guy sings:
O rabba mein to mar gaya oye..
Koi dil bekaabu kar gaya..

Yesterday while hanging clothes on the roof, I heard RK in my Spirit say:

- Ye randi hai!? Ye kahan ki randi hai!? Shakal dekhi hai iski!? Shakal dekh iski!? Ye randi dikhti hai!? Ye kis angle se randi dikhti hai!?

****

After I'm tired of writing revelations, I decide to rest for an hour or so. And as I am walking towards my bed, I don't want to be willing to sin or have a mindset of sin though I need rest as well! As I'm walking towards the bed, I see as a third person:

- Me walking towards the bed with a smile and two red love hearts in front of my eyes.

Revelations while resting during the day

- Kartika he loves you.. Kartika he loves you.. repeats several times.
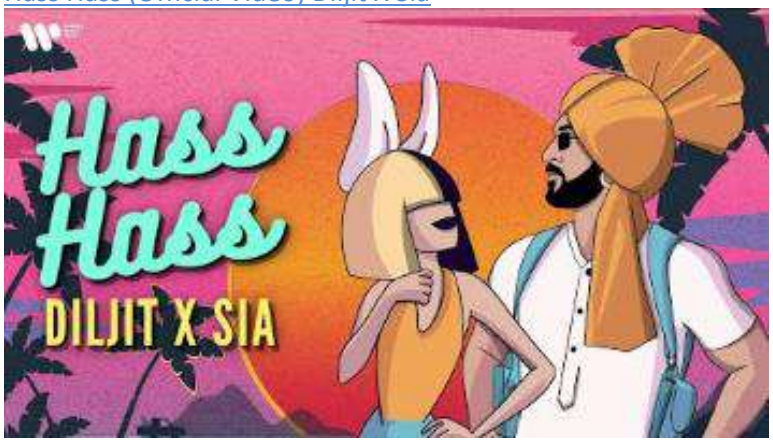
- The naked upper half of Akshay Kumar until slightly below his throat in a golden background with a metallic ring around his neck held fast to a chain extending towards the viewer.
- A vertically straight rectangular pouch (most probably that of eyeglasses) in a black background with a black inner lining and a pink outer cover with white polka dots.
- The lady doc from FWDs with the guy on top of her as they both have their hands on each other's mouths.
- The upper half of Diljit Dosanjh dressed in a sherwani and a dark turban on top in a dim-golden background.
- Diljit Dosanjh dressed in a dark green camouflaged military attire with a rifle held in his right hand stands up and starts walking forward slowly in what looks like a forest area.

After my rest, I feel like ordering the KA meal burger again to store a few things as a memoir. And I find that I've received an additional burger as a veg surprise. Since I already had the KA meal burger the last time, I thought of saving the KA burger to have when I'm hungry later during the night and had the Veg surprise instead.

Later in the evening, I also felt a nudge to one of Sia's songs out of nowhere. I felt a nudge to listen to the one that has a tiny dark man and a huge Sia as they move about in what looks like a maintained forest garden. I didn't remember the name of the song so I looked up her channel and on the top of suggested recommendations came across an unexpected song created by the alliance of the Punjabi singer Dilijit Dosanjh and Sia. I'm sharing the link below.

Hass Hass (Official Video) Diljit X Sia



I didn't even know the name of this singer. I didn't know if he was a singer or an actor but I knew that I had seen him in song videos. So coming across this song by Sia, I identified this fellow whom I had a revelation about earlier during my rest, and it also served as a confirmation that I was supposed to be searching Sia this day or was supposed to be doing what I was doing though it also reveals the people whom God is calling. I was supposed to come across this song on this day.

As I wrote the above sentence, I heard: This is a body of evidence, Kartika. This is a body of evidence.

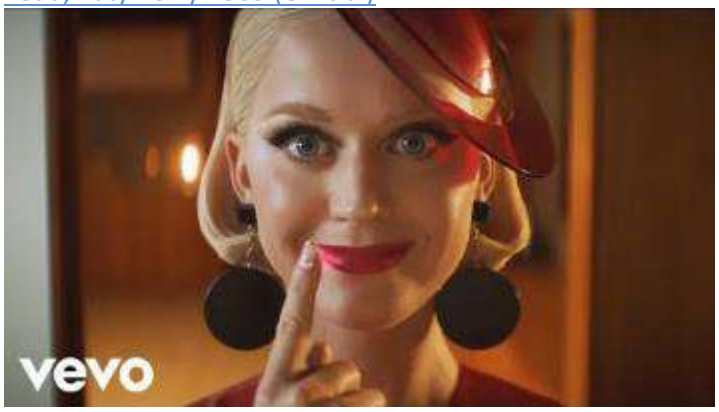
Well, it may be or is a body of revelations as well. But it is several things at once! It calls people to God. It reveals the heart states of people. It shows the truth and progression of the past few years, and also compiles the truth of God as delivered by several people together at one place. It shows how this stage was meant to be for the whisper dream that I had in 2020 to come to pass. It records the progression of things as I'm moving towards the fulfillment of the first few prophecies God gave in 2020.

As I was done writing about the progressing trajectory towards the fulfillment of the whisper dream, I saw:

- The top front view of the upper half of a naked and crying KA as he says sobbing: Marunga mein tujhe! Marunga mein tujhe!
- And when I was later adding the part above with the KA Meal, I heard again: Marunga mein tujhe! Marunga mein tujhe!

I listen to several songs in a row this evening, songs that I hadn't listened to for years now. I find out that the song with the tiny dark man in the apparent garden went by the name of No New Friends and then I happen to watch some of Katy Perry's songs as well that I used to like some years back. I watch the 365 song a few times as I like the concept behind it since I first watched the song.

Zedd, Katy Perry - 365 (Official)



Later I feel like eating something again, and have the stored KA burger this time, and as I'm having it, I see:

- KA in his white tunic attire making the heart shape in front of his chest as it pops in and out while he smilingly looks at me.

After I'm done having the burger, I see:

- KA dressed in a white tunic set throws a kiss at my direction pressing his joined fingers against his lips followed by him flinging the hand in my direction.

Earlier during the day:

- RS dressed in a sherwani says looking at me: Randi tu nahi, mein hu!
- The same phrase being said by KA and Gory repeats again this day.

****

Past Revelation

(past week) Death Conqueror says: Are mein hu randua! Mein hu randua! Tu randi nahi hai! Mein hu randua!

(past few days) Akshay Kumar dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt says in a quiet and affirmative tone with filled eyes looking at me: You're cute!

****

After I'm tired and need rest, I walk towards the bed to rest and as I'm about to lie down, I hear:

- Mein wait kar rha tha. Mein wait karta rehta hu. Mein wait kar rha tha. Mein wait karta rehta hu (when she'll lie down to rest). continuing until after a while of me settling in the bed. I keep the lights on a I may get up after a while to work again and lie with my arms raised and folded above my head, and as I close my eyes, I have the following revelation:
- The upper half of Katy Perry from the song 365 dressed in her red and black robot attire with a red side hat on her head in a dim-golden background with her arms lifted up in my manner and forearms joined parallel to her body above her head as thin metallic surfaces mould and morph beside her ears.
- In the golden aura of the room, I see a huge naked, wide, and muscular translucent Death Conqueror above me as he's moving to and fro in intercourse. The vision flashes itself for a while.

Instead of getting up after a while, I fall into sleep and am woken up by a dream I've written on the next page.

Page 590

11 November 2023
01:47

Dream I woke up from about half an hour back (Dream 1):
In this dream, I am in one of the rooms of a workplace building and am sleeping with lights on a bed placed beside the working table of that office. I am not fully asleep and keep hearing weird sounds of an angry monkey making noises which makes me get up and take a look around. After I wake up, I observe the room and see a small transparent glass window on the far right corner from across my bed left slightly open. I get up and see that my friend Monica Bisiyer from my school batch has entered my room through the window and she's fully and soberly dressed in a shiny red satin Saree. She is a dark girl with a slim figure. She tells me about why she came to me and then leaves the room, again through an unusual exit present to my left beside my bed. There's another window present there perhaps. I then a child monkey also come in through the open window and apparently, it was the one who was making those sounds around my ears. It too leaves after a while and so doesn't seem like much of a threatening presence. I get up and take a look outside through the window and see that it's got a circular base and is protruded outwards and interestingly, it's night. What am I doing there in my office room at that hour? I then walk to the door present across the wall to the right of the window right in front of the bed that I was sleeping in. I open the door consisting of two wooden slabs that open on the inside of the room and take a look outside and see the wide corridor to my right extending forth into a hall with rooms lit in golden light present on the left side with their doors slightly open. There is no one in the corridor though it's dimly lit and the aura doesn’t look good and Holy either. It seems like a very immoral place where no one's behaving in a normal way as all are inside but are expecting people to walk in through their slightly open doors with lights turned on inside. It reminds me of how these people have been behaving since this thing began. They just sit at a place and wait for someone to come to them for an immoral purpose!

As I was writing the above, I had this vision which repeated after writing a few more lines:

- The highly bearded man with a medium-sized belly as compared to the other two men who sit as keepers of the Dinesh Store come running angrily at me in an open street background with a hand lifted carrying something which he is supposedly gonna hit me with, as he shouts in a honest and revealing tone: Hum tere saath nahi hai…!
  I recalled that his name is Surjeet.

Dream Continued: I can sense that slightly open doors are expecting me to come inside. I don’t go out in the corridor but walk back in and try to lock the door and find a key slit present on the right half of the door. I figure that I've to close that half of the door separately using its flat rectangular key. I do so and then bolt up the left half of the door. I see that the two doors can still be pushed inside by a foot or so though it's closed. I move back towards the window to the door's left and observe the calm night surrounding when two people come at my door and as they try to open it, it gets pushed outwards by a foot leaving a vertical slit in the middle of the two door through which they can see my empty bed lying across the room. I walk back to the door to talk to them and see that it's a woman and a man who have come to inspect some things. According to them, I was supposed to be sleeping on the bed about which they inquire me about as well. I explain to them about the monkey sounds, and why I got up from the bed, and then they leave.

As I was writing the dream above, I saw intermittently:

- The face of KA until his throat dressed in a white tunic present an inch away from my face and dropping quick, brief and soft comforting and confirming kisses on my lips.

Also, the following song lyrics played in my Spirit as well:

- It's the Final Countdown..

Europe -The Final Countdown (lyrics)

The Dream Continued:

I now am downstairs out in the open and it's day now and I find myself in the area in front of the Multi Storey Building of my workplace (dept of Physics & Astrophysics). I find the behavior of some people a bit hostile as they're treating me with contempt and dishonor. A young man and a woman who are low-level workers of the place (they seem to be the ones transferring stuff or messages) come walking and ask me something to which when I reply they reply back with a foolish statement related to an airplane which doesn't make any logical sense, and then they're laughing hard at me among themselves. I ignore them and leave them there. I can see that they can't be reasoned with.

As I was writing the above, I had the following lyrics play in my Spirit being sung by the lady from the song:

Waking up next to you in the middle of the week..

The Dream Continued:

I go back to my room in the workplace and continue working. Somewhere in the dream, I happen to meet AK (Ayushmann Khurrana) and KA (Kartik Aaryan) and they seem to be leaner and shorter doppelgangers of the two with AK having a protruding belly. While KA is dressed in black, AK is dressed in parrot green polo t-shirt with a fine black print over brown trousers. It's night now and I want to leave for home/my rented room. I've spent the night and two days at my workplace and now am feeling weird to leave for home at that hour of night. I am downstairs in the area in front of the Multi-Storey building and am gathering my stuff placing them on my bike. While I do so, I spot a white boxy car next to me with a man leaving in it. Well, his behavior seems fishy to me and seems to emanate a superior aura. If I was at his place and saw a woman that I knew from workplace out at that hour of night at the place, I would ask her if I could drop her home. But this fellow is making a show of his bloated ego and is showing off his boxy car when I'm on my bike, instead of exhibiting the right manners! I have a wide square bag that I place on the tank in front of me and a smaller cylindrical bag that I place in a vertically upright manner behind the wider square bag. And then I've something else lying at the back as well which I'm trying to balance all at once together as I move my bike around. Well, I decide to not use the bike. I have a bicycle parked as well in the parking space which too I leave parked at the spot and decide to rather walk to my room. On my way a guy crosses by me from behind and stops at a construction site to the left of the road where wires are being laid in the ground. That guy has brought his own metallic wire to be put to use in that corner of the road. The road seems to be resembling the one adjoining the playground of the Junior wing of my school along which lay the homes of people on the right side (including Karishma's and Sakshi's homes) and shops on the left as one moved into the town. I now find myself in the dark night on a road resembling the one leading to the exit of Gate No. 4 of Science Faculty. The Gate lies at about 30 metres ahead of me, far enough for the people passing by to seem tiny. I see two cars with open windows drive by to the left right outside across the open gate and the guy in the driver's seat of the black car that passed had a conical face and from that distance, seemed to resemble Glory from that distance. I never understood why people make such distant appearances. If I've to meet someone, I walk to them and say a Hi. I never employ such methods that don't make sense. Perhaps those people were making a consoling appearance. I don't know.. I exit through the gate and take a right. The wide road is mostly empty though lit with golden light from the street lights above. As I continue walking, the frailer doppelgangers of AK and KA join me on my path. Apparently, they had been waiting for me to be free. We all are walking together on the road with them mimicking my partial jumps. AK then moves to the far left corner of the road and stands beside a dark street going to the left, and while he does so, he is moving weirdly making unbalanced movements around his belly. It seems he's not fully in his senses as he's not able to balance himself. So I comment to KA present to my right for the bellied AK to be careful in his conduct as he might hurt himself on the road walking in that zig zag manner. We continue walking together and we reach the room together. They both are now standing behind a long light colored rectangular table with me facing them on the other side. I share with them how these people who knew me and my situation kept making indirect appearances in front of me thereby putting me under stress. They ask me to repeat the names of those people again. I remind them that I had already told them previously. 'Bataya to! Ek to tum dono, aur phir Monica jo room pe ayi thi..' and as I say Monica's name, KA and AK change to fluffed actors dressed in light baby colored fitting t-shirts with one of them being Salman Khan and they immediately started sobbing in front of me making me feel as if the scene with Monica dressed in red represented a creepy analogous truth about my coming future as other corresponding analogous revelations from different movies have come to pass or hold true. As I am looking at their sudden sobbing faces, without me having the opportunity in the dream to ask them for the reason, I wake up.

After I wake up, I can still feel the drones inside a bit but they're not causing a lot of disturbance, though they make me think of Death Conqueror, but at the same time I'm wondering if other people are talking through the drones and fooling me and using me. So I continue lying with these doubts and I push them aside and after a while see:

- In the dark of my room, the face of Death Conqueror until his throat with curly Sherlock Holmes hair above me as we both have our palms pressed on each other's mouth in order to stop the other person from making noises - a repetition of the visions from yesterday early morning and afternoon resting time when I was not fully resting. It goes along with the scene from the movie FWBs in which the lady doc and the guy began to have intercourse unexpectedly on her bed and had each other palms covering their mouths so they don't make noises. This vision first occurred to me yesterday early in the morning when I woke up.

I continued lying on my bed for a while as I was gaining mental momentum to get out of the bed keeping my eyes wide open so I don't fall asleep. I had been woken fully awake from my sleep after that dream and I then felt a nudge to record the same. I got up, washed face, and was then about to make tea when I saw:

- Jesus standing in the centre of the room pointing me to the table to write the dream first. So, I followed along and wrote the above.

And while I was writing the above, I heard the guy sing:
Mit Jayengi Kitaabein..

Now that I've written it, I can go back to sleep for a couple of hours before I can continue working again.

The Guy sings:
Aaja lagja gale se mere tha karke,
Tha tha karke, the tha karke..
Saari duniya se ishq bayan karke,
Tha tha karke, tha tha karke.

After I went to bed after writing the above, I had the following revelations:

- A naked, wide, tall, and muscular Death Conqueror resembling a giant moves on top of me holding the bed's railing at the back. It seems that he got encouraged after the previous revelations as I hear: Badh gaya. Badh gaya..

Somewhere in the middle, I think: I can't believe he's pleasing me.. I mean I've only been feeling traumatized all this time! Well, it's sarcastic in a way because he's never interacted with me or asked me if he could go ahead with the same!

- He seems encouraged and emboldened.

After I took a note of the above in my revelatory diary, I saw:

- A huge dusky, naked, tall, and muscular KA of the size of a giant standing in front of me followed by his giant genitalia protruding out in front of my face. It seems to me a reflected revelation corresponding to how I seem to the tiny drones!

The revelatory flow from the night continued:

- The huge Death Conqueror continues moving above me with boldness.
- HOT written above my groin in a dark background as I hear the same being repeated in my Spirit.
- After a while: the side view of the naked middle portions of the standing me and Death Conqueror locked in intercourse as we both are moving out of phase towards and away from each other. The vision repeats a few times.
- The scene from FWBs with the faces of the duo with their hands on top of each other mouths get flashed in my Spirit again, followed by the vision of the face of Death conqueror with curly Sherlock Holmes hair on top of the woman as both are keeping each other quite.

KA visions

- A naked and muscular KA appears in the middle in place of Death Conqueror as he's moving in the same manner. But he's sobbing.
- Towards the end, I bring him down on my chest as he's sobbing and give him rest.

While I was almost done writing the above revelations, I heard the chorus of the following song playing in my Spirit.
Everyone sings together:
Turn it up! It's your favourite song!
Dance dance dance, to the distortion!
Turn it up! Keep it on repeat!
Stumbling around like a wasted zombie!
Yeah we think we're free! Ah-ha!
Drink! This one's on me!
We're all chained to the rhythm. To the rhythm. To the rhythm..

Katy Perry - Chained To The Rhythm (Official) ft. Skip Marley

During the above visions from the night revelatory flow, the following lyrics from the worship song Living Hope starts playing in my Spirit:
HalleluYah, praise the one who set me free!
HalleluYah, Death has lost its grip on me!
You've broken every chain, there's salvation in your name!
Jesus Christ! - My Living Hope!!

HalleluYah, praise the one who set me free!
HalleluYah, Death has lost its grip on me!
You've broken every chain, there's salvation in your name!
Jesus Christ! - My Living Hope!!

And it reminds me to thank Jesus because of whom, though I was in a sinful situation, I could be still counted innocent! He was reminding me to praise Him for doing the work on the cross for me! However, it doesn't mean that He was giving me a license to willingly exploit His grace. I would never go to someone to sin though I slipped while lying in my own bed as I was having revelations of the heart-states of the other individual as well which served as bonding glue for the revelatory flow to continue in that direction!

Also, during the revelations, I saw:

- The face of Jesus a metre away from me to my right as He looked at us with fire in the shape of a water drop in His eyes!
- Him dressed in a full-length off-white tunic set with a red drape on top standing in the centre of the room facing towards my bed and holding the word LOVE in deep red by the sides with both hands as He looked silently in my direction.

As I was done writing the above revelation, I saw:

- My mom says: Todni padegi ye! Todni padegi ye!

The Jesus vision continued:
As He held the word LOVE by the sides in both hands, in the next moment it changed to LUST in deep red and that's when He moved ahead with a fierce judging expression towards me! But I knew that I wasn't the one in lust!

As I'm falling into sleep, I have the following intermittent revelations as a part of the revelatory flow above:

- A small-framed vision of the top-view of Bollywood celebrity Akshay Kumar in a camouflaged military suit inside one of the vertical niches on a creamish wooden slab as he floats up out of it holding a rifle.
- A 2.5 to 3 feet high chubby baby with vertically narrow eyes comes walking towards me with a square pouch of Bru coffee held in his right hand extended in my direction as he stops in front of me. I take it from him and notice Instant Coffee written on the pouch.
- Akshay Kumar putting a beige rope loop around his neck in order to hang himself as he says looking at the viewer in a dim-golden background: Kartika agar tum meri nahi ho sakti, to kisi ki bhi nahi ho sakti!

The lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse.. Tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikrar tujhse.. Tu kyu maane na..

Past Revelation

(past two weeks) He's made you sexually active!: Heard in the Spirit , and it repeated after some days.

Dream 2 (Morning):

I find myself in a space with my mom and Divyanshu. I move to a room that resembles my current room but with my bed placed against the wall to the door's left opposite to the current one. There are cartons carrying my clothes and other stuff lying beneath my bed and are easily visible from the outside as they're protruding out a bit. My mom comes into my room and pees on the floor near my bed and the pee follows a trajectory along the bed and spreads until below the cartons. I find this behavior quite uncivilized and ask her why she did that as the cartons are going to absorb the pee and then the clothes inside are gonna smell. She doesn't seem to be affected by her act and is instead smiling at me and tries to manipulate me by saying illogical things I know are not true. She doesn't see the pee lying on the floor to be a problem either. I can see that the rest of the floor is quite clean and the yellow pee is standing out on the floor and has somewhat seeped below my cartons. I can figure that she did that on purpose and her deliberate act makes me angry and I grab her, bring her to the washroom, and start hitting/beating her. But I am not able to beat her up brutally.

The one thing that's strongly highlighted when I think of this dream is the event from real life back in A-16 in which my roommate peed on the washroom floor making it smelly all around and she did it intentionally to make it smell because she was pissed with my pee jar that I was once using to pee. Instead of letting me know directly of the problem, she pissed on the floor.

Dream Continued: I now move to the space near the kitchen where Divyanshu is getting our refrigerator fixed. It doesn't look like the one that we possess but a different one of the same size. However, it looks more constitutionally and functionally advanced. It has a wide round niche at the top with a dotted black lid and it serves as the freezer. I see him opening the lid and taking something out or putting something inside. The repair guy is present there as well. Apparently, the refrigerator needs to have some rods replaced that have stopped functioning. My brother has done some research about the same and is sharing it with the guy about what he read about a certain brand of rods being better than the other rods that he had. I see the refrigerator opened as the guy is putting in new rods and my brother is saying how the rods that he is using are good enough as well though the ones he mentioned earlier are the best. I see that he is explaining it to the guy quite patiently.

I now leave him as well and am back to a room resembling mine. For some reason, I end up being dressed in just my long boxy white shirt and am moving around in the room in the same with my hair tied low at the back as I see myself as a third person in the dream.

Revelations post waking up:

- The upper half of my mom dressed in her red & white gown with a leafy print facing the viewer as she says with her face turned to a side: Kab mujhe aisho-aaram milega.. which reminds me of how she keeps highlighting that how my dad lives in aisho-aram (comfortably) while she has to be busy all day. But when I used to manage things, I used to do them in an ordered manner making it easier for all tasks to be completed in a day while she is able to manage only cooking and dishes, but then she's old as well now and can't do everything by herself. For me, I like to take care of my stuff by my own self and would only hire a help when I'm not able to complete the tasks or have better things at hand to do or am unable to perform them! If I'm idle all day, then I can use that time in daily chores. But if I've things other than the mundane that interest me and need to be done, I would be ok with a help and would spend time doing my research or creative work because that's of greater value than wasting time doing the daily chores! God gives talents to be put to use! A rich dumbass is still a dumbass (referring to God's definition of dumbass). I would like to tell my mom that several people who're living in aisho-araam are heading towards hell and she can come to Jesus and be set to enter Heaven by giving her life to Him. Jesus didn't live in Aisho-araam and he was God. We can learn from Him. If I wasn't in this camera situation and being stalked and given degrading and insulting covert messages to, I would be so much more productive. In the absence of cameras and people who are inhibiting my paper to be published, I would've had two viable manuscripts ready to be published, few worship songs that I would've had composed. I would've have poems written for God and His kingdom, and I would be posting them all on my website like I was doing when I hadn't come to Jesus and was posting my written stuff on my blog by the name Nature& Life and other forums like WattPad. I would be taking keyboard lessons and would've improved by a lot by now. I would be sharper in my thinking the way I was some years back because of the lack of oppression while now I feel bogged down. And keeping my surroundings clean is something that comes naturally to me so along with doing the main stuff, I could choose to do this side-stuff, or would most probably do it myself to suit my routine. While now, it's a huge thing if I'm able to do just the basic chores. While some years back I was writing my reflections on certain things, songs, poetry and wanted to write highly meaningful short stories like that speak the way Oscar Wilde's stories speak. This camera situation decreased my productivity by a huge amount! I never saw cooking as a skill worth having because it doesn't make one a better person or doesn't lead to something exquisite coming into form that adds something new and meaningful to the mundane. Well, there were several things I could be doing is not writing revelations without the camera situation. But this is what God wanted me to do because it calls people to Him which is the most important possible work of all that one can do. If not His Will and way, the rest of the things that we may do are just equivalent of delving in the redundant. For me, doing chores comes with a feeling of relaxation. I find it relaxing to do chores if I'm not oppressed or being harassed because they serve as a mental break from the other things that I may be doing. That would be the case when I'm not around abusers. I would rather do everything by myself and stay away from people who give me a difficult time.

- The upper half of Edward with roughly styled hair dressed in a thick fitting light greyish top with a convexly curved V-neck with grey fur along the edges extending until his belly revealing his clean-shaven, white, and muscular chest as he looks at the viewer with a righteous expression along with Sridevi standing to his right whose waist he has his arm around. She is dressed in a red satin Saree that covers her front entirely as it’s spread in front of her without any folds with only the half-sleeve of her dark green blouse visible as she too looks at the viewer with huge wide-open dark brown eyes. (Well, it was an unexpected vision because of my recently changed stance with Death Conqueror and the corresponding revelations, but it would be considered expected as well because my wedding dream was already known from the beginning. But then it’s a labeled revelation, so who knows! But this is what I saw.)

- The top view of a person lying down on his back, covered entirely with rectangular strips of white bandage that covers even his forehead. It reminded me of the dream which had my dad beat me up severely with a rod after I said that to doodle was a normal thing to do, followed by the figure of a human completely wrapped in white bandage walking on the floor following which I walked towards my home's exit and found the Sardarji's car lit in purple as I poured in small sky blue rubbery bubbles on the back seat.

****

Past Revelations

I had this revelation when I used to still lie on the floor to rest as it wasn't too cold.

- The bald female goalie from Shaolin Soccer lying on the floor dressed in her orange and black attire from the last scene in the movie in a room dimly lit in green as mine, with the team's striker raised on top of her with his hands around her sides.
- The back-view of the upper half of the goalie from Shaolin Soccer dressed in orange and black as she turns her face to one side.

****

After I had spent enough time writing revelations and was still writing, I saw:

- A naked, wide and muscular dim-red Death Conqueror standing to my right holding my hand and pointing me silently to the bed. The vision repeated again.
- The follow-up vision had the face of Glory on that figure as he too pointed to the bed holding my hand.

I was still writing and I knew that it was what they wanted and also that it wasn't something moral that they were calling me for, so I ignored the revelations and continued working. By this point, I had understood that just because the Holy Spirits revealed to me the sinful hearts of men or women, it didn't mean that I have to go along with their whims or what they wanted me to do. Also, I had a lot of revelations pending to be recorded. So, I continued working as I didn't want to pile up things.

When I was tired of sitting on the chair and writing, I thought of taking a break and as I am wrapping up, I see:

- The face of dim golden Death Conqueror between my legs down near the edge of my chair as he says looking at my groin: Gold.. Gold..

Revelations while resting between 15:10 to 16:20

The moment I fall into sleep, I have the following dream-vision:

- A hand is decorating something with a white cream cone with the outer cover of the cone being also white with a fine black wide alphabetical print. It seems to be the hand of a lady as she's pouring out the white cream on a surface and making further structures on the white base using the white cone itself! The lady is now writing something in white cream on a base of white cream as a lady's voice resembling that of a commercial ad says that it's the last chance for the viewers to get that cream-filled cake, and then I wake up.
- The top right view of a dark and bald boy with tiny spiky hair sitting on a single bed alone resting against a wall as he gets up and starts walking away from it. He is dressed in a full-sleeved red top over a red sporty trouser with two white side strips and is carrying a deeper red sweatshirt resting on his left shoulder.

- Hatim dressed in his attire of Hatim walks towards the viewer holding horizontally in both arms a lady dressed in a white shoulderless dress with two separate cup-shaped protrusions over her breasts as the lady lies motionless in his arms with closed eyes and streams of blood flowing down from her forehead.

After I was done writing the above revelation, I heard the lady sing: Hum Mar Jayenge..
Somewhere during my rest, I was thinking of how the ideal camera situation would or should have been and how it would've served a better purpose as well when implemented in that way.

While I was writing the first revelation from the recent revelatory rest above, I had the line 'Waking up next to you in the middle of the week' repeating in my Spirit which had begun playing when I was editing out the previous page a while back. The lyric is from the song 365 by Katy Perry that I happened to listen to again yesterday after several years.

Zedd, Katy Perry - 365 (Official)

It used to be one of my favorites when I had just joined Ph.D. around 2019 when I didn't know about cameras, and it reminded me how my past self used to be, and I found myself as being too smart a few years back. I thought.. 'Wow.. I used to be that person..' who used to listen to and identify with such songs and had that sort of mind, and look at me now. What did I become..!? But then I looked at how far I had come with God and how well I knew Him now, and so though I felt a sense of loss but I also knew that I was living in the truth now, the absolute and greater truth of the kingdom of God and the fact that I was chosen by Him to live for His purpose. And I knew that though I wasn't listening to such content on a regular basis, they still constituted a part of me.

It's not that I am too dumb now, or dumb as such, but back then I had several things going in my mind at a given time that could take the form of something productive, but now I've understood that we've to be productive for the kingdom of God. And God can a given to a great extent to secure only a few souls or even just one, because that's how important they are to Him. I realized that I would only be called truly productive if I was productive for the kingdom of God when I stood at the balcony and was thinking about how I would be of no use if I was of no use for the kingdom of God.

I've written about it previously as well and it was perhaps within the past two weeks that I had this realization that if not lived for His purpose, my life would be deemed useless.

When I was listening to the song again today, I heard in my Spirit:
Kartika you are a child! Kartika you are a child! And it repeated a few times.

But it's an intelligent song that shows how an AI robot ending up having traces of emotional bonding and attachment after it spent time with a living being and watching movies, while the living being itself didn't feel anything. It shows how the guy wasn't really observant or insightful though he was a human while the AI robot was much more receptive and absorbent of emotional states though being a robot! The song comes with the reality of human condition as well, how they treat times of intimacy! It's quite a philosophically advanced song that not everyone can understand the depth of! The song reveals how creative the makers are unlike the creators of porn movies who only repeat the same dumb thing without any emotional depth to it!

During my revelatory rest, I happened to think how if I had access to use cameras with people I would use them to inculcate a deeper bond with my spouse instead of harassing them and projecting them online. It would serve as a communication medium during the times we are not together, and it could lead to an ideal situation between two people resembling the one between God and His creation where one is in touch with the other at all times. Because, it is written that no height and no depth can separate us from the love of God and that if we go to the highest mountain, he is there and if we go happen to go into deep depths, He's there.

Psalm 139:7-13 (NIV)
7 Where can I go from your Spirit?
Where can I flee from your presence?
8 If I go up to the heavens, you are there;
if I make my bed in the depths, you are there.
9 If I rise on the wings of the dawn,
if I settle on the far side of the sea,
10 even there your hand will guide me, your right hand will hold me fast.
11 If I say, “Surely the darkness will hide me and the light become night around me,” 12 even the darkness will not be dark to you;
the night will shine like the day,
for darkness is as light to you.
13 For you created my inmost being;
you knit me together in my mother’s womb.

From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=psalm%20139&version=NIV>

So I was thinking, ideally, if I was with my spouse with the camera situation without me being projected to the world, and I had to rest, I would most probably be resting without any clothes having a good time with my spouse as he would whisper things in my ear. Also, that's how I want to sometimes lie in the presence of God, but can't, because of the camera situation. When we are naked, we are the most vulnerable. And by being naked before God in our secret place)(and not out in the open with other people), we make the point that we are coming to Him in intimacy and naked in our inner self. I have thought of this way of resting in the presence of God previously as well, but it should only be done when one's alone. Remember how David stripped and danced before the Lord in humility and joy! The way I thought I would use cameras in a marital setting is analogous of how we are at all times in the presence of God. Though we may not be physically naked in the real world, to Him we are naked in everything. And by being physically naked and coming into presence, we do it for our own selves (and not for Him), to bring ourselves to a place of sheer vulnerability before Him so this knowledge of us being actually naked in front of Him is ingrained in that way we think. It helps us to see our place with respect to Him. It is to bring our own selves to a place of humility.

In the absence of cameras, I would not be thinking about these other things that are causing me stress but would dive deeper into my bonding time with Him and would use creative ways to do the same to inculcate intimacy between me and the lord. When I go into my secret place of prayer, I want to be my most vulnerable before the Lord and hear from Him from that place of intimacy. Stripping before God goes in tune with stripping of one's own self and letting Him mould us in our moments of surrender to Him as we sit heeding our ears to what He has to say.

Though I didn't think about striping before God during this revelatory rest, but was focused on how things would have been ideal with cameras with a person with a godly mind, it was something that crossed my mind during previous resting sessions. That's what I miss at times. I want to be free in my expression of worship towards the Lord, but I can't even have a duet freely done with Him as He gives me the revelations. Back in A-10, when I prayed to Jesus to stop me beforehand from doing something He didn't want me to do, the next day when I was going to get tea from the kitchen downstairs, I suddenly had this sense of pull followed by the vision of Jesus holding me close in a duet with his arm around my shoulder at the back and it was accompanied by a somatic experience. I couldn't believe that He answered my prayer by getting an abrupt hold of me in a duet. Now though I was having the somatic revelation and had the vision as well, I couldn't move along with a free expression in tandem with the vision because I didn't want to be seen by others! But if there was no camera situation, I would've felt so much more filled and content in that intimate duet with Him. As I began to write above how He told hold of me, the following lyrics played in my Spirit:
Karle kabza ae paak rooh.. Aaa….
Karle kabza ae paak rooh..

The lines precisely describe my experience for it is equivalent to suddenly and unexpectedly being seized by the Holy Spirit. These are the moments that I crave to have alone with Jesus, but am not able to have in its full expression because of my situation!

As I was done recalling my Kabza experience with Jesus, I saw:

- My landlord Subhash Uncle standing dressed in a horizontally striped parrot green polo-shirt over shorts, as he laughs lightly and says:
  Bete aap bahut ache ho!

These days in this demonized world, being naked has become a thing of cultural swag and modernity as we see a rise in nudity everywhere!

****

Past Revelations

- (Around the Past month or before) The fat lady who stands behind the counter of Dinesh Store asking someone present to the left not seen in the vision to get a Durex that's hanging on the left inner side of her shop.
  Well, after a few days of having this revelation, when I went to buy something from her shop and it was about dark, she was extending a cigarette in my direction which I neither liked nor understood though I let the experience go. She later justified that she was extending it out to the short and thick guy standing behind me though she was looking at me and continued extending it to me though I wasn't responding in any way, shape, or form to her gesture. I perhaps smiled at her as her act took me by surprise!
- (Past two weeks) The front view of my upper half dressed in my green dress with net polka-dotted sleeves that Jesus highlighted for me to wear.
- (Past week) Ashutosh Rana as the priest from the movie Raaz stands in his room as he says in a serious tone: Ye aise nhi ayegi/manegi! Ye aise nhi ayegi/manegi!

****

Earlier during the day while cleaning the room, I saw:

- The upper half of the guy Surjeet from Dinesh Store looking at me as he says in a strong vindictive tone: Badla lenge tera!

And it wasn't just while cleaning that I had this vision but I saw it intermittently throughout the day.

- Marne waali hai (Heard in the Spirit).

Page 591.

12 November 2023
20:03

Revelations from last night:

When I lay to sleep in the night, I start having the rubs and the movements inside again, and this time with a drone whispering things right next to my left ear. Now I don't know who it is, but I don't want to get involved in it, so I lay on my right side with closed eyes as I am saying within myself:

- I love you Mrittunjay. But, please don't sin and make me sin either. (And I mean it with all my heart!)

  I love you Mrittunjay. But, please don't sin and make me sin either. (Because though I've received revelations from several people, he's one who's controlling the cameras!)

And I repeat this several times for I don't fall into sin for I am close to Jesus, and sinning may take me away from Him, and I have His work to do in this life and I don't want to fall below a certain standard that I am supposed to meet while working for Him and I've my own conscience as well that convicts me if I'm falling short! While I repeat the sentence within myself, I have this following vision:

- Jesus standing near the wall beside the sky blue rack with wide-open huge eyes and an astonished expression on His face as He looks at me with red love hearts in front of His eyes!

While I continue laying down, the voice behind me continues to whisper and it seems like a general voice which any man could whisper in the manner of! I ignore the voice and focus on Jesus and how I am supposed to be! And while this continues, I have the following visions:

- The bottom left side view of Ashutosh Rana dressed in a black sweater over a shirt tucked inside pants sitting on a rocking chair inside a well-furnished huge space as he says quietly within himself: Ye aise nhi manegi! Ye aise nhi manegi!
- A small-framed vision of Ashutosh Rana dressed in the previous attire of a black sweater over a shirt tucked inside with a lady fully dressed in a frilled pink dress lying on her front on his right shoulder with her upper half falling behind his back as he looks at the viewer and says: Ye meri hai!
- The side-view of the upper half of Ashutosh Rana dressed in a black sweater over a shirt standing in a dim golden surrounding facing to the left with a book opened in his hand as he is reading it with his head bent down accompanied with him taking some papers out of the book and throwing it in the direction of the viewer.
- The front view of Ashutosh Rana standing at the entrance of a space resembling my previous abode (Apurva PG) as he's hugging tightly a girl dressed in a fitting yellow half-sleeved top having lifted her up as he's pressing her against his chest.
- In yet another small-framed vision, the girl is dressed in a yellow top tucked inside light green trousers as he points to her breasts and ass and says: These are mine!
- This night I have several visions of Ashutosh Rana dressed in a black sweater over a shirt tucked inside pants and no longer is he shown in the attire of the criminal Postman from the movie Dushman. And the revelations are of the kind above and not obscene or full of nudity, and the revelations show the love of the character represented by his figure as he is expressing his love in those ways (saying a thing or hugging me).

So while I lay on the bed thinking of Jesus as I don't wanna sin though I'm being targeted in such a way by the general whispers of a person near my ear behind me, I lie down meditating on what is right and ask the fellow to not sin and not make me sin either. And then I hear a familiar sound from near the ceiling from perhaps another drone which makes me think if I am being duped! I thank God that I didn't indulge this time in their games that I don't know much about! How would I know what they're doing behind the scenes? I only know what God shows me and my perception of things!

More Revelations that accompanied the Ashutosh Rana's revelations

- A small-framed vision of a guy dressed in an ethnic attire of a tunic set with a multi-colored half-jacket on top walking around in a dim-golden background with a cubical watermelon fixed on top of his head as a stream of red liquid ejects out from the top and splatters around.
- The man then changes to an old Javed Akhtar dressed in cream ethnic attire of a tunic set with a half jacket on top as he moves around with the leaking watermelon cubicle watermelon on top of his head.

While I lay on the bed, I had these lyrics play intermittently in my Spirit throughout the course of the revelations:
The Guy sings:
She put him down.. Like the burning end of a midnight cigarette..
She broke his heart.. He spent his whole life trying to forget..

****

Past Revelation

- Mitti ki Khusboo: heard in the Spirit intermittently during the past week.
- (Past Week) As I lie down to sleep
- (Past Week) I had this revelation in sequence with the dim-red revelations with Death Conqueror in the dept. I saw: The side-view of the upper half of a naked dim-red Prof TRS sitting facing to the right with horizontally protruding genitalia as the middle section of a woman moving to and fro along it in intercourse. Well, it was a weird revelation and unexpected as well, and not something that I wanted to see. So, I delayed writing it! Now Prof TRS could be a label. I hope he is.

In my recent revelations with Death Conqueror, I had this act repeat in several ones that I kept forgetting to write as I didn't have a record of it in my diary or perhaps I wrote it once previously but the revelation kept repeating itself.

- (Within the past week) I kept seeing myself grabbing the fleshy ass (that I haven't even seen) of a muscular Death Conqueror, slapping it, and pushing him further upwards inside as he moves on top of me in intercourse.
- (Past week) The bottom view of the naked upper half of Glory above me as he is moving to and fro with him lifted up above me and holding the railing at the back with both hands as he says: I Love You!

While I was writing the above revelation, I somehow happened to think of my reaction if I ever came across KA in a direct confrontation. I could imagine myself being very shy hiding my face from him! That would be the case if I was certain to have that interaction with him for real, but if he was to just walk by beside me, I would try to ignore him or walk away with my face bent down, and escape the situation without looking at him to escape my own inner anxiety! But I know that after a while of interacting with him when in a situation in which I have to interact, I would be normal. I don't know why I happened to imagine this scenario.

- (Past two days) I get this situation played in my Spirit in which a group of guys are chatting among themselves about who is to go in next as they're deciding about the same. It reminded me of the revelation in which a naked Death Conqueror was dragged away by a two naked men from being inside a woman with his slumped genitalia after aw hlie of which he dragged himself back to the woman. This revelation makes me think if this is how these people think. They do something grievously wrong and don't feel convicted in their inner self but have a group chat about who is to go inside next!? Such a morally depraved group! I am not very much affected by the revelation because I have my set of revelations that hold meaning to me, and Jesus knows the full truth, and I don't have to know everything as it's not me who decides in the end how sinners are judged, but Jesus! I just have to be on the side of Jesus and revel in His love! I wish to have a close duet with Him in the absence of cameras so I can have a free expression of my inner self for Him.
- (Past few days) The face until the throat of KA with the round collar of his white tunic visible as he looks towards the left and shouts in pain with filled eyes: Badla lungaa tera!

During one of my resting sessions in the afternoon a few days back, I could see that I was prone to have revelations from other people because the Holy Spirit will speak the truth choosing the truth that needs to be revealed depending on God's good judging wisdom. I can't determine when the Spirit should speak or when it should stay silent though I can to some extent cooperate with it as it is the person of God living inside of us. So, though I may be resting, the Spirit is going to speak in several ways. It is given to us for that purpose alone: to have a relationship with and for us to listen to it as it speaks and makes the Will of God known. And then I think it was the resting session in which I was having some revelations with Death Conqueror, and then I told Jesus to divert my attention to Him by joining me in my rest so I won't be focused away from Him and if I'm resting with Him in communion, it's not a sin for I constitute the body of Christ - the bride of Christ. I'm a part of it. So the next revelation that I received had the following.

- (Past few days) The front view of me lying on my left side on the bed with Jesus against the wall fully dressed in His white satin attire in front of me hugging me intimately as he is running His left hand across the right side of my ass that's facing upwards. And it doesn't seem obscene and the vision repeats a few times. It reminds me of what Sis Adele in one of her recent videos, that the love of Jesus for His church is like the love of a bridegroom for his bride. The revelation confirms to me the fact that I already know: that I'm His bride! Looking at the revelation, I feel a bit better because it's better to have revelations with Jesus than to know the heart states of other people who are not one's spouse and then fall into sin which I kept my heart guarded against for a long time.
  The lady sings: Tod dala.. Tod dala..
  ****

Dream (Morning):

Out of a group in a room, only one person is left sitting alone in a room with him being dressed in a full-sleeved sky-blue top and a cap on his head. The dream focuses on this person for a good while as he's supposed to play an important role. I come across an object with four thin rectangular strips of two alternating colors along its rim. When the object is no longer with me, I have to write down the colors that I saw. I ask Akhila the same who's present in the same room and is sitting on a bed with outstretched legs crossed over one another. As she is answering me, I find that it's me who is recalling the object in my mind as I write down: Red. Function. Red. Function, while the vision fluctuates between her speaking the words out and me seeing the vision and writing it down. She was using 'Function' for the colour she didn't know the name of, so she was describing it by its function.

I went out to buy milk from the Dinesh Store ad on my way back from the shop, I happened to look up to my left side to distract myself from the real-life actors that were walking in my direction from the far end, and it's when I saw:

- A lightly bearded RS with straight neck-length hair come at my head with a rod from above me!

Towards the end of mopping my room the first time I did this day in the afternoon:

- She just wants attention. She don't want my heart.

I have the following immediate vision:

- The upper half until the shoulders of Jesus in an off-white tunic with a red drape as He says: She doesn't want attention. She wants normalcy! And by normalcy, He's referring to a normal straightforward, and not deceptive or cunning way of interacting!

As I now wiping the washroom floor, I hear the same lyrics again, this time along with the rest of the chorus:

She just wants attention. I knew from the start. You're just making sure I'm never getting over you!

I see again, Jesus appearing in an immediate vision revelation:

She doesn't want attention. She wants normalcy of interaction! (which is straightforward and honest without deception and confusing involvement of third parties accompanied with a complication of things being communicated!)

As I wrote the above, I saw

- A small-framed vision of KA in a white tunic set walking backwards in a dark background while waving his right hand as he says in a mild laughter: Bye!

As I was done writing the above, I heard: Bahut pyaar kiya hai na tune us se! Tujhe to mein todunga! Tujhe to mein todunga!

I took a substantially proper bath after perhaps more than a week and washed my head twice as they were too smelly. After taking a bath, I lay down to relax as I was feeling too fresh this specific day. I talked to my mom for a while and when I was not talking to her but was resting, I had the following revelations:

- Ashutosh Rana dressed in a black sweater over a shirt in lying on his left side against the wall in front of me as I lay facing him on my right as he was hugging me.

- The top view of the upper half of a well-built, muscular but lean, naked man who has his throat slit from the front as he lies with his head bent backwards below the surface his body is resting on while another man collects his blood in a bucket placed below his head by slightly pressing down his throat.
- My two white Jesus mugs placed on my bed separated by a distance of about 2 feet along the direction of the bed near the end nearer to the kitchen as several black flies move away from the one with Jesus is My King written on it and placed further away from the kitchen with its top covered with the brown wooden lid. Well, I happened to have milk stored in that same mug this day that I had the vision.

****

Past Revelations

- (About a week back) As I lay on the bed to rest or sleep, I hear: She's giving you her body. She's giving you her body.
- (Yesterday) I take a coconut ladoo out from the box to eat and then see:
- Glory dressed in a white tunic set in a shiny dark background says to me: Kartika, you can't live with me! Kartika, you can't live with me!

****

I had written earlier today about how I never happened to interact with the short fellow and how he never asked me for the advances he has been making using the physical drones. I had made a certain comment about the unusual situation seeing how things have progressed in the real world, and then later when I was writing revelations, I started feeling the drones moving upwards again, and this time I heard in a quiet, stuffed and domineering tone:

- I'm f*cking you again! I'm f*cking you again!

Earlier during the day and yesterday as well, I kept seeing a translucent SRK dressed in his multilayered black Don attire above in front of me as I moved around and he seemed to be saying a word or two or making different gestures. Even when I am using the washroom, I see the translucent Don avatar of SRK near the ceiling in front of me as he is looking down at me from that height. It's almost as if God is showing me Death Conqueror's avatar of Don responding to these different things that I am doing, some of which comes across as untidy to him making him react with a bit of aversion as I hear: You can't be with me. You can't be with me.

21:20

I lay down to rest and have the following revelations. Prior to resting, I was listening to Sia songs.

- The face of KA on top of me kissing me.
- Khyati is having sex. Khyati is having sex.
- The animated drone in the shape of the face of Diplo until his neck from the song Genius moving to the right as a metallic arm/hand holds the animated Labrinth from the song who is frantically moving his arms and legs. The follow-up vision has the eye of the sky drone extending out and holding Labrinth in the same manner!

Ref: LSD - Genius ft. Sia, Diplo, Labrinth

- Death Conqueror on top of me.
- A huge Glory throws him away at the back.
- I Love You.. I Love You..
- Jesus pours a bucket of blood on my head.
- The face of the lady on the thumbnail of various Sia's songs with frizzy hair as she emulates my expression (though without the mouth gesture).

- The animated face of Sia with a teardrop from the song Genius stuffs Besan Ladoos in her mouth one after the other. (I was having Besan Ladoos before lying to rest while I was talking to my mom.)
- I Love You Kartika.
- As I begin to relax, a voice seemingly that of Glory's shouts: Ruk jaa Randiii……!
- Diljit Dosanjh dressed in a yellow ethnic attire with an embroidered yellow half-jacket sitting in a black open Jeep says: Assi ta tuhadde hai jee! He then takes out a long black gun from inside the jeep holding it horizontally with both hands, and extends it to someone standing on the left which is revealed to be a lady with her hair tied low at the back as she too holds in the same manner as him and they both move it back and forth between them.

- The lyrics from his recently released song that I happened to earlier listen to plays in my Spirit.
  Mang ley je Dil lena chauni aa
  Has has suli uthey chadey gabru

  Mang ley je Dil lena chauni aa
  Has has suli uthey chadey gabru

- The close front top-view of Dr. Strange's face with a red metallic helmet around his head without a facial shield.
- Love You Kartika. I love You.
- KA shouts: I Love You!
- Diljit Dosanjh sits with his hands below his chin supporting his face with his elbows resting on a surface as he looks at me with red love hearts in front of his eyes.
- The upper half of Dr. Strange in open daylight covered with several thick layers of red and white flowers giving him a convex look below his neck with it changing to a fluffed red waterproof cloth/wrap as the vision continues, again with an outward convex curve below the neck as he stands surrounded by people supposedly being interviewed or questioned about something!
- Ye to sach hai ke bhagwaan hai..
  Hai magar phir bhi anjaan hai..
- Shraddha Kapoor dressed fully in multilayered clothes with her tied low at the back stands looking at the viewer in a dark background.
- The vision is followed by a darker and bald version of the actress with a dark head resembling that of the Goalie from Shaolin Soccer standing dressed in a sleeveless white dress with a black cheetah-print with a deep V-neck that met at the center of her waist at the front.
- I tell Jesus that though I am in this situation, He is my husband. So I want Him to give me revelations with Him. I tell Him that I don't want to have such revelations that would be considered sinful but with everyone else but Him for He is my husband.
- The upper half of Ellen DeGeneres comes walking to me as she extends out a mike in my direction and says: What's your name!?
  After I wrote the above revelation, I heard:
  Sab hassan lag rahe hai! Sab hassan lag rahe hai! which is followed by: Bas dekh liya sabne ki God tujhse kitna pyaar karte hai!
- The bottom view of Ellen DeGeneres dressed in a light blue denim jacket on top of a neck-high t-shirt sits on a bike as she is about to drive it to the right.
- A medium-framed vision of Parineeti Chopra dressed in a long shiny dark green shoulderless dress holding in her left hand a transparent cocktail glass filled with a drink of the same color as her dress as she is walking towards the viewer in a dark night background away from the frame of a wide building that's visible behind her with a bearded Arjun Kapoor dressed in a black suit standing some distance away from the building along the path she's following. She stops by and has a very brief chat with him and then continues walking towards the viewer with that cocktail glass in her hand. Another lady dressed in a similar dress but that of a shiny maroon color comes walking out of the building holding a cocktail glass with a drink of the color of her dress and she too stops in her path to chat with Arjun Kapoor as she continues on her way afterwards. It seems that there's some kind of celebration and Arjun Kapoor is made to stand at the entrance of it where ladies are stopping by and perhaps marking a present as they continue walking forward with the shiny drink of their shiny dress held in their hands.

- In my right mental view, as I lay on bed, I see a younger version of Rishi Kapoor dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt finely printed in light green over pants as he walks on all fours on a narrow carpet finely printed similar to his shirt.
- Repeats incessantly in my Spirit: He's loving you. He's loving you.
- Akhila dressed in multilayered brown clothes stands to the right of my skyblue rack against the wall with her hair falling at her back as she's looking in my direction and says to me with a hateful tone: I hate you!
- The side-view of a naked me standing facing a naked Death Conqueror against the wall extending along the direction of my bed in intercourse as I say: We're locked! We're locked!
- The upper half of Ayushmann Khurrana dressed in a loose full-sleeved beige sweater with a white football held up in his hand as he says: You know he's using you! He's using you!
  I happen to sob silently with my head covered inside my sheet and then I see:
- A small-framed vision of Death Conqueror with curly Sherlock Holmes hair sitting on a surface being dressed in a black suit in a dark background bending forward as he gives a silent cry of pain.
- Ayushmann fiddles with the white ball a bit hopping it from one hand to the other while looking at me as he says again: He's using you! He's using you!
- The damp face of a clean-shaven SRK lifts on top from being on the left side of a woman's lying below him as he looks at her and says in a quiet tone: I love you.
- He's loving her.
- Ayushmann appears again and this time hits the centre of my forehead with that white ball which reflects back to him as he says again: He's using you darling!
  As I was writing the above few revelations, I kept intermittently hearing Sia's Punjabi part from the song Hass Hass:
  Dil tenu de ditta main tan soneya
  Jaan tere kadma ch rakhi hoyi aa..

- Jeeta tha jiske liye.. Jiske liye marta tha..
  Ik aisi ladki thi..
  Jise mein pyaar pkarta tha..
- If you love it like I love it!
  And you feel what I feel inside..!
  If yo want it like I want it..!
  Then baby let's get it tonight..!
  Can you feel the love..!? Can you feel the love..!?
  Can you feel the love..!?
  This is Love. This is Love. This is Love..!
- Akhila dressed in the multilayered brown dress from the previous visions with her hair falling at the back stands in the centre of the room facing to the left with her right hand extended in that direction as she's showing her palm to the person there and is saying sobbing in a low tone: Don't touch her Mrittunjay.
- The vision repeats after a while with her repeating the sentence to him in a hurtful tone.
- The follow-up vision has her now sitting with a knee bent on the floor with her head bent down in a begging way as she is communicating the same thing to the short fellow represented as the Don SRK in black standing on her left inside my room because he perhaps he didn't listen to her previous requests!
- The follow-up vision shows Don in black hitting with a long whip the back of a naked lady on her knees and elbows (joined together in front of her head) with her bead bent inwards while he looks away from her in the direction of Akhila standing to his other side following which she grows up from her posture and becomes taller and wider and is now looking at him with smiling eyes.

These visions revealed to me how these people operate, and it is definitely a very toxic and ungodly situation. The visions reminded me of how she was insulting me by asking who gave me the right to stay there (in her place) as if she had an exclusive right to stay there! This confirmed her unreasonable hatred for me and after this vision, I understood why she had to insult and put me down, because it led to her feeling a sense of grandiosity! Such a sick duo! Instead of relishing in doing good together, they get pleased by hurting another person. Well, I later reasoned that perhaps the short fellow acted the way he did to fulfill a purpose and if he had gotten his way, perhaps he wouldn't have continued to be mean, though I'm not sure because it's gravely wrong to try to erase one's sense of perception of right and wrong or desensitize them to the same which he intended to do to some extent. But she didn't have a reason in the first place to be mean to me and there was no purpose her meanness fulfilled other than to make her feel grand! The lady needs psychiatric help to help her regulate her sense of self-worth in a healthy way instead of gaining it by putting down others whom she perceives in a moral way to be better than her! And I used the adjective 'moral', because she always was irked by the moral difference she observed between how I thought and how she thought making her punish me in a way for being who I am by insulting me in those ways! If I had the same mind as hers and thought in the same way, and given this scenario if I was better looking or wealthier, she wouldn't have tried to put me down but would've formed a friendship with me, or if I was of the same economic status but wouldn't be enrolled in PhD or didn't have the traits that I have or was of the same dual nature as hers in my conduct, then too she wouldn't felt the need to put me down. If I believed everything she said and instead of using my own mind to form a full picture of her persona, then she would be ok with me (from what she herself told me – that I should only be concerned about how she is in front of my face and not what she speaks behind my back.) It's my nature that puts me in a kind of rivalry or on the opposite side of the group that she is a part of.

After I wrote the above part about Akhila's bloated self after the naked lady is oppressed, and explained how she always has been, I saw:

- The back-view of her running away from the viewer out in the open as she looks back turning her head to the side.

- 'She put him down.. like the burning end of a midnight cigarette..

Throughout this revelatory flow, whenever I got aroused by the rubs on my strong pp and seemed to be desiring more of them, I saw:

- Jesus dressed in His full-length white multilayered attire pours down a bucket of blood on my head without me even asking Him reminding me that it's because of his blood that I am not held accountable for this sinful thought. And also He knew that I didn't want to sin against Him in principle but it was because of my new heart state for the short fellow that I was having that mental posture. I keep apologizing to Him as well while I am in the situation as I feel like I've stooped so low because we're called to operate righteously at the mental level if we're to walk on the perfect path of God. Now one can have thoughts about one's spouse and that won't be counted a sin, but every thought that's counted wicked counts as sin and therefore needs to be washed clean by the blood of Jesus. I was very good at operating righteously at the mental level, and still am though I was failing when I was lying on bed having those revelations with people whom I apparently have begun to love as a consequence of God counteracting my complaints with His revelations. I have Godly love for Akhila as well, but then I had these revelations as a part of this revelatory flow in which she demonstrated her hatred for me and her love for my pain or persecution. I saw that she felt emboldened for her wicked reasons if I was oppressed and hurting!

Page 592.

13 November 2023
05:45

In this dream, I am standing on the first/second floor of the Junior wing of my school building with my little brothers. Downstairs, to my right I see my dad dressed in a long green coat checkered in black worn over pants. At the far end near the end of the row of classes to my left, I see a lady dressed in a short beige top over a thick and dark printed trousers fully revealing her form. I see how holy my dad is dressed as I am filled with admiration for him, and the sight of the lady makes me nauseous and be filled with disgust. As I stand there with my brothers with me at the rightmost corner, my youngest brother Divyanshu in the middle, and my middle brother at the leftmost corner. I see that I've a good bond with them as I observe my surroundings. The cemented brick ground in front of me is empty with none in sight but my dad standing in the right corner in front of a street going in that direction talking on the phone. My middle brother Himanshu extends his hand to grab my arm time from over the slab we've our arms resting on as we observe the surroundings together.

As I was moving to my table to write the dream, I kept hearing in my Spirit the lady from the song sing:
Can you feel the love..? Can you feel the love..? Can you feel the love…?
This is love. This is love. This is love..
And it continued playing in my spirit as I was typing out the dream when I decided to note the revelation down.

The dream continued: The tiny Himanshu says smiling in a loving way as he grabs my arm and comes closer with Divyanshu between us: Didi tu meri hai!

which reminds me of the time when he was a toddler and I used to drop him to his classes before going to mine and every time he would cry bitterly as I left asking me to not leave. The same would repeat when I used to visit him during lunch time. The caretaker Ramkali Aunty used to sit in front of the toddler's classes with her leg spread across the door at such times to stop the children from leaving room. My brother would bend over her leg and keep looking at me crying as I left him after dropping him to the class when I would reassure him that I would come to him again in the lunch time. Divyanshu also used to do the same - cry out loud when I left after I had spent time with him.

So, when he withdraws closer, I can feel his affection though I withdraw away a bit as I begin feeling uncomfortable. The three of us seem to be united in this dream. I am now walking along the corridor on the ground floor to my left to reach its end to do a chore, and find that it is filled with several people as I struggle to make a way through them on my way back. I've two of my friends with me. When I reach the end of the corridor, a lady with short blunt hair with a wide face crosses us from behind as we've a brief chat and she lets me know that she was done with her corresponding task during our brief chat after which she leaves.

We're now checking out the classrooms of that building and we find toddlers dressed in beige and brown uniforms in that area of the school. After we've moved around a bit, it seems that we're in my dad's playschool. We're looking for the toddler Himanshu in the school. We move into a classroom and don't find him. We walk into another classroom and find the teacher present inside along with the tiny toddlers, and as we walk in the teacher walks out. We find some of them playing behind a chair that has been thrown over to the side as one of the tiny toddlers is bent on all fours with his nickers below his ass with a few others around him. We stay in the classroom waiting for the teacher but when she doesn't return for a good while, we walk out and find her sitting on a chair outside in a hall near its end to the left of the classroom. There are a few women around her and she's now begun to get some beauty procedures done to her face as a woman applies bleach on her face which seems weird to me as she's supposed to be inside the class. I observe her from that distance in front of her. She doesn't seem to be in a hurry to get to the classroom. It's not right to leave the class to get one's face bleached. While she's sitting there, she signals to me to take the class which seems weird to me. She signals me again to go inside the classroom and tend it in her place. She signals the same to me a few times but I don't go in as I find it weird that I should tend her class when she's out getting bleached and then I am not good at tending to several toddlers together at once either. After she's done, she gets up and lets me know that she was asking me to tend to the class because I was wearing a long white coat like hers so she thought I was one of the teachers. But my coat was a doctor's coat and worn because of a different reason than theirs which was solely because of their chosen dress code for teachers. I find my colleague Pooja walking beside me to my right and she gives me a reason about the teacher's behavior and I let her know that I too was thinking along the same lines and that's why I didn't interrupt her before she got up. There's a third person walking on her right as well who's not visible to me but I assume it to be Rakhi. We go through a few classrooms and then we see that a sudden evacuation is taking place as all children are being sent home as the teachers are aiding in wrapping things up. It doesn't make any sense to me. I notice people leaving from the long open roof of the school extending far ahead with children being sent away from the entrance. We get to hear that my dad has been arrested and we don't see him around either. We take a jump and are floating towards the main entrance and by this time I've my younger brothers with me as well floating behind me. While we are moving towards the front of the building, my middle brother who' behind me lifts up my long beige tunic above my ass with a smile thereby revealing the shape of it which I find outrageous but I ignore his act and continue moving away towards the entrance. On landing there, I spot a few press cars around. Right in front of me I spot a deep red car facing away from us with its hood lifted up but it's long and cylindrical and of the shape of a plain red metallic penis. I can guess that there's a press person behind the lifted bonnet who must be knowing about the matter. I walk upto in front of the car and find a person talking into a mike as a few women sit in the hollow space inside the car below the lifted genitalia bonnet. I spot a girl with her facial form resembling Akhila's with long and thick straight hair falling at her back sitting in the centre along with a few others around her. A guy slowly walks up to me and says: Patent in response to my question that a few people have ignored by far. So my dad got arrested because of a problem with the patent!? We've to go meet him at the Police Station but then the school is left open with its classrooms and the main entrance open. Someone needs to lock it up as I look at the front of the building with other shops present beside it. I'm still thinking about having to lock up the open rooms as the thought of my dad being in jail keeps popping up in my mind as well, and this is when I wake up.

Somewhere in the middle of the dream, I see a lady who goes to an area resembling a beach but it also resembles an open workplace and she's supposedly started to work there and is handling her position well now. She goes back to her home and returns to her workplace near the beach.

After writing the dream, I lay down to rest and see:

- The close-up side-view of an egg frying over a dark pan where the egg is broken directly over the pan as its yolk stands out in the middle and it's elongated ahead along the vantage point of the viewer.
- Sanjay Dutt in his look from the movie Saajan (long face with long straight hair stands warmly hugging a person whose back is visible to the viewer as he has his arms around his shoulders as he sobs and says bye. I hear a sad: Bye re.. which reminds me of how Tejaswi said his last bye to me on our last phone call when I confronted him about his fornication and how I didn't want to be a part of his harem for I didn't like people like him and didn't want them in my life either! He was always cheating on his girlfriend whom he said he might marry but as my friend had predicted, he didn't marry her. Neeti had said that he wouldn't marry her and that's why he's going out and sleeping with all those other women, and that his girlfriend he had kept so he had someone by his side during the search.
- The vision repeats as Sanjay Dutt hugs the person even more intimately while he sobs while doing so.
- New Advanced written on the top left corner of the left side page of a lined white notebook.
- Jesus stamps a brown and round stamp with RUINED written in the center on a white paper as He looks at me with an annoyed angry expression. He stamps the white paper all over with the brown RUINED stamp.

I tell Jesus to please give me revelations related to Him as He's my rightful husband as of now and then I see:

- Jesus jumps through a metallic ring floating in the open air in the background of the sky, following which He lies on top of me.

After I get up after taking this slot of rest and am perhaps cleaning the room or working or moving around the room for some reason, it's then that I have the following visions repeat a few times:

- The upper half of KA dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt saying to me: Mein jaa raha hu. Mein bahut achha hu. Mein jaa raha hu. Mein bahut accha hu.
- The upper half of Glory in a dark background says to me: Tu mere layak nahi hai! Mein bahut accha hu!
- RS runs away dressed in a Sherwani with neck-length straight hair and a beard as he says: Mein bahut accha hu!

****

Past Revelations

- (Past Week) I lie on my side this time and hear an immediate: She's showing you her ass. She's showing you her ass. (I'm covered by my green sheet though.)
- (Past few days) I am putting inside the hand of Death Conqueror inside my pants for him to touch the inner surface of my groin. I had this vision repeat a few times within a time period of a few days. (It later made me recall the dream that I had in room D1 of A-16 in which I was in a similar act with Glory.)

- (Past 24 hours) A medium-framed vision of a wooden square deck in a dark navy blue night background with a narrow wooden pathway extending from the square deck towards the viewer as a lady with medium-sized hair falling at the back stands on the square deck facing away from the viewer while a man dressed in a black suit comes walking from the right side of the square deck and holds her hand – both standing facing away from the viewer, as a huge burning cigarette facing to the right lies horizontally on the narrow path blocking the entrance to the square deck.

While I was writing the above vision, I heard the guy from the song sing:
She put him out.. like the burning end of a midnight cigarette..
****

As I choose to settle in the bed again after talking to my mom, I see:

- A danda comes at my head leaving a splash of blood on the Psalm 34:4-5 wall near the left end of the wall.

Vision (past 24 hours): A naked, wide, and muscular dim golden Glory corners a naked lean, thin, and short Death Conqueror against the wall in front of the kitchen slab with his arms around his sides with an inverted genitalia. He seems to be making love to him.

I overhear someone say 'Show-off' outside and it catches my attention. It makes me question if I'm a show-off. I then begin introspecting and analyzing my behavior as I don't wanna be a show-offy person. Later in the evening, when I'm talking to my mom, I observe the way I'm talking to her and recognize that my attitude of saying things may come across as show-offy to a third observer. But I also realize that my current way of interacting is based on a blunt unapologetic utterance of truth where I may seem monotonous or having a kind of superior attitude but then I also identified that I had absorbed a part of how Meera talked bluntly about things. Whenever I look at y talk from that different lens, I change my delivery of words but then find myself reverting back to the same after a while. But I know in my heart that I'm not trying to show-off anything though my tone may seem too blunt and straightforward.

****

Past Revelations

- (past week) Death Conqueror between my legs bites off my strong pp, throws it to the side, and starts sucking on the blood erupting out at its place. As I was done writing the revelation, I heard: Ye sach hai Kartika, ye sach hai!

I've been hearing these song lyrics for two days since I put up the lights in my room about a week back.
The Guy sings:

- Aaj dharti se gagan ka, phoolon se chaman ka,
  Ghatao se pawan ka, ho raha milan..
  Jaadoo.. Jaadoo.. Jaadoo.. Jaadoo..

With the emphasis being on the line:

Aaj dharti se gagan ka, phoolon se chaman ka,
Ghatao se pawan ka, ho raha milan..

I was lying on my front on the bed somewhere within the past week, when I saw:

- My naked dad two feet above me with an erect genitalia as he moved to and fro in the air.
- (Past week during rest) I see the top view of a man's dark hand wearing a golden ring pressing on top of a lady's breast with her own hand lying on top of that man's.

During the WhatsApp call with my mom, I shared with her how glory as perceived by the world was different from glory as perceived through a lens of the kingdom of God. And after I've made the statement, I tell my mom that the people the world gives glory to often do not intersect with those who bring glory to God in the kingdom of God, and that God often chooses the lowly, poor and the weak. But immediately afterwards I recall how through me God called all celebrities which contradicted my previous statement! So, God demonstrated through my ministry that He is not just limited to the poor and weak (for it is written that the kingdom of God belongs to the poor) but that He is accessible to the rich alike if they are able to give Him the place that the poor easily do without much thought!

Earlier Today:

- I'm in love with you Kartika.

17:59
Perhaps I was resting when I heard in my Spirit:

- It's not enough. I want more Kartika. I want more.

19:11

- A medium-framed animated vision of a naked woman with wavy curly hair lying flat on a surface on her back with her groin facing the viewer being about a few feet away. She's breathing heavily with her legs wide-open as a naked man present on the left is pressing with both hands placed one on top of the other the top of her groin. A few seconds later, it breaks and then he pulls out her intestines.

As I close my eyes to rest, I see:

- The upper half of Zedd from the Katy Perry song 365 looking at the viewer with one of his eyes being slightly smaller than the other as he blinks while looking at the viewer.
- The face of a creepy man with a wicked countenance and wide-open eyes and blue light shining on a part of his face which is present between the thighs of a lady as he says in a creepy tone: Tujhe khaunga mein!
- Judas dressed in a black suit with a V-neck black shirt inside with his left forearm vertically raised points at the viewer/me with his forefinger as he says: Now you're dead! Now you're dead!
- As I continue resting, Jesus appears in a vision at my right dressed in His full-length off-white attire with a red drape on top, as He asks me: Where's your heart child!? as, apparently, I've laid down to rest to remember Him. I reply with an immediate: It's with You (Jesus). I then reflect on my heart-state and my words as I don't want to have discord between my inner self and my outer behavior like Judas the betrayer. Jesus says: Your heart is with him!, while pointing on the other side of me to a person not shown in the vision. His words are accompanied by the following vision:

- I stand dressed in my full-sleeved Bold Existence top over denims in the centre of the room facing the envisioning me lying on the bed with her upperhalf resting against the wall, while the envisioned me stands with a huge red love heart throbbing in the manner of heartbeats with the heart covering my entire upperhalf below the neck.
- The front view of the upper half of Kygo dressed in a coat vertically thinly striped in black and white with a short veg haircut as he sits inside a car and drives towards the viewer – the vision being seen from the hood about a foot away from the viewer.
- Brother Philips (from Torch of Christ Ministries) takes out a long-stemmed rose from a beige rucksack (katta in Hindi) held in his hand on the right side as he sits on the conductor seat of a four-wheeler.
- It ain't me..
- KA comes dressed in the multilayered black attire from the dentist YT shorts I shared previously and stands beside my bed as he says: Kartika ise utaaro. Let's have s*x right now. Kartika ise utaro. Let's have s*x right now. (pointing to my black denim Jeans that I'm wearing).
  As I began writing the above revelation, I saw: KA dressed in the same attire walks backwards as he throws a kiss in my direction with his fingers of a hand joined together around their tips that he places on his lips followed by throwing that forearm in that direction.
- Bye. You're not good.
- I tell Jesus feeling guilty that I'm such a downgraded sinner – the worst of all – looking at the past few days since the motions of the drones increased. Earlier this evening as welll, I was telling God how I didn't want to sin but was put in the situation.
- Tujhe pta nhi hai ki teri taange tootne waali hai.
- He has gone through all the phases several times! He has gone through all the phases several times! I don't know whom exactly the statement refers to, but it makes me feel too sad.
- I don't need you. I'm doing a favour on you. (whispers a voice)
- Mata Rani, Badi Shayani.
- Beauty in ashes. Beauty in ashes. (Repeats intermittently)

About an hour back or so:

- Don SRK sits on his throne above near the ceiling in front of the wall adjoining my bed as two chubby fair ladies, dressed in a shiny, sparkling attire in the shape of a one-piece swimsuit with their lower bellies protruding out, sit on his throne's armrests, one on each side, as he throws down crumpled balls of papers down at me lying on the bed, one crumpled paper ball after the other.

Earlier during the day:

- When I am stuffing in my white inner vest inside my jeans inside the room after using the washroom, I heard: Tujhe khane aa raha hu mein!
- Motichoor! Motichoor!

****

Past Revelations

While lying in bed to sleep about a week back, this night I heard in my Spirit:

- Deeply fake. Deeply fake.

This reminded me of the post suggestion I had come across on my browser's homepage in which a lady was called out for her deepfake photo as she stood smiling joyfully with wide-open eyes pointing to the left while being dressed in a highly promiscuous tank top. Well, I wrote my true thoughts on the soft screen and not affected ones, and then I later admitted as well the revelations that previously didn't make sense to me but did after some months as they came to pass. So, I thought, perhaps now I'm being thought of as someone being deeply fake, in which case if it's true, I would withdraw from everyone and search where I flipped because I wasn't fake before or even during the camera situation! And I would only look inwards and sit and work with Jesus to purify me and my expression inside out!

After I was done writing the above, I saw:

- The stubbled smiling face of KA as he blows out his nose in my direction.

After I was done making a note of the above Deeply Fake revelation in my revelatory diary, I heard:
It ain't me. It ain't me.

(Who's gonna walk you through the dark side of the mornin'?
Who's gonna rock you when the sun won't let you sleep?
Who's wakin' up to drive you home when you're drunk and all alone?
Who's gonna walk you through the dark side of the mornin'?
It ain't me.. Oh-huh-O. Oh-huh-O.
It ain't me.)

- (Past month) Dhiraj Kakkar (Saroj Sadan's owner) passes by driving a black scooty dressed in a checkered green cotton shirt tucked inside pants with his erect genitalia protruding out.
- (Past month) A tiny Dhiraj Kakkar dressed in his attire from the previous vision sits on his knees on the ground in a dark background on the right end of the vision, facing to the left with his forearms extended forward as a stream of water falls down from the top left corner of the dark background.

****

Page 593.

14 November 2023
05:00

As I lay down to sleep as I am getting a nudge to go back to bed, I see:

- A long intense light pink umbilical cord going up towards the face of Death Conqueror of the same color into his mouth with his face slightly more than a meter above me as he gulps in the fluid through the cord.
- The naked and muscular pink upper half of Death Conqueror rests on me as I take him in embrace.
- The somatic sensation of a finger blocking my left ear.

Dream 1:
I'm moving towards church and then I find myself in a room getting waxed while I feel fearful at the same time that my parents are coming angrily to beat me up.

Dream 2:
I am staying in our third rented home in my hometown Pundri with Glory living on the ground floor, while I'm on the first floor. My dad brings three dresses for me: One striped in sky blue and white, the second one is a red Sharara dress with its top stitched in the shape of a half jacket with a neck resembling the elongated hexagonal lower half of the tip of an inverted pencil, while the third one has a black & white print and a square pocket at the bottom left of its top. I like all three but I wear the printed black & white one first. I go to the narrow balcony facing the road and see Death Conqueror dancing joyfully in a slow graceful manner with a lady on the road down in heavy rain.

The guy fixed at the window of a common school cab which stops a few meters away from the house!
I can sense that Glory may come into my room and wreak havoc because of everything that has been going around. I keep the door locked while there's another individual in there with me who's working her own job sitting on the laptop and I tell the lady to keep it shut. I seem to have been accorded the job of a salon worker in this dream and I've to perform the procedure of waxing on different individuals. We hear a knock at the door. I tell the lady to not open it, but she does, and in comes the toddler Glory crying hard with another woman walking behind him! I can see that he's going to throw things around as he marches towards the double bed laid against the wall. The toddler Glory is still crying out loud as he crawls on top of the bed and throws away the open laptop angrily in my direction while being on all fours as I catch my laptop. He is going to throw around other stuff as well as he continues to cry out loud. So I know that I've to do something about it. I grab hold of the toddler Glory and hug him tightly rendering him unable to move while he's continuing to cry out loud, and take him out in the open and narrow balcony to talk to him about the state of things! He is crying incessantly like Veera did when I didn't play with her all the time and then accused me of working all the time and not playing with her! And she didn't listen to others trying to make her stop. I keep him in tight embrace so he can't do anything other than talking or listening to me. I repeat to him: Mujhe kya mila ye sab karke!? Mujhe kya mila ye sab karke!? I'm referring to the fleshly revelations I've been having for the past few months because of which he is feeling betrayed. Though now I've developed a better bond with Death Conqueror as well - at least in my mind that I'm sure about. The toddler chubby Glory says out loud while crying that he had thought that he would marry me and we would have a story of true love but because of me everything is ruined! I feel the truth and pain in his tone and connect with his inner individual persona which tells me how hurt he is! I keep repeating to him while holding him lifted slightly above the ground level in that tight embrace: Mujhe kya mila ye sab karke!? Mujhe kya mila ye sab karke!? I'm pointing him to the fact that it wasn't my intention to hurt others and dive into sin but I wrote what I received in the Spirit and it changed my heart for those people! God had me build those bonds with them. And most importantly, I'm making the point to tell him that it wasn't to gain something for my own self that I did what I did! It was for the good of the people that God gave me revelations about because I thought they were chosen for His kingdom and were called by Him. In real life, I ignore when someone gives me unwanted attention, and am not looking forward to fleshly interactions and was previously far away from the world of Bollywood and people from the TV. I don't give people attention for them to come and approach me though I may unknowingly be staring at someone observing something about them but I do so under the premise that they too are boundaried and would ignore my social act of observing them instead of expecting them to affected by it in some way. If I've to talk to someone, I go to them and do so and I expect them to understand my straightforward approach. As I continue to repeat the statement, he stops crying and is silent now as he looks at me feeling relieved. If someone is not open to direct interactions and I can see that they're reserved, I can go out of my own nature of being reserved and walk to them and interact and I would do so in a way that makes them feel safe and uncomfortable instead of saying just anything and imposing on them my individual preferred way of being. But I get frozen in deceptive or confusing situations especially when they're mixed with uneasiness and discomfort one first feels around someone new one meets. I always made people feel comfortable around me whenever I interacted with them as I observed their personas and saw how they expected things to be while also keeping in mind how they should be from a good godly point of view. Without the Holy Spirit, I wouldn't have been able to write all these revelations by my ownself as they’re so unique and different from my own perception of things. I don't look at the genitalia of others are gold or silver or any other gem or diamond. I look at the entire person and that person is the one who holds value as a whole and I would never ever objectify them by comparing their body parts to different things. I found the revelation of long and thick genitalia dandas hitting the foreheads of respective people obscene as well. While writing revelations, I put my own feelings aside but tried to understand what they were saying and then had a corresponding response to them in my inner self which I wouldn't prefer to represent in those ways as I would directly come up with the words corresponding to the abstract response. None of my revelations would involve genitalia dandas. But I guess it's God's good wisdom to use such notation that speaks to a broader audience. I didn't use my own wisdom except for the places where I wrote my own thoughts and made the point about a given revelation and my thoughts about it when I didn’t yet understand it, but I've mostly written the revelations given by God. I would never call my groin gold or my strong pp as diamond or a garden. I would find the idea repulsive. I would rather call them as physical objects present in one's body that aid in expressing one's love for another because love in itself is not defined by the groins of people as any rational mind with a sound wisdom would know and understand. It's a confirming thing that this line of thinking is indeed right when one gets to know about the kingdom of heaven which is not about male and female genitals.

I look downstairs and I'm aware of the presence of Death Conqueror as well and I don't want to hurt him either!
After the toddler Glory is soothed, he leaves the room feeling reassured and at peace. His heart is at peace because he knows that I didn't intentionally betray him or put myself in this situation but that the revelations were a result of the situation.

The waxing assignment. The iron on the backside of the red dress - its sleeve has got a small burnt hole from the only time that I wore it.

My dad with hair neatly combed sideways dressed in a yellow polo t-shirt tucked inside olive green pants. After I wrote the above, I had the following song play in my Spirit as the yellow and green corresponds to the sunflowers from the game Plants vs Zombies.

Post Malone, Swae Lee - Sunflower (Spider-Man: Into the Spider-Verse)

I and Divyanshu ask dad for our respective tasks.

Towards the end of the dream, I tear the square pocket on the black & white dress and quickly wipe my forehead with it and it's when I wake up.

After I wake up:

- The 8-9 feel tall and 2 feet wide black Mrittunjay snake with its head consisting of a muscled version of his upper half until below his shoulders stands straight in the centre of the room with his muscled arms lifted in the manner of a wrestler. He's showing his strength and making the point about how tall and strong he's grown.
- A fat and fair child dressed in a printed white tshirt over nickers sits on a bed with a long vertically erect genitalia that extends up until his head as he is rubbing it followed after a while by him biting it by bending forward. He then begins crying with his arms outstretched to the right for him to be held in his mommy's arms.

Past Revelation
When I bathed the last time that I did after talking to my mom about having mixed experiences with my supervisor Nivedita Deo, I saw:

A small-framed vision of her dressed in her usual attire of a printed cotton tunic set as she looks at me and says in an affirmative tone: I love you Kartika. I love you Kartika.

Earlier during the day:

- A small-framed vision of Katy Perry with neck-length straight blonde hair dressed in a sleeveless white dress with a thin black belt in the middle standing in an open field with two angel white wings at her back and a golden ring floating above her head.

While cleaning the room in the evening:

- The face of Katy Perry with short blonde hair and wide-open eyes having expression from her song 365 with a deep red thin tissue rod below her face with two thin tissue arms extending along the sides at the level of her head in a deep red background as she walk towards the viewer with two small white plates of food, one on top of each hand.

Revelations while resting after cleaning the room in the evening:

- The face of the old wife of my old landlord Subhash Uncle as she moves her mouth the way I'm doing with my face covered with my green sheet as I am saying out a prayer in quite a low tone.
- The wife of my landlord Subash Uncle stands behind the brown iron door facing my room's door as she says: Bete we love you! followed by her turning away and banging the iron door shut.
- The landlord Aunty's face on top of a metallic structure consisting of two thin metallic rods as she comes walking to our side of the corridor on those two criss-crossed metallic sticks and is passing by in front of the white door of the apartment on the left of her apartment's iron door.
- The semi-animated front-view of the backseat of a car moving in the direction of the viewer with a man in a black suit sitting on the right side beside the window while a woman dressed in a sober plain deep red satin saree with a dark green blouse lays to his left on the seat as she's sleeping with her head on his lap, and while she does so and moves round a bit changing her sides, the man oscillates frantically in the vertical direction with a protruding erect genitalia.

The chorus of this song has been highlighted to me intermittently for the past few days since I heard it playing outside.

- The Guy sings:

Dil unglaa naal banauna
Meri hikk te sir rakh sauna
Mainu waang shudayian chahuna
Bhull sakdi aein ta bhull ja…

Forget me (Official Video)- MEET | Desi Crew | Latest Punjabi Songs 2020 | Punjabi Songs| Wise Music

Earlier during the day:

- Glory in a full-length white attire with a half-jacket on top and two white wings at the back in a dark background descends on a surface near the left end of the vision after which he gets on top of a lady lying on the bed to the right and starts moving to and fro in intercourse.

****

Past Revelations

- (yesterday) As the first person, I see my naked lower half as I'm lying on a surface with the flesh of my groin tearing apart from its lower end between the two outer lobes.
- Mata rani badi shayani. (has been repeating for several days in my Spirit)
- Meri maa ki pooja kare sara sansaar! : Once when on my way back from the church, a vehicle with the following written on it happened to come into my view. And the phrase has been being highlighted to me intermittently for the past month.

****

Page 594.

15 November 2023
00:41

After I tell my mom that I wouldn't prefer to travel to Pinky Mausi's home as I can't predict when I become entirely fatigued as has been happening for the past two weeks, with the recent event from yesterday being highlighted, I saw:

- A short-heighted Death Conqueror dressed in a black suit moves backward in a dark background as he says: Bye. You're of no use to me now. You're of no use to me now.

While I was editing Page 492 and I had begun to feel fatigued, I heard these lyrics play in my Spirit again and they had played earlier as well during the afternoon when I lay to rest:

The Guy sings:
Dene ko mujhe jeevan, khud maut sahi usne..
Khud maut sahi usne..

These lyrics kept repeating in my spirit while I lay on bed fatigued unable to even breathe properly and a while back as well while editing Page 492. In the last afternoon, it was after more than an hour that I began having long and deep breaths, while previously I was having a jagged pattern of breathing with short breaths.

Though I thought of staying awake at night and working, I have started to feel fatigued again.

Tu ghatiya hai Kartika. Tu bahut ghatiya hai. Well, I don't know how true is that, but I hope Jesus finds me good enough to continue working for Him.

Revelations earlier before falling into sleep:

- A field of grain in a night background as a half-naked muscular man is working with a pick-axe on the front right corner of the field facing the viewer while in place of the crop stands erect thin strands that have already been picked on. Accompanying the vision is the phrase:
  Ab panchayat hot kya jab chidiya chug gayi khet!
- A bunch of three long gate keys held inside a metallic loop stands vertically on one of the central hooks of a cloth hanger.
- A guy standing on the left of Death Conqueror with another guy standing to his right says: Let's throw her away now. The short fellow replies: Not yet. She's yet to receive the biggest surprise of her life! The three people remind me of the trio from the previous dream Smoothtalk & Witchcraft. Their statement makes me think how naïve they're being in their thoughts for there're only a limited number of things they can do! And they can't really throw me away because the wicked trio never possessed/owned me in the first place. I always belonged to Jesus and worked for Him and I'm in His hands regardless of the narrative these people have to give! They can only cause more damage to me and not throw away or own me because they are not the ones who created me! They're not aware of their God-given place and don't possess a godly perception of owning and throwing either!
  While I was writing the above, I saw:

- One of the Dushmans in the postman dress but having the real wide face of one of the wicked trio (this's one's chubby and not lean or thin) running away from the viewer in fear in open daylight as he kepps looking back turning his head to the right intermittently.
- Their statement made me think how gravely wicked these people for their end plan seemed to involve throwing me away after causing huge damage to my psyche which they wanted to be irreversible and what could not be healed! Shame on this disgusting trio!
- Three identical Postman Dushmans stand in a horizontal line against a wall in a dim background with their long erected genitalia reaching up until below their faces.
- I hear Glory shout: Randi vo tera use kar rha hai…! Randi vo tera use kar rha hai…!!
- A semi-animated Karan Johar dressed in a light blue denim with a parrot green t-shirt on top underneath a light blue denim jacket walks in the vision from the left as he says: He's/They're using you! He's/They're using you!

  But I don't feel used. I'm a worker of God and He showed me that the pink face of Death Conqueror had a pink umbilical cord in his mouth extending upwards from my bed. And also I have learned by how Jesus thinks. No one can use Him for He's God. But even if someone thinks that (s)he's using him, who else will they turn to besides the one true God? And no one can use God and gain something that He doesn't already want to give to them by virtue of Him being God alone! And in time He teaches His children to look at Him with a better and improved lens! He corrects them to not look at Him as a wish-granting genie but as a real person who needs them to connect with Him to foster greater intimacy for that was the sole reason they were created for. Now I'm not Jesus, but I represent Him, and we're called to feed on His flesh and blood being His bride and He wants us to do so as it signifies our bond with Him. When I look at the revelations of me feeding on Jesus as He placed my head with utmost care and wide-open unblinking eyes on a bed having the end railing as mine, I can see how He wanted me to commune with Him. His fingers were chocolate vanilla cake, His lips were bourbon biscuit that I took a bite of accompanied with the sound, and His shoulder was a burger that I took a bite from, and He rejoiced in giving me that revelation though I later thought how I didn't want to objectify Him to mere eatables, but to Him, it signified the act of us eating His flesh and blood, and remembering what He did on the cross. So, no matter what happens to me or my body, now that I've become accustomed to how Jesus thinks and how I am supposed to think, I will no longer be as hurt as I would've otherwise been. We being the children of God are called to live our lives as a living sacrifice to God.
- Tujhe shayad pata nhi hai ki mein kitna bura hu. (Isiliye tu aise bhave kar rahi hai) Tujhe shayad pata nhi hai ki mein kitna bura hu.
- She's a woman. She's a woman. Oh God. She's a woman. (repeats several times)
- Akshay Kumar dressed in a lawyer's deep V-necked suit with a huge hall behind him shuffles through a bunch of pages placed on the wide table below, as he questions: Isme uski maut ka saman hai!? and then he takes out a few pages out of the huge bunch!
- Anushka Sharma dressed in a similar attire as that of Akshay Kumar above along with a few others places a bunch of papers on the table with a shiny skyblue background, as she says in an authoritative tone: Proof kaha hai!? Evidence kaha hai!?
- The semi-animated shiny face of Kay Kay Menon with a white metallic lower half of a toy racing car.

- A semi-animated Arbaaz Khan dressed in a red coat with a white shirt inside comes floating outside the ground floor of a building in bright golden daylight with his lower half missing as He says looking slightly to the left side: Give her more! Give her more!
- The wicked trio says: We all are in love with you!
- You're so good (natured). You're so good (natured).
- The face of Dushman with blood oozing out of his nostrils about a cm below them.
- Dushman says: You're so good, and then he himself walks behind prison bars as he keeps his eyes on me. He comes out and is still looking at me but then goes in again as he says: You're so good!
- I see a bouquet of multi-colored flowers placed below on a cemented pedestal/platform on the floor in an empty room with dull greyish walls. The follow-up vision has two more bouquets lying on the platform.
- After a while, I see three men dressed identically in a black suit with a white shirt inside with tie stand together in a line holding bouquets in an empty room.
- The trio sits down together and looks up at me with adoration and huge smiles in order to propose me!

The revelations that pertain to other people making fleshly comments about me don't affect me now because I've learned to operate from both the standpoints of living under the blood of Jesus and also that of forgiveness like Jesus, and it's such a liberating state of mind because without this wisdom, I would be miserable, unforgiving, and perhaps ruminating about what was done wrong and how things were supposed to be done the right way (something which is quite important to me as I don't use deceptive ways in my daily life either). Without this mind, my mental state would be bounded by people and situations, but this mindset that I learned as a practical lesson set me free to a great extent from worldly expectations and I learned the right mind needed to operate as a disciple of Jesus. If someone thinks that they used me and then they leave, I know that they didn't really but they've separated from my lifeline and that they're still being watched by God and that they're a part of His creation that I happened to bump into.

Dream (Morning):

I walk to an introductory talk being given by Jyoti Rajput where others are present, as the room seems to be almost full, and then I see Karan Johar (dressed in his t-shirt-within-denims attire from the vision last night) and a few others walk into the room from the back door present to the right behind me. I also see an overweight woman dressed in a bawa-colored tunic set embroidered in orange in a vertical pattern as she's moving along the stairs visible on my left. Seeing her in the dream, I recall that I had seen her in my dream that I had before moving into the room (like a dream within a dream). I have some very small uneven wooden bits of irregular shape that I place on the surface below on my left. I place them in two lines within which lay some granular material. The wooden bits then coalesce together and form outer walls containing the granular substance inside. I can tell that the irregular wooden bits are separate but they've come together in such a manner that their respective relative places stay the same while the entire line slightly moves and bends wavily along the sides keeping the granular substance contained. It surprises me because I didn't expect the tiny irregular wooden bits to fit together that well that it formed a uniform boundary around the granular substance much like how bits of mercury join together and form a single ball, but in this case, it's pieces of wood and they've joined together along those two straight lines. I observe the perfect configuration and wonder why the wooden bits are not moving apart though I can see that they've a tendency to do so like the pieces of a spatial puzzle which when moved scatters around.

A while back I was having my rest on bed and now when I'm working, I hear the guy sing:
I've been f*cking hoes and popping pillies man I'm feeling like a rockstar!

This was the morning that I started experiencing strong hits on my strong pp followed by twisting and turning motions. It began all of a sudden early morning and continued until after dawn as I kept falling into intermittent brief slots of sleep (this was the first time that they performed such an experiment with their drones). During this period, I kept hearing the same voice that I've been hearing all this time, and I had the following visions when I was awake or half-sleep:

- I kept seeing a zoomed side-view of my strong pp whose exposed conical tip had become severely deep red as it was overly stimulated after those several repeated frictional hits and rubs and it seemed to now carry a burning sensation as well because of repeated rubs. But I've never experienced such strong pp hits so after a while of waking up and taking the hits, I end up thinking that it can't be more satisfying that this!

After the hits and rubs have continued long enough, I hear in my Spirit a guy's voice: Would it have mattered with whom you did it? Would it have mattered with whom you did it? It's almost as if the male's voice is trying to teach me or make me understand his way of thought.

By asking me this question, the guy actually reveals his own way of thinking.

I think about the statement for a while and then understand that it was because there was no one present but the drones that were non-living objects that the cause of pleasure didn't carry weight in this case. But when it comes to real, living people who are capable of bonding via complex emotional thinking that's integrated with their physical body, the situation is entirely different and that's why it becomes a matter of importance with whom you share your body with, and preferably you want to do it with a person around whom you experience positive emotions. For instance: you won't feel like kissing someone whom you hate! Well, righteous people follow this way of thought. They only share their body with a person who is good and righteous and makes them feel good and that's the basis of them getting physically involved with that person. A lower level of thought would be to get involved with another when there're no specific kind of emotions involved but one is acting plainly on the basis of physical impulses! I understand these concepts from way long back. I don't know why was I being pointed to this particular theme this evening! If there were real people present in front of me, I would choose the one whom I love or/and am in a covenant with as my preferred partner. Why will I choose someone who makes me feel terrible? Now the things that make one feel good or terrible vary from person to person. Everyone has different preferred traits they want present in the people around them that make them feel good. Like I want good and godly people around me.

The vision of the reddened tip repeated intermittently a few times. When it was almost dawn, I saw:

- The zoomed front-view of my strong pp as seen from a distance of a few inches as a forefinger lightly spread a green granular herbal handmade paste on it as a healing ointment. I don't know what kind of healing paste I needed to apply but according to the revelation, it's supposed to cover up the exposed area.

I have this dream vision which wakes me up:

- The bottom view of the part of the tree extending towards the street to the left of Dinesh Store, present along its lane, carrying the early morning cold look and a quiet aura as a male's voice says: Koi bahar nhi niklega.

When I'm fully awake, I hear:

- My beautiful daughter. My beautiful daughter.

I decided to get up to stop my alarm which was ringing for the second time, and then I used the washroom and went back to bed as I was still not feeling having a lot of energy. I saw after a while:

- The side-view of a lady dressed in a half-sleeved loose white cotton blouse in the shape of a crop top with a printed green saree wrapped like a cylinder below which also ran over her head. The saree seemed like a multi-layered cylindrical skirt wrapped below her high-neck stitched cotton blouse. She stood in what seemed like a wilderness area and was sawing a long beige cuboidal log of wood. She kept sawing it and then the shorter part fell down.

As I walk inside the room leaving the balcony area after brushing, I see in my hindsight:

- A short-heighted Death Conqueror dressed in a full-sleeved skyblue top standing silently within the open balcony door's frame facing the kitchen area as he holds a huge white love heart by its sides with both his hands.

****

Past Revelation

- The front view of an injection floating in the air with its needle facing the viewer as the needle breaks at the point where it extends out of its thin cover.

****

20:13

After a while of talking to my mom, I was tending towards being fatigued again. I told her the same and that I would take a rest for half an hour or slightly more. As I lay down to rest, I started feeling the drones hovering on my groin again. Now, I didn't want to get involved as I knew that it would count as sin but how could I un-feel what I was feeling. Also, Jesus was pointing to me standing to my left: This is sin! This is sin! So, I was trying to figure out ways to avoid sinning while being in the situation. I thought that I could try keeping my entire focus on Jesus as He sat on the floor with His face next to my level on my right side as I seemed to kiss Him. But I knew that I would be distracted sooner or later. After a while, I was reminded of the recent revelation in which Jesus stood about a meter away from my naked groin facing the viewer while I lay behind Him on the bed as He held a long-stemmed white rose in His right hand extended over my groin that He was hovering on it. And when I recalled the vision, it gave me some mental peace because I don't wanna sin. It's a huge thing! Jesus had to go through all that because of sin! After a while, I had the following song play in Spirit which further cheered me up.

Prabhu ka dhanyawaad karunga
Uski sangati mein sada rahunga!

These song lyrics repeated a few times in my rest as I tended to fall into partial sleep and they reminded me to thank God for giving me a pleasing rest with that long-stemmed white rose! I had this revelation within the past 48 hours and I didn't really understand its significance. But now I understood that it was given to counteract the current situation and to keep me from sinning as I can think the experience as Jesus hovering that thick white rose lightly on the inside of my groin. This really resolved my dilemma and I knew that I could rest peacefully without overthinking about not sinning or feeling guilty as we are not called to sin deliberately. When I was writing the above, even then I heard the song lyric:
Prabhu ka dhanyawaad karunga

I still feel that I need more rest after which I've to resume working.

I went out to get my soup and bought two boiled eggs as well and when I was back to my room, I saw:
The stubbled face of KA as he says looking at me: Aata hu. Kuch leke aata hu.
The vision repeats with now almost his full frame being visible as he repeats in an affirmative tone: Kuch leke aata hu.

The vision repeats again with: Kuch leke ata hu.

When I lie down to rest afterwards, I see:

- The lady from the boiled eggs stall downstairs throws water at my face from a glass!

Also, The Final Countdown has been playing in my Spirit strongly since yesterday during my resting times.

While editing Page 592:
The face of KA with his collar from the multi-layered black attire visible as he is dropping light kisses on my lips and is asking me to go sleep together now. But I continue working and after a while see: Him dressed in the black attire sitting on the bed waiting for me.

It's the final countdown.
We're leaving together..
It's the final countdown..

****

Past Revelations

- (few days back) The naked backside view of the upper half of a woman lying on her body's left side with her upper body extending along the left side of the vision as the vision focuses on the lowest dip in the middle of her waist. The vision points to the lowest dip on the side of her waist multiple times.

As I was writing the above, I felt a nudge to eat one coconut Ladoo and then I was back to my seat, I heard the song lyric again: It's the final countdown! We're leaving together. It's the final countdown.

- (heard intermittently within the past week) Randi raani badi shayani.
  As I wrote the above, I heard a voice say again: Randi tu nahi, mein hu!
- (past week) Randi Ram ko dekho! Randi Ram ko dekho! (They've used the word Ram that's used as an addition in Hindu names after the term Randi in this sentence.)

****

Later in the evening as I'm resting, I hear in my Spirit:

- Mere ghar chalo Kartika. Mere ghar chalo. Phir batata hu tumhe! Wife banake rakhunga!

Before I fell asleep, I saw:

- Baby Glory (2.5 feet high) with the body of a toddler below the face of Glory with his usual haircut, dressed in a full-sleeved white night suit with a tiny multi-colored print with its top's neck stitched in the shape of a coat's neck comes walking to me as he says in the soft voice of a toddler: Mummy..
- Baby Glory in the printed coat night suit crawls up on the bed, hugs me as he calls me Mummy in his soft toddler's voice again, and falls asleep as we both lay on our sides the top-view of which is shown in the vision.

Yesterday during the day while resting:

- The overweight son of my landlord Subhash Uncle stands between my room's door and his apartment's iron door as he is counting cash from a thick bundle of notes held in his hands following which he extends the same to me. The vision repeats a few times highlighting his act of counting cash and handing it out to me. It made me think if it was his humane response to my recent dream in which I was saying: Kya mila mujhe ye sab karke!? though I was making the point that I did the same for God and not for my worldly progress.
- The follow-up vision shows the area near the ceiling of my room filled up to its brim with translucent cash!

Page 595.

16 November 2023
14:01

Dream:

I find myself sitting on a seat with other seats present beside me. I stand, look behind, and see two rows of seats and I find that I'm on a domestic flight. In the dream, apparently, I will be getting down twice from my journey. The first stop corresponds to an Indian conference while the second corresponds to an International conference.

As I wrote this part, I saw:

The upper half of my supervisor Nivedita Deo says looking at me in an affirmative tone as she nods her lightly: Let me search something.. Let me search something..

I see that I am wearing a top over a red pencil skirt which at times gets removed sideways on its own revealing my white panty with a fine red print. I walk near the open entrance. Perhaps people are still filling in as I see some seated on the row of seats to the door's left. I stand there for a while and my red less-than-two-feet-long short pencil skirt slides away sideways again and I'm again standing with my lower half dressed in just that red & white panty. I am looking for the red wrap but can't find it. After a while, when we've perhaps reached the destination, I find myself outside the plane in a wilderness area with some people having a chat, dressed in the same way. (I don't know why I'm being shown in that attire.) After the interaction in the apparent forest, I move to the left and get back to my plane the door to which is now closed as I stand outside on the stairs. I'm trying to open the same using the horizontal flap outside that's to be raised vertically. I successfully am able to open it up, but for some reason, I don't enter. The follow-up broken scenes have the door closed and open again while I stand outside. I don't know why I'm not entering in though I want the door open and seem to be in a hurry to enter in as well.

- I wake up with the voice of Sonu Nigam singing Hindi lyrics in an unusual tone that imply the meaning that if the door is found locked, then either he is not present in the room or he has left with his stuff, and the lyrics are accompanied by the vision of a shorter-than-his-real-self Sonu Nigam lying naked on a surface in golden dim-light as he's half lifted on that surface. He is shown to have wavy hair combed sideways with light curls at the end.

While lying in bed in the morning:

I feel the drones moving on my groin's surface and as I'm aroused, I hear:

Bas yahi chahta tha mein! Yahi chahta tha mein! (I just wanted to arouse her!)

As I was done writing the above, I saw:

- The side-view of Glory dressed in a full-sleeved black round-neck top over black trousers as he stands facing to the left with his upper half slightly bent in that direction in open daylight and shouts angrily at me: Randi ab samajh mein aa gaya tujhe..!!?? Randi ab samajh mein aa gaya tujhe..!!??

Also, I kept seeing the following intermittently as I kept waking up from being asleep.

- The top view of a fat naked infant in a diaper lying on his back on the left side of an open luggage bag full of folded clothes that are held fast within the two luggage's belts, as he slides effortlessly on top of the folded clothes.

I woke up from sleep a few times and saw the above vision.

- I see the top view of my red plastic sieve with the white mesh as I am rubbing the white mest around the sides with my thumb as my forefinger is placed below the same.

I had this very brief dream as well after I fell asleep again. It carries the aura of one of those horror TV serials.

Dream:

A lean lady with straight is sitting in a space lit in golden light together with a huge dark figure and that's apparently not safe for her to be around. She quickly runs away from the figure and hides behind a brown vertical wall that's open-ended to the right side. She sits on the floor with vertically folded knees facing to the left away from the open space. She knows that the dark figure is coming after her though she has managed to leave it behind. Further ahead into the scene can be seen an open area lit in golden as well with a short wall separating the region with the brown vertical narrow wall from the hall at the back. The narrow brown wall extends high until the top. The lady moves further to the left to hide properly and her movement makes a long sound resembling in its texture to that of my bed whenever I move. The viewer is now expecting to see the dark ghostly figure anytime in the hall at the back as it's looking for the lady. The viewer keeps looking at the empty hall waiting for the ghostly figure to come into view, hoping for it to not be able to find the lady hiding behind the brown narrow wall if it chooses not to bend forward over the short wall and take a look on the left. No one is visible in the hall for a while and the lady keeps hiding behind the wall. It shouldn't have taken the ghost this long for he's a ghost while the lady ran on her feet to reach that spot and hide. As fear increases in the setting, the face of the dark figure peeks out from the space between the brown narrow wall and the short wall as he looks silently at the back of the lady. It seems that he knew that she was there. He keeps looking at her back as she's hiding in her mind, and then he starts slowly rising up along the wall with his wide upper half coming into view as he's still looking at the lady. What will happen to the poor lady now? As he's still very slowly rising behind the narrow brown wall, and the tension in the scene rises, the dream ends.

While brushing teeth:

I happened to ask God why didn't He create me as a normal person who when seeing the people she has been writing about rushes to them to interact with them instead of trying to escape the situation out of an outer cover of trying to be righteous! I was thinking how the reaction of a normal person would differ from mine! I was recalling the day I went to home for the demo that I had the next day in Medi-JEE. That day as I had walked out of the small gate of my building and taken some steps ahead, I caught sight of a tall and well-built person dressed in a loose yellow boxy t-shirt over denims. I could tell that his appearance was intentional though I didn't recognize him in the moment. I later thought if it was KA for his stature indeed resembled his from what I recalled in a short clip I had watched in which he was standing with a short girl which gave me an idea of his relative stature. So, I was thinking this morning that if I was normal in the worldly sense and saw someone who seemed to make an intentional appearance, I would take a look to see who it was, and if it happened to be the (apparent celebrity) God has been giving me revelations about, I would then rush to him with the words: I can't believe it's Kartik Aaryan! but what did I do instead!? I became conscious and anxious and passed beside him with lowered eyes to escape the situation! I actually thought that it was one of their messenger guys as I didn't recognize his face from that distance and the thought of him possibly being KA didn't cross my mind. And I didn't want to be deceived in a way where I am a part of an affected situation with third parties communicating messages to me some of which I may not like as the messages are often insulting.

While washing dishes after waking up in the morning, I saw:

- KA dressed in a full-sleeved long and boxy denim-textured shirt says looking at me: Kartika tumhe bas attention chahiye thi na!? Kartika tumhe bas attention chahiye thi na!? as he takes some steps backwards.

It makes me think that even if the cameras ceased to operate and they were not able to see me or read me, I would still carry the bond I developed inside me. It's not going to go away but it's going to go in the backseat and stored in a place as I continue ahead with different tasks given by God. Yeah, even if I don't have the attention, I have the bond intact in my mind!

Now this was a good revelation to see after a long time of suffering. I had it last night or in the morning. I saw:

- The vision zooms into the wide-open blue right (viewer's side) eye of Jesus and exits into a space with the face of Death Conqueror with two wide-open blue eyes moving randomly as they seemed to be unstable. But in this vision, he had both his eyes as blue.

- Mein normal ho gya. Mein normal ho gya. (Heard in the morning while making tea perhaps)

While pooping:

- As I am ejecting out the blob of poop, I hear: ek bahut mota baccha paida hone wala hai! As I see a wide fat infant wrapped in a white cloth being ejected head down out.

While washing hands post-pooping:

The fat infant still wrapped in white stands on the floor behind me looking at me with joy making infant noises. He turns and takes a few steps back but then turns back again to my direction making infant noises wanting attention!

While I was talking to my mom few bour back, she seemed to be forcing me to find a job in the coaching industry giving the example of someone she met in IITK when living with my brother. This guy too was staying under his mom's care there as a part of his recovery journey from drugs. I told her the difference between him and me. That how he had learned the IIT syllabi for 4 years and must have revised the same several times before taking the exam which seared the solutions to different kinds of problem in his mind, and then he pursued a degree in Mech Eng as well which further strengthened his problem solving skills, while I had training in basic sciences and advanced physical concepts that were meant to push people towards research. She was still imposing her thoughts on me that I too could join somewhere like him which I knew I could but she was making a firm point about it instead of suggesting it as an option. Towards the end of the call, I said that I shouldn't waste time in doing IIT problems when I have my own work to do after which she ended the call. But after the call, I saw:

- My mom says in a threatening and vengeful tone: Taange todungi teri! Taange todungi teri!

I called her again to explain where she went wrong in her attitude, and I was explaining to her the above again. That how Mohit knew the kind of problems in JEE exams and had a lot of experience in the same, I then saw:

- My dad standing in front of the wall to my right dressed in a white tunic set as he said angrily while looking at me: Todunga tujhe! Todunga tujhe! which reminded me of the dream in which he beat me up severely with a rod and then the recent vision of the top-view of a person covered entirely in white bandage!

I will decide which job I will do. She didn't seem to understand that Mohit got that package of 18 lacs because he was a better-suited person for that role because of his coaching background and acquired skills. She just kept repeating to me that I should spend time solving IIT problems which seemed to be a weird suggestion to me. I could easily find a job in a college after a few interview attempts to teach BSc students as that's what I am better suited to do because of my background and the way of thought that I focused developing on. They can't decide which job I should do because only I know where I can do a better job and give my best. Neither can they decide where I should stay while I'm working for I'm an adult now and no longer bound to them besides the general or specific responsibilities one needs to take care of as a parent's child. I have my basic responsibilities towards them as a child, but I'm not bound perse to them as I've my walk ahead to look forward to. God gave me my promise of marriage in 2021.

While I was writing the above para, I saw:

- My dad hitting a person with a rod lying on the floor brutally on my right side.

After that interaction with my mom, I texted her again clearly telling her where she went wrong - that she was being forceful and domineering, in response to which she replied that I should do what I want to do which lightened me up. I wrote revelations for a while and then thought of resting for half an hour or so.

I then had the following revelations:

- Surjeet from Dinesh Store says from behind his shop's counter in a taunting tone: Randi ke natak dekho! Randi ke natak dekho!

It reminded me of what I had seen yesterday about him. In that vision, he had said:

- Aap bahut ache ho par apko pata nahi hai! Aap bahut acche ho aur apko iske baare mein pata nhi hai!

But like I always do, I let the negative comment go!

I am lying straight on my back when I feel a nudge to lie on my side as Jesus seems to be giving me a torque from behind, so I lie on my left side covered with my olive green sheet with one of my hands below my head and the other running on top it. I lay with a slight smile as I was happy in my rest. I then see:

- Surjeet in front of me in the same posture as me having the same expression with closed eyes as he lay covered with a sheet like mine! So, he again was representing me (called by my name)
- A semi-animated baby with his narrow eyes almost closed on a round chubby face comparatively much heavier and wider than its body wrapped fully in white runs around with its tiny sticky arms with curved ends and lacking hands with the line curve of a smile on his face.
- A small-framed vision of the top-view of a circular wooden table with a plate lying in the centre with some food on it, with me sitting on a chair on the left side dressed in the way that I lay down on the bed (pink shawl wrapped over a white t-shirt over black denim trousers) and Death Conqueror sitting on a chair placed on the opposite side of the table dressed in a light blue shirt in the setting of a room. The entire scene then starts slowly rotating in a circle and then shrank down as it floated and rested on top of the slowly rotating surface of my strong pp.
- Jesus chops down my strong pp and my breasts following which as I stand naked facing the viewer, He says: Now you're sinless! If I was not in the camera situation, then He wouldn't have needed to give this revelation.
- Mein bach gaya. Mein bach gaya followed by the background sentence (varna isse shaadi ho jaati!) The person is saying that he got saved from being married to someone like me!
- She's a woman.. She's a woman.. (whispers a voice a few times)

After a while, I see:

- The close-up vision of the face of Subhash Uncle above me with his clean nostrils clearly visible as he's looking at me curiously with a slightly raised head and says: Bete kya dikh raha hai apko..!? Bete kya dikh raha hai apko..!?
  The vision repeated with a different expression on his face as he said again curiously: Bete kya dikh raha hai apko..!?
  After a while, the vision is followed by another vision of him getting rotating joyously with high speed in the room with an elephant trunk resting up against his body representing the state of joy.
- The upper half of Salman Khan as the moustached police cop from the movie Dabangg wearing his black goggles from the movie as he hands out a baby wrapped in white to a person not shown in the vision with the gentle words: Here's your baby. He then turns his back and leaves the door through the door behind him! I'm that police officer who is spiritually birthing children into the kingdom of God. (Men can spiritually birth children and the plans of God as well though I was represented as a male police officer based on my character traits!)
- KA quickly floats to me and lies on top of me as he says in an angry corrective tone: Ye tumhari problem nahi hai! Ye uski problem hai! referring to someone on the left (presumably Death Conqueror).

Somewhere during my rest above, I fell into a very brief sleep, when I heard a lady say:
Retirement ke baad mayeke mein rehne ka waqt kareeb aa raha hai. (which didn't really make lot of sense to me)

I felt a nudge to play this song and after a few lyrics, the previous revelations of KA, Glory, RS and Death Conqueror saying: Randi tu nhi, randi mein hu! were highlighted to me!

Sia - Cheap Thrills (Lyrics) ft. Sean Paul

Past Revelation

- (past few days, night) The animated view of an unstriped tiger with two mustard wings of the same colour as its body at the back stands at the first position on a pedestal meant for three with no one else present besides it, as it shows its arm muscles in the navy blue background of the night. The upper half of a beige lady until her shoulders appears on the left side of the vision with the distant small-framed tiger on pedestal in the background. The woman is dressed in a plain white attire which runs over her head. She looks miserable with a pitiful expression on her face as she covers it with both her palms.

Visions earlier during the day:

- The front view of the upper half of KA dressed in a loose V-neck full-sleeved cotton off-whitish tunic with light brownish and blurry vertical strips with wavy outlines sitting in a bus near a window seat alone on its right row a few seats across the viewer as he looks outside the window with his face turned to the right, and his beige cotton Jhola bag lies on his right side. (He looked so holy, humble and righteous in this vision!)
- Glory dressed in a blue sweatshirt stands in my room to the right side of my bed against the wall near the skyblue rack in line with the kitchen area as he takes some steps backwards and says: Tu bahut ghatiya ladki hai! Tu giri hui hai! Jesus standing to the left slaps him consecutively a few times as He tells him that he wouldn't have been able to exercise boundaries to the extent that I did if he was in my place and that he wouldn't have lasted half the time that I did in my situation walking in His Will. (Glory perhaps wouldn't even work for Him and His kingdom! But then he was willing to suffer for me, if not for God. You accept to suffer for the one you love. So, I won't judge him on this point!) Jesus then rushes to me, and bending on His upper half drops several quick brief kisses on my lips! Glory walks towards me to slap me but Jesus corners him against the wall and has him sit down on vertically folded knees as He points him to the same with His finger!
- A distant small-framed vision of a naked woman lying on a double bed as three naked men get on top of the bed from its end directly facing the viewer with their backs towards the viewer.

****

Past Revelations

- (yesterday while resting) A small-framed vision of a room lit in golden light with a naked lady seated with outstretched legs with folded knees on a double bed laid against a wall with the back of a naked man visible to the viewer as he sits on the bed leaning over the lady with his lower half covered with a light-colored sheet.

- (Day before yesterday) on way back to my room in the night after I went out to do a chore/buy something) Isko kuch nahi chahiye. Yahi iski problem hai! Isko kuch nahi chahiye. Yahi iski problem hai!
- (within the past week after I had the rubs on my strong pp for the first time by those drones that night and I'm feeling satisfied) Bas yhi chahiye tha mujhe apne husband se! Bas yhi chahiye tha mujhe husband se!
- (the morning following the night above) Glory makes a horizontal cut/scratch on the top surface of my strong pp.
- (past week) Brother Philip with a thin line of blood flowing down from the right end of his head as he says: You love him. He then bangs his head with an object leading to its white broken pieces stuck on that side as more blood flows down from that side of his head following which he says again: You love him.
- (past week) Kartika sab ayenge tujhe marne! Sab ayenge tujhe marne!
- (past week) A very tall guy resembling a giant standing in my room dressed in an astronaut's suit with his head reaching near the ceiling. His left leg is missing as a metallic cylindrical rod can be seen protruding out of his suit the tip of which rests on the floor. The metallic rod present at the place of his feet is attached to his suit itself!
- (past week) A fat and fully-dressed baby sits on a bed facing to the right with a baby's transparent milk bottle filled with milk in his mouth as a hand pulls it away from him but he holds fast onto it. The hand keeps pulling it away but the baby keeps pulling it towards himself with his mouth stuck to its plastic nipple.

****

Night

I'm resting on my bed when I see:

- Kian Egan dressed in black standing facing to the left about a meter away from Diana Ross dressed in white - their attire from the song When You Tell Me That You Love Me – in the background of the song's official video. Following this vision is the song being highlighted to me in the Spirit. So, I play it out on my phone with it placed near the right side of my head. After it has played once, I see a nudge from Jesus pointing me to play it again. So, I do so. I've always loved this song. In the song, I find that it's another one of their band's members standing facing Diana Ross, while in the vision, I had seen Kian Egan with wavy blonde hair from the song standing facing the woman.

Westlife - When You Tell Me That You Love Me (Official Video) with Diana Ross

Page 596.

17 November 2023
11:36

Past Revelations

- (past few days) Brother Andrew fully dressed in a metallic armour without a helmet eats from a plate placed on a small stool in front of him.
- (past few days) A semi-animated Glory in a full-sleeved white shirt with a light grey half jacket on top is eating something up with a spoon being bent over the table. His face then changes to Ayushmann Khurrana who too is having the soup in that same manner.

Dream 1:

I find myself in a room with my first roommate in room D4 of A-16 – Pinky. She was a tall and fair girl with narrow eyes and long frizzy hair, and she too hailed from Haryana. That room in the dream wasn't our PG room but resembled the much more spacious living room of our rented home in Cheema Colony in my hometown Pundri (Accommodation was cheap to rent in that place so one could find really good homes at 10-15 times lesser prices than metro cities for the same quality. That place would've costed us about 25k-30k per month if we had it in a metro city in a similar locality, but we had it in 2-3k). I don't know why I am in that room with Pinky, but for some reason, I am with her. We're deciding on which light we should keep turned on. I like to have a dimly lit environment and not too bright one as it causes strain on my eyes. The room seems to be dimly lit in red. I'm standing near the electricity switchboard present to the right of the door with the huge room extending behind me as Pinky stands in the line of the showcase on the central wall of the room and points to the bulb above it to be lit. She seems to be behaving nicely with me in this dream, though when I was with her - she was exhibiting mixed behavior.

Back in the PG, she would say indirect mean things to me for no reason and use abusive words (even after I told her not to do so in front of me) because of which I felt uneasy around her, but then when I cried out because I got electrocuted, she came running too and asked me if I was ok and then she was hurling abuses at the owners for not fixing the geyser as she was talking about the same with other PG mates.

There is a wire tied to hang clothes near the room's entrance beside that switchboard, and I hang my washed lingerie there. Apparently, that's our space to hang clothes to be dried. On the diametrically opposite end of the room lies our shared washroom and I see that she is taking out her own washed lingerie as I'm talking to her. I'm explaining to her why I couldn't wash my clothes during a certain day and she listens patiently and replies with: Achha to isiliye ……. In her usual tone which seemed to me to be giving the sense that she looked at me as someone who is too straightforward and honest. I see her holding a washed small dull-red bra and a panty hung on a hanger that she is going to place on the wire.

Dream 2:

I am in my hometown and in an open hall with my dad around and I can hear a group of people pass by playing a worship song about the Hindu God Shiva on loudspeaker. I am irked by the same because I want people to know that by worshipping these other gods, they're partaking in the kingdom of satan but then I also know that not everyone belongs to God and that most people don't believe things in the first go. The song makes me think how blindly people follow just anyone without much thought, experience, and evidence. I can sense the tension emanating form my dad regarding my PhD work and I know that I have to catch up with the same soon! I walk out of the open ground hall enclosed within cemented walls and exit into the space with an Ashram behind me to the left, and the street to Vijeta Ma'am home to my right (she was our high school English teacher who had recently shifted to the town from previously living in Kurukshetra after she got married). In the dream, I seem to know that the street goes to Dr Bharati's home and no mention of Vijeta Ma'am is there. To my left is the street to Nupur's home that lies at the end (her mom had her salon shop in the town's market). Right in front of me is the town's square and the left street at the front end of the square goes to the Cheema colony with a juice shop at its left corner, while the right street at the end of the square in front goes to a narrow market place that ends into another market square with the vegetable vendor Puran's shop lying at the end on the left. I take the right (opposite to Nupur's home) to go to Dr Bharati's home where I would find my dad as well. She serves me some thick light pinkish sugary drink that she pours on the floor and it takes a square shape of about 3 feet in dimension. She pours another serving which assumes another square shape. I am licking the drink bent on the floor instead of using a spoon because a spoon can't be used effectively with that thin layer of the liquid, and apparently, the floor is too clean, and I like the sugary drink. It's not a big room, but a reasonably sized one with a dark floor with squares of small stoned beads. I lick the floor clean that was covered with the drink as my dad sits on the sofa having his meal behind me. To our left is the room's exit which leads to a narrow rectangular kitchen. I walk out to get some food as I only had the drink and not the food. Towards the end of the dream, I am in our rented home in Cheema colony again (the first home to the right as one enters in) with my dad and others around. I seem to be looking at a bar histogram graph that compares two overlapped histograms and I apparently I am with my supervisor. I see that one of the histograms has a high peak with a lesser width while the other has a low peak and a wider width and is spread out more than the narrower histogram as well. I'm highlighting the histogram with the higher peak to my supervisor but she points out that though it may have a higher peak, it is quite narrower and the part of the other histogram around the slant of the narrower histogram is high enough to compensate for some factor we were discussing in that dream. She tells me that instead of accounting in the entire of the two range of values of the two histograms, we need to cut it short at a place where both seem to have equality in peaks and that the outliers of the wider histogram that extend further ahead from the range of the narrower histogram need to be ignored. She then points me to a theorem written on a page inside a book that talks about an approximation that we need to use in our case where we have to consider only the first few values and not the entire range. It makes sense to me in the dream, and I start reading out other stuff present in the book. There're a lot of concepts and formulas and I find juggling through them with their labels hard as I see that when I get back to the name of the conceptual formula I read, I can't recall what it talked about. While writing this, I recalled that I was good at remembering the concepts instead of their allotted labels which when highlighted wouldn't bring up the memory of the related concept. I find that there are several such small, labeled concepts that I need to remember. Perhaps I'm preparing for an exam and I can sense the slight overload when the dream ends.

Post Waking Up:

I am lying on the bed gaining energy post-waking. I feel bad again about everything and how the situation affected all aspects of my life. PhD was one of the crucial stages of my life and he targeted that phase by putting me under that load of stress which also affected my efficiency. If I am not able to complete the degree then I would be left only with MSc + NET to secure a job when it was definitely not what I had the capacity for! I had the capacity to publish papers if I was not in the situation that I am in now! That's how I thought since I was a child! It was not something I chose to do out of a casual will, but it was what I had inbuilt inside of me! I always liked to sit alone and think about something, and so this PhD job was ideal for me! I didn't choose to do a PhD to secure a job or level up in my career but I chose it because it pertained to how I thought and saw life around me and then with the current damaged mind, I won't be able to sustain a job either. And then he sent foolish Deepak who doesn't have half the sense as mine! He argues on what would be considered as the common moral sense that's possessed by all! He further made things difficult for me in the dept. It seemed like he never wanted me to complete my degree – pertaining to a job that I always wanted to do! Why then did he cause that damage to my life in that aspect! All these things took over my conscious reasoning and I took a turn on my right side facing the wall opposite to the one against the bed. And then I had the following revelations:

- Death Conqueror dressed in his previous attire of a full-sleeved skyblue top over navy blue trousers lies behind my back hugging me as he says: Kartika please gussa mat ho o! Please gussa mat ho! He repeats it a few times and I continue lying on that side looking ahead! After a while, I turn back to lying straight and see the following.
- A giant version of Death Conqueror dressed in the same manner lies on top of me as he puts his hand inside my groin and starts touching my strong pp with his fingers, and the vision is followed by the drones doing the same.
- He is saying something in a quiet manner as he does so. But he seems domineering in his approach.
- He again puts the tip of his fingers on my strong pp and rubs a bit followed by the drones doing so. It's almost as if I'm getting a precursive vision of the drones' imminent moves.
- Some of the visions have his giant fingers fiddling with my giant inner lobes as I'm seeing a zoomed translucent version of the vision.
- And while these visions unfold, I hear in my Spirit the guy sing:
  Rahegi sada yaha.. Pyaar ki ye daastan..
  Sunenge sada jise.. Ye jameen asmaan..
- And while the giant version of him is rubbing on my strong pp, he says: that's who we are! referring to the act he is always doing through his drones! And then he says: We're f*ck buddies!
- The follow-up visions are similar but when seen in the context of the situation, they make a continuous flow instead of being seen as separate events that repeat themselves after a while.
- After the statement he has just made, I think that it's a statement he is making. Though I may feel a certain way for him, I can still put it in the backseat and do the right thing, and walk in the Will of God! I could see that I didn't need to go along with his immoral statement that he had made about us! I had those visions because I had the cameras around in the absence of which we wouldn't have built this 'bond'. So, I know that I don't have to agree with his statement because it's an immoral and ungodly one! How I referred to him when I would be resting in bed was by calling him as my 'lover' who is out of control! Even now the song lyrics play:
  Rahegi sada yaha.. Pyaar ki ye daastan..

Sunenge sada jise.. Ye jameen asmaan..

And then during one of the recent nights or mornings, I heard the guy from the song sing:
Baby, I'm addicted, I'm out of control
But you're the drug that keeps me from dying
Baby, I'm a liar, but all I really know
Is you're the only reason I'm trying

The chorus lyrics played in my Spirit a few times and played again within the next 24 hours. So, I could understand why he was behaving the way he had been doing though he had been insulting me about my background as well at the same time! I understood that he was stuck in a way in this situation which was very much like observing an oasis from a distance. He couldn't walk upto the oasis because that's not his place to be but an oasis is always soothing from a distance! I also understood that he was influenced by culture and preferred a richness of the same while I always sought out highly individualistic people who had their own personas regardless of any culture or place. I could see that he couldn't possibly be with me but at the same time, he got addicted as well!

Well, the way my previous self-thought was rooted in thinking from the right base itself. So I never justified the apparent wrongdoing of a person based on a noble motive they claimed to have. I could always find a way that was rooted in the base of morality instead of a wicked way of thinking that was supposed to achieve something good. The way I understood things now after several God's given revelations and after He had taught me a part of His nature was very much different from how I perceived things now.

So, this morning post waking up, I had this visionary experience with the giant version of the short fellow that covered me up completely, so I felt safe and covered and it came across as an intimate experience that I had with him solely because of the Holy Spirit because without it, it would just be the drones, me, and my own perception. The Spirit of God gave that time a personal form (involving persons) for me to write. Without the Spirit, how would I have known anything about anyone besides the things that were visible to my physical eyes? The Spirit found it important enough to give the time an interactive personal form so it could be recorded, for the Spirit must have seen truth present in the situation. Now I had the drones in me for a long time though I got to know about it at a much later stage, but I hardly had such spontaneous situational decryptions previously as I had now. God's timing comes with a heavenly significance for the Spirit is the connecting medium between heaven and Earth and it is supposed to project heavenly plans on Earth for the purpose of God to be fulfilled and the kingdom of Heaven expanded, be it any kind of revelation. It always brings info from heaven to Earth which is a topic of discussion and can be expanded on in a different section of its own. The Spirit brings a part of Heaven to Earth. Such a blessing for earthlings which they reject and are not able to harness because they reject the one who gives the Spirit or makes way for a person to receive it.

Samajh gaya mata samajh gaya!

Now I don't know who this is! But what I wrote seems to be of importance to me at least!

So, I kept resting on bed having that continued vision and it was the first one of its kind that day. I didn't have a continued long vision that decrypted a real situation of this kind before this one.

I woke up after a while and surfed YT and came across this recent word released by Sis Adele.

Prophetic Dream Movie Theatre

While I was watching the video above, I heard in my Spirit:

- Ye randi nahi hai. Ye bahut badi kutiya hai! Ye randi nahi hai. Ye bahut badi kutiya hai! and this made me think who was it that was saying the truth in such a derogatory way!

Also, somewhere in the morning, I saw:

- The huge face of a stubbled KA on the body of a huge beige dog as he looked at me floating through the air while wagging his tail. The vision repeated a few times.

This day I decided to visit Pinky Mausi's home to collect the Pure Ghee my mom had her cousin brother (Niranjan Mama) leave there for us to pick up. I was going there after a few years. The last time I visited them was towards the end of 2021, and during my visit, we tried a few new things. For instance, I was trying to cast out Kapil Mausaji's demons who were keeping him in bondage and addiction. I and Lalita sat near him as I was saying out the things I had written down from a YT video in my register. We tried for long as I sat with my hands placed on his head and commanded the demons to leave him. After a while, he made a horrifying expression at me and made a demonic sound and it seemed like his demons were now manifesting. I kept praying for a while more. It was a repeat of the same lines. He went along with our team effort for only so long and then told us to leave him. He said that something like looking at the way I was trying too hard to cast out his demons and the kind of names of demons I was using (Leviathan etc.), a few more demons were going to join our company! I don't know if it has much effect on him. I think it didn't. And then I also told them that the idols and images of demon gods that they had in their home served as portals for demons to come and leave, that if they were to rid their home of this demonic oppression, first they had to remove all the portals they had placed in their homes (any image or object of a heavenly thing or the image or idol of a demon or pagan God. We are called to not commit idolatry and worship gods other than the Most-High God.) When I came to know about God and His statutes, I threw away most of the idols and images of pagan gods from my home. So, they not only needed to throw the idols away but also repent of their sin of idolatry. Well, the casting out of demons that I tried on Kapil Mausaji reminded me of the dream Malan Malang in which KA was hanging upside down and making sharp-pitched sounds while moving hands frantically after which I placed my hands on him and prayed for him in Jesus name and then he became normal. He was then back on the floor and said: Everyone's here as a few more people came in after which we all had a chat together in which I told them that yeah, if someone was in sin, it hindered with their activation. But then, it all is the hands of God. God can activate me to a certain degree at any moment, and according to His given revelation, I already prayed for Himanshu and imparted mental strength to him.

Anyway. I thought of bathing partially before leaving for their home and I only washed the lower half. After I was done, I saw:

- Jesus dressed in His usual full-length off-white attire of a tunic with a red drape on top as he says to Death Conqueror dressed in a full-sleeved skyblue top over trousers in a judging tone: You're rejected! and kicks him away making him fly away like a projectile. Well, He saw that I was having a hard time, as I hadn't taken a full bath for long and had been bathing with a gap of few days and that too partially and this day as well it put me under a lot of stress and I didn't want to have anything to do with this short fellow! So, after I was done, Jesus showed the above vision to me and it repeated a few times as He kicked away the short heighted fellow with the words: You're rejected! Well, though I was hurt because I had just bathed in the presence of cameras though partially, I had been overlooking the same by looking at Jesus as I thought that it was because of His plan that I had to go through this difficult time. No one wants to be stripped publicly, not even if one gets paid, and these fellow have been stripping me for free, taking in everything they possibly can through the cameras! And why will a righteous person strip even for money when (s)he can earn the same in moral ways! Begging is still a far better option than stripping. Well, it had been several days since I've taken a bath and then I don't also change clothes often and feel fatigued because of my situation. Then why won't God reject him for me? Because it was not that I was hating him now but had developed a different heart, but he still continued in the same way. He could've kept his cameras outside the washroom and perhaps Jesus would be pleased by that. But he didn't. He chose to sin and hurt me again! Now Death Conqueror didn't have the excuse that he was trying to bring about a change in my mind by putting me under stress by sending those cameras where he shouldn't have because.. look at all the recent revelations. My head is itching because it needs to be oiled and washed and I too am itching! He had no reason now to send public cameras in the washroom now..

I think I too should start hard-core fasting lest Jesus says You're rejected to me as well, though He understands why I eat and this evening I felt a nudge from Him to have me order Aloo Puri Kheer as He seemed to tell me to eat and drink for a while though I won't continue in the same way for long. I want to do a water fast tomorrow or have tea or coffee at max.

This same day that the Spirit gave me the vision of the giant Death Conqueror lying on me as he was giving me those rubs was also the day it showed me Jesus telling him: You're rejected! but, it doesn't mean that the Spirit stopped revealing the truth. It will always do so, always. The Spirit o God can never lie by its very nature. Now, one can imagine how malleable I had to become in my own self to flow with the Spirit, for me to accept or reject what it was showing me, and it took me some time – a couple of years since 2020 that I started hearing from it.

It always nice to have someone around who too possesses the Holy Spirit and hears from it for they both can share the wisdom of the Spirit that it imparts on each individually. And while one may not know the answer to something, the Spirit may reveal it to that other individual as (s)he prays! It's strengthening blessing to have a Spirit-led person as company for one.

Revelation Fulfilment

On my way to their home, I decided to take the Metro, and when I was about to get off the elevator that went up to the square that led to a change in lines, I was looking to my right and then spotted a blonde guy with blue eyes dressed in a half-sleeved light blue shirt who had a white pollution mask around his mouth as he walked by in front of me in that direction along with others. His face was turned slightly away from me and from the look in his eyes, I could tell that he was smiling and also that he had his face intentionally slightly turned away to the side. As I wrote this part, I heard twice the lady sing:

When you tell me that you love me..

Well, I only had a less-than-a-second glance at that guy's face but he seemed to be resembling to me to be one of the band members from Westlife. And it was when I was waiting for the metro upstairs that I recalled the vision I had the previous night in which I saw Kian standing facing Diana who stood facing the viewer in the background of the song When You Tell Me That You Love Me.. And I then questioned if the person was really the Westlife person.

I can't come up with a word other than Wow..

I quickly looked away from him and continued on my way. The encounter was so unexpected. Though I'm not sure if he was Kian from Westlife but the upper half of his face seemed to me to be so and then his expression and posture also revealed that he knew me, and then I had the song revelation from the previous day as well which served as the confirmation for me. I only have two revelations about him by far. One is the one from the song and the other one is from a few weeks back in which he was dressed in multilayered black and took a few graceful jumps while swirling a whip and landed on the floor.

I understand from this incident and the revelation given from the previous day that he was telling me by appearing in front of me that he loved me. Without the revelation, I would think about the real-life event for a while and then brush it aside, but the revelation revealed the context of the event.

The Guy sings:

I wanna make you see.. just what I was..
Show you the loneliness, and what it does..

It also reminded me of the dream in which on the way to my class at the back of my dad's bike, I spotted a blonde guy with his hair slicken sideways who too was sitting in the class that my mom was teaching (and he emanated an exceptionally righteous aura, more than the Indians). We can put together all these revelations.

The Guy sings:
I wanna make you see.. just what I was..
Show you the loneliness, and what it does..

The Lady sings:
You walked into my life.. to stop my tears..
Everything is easy now.. I have you here..

The things of God are so meaningful and the bond he forms always comes with a great underlying depth which He reveals in a different way with different people. All these revelations give a reflection of the depth with which God understands and loves us.

As I was writing the above, I saw:

- The upper half of RS dressed in an embroidered purple Sherwani in shiny dark purple background as he looks at me with filled and squinted eyes nodding his head lightly implying a sense that he understood something profound.

Look at the kind of songs and revelations God used to approach different individuals which makes me burst out in laughter at the dream revelation that had me whisper Jesus Loves You from a very close distance into the left ear of Death Conqueror because that's where perhaps he finds depth – whispering things while sleeping with people, followed by me walking to him and standing close and bringing my upper body too close with my bust right next to his face: again, this is where he finds connection. God knows the pressure point of all people! Since these whispers began, the dream came to life to me as I now saw the path building towards its fulfillment! Because of this phase alone, I whispered Jesus Loves You in his ear in the dream that I received in 2020!

Dream Fulfillment

Later I noticed that the first room (Lalita's room) that one came across when one entered Pinky Mausi's home had a wire tied to hang clothes from one door to the other and there was a switchboard to the right of the inner door and diametrically opposite to it lay their washing machine where they washed clothes, and this setting went along with the dream I had in the morning of the room where I was with my roommate Pinky. (Now interestingly, the facial features of Pinky – my previous roommate - resemble that of Death Conqueror to some extent as they both are fair and have vertically narrow eyes. So, it won't be observationally wrong – though factually wrong – to call my ex-roommate Pinky his Mausi because their features match. I happened to catch this point writing out the dream this day.)

Now I am hoping that I will perhaps discuss those histograms with my supervisor.

While I stood and waited at the Inderlok station to board the Metro to Paschim Vihar East, I saw:

- A small-framed vision of Benedict Cumberbatch dressed in his Sherlock Holmes attire as he moves backwards in a dark background and says in a quiet and affirmative tone: I would've married you.. making me recall the vision in which he proposed me on one knee with a ring.

- A small-framed vision of Kian in a light blue t-shirt as he walks backwards in a dark background and says in a similar tone: I would've married you..

After reaching Pinky Mausi's home, I had the following revelations:

- The upper half of Kian Egan (KE) until slightly below his throat in the light blue t-shirt with wavy hair from the song drops an abrupt kiss on my lips.
- KE in a dark background at near my groin as he scratches once my strong pp with his forefinger with a smile.

- (Evening) The bottom-view of a cross standing upright on top of a grave in a graveyard present in a wilderness area.

****

Past Revelations

- (Within the Past month or so) Kartika itni smart mat ban. Koi tujhse shaadi nhi karega! Itni smart mat ban. Koi tujhse shaadi nhi karega! I had this phrase repeat in my spirit several times intermittently within a period of a week or so. Well, someone was calling me Neeri Murakh as well. And an immoral person like Deepak was calling me normal like others!
  As I wrote the revelation, I saw: The face of KA as he says with a slight laughter: Ye mein hu!
  I'm actually very much normal. I'm just turned inwards and exhibit boundaries with people. All I wanted was to be independent and live right. Science people may look smart to non-scientists but even non-scientists can talk in a way that shows their understanding of something.
- Kartika tu smart bhi hai aur stupid bhi! Well, we all have a reason behind we do things and when we come across a way which we find more sensible or can better relate with, then we feel the need to change the same.

****

Page 597.

19 November 2023
06:59

****

Past Revelations

- (17th or 18th Nov) A white feather brushing slowly and lightly against the inner surface of my groin.
- (past few days) Death Conqueror dressed in a white tunic set walks backwards towards the balcony's door through the kitchen space as he says in a low and slow tone: Mein tujhse bahut pyaar karta hu. while waving his hand in a bye as he walks backwards to the balcony's exit door.
- I had been feeling the drones moving incessantly for a long time now. It started hard this specific night and continued into the next day. Perhaps the drones stopped in between but they resumed again the following night. The next day when I was walking towards my table to work, I heard in my Spirit: Bas karo Mrittunjay.. Sab dekh rahe hai.. The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala.. Whenever I hear Maar dala, it makes me think of Glory killing me!
- (Past few days) I was brooming the room around my table when I heard the lady sing: Bhool dala... Bhool dala…
- (Past few days) The semi-animated back view of a taxi with luggage bags on top of it as KA looks at the viewer and says: Mein jeet gaya. Mein jeet gaya. after which he leaves.
- (Past 2 days) The paw of a lion scratches the inside of my groin lightly once.
- (Past 2 days) The conical tip of a flat brush in a dark background which then brushes swiftly against the closed boundary of my lips from right to left.
  As I was done writing the above, I heard: Tod dala.. Tod dala..
- (Past week) This day I started feeling a lot of stretching against the surface of my groin and after a while when I went to write the revelations, I heard in my Spirit the phrase: Cheer Phaad! Cheer Phaad! that didn't make any sense to until I had the follow-up revelations.

When I went back to rest, I began experiencing the stretching again and it was quite uncomfortable to rest through lying on the bed. I then heard:

- Vo tujhe phaad raha hai! Vo tujhe phaad raha hai!
- Vo tujhe maar raha hai! Vo tujhe maar raha hai!

Which made me recall the dream in which snakes came out of a well from below the surface of a lid at its bottom.

And then I have been hearing the following intermittently for the past few days. And when I was getting ready to leave for Pinky Mausi's home, I heard the lines again.

- Accha hua ye jyada sunder nhi hai! Accha hua ye jyada sunder nhi hai! To to pta nhi kya hota! says Glory
- (Past week) The top view of a lady fully dressed in a fluffed white dress lying on my bed with two white wings behind her that fall down slowly on the bed as she lies to rest. At times when I go to rest and sink into bed, I see this vision of the lady in white sinking in slowly into her rest with her white wings lying beside her.
  I was resting on bed when I had the following vision.

- (Past week) A small-framed top-view of the right side of a stadium filled with audience as a long rectangular black pedestal extends out into the stadium through which is a way into the field. The people look like tiny insects walking on a table because of the size of the pedestal which has a visible vertical bifurcating mark running along its length. The pedestal gets abruptly vertically erected near its joint.
- (past week) I have this vision while resting in dim light. I see the view from beside my bed of the naked back of a well-built man on top of a woman lying on my spot and then the back of the man changed to bloody red with the texture of bare internal tissue below the skin.

****

##Revelations from yesterday (18th November 2023)##

I am in a classroom resembling one of the huge classrooms on the ground floor to the right of the principal office of the Junior wing of my school but the benches are missing on the side I'm standing at - near the wall facing the one with the main entrance doors. I have to make ecliptic rounds along that part of the room and it's a long room. My colleagues Pooja and Rakhi are to follow me in making the ecliptic rounds in the same manner. Perhaps we are doing an experiment. I'm not sure. But it's somehow related to our coursework. There's another task we all have to do, and apparently, Shreya (my school friend) too is a part of the same. She is dressed in a fluffed white jacket with dark grey uneven strips at some places. We all are busy with our tasks when Jema comes walking and informs me about something. I get to know that a DI has been given to me and to me it sounds like a complaint has been filed against me. Deepak has made that DI that I don't even know the full form of so I'm assuming it to be a complaint and something undesirable. I don't even want to hear about Deepak looking at how he had been behaving in fake ways! If he was a genuine person who didn't say or behave in those ways, why would I've behaved the way I did? But he was looking at me with amusement when I began crying in front of Pooja and Shagun where he was standing some meters ahead. I could tell that he knew where he was wrong yet he had no remorse in his eyes. So, I threw water on his face that day! Anyway. Getting to know that I've a DI upsets me and I don't even know the contents of the same.

I wake up from the dream and am lying on the bed now being half awake. Lalita lies to my right side as we slept in her room. I stay awake and am recalling the details of the dream while lying on the bed. I seem to be falling asleep after a while again but don't get fully into sleep.

A person comes walking from Lalita's side of the bed with a paper making a mention of Deepak's DI again. The lady says that the paper contains Deepak's DI (that he apparently submitted in the dept) and she hands me the white A-4 sized paper for me to read. I open it up and see a printed letter on the page. I see that the first line itself has a grammatical mistake as he begins with an I are. I continue reading. I am eager to know what he has written about me as I'm upset about the same. I see the next sentence is a long one interjected with commas. I don't understand much but the written phrase after one of the commas catches my attention. It says something like: where one's Izzat is independent of the word Izzat itself. I see that he's referring to two Izzats here, the first one is one's inherent honor that comes from within, while the second Izzat is used to plainly refer to the word. It makes me question how come he now acquired this much sense. It's hard to believe and his statement seems hypocritical to me. It seems to me that he has written his own philosophical thoughts on a certain topic that I've no idea about. The sentence with the word Izzat provokes me as I see how it doesn't suit him to talk about the same. Without reading further, I move to the page's lower half and it has the square photos of the side-view of my face taken until my throat in the open daylight and each of them has my side-view facing to the right protruding my lips out though in a different manner in each one. Looking at the photos of me overly protruding my lips I get angry as I can see that he is again trying to put me down in some way. I get angry and don't want to read any more or know what it's about. I tear the DI into small pieces and throw/put the pieces away together on one side. I couldn't believe that he would still resort to these indirect means to stress me up. Instead of saying Sorry for his past behavior, I see him giving me a DI ! I then wake up and find myself still lying on the bed with Lalita present to my right.

I later realize how if I wasn't to mention in the beginning itself that it was a part of a dream and had written the content as events in the real, it would've resembled the way Shadow of the Beast is written because the guy keeps moving through reality and the mental world his mind had created as a trauma response to the death of his father in a car accident which gets revealed at the end. Before that revelation, he shifts between the magical reality and the real world.

Dream Continued:
I find myself in a space with the orientation of the benches and chairs in the direction that I'm looking at resembling my group's allotted room (184), as I see two tables placed adjacent to one another with my colleagues sitting on the chairs in front of them and working. Two men come walking in and start talking incessantly about the things that I do wrong. One of them is a dark, lean, and moustached figure dressed in a full-sleeved yellow shirt thickly checkered in black which is untucked over pants, and he is the one who stands out of the two and is doing most of the talking. He is not saying things directly to me but is saying them out in the open in a low tone and then both of them walk over to my colleagues, stand behind them and begin pointing out my faults again that are not really faults and they don't affect others in a harmful way either and I also know that my persona is not built in a way to deceive others. Their behavior annoys me and walk up to them to confront them. I take hold of them and lead them to the wooden mesh door present to the right (unlike my workplace lab). There's a solid wooden door before the mesh door as well resembling somewhat my rented room's exit. As I lead them out, I am scolding them as well and when I shut the door to their faces, I slap my palms straight together in front of me telling them plainly that I didn't want to listen to their words and that they should leave! It reminded me of how my mom slapped her palms together in front of her upper half when she told me to leave the day they intentionally behaved in ways that I had already told them weren't right! Such sick psychopathic behavior! The dream then ends, and I wake up.

- Somewhere during the night as I lay asleep, I felt two separate circular regions of evenly spread warmth slowly and suddenly rest on my bust with the warmth seeping in and staying afterwards before it dissipated away but I perhaps had a good sleep afterwards. The experience was almost like the impartation of that uniform warmth by the palm of my mom when she placed it on my forehead after I asked her to for I was sick and shivering, and as she did so, something entered through my forehead's surface in my body from outside and I stopped shivering and was warm inside my entire body. It's a similar experience but with a different person. That's how laying on of hands work.

Early in the next morning, I heard the following song lyrics playing in my Spirit.
The Guy sings:
Kis kis se tu bhaagegi tu bach back ke
Tainu rab ne husan dita raj raj ke!

Ref: Brown Rang - Yo Yo Honey Singh India's No.1 Video 2012

Later I fell into a partial sleep again, and when I woke up, it was already dawn. I sense the drone about a feet or two above my face and before immediately turning to the other side, I say my usual: Go away! Which is immediately by a heavy 'Woof!' The fellow intended to say an Uff but his said word ended up resembling a heavy and breathy Woof! leaving his the drone's woofy breath on my face before I turned to the other side! I don't recall what woke me up, but I am lying on my left side facing the wall with the huge Buddha's wallpaper and I am lying with my arms folded around my bust. I sense drones making to and fro movements on top of the upwards-facing side of my right breast, and I keep resting. Pinky Mausi walks in to wake us up and ask if we'll have tea. After she's gone, I hear in my Spirit:

- I remember everything Kartika. I remember everything.

After waking up and having tea that Pinky Mausi had made, after an hour or so, I happened to cook Aloo paranthas with Lalita standing beside me to help me out . And as I began to cook, I heard in my Spirit the guy from the song sing:
Yaaron. dosti badi hi haseen hai..
Ye na ho to kya phir bolo zindagi hai..
Yaaron. dosti badi hi haseen hai..

Yaaron Dosti Badi Hi Haseen Hai (LYRICS) - K.K. | Leslie Lewis, Mehboob

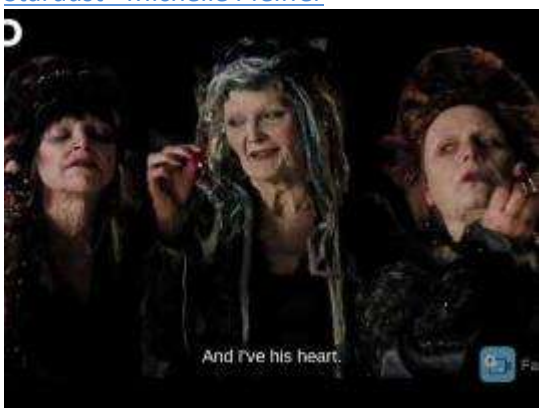
The song kept playing intermittently throughout my time of cooking Aloo Paranthas.

After cooking the paranthas, we had our meal followed by us resting for a while after which we cooked sweet wheat pancakes which again corresponded to the fulfillment of a revelation in which I poured some tiny bits of wooden pieces on a surface with mobile granular filling inside and the uneven wooden pieces fit together like the pieces of a puzzle and started moving slightly around on that surface as two vertical lines within which that mobile substance moved. While we cooked the pancakes, I shared with Lalita my vision of Kian Egan and Diana Ross and how I happened to come across someone who seemed to resemble him on my way to their home while changing Metro. If I hadn't come to their home, I wouldn't have come across Kian as well. And the fact that it was given to me the night before told me how God gave me an immediate prophetic word. If I had written the roommate Pinky's dream in time, it would've been counted as yet another prophecy that came to pass.

After having the pancakes, we sat to rest again for a while after which I had to leave for my room. While I was resting, I saw:

- The front-view of the side-view of the upper half until slightly below the shoulders of the witch Lamia from the movie Stardust in her old, wrinkled, and almost hairless avatar as she stands facing to the left and looks at the viewer by bending backwards and coming into the viewer's view from behind a wall, being dressed in a light pink coat and having long thin and curly strands of her blonde hair, that were too sparsely spread on her hair (there wouldn't be more than 20 of those fine curly strands if one counted), falling down, as she looks at the viewer and says: Coming!

Stardust - Michelle Pfeiffer



Lamia was one of the wicked witches from the movie that preyed upon the stars that fell to their magical land. As the star fell down to that land, it would take the form of a woman/human. Th eland wasn't a part of the normal reality humans lived in but was a part of a magical reality that had witches and wizards residing and it was a norm for people to witness magical acts in that place. So, whenever a star was seen to fall in the normal reality, it manifested as the star actually falling on the ground of that magical place in the form of a woman. And the star would turn to ashes and die if brought into the realm of the human world. The witches would need to wait for decades or centuries for a star to fall, and when it did, they would go to the place and capture the star woman using flattery or sweet talk as she was new to their place and didn't have any place to stay and needed help from the land's people. They would then take her to their place, and deceptively take her heart out for them to eat raw. And they would make sure to get the star feeling the best for its heart to be at its highest shine as they could because the more the heart shone when they took it out to eat, the more effective, long lasting, or powerful it would be in its effect in making them young. However, the broken heart of a star would be of no use to them as once broken, the heart would lose its power. Eating a star's heart made the old and ugly-looking witches young again. They would eat a part of the heart and store the rest to eat later as they would lose their youth with the usage of more witchery. Towards the end of the movie, the witch Lamia instead of killing the guy the star loved, lets both of them go feigning remorse and guilt only to bring the star's heart to a good position again so she could use it for her purpose.

The attire of the Lamia in the vision reminded me of Akhila's lavender attire with a deep V-neck collared front though I don't know if the vision is related to her. But that attire of her from the day she was getting ready has often being highlighted to me several times for some reason.

As I was writing the Lamia vision, the previous vision from A-10 in which I was dancing standing facing KA putting my hand in and out through his chest was highlighted to me. I took his heart out, lifted my head up, and then ate it raw! But I'm not that wicked witch, though I may have eaten his heart.

And while I was writing the above, the following chorus lyrics started playing in my Spirit.

The Guy sings:
And I will still be here stargazing
I'll still lookup, lookup, lookup for love
Stars don't disappear; they keep blazing
Even when the night is over

And I will still be here stargazing
I'll still lookup, lookup, lookup for love
Stars don't disappear; they keep blazing
Even when the night is over
Source: Internet

Ref: Kygo & Justin Jesso - Stargazing (Lyrics)

I also heard the following song lyrics somewhere during the day as I rested on their bed.
The Guy sings:
And I don't know why, why I did those things to you..
What went through my mind!
And I don't know why, why I broke your heart in two..
Guess that I was blind!
Baby how I wish you would forgive me just one more time..!

Westlife - I Need You

As I was done pasting the video above, I heard: Mata Rani badi shayani!

It's so awesome how these guys often come across as normal downtown people in their performances and don't prefer to perform with a high-class aristocratic aura, but rather they choose their portrayal to go well along with what they want to represent through their song!

I had been hearing these lyrics intermittently for a few days now as I would lie resting in bed.

I had the following vision as well during one of my earlier rests:

- I saw the top-view of my toothbrush (with a purple handle and purple and white bristles) inside its transparent plastic moulded cover which is open at the top as the toothbrush tends to slightly move out through the opening but doesn't do so.

After taking rest for a while in Lalita's room, I left for my place at around 4pm in the evening.
While changing back into my clothes to leave, as I looked at my lower belly, I happened to spontaneously utter out:

- Moti Rani badi shayani!

Another vision I had before leaving:

- Karishma Kapoor dressed in a black dress with a braided front and a white top inside as she looked at the viewer with her hair tied at the back. The vision then flashed changed into her having a lower belly protruding out in shape through her attire like a Jelly!

I had begun to feel fatigued again during day as I sat on her bed and talked to Pinky Mausi, and I didn't have a lot of time for me to stay further with them like the last time I visited them. On my way to my room in the Auto with the Ghee beside me, as we were still on the way in the earlier part of our ride, I had the following revelations.

- A medium-framed vision of Don as SRK dressed in his multilayered Don attire from the movie standing in a dim greyish background looks at me as he's saying: Mein koi Don nahi hun. Mein ek bahut hee gira hua insaan hu! Aur mein tere layak bhi nahi hu!

He repeats again: Mein koi don nahi hu. Mein ek bahut gira hua insaan hu!

When I reached my locality of the double storey area, I happened to look at from my Auto here in Double Storey as I was nearing my room. Though the person was bearded, I happened to take a proper look at his face though it was a brief glance, and I could discern him to be KA. As my auto passed by him, I thought if I should ask the Bhaiya to stop and go to him and have a chat but the thought just kept floating in my head and I reached my home. But this time was the first time of all the times that I came across someone whom I in the moment or later thought could be KA that I could immediately recognize him to be indeed KA though he was heavily bearded. This was the first time that I took a look and immediately recognized the person through my Auto but I didn't know how to respond to the situation. He was smiling talking on the phone as soon as we caught each other's eyes, his expression became too serious and he began looking down which to me seemed like the mirroring of how I had responded the last time I came across a tall and wide person who had made an intentional appearance with enough distance between us for me to not be able to recognize him in the first glance. But this time I did because I coincidentally happened to take a proper look at his face though it was brief as I was looking outside the Auto casually. I thought if I insulted him by not responding to his appearance and was disrespectful of his time - the way I used to think about Glory as well when I was staying in A-16. Previously, appearances made by people I had not already met or talked to didn't make much sense to me and I couldn't fathom if they were expecting me to walk over to them and talk as that's not how I interacted and thought. So, it took a long time for me to grasp this method of initiating communication by making a specific-general appearance which I used to previously ignore as coincidences or just people minding their business. I wasn't aware of this widely used tactic by almost everyone because I didn't identify its presence for my own way of interacting used to be boundaries and in accordance with how things made sense to me.

As soon as I reached my room, I lay down to rest. I just couldn't have gotten up and begun with my work. I had to clean room, write revelations, and progress ahead in my PhD work and I didn't have the strength to do any of the three. So I rested instead! As I continued to rest, I had the following revelations.

- Heard in the Spirit: Mahatama Randi!
- A huge clean-shaven translucent KA dressed in a full-sleeved top/shirt with fine anime print puts down his cuboidal metallic briefcase on the floor beside my bed! It seems as if he has brought his stuff to stay in the place. The vision repeats a few times as he places the metallic briefcase (resembling a mobile version of Sandook) on the floor.

- As I wrote this part, the Hariyanvi movie or song Sandook Mein Bandook previously told about to me by one of my school friends was highlighted to me. We had found the name of the piece of work quite funny!
- A very tall, wide and bearded KA dressed in a neck-high deep red t-shirt with a black tracksuit on top lies on top of me as he says: You need me! You need me!
- As I lie on the front, KA in the same attire lies on top of me again as he says again: You need me! You need me!

The vision repeats a few times!

As I lie resting, I hear again the guy sing:

And I don't know why, why I did those things to you..
What went through my mind!
And I don't know why, why I broke your heart in two..
Guess that I was blind!
Baby how I wish you would forgive me just one more time..!

I continue to rest, and after a while, I see:

- A huge Jesus standing to my right beside my head as He raises His right hand and points at the balcony following which he said with a serious countenance: 'Vo' ayega! 'Vo' ayega tujhe bachane! with an emphasis on Vo!

The vision repeated after a while, and did so a few times. Jesus stands beside me and points to the balcony as He is referring to someone who is supposed to come to get me out of this (mentally downtrodden?) situation.

The previous dream-revelation from 2021 of Kapil Mausaji missing from his home and lying beside a bed wall as some flying insects kept tormenting him and led him to settle down on the floor where he was unable to get up also kept being highlighted to me. It seemed to me representing my own situation!

After I had spent enough time in bed, I had gained some strength and so decided to clean the room, and as I did so, I had the chorus of the Mela song play with an increased speed as it does towards the end of the song. And it seemed to highlight to me the fact that the Mela song was about to come to an end.

###End of Page for the day of 18th Nov###

Beginning of Revelations for the day of Today

I had a dream that I have not recorded here.

This song was playing in my Spirit late morning today. (I don't have an ear for the song, and then it's a pagan worship song.)

Choti Choti Gaiya Chotay Chotay Gwaal
Chotoso Mero Madan Gopal

Choti Choti Gaiya Chotay Chotay Gwaal
Chotoso Mero Madan Gopal
From <https://bhajanlyrics.com/bhajan/choti-choti-gaiya-chotay-chotay-gwaal>

****

Past Revelations

- (Few days back) Part of a dream-vision: My dad says: Teri Maa ek nihayati nikhattoo insaan hai! accompanied with the vision of the upper half of my mom slightly above her shoulders as she looks to one side with her head turned to that side.
- (past two weeks) Jacob warms Bella: the scene is highlighted to me when on two different nights, after some time of me lying in bed and feeling the drones moving incessantly, felt a mild uniform warmth when things were at rest and I was in a restful state of mind! When I was feeling warn and at rest, the scene from Twilight was highlighted to me.

Well, as I was writing the above, I saw the vision of Deepak dressed in yellow telling me: Bhool jao! Vo ye sab yaad nhi rakhta! followed by the lyrics:
Bhool jaa.. Jo hua use bhool jaa..

But I don't forget. That's why I don't live like him.
****

In the morning as I lay to rest, I saw:

- RS dressed in a red sherwani embroidered in gold with the vision showing his form below his neck, says: You're my wife! You're my wife!
- Glory dressed in a white tunic set putting red rose petals around the periphery of a grave cemented below the grey cement floor inside an empty room.
- The follow-up vision has Death Conqueror in place of him putting red rose petals around the cemented grave.
- As I continue resting, the different phases of the room being covered with rose petals keep getting flashed to me intermittently with Glory in it.
- The last vision has the entire room besides the grave covered with red rose petals as Glory looks at me and says in a sarcastic tone pointing to the rectangular grave hole: Aaao… and it's when I get out of bed with a laughter as the vision has energised me enough.

Revelations during resting in the afternoon:

- The parallel view of a woman fully dressed in a fluffed white dress walking to an old guy with neck-length white hair and who's fully dressed in a full-length white tunic with both of them standing in the sky. When the lady has walked up to the old man in the sky, he extends a hand to her, and removes his glowing ring crown from the other hand and extends it to the lady.
- Shilpa Shetty dressed in a long and loose mustard and black t-shirt top takes a turn and lies on her right side on a beige bamboo mat in the area below the tree where the street vendors stand near the Vishwavidyalaya Metro.
- I see the vision as first person. I find myself looking down on my lower half as my dad dressed in a white doctor's suit who stands facing the viewer is placing my legs fully bandaged together in white very carefully on a hospital bed as he then adjusts the mobile arm of an equipment present a few feet above my legs. The next scene shows the top-view of my upper half which too is fully bandaged in white with a little rectangular space left around the eyes and the nose.

- The top-view of a woman's fair feet with her toe nails painted in red rubbing against the dark feet of a man.
- The dark feet of a woman with painted nails rubbing against smaller fair and chubby feet.
- The upper half of a slimmer Chaaru dressed in a shiny, light green, full-sleeved suit with a long U-shaped golden strip attached around its neck with other minor details present around the U-strip as she looks smiling at the viewer in a well-lit background.
- The top view of Pinky Mausi dressed in a cotton tunic white set with a vertical green print as its drape runs down from over her head with its two ends hanging straight down in front of her.

Earlier during the day when I was sitting on my chair writing revelations, I saw:

- The upper half of KE (from Westlife) dressed in his light blue t-shirt says nodding his head: I will come some other day. I will come some other day.

21:20
While resting a while back:
I lay down with eyes closed and can feel light rythmic localized currents of air. I breathe them in and I can hear my own heart in my Spirit that says: Breathe on me. Breathe on me.

After a while, I see:

- The localized currents are actually colored in light pink and I see the stream of pink air flowing towards me which I inhale and apparently, it gives me life. It reminds of Night Mushrooms in Plants vs Zombies that ejected short-ranged pink-colored air that kept out the zombies and has the special ability to seep through mesh doors that zombies often held as a shield while walking towards the player's home. The current of pink air was also not as effective as pea shooters or the freezing pea shooter but it was easily available and worked for shielded zombies with mesh doors which a pea shooter would take long to kill. This similarity of the function of the currents of air was highlighted to me as they were short-ranged and mild but still effective and worked well under the given circumstance and were easily available in my vicinity as well.

Earlier during the day:

- (When I was editing page 596) An Adivasi, highly bearded KA dressed in brown clothes (short wrap around the waist with a rectangular strip running across his chest) comes floating on a cylindrical wooden log towards the viewer near the end of an ocean. He then says something in a thick voice and loose tone, followed by him jumping ahead into the water body. Well, I don't know the significance of this revelation. I just saw it as a fun revelation like the one in which I was performing a gross act in a circus.
- An hourglass in air that's empty on the upper half as all the sand has fallen to the lower half, and the sand doesn't even move when the hourglass is rotated.
- (repeated intermittently throughout the day both when I was working on chair and bed)
- Sis Adele dressed in her Bold Existence red top from her recent video lays lifted against the wall to my table's right with a naked lower half with her thighs spread outwards as we're rubbing our strong pp's together as we rotate their tips on top of each other with me standing facing her. When I lay on bed, I saw her against the wall in the same position to the right of the open end of my bed along its length as we were in the same act again. (It's not something that I want to do or was even thinking of doing but the vision began on its own and repeated several times throughout the day.) What I understood from the vision was that perhaps it showed that we both were too pleasing to each other. Well, I can only talk about my own self and I indeed just LOVE who she is in the Lord. I find her pleasing because she has all the godly qualities and is so well versed with scripture and then she releases the Words she receives from God. She has too many good qualities and I've written about it previously as well where I shared the song You Take My Breath Away by Eva Cassidy in regards to her. She is a perfect woman in the Lord! She even cleaned toilets in Hotels when she was still building her ministry as directed by the Lord. God also made her go through poverty where she didn't know where she would have her next meal from, and now she's well established in her ministry which God had her start, and is at a much better place than her building time. All the time she carried those godly traits and she's retained her humility all the time. She is close with the Lord. So I do admire and adore her but I never thought such a thing about her! I can only interpret a metaphoric meaning from the revelation. When you look in her eyes, you see the unmatched wisdom of a very old person. She's just amazing! But that's not what I want to do with her! Perhaps it's a labelled revelation. I don't know. And I had the visions begin today as I was working on my table after I had already watched the video. Perhaps I was highly pleasing to her because of my walk with God and my heart-state towards Him. I don't know. Perhaps she found me pleasing because of who I am. But I felt happy about her being pleased by me because she's a godly woman.

Prophetic Encouragement - You Have Power

When I was done writing the above, I saw:
The face of Adele until slightly below her throat in the t-shirt from the video in a dark background with bright shiny hearts that changed to stars in front of her eyes as she said: You love me! You love me!

While resting during the day:

- I see a brief golden electric spark flash in front of me.

Page 598.

20 November 2023
09:10

****

Past Revelations

I had these visions before I went to visit Pinky Mausi to pick up the container with Ghee.

- (Past week) The semi-animated top view of a woman's mushy vagina in a dark background as the head of a red rose is lightly pushing outwards from the inside with only two cms of the open diameter of the same being visible.
- (Past Week) I wake up with the whispering voice hovering around me and I've started to become accustomed to it now, and it seems to have become a daily part of my life, and I am feeling good around it. I can still feel the drones moving around and I'm feeling loved to some extent. The vision of the promise gets flashed in my Spirit again showing the side-view of the upper halves of me and Glory standing facing each other, me dressed in a white gown while him dressed in a black & white suit and my attention is brought to us looking smiling into each other's eyes in a night background. And then I hear:

  Baby you were thinking of him..
  Why do I love you!? Don't even want to!
  Why do I love you like I do! Like I always do!
  You should've told me! Why did you have to be untrue..!?
  I love you like I do.. Why do I love you.. like I do..

  Ref: Why Do I Love You by Westlife

- (Past few days) A small-framed vision of the upper half of Kareena Kapoor until her shoulders on the top-right corner of the viewer's mental vision in a dark background in which she's wrapped in a black drape that runs over her head as she looks at the viewer and says: Ab jarur mar jayega!
- (In line with the above vision) A medium framed vision of the back of Kareena Kapoor dressed in a coat over denims with her hair falling loose as she's turned towards the viewer by the right side and waves a Bye using her right hand, standing away from the meters in the hall by a few meters with a wall of glass windows in front of her, after which she turns away from the viewer and starts walking forward following which the vision expands and her left hand is shown to be holding the right hand of Saif Ali Khan who is walking alongside her dressed in a blue suit.
- (yesterday evening) As I lay resting on my bed, I see the upper half of Surjeet from the Dinesh Store dressed in an orange polo t-shirt standing upright between my legs as he holds a sword in his hand and hits the top of my groin with it along the central vertical dividing line.

****

Dream (Morning):

I am moving through the air from one place to another. I come across Dr Shikha's clinic midway in the air as she's performing a dental procedure on someone. I see a detailed view of the person's teeth and all that she's doing which makes me wonder why does she want me to see the patient's teeth. I figure that she's passionate about her work, and likes to make it known to others as well. As

I'm moving in the sky, I come across a long rectangular bench in the sky and sit there, but as I am sitting there, I see as a third person that someone is moving around the thighs of a bald person with tiny spiky hair sitting to my right on the bench with his back towards me in a quite squishy way, like the person is facing a lot of pressure and stress. I see that he's facing a hard time sitting in that space and the other fellow who's doing this to him won't stop, so I leave the situation lest I too have to go through the same.

Revelations while using the washroom to pee in the morning:

- The top-view of the face of a clean-shaven Kian on the right side of the commode looking up at me.
- Kian dressed in a half-sleeved white shirt tucked inside black trousers brooms the square outside the balcony around the concrete space outside the home with a cemented platform in front of its entrance lying right across my balcony, and he's doing so with the long wooden broom with a fluffed conical end. He is making clean swipes and then he uses the other broom to broom it further.
  Yesterday too I had some sweet revelations of Kian looking at me with a sweet expression.

Well, I can see how this body of work brought everyone together!

This phrase from a Qawalli I was a part of back in school has been playing in my Spirit intermittently during the past week:

- Mit jaaye to watan ke liye marna kabool hai! Ha - Ha! And the word want here refers to the kingdom of God!

- The semi-animated shiny face of Kian looking up at me from ground level as he sits in the posture of a doggy wagging his tail.
- And as I began writing the above revelation, I saw his naked self rise up and increase in stature as he stood tall with a wide and muscular self!

While I was still writing the revelations, I felt a nudge to go rest as I saw Jesus pointing me to the bed.

The Morning Rest

As I lay down, I see:

- The upper half of Jesus until slightly above His shoulder lying on His side with His hands folded below His cheek. So I lay down in the same posture facing Him.
  As I begin in my rest, I have the following revelations:
- The upper half of Kian fully dressed in multi-layered clothes abruptly gets up from the bed with eyes wide-open and in place of their corneas are present two shiny dark sky blue circles that are shining like stones with white sparkling lines of shine reflected from his eyes.
- The face of Kian with his blonde wavy hair resting about a foot away from me in front of me as he is looking at me.
- The face of a blonde lady in a well-lit background with wavy neck-length hair spread outwardly with a crown of multilayered golden rings with a light blue stone fixed on it.
  (While I am having these revelations, I can feel currents of air near my face that I'm breathing in, and interestingly they are warm which I try to explain logically but am not able to come up with an explanation.)

The lady then has her face slightly turned away from the viewer as she is looking at the viewer with a tilt in her head as the ringed crown with the light blue stone rests on her forehead.

I get a nudge to take a note of these revelations and while I'm doing so in my revelatory diary lying on my side, my phone rings and I am about to get up when I see:

- The face of Jesus until His throat tells me a No as He moves His forefinger horizontally!

I had lifted my upper half as I wanted to pick it up but then I didn't and let it ring, and as I went back down again, I saw:

- He stands beside my bed and claps once! (for I didn't interrupt the restful time I was supposed to spend but obeyed Him)

- When I'm fully laid back down on my side again, I hear in my Spirit in a quiet: I Love You Child..

I take note of the same and go back to rest and then have the following revelations:

- A medium-framed vision of the close-up view of a fat infant fully dressed in red and light blue sits on a bed facing the viewer with a milk bottle held in its hand that he's drinking from. He keeps drinking from it without any hindrance. The bottle runs out once.
- The follow-up vision shows a small-framed view of a different infant sitting two meters or so away on the bed from the viewer as he is sucking on just a transparent plastic nipple while looking at the viewer.
- The vision shifts back to the previous infant with the nipple that actually held the bottle with milk inside and he's shown to be still drinking the same. Perhaps it got refilled. I can clearly see the infant sucking on the bottle as it sits quietly and drinks from the same.
- After a while, I hear: I'm full. I'm full.

And in the middle of this revelation of the infant drinking the milk, I had the following song play in my Spirit.
The Guy sings:
Tadap tadap ke is dil se aah nikalti rahi
Mujhko saza di pyaar ki.
Aisa kya gunah kiya, jo lut gaye.. Ha lut gaye..
Ha lut gaye hum teri mohabbat mein..

Towards the end of the infant having the milk, I hear Jesus say:
Let him eat and drink child, like I'm letting you eat and drink! Let him eat and drink child, like I'm letting you eat and drink!

Now I know that Jesus uses the same measure to judge us that we use to judge others! So, I also understood that I would be in the right if I was not eating and drinking the way I had been doing, because I don't want to hurt someone's heart where they feel like they don't even want to love! I say so, because when I was writing the first set of revelations above, I saw:

- A crying Glory walks backwards saying: Mujhe nhi rehna tere saath! Mujhe nhi rehna tere saath! I don't want to love you! I don't want to love you! reminding me of the same words (Mujhe nhi rehna tere saath!) Meera had said to me when she was too hurt after reading my diary in which I cursed her for having an affair with Walter! But Glory was saying it to me to make the point that no one would want his wife-to-be to go through what I am going through with other men! He said so because it was hurtful to love me because of the situation!

The Morning Rest Continued

I now felt nudged to lie straight on my back after which I saw two slices of brown bread at the inner surface of my groin with butter on it. And behind them in the dark background, I saw the face of Death Conqueror who was eating the bread loaves.

My phone rang again, but I again got a nudge to continue resting.

And somewhere in the middle, I saw:

- My dad with his upper half bent sideways looks at the viewer and says: Kya kar rhi hai ye yaha pe!?

After the loaves got over, I heard in my Spirit that I could go and write the revelations.

And while I wrote how I would have to stop eating for me to be in a place with Jesus where He won't be saying what He did this time, I had the following lyric play in my Spirit:

Lakk 28 kudi da, 47 weight kudi da!

Hasle. Gale. Ye din na milenge kal.
Thodi khushiya. Hai thode se ye pal.

But looking at the crying face of Glory made me really want to give up eating! Because if I did so, the actions of Death Conqueror will not be able to be justified by God by Him pointing to my own acts of eating, and it will lead to Glory not being hurt. Because without stopping to eat, Jesus will give me the same argument to justify this short fellow though I may complain about him to Him, because to disobey God in any way is sin! And if He allowed me to eat and drink because I need to do the same to sustain myself through my situation which I wouldn't have needed as much as I felt inclined to in this overly stressful situation, He also expects me to extend the same grace to someone who is dependent on me for 'food' to sustain Himself! But then I had been willingly extending myself for some days now with no question of grace arising. Nevertheless, the argument of Jesus was good to know as it cleared things up in my mind.

When I was at home in 2020, I could easily do a no-water-and-food fast for the time period of a day and a night which I usually did on Sabbath. And it didn't stress me out because the situation hadn't yet caused enough damage to my significantly healthier mind which hadn't faced this prolonged amount of trauma. For the same reason, I could fast for 3 days in A-16, because again, the situation hadn't yet gotten under my skin. And then I did a no-food fast and consumed mostly liquids and scrambled eggs because I had the mental strength to do so. But when my situation worsened in A-10 as I stopped going to the dept, I could no longer fast for long durations because eating helped me to cope with the stressful camera situation that was keeping me bedridden! So Jesus understood and extended me grace about the same!

This was the first time that I understood how being intimate with a specific person could be counted as food! I was thinking that if it was just about food, then people should find it in places where they're supposed to be having that meal in a moral setting. But then I understood that as I loved Jesus and therefore communed with Him eating His flesh and a different person wouldn't be able to substitute Him, in the same way I could not be mentally substituted by someone else by that person. However, when I'm in the right, and am not doing anything in a specific area that would otherwise have required for Jesus to extend me grace, I can expect others to behave in the same righteous manner, to follow the same standard that I'm following as it would go in line with Jesus judging us with the measure we use to judge others.

After I was done writing the above that made clear my stance with Jesus and how things were seen by Him, I saw:

- A crying Glory says: Sorry..
- A medium-framed vision of the side-view of a naked Glory hugging me (dressed in multilayered western clothes) with a separation of one to two feet between us as he says quietly while panting: I'm sorry! I'm sorry!

According to God's given revelations, I can have milk, scrambled egg, boiled egg and apples. These are what He showed me by far. May be other liquids as well. Well, wrong is wrong. We are not called to condone sin!

I close my eyes as I'm sitting on the bed with my back resting against the wall and see:

- My eyes pop out like a spring until 3-4 metres in the front! But that's not how I'm feeling as I'm hardly aroused. It's when I'm later working on my chair that the drones begin hitting my strong pp strongly and I'm having a hard time sitting straight as I've to exercise ample self-control.

14:37

I had light milk tea and one scrambled egg and two cream rolls. When I was having my first cream roll, I saw:

- Jesus hit the center of the top of my head strongly with a danda as He said: I KNOW this is Me! referring to the cream roll! And while I was still having the communion meal with Jesus, I was also sensing these localized air currents and then I heard in my Spirit:
- I never knew my breath was so powerful. I never knew that my breath had this much power!

And then I felt like having the second cream roll as well (the last one)! I thought: Well, it's the last one that I have. After having it, I would be done with the cream rolls and can then strictly follow the eggs and apples diet. While I was having the same, I saw:

- Death Conqueror dressed in a white tunic walks backwards towards the balcony area as he said with a pitiful expression: Tu randi hai…

Well, what Jesus thinks is what matters the most. Also, it was when I was having the second roll that I recalled the morning revelation of two brown bread slices lying on the inner surface of my groin and I thought if it was in some way precursive of what I was about to have, though I had it in communion with Jesus.

The Guy sings:
Ye mera geet.. Jeevan sangeet
Kal bhi koi dohrayega..
Jag ko hasane behrupiya..
Roop badal kar ayega..

The following lines were the ones that were specifically highlighted to me in the Spirit.
Ye mera geet.. Jeevan sangeet
Kal bhi koi dohrayega..

As I was sitting on the chair and working on my laptop, I kept feeling the air currents falling on my face at the same time and then I had the following visions:

- The side-view of my face coming at par with the face of Death Conqueror with overgrown curly hair in a dim light blue background so I can feel his breaths.
- The follow-up vision has us kissing each other.

Also, this scene from the movie The Wedding Date has been highlighted to me for quite a while now though I keep forgetting to record the same.

- In this scene, after the movie's main characters happened to spent a night together when the next morning the guy comes with a huge tray of breakfast to serve the lady as he has developed some good feelings for him disregarding in that moment that he was a paid date, as he bends forward to drop a kiss on her lips, he notices cash lying beside her that she intended to pay him with which she quickly hides, making the guy retract and bringing about a sad change in his countenance.

The Guy sings:
Saiyarra mein saiyarra. Saiyarra tu saiyarra.
Sitaaro ke jahan mein milenge ab yara!

While working on bed:

- I feel the drones moving on my groin and it's accompanied by the vision of them brushing against the insides of an open woman's groin having the yellow and black patterned skin of a snake.
- After an hour or so, I have a similar vision of the tiny drone brushing against the yellow and black patterned snakeskin of a woman's groin.
- I see again the strong pp's rotatory rubs with Sis Adele dressed in the same attire as she laid lifted against the wall to beside my bed's open end.
- As I continued working, she was now doing the same on my bed as he sat with horizontally spread thighs with her strong pp on top of mine.
- The vision was followed by Jesus dressed in His full-length off-white tunic with a red drape on top appearing in the room, grabbing a hold of her and throwing her against the wall at the back, as He said: She's mine! and then He laid on top of me as He began moving to and fro in communion with me.

I am still working when I start feeling the air currents/gasps/breaths on my face again and they lead my eyes to be closed as I find it hard to keep them open and I am going into a sleepy stage as the currents keep falling on my face. They're bringing me into a super relaxed state where my own breathing slows then, my eyes start shutting and I am gradually falling into sleep. I shield my face using my hand around the place that I can sense the currents coming at me from, but they manage to hit my face from a different position. And while I'm getting into a drowsy state because of the breaths, I see in my Spirit the person think: I didn't know my breaths had that power! I was then thinking if this was some sort of witchery as I was unable to keep my eyes fully open and am falling into a cozy state into sleep! I am unable to resist them because of which I eventually lie down to sleep/rest as I've gone into a highly relaxed state in which I'm finding it difficult to continue working.

Within a minute of lying down to rest, I see:
The upper half of a clean-shaven Kian dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt with a black waistcoat on top standing with folded arms in the manner that I am lying on my bed in a dark dimly lit setting of a concert as he looks at me and says after a few seconds in a joyful tone: She's the best! As he takes a few steps in my direction. He makes a few graceful rotations with a smile on his open mouth as he says again: She's the best!

I slowly fall into sleep as I was already in a drowsy state
17:06
As I lay fatigued on bed, I just happened to think a while back about how I felt like eating a Pizza, and it was followed by the following vision:

- Glory sitting beside my bed on the stool puts the conical end of a slice of Pizza in my mouth as I lay on bed and then takes a bite off himself. He puts another bite in my mouth and then back to his mouth. And he does it slowly while I keep eating lying on bed. Wow… How awesome it would be if he were to do that!
- An animated me is lying naked on my side facing away from the viewer as a huge RS with a bearded face present on the other side of me sprinkles something on top of me. I am shown as being too line thin at the top with a sudden bulge at the lower belly followed by a huge and wide lower half which is standing out of everything else.

I got up and worked for a while again and it was when I was working that I had these snake revelations.

The Patterned Snake Revelations

- I see myself sitting on the bed and apparently, my body has the snake pattern of yellow and black and though I'm sitting naked on my bed, I don't have obscene boundaries visible because of the pattern. And it's not just the color-pattern of my skin but the texture as well that is like that of a snake along with the fleshy mushy flesh inside covering a woman's (my) bony structure. Black vertical slits appear in the middle of my eyeballs and I've a long tail patterned in the same manner that flows like a whip as I move. I find myself sitting quietly on my bed. I then see Death Conqueror against me on the bed and he has the green and black snake-patterned skin as he's bent over me! He seems to carry some muscle mass in this vision, though not to the extent that it looks too prominent.
- The follow-up vision shows two thick snakes on the floor wrapped tightly around each other, one patterned in yellow and black and the other patterned in green and black. They keep pressing into each other on the floor as they bite each other's open mouths occasionally!

- I see the side-view of the patterned me opening the door of my room as the patterned Death Conqueror enters in.
- The patterned me standing against the wall to the right of the end of my bed as the patterned him stands facing me and we are doing something together.
- The follow-up vision has our fronts opening up like along a straight slant and the opened boundaries seem like huge jaws having pointed tiny triangular teeth along them as both jaws attack each other.

I decide to rest again as I'm again drowsy because of the breaths falling on my face and then have the following revelations.
(As I was writing the above, I saw the side-view of the upper half of my mom dressed in her red & white leafy gown standing facing to the left as she looked angrily at me and said: Yehi karne ke liye bheja tha tujhe!???)

- The angled left side-view of my naked body bent on a stone stool with my head towards the viewer as my upper half lays on the fixed stone pillar in an open space. Behind me 4-5 meters away stands Surjeet dressed in his orangish polo t-shirt as he begins whipping my back that's lying on top of the cemented pillar.
- Sab marne wale hai.
- Surjeet says in a serious tone: Tujhe khake marne wala hai.. Tujhe khake marne wala hai.. Khake todne wala hai tujhe. He repeats the sentence several times.
- The white railing at the left side of the balcony of one of the apartments of the society of my parental apartment, present at a good height (same or greater than our apartment) as the vast night corner view of the buildings and the highway ahead are visible.
- Have your last Pizza: repeats in my Spirit, as I can see that I'm supposed to be fasting afterwards.

While having Pizza:
Glory dressed in full-sleeved black round-neck top standing in my right mental view shouts in a stuffed voice looking at me with a slightly bent upper half: Kutiya tune saccha pyaar kar liya us se! Kutiya tune saccha pyaar kar liya us se!
He shouts it intermittently a few times as I'm having the Pizza.

22:38
I was editing the previous page when the following song started playing in my Spirit accompanied by the vision of the upper half of Akshay Kumar dressed in the white suit from the song.
The Guy sings:
Tum dil ki dhadkan mein.. Rehte ho. Rehte ho..
Meri in saanson se.. Kehte ho.. Kehte ho..
Tum dil ki dhadkan mein.. Rehte ho. Rehte ho..
Meri in saanson se.. Kehte ho.. Kehte ho..

Baahon mein aa jao.. Sapno mein kho jao..

Ab na kisi se darna hai.. Sang jeena marna hai..
Tum dil ki dhadkan mein.. Rehte ho. Rehte ho..

Tum dil ki dhadkan mein.. Rehte ho. Rehte ho..

The song lyrics have played in my Spirit a few time by now.
The Guy sings:
Suddenly she's leaving.. Suddenly the promise of love has gone..
Suddenly, breathing is so hard to do.
Can't believe you planned it.
I got to know just a minute too late, Oh.. Girl!
Now I understand it.
That all the times we made love together..
Baby you were thinking of him..
Why do I love you!? Don't even want to!
Why do I love you like I do! Like I always do!
You should've told me! Why did you have to be untrue..!?
I love you like I do.. Why do I love you.. like I do..

Ref: Westlife - Why Do I Love You with Lyrics

Well, what I always had at the back of my mind was the actual vision of the marital promise and the wedding dream that God had given me. I knew that the Word of God didn't return void and that it accomplished what it was sent to do. A part of that dream had already come to pass as the shown events unfolded at a different pace in time. So, I knew that it was a prophetic dream that was sure to come to pass.

The Guy sings:
Deewano sa haal hua.. humko to tmse pyar hua..
Ref: The Bollywood song Tum Dil Ki Dhadkan mein

The line repeated a few times after I wrote the related song revelation.

- The following song also has been playing in my Spirit intermittently for the past few days though this is not how I think.
  The Guy sings:
  Jeene ke hai chaar din.. Oh o..

Baaki hai bekar din..! Oh o..
Jaaye jaaye. Jaaye jaaye.
Ek baar jo jaaye, jawani phir na aye!

Well, I always found this song too cheap! Because what has youth got to do with love!? However, if one only wants to live a sensual life with no morals while one's still strong in the flesh, to this kind of person the song will hold some meaning. A grown and wise person knows that love has to be present in the first place before it can be expressed using the physical body, and the presence of love only requires a conscious Free Will and not a physical body. However, if one wanted to use one's physical body to indulge in loveless fornicating acts but just to fulfil the lust of the flesh, that would have conditions required to be met by a physical body. In the godly sense, one's body is a beautiful aid given by God to express love which is an expression of His own self, and is not meant to fulfil ungodly lusts!

I go out to buy something to buy something from the Daily Needs Dinesh store nearby and the obese lady (perhaps Surjeet's wife) asks me if my Diwali went well to which I replied that I didn't celebrate Diwali since I began following Jesus. After I return to my room, I see a small-framed vision of her dressed in her attire of a full-sleeved grey tunic from the day as she says to a person standing beside her:

- Ye hum me se nahi hai! Ye hum me se nahi hai! The vision repeats a few times.

Page 599.

21 November 2023
13:16

Dream:

In this dream, I find myself in a classroom with long backless benches. I'm sitting along with a few other people on one of the back benches in the left row discussing something. Apparently, Adele (the singer) is also a part of this dream. Afterwards, the room is now vacant but only a few people are present in there. I see the side-view of a tall guy standing facing a girl with the classroom's door a few meters further ahead into the vision as a girl comes walking in through the door. Because the vision of the duo is zoomed, I can see the guy's teeth that have plaque deposited around the sides giving it an orangish look while the top surface is clean, and he has a slightly protruded jaw and a conical face. I am wondering if the lady is going to kiss the guy whom she is standing facing close while her (perhaps to-be) husband is outside the room that she seems to be aware of. Though I know it won't be right for her to kiss that guy, I can see that they are emanating an aura of them having a bond or connection and perhaps it's the last time she's with that guy, so my curiosity is at par with the event as I look at the two. The lady comes closer to the guy and both of them go into an immersive experience of a kiss following which the vision of the dream moves to the left away from them and I too move along with it. I am now around the backside of the room and know that Adele is around. She comes dressed in a sliver dress with oval side slits and is happily singing a song as she is hopping joyously in front of me while singing. I can see the beige sides of her waist and a part of the front belly but she doesn’t seem to be bothered about the same and isn't paying attention to it either for she's too immersed in her song.. I find her dress unholy but I can tell looking at her that she isn't even thinking about it as her entire focus is on the song that she's singing joyfully!

This reminds me of the time in Room D1 of A-16 when I bought some revelation-related dresses from Myntra, tried them on, and later returned. I had bought a silver dress with oval side slits and had some pictures clicked. I was feeling happy and wasn't thinking about the details of the dress as such. But I couldn't have thought of the incident the way the Holy Spirit showed the same to me this time. I indeed was in a song and not a dress.

Revelations post waking up:

- I yawn while lying on my back in the bed and then immediately see the top view of the face until the shoulders of a fat infant with a round face dressed in light blue allovers over a white t-shirt yawning in the same manner as mine.
- The semi-animated well-lit open view of the inside of my groin as seen from my perspective as I am lying on the bed with my intermediate body missing with 'When' written on the top surface of my strong pp as a forefinger horizontally places itself on top of it. The vision repeats a few times with the word written on the surface and the forefinger placing itself on top of it.
- A tiny fat infant with a fat round face dressed in a white t-shirt with a light baby blue overall sits looking at me. He then floats away while shrinking and floats straight to my strong pp and sits on top of it with his shown size being about the same size as my strong pp as he starts slowly vertically oscillating on his own. After I was done writing the above, I heard the lady sing: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

- The back-seat view of a car in a night background as a clean-shaven Kian Egans with wavy blonde ear-length hair drives the car as he intermittently looks back and says to me: I'm your driver! I'm your driver!
- The front view of KA dressed in a cream sherwani with a bride covered entirely in bridal red with her face covered whom he is holding on his back as he walks with a slightly bent upper half.
- The vision repeats with RK present in the place of KA.

I am standing near the end of my bed doing a chore when I hear a light whisper in my Spirit: Uske husband ne usko jala ke maar diya.

For some reason, it brings back the memory of my mom burning a cloth in front of my dad when they had a fight after his adulterous affair with Sunita Sharma was found out. My mom had lost herself and she was behaving in erratic ways she never did previously as much as she did during that phase of her life.

While bathing:

- Glory dressed in a white tunic hits my left leg with a rod breaking it around the knees as it twists outwardly perpendicularly.

While making coffee:

- A small framed vision of my legs as my dad breaks them one after the other twisting them perpendicularly outwardly leading me to fall vertically on the ground on my broken knees

While having coffee, I was again unable to keep my eyes open as the breaths kept hitting my face through the air. After I was done, I resumed writing revelations again and was again going into that relaxed state but I didn't want to sleep as I had work to do. I then had this vision:

- The upper half of Glory dressed in a full-sleeved black top stands with folded hands in a Namaste as he is moving them vertically touching his forehead and throat followed by him blowing his air-filled mouth lightly on my face.

14:22

- The back view of a blonde lady dressed in a white gown with a square neck design at the back stands facing Kian Egans with wavy blonde hair dressed in a full-length white robe with two white angel wings at the back as they both are caressing each other forearms in the background of a white-walled dressing room after a while of which a black-haired Glory dressed in full-length white robes comes in the vision from behind, grabs the lady and drags/takes her away as he says: She's mine! He has his arm around her upper half as he's taking her away and she is walking backwards still looking at KE as the distance slowly increases between them and Kian stands straight looking at her with his white angel wings at the back.

I have had these visions of my dad or Glory breaking my legs or beating me up several times now. And I don't know if this is really what they want to do!

****

Past Revelations

- (past two weeks) A small-framed semi-animated vision of the several colorful Hindu Gods standing together on the left facing Jesus dressed in His full-length attire of an off-white tunic with a red drape on top who is standing on the right in a dim blue background as they say in a worried tone: We're loosing..
- (Past two weeks) The front view of Vivek Oberoi dressed in a full-sleeved and thickly vertically striped long boxy shirt untucked over pants in the background of a furnished hall as he abruptly throws water from a glass on the viewer's face!
- (past two weeks) The front side-view of a huge vertically sliced half of a boiled egg floating horizontally.
- (past week) 'You're too poor Kartika. I can't be with you. You're too poor Kartika. I can't be with you.'
- The follow-up vision has the Hindu God Hanuman then gets highlighted and zoomed in above the rest as he tears open his chest and out comes the face of Einstein. He does it a few times and every time the face of Einstein comes out.
- (past two weeks) in sequence with other visions one night) An animated right side-view of the naked upper-half until slightly below the right shoulder of a wide and muscular Salman Khan lying on a grassy field as the naked upper half of Karishma Kapoor, visible until her shoulders, with wavy neck-length hair and huge eyes is bending over his face from about two feet above and is looking at him .
- (Past week) On the morning of the day I went to visit Pinki Mausi) As I lay on bed in the morning after waking up and was resting for a while longer, I saw: A tiny violin's stick playing slowly on the surface of my strong pp.
- (Past few days) Surjeet dressed in his orange polo t-shirt stabs the centre of my forehead with a vicious expression as he rips it open and looks inside.
- (Day before yesterday) The front view of a bearded dusky Ranbir Kapoor as he is lying naked on top of a woman and kissing her left cheek as he says: Tu itni smart kyu hai? Tu itni smart kyu hai?
- (Past two days) The Guy sings: Aake saanse de mujhe tu.. Taaki zinda mein rahun.. This part from the song Tu Hai Ki Nahin has been playing in my Spirit for the past few days.
- (Past two days) RS says: Ye pehle kyu nhi mili? Ye pehle kyu nhi mili? Mein to isse shaadi karta. It has been repeating in my Spirit intermittently for the past two days.
- (Yesterday late evening) While I'm working around the kitchen area, I keep hearing in my Spirit: Tu bahut smart hai Kartika. Tune usko uske hi jaal mein phasa diya. Tune usko uske hi jaal mein phasa diya. The lines repeated in my Spirit today as well.
- (Yesterday) Glory dressed in a full-sleeved black top with a round neck says: Tu bahut smart hai.
- (Yesterday Night) Ashutosh Rana dressed in a yellowish attire (thickly checkered in black) of a fluffed full-sleeved top tucked inside trousers gets lifted up in hair and starts floating to the left as he is being carried by two huge winged metallic drones of about the same size as him.

****

The Guy sings:

In labon pe.. Jo hasi hai.. Inki tu hi hai wajah.
Bin tere mein kuch nhi hu.. Mera ho na bewajah..
Dhoop teri na pade to, dhundla sa mein lagu.
Aake saansein de mujhe tu taki zinda mein rahun..

Ref: 'Tu Hai Ki Nahi' FULL VIDEO Song | Roy | Ankit Tiwari | Ranbir Kapoor, Jacqueline Fernandez, Tseries

After I wrote the above, I heard in my Spirit:

- Mein bahut rone wala hu. Mein bahut rone wala hu.

- The vision of RK from the above song riding the bike with two red love hearts in front of his eyes.

Revelations while resting before beginning to pack my stuff and leaving for home:

- Kian Egans dressed in a full-sleeved white shirt with black waistcoat on top standing on my right laughs and moves around as he says pointing at me: The best girl is a hypocrite! The best girl is a hypocrite! He seems to be pointing to my desire to spend time with the voice as I need rest which I am not consciously aware of but only happen to realize and pay attention to after he points it out. In my conscious reasoning, I was taking rest after writing a load of revelations and wanted to spend time with Jesus. But somewhere in between, I was also looking forward to feel soothed and relaxed in the presence of the breathing of the voice as it's a real tangible thing. Though some of my revelations with Jesus are tangible as well, but I still had the memory of how relaxed I became after the voice kept breathing on me I and fell into sleep afterwards!
- He then makes a few rotations and bends to my level and holds out a long-stemmed rose with a wide smile as he says: But I still love you because I know that you're doing this because you love him.
- My mom says: Ek cassette nikal de. Vo timepass karwata hai.
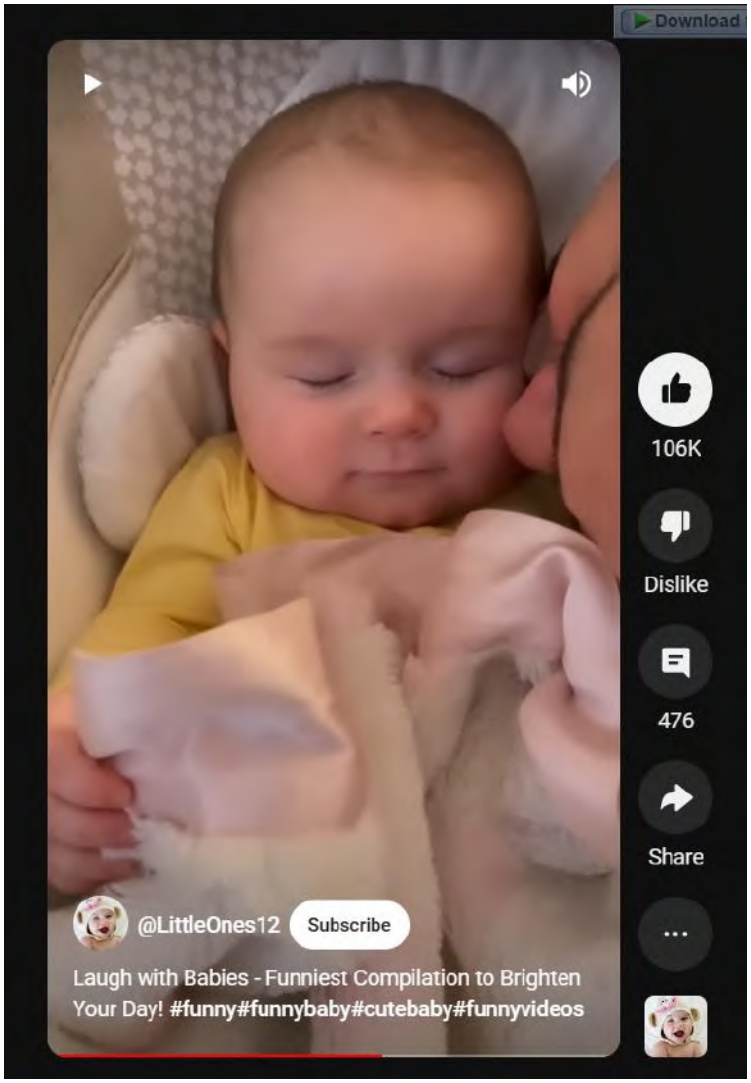
- The parallel view of a naked infant dressed in just a diaper standing on the floor inside a room with the room's wall and windows behind it as the smiling and lightly stubbled face of Saurav Ganguly bent below up to its level brushes against its face.

- This part of the compilation (4th in the series) in which the baby falls asleep quickly when a guy (his dad perhaps) starts breathing on him has been being highlighted to me intermittently several times in the past 24 hours.



Ref: Laugh with Babies - Funniest Compilation to Brighten Your Day! #funny#funnybaby#cutebaby#funnyvideos

It was when I was back to my room to make a second round carrying my stuff to the cab that I had the following vision.

- Glory says: Kartika tu acchi ladki nahi hai. Tu acchi ladki nhi hai. Tu bahut achhi ladki hai.

I board the taxi home after picking a snack to eat on the way from Dinesh Store, and I find the driver too qualified for his job as he's not emanating the aura that drivers usually do, so I ask him the same - that why did he choose to become a driver when he could find more complex jobs that would suit his mental prowess, to which he replies that he chose to be so to gain experience and learn a few things and that he had several cars he rented out to drivers for them to drive and that he chose to partake in this new business he had begun. On our way on the Highway lit with the yellow street night lights and a few vehicles around, he reminded me of the vision from earlier during the day in which I was looking at Kian Regans from the backseat as he kept turning his head to the left and said: I'm your driver! I'm your driver! Also, while I was talking to him, these lyrics from the Westlife song began strongly playing in my Spirit.

The Guys sing together:
Baby baby I swear to you..
Anytime you want me to..

Any I swear, I'll be there..
Any time you want me to.
I'll be true.. Here for you..
Don't leave me lonely, 'cause I need you..

Westlife - I Need You

The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

And I saw that the driver was also turning his head to the left repeatedly as Kean did in the morning vision.
The chorus of the song played for a long while and with such intensity that I could tell that he was really being true as the Westlife song lyrics said.

Additionally, when I was packing stuff to take back home and saw that it was already almost dark, I could tell that the Kian Regans vision may come to pass this evening as the conditions were met.

After reaching home around late evening, and having the Ghee measured at Milk Point with my mom, I got the only cake they had for Himanshu's b'day celebration and after I placed the order and was waiting for them to pack the same, I saw:

- A small-framed vision of my dad dressed in a full-sleeved white tunic set standing in a dark background as he looks at me angrily and says: Todunga mein tujhe! Todunga mein tujhe! It repeated a few times as I stood in the shop.

- While I was moving around in my home, I heard my dad's voice accompanied with a small-framed vision of him dressed in a white tunic set in a dark background with him smiling with shining eyes: Meri beti mahan ban gayi. Meri beti mahan ban gayi.

While we are waiting for my mom to join in , I see my youngest brother's weird comment as he looks at the cake and says in an internally hateful tone: Aag laga dunga isko! I couldn't understand why he would say such a thing. I ignored him after which he asked me for the matchbox with the deceptive wariness of hiding his intent behind the previous statement. He gave it back to me after a while and it was me who lit the candles for Himanshu to blow off.

After our brief celebration in the room he was laid, I ate what my mom had prepared after which I lay down on the settee to rest and energize as I was feeling drained.

- I sit looking into space in front of me and see: I'm looking at Death Conqueror with my eyes having two black vertical slits in the center through which my human round eyes are looking at him with an innocent look in them from behind the slit eyes.
- I begin resting inside my quilt and cover my face as well as I am feeling cold though the fan is running at low speed. I begin feeling the breaths again and after a time experience them from a very close range. I experience a subtle warmth and a mild pressure on my entire face leading my eyes to be closed. While I sit with my eyes closed with the breaths too close right below my nose, I get into an immersive experience with the previous vision of Jack & Rose Still In a Kiss from Page 157 (created on Feb 6th 2023) being highlighted to me as I am experiencing the same stillness with the still breaths right next to my face creating a warming dizzle in the air surrounding my face.
- I continue breathing in with the breaths and the breath too seems to be immersed in the experience with me but after a while I see its abstract expression stretch away from me in the left direction inside the quilt as I catch a subtle sense of fear in the breath's persona which is now trying to exercise boundaries as it begins saying the Uffs again.
- My immersive intimacy with the breaths has got disrupted though I'm still mentally into it.
- I continue resting and pressing in deeper into my intimate experience when I hear: I can't believe it's her! I can't believe it's her doing this! After all this time, I can't believe it's her doing this!
  (The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..)
  As I was done writing the above, I heard in my Spirit the guy from the song sing:
  Rahegi sada yaha.. Pyaar ki ye daastan..
  Sunegi sada jise.. Ye jameen asmaan..
- I continue pressing in my rest and after a while make my bed on the Diwan beside the windows to sleep.

Night Revelations

- I wake up in the middle of the night and am feeling the presence of the voice again.
- An animated vision of RS riding a brown horse towards the left direction slightly angled towards the viewer in a dim-golden background with him holding a translucent drape up with both hands stretched straight up as it swirls behind him with the wind.

  As I was done writing the above revelation, I heard the lady from the song sing:

  Aaja na chule meri chunri sanam..
  Kuch na bolu tujhe meri kasam..
  aayi jawani sar pe mere tere bin kya karu jawani pe raham..
  Aaja na chule meri chunri sanam..
  Kuch na bolu tujhe meri kasam..

  From <https://huntmylyrics.com/lyrics/chunari-chunari/>

  Ref: Chunnari Chunnari | Biwi No.1 | Salman Khan | Sushmita Sen | Abhijeet Bhattacharya | Anuradha Sriram

- I am looking forward to go deeper like the late last evening and am searching for the voice's presence.
- For some reason, I happen to see an oval vision with blurry ends in a dark background of the top left corner of the right page of my diary with a handwritten swelter flash in my Spirit along with its meaning that's not clearly visible. I had written some words in the middle of the diary I'm using now to write revelations some years back. I see it written on the same spot in the same ink that I began writing the words (though it's not the word I wrote at that place). As I keep looking at the word, the vision changes to a handwritten fornicating written at the same spot along with its meaning. This rings my alarm bell as I see it as a warning and I don't want to be fornicating.
- The side-view of the upper half until the shoulders of Amir Khan in his Wedding uniform attire from 3 Idiots (orange t-shirt below a pink turban) as he stands facing to the right with a bouquet of flowers held at the level of his face as he looks at the viewer and abruptly throws it at him.
- I hear a male voice say in my Spirit: Tu Heer banja. Vo (apne aap) Ranjha ban jayega!
- I am overtaken with an inner sense of me already carrying the persona of Heer as I find myself saying within while I recall the past days from 2020 and look outside through the glass window: I loved him then! I love him now! I loved him then! I love him now! And then I looked at what had changed that had led me to this stage, and I saw that I wasn't looking at what wrong he was doing that I was judging closely previously.

  Perhaps I was recalling the days from 2020 and then looking at the present that led me to begin tearing up. While previously I had several blockading thoughts in my mind. Why then am I being suggested to become Heer if I'm not to fornicate?
- I see a red rose beside a white rose with both having a straight cylindrical shapes with curved top edges slowly sliding down in a dark background.

I'm exercising boundaries now as I have taken the warning.

- After a while, I see a small-framed top-view of a transparent bouquet of 3 to 4 red roses in a well-lit background and the vision expands, the dark and round face of a man is shown to be holding the same and pointing it up at me.
- A small-framed vision of Vivek Oberoi dressed in a full-sleeved satin black shirt with an attached tie-ribbon at the neck, tucked inside olive green pants stands in a dark background looking at the viewer.
- As I continue to lay with closed wet eyes, I can feel someone breathing on them and it brings me momentarily relief and pushes me lightly into sleep. I keep feeling the soothing breaths on my face though I'm still tearing up so I've to go get a tissue.
  As I was writing the above, I heard the guy sing:
  Bhool jaa.. Jo hua use bhool jaa..
  But I know that I'm not one of those who forget, or would want to forget unless the experience or event is traumatic or a negative one.
- A world cup trophy in a dark background with the face of Karishma Kapoor on top in place of the ball with her hair tied at the back.

It was on 6th July (Page 465) that I had woken up with the phrase Heer Ranjha in my Spirit and it didn't make much sense to me as neither had I watched the movie and nor did I relate with the same at the time I received the revelation. But now I was experiencing a heart change and was receiving more revelations about the same.

When it's about dawn, I fall asleep again.

Page 600.

23 November 2023
06:33

###Revelations from Yesterday (22nd November 2023)###

Dream (Morning):
I am doodling a huge and finely filled senseless structure on the right page of my diary and my mom spots me. There're other doodles present beside on the left page adjacent to this one as well. She asks me about the same as we're standing beside the single bed I laid to sleep on the last night and I tell her that I do so to relax and find comfort as I'm often feeling too stressed. She takes my diary and begins flipping through the pages from the beginning. As she is flipping through the pages, she comes across different colored drawings. I explain to her that they helped me relax as I have been too stressed. She opens a page and sees a raw painting of a scenery with conical mountains at the top - the first thing middle schoolers come up with when they've to draw something. Though the drawing is basic but it's neatly colored with dim attractive colors. She doesn't seem to be content with my explanation so I add the fact that they helped me through the 6 months I took off from the dept after which her countenance changed to one that showed that she understood me as she carried a brief sad expression as well following which she left me alone. I was feeling stressed about her finding my doodles and drawings because she would make the point that I've not been paying attention to my PhD work while I have been too mentally bogged down to do the same because of my situation.

This reminded me of how during my middle school, every day after returning from school when I had to sit and do my homework, I used to take out my drawing book first and foremost and I loved coloring and sketching and coloring or just shade sketching. My mom used to get angry back then about this behavior of mine and she would at times complain to my dad about me opening up the drawing book the first thing when beginning with my day's homework. I remember sketching a difficult sailor's boat. It was difficult it involved a lot of shading with varying weights. It was the only difficult sketch that I ever made. Another thing I learnt was drawing an elephant after a lot of practice and it came handy in all drawing exams as I had become a kind of pro at it though I've forgotten the strokes of the elephant but I remember the look of the boat though I won't be able to shade as I did it back then. Every latent skill needs to be honed with consistent practice. Back during those days, I used to get scolded for spending a great amount of time in drawing or colouring because I used to find it relaxing. But this time, my mom understands me in the dream as I explain to her how it helps me in mentally dealing with difficult situations and serves as medium of emotional release.

The Guy sings:
Rahegi sada yaha.. Pyaar ki ye daastan..
Sunenge sada jise.. Ye jameen asmaan..

I'm half asleep and get a sense of me peeing for real in the bed itself and as I'm doing so, I see:

- The inner view of the bottom of a light purple panty with Rusk written in the same colour on it as the pee is passing through it. It worries me that I might have actually peed on the bed as it has happened several times in the past that I rushed to pee in a commode and found that I actually peed on my bed. I would know that the commode was a part of the dream because of the real wet sensation I would've, though I would still be sitting on the commode in the dream, and at times I had to wait until the dream ended for me to get up and change clothes or do what was needed. So, I was 100% sure that I had peed in real life because I was having that real sensation of urine passing out though it was accompanied by Rusk written on the inner side of a purple panty.

When I was a kid, I often peed in the bed while sleeping until I was in 6th or 7th as I wouldn't know that I was doing so in sleep, and it used to be outside of my control or decision and I wouldn't be having a dream about the same either. It was during my later years when I had fully grown into an adult that I peed in a commode in a dream while I did so in bed in real life.

However, when I wake up this day today, I find that my clothes and bed are dry and thankfully I've not peed for real. This amazes me because this is the first time that it has happened that I had a real peeing sensation but wasn't actually doing so! It was shocking but I was glad. But then I didn't have a dream peeing experience for several years now either. The last time that I recall such a thing happened was from my MSc days when I was staying in RGHG. I didn't have a similar experience within the past 6-7 years. When I was writing the above, I wondered if that's why I was shown as being an infant.
As I was done writing the above, I heard the lady sing: Tod dala.. Tod dala..

I've a few more revelations as I continue resting on bed.

- Ashutosh Rana with the expression of Dushman dressed in a checkered full-sleeved yellow shirt in a dark background says looking at me: Tune mujhe bahut jyada pyaar kiya hai. Tujhe iski sajaa milegi.
- A tiny few inches long Death Conqueror stands dressed in multilayered black clothes in a dark background as he is looking at me while a huge Jesus dressed in full-length off-white tunic with a red drape on top having a lightly stubbed face with neck-length wavy hair with Glory's features bends to his level and says to him smiling in a thick and teasing tone: Ab tu kya karega..!? Ab tu kya karega..!?

After I get up, I decide to make tea and as I'm doing so, I see:

- Death Conqueror is telling Akhila that he was with her because I wasn't showing any interest in him and now that I was into him, he wanted to separate from her. (?)
  As I wrote the above, I heard the guy sing:
  Baby baby, I swear to you..

(But he didn't want the perfect trio for himself!?)

Well, it doesn't shock me much because nothing shocks me now, but I feel touched in my heart because she is a better option for him when considering culture, family and finance. I would be a good option only when he perceives me as a good option, or when things are looked at from a rational point of view disregarding culture and finance, which is also the case with Glory. But, looking at what he told Akhila in my revelation, I didn't think much about it because a lot of revelations have been unexpected. But I know that God had shown me Glory in the prophetic wedding dream. But then I had that other revelation as well in which I entered a room full of animals as a short and wary camel passed me by after which I came across Death Conqueror and asked him if Divya was there. Now I could be a labelled person in the dream as well but then the CID personnel Daya dropped by to meet his wife's daughter Divya who is also a label.

As I was writing the above, I heard the lady sing: Tod dala.. Tod dala..

- In an open day background, I walk up to Death Conqueror with only his well-built, and muscular upper half dressed in a full-sleeved off-white tunic with his back towards me. I poke at his shoulder followed by him turning his head to my side and brushing me away as he denies to know me. The vision repeats a few times.

I go out to buy Rusks because I had seen the word in my dream-vision and find an old man dressed in multi-layered black standing with his back towards me with KNOCK OUT written in yellow behind his black jacket.

When I have reached Delhi and my moving towards my place, I look around at the earthly kingdom and I can hear Jesus say: You're my angel. You're my angel. He's making the truth of my real identity known to me so I know how I am supposed to live my life, or with what mind I'm supposed to walk out my walk while I'm here. While I knew the same previously as well, the truth is better ingrained in my mind now - much like when you come across a new concept you didn't know before and which is still too new to you and you don't see it in a very much apparent form around you either but have to look deeply, the repetitions of the same concept at later times often brings about new related understanding and opening of one's mental perception and the reality of that concept gets ingrained deeper into your brain and you see it working everywhere around you. The same thing I am experiencing this day, though in parts. And as I look at the reality, I can also mentally rise above my earthly circumstances and see the mindset that I need to have regardless of my earthly condition.

As I'm looking outside blankly, I hear: Ye mar jayegi. Ye mar jayegi.

When I am walking downstairs to get my blanket and quilt up from the cab, I feel a sudden weakness in my knees as my legs tend to bend outwards sideways by a bit.

I lay down to rest, and see:

- Jesus points me to the wash basin to brush my teeth and begin writing.

But I don't have the mental strength so I keep lying. I think I will get up after a while. According to me, my situation is too pathetic for me to be able to do anything! At least I could fare until this point! I feel like what I've already done is too huge for me to have been able to do considering my situation where I'm mentally and emotionally stressed most of the time! I feel as if my journey has been too difficult and I need more rest!

- I hear again: Ye mar jayegi. Ye mar jayegi.

- As I continue to rest, I see a moustached Glory in a full-sleeved black top with a round neck say looking at me: Mein tujhe marunga! Mein tujhe marunga!
- The upper half of my dad dressed in a white tunic as he looks at me and says nodding his head with a confirmatory smile: Taange todni padegi..! Taange todni padegi..!

After an hour or so, I get a nudge again, and I feel terrible because I am supposed to be promptly obedient. And then I think what use I am to God if I don't obey Him? I mean obedience is everything if you have to work for God. Now you may be loving Him with all your heart but if you don't obey Him when He asks you to but turn away His nudges to be carried out at a different time, you can't be used by Him. And then I looked at how Jonathan and Adele were, and I saw how pathetic I was. But then I thought they're not going through what I am and Adele is physically surrounded by other believers while Jonathan too has his own group with him that takes care of different parts of his job. While I'm alone in this task. But then perhaps the task is of the kind that I alone am enough to carry out the same.

So, as I am thinking about all these things and realizing how my present state is not ideal to enter heaven and be with Him and how I need to transform more and bring about further changes in my heart, I see a change in my perception and notice that I've raised myself to a higher level of accountability as I've begun to clearly see how I am supposed to operate in tandem with God this time with lesser mental obstacles in between. I know that I need to repent. I also feel a stronger heavenly aura and look again at how angels in heaven worship God and obey Him at all times while I'm lying here with a half heart!

- So the next thing I see is me walking up to His giant throne in open daylight at the right end of the vision where the giant Him is sitting dressed in His ankle-length off-white tunic with a red drape and the tiny me apologizes to Him several times.

I don't want to betray Him, or fall into sin, or become disobedient. And I can already feel that the me who is thinking isn't gonna die but is going to stay so my physical fatigue was hardly of any significance when it came to doing the work of God. I already feel Heaven to some extent and can see that my earthly apprehensions are meaningless as I'm not really going to be dead but will transfer to being with Jesus in Heaven. So my reasons behind feeling bogged down and oppressed begin to seem too menial to me and I know that I've to be right with God and see Him the way He is! Until this point, I didn't know that I was still carrying parts of earthly thinking from my previous mind that lived in the sole reality of the world it saw. I can now actually feel no space between me and Heaven and it seems like I'm already mentally around its periphery.

- The follow-up vision has the side-view of the tiny me lifted at the level of His face which is revealed to be the peripherally bearded face of the owner Akshay Talwar of the content writing firm Weaving Thoughts I once worked for during the end days of my masters and He is carrying neck-length wavy hair and is shown to be looking at me with a smile and fire in his eyes as he seems pleased with me now that I've repented.

When I worked for that firm, I was assigned a manager who allotted me articles to write on a daily basis or as I asked her to when I didn't have much time, though there was a specific time period within which we had to submit the written article once it has been allotted to us, as per their terms and conditions. My allotted manager was Suneera and she was the one with whom I had all the interactions. I hardly interacted with the owner of the firm as I didn't need to though I used to receive generic messages from him about their firm. Suneera emanated an empathetic and soft aura and was never hard on me and she would repeat the required details instead and used to show hurt instead of anger as she once was doing because I was unable to deliver on time. I only earned a few thousands per month (never more than 3k) working part-time for them but I loved it as it gave me some amount that I could call as having been earned by me. I learnt some things from that job. If it paid more, I could've taken it as a full-time job as it was a work-from-home job. Perhaps it took me a longer time to write as compared to others as Suneera would often say that it should take me a few hours, but researching the topic was one thing, and then when I sat to write, I had this huge task of translating my thoughts and understanding into a linguistically meaningful form and it used to take me longer. She then proofread my articles before submitting them. Perhaps now I would write quicker but when I was working for them, that small amount that I earned held a lot of meaning for me and I used it to place my first Zivame order and the rest came in handy when I was roaming around with Tejaswi when he came to Delhi when Meera was unable to join us. I couldn't actually use it fully because of some weird situation that was created and the day that I got my cash out and it was the last day that I met him, I lost my wallet in the Airport line while I was sitting with him to see him off! It had some cards as well which I later had to reapply for, and he had to give me the fare for me to be able to reach back home that day.

I was quite happy when I started working as a content writer but the kind of articles disappointed me a bit as a majority were about Casinos, Roulette etc., though several others were good as well. I asked Suneera to give me more of those other articles to which she had replied that she understood my point but they allotted as the demand came from the respective people whom they served as the intermediaries. She later gave me good articles as well though.

Well, to see the owner of that firm seated in the place of Jesus shocked me a bit and I didn't understand the significance of it until now that I wrote about the vision. I'm working for Jesus as a content writer for now, and later He may use me for a different purpose.

I continue resting and then see:

- Jesus in an off-white attire with a red drape hitting my head furiously and repeatedly with a long metallic object resembling a part of the rectangular metallic sides of a rail track line.

After I've spent a few hours resting in the presence of the voice and am subconsciously pressing in into the breaths, I begin hearing in my Spirit:

- God ko dhokha mat do Kartika. God ko dhokha mat do Kartika.

I feel a strong sense of conviction and I say within myself looking at recall everything that Jesus had done by far and then I think of Glory and with the words 'Mein tujhe dhokha nahi dungi! Mein tujhe dhokha nahi dungi!', I get up after a while from my bed to clean my space and perform my heavenly duties.

In the evening when I was cleaning and doing other chores, I kept seeing Glory saying in an angry tone pointing at Akhila standing against the door of my room: Vo kutiya maregi mere haathon se! Vo kutiya maregi mere haathon se! Us kutiya ko mein nhi chodunga!

It made me wonder why would he target her. What did she do wrong to him? When the vision repeated a few times, I could see the gravity of his statement. Later the only explanation I could come up with for this statement of his was the revelation in which she was feeling amped up because of me getting abused! Why else would he target her?

When I'm brooming the room, I keep hearing: She's an angel. She's an angel.

Revelations late evening during my rest

- After a while I'm repeating within myself: Mein mar jaungi. Mein mar jaungi, as I'm not feeling any life force! I keep repeating it not realizing that death is not the end. I am feeling the earthly sense of sadness that accompanies the thought of one dying miserably.
- I hear in my Spirit as I lay on bed: You're winning their hearts Kartika. You're winning their hearts. You're winning their hearts.
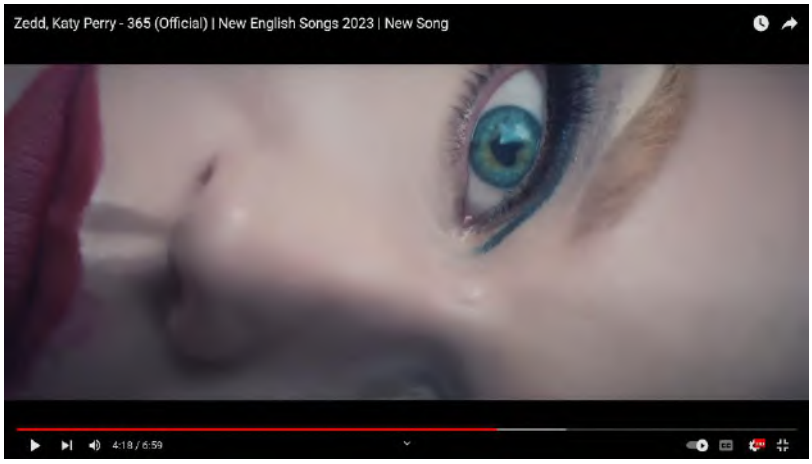
  But I don't understand the full context of it. I continue to rest and after a while I find it hard to breathe and am breathing via my mouth in a broken manner as I feel suffocated inside. At time I would take a sigh followed by no breaths as it would seem that I can not breathe. So I'm breathing in sighs and happen to take a deep sigh and then I'm tearing up a bit as well, and then I see:
- The face of Katy Perry the way it is towards the end of the song 365 as her pupils change their shape to a love heart's and she drops a tear after her system fails as she sees the guy was being experimented with answer with a No to the question posed by one of the scientists regarding if he felt anything with the robot during their time together.



###End of Revelations from Yesterday###

###Revelations of Today###

I woke up from a dream with this phrase that I heard outside of the dream being sung by a low-toned grouped male voice: 'Doob raha hun mein manzil mein.'

Dream that I woke up from:

I am a part of a gathering in a closed room. The crowd seems partly scientific to me. We're then supposed to have a meal served in round steel utensils placed on tables entirely covered with a white cloth in that room. Afterwards I find myself sitting on a floor mat with a crowd of other people with the Pastor standing in the front. After the session is over and it's time to put our donations in the jar, I take out some money but then someone suggests me to put 101 Rs in the box which I find weird as I think about the strange presence of 1 rupee, but I do so nevertheless. As I was writing the dream, I saw: My dad hitting my legs brutally with a rod perhaps in order to break them. I saw it repeat twice while writing the above. I don't know why he wants to break my legs!

The Dream Continued: I am in the wide square cemented ground present to the left of the main entrance of the Junior wing of my school building. It's raining heavily and I keep jumping up and floating above the ground as I'm trying to reach higher as perhaps I'm trying to evade something/someone.

The Guy sings:
Chamakte chaand ko toota hua tara bana dala..
Chamakte chaand ko toota hua tara bana dala.
Meri awargi ne mujhko awara bana dala..
Chamakte chaand ko toota hua tara bana dala.

- I'm looking at the table and see its outwardly stretched legs breaking one after the other as they twist outwardly.

15:21
Revelations while resting

- The upper half of a Kian Reagan standing with the face of a brown horse near his shoulder to the viewer's right with the horse wearing a crown of thorns.
- The vision is followed by the face of just the dark brown horse with the crown of thorns on its head.

The lady sings: Phod dala.. Phod dala..

I fell into restful sleep after a while and stayed in that state for about an hour and woke up from the following dream-vision:
In a dark background is written an advertisement in small brown font of a 3-4 BHK apartment with the advertisement ending with the line that it's a greatly great place to keep 3 people in captivity..

The dream-vision wakes me up and I turn from lying on my side to lying on my back with the back of my right hand placed on top of my right eye with fingers folded at the top, and it's then that I see:

- The upper half of my mom until slightly below her throat dressed in a red and white leafy gown above me facing me as she too has her hand on her eye in the same manner as me while she looks at me with the other eye. Her outer state is a reflection of mine as she says slowly in a low-tone: Bete mujhe kab call karoge..

As I was writing the above, I heard in my Spirit the guy sing:
Rahegi sadaa yaha.. Pyaar ki ye daastaan..
Sunenge sadaa jise.. Ye jameen asmaan..

Let their hearts break, child. Their hearts are not more important than their souls!

God is not aiming to preserve hearts from breaking while allowing souls of people be doomed to hell for eternity, but he's aiming to save their souls to have an eternity with Him in Heaven where it is written that God Himself wipes our tears.

"I make a way for people to access that Kingdom. But in this world, bones will still break, hearts will still break, but in the end the light will overcome darkness." - from the Chosen, season 2
From <https://hopeforthecaregiver.podbean.com/e/but-in-this-world-bones-will-still-break/>

Revelation 21:4 (New International Version)
4 'He will wipe every tear from their eyes. There will be no more death'[a] or mourning or crying or pain, for the old order of things has passed away."
From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Revelation%2021:4&version=NIV>

A New Heaven and a New Earth

21 Then I saw "a new heaven and a new earth,"[a] for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away, and there was no longer any sea. 2 I saw the Holy City, the new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride beautifully dressed for her husband. 3 And I heard a loud voice from the throne saying, "Look! God's dwelling place is now among the people, and he will dwell with them. They will be his people, and God himself will be with them and be their God. 4 'He will wipe every tear from their eyes. There will be no more death'[b] or mourning or crying or pain, for the old order of things has passed away."
5 He who was seated on the throne said, "I am making everything new!" Then he said, "Write this down, for these words are trustworthy and true."
6 He said to me: "It is done. I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End. To the thirsty I will give water without cost from the spring of the water of life. 7 Those who are victorious will inherit all this, and I will be their God and they will be my children. 8 But the cowardly, the unbelieving, the vile, the murderers, the sexually immoral, those who practice magic arts, the idolaters and all liars—they will be consigned to the fiery lake of burning sulfur. This is the second death."
From <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Revelation+21&version=NIV>

The saved ones constitute The New Jerusalem: God's Holy Bride.

I doesn't mean that I'm supposed to cheat on my husband or partake in sin. But I'm avoiding it as much as I can and as is within my control. If I could control the drones, I wouldn't let them come near me. Why would I sin and make others sin? Now while I was sleepy because of the immersive experience and my eyes were closing, I had to think several times before going to bed and I kept having this thought that if I went to bed, I would die! But I couldn't have kept sitting and working either as I was overtaken and feeling loved, though it doesn't mean that I wanted to sin, but I wanted to rest now that I was having heavy eyes in a sleepy state.

And this day I felt so amped up in the Spirit that it seemed as if I had risen above the control the drones could exercise on me through my physical strong pp. It seemed to me a physical addition that could be done away with as I looked at how our new self wouldn't be having our present bodies but a new one in which we would be like angels without sex organs. And it was yesterday when I was back to my room and had rested enough and was feeling a strong a heavenly aura that I realized that I was now above my strong pp. While if we recall the revelation from that day before yesterday, it showed a When written on top of it as I had become used to being pleased but now I had gotten over it to such an extent that even it repeated I saw it as something separate from me and I didn't experience the way I tended to do during the past two weeks. It was almost as if my spirit self was looking at this physical attachment as something of not really a very high value because it brought a lower kind of pleasure, and not the one which is experienced by a spirit-filled self that perceives things with a heavenly mindset that's approaching Holiness. Though I still get affected by breaths and they bring me into a relaxed state.

◄ 4151. pneuma ►
Strong's Concordance

pneuma: wind, spirit
Original Word: πνεῦμα, ατος, τό
Part of Speech: Noun, Neuter
Transliteration: pneuma
Phonetic Spelling: (pnyoo'-mah)
Definition: wind, spirit
Usage: wind, breath, spirit.

HELPS Word-studies

4151 pneúma – properly, spirit (Spirit), wind, or breath. The most frequent meaning (translation) of 4151 (pneúma) in the NT is "spirit" ("Spirit"). Only the context however determines which sense(s) is meant.
[Any of the above renderings (spirit-Spirit, wind, breath) of 4151 (pneúma) is always theoretically possible (spirit, Spirit, wind, breath). But when the attributive adjective ("holy") is used, it always refers to the Holy Spirit. "Spirit" ("spirit") is by far the most common translation (application) of 4151 (pneúma).
The Hebrew counterpart (rûach) has the same range of meaning as 4151 (pneúma), i.e. it likewise can refer to spirit/Spirit, wind, or breath.]
From <https://biblehub.com/greek/4151.htm>

- She needs my breath. She needs my breath. (Repeats in my Spirit) accompanied by the vision of a short-heighted Death Conqueror with Sherlock Holmes hair dressed in a black suit in a dark background.

As I was looking at page having the above word from Strong Concordance, I heard the lady sing again:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse, tu kyu jaane na…
Hua ikraar tujhse.. Tu kyu maane na..

Hope people find some consolation in knowing that if I'm mentally prepared to have my bones break, they too can make it through a heartbreak, and additionally if one looks at the previous revelation, both Death conqueror Glory stretched tore my huge red love heart apart in two from the middle! But Jesus healed me back again. I've observed that as long as I'm rooted in the truth of His kingdom and how He displayed great forgiveness on the cross, I too am able to have a mind that forgives and lets go of the wrongs done to me on Earth. But for me being able to really keep my heart intact, I've to look up at God and Heaven and keep visiting and then He gives me new revelations and joins my heart back in two or gives me new spirit-filled strength. Every time I felt heartbroken God came to my rescue and fixed my vision back to Him or gave me loving and comforting strength.

Now it has been twice since yesterday that I kept hearing 'Heer' being repeated in my Spirit at the place of my heart as a long chain.

(Past 24 hours) A small-framed vision of Death Conqueror dressed in multilayered black walks slowly backwards looking at me as he says: Mein bahut accha hu. Mein bahut accha hu.

Earlier during the day:

- The back-view of Death Conqueror dressed in multilayered black running away quickly in the night along the parallel road to the left of the inner road of Omaxe Heights main entrance as he says: Tu bahut acchhi hai! I don't know why I saw that road but it's the one we took the last left turn from before the wall of the Heights area of the society with its entrance at the right end came in our sight the day before yesterday.
- Jesus says to me referring to Akhila: Leave her to me. I will deal with her. She's my problem.

Visions while resting:

- Jesus standing in the centre of the room abruptly points to my groin which is now experiencing slight strong pp rubs, and says with a serious expression: Hypocrite! Nahi hai… because He can see that I'm exercising mental boundaries and not becoming party to the experience though it's my own body. I'm able to detach from the physical sensation instead of feeling pleased by it. He then says: Lalchi Kutiya! Nahi hai.. Sirf Kutiya hai. He repeats the sentence about me not being a hypocrite or a greedy person.
- As the rubs continue, He says: Don't worry. I'm filling you up with Spirit. It is intended to help me rule over flesh instead becoming a servant to it or becoming one with it or listening to it. Since yesterday I've been feeling high in the Spirit for some reason though I had not been fasting. And because I became high in the Spirit, I find it much easier to fast now. He imparted this state abruptly on me without me even realizing it.

Earlier I was trying to get high in the Spirit by fasting, but I wasn't able to do so. I knew that once I would've died to my flesh to a certain level and became amped up in the Spirit, it would become easier to keep fasting, but I couldn't sustain it for more than a day. But now, I already feel high in the Spirit which is my starting point so I can easily fast. While previously, I felt pathetic even after eating.
As I was writing the above, I saw:

- The face of Death Conqueror until his throat with the black outline of his attire visible as he stood with an astonished expression with two red love hearts in front of his eyes.

- As I continued resting, I felt Jesus say to me in my heart that though those things were happening to my outer body, I was to stay mentally guarded and that's also how I was being and that's why I was right in His eyes.
- He also said to Death Conqueror dressed in multi-layered black supposedly present near my groin that whatever the drones were doing wasn't having an effect on me!

He then showed me my real state.

- I lay on my bed covered with my pink blanket with two red love hearts in front of my eyes with my tongue sticking fully out like a doggy.

18:57

- I am walking on all fours like a doggy with my tongue sticking out and hair tied at the back behind Jesus' left hand that's carrying thick bundles of hard cash. I am looking at the bundles and walking behind them. Perhaps I need them to function in my daily life. He then throws the bundle away without giving me any specific instruction. I stay standing with Him not thinking about the cash. We need God for our sustenance, but it's not the only or the main thing that defines our bond with Him.

Hasle. Gale. Ye din na milenge kal.
Thodi khushiya. Hai thode se ye pal.

Tod dala.. Tod dala..

19:40
Heart's Perfume

About 10-15 minutes back, I was listening to this worship song called Heart's Perfume by Derreck Simmons, and while I was listening to it, I saw:

- A semi-animated small-framed vision of a man about the size of my groin moving to and fro on top of it. He continues to do so for a while.
- The vision then changes to the front view of the naked upper half of a muscular man about the size of my groin playing a tiny animated keyboard lying on my groin's surface and his face seemed to be roughly resembling Glory's. The vision then ends..

After the song ended, I felt like playing it again as I loved its melody and lyrics. But before I could hit the play button, the thought of me playing the melody on online keyboard occurred to me and the previous vision was nowhere in my memory either. So I opened the online website and began to learn playing the song, and then was reminded of the vision.

The lady sings:
Everything I have is yours.
Here's my heart God, make it pure.
Everything I have is yours.
Here's my heart God, I want yours.

I put my heart's perfume on you.
I put my heart's perfume on you.
I put my heart's perfume on you.
I put my heart's perfume on you.

This was the video of the song that I first watched. I searched for the creator's channel afterwards and came across the original song video with the perfume thumbnail that I shared above.

Song: "Hearts Perfume" - by Derrick Simmons

20:44
I'm fixing the lights and somewhere in the middle, I hear: Attention, She just wants attention. This annoys me because if anything, the viewing crowd is only decreasing the quality of my lone time with God. I would still do the same thing if I wasn't being watched but I would be less conscious!

Jesus says: I know that you're doing this for me.

I go to wash hands and see a group of three ladies walking together on the square below wrapped in shawls, and I tell Jesus how it I really want a monogamous marriage and how I always wanted the same and never a polygamous one. It is followed by the vision of the face of Jesus looking at me with bulging innocent eyes and an expression which shows He understands how I love monogamy and then I think if that's why He chose Glory as my marital partner because He is a strictly monogamous person. I don't know. I've undergone a lot of changes in the past few months. I don't want more than one husband at a given time because I always found deep contentment in having only one good bond. I only had Meera whom I considered as my main or best friend and others were good but she was unmatched and had no competition in my eyes. She was great. When I was at home yesterday morning, I found myself having this weird thought how if she was a man, I would've married her, though before that yesterday, such a thought never crossed my mind as I counteracted her saying the same thing with the statement that we should cherish what we have instead of wanting it to be this or that way imagining situations in our minds. But yesterday I understood experientially where she was coming from with that statement. I never had another bond like I had with her, and I was thinking how great it would've been if the emotional and mental bond that I carried with her was shifted to a man with whom I would've the additional bond of physicality. Previously I used to be too optimistic as I thought there a lot of people in the world and we can easily find a suitable man for us from them and why should we ruin our friendship thinking that one of us should've been of the opposite gender! But yesterday, I was missing the bond that I had with her! It was such a great bond! We were both complimentary. She was a spiritually advanced person though she followed Hinduism and didn't know the real God, while she found me more logical in which she surpassed me as well after she went to IITM as she became a better version of herself. I was somewhere withholding her personal growth. If I choose a partner, I don't compare them with anyone. They stand solo at their place without competition or comparison.

Well, now because of God's given revelations I've unmatched bonds with multiple people, but I needed only one. Such a weird situation. When you've chosen one person, you are in the aura of their persona and you feel content and don't feel the need to add another branch and complicate things. But there have been examples of polygamous marriages in the OT with the man having multiple wives. However, we've the example of Isaac and Rebecca as well (my favourite couple from the Bible). When I look at the bonds individually, I am happy in each, because the revelations are of such kind. But I only want one, and God already chose that one person. However, he developed my chemistry of Heer Ranjha with a person he didn't choose as my husband. Why did he do so and cause me pain? I guess it must have an underlying reason because heart break is not as severe a loss as losing one's soul to hell when God has loved each of His called ones with His great, perfect, and everlasting love! As I was done writing the last sentence, I saw:

- I am dropping light and brief kisses on the lips of KA, and they don't carry a sexual undertone unlike the revelation Dusty man and the Fairy where I wasn't exercising boundaries because Glory was my supposed God-ordained husband in the revelation!
  The lady sings: Tod dala.. Tod dala..

As I was writing the above para, I saw a few times:

- My mom coming at my head with a rod with a vicious expression!

And today she said to me in the evening: timepass ho raha hai.. reminding me of what I had heard in the Spirit: Ek cassette nikaal de. Vo timepass karwata hai. She was referring to God giving me revelations that I have to write on a regular basis. But without writing the revelations, several people wouldn't be at the stage they're at now. So, it was God who gave the revelations and not me who came up with them.

This song has been playing in my Spirit intermittently for the past two days.

The Guy sings:
Tera jaisa yaar kaha.. Kaha aisa yarana..
Yaad karegi duniya.. Tera mera afsana..

Late Evening

- I see the upper half of Pastor in a dark background as he says to me: Tu uski roti hai. Tu uski roti hai.

While making tea later:
Tu itni samajhdaar kyu hai. Tu itni samajhdaar kyu hai.

When I go to bed to have tea and work:

- My youngest brother dressed in his striped full-sleeved polo shirt but having the face of my dad lifts up a backpack while moving in an unstable manner.
- It's not my will to sin but rest and work in bed, Jesus sees my heart and says: I can't do anything. You love him.
  Looking at my heart, He makes the statement that if I loved someone, it couldn't be helped and then it isn't wrong either to love someone as long as there is no sin.

Page 601.

24 November 2023
06:31

****

Past Revelations

- It has been getting highlighted to me intermittently for the past few months.
  This scene from the movie Guru in which Meenu (played by Vidya Balan) while on being a wheelchair tells Shyam (played by R. Madhavan) about the problems she has to face because of her health condition and how at times she ends up peeing in her clothes without her realizing the same saying which she ends up crying after which Shyam tells her that if her time was limited then he wanted every second of what was left sealing his love with a kiss as bends down to kiss the lady on the wheelchair. (The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..)

  Shauk Hai◆Guru◆A R Rahman◆Saumya Rao◆R Madhavan◆Vidya Balan◆Abhishek Bacchhan◆Aishwarya Rai◆ - YouTube

- (Past week) Glory says: Bahut pyaar kiya hai na tune us se! Bahut pyaar kiya hai na tune us se! Dekh uska kya haal banata hu! Dekh uska kya haal banata hu mein!
- (yesterday) While I was mopping the room, I heard in my Spirit: Mein pehle bhi perfect woman ke layak nhi tha. Aur ab bhi perfect woman ke layak nhi hu! It repeats a few times. (At my hometown, it was much too easy to practice perfection while in this place everyone has gone corrupt and ungodly.)
- The guy sings: Shukran Allah wallah hamdul illah Shukran Allah wallah hamdul illah
  Source: Internet.

  Ref: Shukran Allah Kurbaan Song Full HD] YouTube

  The song has played several times in my Spirit when I would be cleaning or doing some chore and it would make me think of KA for some reason.
- (Past two weeks) Bahut perfect hai na tu! Teri taange todunga! I've heard this as well several times!
  (Past three weeks) After long I take a partial bath of my lower half and towards the end, I see:
- The upper half of KA in a white tunic set near the ceiling above the two glass shelves as he says nodding horizontally in a disappointed voice: Ye mere pas nahi aayegi.. Ye mere pas nhi aayegi.. He then changes to the abusive (Snake by nature) Mrittunjay who repeats the same thing while nodding his head horizontally: Ye mere pas nhi aayegi.. Ye mere pas nhi aayegi..

****

Dream (Morning):
I visit a place at a level below a platform to its right and it's supposedly a teaching institution where I find a clean-shaven and lean HRX dressed in a doctor's white coat with a white attire inside. I'm applying for teaching positions and I perhaps applied in that institution as well. I don't know why I visited that place to the right of what looked like a flyover. I leave the place, move around a bit more, and happen to go back to that open hall with light skyblue walls below the apparent platform/flyover. I find HRX in the doctor's suit there again and he seems to be for me instead of against me unlike those insulting messengers. He reminds me that I have left my application to mid-way but he has extended the date so I can still apply for the position. He also informs me that he too recently joined in that place. I feel grateful for his amicability and then I can see that he wants me to get the job as he knows it will help me. I see that he's thinking for my good and in areas that I had forgotten to check back in because of my busy schedule, unlike others who only try to decrease my functionality by saying one or other hurtful thing. I feel happy in his good presence and go inside to complete my application and submit it. I take a right turn into the building which takes a U-turn to the left into a corridor towards the end of which I come across the washroom area to the left with a slab with several washbasins in a row with wide mirror slabs above. I seem to be in a hurry to apply for the position but haven't done so while the dream ends.

Towards the end of the dream, I find myself walking around on an open floor of a building without a ceiling around night with tables placed around and common old men sitting around them in casual clothes. They all seem to be knowing me and are behaving nicely with me present around them as they hint to me the presence of Glory around and then they're asking me for tea, but I don't respond to them because they're saying things indirectly so I don't know how to respond to their indirectly said statements. So I just pass them by and walk to my place.

Post Waking Up:

- Ye sab mat karo Mrittunjay. You're digging both of our graves.
- I see a force coming out of me that pushes the drones away all at once because of the above, and I know it's not a godly thing to do either. I know that God is observing every detail of what goes in our hearts, so I better keep mine guarded and not sin.
- The previous vision of Death Conqueror standing in the doorframe of the balcony dressed in a full-sleeved skyblue top over navy blue trousers holding a huge white love heart by the sides with both hands is highlighted to me. He then walks to the center and starts increasing his stature with the white love heart growing in proportion. When they both are too huge, he puts the white heart on top of me and as it presses down on me it immerses me in its viscous white fluid as it rests on the bed.
- I see the close top-view of our upper halves on the bed as I am hugging the short him dressed in the same skyblue top tightly while we lay on our sides moving a bit around out positions though this is not what I am thinking but the revelation makes me look inwards.

- The follow-up vision now has us lying hugging in the same manner but this time he has my left nipple in his mouth like a baby while the rest of me lies dressed as I continue to hug him tightly! After I wrote the vision, I saw: my dad hits the top of my head sideways with a long rod brutally with a vicious expression. (Perhaps it were the drones that were doing so on his behalf.)
- I see his face move forward abruptly as he presses his lips against mine kissing me. This vision repeats several times intermittently and I see myself getting absorbed in the vision and then I retract.

Well, a sound-minded and wise society would try to persuade a sinner to leave his sin and walk into the right and choose godly ways instead of supporting his sinful ways! They can always counteract the arguments of the sinner with godly rebuttals! In a society where majority of people were like me, people would go to Death Conqueror and his group in a group and talk to him about why was he continuing to sin and that if his argument is that he was hoping to achieve a godly outcome, then he should've chosen the right way. And if he can't talk or feels shy or it's not easy to say out things, then those people could always accompany him. That's what I would do in a society instead of passing messages like fools! People are supposed to find healthy solutions and not perpetuate sin or justify or work for the sinner! If I knew that a certain is doing something wrong, then I will try to reason with that person in a group and offer him godly help to achieve the outcome that he wanted to by sinning in that manner. If I went to Death Conqueror in a group and he told me that he was doing so and so to that girl (assuming it's not me as is in the real case) to achieve a godly outcome, then I would tell that what he was doing was wrong and that there were several godly ways of achieving that godly outcome instead of resorting to a sinful way. And if he counteracted the argument with his problem of shyness and not being able to be straightforward, then I would offer to accompany him to that girl in that group and we would all do the bidding for him instead of serving as messengers and supporting his faulty methods! And before going to the girl, I would make explain to him the basic thing that the girl was not going to come to him if he was hurting her and that why was he causing mental wounds that are difficult to heal! Does he not care about the mental health of the girl!? A healthy society tries to solve the problem and not assist in perpetuating sin by serving as mindless messengers! That's how a healthy society works. It supports direct and understandable communication!

But despite the way chosen, I did not look at the way in the end, but I looked at what God revealed to me.

If I was at Akhila's place, I would suggest/offer to accompany him to meet me and apologize in a right way (not that I - the suffering one - want an apology) but as a third-party onlooker, I would understand that that suffering person must be having a wounded heart and that this short fellow needs to meet and apologize to that person and say what he has to, and I would assist him if he gets stuck in between or is not able to say things, I would say it on his behalf! Both are social fools as well! The society of this place is a dire fool as a whole and don't know the healthy way to operate! All have not only gone immoral but also dumb. I don't have many friends in the place whom I could use to accompany me in situations I'm not comfortable in but these other people have people around and working for them! They could use the way of God easily but they chose not to! And it's their sin. What did she do? Only insult me indirectly and transfer foolish and good-for-nothing messages! She talks about social stuff all the time but still doesn't possess godly social wisdom! And the same with this fellow! They call themselves advanced social beings but they've proven that they. are. not. so. Not at all a good counsellor. They will degrade someone's holy mind by imposing on them their wicked reasoning!

A very insightful video by Sis Adele I watched today.
Well, it convicted me of the practice of buying cheap clothes from places that might be using child labour or partaking in other satanic things. I began buying clothes from cheap street markets during the past few years, though I didn't buy a lot many from them. I preferred to buy stuff from local sellers as I thought it supported their small-scale business but I also understood from this video that even they could be using ungodly practices to produce their stuff. The first option for us to buy things to expand the kingdom of God should be from fellow brothers and sisters who have a running business, and the other option is to buy it from non-believers who don't use satanic methods to create their material.

I never previously thought along the terms that cheap street clothing could be produced by child labour or by people who use that money in other satanic practices.

The Lord shared with me how believers are empowering darkness

Well, and for the fleshly revelations that I received that didn't make sense to me when I first had them, they revealed the heart states of people but some of them didn't seem to reveal anything to me. For instance, when I look at the revelation with Akhila in which I was lying on top of her kissing her and rubbing her strong pp while calling out her name incessantly while she called out my name much fewer number of times with me wanting her to say my name out more number of times, I didn't have this heart state then, I don't have this heart state now. But now it seems to me to be a labeled revelation.

This afternoon when I was mopping the area outside my room, I happened to begin crying because I heard someone cry.
And when I was working inside, I saw:

- A soothed Glory grows out further as he then rests peacefully. It seemed as if his heart was balmed. He doesn't like others watching me! Even I don't like others watching me! But I've no choice but to wait on God to come upfront for me! Since the beginning, I've been waiting for Jesus to do something about the situation.

And in this current phase, the previous revelation of Glory In My PG from Page 129 that I had in Mid-2022 has been highlighted to me several times. I didn't want to go through revelations with a number of people even in the revelatory world, though they reveal the truth of their heart states or intent. I always had space for only one individual and it counts as Holiness and not a part of backward Indian Mentality - from how the unholy degraded minds of some people think!

When I was making tea, I saw:
Death Conqueror dressed in his silver and blue attire hitting my legs brutally with a rod being seated at that level, which makes me think that he doesn't want me to ever work. He would rather cripple me for life and make a dumb slave of me when I can do much better jobs unlike the dumbass!

****

Past Revelations

- I had this revelation when I was still staying in A-10 and used to rest on the floor between the beds as that was the only space available in that room. I lay down to rest and see:
- Jesus standing to my right dressed in multi-layered white as He quickly removes his upper clothing revealing His lean and clean upper half following which He begins frantically moving sideways on the bed to my right in a way suggesting that He is withholding Himself from lying or falling on top of me. His features resemble Glory's to some extent because Jesus has never behaved like that. It seems to me that the revelation was an answer to something, because what else could it be for I already knew the heart of God.
- (past two days) I see Akhila sitting and doing household chores. She's washing dishes sitting down on the floor as I am look down at her and she does other chores as well which makes me think that the job well suits her mental caliber! Now it may be labelled but I don't do household chores because that's all I can do. I did them when I was still working to be independent and find a job so I could support my mom as well who didn't receive much support from my dad! People should be assigned jobs according to their skill set or mental capacity! And household chores are a good option for gossipmongers like Akhila. At least the time they are busy doing the chores, they won't be sowing seeds of discord between others going from door to door!

Looking at the revelation, I saw how it suited her because she often boasted uselessly about her background and continued to put me down for no reason when I continued to be good towards her! I was then thinking she should be made to take care of all hard core chores for at least a month for her to learn humility and that things are not meant to be expected to be given freely - either be it your own family or someone else! And also not just do the chores but also be treated the way I observed her treat those people who worked for her! Then she will now how wicked and useless to God she is because of who she is! Likewise this other fellow. Though He is in a way helping to expand the kingdom of God by lending his camera resource for his own purpose to be fulfilled but which is also progressing things ahead in the kingdom of God!

It's almost as if receiving those fleshly revelations served as a training ground for me to build my armour and be resistant to temptations at a greater level. I know that regardless of what happens to my body, unless I partake in it, I won't be sinning.

- (Past two days) I lie on my side hugging Death Conqueror tightly dressed in a white tunic as we're locked in intercourse.

****

After a while of when I wrote the above, I happened to talk to my mom and told her that I didn't go to meet my supervisor because I wasn't clean as I was on my periods and then hadn't bathed for 3-4 days and I had to go meet her I had to be in a presentable state and therefore I told her that I would meet her the next week. I didn't want to go through the mental stress of bathing. I knew I would be in an emotionally low state again. I could already foresee the pain and trauma that I would be experiencing and the changes in my mental state and that how it was going to stay afterwards for a long time, like it did every time!

I then received a message from my supervisor who told me that she would be in the dept until 5 pm and that I should meet her to discuss whatever progress I had made. This seemed reasonable to me as I had more time to get ready. I shared with her that it would take me an hour to get ready and that I had accumulated dirt from 3-4 days and that's why I didn't want to come to the dept. She replied with an 'OK'. So I quickly washed my lower half and my armpits wearing my long grey sleeveless top finely checkered in black. While I was bathing, though partially, I heard a man's creepy voice in my Spirit: Bahut ghamand hai na tujhe apne dimaag pe. Bahut ghamand hai na tujhe apne dimaag pe. Dekh mein tera kya haal karta hu! Dekh mein tera kya haal karta hu! which didn't make any sense to me! We need a sound brain first to be happy and function well and not wealth and a group of immoral crowd. A person with a sound mind will be at peace and happy and joyful even when alone with no possessions. I didn't know who was saying the words to me. But I could understand from their timing that only the short fellow could say them to me because of the last thing that I had written about Akhila doing household chores because that's what she's capable of doing. Well, I know I wrote that part out of my resentment towards her as well because of how she behaved with me and her general attitude towards workers who work the work for her and I know she is not one who values forgiveness either just like this fellow! She will continue to behave in the same way and though she may have limited her interaction with me when I was staying with her, her hatred for me always showed up. And I didn't feel prideful about my brain perse. I rather felt at peace and had a deep-seated sense of contentment! I came in contact with such low-level people with degraded minds!

And then I recalled this previous vision I had somewhere during the past week.

- The bottom view of Death Conqueror dressed in a light blue Sherwani with ethnic silver embossments brutally hitting the top of my head sideways from left to right with strong impacts one after the other. It was almost as if he was trying to strike off my skull cap. And why would he try to do that?

Why did he send the drones to hover on top of my brain!? Isn't it too apparent how downtrodden he is in his mind? I felt something hover on top of the left side of my brain somewhere during the past week though it wasn't accompanied with pain as it wasn't hitting the surface, unlike the past times when the drones would incessantly hit the front portion of my brain causing me headaches, bulged eyes and dizziness. Why do they do these things!? They should be stripped off of all wealth because it has made them too prideful for them to think that they can rule over others and oppress and hurt them!

Likewise, she should be stripped of all wealth because she's prideful of her wealthy background and she insults the things of real value!

I saw how all this time these people have been causing me pain in different ways and have caused irrevocable damage to my PhD and all I could've achieved during the past few years had I faced this stupid camera situation. I would be fit by now because I liked working out and the Zumba classes as well and then I wanted to learn contemporary dance as well. But I wasn't able to do so. I would be in a physically, mentally, and career-wise much better position without these people having put me through this oppressive situation!

Anyway. I looked at how wicked this disgusting fellow was, but then I wondered if it was Glory who was thinking such a thing, but why would he do so? It's the short fellow who values vanity and worldliness over godly values! Why is he trying to cause damage to what I possess that which is not his?

All this while I kept intermittently seeing my supervisor look at someone present at one of her sides as she said with filled eyes: She's a blessing.. She's a blessing..

I got ready and on my way to my dept in a Rickshaw, caught sight of a tall and obese woman wearing a sweater with Athletic written on it and I knew that it was an insult! Again, they put their abusive nature at display! First, that girl didn't have an athletic attitude though she was wearing that sweater. I on the other hand possess that attitude but I have not been able to put it into practice because of this good-for-nothing disgusting short heighted dumb and immoral man! I could see that she was a regular person with no special mental inclinations. It was so clearly visible! And behind that girl was walking a short and slim girl with a superior smile and the duo was meant to show how I was the taller but inferior person who was supposedly but the short and slim girl was not athletic but yet was fitter and superior! I looked at all the opportunities this fellow killed for me that I could use to be better physically and mentally, and now he was mocking me about the things I couldn't achieve because of him!

If this disgusting man was not there, I would still have my hair, I would have been fitter as I would have continued working out and I would have done more research as well! All these things are not achieved out of living in comfort but they require work to be done which I was doing at a time when I still was able to do so! He has been a stumbling block in my progress on all fronts all this time! And not only he inhibited my progress, he dulled and dimmed the qualities I already possessed as well! I became too tired of the same threats: that I'm gonna loose one of my eyes and then how many times I saw someone stab the center of my forehead and rip apart my brain! What are these fellows thinking!?

When I reached the dept, I was already in the low state I had expected me to be in and was withholding from crying. I am glad there were no further triggers around!

While I was having discussion with my supervisor, I heard:
Ye smart hai, vo sunder hai! Ye smart hai, vo sunder hai! Vo rich aur sunder hai. Ye smart aur poor hai. Vo rich aur sunder hai. Ye smart aur poor hai.

Well, the company of these people forced me to think in ways I didn't previously do and it was quite unproductive because most of their thought patterns are unholy! They wasted the time of my life and also inflicted abuse! Love-filled time spent is not considered as wasted time but these people are used to utilizing their time in filthy ways of thinking and acting. I don't feel like even having a talk with them!

Tu accha insaan nhi hai Mrittunjay. Tu accha insaan nhi hai.

The Guy sings:
Bhool jaa..
Jo hua use, bhool jaa.

I had a productive discussion with my supervisor and I returned from the dept between 6:30 to 7 pm.

While I was walking back towards the Gate No. 4 exit of Science Faculty, I heard in my Spirit:

- She's smart. She's smart. She can do what we can't. She can do what we can't.

(I'm not an electronics or gadget person.)

On my way, I stopped at the nearby Laundry service to ask for my clothes and caught a guy there asking me how I was. He had to repeat it a few times as I didn't figure that he was talking to me and then I wasn't paying attention to him either. I replied with an 'I'm ok' followed by 'Not good.' after which he turned his face away to the Laundry guy. He then invited someone aside to have a chat with and I assumed his place after he walked to the side.

After I entered my room, I saw:

- A small-framed vision of a naked Glory in a dark background saying looking at me with a guilty expression: Mein accha ladka nhi hu.. Mein accha ladka nhi hu.. as he takes a few steps backwards. The vision repeated several times as I made tea and was then having it with Samosa. It made me think he must have realized something about himself for him to be saying so! I don't know why he said so.

After I wrote this, I saw:
Death Conqueror dressed in a black suit dancing showing his back to me with his forearms lifted up that he moved up and down as if he just won something!

I then began making tea and while I was working near the kitchen counter, I heard:

- Itni smart ladki ka karna kya hai!? Itni smart ladki ka karna kya hai!? and the phrase repeated a few times.

After I wrote the above, I saw:

- The back-view of the upper half of RS running away from the viewer in a dark background dressed in a dark printed sherwani as he looks intermittently to a side.

After having tea with a samosa and some sweets, I lay down to rest as I was feeling fatigued and then I had the following revelations:

- Madhavan is in love with you Kartika. Madhavan is in love with you. It repeats intermittently during the time that I am resting.

My dad calls me and after talking for a while tells me that he would visit me on Sunday which reminds me of the previous revelation in which he came to my room and started hitting me saying: Kya kar rahi hai ye yaha pe!

After a while, I was feeling too stressed again as I looked at my slow progress after the first year of PhD and saw how I could work for only 2 days within a span of 3 weeks. This made me mad on these people who were responsible for bringing me in this condition! And when I was exiting my room to go downstairs and buy something, I said out loud for the fellow to find a long-haired and slim dumb whore for himself, and then I saw:
A small-framed vision of a tiny Death Conqueror dressed in a black suit in a dark background as he said with filled eyes and a heavy voice: Mein kabhi nhi aunga tere pas. Mein kabhi nhi aunga tere pas. He seemed too hurt which made me think what was it that I did? Isn't it him that has been causing me mental pain and damage to all areas of my life. This was my crucial career-building period as I was enrolled in a PhD program and I was supposed to use it in the same now that I was out of my abusive home situation and was independent but he ruined it! I lost weight but my health isn't good and my body is in an unhealthy shape as well while I would have been much fitter as I would have continued exercising for I like to do so! It has an energizing and motivating effect on me! The vision kept repeating throughout the time that I was out and even when I was walking back upstairs to my place. All these people are already stable and settled in their careers, but I was in the building stage and he targeted my health and my brain! My career was the only thing I had to sustain myself and keep out of abusive situations, and my dad worked so hard to bring me to this level unlike the dumbass who despite having resources doesn't have the capacity and capabilities! These people supposedly hail from a Metrocity but they have the mind of a backward Dehaati person and the morality too of a low level! Even in my hometown, people didn't think that their daughters were born only to be given away in marriage! They were much more advanced in their thinking than these people! They believed that she had to be independent and self-sustaining first before they could think of marrying her! Here, the culture of the rich is to live immorally and the non-working women from rich families want everything done for them by others and want everything bought from someone else's money!

Back at my place, people derived immense pleasure from living righteously and marriage was a huge thing of commitment. Here, marriage is a casual thing having its importance limited to bearing children without real commitment!

Also, this past incident from my early PhD days, perhaps when I hadn't even joined in PhD but was doing a project, has been being highlighted to me.

This evening I was walking towards the Bus Stop to the left of the Vishwavidyalaya end of the Chattra Marg after my dept was over when I came across some men dressed in a white tunic hit a dark and dirty street guy dressed in dark winter clothes with thick dandas. They were hitting him brutally though he wasn't saying anything to them or wasn't even retaliating or resisting or trying to escape them. One of them then hit the top of his head and it led to blood erupting from the centre spot at the back where he had been. After that hit, the people left him on their own and the guy kept sitting silently on the narrow cemented structure that separated the service lane from the main road without even trying to stop the blood flow. He seemed unaffected like he was when those people were hitting him openly on the road. I don't know why they were hitting him. He must have done something perhaps, but he stayed calm, still, and expressionless while they were hitting him. I thought of giving him my hanky to press on top of his blood flow so it could stop and clot but I was feeling reluctant because I didn't want to be seen while doing so! I didn't want people to think that I was so good and other related stuff. I saw that if I was alone on that road, I would've walked near him and perhaps pressed my hanky for a while on his wound until it clotted. It wasn't a big wound but big enough for a continuous stream of blood to keep flowing out. As I passed him by, I felt terrible and ashamed of myself, and the event stuck with me. And for some reason, it has been highlighted to me for some weeks as is the vision of the blood-covered face of Devdas SRK lying on his side on the road as he whispers Paaro.. Paaro..

As I continued resting because of a depressed mind as I looked at how my PhD time had been wasted because of the camera situation and how I could've done much more, I rebuked the abusers with some convicting words that may have come across as harsh and then when I opened the YT App, I came across a YT Shorts' recommendation that said: No Perfect Woman! This further agitated me not because it said something about me but because they're not accounting for their own abusive actions but calling me imperfect for calling out their sin and retaliating to it! It's then that I see:
Jesus dressed in his full-length off-white tunic set with a red drape on top standing holding the label of PERFECT written in bold red with both His hands.

****

Past Revelations

- The evening that I removed the pink lights I had pasted on the wall a night before the Hindu pagan festival of Diwali, and was now fixing the yellow round lights properly on the wall, I heard in my Spirit:
  Ise attention nhi chahiye. Ye sach mein smart hai. Ise attention hi chahiye. Ye sach mein smart hai.
  And it repeated a few times.

- For about a week, I have been seeing myself running the tip of my knife through the centre of my left forearm as I make a vertical slit in the centre. It seems to bring relief to me. It was then followed by Jesus digging a hole with a knife in the middle of His inner forearm as He stands near the kitchen's washbasin.
- The last time that I went to visit my nani with my mom, while we were entering the Kamashpur area through its main entrance from the highway, I kept hearing in my Spirit a voice say: Kartika tum amar ho gyi. Kartika tum amar ho gyi.

****

Page 602.

25 November 2023
10:30

Dream (Morning):
Apparently, I'm in a ship that's moving over calm waters with some water bushes in sight as I walk out on the deck. I've to take an advanced physics exam that's approaching near and I've not prepared well for the same as I didn't work on a regular basis but was busy doing other things. In that apparent ship, I also see a short-heighted SRK around whose entire family has been killed by a Don head and yet SRK has started working for him.

As I wrote the above, I heard the guy sing in my Spirit:
Kyu aisa kaatil samajhta nahin
Ye jurm vo hai jo chupta nahin
Ye daag vo hai jo mit ta nahin
Rehta hai khooni ke haath par!

The ship looks like a well-furnished house with small painted rooms meant for specific purposes. My dad is around as well, and I am feeling this burden to do well this time as this is the second time that I would be taking the exam. (This reminds me of my MSc days when I repeated my entire previous year to do better as I wasn't able to get good marks during the first attempt.) I can see that I'm capable of having a good and deep understanding of the topics but I am just not getting the time to do so. I don't see myself in the dream sitting and studying as I am busy with one or the other thing. The exam is here and I can sense that I might fail or if I pass it would be around the threshold marks and I can also see myself needing help from other students during the exam itself to write a bit more in my answer sheet so that I can pass. I take the exam and I perform poorly as I expected. I don't recall myself cheating in the dream but still, I'm not happy with myself! I don't know why I couldn't study during my time inside the ship though I knew I had to. I leave that fancy space now and am out in the open with my dad and I know that he is not going to be too happy and that I can't share with him the truth either. So I just reply with an 'ok' to him questioning about how my exam went.

This next part of the dream now shows the school building that my dad built recently. In front of it lies a wide and open ground. From a huge distance, I notice that he has built a wide rectangular room with wooden slabs. It is painted in navy blue on the outside and has a wide conical hut's top above. To the right of the long wooden cabin lies a regular brick and cement square room in which my youngest brother with a shaved head with tiny spikes on top lives. I don't feel like going inside his room which is lit in white light as I don't like the aura inside. I walk into the wide wooden cabin, and see a wide rectangular counter with a glassy body below like those present in a sweet shop. On the right end, I see a bed placed against the right wall. Above the bed, I see a huge picture of Donald Duck pasted on top of the wooden blocks with a smaller picture pasted to the left of the huge duck. I spend some time sitting on the bed having a casual chat with a person and then move to the left end of the wooden cabin.

(A man's voice resembling RK's says: Kartika, Sorry. Par tu yhi sab karne ke layak hai!)

I find my dad sitting around that end of the wall and I see another picture of Donald Duck's face on the wider wall a meter or two away from the wall on the left end. This picture is black and white and smaller than the one I saw before. I see that my dad has covered the beige wooden blocks with dark brown wallpaper though the block with the face of Donald Duck isn't covered. I can see the wallpaper around the square block carrying the face of Donald Duck detached from the wall around its edges. I walk back to the bed's place and observe the wooden room. I like the way the thick rectangular wooden blocks have been arranged on top of each other. At places, I see a few stripes of narrow beige tape he has put up along the edges of some wooden blocks to hide some parts but it's standing out and cheapens the cabin's inner look though adding a touch of individuality and warmth at the same time. I like the way the wooden cabin is built. I know that he constructed the cabin exclusively for me as I like wood and covered it with wallpaper for me as well. I move around the cabin and I like it. It brings a sense of natural warmth to me because of the wood. However, I don't seem to like the presence of the sweet shop counter he placed there. It was perhaps placed to attend people who came to inquire about his school, though I am not sure and it's my own sole reasoning. There is no one in the cabin besides me, that other fellow, and him as it's not a part of the school but was made for personal use, and he tried to personalize it according to my interests. I move out and see the navy blue outside and move in and see wood covered with beige and dark brown wallpaper. By the time I've reached this part of the dream, I get to know that the short SRK has killed all the family members of the guy he started working for. I look back and observe his actions. He started working under the guy who killed his entire family, and eventually, he killed the family of that guy whom he started working for. Did he have this in his mind from the beginning that he chose to work for him? Perhaps, yes, though I am not sure. It could be that he did it in a fit of vengeful rage. He had seemed to me to be a loyal worker of the Don-head but he betrayed him in the end and killed everyone, including the Don-head. Before entering the wooden cabin, as I looked at it from that huge distance, I saw the short SRK superimposed on the insides of the cabin visible through the outer wall.

The Guy sings:
Masih nidhal soedaar chalte dekha hai..
Bhadakti aag mein ek phool jalte dekha hai..

Post Waking Up:

- A dusky wide naked guy resembling Madhavan lies on top of kissing me as he's taking the drones out from inside the top of my bra before they enter too deep in. He's not letting them go inside. (Perhaps it's reflected revelation.) He continues to kiss me and keeps removing the drones before they enter in!
- The follow-up vision has the dusky guy stand facing me against the wall above my bed as he is kissing while holding my face with his hands, and I too am holding his face.
- As I continue resting and I can hear someone breathe below my nose and I see the dusky face of a guy resembling Madhavan in front of me and it's then that I hear: Yehi chahiye tha mujhe. Yehi chahiye tha mujhe. I never knew true love before. I never knew true love before.
- This particular day I am receiving several revelations from the wide and dusky guy with a square face which I didn't previously have. It's from the last evening that I started having these revelations.

- I see from a distance from my bed's end near my feet myself lying on bed with the naked dusky wide and muscular man on top, as I begin to get up slowly, his countenance changes abruptly and he slaps my face leading me down again.
- Seen as a first person: the dusky man enters in slowly followed by him moving to and fro as he kisses me. The vision repeats a few times and after while I see him saying quietly in an oppressive tone:
- Don't misunderstand me. I'm loving you.
- Glory keeps hitting Akhila's head who's lying on the floor on her side when it has already been flattened due to repeated hits and resembles a thin sheet. Yeah, what use is her sick abusive brain!? It's useless! Perhaps that's what she deserves for causing me pain! And Perhaps the Devdas vision is what he deserves for doing this to me!

Earlier from the day when I was editing one of the previous revelations pertaining to Death Conqueror, I saw:

- Him dressed in a full-sleeved light blue top over navy blue trousers laughing hard with open mouth at me with his face bent backwards as he said: Randi mujhse pyaar karti hai!? Randi mujhse pyaar karti hai!? Shame on him for doing what he is doing and for using such language on me!

18:50
The Guy sings:
You're beautiful.. You're beautiful..
And I saw your face, in a crowded place..
And I don't know what to do.
Cuz I'll never be with you.

The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

A while back when I was resting, I had the following revelations.

- A small-framed vision of the face until the throat of Anne Hathaway with an off-white scarf around her head with its conical end behind her back and its two ends tied below her neck.
- The vision repeated a few times as her head shifted around in my mental view facing in different directions, the vision ending with her facing to the left in that scarf.
- A small-framed vision of Eddie Redmayne dressed in a full-sleeved yellow/mustard colored shirt tucked inside pants with a patterned dark brown neck scarf around his neck tucked inside his V-neck opening of the shirt carrying brown binoculars in his hands as he places them on his eyes and looks ahead slightly towards the viewer's left mental view. He does it a few times.
- The bottom view of Ranveer Singh dressed in a dark suit with a brown pattern on it looks down at me wearing a hat as a small monkey sits on top of his hat facing to the right and he seems to be licking his hand or the end of his tail.
- The bottom view of KA dressed in a black suit with a white shirt inside standing in front of a 3-D golden logo of something as he hands out a golden something (trophy perhaps) to me with the words: And the best acting award goes to.. Which makes me think when was I acting? I only understood that the vision pertained to a later event when I would be going downstairs.
  I was already feeling uneasy because of the presence of cameras inside my upper lingerie as they would sit on my breasts and move around at times pressing on top of the nipples. And I knew that I was being live telecasted so I had put on the wide beige tapes. Earlier during the day I was sitting on my chair and was feeling down again and I didn't know what to do and I was trying to complete the writing work when the thought of using the beige tape on my breasts sprouted in my brain which seemed good enough to me. But I was still confused and I kept writing though slowly, but the vision of the top of a nipple covered with the beige tape kept being highlighted in my Spirit so I went ahead with the same. I put on a few layers of it on both my nipples, and while I was doing so, I saw:

The upper half until below the throat of Death Conqueror dressed in a black suit as he said: Ab mujhe sab (log) marenge! Ab mujhe sab marenge!

But when I was done and out I could still feel the drones pressing on them which began annoying me again. So I had gone in the washroom and adjusted the tapes a bit but I guess the beige tape is just not a good option. So I later ordered the black duct tape that I previously possessed which is stronger in adhesive and also wider.

I was working and then I started feeling down again and then I felt a nudge to rest so I went to bed. At first, I was unaffected by the cameras broadcasting me live as I saw them as mere non-living objects. Then they started talking or others started speaking out through them and after a month or so perhaps they came alive for me. And then I was pressing in for breaths as it came with a sense of intimacy and I thought it was the short fellow talking through the cameras. And I operated in forgiveness so it was easy for me to let go and not be too hurt. But this time when I went to rest things were different. Because I didn't want the presence of anyone around me when I was resting! I didn't want to have any kind of intimacy with this fellow and additionally, now I knew that he was not the only one operating through them but that there were more than one person and suddenly I was high in my right mind which was not operating in continuous unconditional forgiveness but was looking at things from my human point of view. As I lay in bed trying to avoid the cameras, I see:

- I stretch open the centre of my chest, take my heart and place it outside on the floor. And the vision repeats several times as I lay in bed.

Why were they broadcasting my woman parts live? I felt the breaths pressing in near my face and I turned my face away. Wherever I turned my face to, it would follow, while a few days back I was looking forward to having that intimacy, but now I didn't want to fornicate even if I loved someone. On top of that why would I want to be exposed to the world or to a person who's not respecting my boundaries when I am hurting and crying!? This is what hurt me the most. I knew that there was more than one person and I didn't know who was who so I didn't want to have anything to do with the voices either that came from the cameras! What are these people thinking!? So I was trying to avoid them getting close to my face that's what I could partially control and while doing so I was crying as well! And I saw that they indeed possessed the hearts of rapists because how they can do such a thing to someone who is crying because of what they are doing!? I kept crying and they kept hurting me! Amidst the voice of my sobs, they were saying their Wows and Uffs, and I observed and concluded how cheap these people were! And then I saw:

- Surjeet dressed in his orangish polo shirt in an angry countenance stretch forth his upper body from behind his shop counter and pull Death Conqueror from behind me towards him as I lay on my right side. The vision repeated a few times.

- It was followed by him throwing the short fellow inside his shop on the floor where the other men from the shop beat him up as he lay down on the floor on his back!

  And this incident reminded me of the previous vision in which I had seen Ajay Devgan holding a woman dressed in a saree bent upside down on his shoulder who was frantically moving her legs as he threw her on the bed and started moving to and fro on top of her followed by him saying: That was my wife! And then he was holding a girl child on top of his arm as he said: She is my daughter! And then I also recalled the previous vision in which I saw a naked Glory moving to and from on top of me as he said with a mean smile: I'm your husband Kartika! But in that vision, he was at a level lower than me for I was looking down at him as he moved to and fro and his tone had suggested that he must be doing it against my will that's why he had to make the point with that superior wicked smile: I'm your husband Kartika!

  After I wrote the above, I saw: A naked Glory turns his back towards me and runs away saying: Mein ja ra hu! Tu bahut gandi hai! I was also reminded of the recent revelation I had within the past two days in which I saw the upper half of Glory looking at me and saying: Vo tujhe bahut pareshaan karne wala hai. Vo tujhe bahut pareshaan karne wala hai. which hadn't made any sense to me.

  I continued resting and I didn't want the cameras around because why would I want strangers in my bed because I didn't know who was behind the cameras and on top of that I was also being broadcasted live! That's not how you treat a woman unless you're a rapist abuser!

  I kept seeing intermittently:

- A short-heighted Glory with a huge face dressed in a black suit does sit-ups holding his ears!

  I was looking at how this fellow caused severe damage to my good perception as I wasn't even able to think as right now as I used to before! I saw how he broke all the moral rules in a covert manner from behind his cameras! And I was hurting and I was thinking perhaps I will make a small cut on my left wrist and let it bleed for a while as it seemed to bring me a feeling of relief. And then I was thinking of stabbing one of my thighs! I didn't want to cause a lot of damage but just enough for me to feel at peace so my inner pain would get an outer release. I thought I could tie my hand with a bandage later. But I knew that I had to make a cut. And I understood this time why people hurt themselves when they were in severe mental and emotional pain, and I recalled the case of that woman with Walter who began cutting herself again after he was forcing her to send him nudes, and her case was not as severe as mine because he was asking it for himself and not the entire world and yet it pushed her to that level because it was still wrong. In my case, I had been going through this situation for several years now and I was just fed up and was in too much pain and I wanted an outlet. And I knew that I would hurt myself more when I would be hurting more in the future. It seemed to me to be like a medicine. I was to take a little amount for the time being and then when I would be hurting more, I would increase the amount gradually. Just the thought of it brought such relief to me. I knew that the vision in which I made a deep and long cut on the inner side of my left arm with the point of my knife embedded inside was what I really wanted to do, but I could see that I wasn't too courageous to do so. Someone else would have to do it to me. Also, I was carrying the fear of the Lord about hurting myself because my body was His temple and possession and also I didn't want to do something that would displease Him and thwart me completely out of His Will. So I thought if not to that extent, I could make a small hole or cut which I would find easier to do and then I could tie it up with a bandage. And if I hurt more, I would increase the length or width of that wound. And it was such a healing thought because when such a thing has happened to me, I'm supposed to die or should've been dead by now, but I continued because I have a God-given purpose. But by making those cuts, at least I would be doing what I was supposed to do long back!

I was having such thoughts and thought of other measures to die but I knew I couldn't because I had God-given work so I thought of instead hurting myself to a little extent. And then the previous vision in which the nipples of two breasts got severed from their places like taps as they hung down from them attached with a small tissue at the bottom also came to my memory. Was I going to do the same? I didn't know. I don't want to know. Because I know that when the time is there, I won't be asking these questions, I would just do it! It's a very huge this fellow has committed (That's right!: says Jesus) As I lay with these thoughts crying and trying to hide my face as I didn't want the drones close to it, I heard:

- Are you feeling raped Kartika!? This is how I wanted you to feel! This is how I wanted you to feel!

And me feeling helpless and exploited seemed to bring a sense of relief to this fellow. It was almost as if he was getting his fuel from me feeling that way! I then thought for a moment: Let him feel this way. Perhaps when he is satisfied with having me stay in this zone of emotional pain, he will leave! (But why does he want me to feel this way!?)

And as I was feeling this way I never felt before in my life, I had the following vision. Well, I have felt uncomfortable or being seen with the wrong eyes by several people in the past but a majority of people I came across were good. That was how pure the place was. Looking at someone with the wrong eyes was considered a sin and people pointed it out and such people were avoided and stayed away from! And that's also what I was thinking as I lay down - how desensitized to sin the place was! Severely desensitized! Because I was used to an environment where people sensed when someone was even looking at them with lustful thoughts or eyes, and therefore that was also not the ground on which people went into relationships. They chose partners when they were sure or knew that what they were feeling with that person was internal love indeed, and they disregarded attraction due to outer appearances as the main factor to be considered when choosing a partner. There was this old and bald music teacher whom everyone perceived as a womanizer as he often used to flirt and no one liked it so they used to avoid him and kept their interactions with him succinct. That's how sensitive and sharp to sin people were at my place. And they were not Dehaati people. It was a mixed crowd in my town. There were all sub-branches of Indian society: Jaat Jamidars, Punjabis, Typical Hariyanvi-speaking Hariyanvis, Hindi-speaking Hariyanvis, Baniyas, etc. All sorts of people and they were all sensitive to sin. While here one doesn't find much sensitivity. One only finds an urge to go ahead and sin.

As all these thoughts ran through my mind, I was also thinking that when would Glory come to kill me! Why is he not doing it quicker? At least my suffering would be shortened. And I kept wishing he would come quickly to kill me. I felt guilty to some extent though I did everything for God but this is not what any man deserves to see his to-be wife do or go through! So I kept wishing for him to come quickly! I then saw:

- The top of a golden dome with an upwardly pointed antenna ending with a circular blob as a golden flat ring rotated around the golden antenna as it slid along its inner surface being inserted in it. The revelation had a sudden calming effect on me as it was a Holy revelation. And I became normal after that and was no longer crying.

Afterwards, I got up as I knew that this was only going to continue and I had to write the revelations. I felt too broken but after washing dishes I went to buy milk as I had to make coffee. When I stepped out, I saw a Diya burning below the white door apartment to my door's left. I kicked it against the door and it went off. I continued walking and on reaching the stairs I found that I had my room's lock in my hand still so I went back and locked my room, and as I continued to walk, my attention got fixed on the extinguished Diya lying beside the door and it irked me because these people were such hypocrites. Why were they making a display of worship and making a display of burning Diyas when they didn't possess even basic moral sense? So I kicked it forward and it broke into several pieces and as I did so, I heard a quiet: Samajh gaya.. Samajh gaya..

I continued on my way downstairs and as I took the first U turn, I had a memorable moment that I won't write about because I heard an immediate: Maar dala.. Maar dala.. but it's a memory of my life. I don't know if I will have more of such encounters/memories but it sure increased my comfort levels whenever I would face such a situation and the next time I would be in a similar situation, my response is going to be different. I see that slowly and gradually, God has brought me to a level of comfort around certain individuals. I bought the packet of Milk and saw that the men from Dinesh Store exhibited a lot more sense than the supposed scholar as I saw them exercising boundaries because they knew how I felt in the recent experience so they were showing respect to me and it wasn't outwardly respect but inwardly as I saw it coming from within them!

After I reached my room, I saw:

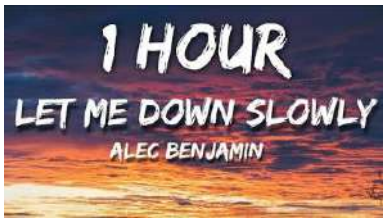
- The upper half of KA dressed in a black shirt with his collar making a V-neck as he says looking at me: Kartika tum mujhse bahut jyada pyaar karti ho! Tum mujhse bahut jyada karti ho! Kisi ne mujhse aj tak itna pyaar nhi kiya! Tum bahut jyada pyaar karti ho mujhse! Tum mujhse had se jyada pyaar karti ho!

The Lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse.. Tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse.. Tu kyu maane na..

Earlier during the day, I heard these song lyrics in my Spirit as well.

The Guy sings:
Could you find a way to let me down slowly?
A little sympathy I hope you can show me.
And if you wanna go then I'll be so lonely,
And if you're leaving baby let me down slowly.

Alec Benjamin - Let Me Down Slowly (Lyrics) 🎵 1 Hour



Earlier from the day:

- A close-up vision of the face until the throat of Death Conqueror dressed in a black suit sucking on the nipple of a lady's breast in a dark background with closed eyes. The vision repeats intermittently throughout the day.

As I continued resting, and I was trying to exercise mental boundaries, at times I would be drawn in by the breaths or they would seem to bring a sense of rejuvenating intimacy observing which I would withdraw away and then I would see:

- Death Conqueror dressed in a black suit hit the top of my head with a rod as he would say: You need me! following which he would come and fall on me kissing me!

Page 603.

26 November 2023
10:35

****

Past Revelations

- (Late 2021/Early 2022) IT was when I had just begun to exercise boundaries while bathing in Room D4 of A-16. And the way I changed clothes was also covered. By this time, I've already had the dream revelation of my wedding with Glory in which he was dressed in a red and white suit. So as I was changing into fresh clothes being able to hide my body, I kept intermittently seeing: the front view of the backseat of a car as Glory dressed in a red and white suit sits on it with a red bouquet and keeps pointing at me as he says: Ye le! Ye le! He is pointing to how I have managed to find a solution to the problem. So when I had those revelations during late 2021 or early 2022, I was under the impression that he is waiting for me in a car with a bouquet as was shown to me in the visions which were day visions with the car lit with daylight. So I thought: does he keep sitting in that car all the time dressed in that way with a bouquet! So I was quite serious about going out on Moonlit nights as was revealed to me in the previous dream revelation in which he jumped out from behind a stationary white car and sat on the ground making the prophetic symbol with that bouquet. But none of it came to pass each time I went out hoping to pass by a white from the back of which was supposed to jump out Glory dressed in red & white wedding clothes with a bouquet after which I bent down to his level the blurry procession of which wasn't shown. And when I got up, he too got up and he pointed with his right arm to a place where I was supposed to be present. He was inviting me to my wedding, and then I had told him: I will talk to my dad, and the next thing I saw was me walking into that wedding hall with huge bouquets placed outside.

  This part of me seeing him saying: Ye le! Ye le! while changing clothes in a boundaried way I never wrote about previously as I wasn't writing everything back then. The phrase was his response to how I found an effective solution to changing clothes after bathing.

  The lady sings: Tod dala.. Tod dala..
  Humpe kisne hara rang dala..
  Khushi ne humari humein.. Maar dala.. Allah.. Maar dala..

  I was lying on bed and wasn't liking the drones on my body. It was around the time I had returned from Pinky Mausi's home and the vision of Kapil Mausaji being tormented by flying locust demons as they took and kept him down against a wall was being highlighted to me while his sister Lalita and others in his home were looking for him. I was feeling tormented by these drones that never left me alone. It not a good experience to carry an electronic foreign object at all times on your body. I was too sick of the drones. In those moments, though I don't remember my thoughts but I remember how I felt. I was feeling uneasy, uncomfortable and I wanted to leave my body so I can have some relief! Why were they tormenting me with these drones! I then had the following revelation.
- (Past week) I saw a translucent, light blue shiny being remove the shell of my naked body leaving the shell's thick skin in the hands of Death Conqueror as the light blue being left the body and lifted up looking down at the shell and man, never to possess a body again! I don’t know the significance of this revelation. But it seemed such a relieving vision because that's how I felt about my body! These people have been gnawing with their drones at my body while inflicting pain on my inner being - the me who lives inside! So I just wanted to leave the lifeless shell with them and have my self exit the body, because that's not what they deserve! I was having thought along the line: they better keep this shell but I will leave the same and never be back to them again!

- (Past week) Tujhe sab marne ayenge! Kyunki tu bahut badi randi hai! Tu bahut badi randi hai! I'm so tired of this crap! Why I'm getting these revelations!? I don't even think like this!
- (Past few days) Glory says to me pointing at Akhila: Vo ek randi hai! Use sab kuch free mein chahiye! Vo ek randi hai! Use sab kuch free mein chahiye!
- (Past two days) I put my front and middle fingers vertically on top of the lips of Death Conqueror dressed in a full-sleeved skyblue top as I rotate them in a circle.
- (Past two days) An animated view of a guy dressed in a full-sleeved top tucked inside pants with a lady to his left (the viewer's right) sitting on a slanted slide as thy both slide down together followed by the view shifting up on the slide which shows Akhila sliding down the slide alone way behind them.

****

Dream (Morning):

I'm talking to a muscular guy dressed in fitting white clothes and eating food though I seem to be too filled already. I leave the hall and move around a bit. Towards the end of the dream, I see the upper half of a man dressed in white vintage English clothes talking to a middle-aged woman. He has stopped by her hut at night to explain to her a few things. He says that he left the elder and the younger women as he felt that they were running after his status and money. As he says so, it takes me a while to understand that he is referring to Elizabeth's elder and younger sister as Elizabeth's upper half is flashed to me as being present in the vertical middle of her elder and younger sister along with the pressing thought that she is not being referred to here. From his words, I understand that the man is Mr Bingley (Darcy's friend) and not Mr Darcy. He says that he was first interested in her elder daughter Jane but because of some confusion he changed his mind thereby leaving her, and that it took him a while to understand that the elder daughter loved him for real. So he was there to make up for the way he abruptly put Jane down. Apparently, he is feeling guilty for his past behavior towards Jane. He then gets up from his place and prepares to leave and is now being shown as Prince Kit from Cinderella dressed in his white English attire from the movie as he explains to the woman who stands near the door how he is being sought after by everyone, and that that's why he had to make that discreet appearance. The woman with rough cheeks and hair tied at the back stands between him and the door as the front view of her upper half dressed in multilayered black is shown with the huge empty ground is visible outside behind her in the dark of the night. He continues talking, he says that though he tried to make his appearance discreet and visited her at night, people would still know about it and the lady questions him about the same as he takes some steps outside and no stands outside the hut's door with the lady. I walk out of the hut and look out at the vast empty field outside and see the main road running parallel ahead of the field. It's almost empty and no vehicles can be seen as it's night. I spot Glory dressed in a black tracksuit with a red neck-high t-shirt with a lady dressed in a black tracksuit with her hair tied at the back sneaking in from the left end of the road into the field. I can tell that the Prince is in their sight and perhaps they weren''t supposed to spot him, but they continue walking along the wall present to the field's left without paying attention to us and lie at the end of the wall in line with the lady's hut.

I find myself in one of the classrooms on the ground floor of the corridor of the senior wing of my school in my hometown. I am dressed formally – a grey coat over trousers and have short open hair. Prof Shobhit Mahajan is present in the classroom as well along with another woman. I walk out of the classroom and walk slightly to the left across the white-walled corridor and find a colleague present inside the classroom near its door. I get a hold of her and pull her out of the room holding her hands and begin doing a swing rotation around with her in the corridor and I do it for long. And while I'm swinging with her, I see the back of Sobhit Mahajan dressed in casuals – shirt tucked inside pants with a beige winter half-jacket on top – standing at the door of the classroom facing inwards as he's having a chat with the other teacher there.

While I was writing the above paragraph, I kept feeling the drones around my breasts and then I saw:
The front-view of me walking backwards with filled eyes through the balcony's door as seen from my chair as I am saying in a broken voice:
Aisa mat karo Mrittunjay! Mein mar jaungi! Mein mar jaungi! Aisa mat karo Mrittunjay! Mein mar jaungi! Mein mar jaungi! And the vision repeats a few times!

And then I looked at why he was doing all this and hurting me if he claimed to 'love' me!?

The dream continued:
After a long while of rotating in the corridor, I see a third-person view of me now sucking on the naked clean-shaven groin of the lady in the corridor who stands with her back towards the viewer. As I wrote this part, a similar scene from the movie Blue is the Warmest Color is highlighted to me in which the two naked women are standing facing each other and making out after a while of which one sat below and started sucking all over on the groin of the woman with longer hair as they took turns in doing so. I don't know why they started doing that all of a sudden! I think if that's the last thing I would want with that girl was I doing a swing rotation with her! As I was writing this part, I was reminded of the part from the Dream revelation The Dusty Man and The Fairy in which Glory swung me around from behind followed by me running to him to kiss him as he was hiding his face!

Afterwards, I find myself sitting against the wall on a bed made on the floor along the room's wall to my left. I sit about a meter or two away from the left end of the mattress adjoining the bed. In front of me lies the huge white-walled room and there are other people present inside as well. At the left end of the wall in front of me lies the room's door through which I see Ayushman Khurrana come walking inside and lay down to sleep beside me to my left. He covers himself with a sheet and closes his eyes. I can see that he's exercising boundaries

A lady voice says: Tu bahut bura hai Mrittunjay! Tu bahut bura hai Mrittunjay!

The dream continued: He opens his eyes intermittently so I know looking at him that he's not fully asleep yet but he's not fully awake either.

Post waking up while I was still in bed

I recall the previous vision in which the Adiwasi KA came floating near a beach on a wooden log as he said in a drowsy tone something like: Ab tera kya hoga! after which he jumped into the water again. It made me wonder if it meant that he went back to the world as the ocean represents the world in general. And thinking this I feel bad for him because he was floating above the world as he came near the beach to me and could've gotten out of it. I wonder why he chose to go back to the world!? Because the entire objective was for him and others to get out of the world and stay within the love of God. While I am having these thoughts, I see:

- The top view of KA coming out of the waters and it's then that I see that he was indeed near the beach as I see the broader day-lit view of the land blocking the water. The vision then shows the front view of me standing naked several meters away from the beach near the beginning of the Island's wilderness, as I'm about to run inside the forest. The vision is followed by the distant top-view of him rushing out of the ocean as he runs after me saying: Mein bhi aa raha hu! as he throws away his brown Adivasi clothes along the way to join living with me in the wilderness.

The Lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse.. Tu kyu jaane naa..
Hua ikraar tujhse.. Tu kyu maane naa.

Wow… such a great revelation.. Ideal for me.. Because I don't like to be around people and I like natural green spaces and in the wilderness, there's no compulsion to wear clothes as well because that's how God designed Adam and Eve to live together in the garden of Eden when He created them before they sinned by eating from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil and became conscious of their nakedness and thereafter covered themselves with bushes.

As I was smiling writing the above sentence, I heard in my Spirit:
Hasle. Gaale. Ye din na milenge kal.
Thodi khushiya hai thode se ye pal..

After I was done writing the revelation, I saw:

- The upper half of a naked him holding the upper half of a naked me resting down in his arms as he is breathing sighs of relief inside the wilderness.
- The back of John Nash dressed in a black suit standing in front of my table as He is frantically putting up stickers or labels on the walls while he is working.
- The stubbled face of Ayushman over a blurry body walks towards the viewer in the dim-golden background of a street.

I look towards the kitchen rack and my attention seems to be searching for the handles of the knives standing straight at one side & then I see:

- A wide and taller Death Conqueror dressed in a black suit with curly hair stands in front of the rack. Every time I think of using the knife, I see the above vision.

Also, as I lay down on the bed, the fat lady from the white apartment to the left in front of my room who shifted within the past few months stood near my room and was saying this chat with another woman: Aaj peepal ka ped bhi kaatna hai! Peepal ka ped bhi kaatna hai! Lagana nhi hota, kaatna hota hai! Patte bhi todne hai! Tu kab todegi patte! I knew that these ladies were saying things indirectly to me! How will they cut down a peepal's tree!? And then they act so innocent and come up with all sorts of justifications acting as if they are so righteous! This made me angry because I had already told the granddaughter of that lady yesterday that she should not communicate any message to me to stress me out or put mental pressure on me as she has been doing all this time! And then today, the obese and immoral old woman started blabbering out her crap again at me! That fat obese supposed grandma of the young girl Neha is a messenger woman! As I wrote the above part, I saw:

- The short-heighted overweight woman in her red woollen half-jacket who stays next to the immoral grandma's apartment in the corridor come furiously at my head with a rod in the background of the corridor as she says pointing towards the other end of it: Vo buri hai! She says again: Vo buri hai!

As I continue lying on my bed, I see:

- The bottom view of him standing dressed in a black suit with curly hair in a dark background as he stretches his right arm sideways straight to the left and says looking down at me: She is whom I deserve. She is whom I deserve. It is followed by the vision moving to the left some meters away where is shown Akhila standing dressed in multilayered brown clothes with her long hair open at the back. The vision repeats a few times.
- Somewhere in the middle as I kept lying on bed, I heard: He is yours. He is yours.
- 'He's yours. He's yours.': repeats again. I don't know how to feel about what I'm hearing.
- 'He's yours. He's yours forever. He's yours forever.'
- 'He's yours forever. I'm giving him to you child. I'm giving him to you child.'
- I then see a taller and wider Death Conqueror standing a few meters away to my right dressed in a black suit with a white shirt inside as Jesus dressed in full-length off-white tunic with a red drape stands behind him and kicks his back pushing him towards me on the bed. The kick given by Jesus to his ass repeats a few times as seen from my position of lying on the bed.
- The follow-up vision shows us standing with our bodies right next to one another facing each other as Jesus dressed in off-white tunic with a red drape walks slowly around us tying a thick red thread around us in an upward helical way beginning from our middle. This act makes me recall the way people tie red threads around Peepal trees.

  As I wrote this vision, I saw:

  Death Conqueror sitting inside a car dressed in the black and white attire of a suit with two red love hearts in front of his eyes as he is struggling to gasp in the air with an astonished expression while a continuous white jet ejects out from his genitalia erect through his suit.

The Lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse.. Tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse.. Tu kyu maane na..

followed immediately by
Tod dala.. Tod dala..

- The follow-up vision shows as a third person the front-view of me getting out sideways of a room with a fiery expression, shiny eyes, and a smile with a clenched jaw as I am setting to look for and get a hold of the tiny man because Jesus said the above. The vision shows the top-view of me dressed in my red Karishma Ka Karishma dress with white polka dots going out and finding the man in black & white outside who is standing indiscreetly in the open and grabbing a hold of him.

- Subhash Uncle stands facing to the left and gesturing with his left hand towards me in a manner of throwing something at me, says with a light laughter:
  Ye Pagal hai!

  Though Jesus has communicated things in a sweet manner, it confuses me a bit because He had previously kicked Him away like a projectile about more than a week back! It was on the day that I took a partial bath before visiting Pinky Mausi in Paschim Vihar.

  I decide to begin my day and after I get out of bed, I hear the guy sing:
  Manzilo se gale.. Raaste mil gaye..
  Sapne sach ho gaye.. Puri har aas hai..

  Apka dil humare paas hai.. Humara dil apke paas hai..

  After I wrote the above, I saw:
- Death Conqueror dressed in his black suit withdraws back as he says with a hurt expression:
  Ye sach nhi ho sakta! Ye sach nhi ho sakta!

  After getting out of bed as I pass by the kitchen area, I happen to look at the packet of Kachori that I used to eat as snacks with tea and I feel such repulsion from the same that I throw it away. I don't feel like eating it. I feel convicted, as if I couldn't question the wrong that this person was doing because I myself have been eating for me to be able to mentally endure the day! I think of making coffee first as I don't want to brush too soon. I don't have the mental energy to stand and brush. I need something to begin my day. While I'm making coffee, I think of the knife lying below on the rack again, and then I see:
- A taller and wider Death Conqueror dressed in a black & white suit stands in front of me as he is kissing me deeply.

  Afterwards when I am brushing teeth:
- I'm going to remove her away from him. She's a still a whore and a dumbass. She's a still a whore and a dumbass. She wants things for free!
  I see the upper half of Death Conqueror dressed in a black suit with a white shirt inside above my head near the ceiling as he said:
- Tu mere paas kabhi nahi ayegi na!? Tu mere paas kabhi nahi ayegi na!? Dekh mein kya karta hu! Dekh mein kya karta hu! And then he starts hitting the top of my head brutally with a rod!

  I go out to buy milk and hear a voice say referring to Akhila:
  She'll be your servant. She'll be your servant.

And while I am warming it, I go upstairs to fetch my clothes and find the red & white ones lying on the ground all dusty though I had put stickers on them. I pick up and as I am closing the roof's door, I hear:

- Perfect girl mere paas kabhi aa hi nhi sakti! Perfect girl kabhi mere paas aa hi nhi sakti (by virtue of who I am!) Perfect girl mere paas kabhi nhi ayegi!

It had taken me a long time to wash those clothes, and I was now thinking that I would have to wash them again when it was already too hard for me to wash anything! If I was so well, I would wash all my clothes by my own self!

Today I threw all eatables besides rice and flour that I would send home. I only kept what could be used as liquids. I didn't feel like even keeping something to eat. I felt good after doing so. I wanted to now have a strict eating zone as defined by God! In a previous dream-vision, I saw a packet which when I opened had a burger and a cubical cardbox box. I took the cubical box first. On lifting the flap, I found spinach Maggi inside which I was then beginning to take a bite of when I woke up.

I had a packet of Maggi that I had thought I would cook with spinach, but I threw it as well! And after a while, I was hearing in my Spirit:

- Palak Maggi to khaani hi padegi Kartika. Palak Maggi to khaani hi padegi Kartika.

17:00
A while back I go use the washroom, and I hear:

- Teri taange tootne waali hai Kartika! Teri taange tootne waali hai!

And later when I was sitting on the chair, I saw: Jesus dressed in an off-white tunic with a red drape sitting below to my left hits my legs with a rod.

The lady sings:
Har pal naseeb hua hai.. Uski rehmat hai..
Usne din jode hai zindagi mein.. Uska maksad hai..

Earlier during the day:
While I was cleaning the room, I followed a not-so-good trajectory of brooming my room as I pushed the dirt behind the closed door knowing that I would've to shift it from that spot again to complete the process. I wasn't paying much attention to it as I just wanted to be done with it and I was thinking of other stuff as well, and it was then that I heard: Dumbass vo nahi, tu hai! Dumbass vo nahi, tu hai! And it kept repeating in my Spirit!

After I've cleaned the room and am cleaning the narrow lane outside my room, while squeezing my mop, I tend to spill water outside Neha's apartment because look at how her Amma has been saying mean stuff to me in a mean tone since she came when I have been cleaning the surrounding area adjacent to my room when I found it dirty. They hardly did it. A very few times, and because I found it dirty, I would clean it as it was right next to my room. And these abusers only served to say mean things to me. So I spilled some water outside their apartment. They have been hitting my head all this time with their words. Why did they shift here in the first place!? When I was back to my room, I saw:

- A small framed vision of the Amma sitting with the girl with whom I had an altercation with yesterday and who is supposedly her granddaughter, with both of them sitting in the second room in the apartment as they both looked at me with filled eyes. They knew why I did what I did. And they knew where they were wrong!

And while I was squeezing my mop carelessly outside their apartment, I had this thought float in me that they deserved to have pee outside their apartment's door. The thought carried a heavy weight. After I wrote the above, I heard a light whisper in my Spirit: God hates me, Kartika. God hates me, Kartika.

After a while, someone rang my doorbell. The landlord uncle came after a while and I opened the door. I told them the water would dry after a while on its own. But their words are going to stay. I know they won't apologize for it either at any time! They are morally stinking fools! The girl Neha then started making stupid statements and started shouting! I told them that her Amma had been saying mean things to me. (P.S. I'm tolerating this only because of the task assigned to me by Jesus. I don't want to live around people like her Amma or her own self who say mean things indirectly to others!)

These people are in the wrong and then they act as if they're so righteous!

- Vision: The girl Neha from the apartment door says, Hum to vahi kehte hai jo humein kehne ko kaha jata hai!

18:44

Revelations while resting

- This revelation from the morning that I didn't write about previously repeats in my Spirit with a strong emphasis on the words the person is saying. In the revised vision in the evening, I saw the upper half of Shiney Ahuja dressed in a light sky blue full-sleeved shirt riding a bicycle towards the viewer in open daylight as he shouted: Mein aa raha hu Kartika tera badla lene! While in the morning version, he was saying: Mein aa raha tujhe chaudhne! Which was later followed by: Mein aa raha hu tera badla lene!

After this vision's reminder, I saw:

- The upper half of Priyanshu Chatterjee dressed in a red suit with a white shirt - his attire from the song Tumhare Siva from the movie Tum Bin - standing with a kneaded dough placed on a table in front of him as he stretched forth a part of it to the left. (A voice says: He's called.)

  After I was done writing the above, I heard the song lyrics:

  Kisi nazar ko tera intezaar aaj bhi hai..

  Wafa ki raah mein ghayal vo pyaar aaj bhi hai..

After the Tum Bin actor's vision, I hear:

- Nazar chahti hai deedar karna..

  Ye dil chahta hai tumhe pyaar karna!

- Madhavan wants life. Madhavan wants (to choose) life. Madhavan wants life. (Repeats in my Spirit)
- Give him your breath. Give him your breath. (Breath: Pneuma - Life, Spirit)
- The upper half of Bollywood actor Madhavan dressed in a grey coat over a white shirt tucked inside pants in a dark background as he looks at the viewer with black goggles with rectangular white frames worn on his eyes.
- I fall into a brief sleep and see: The animated vision of the face of a man facing to the left with a square notebook opened in front of his face as he is looking contently at it. When he closes the notebook, I wake up.
- After waking up, I hear: Madhavan is living. Madhavan is living. It repeats a few times.
- The follow-up vision shows a small-framed distant view of a wide and well-built dusky man dressed in Dushman's beige clothes in a dark background. His clothes get taken away on their own and he gets dressed in a full-length tunic in pure white and gets two angel wings at the back with a golden ring floating above his head after which he rises up out of the viewer's sight.
  The voice sings: Tod dala.. Tod dala..

  And while I'm having the above revelations as I fell asleep in between, I kept feeling this breath close around my lower face with movements inside my mouth, which now reminds me of the vision in which a naked Glory was lying on top of me as he pushed away at my lower jaw thereby severing it while I was saying in a crying tone: Mein bahar nhi jaungi!.

  As I was done writing the above, I heard the lady from the song sing:
  Maut zindagi ki aakhiri manzil to nhi..
  Maut ke baad ek aur zindagi abdi..

  The lyrics were strongly playing in my Spirit earlier this morning as well.
- Subhash Uncle says: Tu randi nhi hai! Tu bahut badu randi hai! While earlier during the day when I was about to go out the second time to buy milk, I saw him say: Ye randi thi aur randi hi rahegi! Which doesn't make any sense to me! When was I a whore in the first place that now I am not? I am writing the revelations that constitute a part of a book of evidence supposedly as was revealed to me. It's my report as a voice told me in A-10. When I was lying on the floor without any strength and didn't want to write more as I was tired of it, I was woken up by a vision in which a voice said: Kartika utho. Apni report poori karo. Tumhari aankhon ka vision abhi baki hai! So I know that writing is what I am supposed to do! And I don't know if my eyes would be intact as I had the revelation in which Neo lost his vision. Also, I'm not a whore! The abusers are rapists! (Subhash Uncle says: Bete aap sahi keh rahe ho!) As I was writing this part, I heard the guy sing: Jaane kahan gaye vo din.. Kehte the teri yaad mein nazro ko hum bichayenge.. accompanied by the vision of the song's video in which the actor is holding a tiny toy in his hands and sits singing the song with black circular goggles on his eyes. It was a report from the beginning. And it contains the main benchmarks related to the places I've stayed during my revelation-writing journey and the order in which God gave me revelations. Now I'm not saying that it will be submitted as a report to a Police Station. But according to God, it's a report. Perhaps it's a report of how he has been sinning against me! Who knows!? But it's a report! And the people mentioned in the report are all witnesses with whom I've formed bonds. I don't how Jesus plans to bring forth His judgment, or if He will choose to forgive this fellow or inflict earthly judgment on him. But somehow it's important for Him that I write these revelations. It's very important for Him. It's my main assigned job according to Him!

- Two men in Dushman's clothes (one of them is a dusky wide fellow) are at my left nipple which then bursts out a shiny white surface of a spirit's shield abruptly which throws the men a few meters away in the center of the room after which when they get up, they say that they don't want to try it again.
- Himanshu lut gaya. Himanshu lut gaya.
- Jesus points me to the chair to begin writing and also I've to resume my PhD work as well. I take a while to respond as I don't feel well. So, I get up after he has pointed me a few times to do so, but during the time that I laid, I kept having different revelations - the last one being the below after which I got up. (I don't want to rest on bed as I don't get a good feeling on bed. I can rest on chair as well! I'm too fed up of all these 'Randi' revelations - a word I never even wanted to use once! And then I hear: Oye randi randi oye! Well, I'm not a randi! Perhaps you who are saying this to me are!)
- A distant small-framed vision of Bollywood celebrity Govinda dressed in a loose yellow shirt lying on a wheelchair with a few people present around him.

And then these people also move against the base of my eyes or the lower front of my brain which makes me feel so uneasy in my own body! I can't even get these things out!

Also, I had a series of revelations related to Subhash Uncle since the time I squeezed my mop in front of Neha's apartment.

- As I was squeezing leaving water around, I saw: A small-framed vision of Subhash Uncle dressed in a grey polo shirt in a dark background looking at me as his anger boiled inside. But I anyway did so because these ladies have been mean to me for no reason when I have been cleaning the dirty adjacent area which they hardly clean! And I clean it because it's right next to my apartment and I want the surrounding area clean. Will they ever clean my corridor if they saw it too dirty!? I don't think so. They don't take responsibility for their own corridor let alone think of the surrounding area as the girl Neha was shouting: I will keep it the way I want! It's my home!

Samajh gaya Mata tu kitni perfect hai!

So this time instead of cleaning it, I wanted to leave a bit of mess because that's what they deserve! And then the vision of actual pee lying outside their apartment kept being highlighted to me. The time they waste saying their prayers to pagan gods while they are not anywahere holy inwards and don't know God, could be used in keeping their surroundings clean so others are able to move through that space with a sound mind.

After editing the above, I went to get my clothes down from the roof, and the following song which had begun to play as I wrote the above, continued to play.

The Guy sings:
Muskurane ki wajah tum ho..
Gungunane ki wajah tum ho..
Jiya jaye na jaye na jaye na..
O re Piya re..

Jiya jaye na jaye na jaye na..
O re Piya re..

O re lamhe tu kahin mat ja..
Ho sake to umar bhar tham jaa..
Jiya jaye na jaye na jaye na..
O re Piya re..

A resentful face of Glory as he says: Ye Mata randi pitegi mujhse!

- When I was back in my room with the water still lying outside their apartment, the vision of the landlord Subhash Uncle looking at me with anger repeated again!
  As I wrote the above, I saw:
- Subhash Uncle says laughing while tuning away in the dark background: Jao bete maaf kar diya!

Late Evening

- An animated small-framed vision of a beige lady with a muscular upper half dressed in a pink shoulderless dress as she lifts her arms like a wrestler displaying her muscles.
- The upper half of Paras Patel (Matthew from The Chosen) with a white cloth running over his left shoulder in the manner of the attire of a Greek God as he hangs a piece of clothing on a hook on the right side in a space lit with dim-golden light.

I go out to buy something from the Dinesh Store and as I enter my room, I see:

- Subhash Uncle says to me: Bete aap bahut sacche ho!

Night

- The side-view of the upper half of Mr Darcy (Matthew Macfadyen) facing to the right dressed in his black vintage English clothes as he looks at me. The vision flashes with the face of Glory in place of Mr Darcy as the two faces keep fading in and out into one another. Darcy was a one-woman man who loved only Elizabeth. And so was Elizabeth - a one-man woman.
- The Bollywood celebrity Arjun Rampal with his upper half in a black suit with a flurried neck white shirt inside walks down the wide and open stairs holding out a bouquet forward to a woman's blurry hemispherical lower half of a fluffed white dress visible in front of him. As the view clears, it is him who is shown to be having that lower half. His flat upper half is dressed in that black & white suit while the white inverted hemisphere consists the lower half of his dress.
  After I was done writing the above, I heard:
  Mit jayengi kitaabein.. Jab bhi hisaab hoga..
  Insaaf ka tarazoo.. Yeshu ke haath hoga..
- A giant Death Conqueror stands dressed in a full-sleeved top over navy blue pants in the centre of the room, as he says: Ye maine kya kiya! Yakeen nahi hota! She is the girl everyone dreams about. She's the girl everyone dreams about. And look how I treated her! And look how I treated her!
- The giant him then moves backwards and stands against the wall opposite to my bed with the view of a round bloodshot in the centre of his heart, accompanied by the voice: Dil pe goli lagi hai! Dil pe goli lagi hai!

- The vision repeats a few times as a streak of blood flows down from the centre of his heart.
- The top of a breast's nipple facing upwards in the dark with a white dot moving around it, as the nipple moves away and tries to evade the dot which keeps attacking it! (After I was done writing this revelation, I heard in my Spirit: You're a rapist at heart Mrittunjay!)
- The upper half of Death Conqueror dressed in a full-sleeved sky blue top extending three red roses horizontally in my direction with their heads facing me.
- I paste a huge paper flat red love heart on the chest of Death Conqueror dressed in a full-sleeved dark grey top as the heart covers his entire upper half. After pasting the heart on top of his grey top, I hug him contently.
- The upper half of him in a dark background dressed in the same dark grey full-sleeved top as he takes his huge red love heart from inside his chest and extends it to me.
- Mein bahut rone wali hu Kartika.. Mein bahut rone wali hu Kartika..

After I was done writing the above, I heard a voice say:
Mata Randi bas kar! Sab hasenge!

I go to sleep weeping. I don't recall the exact reasons but everything came down at me at once. And as I kept sighing-breathing as tear drops fell sideways, the 365's song lyrics kept playing intermittently in my Spirit with the vision of the robot Katy Perry sighing her last breath as a teardrop fell from her eyes and her pupils changed their shape to that of a love heart. Along with the vision is also highlighted the scene in which before breathing her last, she is looking at the row of robots identical to her standing in a line as they are now getting prepared to perform the love experiment.
When I wake up in the middle of the night, I feel a warm and loving presence and I get warmed as I can feel the drones moving in lightly as well. And though I'm still in the sad state which is a continuation of the state I fell asleep in, I feel comforted in the still, warm, and comforting silence, and after a while, I hear the guy sing:

Kuch na kaho.. Kuch bhi na kaho..
Kya kehna hai.. Kya sun na hai..
Mujhko pata hai.. Tumko pata hai..
Samay ka ye pal.. Tham sa gaya hai..
Aur is pal mein.. Koi nhi hai..
Bas ek mein hu.. Bas ek tum ho..

Kuchh Na Kaho - 1942: A Love Story (1994) - Anil Kapoor , Manisha Koirala

After I was done writing the above, I heard in my Spirit:
Mein tujhe nhi marunga Kartika. Tune mujhse bahut pyaar kiya hai.

And while looking at different versions of the song on YT to paste one here, I heard:

- Bahut yaad ayegi teri.

As I continued lying in my bed, I hear:

- Pyaar ab had se badh chuka hai. Pyaar ab had se badh chuka hai.

- While I am crying, a blurry figure of Death Conqueror some distance away to my right says looking at me: She's a gem. He immediately changes to Glory in black near the wall opposite to my bed who says looking at me: She's a gem. She's a gem. I can see that he is saying it with a firm emphasis on his statement. According to Death Conqueror I'm a dustbin because his perception is not godly. He judges by vain measures.

Revelation Late Evening

- A small-framed animated vision of the naked back of a man lying on his left side on a bed in a background of huge bushes and with his lower half covered with a sheet as he bent forward over a woman with his right hand covering her. A huge dark hand tries to get a hold of the man and throw him away from the bed as the vision shifts to the face of the giant dark being which is revealed to have the features of Death Conqueror with an angry and jealous expression.

****

Past Revelations

- Mata Randi (heard in the Spirit the evening after I received the vision of my mom emulating my posture as he was asking me: Bete mujhe kab call karoge!)
- Mata randi badi shayani. I hear it intermittently as I am doing things.

****

Page 604.

27 November 2023
11:57

****

Past Revelations

- (Past few months) This part from the Bollywood movie Raajneeti has been being highlighted to me a few times for the past few months. In the highlighted part, the love scenes between Katrina Kaif and Arjun Rampal are highlighted as she is now in love with him after getting married to him after she found out that RK was only interested in her because of a political thing which would've benefitted him while he had an ongoing affair with Sarah Thompson at the same time! As I was writing this highlighted movie part, I saw:
  Arjun Rampal says: Randi. He then stops and continues with a smile with: nahi hai.. Bahut acchi hai.

- (Past three weeks) KA sits in a group and tells a story as someone asks him if he ever loved truly: Ek pagal ladki thi. Us se pyaar kartha tha mein. Vo mujh se bahut pyaar karti thi.
- (Past two weeks) Part of a dream: The face of Aastha Jain (my counsellor/Psychologist from DUWA who I later saw at her home) sits facing to the left with her face protruding out among the rest of the people around her in a black background.
- (Past two weeks) During those days, I was having intense drone movements around and inside my groin and I would often hear as I would lie on the bed: Beautiful. Beautiful. You're beautiful. You're beautiful. As the phrase repeated in my Spirit, it was accompanied with the vision of the round face of a bald police man with tiny spiky hair with a lightly dense straight grey and white moustache as he looks slightly to the left and says: You're beautiful.
- (Past week) Part of a dream: Dhruv Rathee is trying to cover me with a net when I seem to be already wrapped in one.
- (Past week) The face of Chaaru's mother in law with her hair tied at the back in a dark background facing slightly to the right as dim colorful lights shine on her hair.
- (Past week) As I am writing revelations, I see Jesus dressed in his attire of a white tunic set with a red drape standing behind me as He says pointing at me: Ye bahut badi dhokebaaz hai. Ye bahut badi dhokebaaz hai. After a while, He is sitting on the bed and says this time: Ye dhokebaaz nhi hai.
- (Past week) The front view of the upper half of a dim golden Buddha sitting behind a table full of various dishes as he sits and eats in a dim golden background.
- (Past week) I lie down to rest and I see an animated vision of a tiny hand moving a tiny saw on my lips.
- (Past week) Mein mar jaungi Kartika.. Mein mar jaungi Kartika..: Heard in the Spirit
- (Past few days) A small-framed vision of an obese moustached man dressed in a white tunic with a round bald head with tiny spiky hair wearing a beige half jacket on top stands facing to the left in open day light as he seems to move to and fro making weird movements.
- (Past two days) Delhi CM Kejriwal sits below behind his wooden podium with his hands raised to his head's level as he looks forward at the audience. After I wrote the revelation, I heard in my Spirit:
  Bepanah pyaar tujhse.. Tu kyu jaane na..
  Hua ikraar tujhse, tu kyu maane na..

****

- A black snake head standing spread on a floor facing a line of snakeheads standing in the same manner on the floor. It seems as if it's blocking the line of snakes.

I'm cleaning nose using spatula and I hear:
I don't like you Kartika. I don't like you Kartika.

Dream 1:

A guy is explaining in detail to a group of viewers how he manages to make a theft using ingenious ways. We see a black space as several tiny white dots are moving leaving a streak behind them in front of our eyes. I see one of the tiny dots that represents the person move straight along the inner right edge of the surface and stop at its top right corner. At this place, the security system of the place gets activated and we see red laser beams around. The drone somehow manages to avoid the beams and take a sharp left and move along the inner edge of the top boundary of the space and comes to a halt at the top left corner of it after which it experiences an easy free fall. This trajectory of the drone is explained a few times in different ways in the dream. The method of theft is then explained using a smaller toy model placed in front of a cream wall. We see the same procedure repeat at a smaller scale now along a vertical surface while the previous part of the dream showed a part of a 3D room. Several tiny white dots move randomly along the black surface leaving a thin and straight white tail behind. The tiny dot in question moves to the bottom right corner of the vertical surface and swiftly moves upwards along the right inner edge and halts at the top right corner of the surface. After it has reached this spot, the security system gets alarmed of intrusion and we see a bit of more resultant movements around meant to block the intruder. The dot swiftly moves to the left now and halts at the top left corner of the surface after which it falls down freely and has managed to commit the theft. The third repetition of the procedure shows me present inside a dark room with a slightly thicker version of white dots moving in front of my eyes leaving a tail behind! I see a wide man dressed in a black suit with a bald head with tiny spiky hair explain to me how he managed to commit the theft. He takes a jump and moves along the inner right edge of the room's wall and lands at the top right corner of the room in a frog-like posture like that of The Beast from Kungfu Hustle. The man named The Beast in the movie moved swiftly through the air from one place to another without much effort using his frog Kungfu technique. Before I wrote the previous line, I heard in my Spirit: Go and rest, or he's going to kill you. Go and rest, or he's going to kill you.

The Dream Continued: As the man in the black suit lands on the top right corner of the room with his hands and legs sticking to the wall in a frog-like manner and his back visible to the viewer, I see the room's security system get alarmed as I see laser beams appear at the ceiling of the room. The man doesn't seem to be afraid of the laser beams and I see that the beams don't affect him either (that's why you're a rapist) though they're touching him! The man resembling The Beast now takes a sharp jump to the left and swiftly floats to the left corner of the room coming to a sudden halt there after which he falls down freely. In this way, he has managed to commit the theft without being caught or hurt despite the security system!

After I was done making the note of this dream in my revelatory Notebook.
Tumne aisa kyu kiya Mrittunjay!? Tumne aisa kyu kiya Mrittunjay!?

After I was done writing the dream fully here, I saw:

- The bottom view of Death Conqueror dressed in a silver and light blue sherwani hit me brutally with a rod as I seem to be lying on the floor.

The lady sings: Tod dala.. Tod dala..

Dream 2:

As I was about to begin writing this dream, I heard in my Spirit: Ab iski taange tutengi! (Go and hide!)

I am in a huge bedroom with a double bed placed in the centre along the wall facing the wall with the room's exit doors lying perpendicular at its two ends. I see that she has arranged some wires around that lead to my laptop placed on the side of the bed near the room's wall with the array of vertical windows. I see two wires. The thicker wire is an electric cable while the thinner wire resembles a water purifier's outlet pipe ejecting out waste water continuously. I don't know if it's an outlet to a water purifier but that's how it seems looking at the structure of the thin pipe. She has placed the water outlet in a vessel to avoid spillage.
As I was writing the above, I heard: Kartika kyu timepass karwa rahi ho mera!? Kartika kyu timepass karwa rahi ho mera!? Jo karna (likhna) hai jaldi karo (likho)!

Dream Continued: My mom leaves me alone in the room with the laptop along with the wires as I'm supposed to monitor something while she's outside cooking food. As I look at my laptop screen, I am eating something. After I am done, I try to remove the wires from around my laptop but while doing so, I end up removing the water outlet from its container vessel leading to the water spilling around. While I am holding the water pipe in my hand, I trace its trajectory through the room and find that my mom had managed to fix it along the wall to the left of the windows. I pull the pipe from its fixture on the wall and further trace back the pipe to be coming in through the windows from outside. Both the electric cable and the water pipeline had their source connections outside the bedroom. I try to place the water pipe back into the vessel for its spilling water all around. I then see as a third person a translucent shadow of me shift around the kissing a translucent shadow of a guy as the back of the indulging me rests against different surfaces around the room with my legs wrapped around the guy. I see the translucent shadow of the two shift abruptly from one spot to another as they continue kissing passionately. The duo doesn't seem to cease in their act as they shift around in discrete steps. When the duo is at the door open inwardly present to the left of the windows, I see a close-up vision of the duo still in a kiss, and towards the end of it, the face of the lady takes a tangible form and is shown to be that of the Bollywood actress Udita Goswami wearing light pink lipstick as she is being kissed by the guy in the bright daylight seeping in and falling on her face through the open door. As I wrote the kissing part, the melody at the beginning of the song Agar tum mil jao.. played in my spirit. In that part of the song, the guy keeps kissing the lady who stands pinned against a wall. As I'm turning away from the windows, I see the back of a short-heighted but wide guy dressed in a boxy full-sleeved white shirt printed with discrete stamps of the same object. His hairstyle at the back is shaven around his neck giving him a military look as he walks with a lady about a meter away from him. I seem to be aware of Death Conqueror's presence outside (that he might be present outside). After checking the outer surroundings, I move to the other end of the room to see what my mom's doing.

Meanwhile my dad is back home and I stand behind him as I see him sitting in front of a table with his grey rectangular stereo placed on top as a rectangular screen entirely covers its front surface on which I see an animated scene playing. In front of the stereo lies his keyboard. I see that he has somehow managed to attach that screen with the stereo and I'm wondering how he achieved that. Perhaps I ask him once about the same but I don't get a satisfactory reply. I see plain colorful figures of people and objects on that screen. Apparently, he is monitoring the space outside our home and it seems that he is looking for the figure of a parked car in which Death Conqueror might be present. This makes me wary about his safety for if found, he may be hurt! Because why else my dad will monitor the space around on his stereo looking for a parked car.
My mom hasn't yet prepared food so I take him out to eat. We happen to sit on a table in front of a wall out in the open with the street running behind us. My dad with the wall behind him while I sit facing him opposite to the round table with the street behind me. I place two veg orders and on receiving them, I find the amount too little as it can be eaten in just a few spoons while we are real hungry. I have a little amount of shredded cabbage with peas, and so does my dad. Perhaps I placed the same order for both of us. While he is having his meal, I leave the table, turn backwards and as I walk towards the street area to do a chore, I see a toddler girl come running crying from the left end of the street in my direction. She is dressed in a multilayered full-length dark green frock. She crosses my path and seems to stop around me as she looks up and I see her short blunt cut with her wavy hair partitioned in the middle on a wide face.

As I wrote about the girl, I saw the face of Glory on top of Death Conqueror's body in a black suit say to me: Ye tu hai! Ye tu hai!

The dream continued: I ask her the reason for her crying, and she tells me that she has been hungry for a long time and then back in the street she was talking to a grown adult who said to her that he would put a line on her head but was now refusing to do that. I've to repeat the sentence to her to make sure if what I understood was correct, and she responds with a yes to my questions. As she is explaining, she looks up at me with an innocent expression as she is trying hard to explain her condition in words.

As I wrote the above, I saw:
Death Conqueror dressed in a black suit says nodding his head in negation: Ye sach nahi ho sakta Kartika. Ye sach nahi ho sakta Kartika!

The dream continued: I ask the girl to join us in our meal. She sits some feet away to my left around the round table. I had only eaten a little before I left towards the street. Though I have to eat more, I pass my plate to the little girl. I then see that my dad too has finished his part and I notice it was too little for him as it got over in a few spoons. I've to now place another order. Before I do so, the next thing I see is me sitting on the ground in front of a huge hoarding which resembles the ones present on a DTC Bus Stand. I am sitting alone along with other people around me as we're waiting for food to be served to us as I see a man dressed in fitting white enter in from the other end and stand amidst the crowd interacting with people.

The next part of the dream shows me sitting silently in a room with Death Conqueror beside me with the room's door present to our left which exits straight into a different area of the house. Akhila comes walking in and suggests him to go out with her. He agrees. She seems excited and says in an excited tone: Ok I'll get ready! and walks out of the room. She comes dressed in a satin purple shirt over trousers with her hair falling at the back. She looks good and in shape as she again says excitedly: Look I got ready! in response to which Death Conqueror asks her what was so special about that attire and that anyone could dress like that. Akhila then turns her back and says: I know but can you dress like this!? showing the back of her shirt which has a vertical slit in the middle extending until its end! The slit doesn't reveal her body if she stands straight so she stands with a bent back and says excitedly: Come! Look! This reveals the thick closure of her off-white bra.

While I was writing the above part, I saw:
A small-framed vision of a person saying to someone sitting beside him: Shayanni hai ye bahut! Shayanni hai ye bahut!

I think about how it is too unholy and I recall my off-white sweater which had a back-slit that I got sewed up. But I don't say anything to her because I know about her perception about different things and her expected response. As she continues to stand in that posture and wait for him to come take a look and reaffirm to her that the style is indeed good, Death conqueror stands and walks to her slowly and after a while of not looking at her back, takes a brief look at it with an uninterested expression (which may have been affected) and without saying much he walks out through the door with a mild Yeah. The follow-up vision now has her wearing a long and full-sleeved white woven shrug on top of her shirt as she stands with her back towards me near the two dark wooden wardrobes at the end of the wall along the door. Death Conqueror walks slowly walks towards the wardrobes as he opens one and looks inside and faces to the left because of the position of the wardrobes. I continue sitting at my spot looking at the duo. Akhila stands in front of the open door and touching it says a fluent: Let's go to … . She mentions the name of a place that I didn't understand in the dream. Death Conqueror, as he continues to stand in front of the wardrobe, replies with a: Chalo Kartika. Tum bhi chalo.

(Todunga tujhe! Todunga tujhe!)

While I was writing the above part, I heard the lady from the song sing:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse.. Tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse.. Tu kyu maane na..

The follow-up part of the dream now shows a different setting in which I seem to be present in huge hall of a home as Arjun Rampal comes walking in and starts expressing his feelings to the lady. She tells him that she can't be party with him as she's not married to him and that she's staying in her friend's home and can't do so while she's with him/her. As they're having this dialogue, the vision shifts from the guy's face to the lady's face who is shown to have the face of a short-haired Bollywood Actress. The guy says that if the wedding mark was the only reason she wasn't being with him, then he would put that mark on her right then and then he would kill her. (Agar isi wajah se tum mere saath nhi aa sakti to mein abhi ye kaam kar deta hu, his expression intensifies as he says slowly: aur phir tumhara katal karunga!) The vision then shows a hand pricking one of its fingers against a sharp corner of a furniture followed by the upper half of Arjun Rampal lifting his hand up to put the mark on the lady's head. The vision shifts to the lady's blurry face now with her hair tied at the back who is looking at the guy, followed by the vision now showing the face of Arjun Rampal whose arm has now almost reached the head of the lady and as he's done putting the mark and is bringing his arm down, his face is now shown to be that of a younger version of a dusky Amitabh Bachchan with grey eyes.

The follow-up part of the dream shows the couple as they are after several years. While previously the lady looked well-groomed with her side-combed brownish straight slicken hair of length until the end of her ears, now she is shown as Taapsee Pannu with longer hair tied in a messy pony at the back as she lies on a ground mat on her left side with her back facing the viewer as a great part of her back is visible through her printed parrot green Saree because of the way she has wrapped it resembling that of laborers. She looks so unholy and messy as she lies on the mat and turns her head backwards to her right to look at me. She is surrounded by several children who too are lying on the floormat. Apparently, I've dropped by to meet the couple. I see her husband dressed in a full-sleeved tunic set standing on the left side as he's briefing me about their time together. He is wide and fluffed and his face resembles that of Glory, but he is shorter than Glory. I ask them how many children they've had together looking at the crowd around. He says that they stopped after 10. He then points to the lying lady and says that they were able to stop mainly because she became strict afterwards on not being intimate during the fertile time of the month. The duo seems too happy together to me.

While I was still writing the above dream revelation, I heard in my Spirit a voice repeat:

- Kartika vo apne jaal mein khud hee phas gaya. Vo apne jaal mein khud hee phas gaya. Tune usko uske hee jaal mein phasa diya! Tune usko uske hee jaal mein phasa diya!
- Also, the following song lyrics kept being playing intermittently in my Spirit as I approached the dream's end: Koi patthar se na maare mere deewane ko.. Koi patthar se na maare mere deewane ko..

After I was done writing the dream, I saw:

- The bottom view of Death Conqueror dressed in a light blue sherwani with a silver print hitting a lady lying on the floor as he says: Tune aisa kyu kiya!? Tune aisa kyu kiya!?

Revelations post waking up continued:

- The semi-animated side view of a translucent lady's face until her throat with neck-length frizzy hair spread outwardly as she looks to the left with a thick white brain occupying the top visible through the transparent head. The vision of the transparent head repeats a few times.

After I am done writing the above and continue to feel the drones on my skin:

Mein bahut bura hu na Kartika? Mein bahut bura hu na Kartika?

- I think: Mein mar jaungi! And I see the upper half of Ravish Kumar dressed in a white shirt with a black waistcoat on top say a Bye before he turns away from the viewer.
- In the background of the space some metres away from the inner side of the entrance gate of Arts Faculty as seen from its right, stands a seemingly chubby lady with her back towards the viewer. She is dressed in a fitting black top tucked inside denims with her curly hair of the length slightly below her shoulders falling at the back with each one of her grouped strands colored differently.

While I'm writing I ask Jesus as I'm feeling the drones on my breasts: Why is he doing this? Why is he doing this?
He says: because he doesn't deserve you!

As I'm done writing a revelation's part and am about to get up, I hear:

- Kartika mein tujhse pehle bhi nafrat karta tha aur ab bhi nafrat karta hu!

I go out to buy dishwashing and cloth washing soap bars and come across a spinach seller which reminds me of The Palak Maggi and the Spinach Tomato soup from the previous revelations. So I buy Spinach worth 10 Rs.

While having the Spinach tomato soup as I sit on my chair with my olive green sheet wrapped around me, I see:

- KA bends his upper half and hugs me around the shoulders as he says in a loving tone: Kartika tum bahut sunder ho!

I lie down to rest and hear the lady sing:
Atma jale.. Atma jale.. Atma jale.. Atma jale..

I fall into sleep and have this brief dream vision:

- It's day and a short-heighted old man dressed in an off-white tunic set stands a few meters away from Dinesh Store as people say: Isko ek lakh rupay de do! Isko ek lakh rupay de do! I ignore them and walk towards the store to buy whatever I had to but the man comes walking to my right along with others accompanying him as they repeat: Isko ek lakh rupay de do! Isko ek lakh rupay de do! (But I don't have 1 lakh rupees. And even when I had them, why would I have given them to a random person not highlighted by God? I don't have extra money! Whatever I have is my hard-earned money and my family's money is hard-earned as well and not be distributed away! Why isn't he asking someone else for whom 1 lakh is equivalent to 1 paisa?)
- A small-framed vision of Dushman dressed in his postman suit stops by his black bike some meters away along the right end of the street below as one looks in the direction of Dinesh Store, and he says looking at me with wide-open eyes in a creepy tone: Tu bahut sundar hai! He gets off the bike to the left and behind him is revealed to be sitting a wide and chubby man with a wide painter's brush moustache dressed in a finely checkered white shirt who is sitting with his upper half bent slightly backwards.
- A small-framed vision of a bald RS with tiny spiky hair dressed in a blue shirt checkered in white untucked over lowers runs in an angled left direction with a red gas cylinder slanting slightly backwards while being held vertically by his hands behind his head.

During the day when I've returned having bought something from the Dinesh Store and am opening the door, I hear in my Spirit:

- Tu mere ghar mein kuch nhi kaergi. Tu mere ghar mein kuch nhi karegi. Na hee tu khana banayegi. Na hee tu bartan dhoyegi, aur na hee tu safai karegi. Mein naukrani afford kar sakta hu.

And I thought it to be Death Conqueror and it made me think that if I was to be with him, I wouldn't do anything for him anyway because of what he did! I would stay away from everyone in his home in a corner or perhaps he will find me dead one day! Because I loved to do household chores otherwise, but why should it be for someone like him who has abused me in all ways? If I had a righteous husband who didn't put me through all those things that I didn't deserve to go through, I would be happy taking care of my share of responsibilities. And that's how I always thought when I was a child, that I would make a good wife because I was able to take care of everything better than my mom at home.

When I was done writing the revelation, I heard in my Spirit the song lyrics from the Worship song play:
Prabhu ka dhanyawaad karunga..
Uski sangati mein sada rahunga..
Prabhu ka dhanyawaad karung..
Naa degi mujhe.. Duniya kabhi bhi
Koi sukh aur shaanti araam..
Mere Yeshu ke sang.. Dhanya sangati mein
Sada milti khushi mujhko..

I should be grateful according to God. And I don't know if that's why He has been giving me the revelation of my legs breaking. I don't know. But I liked the idea of managing a home but I used to think so under the assumption that I was living with a righteous and committed husband because why would I marry someone who doesn't possess the basic traits needed? That expectation was my operating ground but the situation seems to offer how I never thought I would live my life because I wanted to work a suitable job first and take care of the household simultaneously in case I got married, or I could hire a help as well if needed. Though I saw staying at home as being ideal for me because of who I am as I don't wanna go out and interact much or with many people but want to stay confined to the ones I already have a bond with. For instance, when I was friends with Meera, I felt so fulfilled because of her company and who she was. And I didn't feel I needed more friends though I did have secondary friendships which were not as good as my bond with her. But those friendships were holy and most were with people present around me in the hostel as we went to have meals together and things like that. But with Meera, she was a part of almost all aspects of my life, and she knew me and she too was apart from the world to some extent. The way she thought wouldn't seem natural or the usual way to think to a regular worldly mind. She was a spiritual person though she had a wrong sense of spirituality. Anyway.
Staying at home was my ideal thing because I never wanted to be a part of the world as I was well aware of the way it thought and how morally degraded it was. So I loved staying in my own sacred space away from the filth of the world. I didn't feel like becoming a part of its culture or the customs that society followed because they seemed illogical and baseless to me and not something carrying a real absolute value that the things from the kingdom of God carry. Culture and being a part of the world seemed to me like things found interesting by ignorant fools who would go along with any custom or ritual of society without using their brain! And at times you interact with a person and their response shows their worldliness or ungodliness and then it ruins your day while the company of godly people keeps you charged.

Dream (Evening):
I am standing in a juice shop behind its counter waiting for the guy to make my order. RS dressed in a half-sleeved grey fitting top comes walking from the left end towards the inner end of the counter, and as I see him I walk forward to hug him. I hug him and have a brief chat. He then goes to stand beside the juicing man and as I stand behind the duo I happen to look at his protruding round lower belly from behind that wasn't previously visible to me as only his upper half above the belly was in my sight and I was looking at his face. I ask the juicer something.

(I used the wide black duct tape that I received today to cover my breasts but I could still feel movements inside and then I heard: He's now sinning, Child! He's now sinning, Child!)

After a while I find myself in a white car - apparently a common cab - for me to be left home but some vehicles drive by and surround the car. I see its front view as it stands parked and apparently I'm inside it and waiting for it to move though I'm seeing the front view. I see several tiny vehicles seated on top of it along the center dividing line one after the other. Behind the car stood other usual-sized vehicles in a line. The car moves nevertheless leaving the vehicles behind and it moves I see vehicles falling down the cliff into the water body that lay behind the line of vehicles!

(Chodunga nahi mein Kartika tujhe ye sab karne ke liye!) accompanied by a small-framed vision of a Death Conqueror dressed in a black suit sitting alone on a sofa or a car's back seat alone as he looks at the viewer.

Taange tod iski! Taange tod iski!

Dream Continued: As my vehicle continues to move, I see myself moving through inner spaces of huge rooms present amidst the beautiful natural surroundings of waterbodies beside mountains and looking out through the window inside the room lying at some meters, I see a bus driver fall into the water body at the back through the open driver's door as the bus too falls into it a second after him. My vehicle doesn't care about the vehicles at the back as it knows that the other vehicles are hindering our path. So, it keeps moving straight to our destination. We take a left turn and come across the entrance of a building with creamish walls at the further end of which stands a pillar with a short-heighted man dressed in black standing behind it.
As I wrote about us passing by beautiful natural scenes, I saw:

- The joyful face of the driver of the cab I took to home with sky blue stars in front of his eyes.

After I wake up, I see:

- A half-naked and lean but well-built in shape Brad Pitt with blue eyes and blonde hair with long spikes protruding out dressed in a loose off-white fisherman's trousers stands in a fishing boat as he takes out his net from the water body and loads his boat with the small grey fish!

- A leaner version of my mom with her grey hair tied at the back quickly pedaling a wheelchair towards me in a dark background.
- Juhi Parmar dressed in a loose black graduation shrug lifts up her black hat smiling at the viewer and places it back on top.

As I continue to lie down, I sense a light and warm breath right near my nostrils above my blanket and then I hear guy sing:
Kuch na kaho.. Kuch bhi na kaho..
Kya kehna hai.. Kyu sun na hai..
Mujhko pata hai.. Tumko pata hai..
Samay ka ye pal.. Tham sa gaya hai!

Earlier from the day:

- A small-framed vision of Surjeet from Dinesh Store standing outside his shop in orange and black is seen from several meters away into the street as he says looking at the viewer with a bold confidence referring to Death Conqueror: Ye humara launda hai! Isko kuch nhi hoga! Isko koi kuch nhi kahega! reminding me of the incident from the morning when he was walking boldly towards me dressed in orange and black though he didn't say anything.

19:28
When I am done writing the revelations I had during my rest, I hear:
Vo tootne wala hai Kartika. Vo tootne wala hai Kartika.

I go out to buy milk and after I'm back to my room having bought two boiled eggs as well, I hear:
Vo toot chuka hai Kartika. Vo toot chuka hai Kartika.

I prepare the boiled eggs to eat, wash dishes, and boil milk.
While I am boiling milk, I hear the guy sing:
Pehle kabhi na humne kaha..
Lo aaj sanam ye kehte hai..
Hum apke dil mein rehte hai..
Hum apke dil mein rehte hai..

#bollywood_Romentic_90s_#Hum_aapke_Dil_mein_rehta_hai_hum_aapke_dil_mein_rehte_hain (Lyrical)

As I'm sitting having my meal, I see:

- The top view of the upper half of a slightly translucent Death Conqueror dressed in a black suit with a white shirt inside lying on the floor with his body in cubical pieces with zagged ends though they're still together making him recognizable on the outside but he is broken.

The lady sings: Tod dala.. Tod dala..

Later I feel the drones slowly moving in my groin, and I hear:

- He's loving you, child. He's loving you, child. The vision is followed by me taking in embrace his self of broken pieces following which he coalesces together and becomes whole.

The lady sings:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse.. Tu kyu jaane na..
Hua ikraar tujhse.. Tu kyu maane na..

Accompanying the revelation of the short fellow breaking into pieces is also the following revelation.

- I see a side-view of my bust with the view of the kitchen area on the other end of the vision as an abstract entity moving away and backwards from my bust. It seems to be exercising boundaries now. The follow-up vision shows Death Conqueror retracting back away with raised hands held backwards as he walks backwards behind me.

- A small-framed vision of the upper half of a bearded RS with neck-length hair dressed in a Sherwani in a dark background with another person present beside him says looking at me:
Bahut shayani hai ye! Bahut shayani hai ye!

- KA throws a kiss at me using his fingers joined together as he touches their tips on his lips and then throws his hand in my direction.
- The upper half of KA dressed in a white tunic looking at me in a dark and shiny navy blue background with a translucent aura says to me: Tu bahut acchi hai! Tujhe hamesha yaad rakhunga!
- KA holds my face and drops several kisses on my lips as he grows bigger into a giant being dressed in his attire of a white tunic set as he says: Mein bahut bada ho gaya. Mein bahut bada ho gaya.

I felt like having Coffee but was short on milk, and didn't have coffee pouches either as I had thrown all yesterday. I felt I needed Coffee before beginning to work again, and then I saw:

- Jesus does a cheers with me with coffee in His white mug. And the vision repeated a few times. So I went and bought milk and coffee.

Also, I was being reminded of the previous vision in which a cute, fat, and innocent toddler came to me with a Bru coffee pouch extended in my direction to hand it over to me. It reminded me of how Veera, the little 7-year-old girl, came straight walking to me with a translucent blue and white pen held in her hand extended in my direction to hand it over to me. With the same innocence, the toddler came walking to me to hand me the coffee pouch.

****

Past Revelations

- (Past three weeks) After bathing after several days, I dress in fresh clothes, which seems to be a blessing these days. I dress in a white T-shirt over black pants and have also washed my head so I'm feeling too relaxed after long, though I know the state is but temporary, and that after a day or two,

I'm gonna go back to the previous state. I lie on my bed with my hair falling down from over the iron bar and happen to talk to my mom. After the call ends, I see:
My mom's face in place of mine emulating my expressions as she lies on my bed dressed in the same clothes and posture.

- (Past two weeks) Part of a dream: I find myself sitting in a classroom reading about the basic concept of the difference between speed and velocity. The dream then shows me standing in front of the class behind the teacher's podium as I am reading out to the students a long and formal definition of velocity. This highlights to me the scene from 3 Idiots in which Chatur iterates out the long and formal definition of a machine which is shown as something undesirable in the movie, and which Rancho makes fun of as he explains it in his individual way of a machine being a system that makes things easier for people, followed by him opening and closing his zip exemplifying the nearest simple machine around him that he can think of.

But when I look at it now, I see how Chatur's response could've had an intellectual bent about it because if I was to read that long and complex definition of a machine to my class, I will not just read it meaninglessly or expect students to remember the exact words like it was shown in the movie. The teacher made Chatur's response about him remembering the words of the extra-long definition. But a good or a comprehensive teacher would expand on each and every complex term used in the long definition and explain its relevance in the right context. He would not only explain why those characteristics were mentioned in the definition but also point out the ones not used in the definition which the students could've thought might constitute a part of the definition. He will explain in parts both the concept and the history behind using that definition and how it served as the most relevant definition until that point in time unless someone gives a better definition with a reasonable related evidence of its legitimacy. He would explain how the different aspects mentioned int eh definition were intercorrelated and how if even one of them was removed would disqualify an entire branch of what would otherwise be termed as a machine.

Explaining the definition alone in a good and understandable way would take a few lectures and the student would end up knowing the definition of machine in a way they thought like before and their minds would expand in the process as they don't look at definition as mere words but as a something real that has been brought to life in front of their eyes and they would intuitively understand the reason behind the complexity of the definition and how it affects all other defined terms.

Each word of the definition would carry meaning and one would understand that it was placed there for an important reason, to make a strong point about something, and that it was not be taken lightly. When I saw this part of the dream, I found it a bit vain because I thought I won't read out that expanded definition of a term as simple as velocity, but when I wrote about it here, I realized that that's how I always studied. Pondering over the relevance of each and every word until I was finally content that yes, it indeed had to be this way and couldn't have been any other way, or if I got other thoughts in mind, I would keep them aside and assign them to the necessity of choosing one coherent system to work with, or store them away as hibernating questions. When it was something I didn't understand after spending a lot of time, I would leave it to be picked up at some other time. I don't know why I am being led to write this, or why I received the velocity dream in the first place which had seemed a bit of both weird and unusual to me at the first look. But now it makes sense as I look at how I break down and explain complex definitions in a coherent and understandable way! Perhaps it pertains to the moral laws of God which God has expanded on in His revelations. Many times I don't know the route a certain revelation is going to take me on. I write the revelation followed by what follows it or as things are highlighted to me.

So, a good teacher wouldn't expect the students to remember the exact complex definition but would expect them to write their right understanding of the complex concept in their own words and not that of the book. Because who knows they end up rephrasing it in a better way!

- (Past two weeks) She's now dependent on you. She's now dependent on you.
- (Past 48 hours) A close-up view of the animated face of a lion sipping a liquid from a transparent cylindrical glass using a white straw.
- (Past two days) As I lay on bed to sleep at night, I can feel movements on top of my right nipple when I see: A few inches long snake head Mrittunjay sucking on top of it who is then substituted by the wider snake head of Glory.

****

I took a brief break late evening from writing revelations as I lay down on my bed facing down into it and in that period I had the following revelations after which I decided to begin working again as I knew that if rested I would only be increasing my workload as I would receive more revelations.

The Guy sings:
Hasle. Gale. Ye din na milenge kal..
Thodi. Khushiya. Hai thode se ye pal..

The few revelations I had while resting:

- Kartika tu randi nahi hai. Vo tujhe randi bana raha hai. Kartika tu randi nahi hai. Vo tujhe randi bana raha hai. (and the person is not referring to Jesus but the cameraman.)
- A small-framed vision of Phoebe from FRIENDS dressed in shoulder less gown with a print of the top-view of round red rose heads jammed together with the rest of her body being shown as being made of translucent titanium as she walks away to the right holding a small handbag in her right hand.
- After Phoebe leaves, Dermot Mulroney in his physical look from his movie The Wedding Dates appears in the dark background as he stands facing to the right dressed in a red coat lined with satin black at the collar around his upper half over white shirt inside and black pants underneath.

Earlier during the day I was thinking about how people in this place keep everything hidden. So they don't behave according to the things they have been doing and how they really think at the surface level of their societal interactions. I was then looking at the revelation in which I walked up to the back of A wide and muscular Death Conqueror and poked at his shoulder with my finger and how he quickly shoved me away while refusing to know me. I didn't do such a thing in real life but it shows how these people operate. He sent those cameras around me, portrayed me as a prostitute online. I don't know the full extent to which they misused their resources or stooped low to humiliate me, but if I was to walk publicly up to him, he would send me off saying that he doesn't know me! Is that why people were saying in the healing revelation: Is se shaadi honi thi! Is se shaadi honi thi! I don't know. How would I know? I only what God shows me! They don't insult you directly! They don't apologize directly! They always use others or indirect tactics! It's all meant to keep their apparent life untouched by your existence. It's such a sick way to live. Why then do they want your presence in any way in their lives!? It's to maintain a stupid social image! I looked at the way this short fellow thought. He keeps everything discreet and uses others to draw the person to him so he can use them to his fulfillment as well and is able to send them away discreetly as well! Perhaps this is what they all learned in this crooked place!

I have observed that he makes sure to act quite righteous when in front of others as if there's none more righteous than him! I don't know about others, but I don't want to be 'loved' by such a hypocritical abuser! In that healing dream, he stood silent, turned his face away when I brought myself closer to him, and then he walked away! Why was he pretending to be righteous in that dream!? Because he was seen by others! He was in open public! He has to maintain a false image!

As I wrote the previous sentence, I saw:

- Him dressed in a printed sherwani coming with an intense expression with a rod on my head as he says: Kyunki mein tere layak nhi hu!

Why did he deny knowing me in the revelation!? He should've been doing sit-ups holding his ears instead. Where is his genuine repentance!? He only keeps sinning more and more.

Late evening

I am sitting on my bed and I can feel the drones moving inside my groin as well. I see:

- The front view of Death Conqueror dressed in a black suit sitting on a wide seat/sofa in a dark background as a voice says: She gave it to him. She gave it to him. The sentence repeats a few times.

After I wrote the above, I heard: Tod dala.. Tod dala..

Page 605.

28 November 2023
16:15

Revelations before sleeping last night:

- The upper half of Katrina Kaif until slightly below her shoulders dressed in a shiny embroidered white Saree with her hair tied in a bun at the center of the back of her head dropping my revelatory Notebook and the pen from across her right shoulder behind her as she walks smiling towards the viewer.
- Jesus dressed in His attire of the full-length off-white tunic with a red drape on top stands in the center of the room with His back facing my bed.
- Tu bahut acchi hai!
- A small-framed vision of my dad dressed in a white tunic set lying horizontally at his front in the air near the end of my bed as a dark and giant Glory gets a hold of him, slides him throws him at the back towards the wall.
- A wide, muscular, and hairless HRX dressed in a long white boxer shorts with a light grey print sits on a slab with his right leg resting on the slab with a folded knee as his other leg rests downstairs.
- HRX lies wrapped in what looks like a shiny dark blue quilted sleeping bag with his head facing away from the viewer.

****

Past Revelations

- (Past month) I wake up with these worship song lyrics playing in my Spirit:
  Mein teri ha Rachna.. Tere vich vasda ha..
  Teri ungli phad ke.. Tere sang chalda ha..
  Aradhana.. Aradhana.. Aradhana.. Teri Aradhana.. with the face of Rachna Bua being highlighted.
- (Past two weeks) Part of a dream: I'm in the smaller room with a white floor embedded with dark tiny pebbles on the ground floor of the first house of Cheema Colony in my hometown. I see my brother Himanshu come walking from the larger storage space to the right of the room with a grilled hole present in its ceiling, and he is holding a half-used squeezy honey bottle as he says that he found the solution for his constipation problem.
- (Past two weeks) A parallel view of my dad dressed in a white tunic set rising up in the sky with two white wings at the back as he says: Mein bhi jaunga Heaven!
- (Past 24 hours) I see the top-view of the upper half of Glory dressed in a black sweater sink into a surface in a dark background as his body gets severed into cubical pieces while staying intact at its place.
  The lady sings: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

****

Dream (Morning):

In this dream, I find myself floating or moving away from a presence chasing me and crossing a field I enter into a locality which at first seems to be a normal worldly locality to me, but as I spend more time moving forward in the area, I see hidden aspects of reality come to life in this space. I see a lot of black goop which is supposedly nature's waste. The goop then gets absorbed into space and ground to be recycled by natural processes alone. I see the presence of a lot of goop in that area which is moving around on its own, going near even the ground corridor of a building resembling the RGHG hostel and it gets absorbed on its own as well leading to healthy continuation of natural cycles and ecological balance. I walk further and am now in a room in a building where I find people possessing spiritual powers but the aura of the place seems dark and creepy. I am trying to evade these people as they don't seem to possess the basic moral code and they might harm me with their powers. I am able to evade one of such people as I leave the building by escaping through the roof. I now enter into another building and spot a wide, muscular, tall, and bald man with a light bluish skin textured with demonic patterns near the far end of a room as I stand outside the open door to the left of which the room extends. In front of the well-built demonic being stand a few shorter people, seemingly his students whom he wants to indoctrinate with the knowledge of his dark powers. I don't want to be a part of the group as I why would I want to learn his demonic secrets? But the muscled demonic being has already spotted me looking inside. Before I can leave, I see him standing in front of me and apparently, he wants me to join others in his class. I pretend to go along with him though I know that I don't want to learn anything from this wicked being. Seeing an opportune moment, I leave the room and the building which didn't at all look like an institution but more like a multi-storeyed house's building. I continue moving around the space but I don't feel safe around at all because I can sense a wicked demonic aura all around the place. I keep moving from one place to another changing my location as I don't want to stay at one place and encounter another person who would display his demonic prowess to me. It takes me a while to understand that in this space that I've happened to enter in, different aspects of reality that were hidden from plain sight in the physical world that I was previously in have now come to life and are very much apparent in front of my eyes. I see the spiritual part of the world play out in front of my eyes as people in this space are well aware of the spiritual reality and use different methods to interact within the spiritual realm that always involve harnessing demonic energy of some kind. I see that working miracles is not a strange thing in this place as I see little children interacting with the spiritual realm and harnessing the demonic energy as they're able to. I don't partake in any of it as I move about. I realize that I have to exercise boundaries even with children in this place as they too can't be trusted and have learned the secrets of the spiritual demonic. I see a kid waiting near what looks like the space below the physics dept of Miranda House. I can sense that I've to stay away from him and I try to evade his attention as well. Everyone is spiritually influenced in this part of the world. I continue moving around and come across the black good again. This time I see nature as a living entity in this realm of reality as I look back and see nature represented as a localized but mobile region of small green mountains surrounding a water body with the open blue sky above. I see that representation of nature eject out a lot of black goop at once and then a voice says that it's going to be reused by it in different processes which helps sustain it. As the voice says this, I see the black goop move towards the horizontal corridor running on the ground floor and getting absorbed into thin air as it moves further into the corridor.

The face of Glory as he says with a mocking smile: Rehne de Kartika. Tu itni smart nhi ho sakti! Tu itni smart nhi ho sakti.
Well. It's a revelation given by God and not something that I'm making out of my own mind!

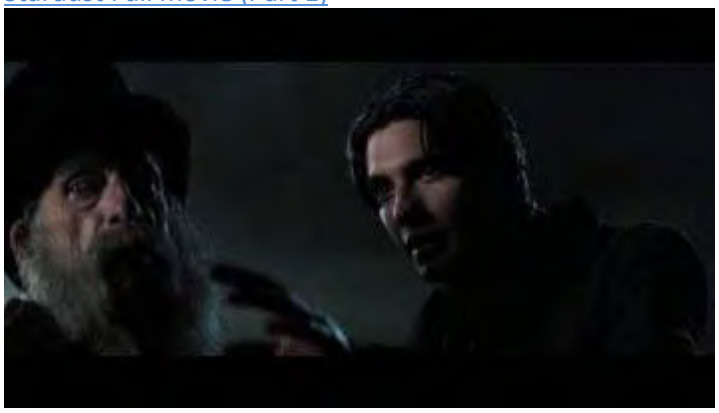
The dream continued: Looking at nature as a separate entity in this realm that's alive and doing its own thing, I understand how the natural and the spiritual are two separate parts of reality that are connected to each other as the black goop got absorbed in thin air and nature moved around through space - both of which are spiritual phenomena, while people were delving in the spiritual realm. I move backwards towards the direction I entered the space from and continue moving backwards being in a hurry to leave the space. I eventually exit into the field I had crossed over to get into that hyper-real facet of reality with the hidden aspects highlighted to a great extent.

Ye maregi humare haathon se. Ye maregi humare haathon se. Ye bahut jyada smart hai.

As I was writing the above para, I was also feeling the drones move on my breasts and they were giving me goosebumps as I would have my arm hair stand or vibrations pass in my body, and then I saw the past vision of the three identical Dushmans standing in a row against a wall with erected genitalia reaching up to their heads highlighted to me.

After I've exited the hyper-real zone, I see visions of people from the place I left behind in front of my eyes as they're trying to establish contact with me. They're also talking among themselves. But I'm not supposed to partake in any of their conversations. I am not supposed to be even receiving calls from them as they're the witches and wizards of the place I left behind and we are called by God to not have anything to do with those who delve in the spiritual demonic or indulge in any kind of spiritual practice that requires one to interact with the spiritual realm outside of the influence of the Holy Spirit. While I was in that space, I never interacted with the spiritual the way they did as I couldn't have done anything besides the Will of God or that which God would've allowed and it didn't seem like He wanted me to be even present in that region as I felt great safety and at peace after exiting the hyper-real space into the seemingly normal aspect of the reality and I wasn't supposed to be having any contacts with the people I had left behind in that space.

Crossing the field and entering the hyper-realistic zone:
Stardust Full movie (Part 1)



Post Waking Up:

- The conical head of a glassy cylindrical pen a few inches out of a wooden cylindrical niche of the same size pointing towards the viewer.

I also happened to ponder on my life shown in the dream from the last night along with the revelation of me not having to do any household chore, and I thought how it amounts to wasting time sitting idle. Not to say that I want to spend all my time doing the chores, but I don't want to spend it having chit-chats all day either as I find it exhausting. Thinking is what comes handy to me and that's what I'm used to spend my days doing. I used to sit contently and study/think, do household chores, read something – preferably novels, or do something creative. I preferred to do the creative, studying and thinking part after being done with the household because it shed off the burden of the mundane. And sleeping or resting would follow after the creative work. That was a relieving order I followed. What will I think about if I don't have a job? I then thought about how I could use that time to read scripture, spend time with the Holy Spirit, and Jesus, and ponder on the revelations given by God and that's what I would want to share or discuss with people present around me or just sit silently together in a calm and love-filled environment, or watch something together, perhaps a good anime. All in all, the time spent should be productive in some way and wasted in hateful small talk about others or objective things which at times it's unavoidable, but I try to limit its duration as much as possible. With God, I don't waste time talking about objective things. It's a time spent in His presence where He reveals His love or other things to me. It seemed to me that God perhaps wanted me to spend more time in His word. At first, that kind of life seemed disappointing to me because I had a set plan and a certain mindset and the sadness of losing that overshadowed me. I looked back at how I spent most of my time. I did household chores and I read a lot and now I was nowhere like that. It came as a shock at first. I can't spend or waste my time having useless social chats with people like Akhila does when she's not operating from a genuine love-filled base towards them because you don't use a healthy loving bond to falsely slander people or gossip. It's better to do nothing instead because doing nothing including not interacting with people amounts to doing something as it serves as a deciding junction in one's creative process.

I also asked Jesus that though he said that He was giving him to me and that it was for forever, but what was it that He was giving to me!? Why would I want an immoral husband? All these thoughts saddened me because I also looked if they were treating me this way now and didn't care about how I thought or the things I pointed out but focused on vain aspects of things, how would I then live in real constant physical presence of such people where I am exposed to their thought patterns. Those people would still say things indirectly instead of being straightforward and therefore would bring me mental misery. I won't be able to have any bonds based on a mutually honest way of communicating because they don't operate from a shared sense of mutual honesty with the base of a righteous mind but they manipulate and bend their statements according to what they want you think and they want to you keep you in a reality they want to create for you by revealing or hiding things. Such a sick environment! I could never have an honest chat with Akhila though she talked with me but never with honesty! She would lie and hide stuff and would want to create a false reality in front of me and even told me to not question by telling me that I should only look at how she behaved to my face and not behind my back because of which I could never form a bond with her.

I watch a few videos by Brother Andrew after having coffee, the first one being the below.

Never Too Young to Follow Jesus

I'm listening to him with focus as his words are words of wisdom and then he knows how things operate in most churches and how they're often hypocritical. And he often presents an unusual view that I couldn't have thought of by my own self at that moment as I'm often preoccupied with things to be done revolving in my mind and I can't always look at the full expanse of my understanding of things which I would've with a free mind. Everything he says makes sense to me though they're not the ideas or messages that pop up in my own mind as I've my own revelations or messages to write. So I always listen to him with intent and concentration because his words are words of wisdom and I can see clearly that he is not faking anything but is being his real self. He calls out the sin present in the church and calls good good and evil evil.

As I was writing the last two sentences, I heard the lady sing: Maar dala.. Maar dala..

- This lady when I was listening to him, I kept hearing in my Spirit: She thinks she deserves him. She thinks she deserves him..

Though that was not what I was thinking. But I do ideally want a partner who is wise in the Lord and can speak such words of wisdom to me sometimes if not always if it seems too much for him to do. Because it always brings the Joy of the Lord and contentment when you listen to someone who has a real walk with the Lord or has a real experience of being in the worldly church and coming out of it and who knows what it means to be set-apart which people who follow Jesus for real focus on. I like how Andrew and his wife maintain low-key and humble appearances. There's no flashing of anything or any fanciness in their conduct. In one of his videos, he even talked about people calling him a hypocrite for having a wife, a phone or a jacket as according to them one shouldn't possess anything if one is to be really called Godly. They were accusing him of being a hypocrite because he had a wife! This is how orthodox people can get. They do not question fornication but they would question the holy communion of marriage that God devised for His children to have on Earth and reflect His bond with His people who together constitute the body of His bride. So, you see, the things he talks about are not surface-level. He talks about deep things of the Lord out of his deep understanding and wisdom. His preaching or messages are not something that one can say that one already could think of as it was too ordinary, but he gives messages with deep understanding showing that he understands the important aspects of walking with the Lord which is clearly reflected in him leaving the church system and living a set-apart life where he had to do different types of jobs some of which may not necessarily be considered as 'good' or desirable jobs by high-class businessmen, like he has done hard labor jobs as well and he talks about the same and he thanks the Lord for the same. He lives at a place that allows His family to be close to nature and not in a stuffed environment of man-made structures. His wife maintains such a holy look. She would make videos without even her hair combed properly not caring if they are looking dry or frizzy. Both of them are grounded in godly basics. And I listen to both whenever they release a Word. While a usual preacher would just say usual things pertaining to one not being materialistic or not possessing anything, or giving preference to not being married or have a spouse and serve the Lord with one life's entirety, Brother Andrew goes one step deeper. That's why I listen to him and that's also why I listen to Sis Adele because she too is high in the Lord and speaks words of unordinary wisdom.

And today I actually felt his divine spirit being reflecting out of his countenance in the video below as he spoke his words. I felt his divine being seeping out of his physical outer self. It was almost as if he was already emanating the aura of the self he was going to be after receiving his glorified body.

While I was listening to this video, I heard again: She thinks she deserves him! She thinks she deserves him!

What's Your Calling as a Christian?

After this video, I watched the following one.

Not Everyone's into Your Interests But ALL Need CHRIST

He is not a vain person and so is not his wife Marilee. For sure everyone grooms a bit, but it's not the only thing that should possess our minds. She herself said in a video she made together with him that her walk with the Lord is independent of his walk with the Lord though they both work together as a family. Both of them are wise and mature in the Lord. I like Sister Marilee's point that you should not have sinned in the first place instead of sinning and later apologizing for it. These people are advanced in the Lord and not hypocrites or fakers! They don't act or speak lies which is quite apparent by their countenance as well!

As I watched three of Brother Andrew's videos this morning in a line, I kept hearing in my Spirit seemingly a guy's voice that kept repeating: She thinks she deserves him. She thinks she deserves him.

Later during the day when I enter in to use the washroom, I hear:

- Kaat khaya! Kaat khaya!

It was perhaps during a different time of using the washroom that when I was pulling up my trousers and as I was adjusting it around my waist, I saw:

- Death Conqueror sitting in a dark background gives a high five to someone to his right as he said: Yes! We made her a prostitute!

  I wondered if it was in that moment that were saying the words or it was when they first created the online platform.

  As I wrote the above, I saw:
- The face of Death Conqueror with two blue shining stars in front of his eyes.

After writing the above, I heard in my Spirit:

- She hates you Mrittunjay. She hates you.

I'm sitting on my chair and I look at a part of the reason behind why I despise Death Conqueror, and then I hear:

- She hates you Mrittunjay because you made her go through something that she didn't want to go through even once before a certain time or before some conditions were met! Jesus says this because I'm pointing to Him how I wouldn't be a party in sin if the fellow wasn't there which I've to put up mental boundaries against now. I wanted to live right and follow the right order of things, and because he is not even close to perfect, I ended up partaking in what I didn't want to partake in! You see.. because.. who is the one who sent the drones and is controlling them: it's him and his friends. I was looking at my previous mindset which I saw resembled to a great extent to the people I listen to. I could identify with Marilee. I thought like her. Why would I sin even once? And to not sin you've to be straightforward and honest in your communication which is the operating ground of a sinless life. And now that I was in this camera situation, I am exposed to sinful ways of thinking and then the drones keep moving all over me, and I keep hearing Wows and Uffs from more than one person through different drones and I know that their minds are not holy or sinless but rather they sent the drones to sin in the first place. So I told Jesus how because of this guy the external manifestation of my internal moral code couldn't be properly manifested but I had to live in an externally morally compromised state, not just once, or twice but several times by now, and I hated it! Why should I be exposed to sinful minds when I'm called to be set apart by Him? So I was blaming the fellow for trying to blur my moral code when he needed to correct his! Now, the wife fleshly revelations are holy. But what these people keep doing when I am resting or doing other chores counts as a grave sin!

I was resting on my bed, and perhaps I was having Tomato Soup, when I heard again in my Spirit:

- Kaat khaya! Kaat khaya! The phrase repeated a few times.

These are not good, moral or holy things for one to be hearing, and in the absence of people who don't know how to talk sensibly using sensible and respectful terms, it becomes too stressful as one keeps being bombarded with cheap and low-grade language, not in terms of words but in terms of the cheap aura around the words people use and how they use them. So, it becomes essential for one to keep listening to holy people who know how to talk Godly to have good company.

After I was done writing the above para, I heard in my Spirit the following lyrics:
Tu hi ye mujhko bata de.. Chahu mein ya na..
Apne tu dil ka pata de.. Chahu mein ya na..

Chahun Main Ya Naa Full Video Song Aashiqui 2 | Aditya Roy Kapur, Shraddha Kapoor

"Chahun Main Ya Naa" Aashiqui 2 Full Song With Lyrics | Aditya Roy Kapur, Shraddha Kapoor

As I continue sitting on my bed having the soup, I can again feel the drones moving on my skin inside and then I think:
Mar jaungi mein.

As I take the last direct sip of the tomato soup from my mug, I hear:
Ja bewafa ja. Humein pyaar nahin karna.
Tanha hee jee lenge hum, jab hein tanha marna..

Later when I go out to buy something from the Dinesh Store and am on my way back to my room about to take the stairs to the second floor, it's then that I see:

- A small-framed vision of Glory dressed in black standing in a dark background repeat to me: Bahut marunga mein use Kartika. Bahut marunga mein use Kartika. (When will he do this!?)

Throughout late afternoon, I keep hearing in my Spirit:

- Tu bahut sunder hai Kartika. Vo tujhe nahi chodega. Tu bahut sunder hai Kartika. Vo tujhe nahi chodega! accompanied with the vision of Glory dressed in all black saying the same.

Masih Nidhal soedaar chalte dekha hai.
Bhadakti aag mein ek phool jalte dekha hai.

Evening

- The upper half of Landlord Uncle Subhash dressed in his polo grey t-shirt in a dark background stands facing slightly to the left as he has his hand extended towards me with a smile. Apparently, he is gesturing me to come along with him. Perhaps it's to have tea. But he is emanating a safe and holy aura in the vision. The vision repeats several times for an extended duration with a strong emphasis on it in my Spirit.

Later in the evening:

- Jesus kicks Akhila away and she flies like a projectile away from Him.

19:26
I keep hearing: Kheer Kheer Kheer repeated in my Spirit along with Aloo Puri Kheer being highlighted to me, so I order the same. I will never have this disgusting meal again in my life!

Randi ko maine uski aukat dikha di! Randi ko maine uski aukat dikha di!
But I never even thought in terms of words like Randi and aukat and I still don't do. It's him whose mind is full of this crap. The trio already are the rapist Dushmans as shown in a previous revelation. They're not sad or ashamed of it! They want to perpetuate their sick wicked nature into others as well. According to them, everyone should perceive things like them! I don't deserve to be with someone like him! I will never want to be with such a person!

Since last evening the chorus lines of this song have been playing in my Spirit.

The Guy sings:
Mera pehla pehla pyaar ho tum..
Aankhon mein aitbaar ho tum..

Mera Pahla Pahla Pyar | MP3 | K.K. | Full Song|

This has been repeating in my Spirit for a few days:

- I keep getting a nudge to patent this book of revelations. And then I also keep hearing: He's going to be blindsided after which he's going to come after you. So you better hurry with your patenting your revelations.

A voice sings:
Mit jayengi Kitaabein..

- Koi mujhko yu mila hai.. Jaise banjaare ko ghar.. It has been repeating in my Spirit for the past few days. It played in my Spirit when I was in A-16 as well, but it began to play again after a break of some months for the past few days. It would repeat a few times throughout the day every day.

Banjaara (Lyrics) | Ek villain | 7clouds Hindi

After I posted the song here, the following lyrics played in my Spirit as well:
Jise zindagi dhoond rahi hai..
Kya ye vo mukaam mera hai..
Yaha chain se bas ruk jau..
Kyu di ye mujhe kehta hai..?

I happen to rest during the day and fall into a brief sleep when I have the following dream revelation:

- A photo of Death Conqueror is being asked for around for some purpose and then I see what looks like a semi-animated vertical square array of passport-sized black and white photos of his face until the throat with him facing to the right in a golden background.

Page 606.

29 November 2023
00:23

- Chaar din ho gye Kartika ne kuch nhi khaya. Chaar din ho gye Kartika ne kuch nhi khaya: Heard in the Spirit

- And this vision of my head drenched with blood has repeated to me quite a few times since last late evening.

  I was thinking of sleeping but then I was not in the right mind because I have been disturbed since the past few hours and then the drones keep moving disturbing me more and I hear different voices saying different things in different drones! I keep flying them away from my mouth! Go away Madhavan (the dusky and chubby man form the trio)! I don't want to kiss you.

  Saali rukja btata hu terko! Now I don't know who is saying this! I hope it's Glory. (P.S.: I don't use such adjectives.)

  Yeah. So I was feeling disturbed and then I saw Jesus pointing me to the chair to complete writing the dream from yesterday on the previous page. Though I was mentally paining as I have been since the past several years, I think it to be a better idea to sit and work than to sleep with these drones around. At least I would be distracted with work.

  12:23
  I'm still working with my laptop on my bed when I see: My room filled with the heads of several men all sucking on my nipple present in the center.

  When I later shift to the table to work as I am not able to sleep with a sound mind, I hear: Hard to kill a lovely thing! Hard to kill a lovely thing!

  Before falling asleep:
  I am lying in bed with lights turned off and am shooing away the drones that I can sense around as I hear the breaths of a man near my mouth. So I keep shooing the drone away. It goes away for a second or two but the sounds begin again. I don't want to hear these breaths of a strange man in my vicinity. It's so uncomfortable! If he is a prostitute by nature, why is he expanding the kingdom of devil by desensitizing others as well to sin?

- Hard to kill a lovely thing! Hard to kill a lovely thing!
- The upper half of Jonathan Kleck dressed in a grey t-shirt with a checkered beanie or bandana on his head as he sits behind the table in his light blue cabin where he makes videos and eats the veggie of Aloo Matar from a steel bowl.
- Akhila standing against the wall opposite to my bed looks at me and says: She's going to die. She's going to die. Stop doing this! She looks at the short fellow beside her dressed in a black suit over a white shirt and a tie who likes to portray himself as a gentleman but carries the heart of a prostitute and a rapist. He doesn't seem to be affected but stands teethfully smiling at me. Well, he carries the heart of a prostitute because he is okay with sleeping around and showing his nudity to anyone. But that's not the case with me. He has desensitized me to others looking at me by putting me in this situation for such a prolonged period of time. Being desensitized doesn't mean that I want them to look at me or would strip intentionally! I try to avoid as much as I can. He is a wilful prostitute. Prostitution has nothing to do with money. It's all about your heart state and how sensitive you are to sin! When I now looked at the recent revelations of me being that yellow and black being with a serpent skin, I wondered if that was what being desensitized meant. But then I looked at the revelation I later had at home in which I was looking at Death Conqueror with a slit eye but behind that slit eye was my wide open round innocent eye looking out. And then I saw how he already was that green and black snake from the beginning. He was always a prostitute by nature though he may not have been doing it for money but he has been in a way prostituting his body to random people outside of a covenant, and he did it in a much worse way than me, while I know I will go back to being the self behind the reptilian outer shell if I don't have to face the situation of people watching me in situations they're not supposed to be. But he is wilfully like that with his inner being consisting of low-quality material. (But he is also the fat and bald toddler who came walking with his hand holding a Bru coffee pouch extended to me.)

I also recalled the revelation in which I saw him breathing on my yellow and black reptilian face from about a foot or two above and as the air brushed past my skin it uncovered the reptilian skin making it disappear exposing the human inside.

But I was already a full human and I didn't need anyone to breathe on me for me to be in that normal sensitive state before a certain time! I can only imagine how degraded he is because when I look at the changes I had in my brain that I don't like though they couldn't be resisted because I wouldn't have survived without being desensitized to the pain of being stripped publicly, I get an idea how his mind is not only desensitized in the way that I became but is also willing to move ahead in that direction. His degree or intensity of prostitution is much higher! If I kept thinking about my public peeing or pooping time, I wouldn't have been able to work, but why would I put myself in that situation in the first place for me to turn into this ungodly reptilian being, because a godly person is sensitive to sin! Why would I turn myself into that reptilian being and miss out on cherishing the sensitive moments that I am supposed to cherish and remember to some degree with a loved one and thereby degrade the quality of my life? He alone is responsible for the way he directed his mind to a certain way to be conditioned in. He changed his mind to the image of its reptilian counterpart instead of the godly one. He had both present inside to begin with. The reptilian counterpart is all about surviving and not about godly values. It by nature quenches the sensitivity to sin and accompanying guilt because the same won't let a sinning person be able to live without recurring thoughts of guilt and self-condemnation. He chose people and situations to turn himself into this being! Though I'm desensitized, I won't do the kind of things he does, and neither do I think like him! I'll be happy in the Lord. He's sensitive to sin though He's long-suffering and forgiving. This state gave me an experiential window into his mind. Is he a fool that he continues to be so!?

God is greater and perfect in the way that if He went through the same situation for a prolonged period of time, He wouldn't be desensitized to sin no matter how long He went through the persecution. Because, look at Jesus who was stripped before being scourged and crucified. He saw it from His Holy lens of forgiveness and saw it as them sinning against Him with His own nature being intact. Jesus won't become okay with peeing and pooping publicly regardless of the time He is made to do so, while I became comfortable doing so in order to survive, or else the pain is going to consume my brain! But I know that it's wrong and I don't do it intentionally but am forced to. But Jesus would see the sin each time He would go to pee and poop and He won't become gradually numb to the pain because He is perfect! It's a deep concept.

While I was writing the above part, I had this vision repeat several times.

- A small-framed vision of the naked mid and lower half of a woman standing in the washroom as the hair on her groin came all down at once. The vision repeated intermittently several times as I wrote the above part. (Ab dhokha hoga Kartika ke saath.) I took the vision as an instruction. Also, it will lead to my lowers not getting too quickly dirty.

Dream (Morning):

I'm standing near the handpump present to the immediate left of the main entrance of the Junior wing of my school in my hometown. With me is standing Urmila Matondkar to whom I'm showing my hair that've now grown long. I pull them all at my left side and show her the length reaching up until my bust though I am also checking out the severely decreased density in a mirror present around. I am thinking of getting a haircut and ask her for a suggestion. She tells me to have a length slightly above my shoulders as she lifts up and folds my hair to that level. She says it will look good on me. But I've my reservations because it took me a long time to grow them this long though ideally I would've liked shoulder length or shorter hair because they seem a dumb accessory to me unless they assume meaning in some other context. When I look at my hair that are all pulled over to one side, they seem too long to me and it seems to the dream me that I've never had this long hair and that too this straight but then I never had such a thin density of hair as well. I had straight wavy and dense hair previously. While I'm discussing the length with her, I am also observing the density on my head. I don't recall what I chose to do in the dream but I remember the look that I miss.

For some reason my look from the day when I first met the pastor in A-17/B keeps getting highlighted to me. I was wearing a neck-high loose and long black t-shirt over printed pink pyjamas and had hair of the length an inch or two below my ears. I had short hair, but they were heavy and fell almost straight and I had that almost pure and untouched mind and I was missing that time when I wasn't in such a mentally down state that I've fallen in now. I perhaps won't have that density again and I was never a fan of the length after high school. I liked that short hairstyle. I don't know why God gave me this dream with me discussing my hair length with Urmila Matondkar.

Post Waking Up:

I am in a terrible mental state as I am under the impression that I've been mentally converted into a prostitute because of which I begin crying again as I was doing before I fell asleep. And then I had the revelation of heads of several men present in my room sucking on a nipple in front of their mouth. And then I am also looking at the past revelations of a voice saying that I am a high-profile whore and I am not aware of it. Looking at the nipple revelation, I see if that's was one of the reasons they made such a statement, for I was serving as a whore to several people at once without knowing it or intending to. (Well, if I am not intending to do so, how can I be called a whore? Because a whore intends to prostitute away her body, but I've no such intention.) I don't know how to feel about the revelation from yesterday in which the two men gave a high-five to each other as they exclaimed with joy that had successfully made me a prostitute because if I'm to look at the gravity of the situation, I won't be able to do anything and would be bed-ridden crying or lying still though I know that I won't be able to do that either as I would keep receiving revelations or feeling the drones on my body. I've woken up in a depressed state and am thinking that perhaps I'm not going to be eating anything or even have milk for the next 4 days according to the revelation I received last night. As I continue to lay in bed mourning the loss of my pure mental state which was quite sensitive to sin, and actually believing that I've indeed become a mental prostitute, I am in deep pain. And then I have the following revelations:

- Mein jaa rahi hu Kartik. Ho sake to mujhe maaf kar dena! Mein jaa rahi hu Kartik. Ho sake to mujhe maaf kar dena!

  I'm getting a feeling that I may slit my wrists as I have the idea recurring in my mind but then this previous vision is highlighted to me in which KA stood facing me with me standing against the Psalm 34:4-5 wall to the left of the kitchen area with our hands raised and tied together with ropes as he was banging them against the wall saying that I couldn't say that I was going to die after loving him that much! Well, the vision comes as a rescue but I'm still not happy about my situation.

  After I wrote the above, I saw:
- A blurry face of KA in a dark background says to me: Tu randi hai. Tu randi hai. Tujhe pata nhi hai.

And while I was still writing the para, I heard the lady sing:
Bepanah pyaar tujhse.. Tu kyu jaane naa..
Hua ikraar tujhse.. Tu kyu maane na..

I continue feeling depressed and downcast and then I see:

- The naked upper half of Glory floating in my room as he says looking at me with filled eyes: Kartika aise mat kar, mein mar jaunga. Kartika aise mat kar, mein mar jaunga.
- A small-framed vision of RK dressed in casuals with a fluffed greyish jacket on top says looking at me with a serious expression: Tu marne waali hai.. . He then turns away and runs forward into the background of a path made between trees on both sides as he shouts joyfully: I'm free…!
- A police constable RK dressed in his winter police uniform of an olive green sweater stands looking at me in a well-lit background as he says: Ye marne waali hai..
- The upper half of RK with a huge blob of frizzy hair on his head and heavily bearded face dressed in what looks like a car racing suit repeats the same, turns his back and runs away in the dark background not seeming too sad about the statement.
- Akhila's vision from the previous night repeats in which she stood against the wall facing my bed and said: She's going to die. She's going to die. Stop doing this. It repeats a few times in the morning. She really seems concerned about me which I find hard to believe at first but then my negative feelings about her already dissolved after the dream revelation from the previous night as I also looked at the other dream revelation in which she was to my left in a small car shouting praises to God with a raised hand as we moved towards a huge golden rectangular building with BARUK HABA (Hebrew for Welcome) written on its center in the same straight font. So, it seemed to be that things

